* Exclusive of the Metropolitan National Bank, of New York City, which was placed in voluntary liquidation November 18, 1884.

The different items of resources and liabilities in the preceding table indicate that the business of the national banks during the past eleven years has generally increased. The items of United States bonds and circulation thereon have decreased during the past two years. It also appears from the table that the aggregate liabilities of the national banks to depositors and correspondents were reduced during the year upwards of 94 millions. This reduction of liabilities and the general reduction of loans by the banks, which amounted to over 63 millions during the year, was doubtless occasioned by the financial troubles of May and the general depression of business. The table shows that during the same period the national banks increased their cash resources by about 21 millions of specie and 11 millions of legal-tenders and United States certificates of deposit for same.

The following table is an abstract of the resources and liabilities of the national banks at the close of business on the 30th day of September, 1884, the condition of the New York City, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and other reserve city banks being tabulated separately from the other banks of the country:

NUMBER, CAPITAL, AND DEPOSITS OF NATIONAL BANKS, STATE AND SAVINGS BANKS, AND PRIVATE BANKERS.

Section 333 of the Revised Statutes of the United States requires the Comptroller to present annually to Congress a statement of the condition of the banks and savings banks organized under State laws. Returns of capital and deposits have hitherto been made by these institutions and by private bankers semi-annually to this Department for purposes of taxation. From these returns the following table has been compiled, exhibiting in concise form, by geographical divisions, the total average capital and deposits of all the State and savings banks and private bankers of the country for the six months ending November 30, 1882, being the last semi-annual period for which State and savings banks and private bankers were required to make returns for taxation purposes:

The capital of the 2,308 national banks in operation on December 30, 1882, being the date of their report nearest to that of the table given above, as will be seen by a table in the Appendix, was $484,883,492, not including surplus, which fund at that date amounted to more than 135 millions of dollars, while the average capital of all the State banks, private bankers, and savings banks for the six months ending November 30, 1882, was but $232,435,330. The latter amount is less than two-fifths of the combined capital and surplus of the national banks at practically the same time.

The table below exhibits the capital and net deposits of the national banks on December 30, 1882, together with the aggregate average capital and deposits of all classes of banks other than national for the six months ending November 30, 1882:

The total number of banks and bankers in the country at the date named was 7,448, with a total banking capital of $717,318,822, and total deposits of $2,902,522,245.

In the Appendix will be found similar tables for various periods from 1875 to 1882. On a subsequent page in this report, under the head of "State banks, savings banks, and trust companies," will be found tables showing the resources and liabilities of these corporations for the present year, and in the Appendix similar results for previous years.

A table arranged by States and principal cities, giving the number, capital, and deposits, and the tax thereon, of all banking institutions other than national, and of the private bankers of the country, for the six months ending November 30, 1882, and for previous years, will also be found in the Appendix.

The following table exhibits, for corresponding dates nearest to May 31, in each of the last seven years, and to November 30, 1882, the aggregate amounts of the capital and deposits of each of the classes of banks given in the foregoing table:

*In the last table of the series the returns are given for the six months ending May 31, 1882, and also for the six months ending November 30, of the same year.

It will be noticed that the first two tables of this chapter are for the six months ending November 30, while all similar tables in previous reports have been for the six months ending May 31. The law repealing the tax on capital and deposits of State banks and private bankers went into effect on November 30, 1882, in accordance with the opinion of the Attorney-General, and for this reason the Comptroller has given the returns to that date, which will be the last data to be obtained from this source. It is probable that the number, capital, and deposits of the State banks, savings banks, and private bankers have been materially decreased by the recent financial troubles.

EXTENSION OF THE CORPORATE EXISTENCE OF NATIONAL BANKS.

On November 1, 1884, 398 banks had extended their corporate existence under the act of July 12, 1882. In the Appendix will be found a table showing the distribution and capital of these banks by States. During the year ending November 1, 1884, the periods of succession of 90 banks, as fixed by the dates of their organization certificates and the terms of their articles of association, terminated. Of these, 83 have extended their corporate existence under the act mentioned. One was placed in voluntary liquidation prior to expiration by the vote of stockholders owning two-thirds of its stock. Of the 6 remaining banks expiring during the year, 2 were not extended, but were permitted by their stockholders to close at the end of their periods of succession, and to liquidate under section 7 of the act of July 12, 1882, while 4 were succeeded by other associations, with different names, with the same shareholders wholly or in part.

The total number of banks still in operation organized under the act of June 3, 1864, and the provisions of the Revised Statutes, the periods of succession of which will terminate, unless hereafter renewed, during the years previous to 1900, is 1,488, with capital and circulation as follows:

In the Appendix will be found a table giving the names of each of the banks whose periods of succession terminate during the year 1885, with their capital and outstanding circulation. This table shows that seven hundred and twenty national banks, with a combined capital of $188,971,475, will thus terminate during the year 1885, unless their stockholders avail themselves of the provisions of the act of July 12, 1882. From the experience of the last two years it is highly probable the larger portion of these banks will extend their corporate existence. These associations represent more than one-third of the entire capital of the national banking system, and attention is respectfully called to the large additional amount of labor the extension of these banks will throw upon the office of the Comptroller of the Currency. This labor will be augmented by the provisions of section 6 of the act referred to, requiring that the circulating notes of any association extending its period of succession which shall have been issued to it prior to its extension shall be redeemed at the Treasury of the United States as provided in section 3, act of June 20, 1874, and that such notes when redeemed shall be forwarded to the Comptroller of the Currency and destroyed as now provided by law, and that at the end of three years from the date of the extension of each bank, the association so extended shall deposit lawful money with the Treasurer of the United States sufficient to redeem the remainder of the circulation which was outstanding at the date of its extension.

The same section also provides that the notes issued to such extending associations after the date of their extension, shall be of a different design, easily distinguished from those issued before such date.

To carry out these provisions of section 6 requires the keeping of two different accounts in the case of each extended bank—one for the old and one for the new circulation. During the year 1885 the work of keeping the circulation accounts of about one-half of the national banks will be doubled.

CIRCULATION.

Under the present provisions of law, national banks may be organized with a capital of from $50,000 to $150,000, upon depositing with the Treasurer of the United States, in trust, 25 per cent. of their capital stock in United States bonds, and banks with a capital of upwards of $150,000 can be organized upon the deposit of $50,000 of bonds. Upon this basis the 2,664 national banks in existence in the United States and Territories on October 1, 1884, would require a minimum of but $80,443,127 of United States bonds in order to continue as national banking associations. There is no doubt but that the national banking system has been of great value to this country in many ways other than the supplying a sound and almost perfect paper currency. The additional safety afforded to depositors by the restrictions and precautionary provisions of the act, the publicity of reports of the condition of the banks, and the regular examination and supervision by officers of the Government, is well understood by the public, and it is probable that the people would demand that if possible the system be continued, even if the public debt be hereafter reduced to a point where it is impossible for the banks to issue more than the amount of circulation that can be secured by the minimum of bonds now required by law. Although it is possible that the public confidence in national banks will enable associations organized under the act to do a much larger and more profitable business than if organized under the laws of the various States, it is probable that were there no profits on circulation, bankers as a rule might be unwilling to submit to the restrictions which, as safeguards to the public, the national banking law compels those who organize associations under it to submit to, and that therefore when the profit on circulation is reduced to a point where it does not compensate for the inconvenience of the restrictions, many national banks will leave the system.

Various plans have been advanced to perpetuate the issue by national banks of a circulation which should be safe for the public and reasonably profitable to themselves, both during the period of the reduction of the bonded debt of the United States and after such debt shall have been paid, it having been suggested that under the latter circumstances circulation might be issued upon securities other than United States bonds.

The time of the final payment of the debt is, however, yet distant, and with appropriate legislation there will probably be for many years no lack of bonds as a safe basis of circulation. Moreover, no feasible plan with other security has as yet been suggested, affording a sound currency redeemable on demand in specie, and the Comptroller believes that it is extremely doubtful whether after their experience for the last twenty years with the safe and convenient currency issued by the national banks, the people would be satisfied with a currency based on any security other than United States bonds.

Public sentiment seems to be in favor of the payment of the public debt as rapidly as possible, and while no doubt this is in general a correct principle, yet as it is apparent that such payment must extend under the most favorable circumstances over a long future period, the interest during which time is as much a portion of the debt as the principal, it is a question if it would not be of ultimate benefit to the country and a payment of the debt to reduce the interest upon it to a minimum rate and defer the payment of the principal, thus giving for many years a safe basis for national-bank circulation. This course would be particularly advantageous if the revenues of the Government are hereafter reduced to a point which, after providing sufficient means for carrying on public business, will necessitate a more gradual reduction of the principal of the debt. Not only is the future of national-bank circulation menaced by the fact that as the debt is paid it will be difficult to substitute any other secure basis for circulation, but it is also evident that under present laws and the present condition of the public debt the banks cannot long afford to maintain even the circulation now outstanding. The following table gives the various kinds and amounts of bonds held by the banks on November 1, 1883, and November 1, 1884:

	1883.	1884.
Three and a halfs	$632,000
Threes	201,327,750	$155,604,400
Four and a halfs	41,319,700	49,537,450
Pacific sixes	3,463,000	3,469,000
Fours	106,164,850	116,705,450
	352,907,300	325,316,300

Upon reference to this table it will be seen that the aggregate reduction of bonds deposited as security for circulation for the year ending November 1, 1884, was $27,591,000, and the changes were as follows: A reduction of $45,723,350 in amount of three per cent. bonds held; a reduction of $632,000, being all the three and one-half per cents held; an increase of $10,540,600 in four per cents; an increase of $8,217,750 in four and one-half per cents, and an increase of $6,000 in Pacific sixes. The total reduction of bonds deposited to secure circulation would have been much greater, but the financial troubles of May reduced the market price of the four and four and one-half per cents, and banks were enabled for a time to replace their called three per cents by fours and four and one-halfs at a price which afforded an increased profit on circulation, and new banks took advantage of this state of affairs and also purchased fours and four and one-halfs for deposit to secure their circulation. It will be seen upon reference to the table that the banks held on November 1, 1884, $155,604,400 of the three per cent. bonds under the act of July 12, 1882, payable at the pleasure of the Government.* The total amount of these bonds outstanding on November 1 was $194,190,500, and it is probable that unless the surplus revenues are greatly reduced these bonds will all be paid within the next two years, and, as has been pointed out by my predecessor in former reports, there is great danger of a severe and rapid contraction of the circulation; for while many banks will no doubt continue to replace a portion of their called threes with other higher-rate and higher-priced bonds, the tendency is and will be to reduce the circulation to the minimum required by law. The following table shows the decrease of national-bank circulation during the years ending November 1, 1883, and November 1, 1884:

National-bank notes outstanding November 1, 1882, including notes of national gold banks	$362,727,747
Less lawful money on deposit at same date, including deposits of gold banks	38,423,404
		$324,304,343
National-bank notes outstanding November 1, 1883	352,013,787
Less lawful money on deposit November 1, 1883	35,993,461
		316,020,326
Net decrease of circulation in 1883		8,284,017

* Of these bonds $9,586,200 have been called for payment on which interest ceased on November 1, 1884. If these bonds are not replaced by others bearing interest, there will be an immediate further reduction in circulation of 90 per cent. of their amount.

National-bank notes outstanding November 1, 1883, including notes of national gold banks	$352,013,787
Less lawful money on deposit at same date, including deposits of national gold banks	35,993,461
		$316,020,326
National-bank notes outstanding November 1, 1884, including notes of national gold banks	333,559,813
Less lawful money on deposit at same date, including deposits of national gold banks	41,710,163
		291,849,650
Net decrease of circulation in 1884		24,170,676

It is probable that the reduction of circulation will also be increased by the withdrawal and sale of four per cent. bonds now deposited by the banks in excess of the minimum required by law, as the reduction of the debt by the payment of threes will no doubt increase the price of fours, owing to reinvestments of trust funds, &c., now invested in threes, and if for any reason the price advances, the banks will desire to realize the premium for use in business or to divide as a profit among their shareholders.

Drawing conclusions from these facts, the Comptroller estimates that unless legislation shall shortly be had which will enable the banks to issue currency at a fair profit, circulation will from the present time be reduced at the rate of at least $40,000,000 per annum.

In the last reports of the Comptroller various suggestions were made as to legislation which should be enacted to prevent this rapid contraction of national-bank circulation, and the subject attracted much attention during the last session of Congress. The most prominent measures were those introduced in the Senate by Senators McPherson and Aldrich, and in the House of Representatives by Mr. Potter.

The bill introduced by Senator McPherson provided that any national banking association shall be entitled to receive from the Comptroller of the Currency circulating notes not exceeding in amount the par value of the bonds deposited, and further provides that the total amounts of such notes issued to any association shall not exceed the amount of its paid-in capital stock. This bill passed the Senate and was favorably reported to the House by the Banking and Currency Committee, and is now upon the regular calendar of the House. In case it should become a law, it would increase the aggregate circulation of national banks upon the basis of the present deposit of United States bonds with the Treasurer in trust to the amount of about $32,000,000, and would increase the profit to the banks on circulation from two-fifths to three-fifths of 1 per cent. per annum. No doubt the increased profits which by this bill would inure to the banks would induce those holding fours to continue to hold them, and the profits would probably be sufficient to induce banks who hold threes to replace them when called for redemption with four per cents. The passage of this bill seems a simple and feasible measure of relief to the banks, and while it is possible that some bill which provided for the funding of the high-rate bonds into bonds bearing a lower rate of interest would afford more permanent relief, the bill of Senator McPherson is regarded as an excellent measure by the Comptroller, and would not interfere with any funding bill which might hereafter become a law.

The bill introduced by Senator Aldrich provides for the exchange of four per cent. consols of 1907 for three per cent. bonds having the same time to run. Under its provisions the Government pays a difference of 15 per cent. between the four per cents and the threes. The bill also provides for the issuance of circulation equal in amount to the par value of the bonds deposited. The additional profits accruing under this bill, if it should become a law, would be from about one-half of 1 per cent. to about 1 per cent. per annum, according to the bank rates for loans on the three per cent. bonds which replace the fours, and it is believed that this would be a permanent measure of relief to the banks. The bill introduced by Mr. Potter in the House provides for the refunding of the three, four, and four and one-half per cent. bonds into two and one-half per cents payable at same time and to be redeemed in the same manner as those for which they are exchanged. The bill also provides for a reduction of the tax upon circulation based upon the proposed two and one-half per cent. bonds of one-half of 1 per cent. per annum, while the tax upon circulation based upon all other classes of United States bonds remains at 1 per cent. per annum. Under this bill the provisions for obtaining currency on the bonds deposited would be the same as under the present law, viz, 90 per cent. of the par value of the bonds deposited. The bill, so far as the funding of the high-rate bonds is concerned, is similar to the Aldrich bill, the latter providing for the refunding of the fours only. It is believed by many that the provisions in the Potter bill relating to the purchase of the bonds by the Secretary of the Treasury would be somewhat difficult to carry out, and it is a question whether it would be constitutional for Congress to make any discriminations in the tax imposed on circulation based on different classes of United States bonds, as it must be remembered that the tax is on the circulation and not on the bonds. If this bill, with some modifications, should become a law, no doubt the additional profits which would accrue to the banks under its operation would be a permanent benefit and assist in preventing the contraction of the currency.

A table has been prepared, and will be found in the Appendix, which shows the additional circulation which the banks in each State would be entitled to in case a law is enacted permitting them to issue circulation to the amount of the par value of the bonds deposited in trust with the Treasurer of the United States.

The measures which were introduced at the last session of Congress involving a funding of the public debt provided that the bonds issued in exchange for those now outstanding shall have the same time of maturity as those for which they are exchanged. No provision is made by these bills to enable the Government to use any surplus revenue which it may desire to devote to the payment of the public debt during the long periods between the maturities of the present four and one-half and four per cent. bonds.

The following table shows the bonded debt of the United States on November 1, 1884:

Three per cents, payable option United States		$194,190,500
Four and a half per cents, payable September 1, 1891		250,000,000
Pacific Railway sixes, payable January 16 and November 1, 1895	$3,002,000
Pacific Railway sixes, payable January 1 and February 1, 1896	8,000,000
Pacific Railway sixes, payable January 1, 1897	9,712,000
Pacific Railway sixes, payable January 1, 1898	29,904,952
Pacific Railway sixes, payable January 1, 1899	14,004,560
		64,623,512
Four per cents, payable July 1, 1907		737,691,550
Total		1,246,505,562

NOTE.—The Navy pension fund, amounting to $14,000,000 in three per cents, the interest upon which is applied to the payment of naval pensions exclusively, and $264,800 of four per cent. refunding certificates, are not included in the table.

It will be seen upon an examination of this table that there are $194,190,500 of three per cent. bonds now payable at the pleasure of the Government. These bonds will probably be paid within the next two years, even if considerable changes are made in the tariff; and from 1887 to 1891, when the $250,000,000 of four and one-half per cents shown by the table mature, there will be no bonds which the Government can call in for redemption. No doubt the accumulation of surplus revenue, if it continues to accrue at the present rate during the four years between 1887 and 1891, together with the revenues of 1892, will be more than sufficient to pay off the four and one-half per cents; and from 1892 until 1907 it will be impossible for the Government to use any of its surplus revenues for the payment of its bonds except at the option of their holders. It is apparent that the Government cannot accumulate and hold its surplus revenues, even during the short period from 1887 to 1892, without great disturbances to the business interests of the country, and much less can it do so during the longer period from 1892 to 1907.

It appears, therefore, that the foregoing considerations should be given due weight in any plan for the funding of the four per cent. bonds maturing in 1907, and the Comptroller therefore suggests that the principal difficulties of the situation may, perhaps, be obviated, as well as the reduction of interest effected, by funding these bonds into others which shall mature in proportionate amounts at certain fixed intervals. Thus the $738,000,000 of four per cents might be funded into an equal amount of three or two and one-half per cent. bonds, one-fifth of which, or $147,600,000, to mature at intervals of five years, the first installment falling due July 1, 1897, and the remaining installments of $147,600,000 each on the first of July in the last year of each succeeding period of five years, viz., 1902, 1907, 1912, and 1917. The average maturity of these five classes of bonds would be the same as that of the present four per cents, viz, July 1, 1907.*

*While considering the question of refunding the high-rate bonds forming the principal part of the public debt into bonds bearing a lower rate of interest, and paying a premium to the holders of the former to compensate them for any disadvantage in the exchange, it is interesting to note that the English Government, by an act passed at the last session of Parliament, provided for the conversion of a large portion of its national debt bearing interest at 3 per cent. into two classes of stock, bearing interest, one at 2¾ and the other at 2½ per cent., on the basis of a difference of 2 per cent. between the threes and the 2¾ per cent. stock, and of 8 per cent. between the threes and the 2½ per cent. stock, this difference or bonus to accrue to the holders of the threes.

As the English Government does not appear to have a surplus revenue available to pay the difference in cash, it is added to the face of the lower rate stocks given in exchange. The act which authorizes this exchange is not compulsory, and if the conversion takes place, it will be through the voluntary action of the holders of the higher-rate stock. The Chancellor of the Exchequer, however, claims that under an old law or regulation he has compulsory power and can call some six hundred and twelve millions sterling of 3 per cent. stocks upon giving a year's notice. Although this view is disputed, it has had the effect to depreciate the 3 per cent. stock, and will no doubt have an effect in inducing holders of threes to convert on the terms offered into the new stocks.

The editor of the London Bankers' Magazine, in commenting upon the action of the Government, remarks that "the mass of threes (which it is claimed can be called) is so large, that it may very probably prove a difficult matter to deal with the whole if paid off compulsorily." Another comment is that, "had the debt of the British Government been divided into separate funds of moderate amount, the operation (of funding) would have been comparatively an easy one. As matters stand, there will probably be great difficulty in carrying the operation through."

From the foregoing it appears quite evident that the successful funding of the debt of the United States from time to time into bonds bearing lower rates of interest has attracted the favorable attention of the English Government. It is particularly to be noted that the proposed 2¾ and 2½ per cent. stocks are to mature in 1905, that is, they are to become payable at the option of the Government at a fixed date twenty years

The surplus revenue could, by this plan, be used after July 1, 1897, and July 1, 1902, as well as after July 1, 1907; in paying the public debt; and it is believed that any disadvantage there might be to the Government in postponing the payment of one-fifth of the debt now in fours due in 1907 until after 1912, and another fifth until after 1917, would be more than offset by the benefit derived from the opportunity of paying one-fifth after 1897, and another fifth after 1902. The reduction of 1 per cent. per annum in the interest, if threes be issued, would be a direct benefit to the Government in the same manner as provided in the Aldrich bill; but while under that bill the amount of premium paid by the Government to induce the acceptance of a three per cent. bond payable in 1907 for a four per cent. bond maturing at the same date will be at a fixed rate for the total amount exchanged, it is believed that in the case of this proposition the rather larger premium that might have to be paid in exchanging threes due in 1897 and 1902 for fours of 1907 would be more than compensated by the smaller premiums paid in exchanging the threes of 1912 and 1917 for the same fours. In other words, the aggregate amount paid in premiums in exchanging bonds under the plan now suggested would probably be not more and possibly less than 15 per cent.

It is important to the success of this plan that in carrying it into practice each holder of four per cent. bonds who accepts the proposed threes in exchange should take one-fifth of the amount of his fours in each class of threes. Thus the holder of a $500 four per cent. bond of 1907 would receive five three per cent. bonds of $100 each, one maturing on July 1, 1897, and the remaining four on July 1, 1902, 1907, 1912, and 1917, respectively.*

Whatever course may be deemed expedient by Congress in regard to the funding or future payment of the public debt, the Comptroller is of the opinion that it is perfectly safe and will afford great benefit to the public to permit an issue by the national banks of circulation to the extent of 100 per cent. of the par value of the bonds deposited instead of 90 per cent., as under the present law, and that the present limit of issue to 90 per cent. of the paid-in capital stock should also be extended to 100 per cent. of such paid-in capital. Two of the bills after the date of their issue, and cannot be called before that date. This is a new departure in the management of the public debt of Great Britain. The attitude of the Chancellor of the Exchequer seems to indicate that he has particularly in view the funding of our 5s and 6s into 3½ per cents in 1881. His proposed method of carrying out the act of Parliament referred to is very similar in principle to that adopted by Secretary Windom in 1881.

On October 17, 1884, being the expiration of the period under which proposals were received by the Chancellor for the conversion of the 3 per cents., the total amount of stock of private holders that had been converted was but £9,686,000, or less than 1¼ per cent. of the entire 3 per cent. stock held by the public. It would appear, therefore, that the conversion of 3 per cent. English consols into stock of a lower rate of interest is not popular, although the lower-rate stocks have a minimum of twenty years to run, and notwithstanding the premium offered by the Government.

* A computation based upon the realized rate to the Government or any investor in four per cent. bonds having twenty-two years to run from July 1, 1885, at a market rate of 120 indicates that the average difference in present value between three per cent. bonds maturing at the dates mentioned and a four per cent. bond maturing in 1907 is about sixteen per cent. It is believed that the desirability of the long-time bonds for banking and trust purposes would induce the bankers and the public to make the exchange for a less difference than sixteen per cent., which is simply the mathematical difference. The history of securities put out by Governments whose credit is unquestioned shows that the long-time securities are invariably considered the most valuable, and that the premium paid for such securities is more in proportion than would naturally be indicated by a computation based upon any present realized rate of interest.

The following table has been prepared by E. B. Elliott, esq., Government actuary, in order to show the difference in value between three and four per cent. bonds ma-already referred to as introduced at the last session of Congress contained these provisions. Even admitting that the bonds representing the public debt when funded at lower rates might at times in the future be below par in the market, the Government would, if forced to redeem the notes of insolvent national banks, always have the right to cancel the bonds on deposit securing the same, and thus extinguish an amount of its debt equal dollar for dollar to the notes redeemed. It would also gain from such notes as are never presented for redemption, which form a certain percentage in the case of the circulation of each and every bank, and taking all banks together would form a large reserve fund. Tables in relation to this gain may be found in the Appendix.

It is further submitted that the profit on circulation may be increased to a point which will induce the banks to keep up their circulation to a maximum, and stop the contraction of their circulation which is now occurring, by repealing the law taxing such circulation at the rate of one-half of 1 per cent. semi-annually. This tax is regarded by many as only a fair bonus to the Government for the privilege of issuing circulation which the banks receive from it, and in times when the Government needed the money and when the profit on circulation was comparatively great this view had much in its favor. But under existing circumstances* the Government should in justice either enact laws turing at the periods mentioned, computing on a basis of the realized rate to the Government at 1.20 for four per. cent. bonds having twenty-two years to run:

Year.	Fours.	Threes.	Difference.
1897	1.20	1.0222	.1778
1902		1.0295	.1705
1907		1.0359	.1641
1912		1.0474	.1586
1917		1.0462	.1538

* The following table shows the annual per centage of profits on circulation, at rates of interest for bank loans from 5 to 8 per cent., based on 4 per cent. bonds of 1907, having twenty-two and a half years to run, the average market price for the year being 1.215529, and based on 4½ per cent. bonds having seven years to run, the average market price for the year being 1.127131. There are three rates of profit shown on each class of bonds, each derived by a different method of computation. The method by which the first figures in each case are obtained assumes that the premium paid would be made up by a sinking fund at compound interest, and also that the 5 per cent. redemption fund which banks are required to keep is no charge on circulation account.

The second figures are obtained assuming a sinking fund similar to that in the first method, but that the 5 per cent. fund is a charge on circulation account, and reduces the loanable circulation.

The third figures are obtained by a method which assumes that the premium is reduced by charging off an equal proportion each year, according to the time the bonds have to run, and that the 5 per cent. fund is no charge on circulation. The figures generally show that under average conditions a national bank issuing circulation, based on either 4 or 4½ per cent. bonds, at ordinary rates of interest for bank loans, receives an average profit of not more than one-half of 1 per cent.

Classes of bonds.		Profit with loans at 5 per cent.	Profit with loans at 6 per cent.	Profit with loans at 7 per cent.	Profit with loans at 8 per cent.

which will make the issue of circulation a real privilege, or it should remove the tax, which under present laws is fast becoming prohibitory. As it now stands, the Government is exacting a bonus for a privilege which no longer exists, and the inevitable consequence of the continued collection of the tax without measures of relief in other directions will be the gradual retirement of this form of circulating medium.

The expenses of keeping up the national banking system by the Government are at present paid in part from the proceeds of this tax and in part by assessment on the banks. If the tax be abolished, all of these expenses should be paid by the last-named method. Under the head of "Taxation," on page 65, will be found a detailed statement of the amount received from the tax on circulation and of the very small proportion used in payment of expenses of the Government in keeping up the system.

In concluding this subject the Comptroller wishes to have it distinctly understood that he is not in favor of any measure which will cause inflation. He is of the opinion that the present aggregate paper circulation, made up of legal-tender and national bank-notes and of gold and silver certificates, is ample for all the needs of business. He believes, however, that the sudden contraction of national-bank circulation, which without appropriate legislation is imminent, will seriously embarrass the business of the country, and that if this contraction is permitted to go on, it may result in the entire discontinuance of the issue of notes by national banks. The Comptroller believes that this form of currency, which can be increased or diminished in accordance with the natural laws which control business, should be continued in preference to any other now permitted by law. If at any time the aggregate of outstanding paper becomes too great, reduction should be made by retiring the direct issues of the Government, in view of the fact that the most eminent authorities in finance agree that such direct issues are in the long run highly detrimental and fraught with danger. A bank circulation as well secured and convenient as that of the banks in the national system, with a credit so deservedly well established in the minds of the people, should not be permitted to go out of existence.

CIRCULATION BASED ON SILVER.

Notwithstanding the fact that the national banking circulation of the country has been reduced about 24 millions during the past year, on account of the redemption and payment of the 3 per cent. United States bonds, held as security for the same, and is likely to continue to be reduced as the debt is paid, the circulating medium of the country has been increased by the issuance of silver certificates under the act of February 28, 1878, these certificates being issued upon standard silver dollars, of which at least 2 millions are coined every month of the year.

The perplexities of bimetallism and the silver question have attracted attention and interested the public for many years. Statistics have been worn threadbare, and the number of articles and essays that have been written on this subject are of almost interminable extent. The law making it mandatory on the Secretary of the Treasury to coin each month 2 millions of what are called standard silver dollars, or, in other words, the stamping of 2 million pieces of silver of 412½ grains in weight each as a dollar, no doubt was intended to appreciate the price of silver and to bring this precious metal into more general use as money. As the production of silver in the United States is so large, the Government should do all in its power to sustain the value of silver and promote its circulation as money by appropriate legislation, but it is submitted that the operation of the present law defeats the object in view.

The exact relative position of silver to gold in the commercial world is extremely difficult to determine. No one can gainsay the fact that in our commercial relations with England and other countries we must settle our exchanges upon a gold basis. This being true, necessarily, we can use silver in settlement of international balances only at its market price. This market price tests the proportionate value of silver as compared with gold. The present market price of silver throughout the world shows that the intrinsic value of a dollar weighing 412½ grains is about 85.20 cents. The law, therefore, which compels the coinage of 2 millions of standard silver dollars per month is an arbitrary attempt to make the price of silver more dear by fixing a ratio between gold and silver for the people of this country different from the ratio fixed by the market price, making the standard silver dollar practically a depreciated currency as compared with the gold coin of the country, and with the legal-tender and national-bank notes, which are redeemable in gold at par. It has been and still is contended by many that if the United States as a nation takes strong ground in favor of bimetallism and insists upon the recognition of silver as money, valued in proportion to gold at the ratio of 15½ to 1, that its comparative market value can be increased.

The practical working of the silver bill seems to prove the folly of this position. For some reason or other the intrinsic value of silver has decreased in a greater proportion than that of gold. This reason is exceedingly difficult to determine. In fact it is next to impossible to obtain the data and draw the deductions to ascertain the reason why the changes in the ratio or proportion of the value of gold to that of silver have invariably throughout the world been against silver. Some statisticians assert that the annual increase of gold throughout the world is at least 1¾ per cent. of the world's total stock of gold money, while as to silver it is claimed the increase is only about 1 per cent. of the total stock of silver money.* If this calculation is correct, some other reasons than those based on the proportionate production of gold and silver must be brought forward to prove that the increased production of silver over gold has depreciated the value of the former, for there is no question but that the purchasing power of silver, in proportion to the purchasing power of gold, has steadily decreased for more than a thousand years. Perhaps one reason for this depreciation in value is the inconvenience of silver as a circulating medium as compared with gold. It is proportionately to value about fifteen and a half times as heavy and nearly twenty-eight and a half times as bulky.

Whether its weight and bulk be the cause or not, the fact is undoubted that in this age of the civilized world the people have a strong distaste to the use of silver as a circulating medium in the form of coins weighing four hundred grains or more.

The law which stamps 412½ grains of silver and arbitrarily insists upon its circulation as a dollar, with unlimited legal-tender qualities, when its true value as indicated by the market price of silver is but 85.2 cents, is unworthy of this nation, and will sooner or later bring upon us financial trouble and disgrace. The practical working of the silver coinage act has established the fact that the public do not readily accept, circulate, and do business with these standard silver dollars. In order to insist upon the arbitrary value which has been fixed upon silver by law, Congress has ingeniously arranged to permit the people to deposit their inconvenient silver coins in the Treasury of the United States and obtain therefor certificates which represent a certain number of these dollars. These certificates, being a convenient circulating medium, were first used for shipments from commercial centers to the South and West for the purpose of supplying currency for moving the crops. As legal-tender and national-bank notes are frequently in limited supply during the fall months, the convenience of obtaining these certificates and thereby saving express charges on gold which would otherwise have to be shipped has caused the circulation of many millions among the people of the country.* The public, who daily receive and disburse these certificates, hardly realize that the intrinsic value of the silver which is represented by a $10 silver certificate is but $8.52; neither do they realize that the certificate is not a promise to pay on the part of the United States, but simply a promise to return to the bearer ten 412½-grain silver dollars.

If it is for the best interests of the United States to issue a circulation based upon silver, the Comptroller believes that the circulation should be issued upon coin or bullion which contains a sufficient number of grains of silver to have an intrinsic value equal in the markets of the world to its nominal value.

Some writers have suggested that a circulating medium might be based upon bullion, both gold and silver, and the Comptroller is of the opinion that under certain restrictions and regulations it would be far more correct in principle to issue silver certificates based upon a deposit of silver bullion, to be valued in the exact proportion of silver to gold, than to continue the issue of certificates under the present law. If this were done, silver bars might be stamped at their market value and held in the Treasury for the redemption of the certificates, which should call an amount of silver equal in value to their nominal or face value expressed in gold. The bullion represented by certificates should be periodically valued at its market price in gold, and a certain proportionate amount of silver so held might, perhaps, be coined to provide the means for redemption of the certificates, if redemption was desired for business purposes. These dollars should be in the nature of a subsidiary coin and should be reconvertible into bullion certificates.

The actual circulation of the silver dollar under the present law indicates that the necessary number of coins required probably would not exceed $50,000,000. This plan might possibly bring about a loss to the Government by the depreciation of silver, which loss, however, would be partially borne by the certificates which were lost and destroyed, as it is well known that from the loss and destruction of legal tenders and national bank notes the Government is even now a large gainer. The Comptroller believes that the use of silver as money in this manner, and its periodical valuation, would have more influence in appreciating the market value of silver among the nations of the world than the present arbitrary coinage of 412½ grains of silver as a dollar.*

* From information derived from the Treasurer of the United States, it is found that silver certificates issued at the subtreasuries in the west and south, on deposits of gold coin with the Assistant Treasurer of the United States at New York from September 18, 1880, to October 31, 1884, amounted to $69,625,500

* Considering the strong ground taken against bimetallism by the British Government, apparently for the reason that it is difficult to ascertain the intrinsic value of silver as compared with gold, it is interesting to note that the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Childers, in his budget speech of the 24th of April, proposed, in order

These reflections are upon the theory held by many, that it is for the best interests of this country to maintain a circulation based upon silver. The Comptroller doubts the correctness of this theory; but it is submitted that the circulation now outstanding based on silver is a depreciated currency, by the issue of which the Government has gained at the expense of the people who now hold the silver dollars and certificates, and that therefore it is incumbent on the Government, if it continues to issue circulation based upon silver, to do so under a plan which will not only provide a sound circulation for the future, but also prevent the holders of the present certificates and dollars from sustaining loss. This might all be accomplished by exchanging the bullion certificates suggested for the silver-dollar certificates now outstanding.

The issue of currency based upon silver should not, however, be unlimited, and the present laws making the purchase and coinage of a fixed amount of silver bullion mandatory are very pernicious in their effect, as the unlimited and continued issuance of full legal tender silver coin and certificates based thereon, of intrinsic value less than their face, has already caused the hoarding of gold, and will eventually drive it from the channels of trade, thereby causing a practical suspension of gold payments. There are many indications of this, notably the uneasiness in financial circles in June and July last, caused by the reserve of gold in the Treasury falling so near to the point at which under the law the issuance of gold certificates ceases. It is also to be observed that during the present year the national banks throughout the country have increased their holdings of gold, including certificates, in the sum of $19,615,350.

The amount of silver bullion purchased by the Government under the act of February 28, 1878, for coinage into standard silver dollars was, from the 1st of July, 1878, to the 1st of July, 1884, 144,366,242.43 standard ounces, costing $146,631,495.26. The number of silver dollars coined under the provisions of the act of February 28, 1878, up to November 1, 1884, amount to 184,730,829. The profits to the Government on the coinage of silver from July 1, 1878, to June 30, 1884, amount to $20,972,913.52.* Of the silver dollars coined $142,926,725 remain in the Treasury of the United States, leaving in circulation $41,804,104.

Silver certificates have been issued, which are represented by the standard silver dollars in the Treasury of the United States, to the amount of $131,556,531. Of the silver certificates so issued $30,814,970 remain in the Treasury of the United States, leaving $100,471,561 of these certificates in circulation. It will be seen, therefore, that of the total amount of silver dollars coined but $41,804,104 are in actual circulation, and that the people of the United States now hold a paper circulation based upon silver dollars in an amount equal to more than one-third of the national-bank circulation.

to restore the gold coinage of England to its nominal value, to issue a depreciated half sovereign. In other words Mr. Childers's plan is that the Government shall issue to the people a half sovereign containing only nine-tenths of the amount of gold at present contained in that coin, rather than have the Government bear the loss of the recoinage of the outstanding sovereigns and half sovereigns which are known to be light. This new half-sovereign is to be legal tender to the amount of £5 only, but it seems a noticeable fact that the Chancellor of the Exchequer should submit in his annual budget a proposition to debase one of the gold coins of the United Kingdom, a country which has heretofore been so particular as to its money standards. Although it is not proposed to change the intrinsic value of the sovereign, this alteration of the value of the half-sovereign would no doubt have the effect of discrediting the gold coinage of England, which has for many years been recognized throughout the world as an almost infallible standard of value.

*These figures have been obtained from the honorable Director of the Mint.

DISTRIBUTION OF COIN AND PAPER CURRENCY.

In previous reports tables have been given showing the amount of coin and currency in the country and its distribution in the Treasury, in the banks, and among the people, on January 1, 1879, the date of the resumption of specie payments, and on November 1 of each of the last four years preceding the date of the report. These tables are again presented, the amounts on November 1, 1880, being omitted, while those on November 1, 1884, are added.

The amounts of gold and silver in the country available for circulation are based upon the estimates of the Director of the Mint for January 1, 1879. The amounts of gold for the succeeding dates have been obtained by adding the gold production of the country, less the amounts used in the arts, from estimates of the same officer, adding the excess of gold importations during the year, or deducting the excess of gold exportations for the same period, according to the reports of the Bureau of Statistics. The amounts of silver are obtained by adding for each year the amount of silver dollars and fractional coinage, less amounts recoined. For the year 1884 the silver bullion purchased by the Government for coinage and on hand on November 1 is included.

From November 1, 1883, to November 1, 1884, the production of gold by the mines of the United States is estimated to have been about $29,000,000. During the period from November 1, 1883, to October 1, 1884, the amount of gold, foreign and domestic gold coin and bullion exported in excess of the amount imported has been $20,483,382, making an increase in the stock of gold in the country of $8,516,618. From this amount must be deducted the amount used in the arts during the same period ($4,875,000), leaving $3,641,618 as the increase in the stock of gold coin and bullion in the country.

The total excess of imports of gold over exports of the same from the date of resumption to October 1, 1884, has been $165,712,128, and the total estimated gold product of the mines of the United States for the same period has been about $191,725,000. The total amount of silver coined during the year has been, after deducting the recoinage, $28,387,010, of which $28,009,880 were standard silver dollars. The total amount of the latter coined since the passage of the act of February 28, 1878, authorizing that coinage, up to November 1, 1884, has been $184,730,829.

The following table, based upon the estimates and figures given above, shows the amount of coin and currency in the country on January 1, 1879, and on November 1 of the years named:

* The sum of $41,710,163 in lawful money has been deposited by the national banks to retire circulation of a like amount which has not yet been presented for redemption.

There has been no change in the aggregate of legal-tender notes outstanding, which still remains as fixed by the act of May 31, 1878. National-bank notes have decreased $18,453,974 during the year; the amounts of gold and silver have increased $3,641,618, and $33,033,507, respectively, making the total increase during the year in gold, silver, and currency, $18,221,151.

The table below gives the portion of the gold, silver, and currency held by the United States Treasury and by the national and State banks. The amounts in the United States Treasury are for the corresponding dates with those in the preceding table. The amounts in the national banks are for the corresponding dates nearest thereto on which returns were made to the Comptroller, viz: January 1, 1879; October 1, 1881; October 3, 1882; October 2, 1883; and September 30, 1884. The amounts in the State banks, trust companies, and savings banks have been compiled in this office from official reports for the nearest obtainable dates.

If the aggregates of gold, silver, and currency for the several dates in the above table be deducted from the amounts of the same items at corresponding dates in the table which precedes it, the remainders will be, approximately, the amounts in the hands of the people at corresponding dates.

The gold in the Treasury, including bullion in the process of coinage, has decreased during the year $22,682,970, and in the banks has increased $27,288,807. The paper currency in the Treasury has decreased $4,737,390, and in the banks has increased $16,671,605. The decrease of gold outside of the Treasury and the banks has been $964,219, and of silver coin $5,954,136, and the decrease of paper currency exclusive of silver certificates, $30,388,289. In the foregoing tables the silver certificates issued by the Treasury have not been included, but the standard silver dollars held for their redemption on presentation form a portion of the silver coin in the Treasury. The silver certificates in the hands of the people and the banks at the following dates were as follows:

January 1, 1879	$413,360
November 1, 1880	19,780,240
November 1, 1881	58,838,770
November 1, 1882	65,620,450
November 1, 1883	85,334,381
November 1, 1884	100,741,562

It will be seen that the amount of these certificates in circulation has increased $15,407,180 during the year 1884.

The gold certificates issued under section 12 of the act of July 12, 1882, outstanding in the hands of the people and banks on November 1, 1882, November 1, 1883, and November 1, 1884, not including the amount in the Treasury, were $6,962,280, $48,869,940, and $85,301,190, respectively.

As before stated, the total amount of standard silver dollars coined up to November 1, 1884, was $184,730,829, of which, as shown in one of the foregoing tables, $142,926,726 was then in the Treasury, although an amount equal to $100,741,561 was represented by certificates in the hands of the people and the banks, leaving $42,185,165 then held by the Treasury. Of the $184,730,829 coined, $41,804,103 was therefore evidently outside of the Treasury, and $100,741,561 of the amount in the Treasury was represented by certificates in circulation. The remainder of the silver, $91,004,610, consisted of subsidiary coin, trade dollars, and bullion purchased for coinage, of which $33,993,284 was in the Treasury, and about $57,011,326 was in use with the people and the banks, consisting principally of subsidiary coin, in the place of the paper fractional currency for which it was substituted.

The increase of gold and silver coin and paper currency, exclusive of silver certificates, outside of the Treasury and the banks, since the date of resumption, is thus estimated to have been $263,956,936, and the decrease during the year ending November 1, 1883, $6,306,372. To these sums the amounts of silver certificates in the hands of the people may be added. On November 1, 1883, the amount of these certificates held by the people and the banks was, as has been seen, $100,741,561; but the proportion of this amount in the hands of the people cannot be exactly determined.

The national banks held silver coin amounting on October 1, 1877, to $3,700,703, and on October 1, 1878, to $5,392,628. On October 2, 1879, the amount held was $4,986,493, on October 1, 1880 it was $6,495,477, including $1,165,120 in silver Treasury certificates; on October 1, 1881, it was $7,112,567.18, including $1,662,180 of silver certificates; on October 3, 1882, it was $8,273,815, including $1,807,600 of silver certificates; on October 2, 1883, it was $10,247,926, including $2,653,030 of silver certificates; and on September 30, 1884, it was $11,424,067, including $3,331,510 of silver certificates.

The latest official reports of the State banks in New England, New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Georgia, Texas, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Missouri, and the Territory of Montana show that these banks held specie amounting to $14,834,133, of which the banks in New York City held $10,506,059.

The official returns from the State banks of California do not give separately the amount of coin held by them, but it is estimated that the total cash reported, amounting to $10,542,432, consisted almost entirely of coin. The amount of coin held by State banks in the States before mentioned, including California, was, therefore, $25,376,565.

The Director of the Mint, in his report for 1882, estimated the amount of coin in the country on June 30, 1882, at $700,455,545, of which $500,862,185 was gold and $199,573,360 was silver.

His estimate for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1884, is as follows:

From July 1, 1884, to October 1, 1884, there has been added to the coin $5,955,999 of gold and $6,582,350 of silver, making the stock of coin in the country at the latter date $814,788,148, of which $557,588,441 was gold and $257,199,707 was silver.

The amount of bullion in the mint and in the New York assay office on October 1, 1884, is stated to have been $52,950,000 of gold and $4,935,000 of silver, making in all $57,885,000, which, added to the amount of coin stated above, gives $872,673,148, of which amount $610,538,441 was gold and $262,134,707 was silver.

The following table shows the amount of gold and silver, including the amount held to protect gold and silver certificates, and the percentage of each, in the Treasury of the United States, on September 30 of each year from 1876 to 1884, and on November 1, 1884:

AMOUNT OF INTEREST-BEARING FUNDED DEBT IN THE UNITED STATES AND THE AMOUNT HELD BY NATIONAL BANKS.

The public debt reached its maximum on August 31, 1865, at which time it amounted to $2,845,937,626. More than 1,275 millions of this debt were in temporary obligations of the Government, of which 830 millions bore interest at 7.30 per cent. per annum. The average rate of interest on 1,725 millions of the debt at that date was 6.62 per cent. This large amount of temporary obligations was funded within the three years which followed the close of the war, chiefly into 6 per cent. bonds. The 6 per cent. bonds were gradually reduced during the year 1869 and the seven years following by payment and refunding into 5 per cents. The 6 per cents, together with the 5 per cents, were subsequently rapidly replaced by 4½ and 4 per cent. bonds, which were authorized to be issued by the act of July 14, 1870. In the year 1881 all of the un-redeemed 5 and 6 per cent. bonds, amounting to $579,560,050, were continued payable at the pleasure of the Government, with interest at 3½ per cent., by agreement with the holders. The act of July 12, 1882, authorized the refunding of the three and one-halfs into three per cents, and since its passage all of these bonds have been converted into three per cents. The Secretary, during the year ending November 1, called for payment nearly $111,338,500 of the threes.

The report for 1879 and subsequent reports contain tables exhibiting the classification of the unmatured interest-bearing bonded debt of the United States, and of the bonds held by the national banks for a series of years.

These tables are again presented, and exhibit the amount of the outstanding bonds of the Government and the amount held by the banks on July 1 of each year and November 1 of the present year.

The following table exhibits the classification of the unmatured interest-bearing bonded debt of the United States at the dates named:

The Navy pension fund, amounting to $14,000,000 in 3 per cents, the interest upon which is applied to the payment of naval pensions exclusively, and $264,800 of refunding certificates, are not included in the table.

The operations of the Treasury Department for a series of years have largely reduced the amount of interest receivable by the national banks on the bonds held by them.

Seventeen years ago the banks had on deposit as security for circulation 327 millions in United States bonds, of which amount 241 millions bore interest at 6 per cent., and 86 millions at 5 per cent., and on July 1, 1882, they held 227 millions of 3½ per cent. bonds. These bonds have now entirely disappeared from the list of securities held by the national banks. The average rate of interest now paid by the United States on the bonds deposited as security for circulating notes is about 3.6 per cent. upon their par value.

The banks now hold 49 millions of four and one-halfs, 116 millions of fours, and 155 millions of three per cents, which have been refunded from three and one half per cents. This will be seen from the following table, which exhibits the amount and classes of United States bonds owned by the banks, including those pledged as security for circulation and for public deposits, on the 1st day of July in each year since 1865, and upon November 1 of the present year:

The banks also held $3,469,000 of Pacific Railway six per cents. They also had $9,586,200 of three per cents, which were called and matured on and prior to November 1.

About one-half of the bonds now held by the national banks are three per cents.

If the public debt continues to be paid as rapidly as it has been during the past year, all of these bonds will probably be called within the next two years. Those of the lower numbers, which it is safe to estimate will be among the last called, cannot be purchased for a premium of much less than 2 per cent., and at that price there will be very little, if any, profit on circulation based on this class of bonds if they are redeemed within the next two years.

The profits on circulation, based on other bonds held by national banks, are merely nominal, after paying the annual tax of 1 per cent. on circulation.

SECURITY FOR CIRCULATING NOTES.

During previous years there have been many changes in the classes of United States bonds held by the national banks as security for their circulation, owing to the payment or refunding or extension of the different issues of 5 and 6 per cent. bonds, bearing interest at 4½, 4, 3½, and 3 per cent.

The amount of United States bonds held by the Treasurer as security for the circulating notes of the national banks on the 1st day of November, 1884, is exhibited in the following table:

Total			325,316,300

During the year 1871, and previous thereto, a large portion of the bonds bore interest at the rate of 6 per cent., and until the year 1877 all of the bonds bore interest at either 5 or 6 per cent.

The 5 and 6 per cent. bonds in the year 1881 entirely disappeared from the list of these securities, with the exception of 3½ millions of Pacific sixes, and at the present time more than 47.8 per cent. of the amount pledged for circulation consists of bonds bearing interest at 3 per cent. only, and the remainder, with the exception of $3,469,000 of Pacifics, bear interest at the rate of 4 and 4½ per cent.

AMOUNT OF UNITED STATES BONDS HELD BY THE NATIONAL BANKS AND BY BANKS ORGANIZED UNDER STATE LAWS.

Through the courtesy of State officers the Comptroller has obtained official reports made to them under State laws by State banks in twenty-two States, by trust companies in five States, and by savings banks in fourteen States, at different dates during the years 1883 and 1884, and from these returns the following table has been compiled:

Held by 817 State banks in twenty-two States	$2,337,705
Held by 35 trust companies in five States	23,371,084
Held by 636 savings banks in fourteen States	196,226,202
Total	221,934,991

The interest-bearing funded debt of the United States was, on November 1, 1884, $1,206,475,600. The total amount of bonds held by the national ($342,156,300) and State and savings banks and trust companies ($221,934,991) is nearly one half of the interest-bearing debt.

The amount of United States bonds held by State banks is given by geographical divisions for the years 1881, 1882, 1883, and 1884, as follows:

Geographical divisions.	1881.	1882.	1883.	1884.
Eastern States	$40,468,340	$42,667,248	$37,399,819	$30,806,938

Western States	5,735,518	3,369,414	3,105,024	2,390,780
Pacific States	14,874,332	20,020,175	17,743,978	(*)
Total	238,525,539	263,460,426	241,742,909	221,934,991

* The United States bonds held in the Pacific States are not included in the above table, as the returns for 1884 did not separate United States bonds from other bonds held. It is estimated that the aggregate amount held is $18,000,000, the estimate being based upon the proportion of United States bonds to the total amount of bonds held in these States in 1883.

In previous reports the Comptroller has given the amount of United States bonds held by banks organized under State laws, and by private bankers, as returned to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue for purposes of taxation. The tax on deposits and capital having been repealed, no further returns of this kind will be available. The last returns to the Commissioner was for the six months ending November 30, 1882, and from these returns the following table has been compiled for the purpose of comparison with previous tables presented since the year 1880:

The data which have heretofore been obtained from the Commissioner of Internal Revenue included the returns from private bankers, and were, therefore, more complete than those obtained from the reports of State officers, but the amounts held by State and savings banks have not greatly differed.

THE FINANCIAL CRISIS OF MAY.

Owing to the large number of mercantile failures which had occurred during 1883, considerable financial uneasiness was felt at the beginning of 1884, and the year opened inauspiciously, by the appointment on January 1 of a receiver for the New York and New England Railroad. Following closely upon this failure were the troubles of the Oregon and Transcontinental Company, and the appointment on January 12 of a receiver for the North River Construction Company. The months of February, March, and April were characterized by many commercial failures, rumors affecting the credit of various corporations, and a still further depreciation in price of stocks and bonds, and in fact of all products and commodities.

This feeling of uneasiness and of uncertainty as to values culminated on May 6 with the failure of the Marine National Bank of New York whose president was a member of the firm of Grant & Ward. The failure of this firm immediately followed, and owing to the prominence of some of its members and its large liabilities, exceeding $17,000,000, its failure caused great excitement, that had not subsided when on May 13 the president of the Second National Bank of New York was discovered to be a defaulter to the extent of $3,185,000. Although this defalcation was immediately made good by the directors of the bank and did not result in its suspension or failure, such a shock was given to credit, and to the confidence of the public in all institutions and firms supposed to have loaned money upon such railroad and other securities as had greatly decreased in value or whose managers were supposed to be directly or indirectly interested in speculation in Wall street, was so shaken, that there was great pressure to sell stocks and securities and an active demand on the banks for deposits.

This condition of affairs culminated on May 14 in the suspension of the Metropolitan National Bank, the failures of Donnell, Lawson & Simpson, Hatch & Foote, and several other bankers and brokers. These failures were followed on May 15 by that of the Newark Savings Bank, and by the suspension of Fiske & Hatch and others. Failures and suspensions continued through the months of May and June, including those of the Wall Street Bank, the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad, the West Shore Railroad, of C. K. Garrison, M. Morgan's Sons, and of other bankers and brokers.

The suspension of the Metropolitan National Bank on May 14 caused great excitement. All stocks and securities called upon the New York Stock Exchange were greatly depreciated under the pressure to sell, and it was practically impossible for the banks to collect their call loans, as their borrowers could not obtain money by sale of their securities except at ruinous rates; neither could they borrow elsewhere; and it was impracticable and impolitic to throw the mass of securities held as collateral to the call loans of the associated banks upon the market. If it had been done it is probable that a suspension of gold and currency payments by the banks throughout the country would have followed the general panic that would have ensued. In this emergency the members of the New York Clearing-House Association, realizing that an immediate demand for deposits would be made by their country correspondents, called a meeting at the clearing house on the afternoon of May 14, and the following plan for settling balances at the clearing house was unanimously adopted: * * *

Resolved, That, in view of the present crisis, the banks in this association, for the purpose of sustaining each other and the business community, resolve:

That a committee of five be appointed by the chair, to receive from banks members of the association bills receivable and other securities to be approved by said committee, who shall be authorized to issue therefor to such depositing banks certificates of deposit bearing interest at six per cent. per annum not in excess of 75 per cent. of the securities or bills receivable so deposited, except in case of United States bonds, and said certificates shall be received in settlement of balances at the clearing house.

After consultation with the officers and directors of the Metropolitan National Bank, a committee of examination was appointed to visit the bank and to ascertain if some plan could not be arranged to permit it to open again for business. The greater part of the securities of the bank were found to be of such a character that loan certificates could safely be issued upon them, and in this way the Metropolitan National was enabled to resume business on May 15 and settle its balances at the clearing house. The prompt action of the members of the associated banks and the resumption of the Metropolitan National Bank greatly assisted in allaying excitement and staying the panic, and although confidence was not immediately restored, and although the banks in the city of New York were largely drawn upon by their country correspondents reducing their reserve for a time below the 25 per cent. limit prescribed by law, and although on account of the great depreciation of values and the stringency of the money market occasioned by the want of confidence other failures of State banks, private bankers, and mercantile firms occurred in New York and throughout the country, there was no suspension of gold and currency payments at any point, and the issue of loan certificates was confined to the banks of New York City, which were soon enabled to collect their loans and make good their reserves.

The crisis of May, 1884, seems to have been even more unexpected to the country than that of September, 1873. Although many conservative people had predicted that the large increase in railroad and other securities, and the general inflation which had been going on for a number of years would bring financial troubles and disasters to the country, it was nevertheless generally believed that the depreciation of values and the liquidation which had already been going on for many months, and the further facts that the country was doing business upon a gold basis, that the prices of all commodities were already very low, that an increased area of territory was under cultivation, and that the prospects were excellent for good crops, together with the larger distribution of wealth throughout the Union, would prevent a repetition of the panic of 1873. This general belief was measurably correct, as the panic or crisis was confined principally to New York City, although its effects were more or less felt in all parts of the country, and the liquidation resulting therefrom has not yet been fully completed.

The most profound students of political economy have for many years endeavored to explain the causes which have led to financial troubles similar to those of 1857, 1873, and 1884, and it is not to be expected that the Comptroller can obtain sufficient data to enter into a complete and satisfactory explanation of the causes of the financial disturbances of the present year. The causes that lead to financial crises in a country so rich in agriculture, of which the manufacturing and mining interests are so varied and important, the imports and exports so great, of so extensive an area of territory, and in which wealth is becoming so equally distributed, and the population of which is increasing so rapidly, are difficult to explain, and the issue of currency and creation of debt requires elaborate study to ascertain the reasons for the rise and fall in value of commodities and realty which cause a panic. It is scarcely possible at this time to explain why it should be necessary for the country to go through the liquidation and financial trouble which is now being experienced.

It is apparent, however, that a repetition of some of the same circumstances which brought about the monetary crisis of 1873 has been largely influential in causing the present crisis. Property of all kinds had been capitalized, as it is called; bonds and stocks had been issued for the purpose of building railroads, carrying on manufacturing and other business; municipal and other bonds had been issued for public improvements. These bonds and stocks were put upon the market, and commercial credit was extended until a point was reached where capitalists of this and other countries questioned the intrinsic value of these securities and the earning power of the property on which they were based, and also doubted the solvency of many firms in commercial business. This lack of confidence induced them to decline to make farther advances or investments. A decrease in the earnings of railroads, manufacturing, and other enterprises followed, and the entire business of the country has consequently been restricted and deadened.

There is little doubt that one of the causes which led to the local disturbances among the banks, national and State, and private bankers of the city of New York, was their intimate relation in many instances to the New York Stock Exchange, and the fact that a large portion of the loans made by the banks and bankers of New York were based upon the security of stocks and bonds, often speculative in their character, which are dealt in and regularly called at the Stock Board.

It is no doubt correct in principle to advance money in aid of enterprises which are legitimate in their aims, and from which reasonable returns may be expected, and in order that the general business and commerce or the carrying trade of the country may be benefited. Due care should, however, be taken that loans so made should not exceed the amount which it would be safe to advance upon the intrinsic value of the property represented by the securities, and not upon a fictitious or unreal valuation. Lines should be closely drawn between legitimate business and speculation. The principles which underlie judicious and sound banking are the growth of an experience of many years. Banks not only loan their own capital but that of their depositors and creditors, and are therefore, to a certain extent, trustees, and should not encourage speculation or lend money for the furtherance of doubtful enterprises, even though the profits promise to be exorbitant. The proper relation of the New York Stock Exchange to the business of the United States is yet to be determined. The value of an exchange for the convenient sale and handling of stocks and securities is unquestioned; but when the members of this exchange, who have associated themselves together for the purpose of furthering the business and commerce of the country, use the machinery of this exchange to create speculative values and to increase or decrease prices of stocks and bonds for purposes of speculation solely, or, more properly, to encourage a form of gambling, it is a matter for serious consideration whether legislation by the State of New York or by the Congress of the United States should not be had to regulate a business which appears at times to be carried on to the great detriment of the true business interests of the country.

Just what restrictions should be placed upon the business of the New York Stock Exchange, or what legislation should be had, is difficult to determine. Just how far the Federal or State law can interfere with the business of private citizens is a delicate and difficult matter to settle.

In considering the financial troubles of May, 1884, in the city of New York, the Comptroller desires to call attention to the fact that while many banks and private banking firms of excellent repute failed, but one association organized under the national-bank act failed, and but one suspended.

The liabilities of State banks and private bankers failing during the month of May in the city of New York it is estimated exceeded in the aggregate 32 million dollars, while the liabilities of the only national bank in the same category was about 4¼ millions, no loss to the public occurring through the national bank which suspended.

Upon learning of the defalcation at the Second National Bank on May 14, and when it was apparent that a financial crisis was imminent in the city of New York, the Comptroller ordered expert and reliable examiners to the assistance of the national-bank examiner stationed at New York in order to protect the public. The examiners were instructed to exercise the utmost caution and vigilance, and to visit any of the national banks that appeared to be in trouble, or where violations of law or irregularities were suspected. They were especially instructed to report any criminal irregularities or violations of section 5209. Before permitting the Second National Bank, whose president had misappropriated over 3 millions of its funds, to open for business, the defalcation was made good under the supervision of the examiner. The plan of resumption for the Metropolitan National Bank, by obtaining loan certificates of the New York Clearing-House Association upon its securities, was also submitted by the examiner in charge of the bank to the Comptroller, the examiner remaining in charge until the plan was carried into effect and the bank permitted to resume.

During the crisis in New York, bank examiners throughout the country were directed to exercise the utmost vigilance in the districts to which they were assigned, to visit any of the national banks which appeared to be in trouble or which were suspected of irregularities. They were further instructed to report promptly by telegraph any matters of importance which might occur in their respective districts.

The Comptroller desires to call attention to the fact that only eleven national banks failed in the United States during the year ending November 1, 1884, although more than one hundred banks and bankers other than national failed during the same period. The records of this office show that many of the transactions of the national banks which failed, including the Marine and Metropolitan National Banks of New York City, were looked upon with disfavor, and that these associations as a rule had been frequently reprimanded for irregularities during the past few years. None of the disclosures made by the examiner's reports, however, gave the Department an adequate idea of the dangerous character of the business which was being carried on by the Marine National Bank of New York, and this is not singular, as the directors of the bank, as will hereafter be seen, were equally deceived in regard to the situation.

Further information relating to this and other matters pertaining to the banks that have failed during 1884 will be found under the head of national bank failures in this report.

CLEARING-HOUSE LOAN CERTIFICATES.

As has been stated, a meeting of the members of the New York Clearing-House Association was held on May 14, 1884, to consider what measures could be adopted to protect the reserves of the associated banks and to prevent suspension of gold and currency payments in New York.

Resolutions were there adopted, which are given elsewhere, authorizing the issuance by the loan committee of the Clearing-House Association of what were termed clearing-house loan certificates, of which the following is a copy:

No. —.] [$10,000.

Loan committee of the New York Clearing-House Association.

New York, May 15, 1884.

This certifies that the ——— National Bank has deposited with the committee securities in accordance with the proceedings of a meeting of the association held May 14, 1884, upon which this certificate is issued. This certificate will be received in payment of balances at the clearing-house for the sum of ten thousand dollars from any member of the Clearing-House Association. On the surrender of the certificate by the depositing bank above named, the committee will indorse the amount as a payment on the obligation of said bank, held by them, and surrender a proportionate share of collateral securities held therefor.

——— ———,
——— ———,
——— ———, } Committee.

These certificates were to be issued to banks who were members of the association upon their securities or bills receivable, at the rate of 75 cents on the dollar. By the cooperation of all the members of the Clearing-House Association, the certificates were accepted in payment of balances at the clearing-house. Similar resolutions were adopted and certificates issued during the panic of 1873, but this measure of relief was not taken until after the panic had assumed such proportions that their use and the consequent relief to the banks in settling their balances at the clearing-house could not restore confidence. There is little doubt but that the prompt action of the associated banks in May last in issuing these loan certificates had a most excellent effect not only in the city of New York but throughout the country. The greatest amount of these certificates outstanding on any one day was on May 24, 1884, when they amounted to $21,885,000. After that date they were issued in limited amounts only, and on June 7 their further issue was discontinued.

Of the eighty-two banks, members of the Clearing-House Association, only twenty took out these certificates, and several of the banks so taking them out, did so simply as a precautionary measure and did not use them. The total amount issued was $24,915,000, and about $7,000,000 of these were issued to the Metropolitan National Bank. On and after June 10 balances at the clearing-house were paid in lawful money. The principal security on which these certificates were issued consisted of mercantile paper.

On July 1 all of the loan certificates, with the exception of a portion of those which had been issued by the loan committee to the Metropolitan National Bank, had been returned to the committee and canceled and the securities taken up. This bank had been compelled, owing to its suspension and the lack of confidence which was caused thereby, to liquidate almost its entire deposit account, having reduced its deposits from $11,294,000, on May 15 to $1,338,000 on September 30. Owing to this enormous liquidation of deposits, the Metropolitan National Bank was unable to collect its loans and realize upon its securities with sufficient promptness to cancel its loan certificates by July 1, and as these certificates bear interest at six per cent. and are secured by a deposit of ample collaterals, as heretofore stated, the associated banks were willing to carry them as loans, and on October 3, 1884, were still carrying $5,290,000 of the certificates issued to the Metropolitan National Bank. Since that time this bank has gone into voluntary liquidation, and these certificates will be paid and canceled as rapidly as the collection of the securities upon which they are based can be made.

The following table shows the aggregate issuance and cancellation of clearing-house certificates from day to day from May 15, 1884, to October 3, 1884:

Date.	Issued.	Canceled.	Outstanding.

	24,915,000

As has been stated, loan certificates were issued during the panic of 1873. On September 20 of that year resolutions* were adopted for the issuance of these certificates, as follows:

That in order to enable the banks of this association to afford such additional assistance to the business community, and also for the purpose of facilitating the settlement of the exchanges between the banks, it is proposed:

That any bank in the Clearing House Association may, at its option, deposit with a committee of five persons, to be appointed for that purpose, an amount of its bills receivable and other securities, to be approved by said committee, who shall be authorized to issue therefor to said depositing banks certificates of deposit, bearing interest at seven per cent. per annum, in denominations of five and ten thousand dollars, to an amount not in excess of seventy-five per cent. of the securities or bills receivable so deposited; except that when the securities deposited shall consist either of United States stocks or gold certificates, the certificates of deposit may be issued upon the par value of such certificates.

These certificates may be used in settlement of balances at the clearing-house for a period not to extend beyond the first of November proximo, and they shall be received by creditor banks during that period daily in the same proportion as they bear to the aggregate amount of debtor balances paid to the clearing-house. The interest which may accrue upon these certificates shall, on the first of November next, or sooner, should the certificates be all redeemed, be apportioned among the banks which shall have held them during that time.

The securities deposited with the committee above-named shall be held by them as a special deposit pledged for the redemption of the certificates issued thereon.

* * * * * * *

The total amount of loan certificates issued under this resolution was $26,565,000, and the following table shows the issue and cancellation of same:

Issued.		Canceled.
September 22 to 29, 1873	$22,080,000	October 3 to 31, 1873	$5,370,000
October 1 to 29, 1873	3,205,000	November 3 to 29, 1873	8,235,000
November 1 to 20, 1873	1,280,000	December 1 to 31, 1873	12,020,000
		January 5 to 14, 1874	940,000
	$26,565,000		26,565,000

* These resolutions were first printed in the Comptroller's report for the year 1873.

Upon comparison it will be seen that the issue of loan certificates* during September, October, and November, 1873, exceeded the issue of May and June 1884 by only $1,650,000.

NATIONAL-BANK FAILURES.

Eleven banks have been placed in the hands of receivers during the year ending November 1, 1884, viz:

Name of bank.	Capital.	Receiver appointed.
The First National Bank of Leadville, Colo	$60,000	Jan. 24, 1884
The City National Bank of Lawrenceburgh, Ind	100,000	Mar. 11, 1884
The First National Bank of Saint Albans, Vt	100,000	Apr. 22, 1884
The First National Bank of Monmouth, Ill	75,000	Apr. 22, 1884
The Marine National Bank of New York, N. Y	400,000	May 13, 1884
The Hot Springs National Bank of Hot Springs, Ark	50,000	June 2, 1884
The Richmond National Bank of Richmond, Ind	250,000	July 23, 1884
The First National Bank of Livingston, Mont	50,000	Aug. 25, 1884
The First National Bank of Albion, N. Y	100,000	Aug. 26, 1884
The First National Bank of Jamestown, Dak	50,000	Sept. 13, 1884
The Logan National Bank of West Liberty, Ohio	50,000	Oct. 18, 1884

One of these, the City National Bank of Lawrenceburgh, Ind., had previously been placed in voluntary liquidation by the vote of shareholders, owning two-thirds of its stock, but failed to pay its depositors on demand.

In the case of the following six banks a final dividend to depositors has been paid during the year, and the affairs of all of them except those of the National Bank of the State of Missouri, have been finally closed. These banks, with the total dividend paid by each to their creditors, are as follows:

Name of bank.	Total dividends on principal.	Proportion of interest paid.
	Per cent.	Per cent.
The First National Bank of Austin, Nev	92.70
The Atlantic National Bank of New York, N. Y	100.	50.
The Miners National Bank of Georgetown, Col	76.50
The National Bank of Fishkill, N. Y	100.	38.5
The National Bank of the State of Missouri, Saint Louis, Mo	100.	100.
The German National Bank of Chicago, Ill	100.	42.3

In the case of the National Bank of the State of Missouri there still remains a portion of the assets which can only be liquidated at the close of protracted litigation. Whatever may be realized from this source will eventually be distributed among the stockholders of that bank who have paid an assessment upon their stock liability.

The affairs of a number of national banks in the hands of receivers have been completely liquidated, with the exception of litigation pending in the courts, which may protract their final settlement for some time, although in three cases, those of the First National Bank of Allentown, Pa., the First National Bank of Waynesburg, Pa., and the City National Bank of Chicago, Ill., a speedy settlement is now expected.

*The Comptroller is indebted to Mr. W. A. Camp, manager, and Mr. F. D. Tappen, chairman of the loan committee of the New York clearing-house, for valuable information regarding the issue of loan certificates.

* Of interest.

The failures of national banks during the year ending November 1, 1884, have been more numerous than for a number of preceding years, and this is not surprising considering the great depreciation in values and the consequent general liquidation, which has resulted in failures among traders and others having an aggregate indebtedness of about $200,000,000, as nearly as can be estimated. These failures have entailed large losses upon the banks generally, and the national banks mentioned, as well as many State banks and private bankers, have been unable to meet the continued strain. It is, however, surprising that the occasional failure of a national bank, to whatever cause due, with comparatively small capital and liabilities, should give rise to so much comment and excitement, when the numerous failures of State banks and private banks, of mercantile and manufacturing firms, and of joint-stock enterprises, causing losses vastly larger than those occasioned by the failures of national banks, attract comparatively little attention or criticism. As a rule, the jobber, manufacturer, or joint stock concern has obtained his or its capital in such a manner that the effects of their disasters are more widely distributed, and therefore less noticed. The failing State bank and private banker, however, equally with the national bank, inflict loss upon the immediate community in which they are located, and apparently the complaint should be as great of one class as of the other, which, however, is not the case.

It is also of interest to know that this is not the only country which has suffered from financial troubles, caused by the failure of banks and bankers. Banks of note have failed during the year in England and her provinces. The failure of the Oriental Bank was especially noticeable. This institution was represented by branches in India, Australia, and elsewhere throughout the British empire. It owed its depositors about six or seven million pounds sterling, equivalent to thirty to thirty-five millions of dollars. The liabilities of this one institution were therefore about equal to the aggregate liabilities of all the State and private bankers failing in the State of New York during the last year. The failure of the Oriental Bank was in some measure due to its giving its support to what in this country would be termed wildcat land speculations.

The most notable national-bank failure of the year in the United States was that of the Marine National Bank, of the city of New York, which closed its doors about 11 a. m. on the 6th of May. The bank examiners of the city of New York immediately took possession of the bank and found that it had been indebted to the clearing-house that day in the sum of $555,000. The examiner also found the account of one firm overdrawn on the books of the bank to the amount of $766,570.14. Upon further examination it was found that this firm owed a total of about $2,430,500, being more than six times the capital of the bank. A portion of this indebtedness was in the names of other parties —clerks in their office and relations of one of the firm. How far the officials of the bank are criminally responsible for these matters is a subject now under investigation in the courts. The Comptroller finds from the report of the examiner that this firm had three different accounts with the bank—a private account of a member of the firm, a general account and a special account. It appears, from an examination of the transcript of these accounts, that on May 5 their special account was overdrawn by certified checks $383,402.07, and that on the same day their general account was also overdrawn. It is apparent, therefore, that the bank had violated the law in regard to certifications by permitting these overdrafts. It is claimed, however, by the officers of the bank that these certifications were made against securities which were subsequently obtained from the bank by one of the firm upon his representations that he had obtained a loan upon them elsewhere, and would make good his account. A further examination of the various accounts of the firm shows that while the certification of their checks was carried on to an enormous extent, they also made very heavy deposits from day to day, and it will, perhaps, be very difficult to furnish evidence proving conclusively that the checks were certified before the deposits were made.

An examination of the minutes of the board of directors of the bank shows that on the 11th day of April, 1884, twenty-five days before the failure of the bank, the committee of examination appointed by the board of directors reported that they had examined the securities, counted the bills and specie, and examined the balances on the ledgers of the bank, and found the recorded statement of the 7th of April, 1884, to be correct. The minutes further show that the directors were in session about an hour before the bank closed. They apparently had no suspicion of the state of its affairs, and voted to discount certain offerings of commercial paper; and within half an hour after the adjournment of this meeting the bank closed its doors. It would seem, therefore, that the board of directors was grossly deceived as to the true state of affairs.

In this connection I desire to state that the records of the Comptroller's office show that many of the transactions of the Marine National Bank of the city of New York have been looked upon with disfavor, and that the association had been frequently reprimanded for irregularities during the past few years. None of the reports of examinations of the bank made to this office, however, disclosed any violations of the law forbidding the overcertification of checks, or gave the Department any adequate idea of the dangerous character of its loans, and this is not surprising, the directors of the bank having been equally deceived in regard to the situation.

After reviewing the information in his possession, it seems to the Comptroller that the failure of the Marine National Bank is in consequence of the board of directors having chosen for their president a man who was willing to risk his own honor and the funds of the bank in speculation. He joined with himself another, who is now in Ludlow-street jail under indictment, and who was also a member of the board of directors of the bank. While it is true that the final failure has shown that there were overcertifications on the last day, the Comptroller judges, from the information which he has received, that the bank had been for a long time in the power of the firm to whom the certifications were granted, through the president's copartnership. This matter was carried to the extent of permitting one of the firm to have access to, and apparently free disposal of, the securities left as collateral to his loans, and, so far as actual results are concerned, he might as well have had the combinations of the cash vaults of the bank and helped himself to their contents.

The Metropolitan National Bank suspended and closed its doors about noon on May 14, and opened again for business at 12 o'clock on the following day, the bank examiner remaining in charge of the bank during its suspension. He also remained at the bank during the first days of its resumption, and has frequently visited it since, and forwarded reports as to its liquidation of deposits. Before permitting the bank to resume business the Comptroller received assurances from the examiner that the bank was solvent, and also received telegrams from the president and chairman on loans of the New York Clearing-House, stating that in their opinion the bank was solvent and should be permitted to resume. The bank is now closing its affairs, having arranged to pay its depositors in full and gone into voluntary liquidation under sections 5220 and 5221 of the United States Revised Statutes.

It is difficult to determine, in the case of this bank, what brought about its suspension. From the information which the Comptroller has, however, it appears that the president of the Metropolitan National Bank had the credit, at least, of being a very large speculator. He was supposed to be a man of very large means and was interested in many enterprises which required the use of large sums of money. The general liquidation in railroad and other securities which has been going on for the past two years had no doubt affected the properties in which the president was interested, and the public having become suspicious, and apparently believing that he was a large borrower from the bank, and had loaned money to parties who were interested with himself, all of whom were assumed to have lost largely by this depreciation of property, rumors were circulated which excited distrust and suspicion against his bank and caused the run upon it which resulted in its suspension. Reports of examinations do not disclose any overcertification of checks, and I cannot conclude that irregularities of this kind had anything to do with bringing about the suspension.

The Metropolitan National Bank was examined on April 28, 1884. The examination disclosed certain irregularities, and a letter was promptly written to the bank, requiring the correction of the irregularities, and forbidding the declaration of any further dividends until this had been done. While this letter was acknowledged, the matter was pending at the time of the suspension of the bank.

The trouble at the Second National Bank of the city of New York grew out of a defalcation amounting to $3,185,000 by the president of the bank. The amount of this defalcation was immediately guaranteed and the money paid in by the directors. Owing to this prompt assistance the bank did not suspend, and is going on with its business in a solvent condition. As far as this office is advised, the president used the money in speculations in Wall street, and was able to conceal the fact of his misappropriation of the funds of the bank on account of the securities being kept in a vault located at some distance from the regular banking rooms, which are on the corner of Twenty-third street and Fifth avenue. It appears that the president had access to these securities without check or hindrance, and used them to obtain money for his own private speculations.

In the matter of the failure of the Marine National Bank of New York, and the defalcation at the Second National Bank of New York, it appears from the information on file in this office that there have been not only irregularities, but violations of section 5209 United States Revised Statutes. The United States district attorney at the city of New York is in communication with the national bank examiner and the receiver of the Marine National Bank in regard to these matters, and the facts, which have been submitted to this office, the Comptroller has formally transmitted to the Attorney-General of the United States through the Secretary of the Treasury.

Since the commencement of the national banking system 100 banks have been placed in the hands of receivers, 474 banks have voluntarily closed their business, by the vote of shareholders owning two-thirds of their stock, under the provisions of sections 5220 and 5221 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, and the corporate existence of 15 banks has expired by limitation. Of the banks in the hands of receivers, 9 had been previously placed in voluntary liquidation by their stockholders, but failing to pay their depositors, receivers were afterwards appointed by the Comptroller to wind up their affairs. Of the 100 banks placed in the hands of receivers, 63 have been finally closed, leaving 37 still in process of settlement; 21 of which, as has been seen, are awaiting the results of pending litigation, leaving about 16 receiverships only in active operation.

The loss to creditors of national banks which have been placed in the hands of receivers during the twenty-one years that have elapsed since the passage of the act of February 25, 1863, as near as can be estimated, including dividends which will probably be hereafter paid, has been about $8,266,000. The annual average loss has been, therefore, about $400,000 in the business of corporations having an annual average capital of about $450,000,000, and which have been responsible for the safe-keeping of deposits in their hands, averaging constantly over $800,000,000, or about one-twentieth of 1 per cent. of annual loss to depositors.

The total amount paid to creditors of insolvent national banks amounts to $23,499,522, upon proved claims amounting to $38,489,810.

The dividends so far paid thus equal about 61 per cent. of the proved claims. The amount paid during the year was $1,720,850.

Assessments amounting to $8,901,750 have been made upon the stockholders of insolvent national banks for the purpose of enforcing their individual liability under section 5151 of the Revised Statutes, of which $3,633,957 has been collected—$282,678 during the past year.

A table showing the national banks which have been placed in the hands of receivers, the amount of their capital, of claims proved, the rates of dividends paid, and also showing the amount of circulation of such banks issued, redeemed, and outstanding, will be found in the appendix.

Whenever the failure of a national bank has disclosed criminal violations of the national bank act on the part of officers or directors, or whenever the reports of national bank examiners have disclosed similar violations, all the evidence procured pertaining to such transactions has been communicated to the Department of Justice through the proper channels, and receivers and examiners have been instructed to furnish all assistance in their power to the United States attorneys in the several districts.

It is the intention of the Comptroller to rigidly enforce the bank act and to call the attention of the Department of Justice to any criminal violations of the same, but experience has proved that it is difficult, not only under the bank act, but generally under criminal statutes, to always obtain sufficient evidence to convict offenders. The Comptroller is of the opinion that, with a few exceptions, the national-bank act has adequate provisions for the prosecution and conviction of those who lay themselves liable to its penalties. As stated elsewhere, bank failures are not so much due to the inadequacy of the law as to the failure on the part of the directors to maintain a proper supervision of the affairs of their associations and of the conduct of their officers.

ILLEGAL CERTIFICATION OF CHECKS.

In reference to the matter of illegal certification of checks by the national banks of the city of New York, the records of this office show that immediately upon the passage of the act of July 12, 1882, the bank examiner for New York City was directed to furnish information as to whether it was the custom and practice of the national banks of that city to certify checks in violation of section 13 of that act, and section 5208, United States Revised Statutes. Many of the banks in New York immediately took advice of their attorneys, and opinions were sent to this office which were deemed of importance in the matter. The main point of these opinions was that the certifications forbidden were a form of acceptance, and that the right to make a general acceptance was not interfered with, reference being made to the third clause of section 5136, United States Revised Statutes, which confers upon national banks the power to make contracts. Many of the banks of New York, acting upon these opinions of their attorneys, changed the form of certifications, and the majority of the banks seem to have stamped their checks, for the purpose of certification, with the word "accepted," giving the date, and with the name of the teller written underneath.

On October 4, 1882, a letter was addressed to the Secretary of the Treasury asking him to refer certain questions which had arisen under the law to the Attorney-General for an opinion.

On November 24 the Attorney-General returned his opinion. In reply to the first question, whether a national bank had the right to accept checks drawn upon it unless the drawer has the amount stated in the check actually on deposit in the bank, he replied in the negative. To construe otherwise he held would be to allow a device to evade the provisions of law.

In reply to the second question, whether an acceptance under such circumstances would create a liability to the bank for money borrowed, and as such be subject to the limitation of section 5200 of the Revised Statutes, confining such liability to one-tenth of the capital stock of the bank, the Attorney-General replied in the negative, as the acceptance under such circumstances would not be a loan of money but of credit.

To the third question, as to whether such acceptances to an extent greater than the capital of the bank would be a violation of section 5202 of the Revised Statutes, the Attorney-General replied in the affirmative.

Immediately upon receipt of this opinion the banks were notified of the same, and warned that due regard must be had to the law as interpreted.

On July 19, 1883, a circular letter was sent to the New York banks asking information as to the large amount of certified checks and acceptances appearing in their last previous quarterly report, to which answers were duly received.

By an examination of the Wall Street National Bank, made on September 4, 1883, what appeared to be a clear case of violation of law was discovered, and a letter was addressed by my predecessor to the Secretary of the Treasury, inclosing a copy of the report, and asking him to transmit it to the Department of Justice for action. Although an endeavor was made by the district attorney to have all the officers of the bank indicted, yet the grand jury found an indictment only against the teller of the bank. When brought up for trial he plead guilty, but presented an affidavit showing that he had acted under the direction of his superior officers. The judge suspended sentence to admit of evidence of the implied charge against these officers. The district attorney was heard in this matter before a United States commissioner, and presented evidence against the officers, and a decision has been rendered holding all the officers for trial, as follows:

The teller, —— ——, stands indicted for the offense with which the defendants here are charged, and I am informed that the court has suspended action pending proceedings to ascertain the relations of the principal officers of the bank to the transactions in question. The bank examiner, during his examination, stated that this was the first case arising under the law in which proceedings had been instituted. I feel the delicacy of any position in having to pass upon the questions involved in the absence of any adjudication. It appears that the defendants, Evans and Timpson, had no knowledge of these transactions with reference to Cecil, Ward & Co., and it has been suggested in the course of this examination that they be regarded as practically out of the investigation. The statute reads: "Any officer, clerk, or agent who shall," &c. The clerks did not adopt the plan of accepting checks in lieu of certifying. What part the cashier may have had in the adoption of it remains to be seen. I do not regard him as necessarily the guilty party or the only offender simply because he carried out the instructions of the bank or its policy. The device which constitutes this evasion need not to have originated on the day in question when it resulted in the violation of the law. The cause, the device, may have originated long prior. I shall surely hold those who caused the violation. From the evidence before me I cannot avoid the conviction that the model of accepting was resorted to purposely to evade the law; in other words, that they might in this way give customers credit beyond the amount of their deposit; that is exactly what the law forbids by certified checks, and it forbids it also by resorting to a device to accomplish it otherwise. That the law has been violated I have no doubt. Whom of the defendants should be adjudged the guilty party, and whether one or more, is for the court to determine and not for me to say. I have come to the conclusion to hold all the defendants, that all questions presented by this case may be fully heard and determined by the court.

The reports to Congress of my predecessor, the Hon. John Jay Knox, for the years 1882 and 1883 contained full information in regard to the certification of checks, legal and illegal, and enumerated the numerous ways there were of evading a technical violation of the law. At the same time a history of the growth of the practice of certifying checks was given. Certification was in use as a method of business for more than thirty years previous to the organization of the national banking system, and at least twenty years previous to the establishment of the clearing-house. It is the province of the office of the Comptroller of the Currency to call the attention of the proper officers of the Government to evidence by which violations of law may be punished. In regard to over-certification of checks, unless they result in loss, it is almost impossible to obtain evidence which will convict the offenders. The examiner cannot be in the bank at all times. He must depend for his knowledge of its business upon an examination of its books and accounts, and the general conduct of its business while he is making his examination. In any case of certification, where no loss is encountered, the books at the close of the day, as a rule, show deposits equal to or greater than the checks drawn. In the case of the Wall Street National Bank a loss occurred by which the violation of the law was made apparent, and proceedings were commenced. In the case of the Marine National Bank the Comptroller judges from the information on file that there is good evidence of over-certification, and, as has been seen, action has already been taken by the United States district attorney. It has been stated to the Comptroller that on the day of the suspension of the Metropolitan National Bank many of the brokers engaged in business on Wall street, in New York, were very indignant at the national banks because they would not overcertify their checks, and in this way lend their credit to afford the brokers relief in the emergency. It is the opinion of the Comptroller that since the passage of the act of July 12, 1882, the officers of the national banks of New York have given the matter of certification of checks their serious attention, and that they have endeavored to diminish the dangerous features of this method of doing business.

After the passage of the act of July 12, 1882, my predecessor suggested the establishment of a stock clearing-house to enable the brokers to make their settlements without calling upon the banks to certify their checks for the purpose of clearing their stocks. This matter has received careful consideration by the bankers and brokers of New York. No plan has yet been suggested, however, which has seemed to meet the peculiar requirements of the Stock Exchange business in New York. The Comptroller hopes that the recent troubles growing out of Wall street speculations will force the bankers and brokers of New York, for their own protection, to agree upon a stock clearing-house system, and he believes that the present is an excellent time for the conservative bankers in the city of New York to make a move in this matter.

The Comptroller believes, however, that overcertification of checks, viz, the certification of checks as "good" when no funds are to the credit of the drawer of the checks, is not only practiced for the accommodation of the brokers who deal in stocks, but is also done for the accommodation of the dealers in produce. These dealers often require large temporary accommodations of money to take up bills of lading for produce which has been shipped to them from the interior, and which they desire to take from cars and warehouses for shipment abroad, and some accommodation is necessary in the interim until the ocean bills of lading can be obtained and exchange drawn against the consignment. While this practice is reprehensible and is not legitimate as a banking transaction, business has been and is carried on in this manner, and the fact that the national banks of the city of New York are endeavoring to comply with the law in regard to illegal certification of checks has caused many dealers in produce to withdraw their accounts from the national banking associations and has largely increased the business of certain of the State banks, which are under no restrictions of law in this matter. This is particularly noticeable in the case of the bank which was organized under the auspices of the New York Produce Exchange.

BANK EXAMINATIONS.

The recent financial disturbances throughout the country, and the consequent failures of national and State banks, have called the attention of the public to the official examination of banks as conducted under the authority of the national-bank act, and under various State laws.

The national-bank act provides for the issue and regulation of a national currency secured by United States bonds, and provides, also, for a banking system, in order to facilitate the issue of this circulation. It contains provisions bestowing certain privileges upon the banks organized under it, and provides many safeguards for the public by imposing on these banks such restrictions as the history of banking throughout the world has seemed to indicate were of a character to create a safe and permanent banking system. This law has been amended and improved from time to time, but it is not to be supposed that the national banking system is absolutely perfect, nor that imprudent banking under it can be altogether prevented.

In order to enable him to ascertain if the provisions of the law are followed, section 5240 Revised Statutes authorizes the Comptroller to appoint suitable persons to make an examination of the affairs of every national banking association. It has been customary from the establishment of the system to have a regularly appointed examiner visit each national bank at least once a year, in many cases twice a year, and when deemed necessary, even more frequently. The examination of national banks is conducted by the examiners in accordance with instructions issued from this office, which instructions, both general and specific, have grown with the growth of the system. The first general instructions to examiners were issued September 15, 1864, by the Hon. Hugh McCulloch, then Comptroller of the Currency, and as the bank act has been amended and revised these instructions have been altered as circumstances seemed to warrant. It has been the aim of the Comptroller to increase the efficiency of the examinations by carefully noting the causes that have in particular cases led to the suspension or failure of national banks, and calling the attention of the examiners to these causes, suggesting such methods of examination as seemed to be best calculated to prevent repetition of such disasters, and to expose violations of law which led to the same.

This official inquiry into the affairs of a national bank does not end with the mere inspection of the cash, bills receivable, books and accounts of the association, but the examiners are instructed to closely scrutinize the business of the bank, to investigate the standing and fitness for their positions of the persons to whom the management of the affairs of the association are intrusted, and the manner in which the business is usually conducted, whether prudently or otherwise; to ascertain as far as possible the character of the loans and discounts of the bank, and what losses, if any, have been or are likely to be sustained.

The examiner is also instructed to ascertain how frequently the board of directors meet together to consult in relation to the affairs of the bank, and to discover if possible any malfeasance in office or willful neglect of business on the part of the management; and is moreover particularly instructed to report to the Comptroller whether any excessive accommodations are granted in violation of section 5200 Revised Statutes, and to note if the officers of the bank are borrowing largely from the association; to ascertain the customary state of the lawful-money reserve by examining the daily statements for some time previous to the examination; whether or not the bank borrows money to loan again; and in short, to discover and report to this office all violations of law of whatever character.

Upon receipt of the report at this office all matters above mentioned, and such others as may be referred to therein, are carefully reviewed and considered, and the directors of the bank are immediately notified of all violations of the law, and they are required to have the same promptly corrected. The attention of the directory is also specially called to the reform of such matters as are deemed detrimental to the safety and welfare of the association.

The general public do not understand the amount of labor performed weekly, monthly, and yearly by the examiners of national banks, many of whom have for years rendered most excellent service. It can hardly be expected, however, with the limited compensation allowed by law for making these examinations, that the Comptroller can in all cases retain the services of the most expert accountants, although by systematic division of the labor he has endeavored to obtain the best results possible under the circumstances.*

For the purposes of bank examination the United States is apportioned into twenty-five districts, bank examiners being stationed in each district. Important reserve cities, such as New York and Boston, generally form a district of themselves, and the duties of the examiner stationed there are usually confined to that city and its immediate vicinity. Owing to the nature of the work, the position of a national-bank examiner is one of great responsibility. Notwithstanding their vigilance, the most competent examiners are liable to be deceived, and sometimes find it impossible to discover and remedy in time even gross mismanagement of the affairs of national banks.

* It is submitted that the compensation allowed national-bank examiners by section 5240, Revised Statutes, is often insufficient. The assessments upon the banks, by which the law provides that the examiners' fees shall be paid, are based upon the capital of the national banks examined, and vary, according to capital, from $20 to $75. In many instances the capital is not the proper basis upon which to compute the compensation of national-bank examiners, as many banks with a comparatively small capital have large lines of deposits, and consequently do a much larger business and require more time and labor from the examiner than other associations with the same capital. The Comptroller is of the opinion that the fees paid to national-bank examiners should be based upon the capital and average deposits of the national-banking association.

No laws or system of examinations will prevent dishonest men from keeping false accounts and rendering untrue statements, and by means of these and other devices they can conceal from the examiner the fact that they are using the money intrusted to their charge in private speculations until final disaster makes longer disguise impossible. It is thus exceedingly difficult to detect violations of law or misuse of the funds of a bank.

The surest preventive is to have an honest, active, and competent board of directors. A rogue or a dishonest man, who acquires the confidence of his associates to such an extent that he can appropriate the funds of a bank for his own use without their knowledge or that of the board of directors, can have but little trouble in deceiving the examiner and hiding his peculations from him.

In times of financial disaster and of a stringent money market the acts of dishonest and corrupt officials in any bank or banking firm or private corporation are more liable to be discovered, and naturally during the last year the consequences of disastrous speculation, which had been for a long period carried on with impunity with the aid of misappropriated funds, have been brought to the surface. Men who were supposed to be worthy of the entire confidence of communities, whose character stood so high that they were intrusted not only with the management of corporations, but with the investment of private funds, have now been proven to have dishonestly betrayed their trust. Never were the instances of this kind more numerous than during the financial troubles of the present year.

Such practices and the resulting disasters, however, do not prove that the national banking laws are inefficient, or that the national bank examiners do not do their duty. They rather indicate that the shareholders of joint-stock corporations of all kinds, and particularly those of banks, should be more careful to elect men as directors and trustees who are competent and who will exercise proper care and supervision over the management of the affairs intrusted to them, who will select competent and honest officers, provide suitable rules and regulations for the conduct of the bank, keeping its accounts, &c., and appoint regular committees of examination, whose duty it shall be not only to verify the accounts, but to keep a watchful eye over the affairs of the association and the officers who immediately carry them on.

The public frequently draw wrong deductions as to the responsibility of the Government and the bank examiners in particular cases. For instances, in many cases where failures occur the principal cause is found in the character of the loans made, which are either excessive or made on improper security. There are 2,671 national banks in the country. The loans and discounts of the banks at the close of business September 30, aggregated more than $1,240,000,000, and it is of course not the province of the bank examiners to supervise the making of these loans. Section 5200, Revised Statutes, provides that no loans shall be made to any one individual, firm, or corporation in amount exceeding one-tenth of the paid-in capital of a bank, but there are many ways of evading this law, and it is a physical impossibility for the Government to maintain the constant espionage over the affairs of the national banks which alone would prevent the violation of this statute. Any attempt to direct the making of loans and to dictate to the directors and managers of the national banks throughout the country as to what use they shall make of their funds would, of course, be impracticable.

Many instances occur daily, which are not seen or known to the general public, where the banks are notified of violations of law, and where their condition is improved by action upon the reports of the examiner. When, however, some unexpected failure occurs, brought about by injudicious banking, bad management, or adventurous speculation, or by dishonesty and fraud on the part of the officers or directors, who are the very men to whom the examiner must more or less look for information, the Government and the national banking laws are unjustly criticised. The fault is not with the law and not with the examiner, on whose reports the directors have very likely been notified and warned to exercise more care in the management of their affairs and to hold their officers in check.

A national bank being a joint-stock association, its aggregation of capital having been brought together by bankers or other persons for the purpose of utilizing more effectually the resources of the locality in which it is doing business, it is not the intention of the bank act to interfere with the business of said association so long as it is conducted in accordance with the law. The exact line at which the Government shall interfere and the point at which Government discipline shall commence is a matter of some delicacy to determine. It is exceedingly difficult to add materially to the restrictions of the national-bank act without such an interference with the business of the banks as would be practically prohibitory, for it is well known that banking can be carried on under the laws of most of the States of the Union with but very little interference and scarcely any espionage on the part of the officials of the State government. It is because the national banking system has raised the standard of banking, and because it is generally understood that money deposited with a national bank is as a rule much safer than in institutions not under similar restrictions, that bankers and capitalists avail themselves of the national-bank act in order to gain the confidence and thereby the deposits and business of the public.

The act appears to contain ample provisions for the punishment of criminal offenders, and the Comptroller is of the opinion that it is not so much the lack of law, as it is the difficulty of detection of offenders and of obtaining sufficient evidence to convict, that has prevented the punishment of officers and others connected with national banks who have violated the criminal sections of this act. In some cases the directors and shareholders of banks have apparently suppressed information and evidence, and in many instances it has been with great difficulty that the Comptroller was able to present the necessary facts to the Department of Justice to make a case. For obvious reasons, the number of instances in which this office has endeavored to secure the arrest and conviction of offenders by reporting to the proper officers of the law facts that came to the knowledge of the Comptroller, which seemed to indicate certain violations of law, cannot be presented, but it is believed that the records of the various States and United States courts show a larger number of indictments and of convictions for violations of the national-bank act than is generally known to the public.

It is possible that the provisions of the act relating to the punishment of offenders in the matter of false oaths of officers of banks with intention of deceiving the Comptroller as to the correctness of reports might be profitably amended. The Comptroller is of the opinion that if the criminal provisions of the bank act are to be amended, the Department of Justice of the United States should be consulted for suggestions as to any weakness or defect in the existing law.

TRANSACTIONS OF THE NEW YORK CLEARING-HOUSE.

The New York Clearing-House Association is composed of forty-four national and seventeen State banks, and the assistant treasurer of the United States at New York.

Through the courtesy of Mr. W. A. Camp, its manager, a statement of the transactions during the year ending October 1, 1884, has been obtained, which shows that the total exchanges were more than thirty-four thousand millions of dollars, while the balances paid in money were nearly 1,525 millions. The daily average balances paid were $4,967,202, or nearly 4.5 per cent. of the amount of the settlements.

The balances paid in money during the year consisted of $751,382,000 in clearing-house certificates of the Bank of America, clearing-house certificates for legal-tender notes amounting to $20,320,000, and clearing-house loan certificates, $70,510.000; legal-tenders amounting to $42,198,994; United States gold certificates, $640,370,000; and $150,000 in gold coin. Since the date of the issue of the new gold certificates (October 4, 1883) authorized by the act of July 12, 1882, the greater portion of the balances due from the Government have been paid in these certificates instead of coin, thus dispensing with the movement of large amounts in bags and upon drays from the Treasury to the custody of the banks. During the last six months, however, a portion of the balances due from the Treasury of the United States have been paid in legal-tender notes.

The following table shows the yearly transactions of the New York Clearing-House for the thirty-one years since its organization in 1853, and the amounts and ratios of currency required for the payment of daily balances:

Exchanges delivered to clearing-house	114,259,250 65
Balances paid to clearing-house	189,774,471 02
Balances received from clearing-house	1,027,125 91

A table compiled from statements made by the New York Clearing-House, giving the clearances and balances weekly from September 6, 1879, to November 29, 1884, inclusive, will be found in the appendix, and is valuable for purposes of comparison.

The following interesting table has been copied from the Commercial and Financial Chronicle, of New York City, of November 8, 1884, which gives the latest information concerning the exchanges at New York and other cities, having clearing-houses, for the week ending November 1, comparing them with those for the corresponding week in 1883, and showing the percentage of differences.

The exchanges at the same places for the month ending November 1, 1884, are also given, with the percentage of differences resulting from a comparison with the exchanges for the same month of the previous year.

CLEARING-HOUSE CERTIFICATES.

Section 5192 Revised Statutes provides that clearing-house certificates, representing specie or lawful money specially deposited for the purposes of any clearing-house association, shall also be deemed to be lawful money in the possession of any association belonging to such clearing house holding and owning such certificate; and section 5193 provides that the Secretary of the Treasury may receive United States notes on deposit, without interest, from any national-banking association, in sums not less than $10,000, and issue certificates therefor in denominations of not less than $5,000, which certificates may be counted as part of the lawful money reserve, and may be accepted in the settlement of clearing-house balances at the places where the deposits therefor were made.

The legal-tender note certificates were first issued in the fiscal year 1873. On June 30, 1875, there were outstanding $59,045,000 of these certificates, of which the national banks held $47,310,000. On June 30, 1876, the amount outstanding was $33,140,000, of which the banks held $27,955,000. On June 30, 1879, the amount had been reduced to $29,330,000, and the banks held on June 14 of the same year $25,180,000. The amount outstanding on September 30, 1884, was $15,945,000, and the national banks held on that day $14,200,000.

The issue of the gold certificates was authorized by the fifth section of the act of March 3, 1863, and they were used for clearing-house purposes soon after the passage of the national-bank act.

The first issue was made on November 13, 1865. On June 30, 1875, there were outstanding $21,796,300, of which the national banks in New York City held $12,642,180. The issue of these certificates was discontinued on December 1, 1878, and the amount outstanding had decreased on June 30, 1879, to $15,413,700, and on October 1, 1880, to $7,480,100. The amount outstanding on October 3, 1882, was $4,907,440, of which the national banks held $4,594,300. The issue of gold certificates having been discontinued by the Government, and the amount of gold coin having rapidly increased, the banks in New York found it necessary to establish a depository of gold coin for the convenience of the clearing house.

This depository at the present time is the Bank of America, by which bank certificates of deposit were first issued on October 14, 1879. The amount of such certificates outstanding on January 1, 1880, was $25,610,000, and on October 1, 1883, was $22,955,000. The largest amount of coin on deposit was on January 21, 1882, viz, $45,330,000, the capacity of the vault having been increased since 1880. Of this amount the national banks of New York City held on October 2, 1883, $20,345,000; on September 30, 1884, $15,123,000. These banks on the same date held of gold Treasury certificates issued under the acts of March 3, 1863, and July 12, 1882, $40,815,140.

The act of February 28, 1878, authorized any holder of silver dollars of the weight of 412½ grains troy of standard silver to deposit the same with the Treasurer or any assistant treasurer of the United States in sums not less than $10, and receive therefor certificates of not less than $10 each, corresponding with the denominations of the United States notes. It required that the coin deposited, or representing the certificates, should be retained in the Treasury for the payment of the same on demand, and that said certificates should be receivable for customs, taxes, and all public dues, and also authorized their reissue.

This act did not authorize their use as clearing-house certificates, nor make them available as reserve for the national banks.

Section 12, act of July 12, 1882, provides that the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized and directed to receive deposits of gold coin with the Treasurer or Assistant Treasurers of the United States, in sums not less than twenty dollars, and to issue certificates therefor in denominations of not less than twenty dollars each, corresponding with the denominations of United States notes. The coin deposited for or representing the certificates of deposit shall be retained in the Treasury for the payment of the same on demand. Said certificate shall be receivable for customs, taxes, and all public dues, and when so received may be reissued; and such certificates, as also silver certificates, when held by any national-banking association, shall be counted as part of its lawful reserve, and no national-banking association shall be a member of any clearing-house in which such certificates shall not be receivable in the settlement of clearing-house balances.

The amount of silver certificates outstanding on November 1, 1884, less the amount held by the Treasury, was $100,741,561. The amount of gold certificates November 1, 1884, less the amount held by the Treasury, was $87,865,570.

On September 30, 1884, the national banks held $3,331,510 of silver certificates, and $47,217,710 of gold certificates issued under the acts of March 3, 1863, and July 12, 1882.

The attention of Congress has previously been called to section 5200 of the Revised Statutes, which places restrictions upon loans, and to the difficulty of enforcing its provisions. In cities where large amounts of produce are received and stored, it is represented that it is impossible for the banks to transact this class of business, if restricted to loans for an amount not exceeding in any instance one-tenth of their capital. It is true that the limitation does not apply to loans upon produce in transit, where the drafts are drawn on existing values; but if produce is stored, instead of being shipped, large loans cannot be made except in violation of law. In such case the Comptroller has no means of enforcing the law, except by bringing a suit for forfeiture of charter, and this course might result in great embarrassment to business, as well as loss to many innocent stockholders of the banks. It is evident that the law should be so amended as to exclude from the limitation mentioned legitimate loans upon produce or warehouse receipts, and some other classes of collateral security, as well as loans upon United States bonds.

RATES OF INTEREST IN NEW YORK CITY, AND IN THE BANK OF ENGLAND AND THE BANK OF FRANCE.

The average rate of interest in New York City for each of the fiscal years from 1874 to 1884, as ascertained from data derived from the Journal of Commerce and the Commercial and Financial Chronicle, was as follows:

1874, call loans, 3.8 per cent.; commercial paper, 6.4 per cent.
1875, call loans, 3.0 per cent.; commercial paper, 5.8 per cent.
1876, call loans, 3.3 per cent.; commercial paper, 5.3 per cent.
1877, call loans, 3.0 per cent.; commercial paper, 5.2 per cent.
1878, call loans, 4.4 per cent.; commercial paper, 5.1 per cent.
1879, call loans, 4.4 per cent.; commercial paper, 4.4 per cent.
1880, call loans, 4.9 per cent.; commercial paper, 5.3 per cent.
1881, call loans, 3.8 per cent.; commercial paper, 5.0 per cent.
1882, call loans, 4.4 per cent.; commercial paper, 5.4 per cent.
1883, call loans, 5.7 per cent.; commercial paper, 5.7 per cent.
1884, call loans, 2.4 per cent.; commercial paper, 5.6 per cent.

The average rate of discount of the Bank of England for the same years was as follows:

During the calendar year ending December 31, 1874, 3.69 per cent.
During the calendar year ending December 31, 1875, 3.23 per cent.
During the calendar year ending December 31, 1876, 2.61 per cent.
During the calendar year ending December 31, 1877, 2.91 per cent.
During the calendar year ending December 31, 1878, 3.78 per cent.
During the calendar year ending December 31, 1879, 2.50 per cent.
During the calendar year ending December 31, 1880, 2.76 per cent.
During the calendar year ending December 31, 1881, 3.49 per cent.*
During the calendar year ending December 31, 1882, 4.10 per cent.*
During the calendar year ending December 31, 1883, 3.57 per cent.†
During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1884, 2.8 per cent.†

In the calendar year ending December 31, 1883, the rate of discount of the Bank of England was increased three times, and three times reduced. During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1884, the rate was increased once and decreased five times. The present rate is 5 per cent.

The average rate of interest in New York City for the four months previous to November 8, 1884, was on call loans 1.4 per cent., and on commercial paper 5.6 per cent.; the rate of interest on that date was on call loans 1 to 2 per cent., and on commercial paper 5 to 6 per cent.

* From the Financial Chronicle only. † From the London Bankers' Magazine.

The rate of discount in the Bank of France, which was lowered from 4 to 3½ per cent. on March 23, 1882, was lowered to 3 per cent. on February 23, 1883. The average rate of discount during the year 1883 was 3.08 per cent.

The number of trade bills admitted to discount in the Bank of France during the year 1883 was 5,047,179, representing a sum of $956,569,720. Of this number of bills there were 13,069 bills of $2.08 and under; 548,720 bills from $2.29 to $10; 787,481 bills from $10.21 to $20; 3,697,909 bills above $20. That is to say, nearly a fourth part in bills under $20.21. The number of trade bills under $20 steadily increases. In 1880 there were 1,014,412 of these small discounted bills; in 1881, 1,160,945; in 1882, 1,224,326, and in 1883 they have increased to 1,349,250.

The governor of the Bank of France in his report of its transactions for the year 1882 said, "These figures will show how great are the services rendered by the bank to the retail trade of Paris."

INTEREST ON DEPOSITS.

The practice of paying interest on deposits by the national banks has been the subject of discussion for some time past. It is the custom of the country banks to pay interest on current accounts, and also to issue certificates of deposit bearing interest, which latter usually state upon their face that no interest will be paid upon the same unless the deposit remains with the bank for three, six, nine, or twelve months, as the case may be.

Banks located in the cities, where a portion of the lawful money reserve of country banks may legally be kept, have been for many years in the habit of paying interest upon the daily balances of the accounts of their country depositors. Owing to the fact that the banks in the reserve cities other than New York keep large current accounts with their correspondents in that city, who in turn pay interest on the average daily balances of their correspondents, the result is that in times of easy money large sums accumulate in the city of New York subject to interest on current account. It is believed that this accumulation of money in the New York banks occasioned by this custom has a tendency to encourage speculation in stocks, as these banks are compelled to find some use for the money deposited with them on which they are in turn compelled to pay interest, and as this money is liable to be called for at any time, it is necessary to make loans payable on demand, and dealers in stocks called on the stock exchange, which theoretically can be readily sold at any time, are in consequence enabled to obtain money for speculation by pledging these securities as collateral and agreeing to repay the sum advanced on demand. The panic of 1873 and the financial troubles of May, 1884, have shown that these so-called demand loans are of such a character that the banks are not always able to realize upon them in case of emergency. The members of the New York Clearing-House Association, after the panic of 1873, discussed the abolition of the payment of interest upon current accounts. Again, upon the 4th of June, 1884, the association endeavored to have its members agree to discontinue the payment of interest on daily balances, but owing to the persistent dissent of a few members the association was unable to make the arrangement.

While the united action of the Clearing-House Association in favor of the abolition of the payment of interest on deposits would doubtless have great effect, yet so long as it is the almost universal custom of banks, State and national, and of private bankers throughout the country, to pay such interest, it is probable that if the associated banks should discontinue the practice, they would do so to their own great detriment and loss of business. Many of the accounts of country banks and out-of-town correspondents would be transferred to the trust companies, State banks, and private bankers who are not members of the association, and who would not be bound by its regulations, and for this and other reasons it seems very difficult to bring about an absolute cessation of the practice. Until all the bankers in the principal cities of the country agree to discontinue the payment of interest, it is probable that it will continue to be paid upon current accounts.

It has been held by the courts that the conferring of special powers upon national banking associations prohibited them from the exercise of certain other powers not specifically conferred, and the decisions of the United States courts seem to indicate that it is unlawful for a national bank to borrow money to lend again or to receive deposits payable at fixed future dates with interest thereon.

Notwithstanding the fact that it has been held that national banks could not receive deposits payable otherwise than on demand, it is possible that, in view of the fact that the custom of purchasing deposits by the payment of interest is so universal, the courts might hold that national banks would have the same rights as other bankers to receive deposits subject to repayment upon a notice of from five to thirty days, and if this should be the case it is submitted that they should pay interest only upon deposits of this character, for there can be no doubt that it is extremely injudicious to receive current accounts payable on demand subject to interest. It would appear that if this course was adopted two classes of accounts would have to be maintained with most of the country correspondents of national banks in reserve cities, as it would be impracticable for a national bank in the interior to have any portion of its reserve deposited in such a manner that it could not be drawn upon demand. In view of the facts as stated, it is doubtful if any legislation upon this matter should be had which would discriminate against the national banks.

It is a question if in the business of banking it is not a correct principle to use every legitimate means to bring together an aggregation of funds for the purpose of carrying on large commercial transactions incident to the business of handling produce and carrying on the jobbing and other trades, which would otherwise be impossible. It is believed by many that the financial supremacy of London has been partially brought about by the custom of the bankers of that city of purchasing deposits and stimulating the accumulation of funds by the payment of interest. While the London joint-stock banks do not pay interest on their customers' accounts as a rule, they do pay interest on deposits on demand at a low rate, and at a higher rate where the money is left on seven days' and other longer notice, and enormous sums are constantly on deposit in London subject to interest in this manner.*

In some instances the money must be left for a month. These deposits are received from the general public, and also very largely from country correspondents. It is the custom, however, for the London banks to charge a commission, generally a fixed sum, but sometimes varying with the transactions, upon the business done with their correspondents in the country. The private bankers of London also pay interest in the same manner, and in many instances allow interest upon their customers' accounts, payable on demand. The rate of interest allowed on deposits in the city of London is usually but from one to one and a half per cent. per annum below the Bank of England rate for the time being on discounts. The country banks throughout the United Kingdom are in the habit of allowing interest on deposits and current accounts, to offset which, to a certain extent, they usually charge a commission on the transactions of their customers.

The following table exhibits the rate of interest charged by the banks and bankers of London for discounts, and also the rate of interest allowed on deposits during 1882, 1883, and first half of 1884:

STATE BANKS, TRUST COMPANIES, AND SAVINGS BANKS.

The act of Congress of February 19, 1873, section 333 of the United States Revised Statutes, requires the Comptroller to obtain from authentic sources, and report to Congress, statements exhibiting under appropriate heads the resources and liabilities of such banks and savings banks as are organized under the laws of the several States and Territories. In compliance with this act he has presented annually in the appendices to his reports the resources and liabilities of these corporations, so far as it has been possible to obtain them. Through the courtesy of State officers, returns of State banks, savings banks, and trust and loan companies have during the past year been received from twenty-two States. Many of the States and Territories, including Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, Alabama, Arkansas, Tennessee, Illinois, Kansas, Oregon, and Dakota, do not require periodical returns of the condition of the different classes of banks organized under their laws.

From these returns the following abstract has been compiled showing the resources and liabilities of State banks and trust companies for the last four years, the number reporting in 1881 being 683; in 1882, 704; in 1883, 788; and in 1884, 852:

The foregoing table was prepared from all the New England States, except Maine; from four Middle States, not including Delaware; and from all the Western States, excepting Illinois, Kansas, and Nebraska. The only Southern States from which reports have been received were South Carolina, Georgia, Louisiana, Texas, Kentucky, and Missouri. The only Pacific States were California and Colorado. There are no State banks in Maine, but one in New Hampshire, seven in Vermont, and none in Massachusetts. There are, however, six trust and loan companies in the latter State, one in Rhode Island, and six in Connecticut.

SAVINGS BANKS.

The following table exhibits the aggregate resources and liabilities of 629 savings banks in 1881 and 1882; 630 in 1883, and 636 in 1884:

The foregoing table includes the returns from six New England States, from four Middle States, not including Delaware; from the States of Ohio, Indiana, California, and the District of Columbia. The aggregate of loans in the New England States is $288,905,262 and of deposits $475,358,305. In the Middle States the aggregate of loans is $163,328,406 and of deposits $522,771,526.

Some of the largest savings banks in the city of Philadelphia, organized under old charters, are not required to make reports to any State officer. Returns directly received from four of these banks having deposits amounting to $34,031,154, are included in the returns from the State of Pennsylvania.

The savings banks' deposits, given in the foregoing table for 1884, based upon reports made to State authorities, are $1,073,294,955, and the deposits of the State banks and trust companies were $514,111,591. These returns do not include bank deposits. The deposits of the national banks on October 1, 1884, exclusive of those due to banks, were $989,320,509. No just comparison of the deposits of national banks with those of savings banks and State banks and trust companies can be made, owing to the fact that the reports of many of the latter classes of banks were made to the State authorities in 1883 or in January, 1884, and do not show the effects of the business depression resulting from the failures during the year 1884.

The total population of New England, according to the census of 1880, was 4,010,529, and the number of open deposit accounts of the savings banks in the year 1884 is 1,430,857, which is equal to nearly 35.7 accounts to each one hundred of the entire population. The average amount of each account is $332.21, and if the total deposits were divided among the entire population, the average sum of $118.52 could be given to each individual.

The deposits of the savings banks in the State of New York were $431,080,010, while the population is 5,082,871, showing that an equal distribution of the savings banks' deposits among the entire population of the State would give $84.81 to each individual.

Tables showing the aggregate resources and liabilities of State banks, trust companies, and savings banks in each State, from which returns have been received from the State authorities, appear in the appendix. A table is also there given showing, by States, the number of savings banks' depositors, and the average amount due to each in 1883 and 1884.

The Comptroller has for the last eight years compiled the returns received by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue from the State and savings banks and private bankers for purposes of taxation, showing the average amount of their capital and deposits for each six months, and the amounts invested in United States bonds. The law requiring such returns to be made has not been repealed, but as the tax on capital and deposits ceased on November 30, 1882, it is not expected that such returns will hereafter be transmitted. The Comptroller must therefore depend exclusively for this information upon the returns to be received from the officers of the different States, and when such returns are required to be made they are, as a rule, promptly and courteously forwarded to this office in reply to his request.

The legislature of Missouri recently passed a law requiring all banks in the State to make reports in the month of December. With a view of rendering this system of reports more complete and effective than at present, the Comptroller prepared in the year 1876 the form of a bill, which is herewith presented; and it is respectfully suggested to members of Congress and State officers residing in those States where no returns are required that, if approved by them, they shall lend the weight of their influence to procure the enactment of a law, similar in form, by the legislatures of their respective States. It may be mentioned that a bill, substantially the same as that here presented, has been passed by the legislature of Ohio.

A BILL to provide for obtaining and publishing reports of banks, savings institutions, and trust companies organized under State laws.

Be it enacted, That each and every banking institution, organized under the laws of this State, shall make a report to the auditor of state, showing the condition thereof before the commencement of business on the first Monday in the months of January, April, July, and October of each year.

SEC. 2. That the auditor of state shall issue his requisition upon all banking institutions, for the reports required to be made by section 1 of this act, a convenient number of days prior to the first day of January, April, July, and October, in each year, and each banking institution shall, upon receipt thereof, immediately forward to the auditor a balanced report of its condition, verified by the oath or affirmation of one or more of the officers of such institution, and shall also publish such report in full at its own expense, in a newspaper issued at the place where the institution is located, or, if there be no newspaper in that place, then in the one nearest thereto; and any banking institution neglecting to make and transmit to the auditor of state, and publish, such reports, shall, after the expiration of five days from the receipt of the requisition therefor, be subject to a penalty of thirty dollars for each day's delay, which penalty may be collected by suit to be brought by the auditor of state, or by any creditor of the association, before any court of competent jurisdiction in the district wherein such banking institution is located; and all sums of money collected for penalties under this section shall be paid into the treasury of the State.

SEC. 3. That banks, trust companies, savings banks, and other banking institutions, having capital stock, shall report their resources and liabilities in the following form:

Report of the condition of The ——— ———, at ———, in the State of ———, before the commencement of business on the first Monday of ———, 187–.

PRIVATE BANKERS.

The first official information relating to the private bankers of the country published by this office was contained in a table in the Comptroller's report for 1880. The law requiring private bankers to make returns for taxation purposes having been repealed, it is now impossible to obtain authentic information with reference to them. A table will be found in the appendix giving information on this subject for the six months ending November 30, 1882, being the last semi-annual period for which they were required to make returns of the amount of their deposits, &c., for taxation, and also similar information for preceding years.

TAXATION.

The law imposing a tax upon the capital and deposits of national banks, State banks, and private bankers was repealed by the act of March 3, 1883.

The only United States tax now paid by the national banks is the semi-annual duty of one-half of 1 per cent. upon the average amount of their notes in circulation during the preceding six months. The prohibitory tax of 10 per cent. upon State bank circulation paid out, as provided by section 3412 of the Revised Statutes, is also still in force.

Section 5173 of the Revised Statutes provides that the expenses of the Bureau of the Comptroller of the Currency, including those of the plates and dies used for the printing of national-bank notes and of the printing of such notes, shall be paid out of the proceeds of the tax on circulation.

The act of June 20, 1874, provides for the redemption of national-bank notes in the office of the Treasurer of the United States, and that the cost of such redemptions shall be paid by the banks, and that the cost of the plates for printing, up to that time paid out of the proceeds of the tax on circulation, shall thereafter be paid from the proceeds of an assessment upon the banks. Section 6 of the act of July 12, 1882, for extending the corporate existence of national banking associations, provides that the cost of engraving plates for the issue of circulation of new design, required by the section, should also be paid by the banks. It was the evident intention of the enactors of the original banking law that all the expenses which were incurred by the Government in preparing circulation to be issued to national associations, as well as the expenses of carrying on the Bureau of the Comptroller of the Currency and enforcing the restrictions of the national banking laws, should be defrayed from the tax on circulation. As has been seen, this principle was changed by the act of June 20, 1874, which, without abolishing the tax on circulation, imposed on the banks the expense of the redemption of their notes and of the printing of their plates, and that this course was followed in the act of July 12, 1882. In lieu of this additional expense, however, the act of June 20, 1874, abolished the requirement of keeping in bank a reserve of legal-tender notes and specie for the redemption of circulation. As has been suggested elsewhere in the report, the abolishment of the tax on circulation would be a ready and simple way of avoiding the contraction of national-bank circulation, now constantly going on, on account of the small profit to the banks in keeping up their issues, and if abolished the expenses of the Bureau of the Comptroller of the Currency could be paid by a pro rata assessment on the banks, as is now done in the case of the expenses of the redemption of their notes by the Treasurer of the United States, and in the case of the expense of preparing plates for printing the notes.

The total expense of the office of the Comptroller of the Currency from its organization to June 30, 1884, was $5,840,923.99, and the expense for the year ending on that date $230,224.92. The tax on circulation for the year ending on the same date was $3,024,668.24. The total taxes collected from the national banks to the end of the present fiscal year are shown in the following table:

The shares of national banks are still subject to State taxation, and in previous reports tables exhibiting the average rates paid by national banks in the several States and Territories have been given, for purposes of comparison and to show the total burden of taxation heretofore borne by the national banks.

The national banks having been relieved of the United States tax on deposits, it has been thought unnecessary to continue the collection of information in reference to State taxation, which can only be obtained from separate returns to be made by each bank to this office. Complaints are from time to time received indicating that in some States there is an unfavorable discrimination made in the taxation of national banks, as compared with that of State institutions doing business of a similar character. The United States Supreme Court has, however, in several instances shown that when cases of discrimination are properly brought to its attention it will sustain the Federal law. It is, moreover, doubtful whether Congress, by any law short of one taking from the States the right to tax national-bank shares, could prevent occasional instances of discrimination in assessments, but it is believed that in most of the States the intention is to place the taxation of national banks on the same footing with other institutions doing a similar business.

UNITED STATES LEGAL-TENDER NOTES AND NATIONAL-BANK CIRCULATION.

The acts of February 25, 1862, July 11, 1862, and March 3, 1863, each authorized the issue of 150 millions dollars of legal tender notes, making an aggregate of 450 millions of dollars.

On February 3, 1864, the amount of such notes outstanding was $449,479,222, which was the highest amount outstanding at any one time. The act of June 30, 1864, provided that the total amount of United States notes issued, or to be issued, should not exceed 400 millions of dollars, and such additional sum, not exceeding 50 millions, as might be temporarily required for the redemption of temporary loans.

By the act of June 20, 1874, the maximum amount was fixed at 382 millions. Section 3, act of January 14, 1875, authorized an increase of the circulation of national banks in accordance with existing law, without respect to the limit previously existing, and required the Secretary of the Treasury to retire legal-tender notes to an amount equal to 80 per cent. of the national-bank notes thereafter issued, until the amount of such legal-tender notes outstanding should be 300 millions and no more. Under the operations of this act $35,318,984 of legal-tender notes were retired, leaving the amount in circulation on May 31, 1878, the date of the repeal of the act, $346,681,016, which is the amount now outstanding.

In the following table are given the amount and kinds of the outstanding currency of the United States and of the national banks on January 1 of each year from 1866 to 1884, and on November 1, 1884, to which is prefixed the amount on August 31, 1865, when the public debt reached its maximum:

The act of June 20, 1874, provided that any national banking association might withdraw its circulating notes upon the deposit of lawful money with the Treasurer of the United States in sums of not less than $9,000. Under this act and on account of liquidating and insolvent banks, and under the act of July 12, 1882, which provides for a deposit of lawful money to retire the circulation of national banks whose corporate existence has been extended, $213,047,258 of lawful money has been deposited with the Treasurer. This includes $2,583,720 for the redemption of the notes of national gold banks, and $4,135,470 for the redemption of national-bank notes under section 6 of the act of July 12, 1882. Since June 20, 1874, $175,150,769 of bank notes have been redeemed, destroyed, and retired. This includes $2,129,641 of the notes of national gold banks and $1,000,307 of the notes of national banks whose corporate existence has been extended under the act of July 12, 1882.

* Exclusive of $552,041 due to banks for mutilated notes destroyed and to be replaced by new notes and of $534,079 notes of gold banks.

The amount of one and two dollar notes outstanding is slightly less than one-fourth of 1 per cent. of the whole circulation of the banks; the fives constitute 25.7 per cent.; the tens 33.5 per cent.; the twenties 23.8 per cent., and the fifties and larger notes 16.8 per cent. of the entire circulation.

Of the entire amount of national-bank and legal-tender notes outstanding nearly 8 per cent. consists of one and two dollar notes; nearly 30.6 per cent. of ones, twos, and fives; 58.6 per cent. is in notes of a less denomination than $20, and about 78.5 per cent. is in notes of a lower denomination than $50. Of the entire issue about 21.6 per cent. is in denominations of fifties, one hundreds, five hundreds, and one thousands.

There are outstanding twenty-one legal-tender notes of the denomination of $5,000 and six notes of the denomination of $10,000.

The following table* gives the circulation of the Bank of France and its branches, with the number of notes and the denominations, in francs and in dollars, on January 31, 1884:

The amount of circulation of the Bank of France on January 25, 1883, was 2,899,528,130 francs, or, say $579,905,626, showing an increase of 262,276,406 francs, or $52,455,281, between that time and January 31, 1884, the date of the foregoing table, and since January 30, 1879, an increase of 870,833,706 francs, or $174,166,741.

It will be seen that the Imperial Bank of Germany has in circulation no notes of a less denomination than seven dollars and a half (ten thaler), and issues none of less than twenty-five dollars (one hundred marks), and that the Bank of France issues but little over a million of dollars in value of notes of a less denomination than ten dollars. The Bank of England issues no notes of less than £5, or twenty-five dollars, and the Irish and Scotch banks none of less than £1, or five dollars.

REDEMPTION.

Since the passage of the act of June 20, 1874, section 3 of which requires the banks at all times to keep on deposit in the Treasury 5 per centum of their circulation as a redemption fund, that fund as a rule has been maintained, and circulating notes of the banks have been promptly redeemed at the Treasury without expense to the Government.

From the passage of the act of June 20, 1874, to November 1, 1884, there was received at the redemption agency of the Treasury $1,448,485,411 of national-bank currency for redemption. During the year the receipts amounted to $136,577,732, of which amount $63,926,000, or nearly 47 per cent. was received from banks in the city of New York, and $21,800,000, or about 16 per cent. from banks in the city of Boston. The amount received from Philadelphia was $6,888,000; from Chicago, $5,490,000; from Cincinnati, $1,903,000; from Saint Louis, $1,136,000; from Baltimore, $3,229,000; from Providence, $1,852,000; and from Pittsburgh, $798,000.

The following table exhibits the amount of national-bank notes received monthly for redemption by the Comptroller of the Currency during the year ending October 31, 1884, and the amount received during

APPENDIX.

Tables will be found in the Appendix exhibiting the reserve of the national banks as shown by their reports from October 1, 1878, to September 30, 1884; the reserve by States and principal cities for September 30, 1884; and in the States and Territories, in New York City, and in other reserve cities, separately, at three dates in each year from 1881 to 1884.

Special attention is called to the synopsis of judicial decisions contained in the Appendix, to the numerous and carefully prepared tables in both report and Appendix, and to the index of subjects and list of tables to be found on page —. At the end of the full volume, of more than —— pages, is an alphabetical list of the cities and villages in which the national banks are situated.

The Comptroller, in concluding this report, desires to gratefully acknowledge the industry and efficiency of the officers and clerks associated with him in the discharge of official duties, many of whom, in addition to attending to their regular duties, have been compelled, owing to the growth of the national banking system, the extension of the corporate existence of national associations, and the financial troubles of the year, to perform a large amount of extra work, without regard to office hours.

HENRY W. CANNON,
Comptroller of the Currency.

Hon. J. G. CARLISLE,
Speaker House of Representatives.

*SYNOPSIS of DECISIONS of the SUPREME and CIRCUIT COURTS of the UNITED STATES and of STATE COURTS of LAST RESORT, upon QUESTIONS ARISING UNDER THE NATIONAL BANK ACT, and upon COGNATE POINTS of INTEREST to BANKS and to PARTIES HAVING DEALINGS with them.

ABATEMENT.

I. An action brought by a creditor of a national bank is abated by a decree of a district or circuit court dissolving the corporation and forfeiting its franchises. (First National Bank of Selma vs. Colby, 21 Wallace, p. 609.)

II. Suit by the receiver of the New Orleans National Banking Association (formerly a State organization called the Bank of New Orleans) against a shareholder to enforce his personal liability. Plea in abatement that "at the date of the appointment of said receiver there was not, nor has there since been, nor is there now, any such corporation as said New Orleans National Banking Association, because said Bank of New Orleans had no power by its charter, nor authority otherwise from the State of Louisiana, to change its organization to that of a national association under the laws of the United States."

On general demurrer this plea was held bad, because no authority from the State was necessary to enable the bank to make such change. The option to do so was given by the forty-fourth section of the banking act of Congress, 13 Statutes, 112. "The power there conferred was ample, and its validity cannot be doubted." (Casey, Receiver, &c., vs. Galli, 4 Otto, p. 673.)

This plea was also held bad upon the additional ground that "where a shareholder of a corporation is called upon to respond to a liability as such, and where a party has contracted with a corporation, and is sued on his contract, neither is permitted to deny the existence and legal validity of such corporation." (Ibid.)

"To hold otherwise," says Mr. Justice Swayne (p. 680), "would be contrary to the plainest principles of reason and good faith, and involve a mockery of justice. Parties must take the consequences of the positions they assume." They are estopped to deny the reality of the state of things which they have made to appear to exist, and upon which others have been led to rely. Sound ethics require that the apparent, in its effects and consequences, should be as if it were real, and the law properly so regards it."

ACCOMMODATION ACCEPTANCES, INDORSEMENTS, AND NOTES.

I. Where bills, indorsed by a national bank for accommodation only, had been negotiated by the bank through its usual channels of communication with ts correspondents as its own bills, and the proceeds thereof have been placed to the credit of the bank, which thereupon gave the same credit to the parties for whom it had thus indorsed, and received no benefit therefrom: Held, that although an accommodation indorsement by a national bank, in such cases, was void in the hands of holders against whom notice of the character of the indorsement could be concluded, yet that the bank was liable for the same to holders, for value without notice. Blair vs. First National Bank of Mansfield, Ohio. United States Circuit Court for Ohio, at Cleveland, November term, 1875, Emmons, J. Reported in Bankers' Magazine for March, 1878, pp. 721-5.)

II. It is no defense in a suit against the acceptor of a draft which has been discounted, and upon which money has been advanced by plaintiff, that the draft was accepted for the accommodation of the drawer. (Davis vs. Randall, 115 Mass., p. 547.)

III. A national bank discounted a note made by the defendant for the benefit of the payee, and which the payee agreed to take care of at maturity: Held, that the bank could recover the note although it had, when it took the note, full notice of the circumstances under which it was given. (Thatcher vs. West River National Bank, 19 Mich., p. 196.)

(See, also, Title "EVIDENCE.")

* Many of the decisions cited in this synopsis will be found in "Thompson's National Bank Cases," vols. 1 and 2; but in most instances reference is made to the original report, thus indicating the tribunal by which the point was decided.

IV. That the accommodation acceptance, indorsement, bill, or note of a corporation is ultra vires. (See Bank of Genesee vs. Patchin Bank, 13 N. Y., p. 309, and 19 N. Y., p. 312; Bank of Auburn vs. Putnam, jr., 1 Abb. App. Decisions, p. 80; Monfords vs. Farmers & Mechanics' Bank, 26 Barb., p. 568; Farmers & Mechanics' Bank vs. Troy City Bank, 1 Doug. [Mich.], p. 45.)

[NOTE.—In the United States Circuit Court, Western District, Virginia, Judge Bond has recently decided the cases of Seligman & Co. vs. The Charlottesville National Bank, and Johnston Brothers & Co. against the same bank. The first was an action of covenant upon a letter of credit for £5,000, issued under the seal of the bank, pursuant to a resolution of the board of directors, guaranteeing the drafts of Flannagan & Son to the amount of said letter. The latter was assumpsit upon five bills of exchange for $5,000 each, dated April 16, 1875, each drawn by said Charlottesville Bank upon the Citizens' National Bank of Baltimore, payable to the order of Flannagan & Son, acceptance waived, maturing upon days "fixed" within five days of each other, the first, November 20, and the last, December 10 of same year. Said bills were not drawn against funds due or to become due from the said Citizens' to said Charlottesville Bank, but were a mere loan of the credit of the latter bank (it being without funds) to the said Flannagan & Son, and drawn to be used by the latter, as they were used, as collateral security in part for a loan of $25,000, made by said Johnston Brothers & Co. to said Flannagan & Son. Said plaintiffs took said bills as such collateral security, and with full notice of all the facts aforesaid. Held, 1st. That said letter of credit and said bills of exchange were only the accommodation paper of said Charlottesville National Bank, and, as such, void in the hands of the plaintiffs, holding with full notice of their character. 2d. That the incidental powers conferred upon national banks are not such as are conferred upon banks generally, but only such as are necessary to carry on the specific banking business prescribed by the national-bank act. Hence, though such banks may borrow money for certain purposes, they have no power to loan their credit to customers. These cases were reported in the Bankers' Magazine for December, 1879.]

ACTIONS.

I. A national bank may be sued in the proper State court. (Bank of Bethel vs. Pahquioque Bank, 14 Wall., pp. 383, 395.)

II. Such banks may sue in Federal courts. The word "by" was omitted in section 57 of act of 1864 by mistake. (Kennedy vs. Gibson, 8 Wall., pp. 506–7.)

III. Receivers may also sue in United States courts. (Ibid.)

IV. When the full personal liability of shareholders is to be enforced, the action must be at law. (Kennedy vs. Gibson, 8 Wall., p. 505; see, also, Casey, &c., vs. Galli, supra.)

V. But if contribution only is sought, the proceedings may be in equity, joining all the shareholders within the jurisdiction of the court. (Ibid., pp. 505–6.)
(See, also, Title "SHAREHOLDERS, INDIVIDUAL LIABILITIES OF," VI, post.)

VI. But in Bailey, Receiver, &c., vs. First National Bank of Duluth, U. S. Circuit Court for Minnesota, Nelson, J.: Held, that even where less than the par value was assessed the suit might be at law; and this would seem to be the true theory.
(See Bankers' Magazine, April, 1877, p. 793.)
[NOTE.—In Stanton, Receiver, &c., vs. Wilkeson, 8 Ben., 357, the point was distinctly made before Judge Blatchford. The suit was brought to enforce an assessment of sixty per centum, and defendant insisted that plaintiff should have proceeded by bill in equity; but the court held that the action at law was the proper remedy, at the option of the receiver.]

VII. A national bank located in one State may bring action in the circuit court of the United States sitting within another State against a citizen thereof. (Manufacturers' National Bank vs. Baack, 8 Blatch., p. 147.)

VIII. In such action it will be presumed, so far as the question of jurisdiction is concerned, that the stockholders of such bank are citizens of the State where the bank is located. (Ibid.) But in case of Commercial Bank of Cleveland vs. Simmons, decided in the United States Circuit Court Northern District of Ohio, it was held that a national bank does not sue in the Federal court by virtue of any right conferred by the judiciary act of 1789, but by virtue of the right conferred by its charter, the national-bank act, and this would seem to be the true doctrine. (See Thomp. National Bank Cases, p. 295. Also First National Bank of Omaha vs. County of Douglas, 3 Dillon, p. 298, decided by Mr. Justice Miller, of the United States Supreme Court.)

ACTIONS—Continued.

IX. National banks can be sued only in the courts designated in the national-bank act. Therefore a State court of New York has no jurisdiction of an action against a national bank located in Alabama. (Cadle vs. Tracy, 11 Blatch., p. 101.) To the contrary of this, see Cooke vs. State National Bank, 52 N. Y., p. 96.

X. Actions in their nature local, in the technical legal meaning of that word, may be brought against a national bank in the State court of the proper county. (Casey vs. Adams, 102 U. S., p. 66.)

(See, also, Title "JURISDICTION," post.)

XI. An action brought against a national bank in a State court was, upon its petition, removed to the Federal court, and a motion was made to remand it in the United States circuit court for the southern district of New York. Judge Wallace denied the motion on the ground that the right of a national bank, as a corporation created by Congress, to remove a suit brought against it in a State court, is clearly conferred by section 2 of the removal act of 1875. It has been determined that any suit brought by a corporation created by Congress was one arising under the laws of the United States. (Cruikshank vs. Fourth National Bank, June 19, 1883.)

XII. In a suit brought in the United States circuit court against the stockholders of the Pacific National Bank upon their personal liability, motion was made to dismiss suit for want of jurisdiction, based principally upon the alleged effect of the act of July 12, 1882, placing national banks on the same footing with other banks. The motion was denied.

XIII. The act of July 12, 1882, placed national and other banks on the same footing as to their right to sue in the Federal courts, and, consequently, a national bank cannot, merely in virtue of a corporate right, sue in such courts. But national banks, like other banks and citizens, may sue in such courts whenever the subject-matter of litigation involves some matter of Federal jurisdiction. Union National Bank vs. Miller, C. C. S. D. Ohio, W. D., March 26, 1883. (Fed. Rep., vol. xv, 1703.)

ATTACHMENTS OF ASSETS.

I. When a creditor attaches the property of an insolvent national bank, he cannot hold such property against the claim of a receiver appointed after the attachment suit was commenced. Such creditor must share pro rata with all others. (Bank of Selma vs. Colby, 21 Wall., p. 609; see, also, Harvey vs. Allen, 16 Blatchf., p. 29.)

(See, also, Title "JURISDICTION," II, post.)

II. Section 5242 Revised Statutes United States prohibits the issuing of an attachment against a national bank by any State, county, or municipal court before final judgment. (Central National Bank vs. Richland National Bank, 52 Howard [N. Y.], p. 136.)

III. In Robinson vs. National Bank of New Berne, 58 How., p. 306, the court of appeals decides that a State court can issue attachment process against a solvent national bank, located in another State, upon which its funds within the jurisdiction of such court can be seized and subjected to the satisfaction of any claim established by the judgment of such tribunal. But in the supreme court of New York, in Rhoner vs. First National Bank of Allentown, 14 Hun., p. 126, the contrary doctrine is held, in accordance with the ruling in Central National Bank vs. Richland National Bank, 52 How., p. 136, heretofore cited.

[NOTE.—It is submitted that the latter is the correct rule. The currency act favors the policy, on the part of country banks, of keeping a large portion of their reserve in certain cities. But if such banks are advised that such reserve funds are there subject, at any moment, to be seized by process of a State court, at the instance or caprice of any resident who may think himself a creditor, such deposits will be made with more or less hesitation, or not at all.]

ATTORNEYS.

I. Section 56 of the currency act is directory only, and it cannot be objected by defense that a suit is brought by a private attorney instead of the United States district attorney. (Kennedy vs. Gibson, 8 Wall., p. 504.)

BY-LAWS.

I. A national bank cannot by its by-laws create a lien on the shares of a stockholder who is a debtor of the association. (Bullard vs. National Bank, &c., 18 Wall., p. 589.)

BY-LAWS—Continued.

(See, also, case of Bank vs. Lanier, 11 Wall., p. 369, cited under "LOANS ON SHARES," post.)

[NOTE.—In Young vs. Vough, 23 N. J., Equity R., p. 325, it was held that a national bank could by its by-laws prohibit the transfer of shares by a shareholder while indebted to the bank, and that transfers in violation of such by-laws were void. As it is held by the Supreme Court of the United States that such by-laws can create no lien for indebtedness, it would seem that a regulation prohibiting such transfers can be of little practical use, even if the power exists.]

CHECKS.

The holder of a check on a national bank cannot sue the bank for refusing payment, in the absence of proof that it was accepted by the bank. (National Bank of the Republic vs. Millard, 10 Wall., p. 452.)

II. The relation of banker and customer is that of debtor and creditor. Receiving deposits is an important part of the business of banking, but the moment they are received they become the moneys of the bank, may be loaned as a part of its general fund, and the check of the depositor gives no lien upon them. (Ibid., p. 155.)

III. Perhaps, on proof that check had been charged to the drawer, and that the bank had settled with him on that basis, the holder or payee could recover on account for "money had and received." (Ibid., pp. 155–6.)

IV. The facts that the bank was a United States depositary and the check was drawn by a United States officer to a United States creditor do not vary the rule. (Ibid., pp. 155–6.)

V. Where a bank pays a check drawn on it in favor of a party whose indorsement thereon is forged, and the same has passed through several hands, only reasonable diligence is required to be exercised in giving notice to prior holders of the forgery, after its discovery, in order to hold them liable. (Shrœder vs. Harvey, 75 Ill., p. 638.)

VI. A clerk of plaintiffs received from their debtors checks, payable to their (plaintiffs') order, in payment of sums due. The clerk, wrongfully and without authority, indorsed the names of the plaintiffs on these checks and transferred them to other persons, appropriating the proceeds to his own use. Subsequently these checks were deposited with a bank, which in good faith collected them and paid over the proceeds to the depositors. In a suit by plaintiffs against the bank to recover the amount so collected by it: Held, that the bank was liable. (Johnson vs. First National Bank, 13 N. Y. Sup. Court.)

VII. Bankers are presumed to know the signatures of their customers, and pay checks purporting to be drawn by them at their peril. (Weisser vs. Denniston, 10 N. Y., p. 68; National Bank of the Commonwealth vs. Grocers' National Bank, 35 Howard [N. Y. P. R.], p. 412.) This last case holds that if the bank, the drawee, pays the forged check to the holder, it cannot recover back the money so paid. The same doctrine was held in case of First National Bank of Quincy vs. Ricker, 71 Ill., p. 439; but qualified by holding that it applied only where the presumed negligence was all on the side of the bank, and where the holder or payee had been guilty of no fraud or act to throw the bank off its guard.

VIII. CERTIFYING.—National banks have the power to certify checks; and this power may be exercised by the cashier without any special authorization. The directors can limit this power, but such limitation will be no defense as to parties having no notice. (Merchants' National Bank vs. State National Bank, 10 Wall., p. 604.)

IX. A certificate of a bank that a check is good is equivalent to an acceptance implying that the bank has the funds to pay it, and that they are set apart for that purpose. (Ibid., p. 604.)

X. A national bank is liable on a check certified by its cashier to the holder in good faith, although the drawer has no funds in the bank when it was certified. (Cooke vs. State National Bank, 52 N. Y., p. 96.)

XI. The act of Congress of March 3, 1869, making it unlawful for a national bank to certify checks unless the drawer has at the time funds on deposit to an amount equal to the amount specified in the check, does not invalidate a conditional acceptance of a check by such bank, having no funds of the drawer in its hands at the time, but engaging to pay the same when a draft left with it for collection by the drawer shall have been paid. (First National Bank vs. Merchants' National Bank, 7 West Va., p. 544.)

XII. A bank is liable to pay a subsequent bona fide purchaser the amount of a check which it has certified, notwithstanding the check was fraudulently raised, if before certification, from a smaller amount. (Louisiana National Bank vs. Citizens' Bank, 28 La. Annual, p. 189.)

CHECKS—Continued.

XIII. When a bank was chargeable with negligence in certifying a check, which was so drawn as to admit of a fraudulent alteration of the amount being easily made, and the check was raised: Held, that the bank was liable to a bona fide holder, for value, for the increased amount. (Helwege vs. Hibernia National Bank, 28 La. Annual, p. 520.)

[NOTE.—As the above case unquestionably declares the true rule of law, prudence would seem to dictate that cashiers should always insist upon such filling up of checks as to render alteration impracticable, before certifying.]

XIV. A certified check is not deemed dishonored by delay between its date and the time when it is sold to a bona fide purchaser, for value, so that the latter takes it as overdue, and subject to equities; because, by certifying, the bank becomes the principal debtor, and liable indefinitely, like an acceptor of a bill of exchange. Hence, one who in good faith, and after making reasonable inquiry, bought a certified check, three or four months after its date, which had been stolen, was held entitled to recover its amount. (Nolan vs. The Bank of New York, 67 Barb., p. 24.)

XV. A check contained on its face this recital: "To hold as collateral for 1,000 P. T. oil, pipage paid to Jan. 4, 1876"; across its face the cashier wrote, "Good when properly indorsed": Held, that the check was not drawn in the usual course of banking business, and therefore the certificate of the cashier did not bind the bank. (Dorsey vs. Abrams et al., bankers, 85 Pa., p. 299. See, further, as to liability on checks, certified or otherwise, Dodge vs. National Exchange Bank, 30 O., p. 1; Security Bank vs. National Bank of the Republic, 67 N. Y., p. 458; Andrews vs. German National Bank, 9 Heisk. [Tenn.], p. 211.)

BANK CHECK.

XVI. (1.) An order drawn at Kansas City, Mo., on a bank in New York City, to pay money to H. C. or order on demand, without days of grace, is a bank check.

(2.) EQUITABLE ASSIGNMENT OF PART OF DRAWER'S FUND ON DEPOSIT.—Where the depositor of a fund in a bank draws his check for a part of that fund, which is presented in due time, this is an appropriation, and an equitable assignment of so much of the fund as is called for by the check, although no action at law could be maintained upon it.

(3.) EQUITABLE ASSIGNMENT FOR BENEFIT OF CREDITORS.—Where a debtor, having a large fund in bank drew his checks in favor of certain creditors, and thereafter, before said checks were presented, made a general assignment of all his property for the benefit of his creditors, under a State insolvent law: Held, that the check-holders who presented their checks and demanded payment, while the fund remained in the hands of the bank, were entitled to payment as against the assignee. The checks amounted to an appropriation of so much of the fund in which they were drawn, and to that extent it did not pass to the assignee.

(4.) PRESENTATION OF CLAIM TO ASSIGNEE—ELECTION OF REMEDY—The presentation by the check-holders of their claims to the assignee, and his allowance of them, and their receipt of dividends under the assignment, was not the election by them of a remedy which prevents a recovery in this case. (First National Bank of Cincinnati et al. vs. Kersey Coates et al. United States circuit court, western district of Missouri, May term, 1881. In equity.)

XVII. B, a banker, in payment of moneys collected by him for C, gave his check on the D bank for a sum less than the amount to his credit in that bank. Before the check was presented for payment B made an assignment for creditors, of which the bank had notice. Held, that the check operated as an equitable assignment to C of the deposit to the amount named in the check, and that C was entitled to such amount in preference to the assignee for creditors. (German Savings Institution vs. Adae, United States Circuit Court, Eastern District Missouri, March, 1880.)

CIRCULATION.

The circulating notes of a national bank are valid without the imprint of the seal of United States Treasury. U. S. vs. Bennett, 17 Blatchf., 357.

CITIZENSHIP.

I. National banks are citizens of the State in which they are organized and located, and when sued by national banks of other States have a right to demand a removal of the suit from a State to the proper Federal court. (Chatham National Bank vs. Merchants' National Bank, 4 Thompson & Cook, N. Y. Sup. C., p. 196, and 1 Hunter [N. Y.], p. 702; Davis vs. Cook, 9 Nevada, p. 134.)

(See also Title "ACTIONS" V and VI, supra.)

CITIZENSHIP—Continued.

II. A national bank, being a citizen of the State in which it is located, may be required to give security for costs when suing in another State; and in the State of New York such security may be required, because the bank is regarded as a corporation created by a foreign State. (National Park Bank vs. Gunst, 1 Abbott's New Cases, p. 292.)

COLLECTIONS.

I. A bank receiving paper for collection undertakes to use due diligence in making demand at maturity, and giving the proper notices of non-payment. An unreasonable delay will charge the bank with liability for the amount; and proof that the paper would not have been paid, if presented, will constitute no defense. (Bank of Washington vs. Triplett, 1 Peters, p. 25; Bank of New Hanover vs. Kenner, 76 N. C., p. 340; Steele vs. Russell, 5 Nebr., p. 211; Capital State Bank vs. Lane, 52 Miss., p. 677; Fabens vs. Mercantile Bank, 23 Pick. [Mass.], p. 320.)

II. And if the bank receiving paper for collection, upon a sufficient consideration, transmits it to another bank to be collected, the receiving bank will be liable for the misconduct of such other bank, unless there is some agreement to the contrary. (Montgomery County Bank vs. Albany City Bank, 7 N. Y., p. 459; Commercial Bank vs. Union Bank, 11 N. Y., p. 203; Kent vs. Dawson, 13 Blatchf., p. 237; First National Bank vs. First National Bank of Denver, 4 Dill., p. 290.)

III. A bank received a check upon itself for collection, being at the same time a large creditor of the drawer, and failed, without excuse, to notify the depositor of the non-payment of the check: Held, that the bank was chargeable for the negligence. (Bank of New Hanover vs. Kenner, supra.)

IV. A bank holding a check for collection, and accepting the certification of the bank upon which it is drawn, in lieu of payment, assumes the risk and thereby becomes liable to the owner for the amount, with interest from date of certification. (Essex County National Bank vs. Bank of Montreal, 7 Bissell, p. 193.)

V. The Corn Exchange National Bank of Chicago sent defendant, the Dawson Bank, at Wilmington, N. C., a draft drawn upon one Wiswall, living at Washington, N. C., for collection. Defendant by letter acknowledged the receipt of the draft, stating that it had been credited to the Corn Exchange Bank, and entered for collection. Thereupon defendant sent draft to Burbank & Gallagher, bankers at Washington, N. C., for collection. The latter house collected the draft, but failed and passed into bankruptcy before remitting. In a suit brought by the assignee of the Corn Exchange National Bank against the Dawson Bank to recover the proceeds of the draft: Held, per Wallace, J., that the latter bank was liable for the amount. (Kent, assignee, &c., vs. The Dawson Bank, 13 Blatchf., p. 237.)

[NOTE.—The court concedes that the authorities are conflicting upon the point involved in this case. In New York, Ohio, and in England, the decisions sustain the conclusions of Judge Wallace, while in Connecticut, Massachusetts, Illinois, and Pennsylvania precisely the contrary rule prevails. The point was made in this case that the law of Illinois should control the rights of parties, but it was held otherwise.]

VI. In an action by G against a bank it appeared that a note was made to G's order, indorsed by him, and sent through the house of B, a banker, for collection, and by B indorsed to the defendant bank, "for collection and credit": Held, that B, by the indorsement, did not become the owner of the note, and had no right to pledge it, or direct its proceeds to be credited to him in payment of his indebtedness to the defendant bank. (First National Bank vs. Gregg, 79 Pa., p. 384.)

VII. In such case, if the defendant bank had made advances, or given new credit to B on the faith of the note, it would have been entitled to retain the amount out of the proceeds. (Ibid.)

VIII. A bank holding a customer's demand note has a lien upon the proceeds of drafts delivered to it for collection, after the giving of the note, though collected after the filing of a petition in bankruptcy, and can apply such proceeds upon the notes. (Re Farnsworth, 5 Bliss., p. 223).

IX. A collection agent who receives from his principal a bill of lading of merchandise, delivered to order, and attaches to it a time draft, may, in the absence of special instructions, deliver the bill of lading to the drawee of the draft upon the latter's acceptance of the draft. It is not the duty of the agent to hold the bill after such acceptance. (National Bank of Commerce vs. Merhants' National Bank, 1 Otto, p. 92.)

COLLECTIONS—Continued.

X. Woolen & Co., bankers at Indianapolis, sent to defendant, a bank at Buffalo, a draft on one Bugbee; also bills of lading for sundry car-loads of lumber. The remittance was by letter, which merely stated that the draft and bills were sent to defendant for collection and remittance of proceeds to plaintiffs, Woolen & Co. The draft was drawn by, and to the order of, Coder & Co., indorsed by them, by Mayhew, and the plaintiffs. By the terms of the draft the drawer, indorsers, and acceptor waived presentment for payment and notice of protest and non-payment. It was payable fifteen days after its date, and it was admitted that by ordinary course of transit the lumber would reach its destination eight days prior to the maturity of the draft. There had been no business transactions between plaintiffs and defendants, save one collection similar to this. Defendants presented the draft to Bugbee for acceptance, and upon such acceptance delivered to him the bills of lading. Bugbee failed before the draft matured, and plaintiffs sued defendants for delivering the bills of lading to Bugbee before payment of the draft. It was conceded that the draft was drawn for the price or value of the lumber: Held, per Wallace, J., that, the draft being on time, it must be presumed that it was the intent of parties that Bugbee should realize from sale of the lumber the funds to meet the draft at maturity. Therefore, upon his acceptance of the draft, he was entitled to the bills of lading, and defendants were not liable for thus delivering them; but if the draft had not been upon time, a different rule might have prevailed. (Woolen & Webb vs. N. Y. and Erie Bank, 12 Blatchf., p. 359.)

XI. L transmitted to a bank a draft indorsed "for collection on his account." The bank provisionally credited the draft, when received, to L, presented it for payment, and surrendered it to the drawee on receipt of his check for the amount. Instead of demanding the money on this check, the bank had it certified "good," and on the same day suspended payment. The next day the check was collected, and the money mingled with the other money in the hands of the receiver: Held, that the receiver held the funds in trust for L. (Levi vs. Missouri Bank, 5 Dillon, p. 104.)

XII. The general power of a bank to collect ceases by its suspension, as to paper previously deposited therewith. (Jockusch vs. Towsey, 51 Tex., p. 129.)

XIII. As to effect of indorsement "for collection," see Bank of Metropolis vs. First National Bank of Jersey City, U. S. Circuit Court, S. D. N. Y., Banker's Magazine, August, 1884.

COMPROMISES.

I. In adjusting and compromising contested claims against it, growing out of a legitimate banking transaction, a national bank may pay a larger sum than would have been exacted in satisfaction of them, so as to thereby obtain a transfer of stocks of railroad and other corporations, in the honest belief that, by turning them into money under more favorable circumstances than then existed, a loss which it would otherwise suffer from the transaction might be averted or diminished. (First National Bank vs. National Exchange Bank, 2 Otto, p. 122.)

II. So, also, it may accept stocks in satisfaction of a doubtful debt, with a view to their subsequent conversion into money, in order to make good or reduce an anticipated loss. (Ibid.)

(See, also, Title "ESTATE, REAL," I, post.)

III. A court has no power, under section 5324 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, to order the receiver of a national bank to compound debts which are not "bad or doubtful"; and a composition under such an order of debts not bad or doubtful, is ineffectual. (Price, Receiver, &c., vs. Yates, 2 Thomp. Cases, p. 204, U. S. Circuit Court, Western District, Pa.)

IV. A receiver compromised suits with counsel for the United States: Held, that the compromise would not be opened after a lapse of years, no fraud being alleged. (Henderson vs. Myers, 11 Phil. Pa., p. 616.)

[NOTE.—This must have been a compromise made without a special order of court.]

COMPTROLLER.

I. The Comptroller appoints the receiver, and can therefore remove him. (Kennedy vs. Gibson, 8 Wall., p. 498.)

II. The Comptroller's certificate, reciting the existence of the facts of which he is required to be satisfied, to justify the appointment of a receiver, under section 50 of the national-bank act, is sufficient evidence of the validity of such appointment, in an action brought by such receiver. (Platt vs. Bebee, 57 N. Y., p. 339.)

COMPTROLLER—Continued.

III. The Comptroller must authorize any increase of the capital stock of a national bank; and such increase must be certified by him as prescribed by section 13 of the act of Congress providing for the organization of national banks. (Charleston vs. People's National Bank, 5 S. C., p. 103.)

IV. The Comptroller cannot subject the United States Government to the jurisdiction of a court, though he appears and answers to the suit. (Case vs. Terrell, 11 Will., p. 199.

(See, also, Title "SHAREHOLDERS, INDIVIDUAL LIABILITY OF," post.)

V. Where a national bank was put into insolvency by the Comptroller of the Currency, and a creditor whose claim was disputed, recovered judgment, seven years after for an amount much larger than the amount of his claim at the time of failure, on account of interest for the interval having been included in the judgment, it was held that dividends must be calculated and paid upon the amount of the claim at the time of the failure of the bank. (United States ex rel. White vs. Knox, United States Supreme Court, May 5, 1884.)

CONVERSION.

I. The conversion of a State into a national bank works no dissolution, only a change of the original corporation; nor does the latter thereby escape any of its liabilities. (Maynard vs. Bank, 1 Brewster, Pa., p. 483; Kelsey vs. National Bank of Crawford County, 69 Pa., p. 426; Coffey vs. National Bank of the State of Missouri, 46 Mo., p. 140.)

II. The certificate of the Comptroller of the Currency is conclusive as to the regularity of the proceeding by which any bank has been converted into a national bank. (B. U. Keyser, receiver, vs. Jane C. Hitz, Sup. Court, D. C. Decided June 26, 1883.)

III. Where owners of more than two-thirds of stock consent to the conversion of a bank into a national bank, the conversion may take place without the concurrence of the remaining stockholders. (Ibid.)

IV. Although it might be more regular, it is not necessary that, on conversion, a new stock book should be opened, or new certificates of stock issued. (Ibid.)

V. A stockholder giving consent to conversion thereby becomes a stockholder in the new bank, even if new certificates of stock are not issued. (Ibid.)

CREDITORS OF NATIONAL BANKS.

I. The respective rights and liabilities existing between a national bank and its creditors and debtors become fixed when its insolvency occurs. * * * All the property and assets of the association then become a fund, legally dedicated, first, to the satisfaction of any claim of the United States for the redemption of its circulating notes, and, second, for a ratable distribution of the balance among its general creditors upon the principle of equality. (Balch vs. Wilson, 2 Thomp. Cases, p. 276; 25 Minn., p. 299.)

II. The United States, as a creditor of a national bank, is not entitled to a priority of payment out of its assets over other creditors. (Cook Co. National Bank and Aug. H. Burley, receiver of said bank, appellants, vs. The United States, U. S. Sup. Court, Oct. term, 1882.) This suit was appealed from the United States circuit court, northern district Illinois, in the name of the United States, by the bondsmen of McArthur, postmaster of Chicago. The bank was a Government depository, and on its failure the proceeds of its bonds deposited in the United States Treasury to secure deposits were sufficient to refund all the public moneys, except about $20,000 of postal funds. The bondsmen, being liable for any amount the bank might fail to pay if the United States accepted pro rata dividends with other creditors, brought suit for the whole amount, claiming priority of payment under a statute of 1797, providing that in the case of insolvent debtors of the United States, the debt of the United States should first be satisfied from their estate. The court decided that the statute of 1797 was suspended as to national banks by the act authorizing the formation of national banks, by which the United States was placed on the same footing as other creditors. The court said: "We consider that act (national-bank act) as constituting by itself a complete system for the establishment and government of national banks." (For further points decided in this case, see "Set-off.")

CURRENCY.

I. The word "currency," in a certificate of deposit, means money, including bank notes, which, though not an absolute legal tender, are used as money by authority of law, and are in circulation generally, at the locus in quo, on par with coin. (Klauber vs. Biggerstaff, 47 Wis., p. 551.)

CURRENCY ACT.

I. The purpose of the currency act was, in part, to provide a currency for the whole country, and, in part, to create a market for the Government loans. (Per Strong, J., in Tiffany vs. National Bank of the State of Missouri, 18 Wall., p. 413.)

II. National banks organized under the act of Congress of June 3, 1864, are the instruments designed to be used to aid the Government in the administration of an important branch of the public service; and Congress, which is the sole judge of the necessity for their creation, having brought them into existence, the States can exercise no control over them, nor in any wise affect their operation, except so far as Congress may see proper to permit. (Per Swayne, J., in Farmers and Mechanics' National Bank vs. Dearing, 1 Otto, p. 29.)

III. The constitutionality of the act of June 3, 1864, is unquestioned. It rests on the same principle as the act creating the second Bank of the United States. The reasoning of Secretary Hamilton and of this court in McCulloch vs. The State of Maryland, 4 Wheat., p. 316, and in Osborne vs. Bank U. S., 7 Wheat., p. 708, therefore applies.

IV. The power to create carries with it the power to preserve. The latter is a corollary of the former. (Ibid., per Swayne, J., pp. 33, 34.)

DEBTORS OF NATIONAL BANKS.

I. Debtors of an insolvent national bank, when sued by the receiver, cannot object that pleadings do not show a compliance with all the steps prescribed by statutes as preliminary to the appointment of such receiver. (Cadle, receiver, &c., vs. Baker & Co., 20 Wall., p. 650.)

II. Such ordinary debtors may be sued by receiver without previous order of the Comptroller. (Bank vs. Kennedy, 17 Wall., p. 19.)

DEPOSITS.

I. CERTIFICATES OF.—A certificate of deposit was issued by a bank for a certain sum, subject to the order of the depositor at a certain date, payable on the return of the certificate: Held, in an action on said certificate against the bank, brought by an assignee, that there could be no recovery without proof of an actual demand and refusal of payment. (Brown vs. McElroy, 52 Ind., p. 404.)

II. In a suit against the bank upon a stolen certificate of deposit, given by the defendant to the plaintiff, reciting that he had deposited in the bank a certain number of dollars, payable to his order in current funds, on the return of the certificate, properly indorsed: Held, first, that the instrument should be regarded as the promisory note of the bank, assignable under the statute (of Indiana), but that it was not negotiable as an inland bill of exchange, being made payable not in money, but "in current funds;" second, that the payee could recover on said stolen certificate without giving a bond against a subsequent claim thereunder by another person. (National State Bank vs. Ringel, 51 Ind., p. 393.)

III. Where a bank issues a certificate of deposit, payable on its return, properly indorsed, it is liable thereon to a bona-fide holder, to whom it was transferred seven years after it was issued, notwithstanding the payment thereof to the original holder. Such certificate is not dishonored until presented. (National Bank of Fort Edward vs. Washington County National Bank, 5 Hun., N. Y. Sup. Court, p. 605.)

IV. Under a statute prohibiting the circulation of bills or notes not payable on demand, banks have no power to issue time certificates of deposit; and such certificates, if issued, are void. They are equivalent to post notes. (Bank of Peru vs. Farnesworth, 18 Ill., p. 563; Bank of Orleans vs. Merrill, 2*d Hill* [N. Y.], p. 295; Leavitt vs. Palmer, 3 N. Y. [Comst.], p. 19.)

(See, also, "CURRENCY," supra.)

V. GENERAL.—The relation between a bank and its depositors is that of debtor and creditor only, and is not fiduciary. Thus, a note deposited for collection, if passed to the credit of the depositor in his general account, then overdrawn, becomes the property of the bank, which becomes indebted to him for the proceeds. Upon the bankruptcy of the bank, the proceeds are assets available to the general creditors. And the fact that the account was made good by other deposits before collection of the note makes no difference. (In re Bank of Madison, 5 Bissell, p. 515.) A national bank may also apply a deposit in payment of a matured note held against the depositors. (Home Bank vs. Newton, 8 Ill., App., 563.)

DEPOSITS—Continued.

VI. A deposit is general, unless the depositor makes it special, or deposits it expressly in some particular capacity. And in case of a general deposit of money with a banker, a previous demand by the depositor, or some other person by his order, is indispensable to the maintenance of an action for the deposit, unless circumstances are shown which amount to a legal excuse. (Brahm vs. Adkins, 77 Ill., p. 263.)

VII. A national bank having become insolvent, a depositor therein assigned his deposit to a debtor of the bank: Held, that the latter could not offset such deposit against his debt, in an action thereon. (Venango National Bank vs. Taylor, 56 Pa., p. 14.)

VIII. A depositor was also indebted to the bank on bond and mortgage: Held, that he could offset his deposit against said indebtedness, the bank being in the hands of a receiver. (Matter of New Amsterdam Savings Bank vs. Gartter, 54 How. [N. Y. P. R.], p. 385.)

IX. The claims of depositors in a suspended national bank are, when proved to the satisfaction of the Comptroller of the Currency, on the same footing as if they were reduced to judgments, and from date of such proof bear interest. (National Bank of the Commonwealth vs. Michigan National Bank, 94 U. S. [4 Otto], p. 437.)

X. SPECIAL.—The taking of special deposits to keep, merely for the accommodation of the depositor, is not within the authorized business of national banks; and the cashiers of such banks have no power to bind them on any express contract accompanying, or any implied contract arising out of, such taking. (Wiley vs. First National Bank, 47 Vt., p. 546.)

[NOTE.—To the same effect was the decision of the New York court of appeals in First Nat. Bank of Lyons vs. Ocean Nat. Bank, 60 N. Y., p. 278. But it is to be remembered that in both these cases only the act of the cashier was relied upon to bind the bank. In the latter case it was stated that there was no proof of even implied knowledge or assent on the part of the directory. In the well-reasoned case of Weckler vs. First Nat. Bank of Hagerstown, 42 Md., p. 581, these cases are cited with decided approval; but a recent decision of the Supreme Court goes very far towards establishing a different doctrine. In National Bank vs. Graham, 100 U. S., p. 699, the Supreme Court held that section 5228 R. S. U. S. conferred upon a national bank power to receive and take charge of special deposits, such as the public securities of the Government, and that such bank is liable in damages for the loss, through gross negligence, of such deposit, when it had been made with the knowledge and acquiescence of its officers and directors. The learned judge who delivered the opinion (Mr. Justice Swayne) cited numerous State decisions, only referring to the cases in Vermont as being in conflict with the weight of adjudications, and based the conclusion of the court upon the doctrine that "gross negligence on the part of a gratuitous bailee, though not a fraud, was equivalent thereto in legal effect, and that the doctrine of ultra vires has no application in favor of a corporation when guilty of a wrong."]

XI. A national bank receiving a special deposit for safe-keeping, without reward, is liable only for gross negligence. The burden of proof is on the plaintiff, and gross negligence is not the omission of that care which every attentive and diligent person takes of his own goods, but the omission of that care which the most inattentive takes. (First National Bank, &c., vs. Rex, 89 Penn. p. 308.)

In Pattison vs. Syracuse Bank, 80 N. Y., 82, the case of Nat'l Bank of Lyons vs. Ocean National Bank is substantially overruled, following the ruling in Nat'l Bank vs. Graham. See also First National Bank of Mansfield vs. Zent (Supreme court of State of Ohio).

XII. AUTHORITY OF BANK TO APPLY DEPOSIT IN PAYMENT OF DEBT.—Where a depositor in a bank is indebted to the bank by bill, note, or other independent indebtedness, the bank has a right to apply so much of the funds of the depositor to the payment of his matured indebtedness as may be necessary to satisfy the same. (Appellate court, first district, held at Chicago. Home National Bank vs. Newton.)

So, where the bank held the note of a depositor for a certain sum, the bank could, on the morning of the last day of grace upon such note, apply to its payment any money of the depositor then remaining on deposit in such bank.—[Chicago Legal News.]

DIRECTORS OF NATIONAL BANKS.

I. Directors of a national bank may remove the president, both under the law of Congress and the articles of association, where the latter so provide. The power exists if the bank has adopted no by-laws. (Taylor vs. Hutton, 43 Barb. N. Y. Sup. Court, p. 135; S. C., 18 Abb. Pr. R., p. 16.)

DIRECTORS OF NATIONAL BANKS—Continued.

II. In all cases where an act is to be done by a corporate body, a majority of the whole number of directors is necessary to constitute a valid meeting; but at a meeting when a quorum is present the majority of those present may act. A by-law adopted when less than a majority are present is void. (Lockwood vs. American National Bank, 9 Rhode Island, p. 308.)

(See Title "OFFICERS," post.)

III. The power to compromise or release claims in favor of a bank is in the board of directors and not within the scope of the cashier's authority. (Chemical Bank vs. Kohner, 8 Daly [N. Y.], p. 530.)

IV. In Bostwick vs. Brinkerhoff a suit was begun in the supreme court of the State of New York, by a stockholder of the National Bank of Fishkill, to recover damages from the directors for their neglect of their official duties. A demurrer was filed to the complaint, which raised, among others, the question whether such an action could be brought in a State court. The supreme court of the State sustained the demurrer and dismissed the complaint. The judgment was affirmed at general term. An appeal was taken to the court of appeals, where the judgment of the general term was reversed, and the case was remitted to the supreme court to be proceeded upon according to law. A writ of error was taken to the Supreme Court of the United States, which decided that a judgment of reversal by a State court with leave for further proceedings in the court of original jurisdiction is not subject to review in the United States Supreme Court. (Supreme Court, 106 U. S.)

V. Ackerman vs. Halsey was a suit brought in the circuit court of Essex County, New Jersey, by a stockholder of the Mechanics' National Bank of Newark, N. J., against a director of that bank, to recover the value of stock lost by the insolvency of the bank through the negligence of directors. The defendant demurred on the ground that directors could not be sued for injury by an individual stockholder, but only by the corporation or receiver. Judge Depue sustained the demurrer, stating that such suits should be brought by the receiver in behalf of the corporation, its creditors and stockholders, but that if the receiver refused to bring such suit, any stockholder might do so, joining with himself all other stockholders. This decision was rendered in April, 1882.

VI. Conway vs. Halsey, New Jersey Supreme Court. Bankers' Magazine for November, 1883, p. 378. This was a suit brought by a stockholder of the Mechanics' National Bank of Newark, N. J., against the president and directors, for neglect and mismanagement, &c. It was demurred to on grounds similar to the preceding case, and the demurrer was sustained. The plaintiff also held that he had the right to recover under section 5239 of the Revised Statutes. On this point the judge held that that statute only applied when the charter of the corporation was forfeited on account of willful violation of law on the part of the directors. In this case the plaintiff did not show any willful violation of law by which a direct injury was done to the stockholders. The injuries received were indirect, because the directors were alleged to have permitted, by their negligence, the property of the corporation to be squandered, purloined, or lost.

EMBEZZLEMENT.

I. When the president of a national bank, having charge of its funds, converts them to his own use, he embezzles and abstracts them within section 55 (R.S., sec. 5209) of the national-bank act, unless he shows authority for thus using them. (In the matter of Van Campen, 2 Benedict, p. 419, per Blatchford, J.)

II. Although false entries in regard to such embezzlement are made on the books of such bank by the clerk, but by the order of the president, the latter is chargeable as principal; and the intent to defraud the bank is to be inferred from the fact of such embezzlement. (Ibid.)

III. The cashier of a national bank was indicted under said section 55 for embezzling and willfully misapplying the moneys of the bank with intent to defraud, &c. On trial it was proved that defendant took the moneys of the bank and used them in stock speculations, carried on in his own name, by depositing the same with a stock broker as "margins" for stock bought on his own account. Held, that the intent to injure or defraud was conclusively presumed upon proof of the act charged; and, therefore, evidence was not admissible to prove that the cashier used the funds with the knowledge and consent of the president and some of the directors of the bank, and on account of and for the benefit of the bank. (United States vs. Taintor, 11 Blatchf., p. 374.)

[NOTE.—This last case was decided in the United States circuit court, southern district of New York, Woodruff, Blatchford, and Benedict, JJ., all concurring in the decision.]

EMBEZZLEMENT—Continued.

IV. A State court has no jurisdiction of the crime of embezzlement by an officer of a national bank situated within the State. Commonwealth vs. Felton, 101 Mass., p. 204; State vs. Tuller, 34 Conn., p. 280.) But in this latter case it was also held that while a teller of such bank could not be punished for embezzling the funds of the bank, he could be convicted, under the statute of the State, for purloining property deposited with such bank for safe-keeping; and in Commonwealth vs. Barry, 116 Mass., p. 1, it was decided that though an officer of a national bank, who has stolen its property, may be subject to punishment for embezzlement under the national law, he may also be punished for the same act, as a larceny, under the statute of the State.

ESTATE, REAL.

I. The want of power of a bank, or of its trustee (receiver) in insolvency, to purchase and hold real estate, does not render void an arrangement whereby land subject to a lien in favor of the bank, and to other liens, is discharged of those other liens by funds from the assets of the bank, the land being then sold, and the entire proceeds of such sale realized to the bank assets, provided the title does not pass through the bank or its trustees. (Zantzingers vs. Gunton, 19 Wall., p. 32.)

II. In Union National Bank et al. vs. Mathews, 98 U. S., p. 658, the court recognized the doctrine that, "where a corporation is incompetent by its charter to take a title to real estate, a conveyance to it is not void, but only voidable, and the sovereign alone can object. It is valid unless assailed in a direct proceeding instituted for that purpose."

[NOTE.—Thus it would seem that a mortgage executed to secure a present loan, or any other conveyance of real estate to a national bank, must be held valid until declared void in a direct proceeding instituted for that purpose by the United States Government.]

(See, also, Wroten's Assignee vs. Armat, 31 Grattan, p. 238.)

III. The title to real estate taken by a national bank, on adjustment of a liability in its favor, must be held valid until attacked by the United States, in direct proceedings instituted for that purpose. Such title cannot be impeached collaterally, in an ejectment suit. (Mapes et al. vs. Scott et al., 94, Ill., p. 379; National Bank vs. Whitney, 106, U. S., p. 99; Graham vs. National Bank, 32 N. J. Eq., p. 804; Warner vs. Dewitt, 4 Ill. App., p. 305.)

(See, also, Title "LOANS ON REAL ESTATE," post.)

ESTOPPEL.

I. A shareholder in a national bank, who has participated in its transactions as such, and received dividends, is estopped from denying the legality of its incorporation. The same rule applies to one accustomed to deal with a national bank as such, as by giving his promissory note to such bank. (Wheelock vs. Kost, 77 Ill., p. 296; National Bank of Fairhaven vs. Phœnix Warehousing Company, 6 Hun. [N. Y.], p. 71; Casey vs. Galli, 94 U. S., p. 673, and numerous cases therein cited.)

II. The Manufacturers' National Bank of Chicago, defendant, being the city correspondent of the People's Bank of Belleville, plaintiff, guaranteed to the latter bank the payment of certain notes of one Picket, pursuant to an agreement that thus guaranteed their amount should be, as it was, debited to the account of the Belleville Bank. Such agreement, and the guarantee in pursuance thereof, were made by the vice-president of the defendant bank, with the assent of the president and cashier, but without the assent of the directors. Held, that under the circumstances the defendant bank was estopped from setting up, as a defense, that such guarantee was ultra vires. (People's Bank vs. National Bank, 101 U. S., p. 181.)

[NOTE.—It will be observed that this decision stops far short of legalizing naked accommodation paper made by a national bank.]

III. A national bank which has wrongfully converted to its own use the property of another, is estopped from denying its liability to account therefor upon the ground that it received and held the property in carrying on the business of a warehouseman, outside the powers conferred by its charter. (German National Bank vs. Meadowcroft, 2 Thomp. Cases, p. 462. Sup. Court Ill.)

EVIDENCE.

I. Even if it be within the authority of the president of a national bank to bind the bank by an agreement with the acceptor of a draft, which is discounted by the bank, not to enforce the draft against him, yet oral evidence of such an agreement is not competent in defense of a suit by the bank against the acceptor. (Davis vs. Randall, 115 Mass., p. 547.)

EVIDENCE—Continued.

II. The certificate of the Comptroller of the organization of a national bank is conclusive evidence as to the completeness of such organization, in a suit against one of its shareholders. (Casey vs. Galli, ante; Thatcher vs. West River National Bank, 19 Mich., p. 196.)

III. In ordering an assessment for the payment of the debts of an insolvent bank, the stock certificates and stock ledger of the bank must be taken by the Comptroller of the Currency, in the absence of fraud or mistake, as showing who the stockholders were at the time of the failure. (Davis vs. Essex Baptist Society, 44 Conn., p. 582.)

IV. The maker of a certificate of deposit cannot overcome its effect, as proof of a deposit actually made, except by clear and satisfactory evidence. (First National Bank of Lacon vs. Meyers, 83 Ill., p. 507.)

INTEREST.

I. Under section 30, act of 1864, a national bank in any State may take as high rate of interest as by the laws of such State a natural person may stipulate for, although State banks of issue are restricted to a less rate. (Tiffany vs. National Bank of the State of Missouri, 18 Wall., p. 409.)

II. As the action was virtually brought to recover the penalty for usury, the statute (section 30) must receive a strict construction. (Ibid., p. 409.)

[NOTE.—In Missouri, natural persons may take ten per cent., but State banks are restricted to eight per cent. In this case the national bank had taken nine per cent: Held, legal.]

III. In a suit by a national bank upon a bill of exchange discounted by it, the acceptor cannot set up by way of counter-claim, or set-off, that the bank in discounting a series of bills of said acceptor, the proceeds of which it used to pay other bills, knowingly took, and was paid, a greater rate of interest than that allowed by law. (Barnett vs. National Bank, 98 U. S. [8 Otto], p. 555.)

VI. The act of June 3, 1864 (R. S., sec. 5198), having prescribed that, as a penalty for such taking, the person paying such unlawful interest, or his legal representative, may in an action of debt against the bank recover back twice the amount so paid, he can resort to no other mode or form of procedure. (Brown vs. Second National Bank of Erie, 72 Pa., p. 209; Barnett vs. National Bank, 98 U. S., p. 555.)

[NOTE.—The above case of Barnett vs. National Bank, 98 U. S., p. 555, overrules several State adjudications, and settles several points in regard to usurious interest as affecting loans by national banks. It holds that when suit is brought by such bank to recover a loan made at usurious rate, stipulated for, but not paid, the entire interest thus agreed upon, but no part of the principal, is forfeited, and the latter may be recovered in full; that when the usurious interest has been paid, twice its sum may be recovered by the borrower, but this can only be done by a suit directly brought for that purpose, which suit must be in the nature of an action of debt, commenced, of course, within the two years specified. Suppose, then, A borrows $1,000 from a national bank on 90 days' time, and for the loan actually pays usurious interest in advance. Suppose his paper is protested and suit is brought upon it. It follows that while A cannot offset twice the usurious interest he has paid, nor any part thereof, in reduction of the face of his paper, the bank can recover from him not only the principal of the loan, but legal interest thereon from the date of maturity of the note or bill.]

(See, also, Natl. Bank vs. Dearing, 91 U. S., p. 29, and Title "USURY," post.)

V. ON CLAIMS OF CREDITORS.—Where a national bank is put in charge of a receiver, under section 50 of the original Currency Act (R. S., sec. 5234), and a sufficient sum is realized from its assets to pay all claims against it and leave a surplus, the Comptroller ought to allow interest on the claims during the period of administration, before appropriating the surplus to the stockholders of the bank. An action of assumpsit by the holder of such a claim will not lie against the Comptroller, nor against the receiver, but will lie against the bank. (Chemical National Bank vs. Bailey, 12 Blatchf., p. 480.)

VI. In such action interest is recoverable on all demands originating in contract conditioned for the payment of interest, and on all demands for money due and unpaid, by way of damages for non-payment after such demands became due. And interest is recoverable on a balance due a depositor in such bank, although he has made no formal demand of payment. (Ibid.) But, as to this last point, see the ruling of the Supreme Court.

INTEREST—Continued.

VII. In the case of National Bank of the Commonwealth vs. Mechanics' National Bank, 4 Otto, p. 437, the United States Supreme Court decided that a depositor in a national bank, when it suspends payment and a receiver is appointed, is entitled from the date of his demand to interest on the deposit; that the claims of depositors in such bank at date of suspension, for the amount of their deposits, are, when proved to the satisfaction of the Comptroller of the Currency, placed upon the same footing as if reduced to judgments; that is to say, they draw interest from the time of such proof and allowance. It was also decided that, such interest being a liquidated sum at the time of the payment of the deposit, an action lies to recover it, and interest thereon.

VIII. When the Comptroller assesses shareholders to pay the debts of an insolvent national bank, such assessment bears interest from the date of the Comptroller's order. (Casey vs. Galli, ante.)

IX. A statute of New York, fixing the rate of interest at 7 per cent., also makes forfeiture of principle and interest the penalty for taking interest at a greater rate. Notwithstanding this statute, the courts of that State have held that the payee of a promissory note may, in good faith, sell and indorse it to a third party for a sum agreed upon, amounting as discount to any rate in excess of that prescribed by law; that such purchaser may recover from the maker principal and interest in full, and that if it be necessary to resort to the indorser, the purchaser may recover against him the actual sum paid for the note with interest.

Acting upon these adjudications, a national bank in that State discounted for a customer notes (all paid at maturity) for sums aggregating $2,735.36, in excess of the legal rate of interest. Subsequently the seller sued the bank to recover, under sections 5197 and 5198 of the national-bank act, the penalties therein prescribed, to wit, double the aggregate paid.

In the State courts the plaintiff had judgment as prayed, and on writ of error to the court of appeals of New York, the Supreme Court of the United States affirmed the judgment below; holding that,

"Although under the laws of New York a contract between natural persons to reserve and pay upon the discount of business paper any stipulated rate of interest (discount) may be valid, such contract, if a national bank be party thereto, and the paper be, in pursuance thereof, transferred to it, is in violation of said sections, if the rate agreed upon exceeds 7 per cent., and subjects such bank to the penalties therein prescribed. (National Bank vs. Johnson, 104 U. S., 271.)

JUDGMENTS.

I. A judgment against a national bank in the hands of a receiver, upon a claim, only establishes the validity of such claim; the plaintiff can have no execution on such judgment, but must await pro rata distribution. (Bank of Bethel vs. Pahquioque Bank, 14 Wall., p. 383, and Clifford, J., p. 402.)

JURISDICTION.

I. A United States District Court has jurisdiction to authorize a receiver of an insolvent national bank to compromise a debt. (Matter of Platt, 1 Ben., p. 534.)

II. A resident (citizen) of Kentucky was a creditor of a national bank located in Alabama, and commenced a suit on his claim against said bank in the supreme court of the State of New York, at the same time attaching certain moneys belonging to said bank, in the hands of the National Park Bank, in New York. Subsequently the receiver of the Alabama bank (which had failed) was, on his own motion, made party defendant to the action pending in the New York supreme court, and pleaded "want of jurisdiction," and other defenses. The supreme court overruled his plea to the jurisdiction, rendered judgment against the receiver on the merits, and ordered satisfaction to be made from the moneys attached. Thereupon the receiver filed his bill in chancery in the United States Circuit Court for the proper circuit, praying an injunction to restrain the collection of the judgment rendered by said supreme court, and that the moneys attached be paid to him as receiver. Held, that, by the provisions of the Currency Act, the State court was deprived of jurisdiction of the attachment proceedings; that the receiver was not estopped by the proceedings in said State court from asserting his rights in said Circuit Court, and that he was entitled to the relief prayed for in his bill. (Cadle, Receiver, &c., vs. Tracy, 11 Blatchf., p. 101.)

(See, also, Title "RECEIVERS," VII, post.)

III. State courts have no jurisdiction of actions to recover penalties imposed by the National-Bank Act. (Newell vs. National Bank of Somerset, 12 Bush. [Ky.], p. 57.)

(See, also, Title "EMBEZZLEMENT," IV, ante.)

JURISDICTION—Continued.

IV. The United States Circuit Court has no jurisdiction of a suit by a private person to restrain or interfere with the Treasurer of the United States or the Comptroller of the Currency in the discharge of their duties in respect to bonds deposited to secure the redemption of circulating notes of a national bank. (Van Antwerp vs. Hulburd, Blatchf., p. 426.)

V. An action will not lie against the Comptroller nor the receiver, upon a claim against an insolvent national bank, but will lie against such bank. (Chemical National Bank vs. Bailey, ante. See, also, Bank of Bethel vs. Pahquioque Bank, ante.)

VI. A national bank cannot be sued in the United States District Courts outside of the district where it is located. (Main vs. Second Nat. Bank of Chicago, 6 Bissell, p. 26.)

VII. Nor can such action be brought against a national bank in a State court, save in the county or city where it is located. (Crocker vs. Marine National Bank, 101 Mass., p. 240.)

(See, also, Title "ACTION," VII, ante; also "EMBEZZLEMENT," IV, ante.

VIII. The provision of section 5198, U. S. Rev. Stats., requiring that suits, actions, and proceedings against a national bank in any State, county, or municipal court must be brought in the county in which such bank is located, is held to apply to transitory actions only, and not to such actions as are by law local in their character. (Casey, receiver, &c., vs. Adams, 2 Thomp. Cases, p. 102. U. S. Supreme Court.)

[NOTE.—The jurisdiction of the local court was sustained in this cause, although it seemed clear that a complete remedy might have been had in the U. S. Circuit Court at New Orleans, where the bank was situated.]

IX. National banks are not entitled, by force of the national-bank act, to have any suit in a State court, wherein they are parties defendant, removed to a Federal court. (Wilder vs. Union Nat. Bank, 2 Thomp. Cases, p. 124.)

X. National banks are not authorized to sue in the Federal courts out of the districts in which they are located, when the amount sued for does not exceed $500. (St. Louis Bank vs. Brinkham, 1 McCrary, 9.)

[NOTE.—As to present jurisdiction of Federal and State courts, see act of Congress of July 12, 1882, proviso to section 4.]

LOANS IN EXCESS.

I. A loan by a national bank in excess of the restriction of section 29 of the act of 1864 (Revised Statutes, section 5200), which provides that the total liabilities of any person (borrower) shall not exceed ten per centum of the capital stock, &c., is not void on that account. The loan may be enforced, though the bank may be liable to proceedings for forfeiture of its privileges, &c., for making it. (Stewart vs. National Union Bank of Maryland, 2 Abb., United States, p. 424. See, also, O'Hare vs. Second National Bank, 77 Pa., p. 96.)

II. In Samuel M. Shoemaker vs. The National Mechanics' Bank and The same vs. The National Union Bank, application for injunction, &c., United States Circuit Court, Baltimore, Md., Judge Giles held, * * * "As to the first charge in this bill against the defendant, in reference to the amount loaned to Bayne & Co., in violation of the twenty-ninth section of the act of June 3, 1864, I would only say that the loan made under such circumstances is not void; it can be enforced as any other loan made by the bank." (Vide 31 Md., p. 396.)

III. The validity of a loan in excess of the above-named statutory restriction was established and set at rest by the decision of the United States Supreme Court in the case of Gold Mining Company vs. Rocky Mountain National Bank, 96 U. S. [6 Otto], p. 640.

LOANS ON REAL ESTATE.

I. A executed a note to B, and, to secure payment thereof, also executed a deed of trust on lands, which was in effect a mortgage, with a power of sale thereto annexed. A national bank, on the security of the note and deed, loaned money to B, who thereupon assigned them to the bank. The note not being paid at maturity, the trustee was proceeding to sell the lands pursuant to the power, when A filed a bill in chancery to enjoin the sale, upon the ground that by sections 5136–'37, Revised Statutes, the deed did not inure as a security for a loan made by the bank at the time of the assignment of said note and deed: Held, that the bank was entitled to enforce collection of the note by a sale of the lands pursuant to the power in the deed of trust. (Union National Bank of Saint Louis vs. Matthews, 98 U. S.

[8 Otto], p. 621.) Mr. Justice Miller dissented, holding the note valid, but that the deed was inoperative as security to the bank.

[NOTE.—It is now well settled that a mortgage given to secure a loan from a national bank, executed directly to the bank when the loan is made, is valid, unless set aside by proceedings instituted for that purpose by the Government. (National Bank vs. Whitney, 103 U. S., p. 99; Graham vs. National Bank, 32 N. J. Eq., p. 804; Warner vs. Dewitt, 4 Ill. App., p. 305; Thornton vs. Exchange National Bank, 71 Mo., 221.)]

LOANS ON SHARES.

I. National banks are governed by the act of 1864, which repealed the act of 1863, and cannot, therefore, make loans on the security of their own shares, unless to secure a pre-existing debt, contracted in good faith. (Bank, &c., vs. Lanier, 11 Wall., p. 369.)

II. The placing of funds by one bank on permanent deposit with another bank is a loan within the spirit of section 35 of act of 1864. (Ibid., p. 369.)

III. Loans by such banks to their shareholders do not create a lien on the shares of such borrowers. (Ibid., p. 369.)

(See, also, Bullard vs. Bank, 18 Wall., p. 580; and "BY-LAWS," supra.)

IV. But a national bank has the right to make loans on negotiable notes secured by the stock of another corporation, of marketable values. (Shoemaker vs. National Mechanics' Bank, 1 Hugh., p. 101.) The same doctrine was also held in case of Germania National Bank et al. vs. F. F. Case, receiver, &c., decided by the United States Supreme Court at its last term. It will be reported in 99 U. S.

LOCATION.

I. Under sections 6, 8, 10, 15, 18, and 44 of the original Currency Act (13 Stat. at Large, 101), respecting the location of banking associations, a national bank is to be regarded as located at the place specified in its organization certificate. If such a place is in a State, the association is located in that State. (Manufacturers' National Bank vs. Baack, 8 Blatchf., p. 137.)

OFFICERS.

I. CASHIER. The cashier is the general executive officer of a bank, having charge of its funds, notes, bills, and other choses in action. Either directly or through his subordinates he receives all moneys and notes of the bank, delivers up discounted paper when paid, draws checks to withdraw funds of the bank when deposited, and generally, as such executive officer, transacts most of the bank business. (United States vs. City Bank of Columbus, 21 How., p. 356, and numerous later decisions.)

II. But the cashier can make no declaration binding the bank not within the scope of his general powers. (Bank of Metropolis vs. Jones, 8 Pet., p. 12; S. P., 3 Watts & S., Pa., p. 317; 3 Gill [Md.], p. 96.)

III. A cashier who has made sale of corporate property, and holds a balance in his hands, is the agent of the board of directors, and not of the respective stockholders, and cannot be charged by an individual stockholder as holding such balance for his benefit. (Brown vs. Adams, 5 Biss., p. 181.)

IV. A cashier, without special authority, cannot bind his bank by an official indorsement of his individual note, and the onus is on the payee to show such authority. (West Saint Louis Savings Bank vs. Shawnee Co. Bank, 3 Dill, p. 403.)

V. Although the cashier of a bank may, in the ordinary course of business, without the action of the directors, dispose of the negotiable securities of the bank, he has not the power to pledge its assets for the payment of an antecedent debt. (State of Tennessee vs. Davis, 50 How. [N. Y.], p. 447.)

VI. A cashier has not the authority to compromise or release a claim of the bank. (Chemical Bank vs. Kohner, 8 Daley [N. Y.], p. 530.)

VII. DIRECTORS. It is the duty of directors of a bank to use ordinary diligence in acquiring knowledge of its business. They cannot be heard, when sued, to say that they were not apprised of facts the existence of which is shown by the books, accounts, and correspondence of the bank. They should control the subordinate officers of the bank in all important transactions. Therefore, under the circumstances proved in this particular case, they were held liable for the abstraction and sale of special deposits by the latter. (United Society, &c., vs. Underwood, 9 Bush [Ky.], p. 609; German Bank vs. Wulfekuhler, 19 Kansas, p. 60.)

OFFICERS—Continued.

VIII. The cashier of a national bank, who had executed no bond, embezzled its funds, discovery whereof might have been effected by use of slight diligence on the part of the directory. They, however, published, according to law, a statement of the condition of the bank, which showed that its affairs were being prudently and honestly administered, and from which the public had a right to believe that he was trustworthy. Afterwards, persons who had seen this report became sureties on the official bond of cashier, and for his subsequent embezzlements were sought to be held liable thereon: Held, that such sureties, being misled by the statement, were released. They had a right to believe that the directors, before publishing it, investigated the condition of the bank. (Graves vs. Lebanon National Bank, 10 Bush [Ky.] p. 23.)

IX. The mere fact that directors of a bank knew of and sanctioned overdrafts will not release from liability the sureties of a teller who causes a loss to the bank by permitting overdrafts; for the directors of a bank have no power to sanction overdrafts. (Market Street Bank vs. Stumpe, 2 Mo., App., 545.)

X. PRESIDENT. A guarantee against loss for signing as sureties, given by a bank president without authority from the directors, to those whom he had solicited thus to sign a note, given to the bank to retire a prior note held by it against their principal, is held to be the individual contract of the president, and not binding upon the bank. (First National Bank vs. Bennett, 33 Mich., p. 520.)

XI. A president of a bank bought the stock of A. for $1,000, and in payment gave up to A. his note for that amount, which the bank held against A.: Held, that the president exceeded his powers, and that the bank could recover from A. the amount of the note thus surrendered. (Rhoads vs. Webb, 24 Minn., p. 292.)

XII. A president of a bank, who, with the cashier, had the general charge of its business, permitted and directed the drawing of moneys from the bank by one irresponsible, without security, and for a business in which the president was interested with the party drawing the funds. He requested the cashier not to say anything of it to the directors: Held, that the president was personally responsible for the moneys thus drawn. (First National Bank of Sturgis vs. Reid, 36 Mich., p. 263.) Quere: Would not an indictment for embezzlement lie under the national-bank act?

XIII. The president of a bank, as such, has no authority to release the claims of the bank against any one. Such authority must come from the directors, by vote or implication. (Olney vs. Chadsey, 7 R. I., p. 224.) Nor can he bind the bank to pay or become liable for a debt by his admission. (Henry vs. Northern Bank, 63 Ala., p. 527.)

XIV. In reference to what do not constitute offenses under section 5209 of the Revised Statutes (see case of United States vs. Jas. H. Britton, &c., U. S. Sup. Court, October term, 1882.)

XV. A draft indorsed by the president of the Miners' National Bank of Georgetown, Colo., payable to White or order for account of the bank: Held, that the bank could not be held on the draft, but that White was entitled to recover the money advanced for the use of the bank, as appeared by the books of the latter, whether it was advanced without consideration or upon the draft as collateral. (White vs. National Bank, 102 U. S., p. 658.)

XVI.—Authority of Bank Cashier.

A banking corporation, whose charter does not otherwise provide, may be represented by its cashier in transactions outside of his ordinary duties without his authority to do so being in writing or appearing in the records of the proceedings of the directors.

His authority may be by parol, and collected from circumstances, or implied from the conduct or acquiescence of the directors.

It may be inferred, from the general manner in which, for a period sufficiently long to establish a settled course of business, he has been suffered by the directors, without interference or inquiry, to conduct the affairs of the bank.

When, during a series of years, or in numerous business transactions, he has been permitted, in his official capacity, and without objection, to pursue a particular course of conduct, it may be presumed, as between the bank and those who in good faith deal with it upon the basis of his authority to represent the corporation, that he has acted in conformity with instructions received from those who have the right to control its operations.

That which directors ought, by proper diligence, to have known, as to the general course of the bank's business, they may be presumed to have known in any contest between the corporation and those who are justified by the circumstances in dealing with it upon the basis of that course of business. (Supreme Court of the United States, October term 1883, Martin vs. Webb.)

XVII.—LIABILITY OF CASHIER.

1. Where directors of a corporation appoint one of their number to act as treasurer, secretary, or other ministerial officer of the corporation, he is prima facie entitled to reasonable compensation for his services as such officer.

2. Where he assumes the duties of such ministerial officer upon an express contract as to compensation, such contract controls, and this, though the contract is to discharge the duties without any direct compensation in money.

3. An agent of a corporation, who, as an individual, purchases the properties of the corporation from himself as agent, cannot uphold such purchase by proof that he agreed to pay what he thought the property was worth, but is liable to the corporation for the actual value of the property so by him purchased.

4. Ratification implies knowledge, and a party cannot be adjudged to have ratified an act of which he has no knowledge, actual or constructive.

5. The doctrine that the directors of a bank are conclusively presumed to know the financial condition of the bank, its general business, and its receipts and expenditures as shown by its regular books, is for the protection of third parties dealing with the bank, and of the bank against prejudicial action of any director, and cannot be invoked to uphold a wrongful appropriation of moneys by the cashier or other officer, which appropriation is made and also entered upon the books of the bank without the actual knowledge of the directors. (Supreme Court of Kansas; The First National Bank of Fort Scott vs. Drake.)

6. It is no defense to an action brought by a bank against its late cashier for a wrongful appropriation of moneys, that at the time of such appropriation he was the owner of four-fifths of the stock of the bank, and has since that time sold all of said stock to other parties, who are now the officers and managing authority of the bank.

POST-NOTES.

I. Certificates of deposit, payable at a fixed future day, held to be equivalent to post-notes, and therefore void, as prohibited by a State law.
(See, ante, Title "DEPOSITS, CERTIFICATES OF," IV, and cases there cited.)

POWER OF ATTORNEY TO COLLECT PAYMENT OF GOVERNMENT BOND.

A power of attorney authorizing an agent to "sell and assign" a Government bond "called" for payment gives authority to the agent to assign to the Secretary of the Treasury for redemption, and to receive in payment a draft drawn by the Treasurer of the United States to the agent by name, who can indorse it for collection or payment. (Decision by United States Comptroller Lawrence.)

RECEIVERS.

I. The receiver of a national bank is the instrument of the Comptroller, and may be removed by him. (Kennedy vs. Gibson, 8 Wall., p. 505.)

II. Such receiver is the statutory assignee of the assets of the bank, and may sue to collect the same in his own name, or in the name of the bank for his use. (Ibid., p. 506.)

III. In such suit it is not necessary to make the bank or creditors parties. (Ibid., p. 506.)

IV. The receiver of a national bank represents such bank and its creditors, but he in no sense represents the United States Government, and cannot subject the Government to the jurisdiction of any court. (Case vs. Terrill, 11 Wall., p. 199.)

V. The decision of a receiver, rejecting a claim against his bank, is not final. Claimant may still sue. (Bank of Bethel vs. Pahquioque Bank, 14 Wall., p. 383.)

VI. The clause of section 50, act of 1864, which prescribes that the receiver shall be "under the direction of the Comptroller," means only that he shall be subject to his direction, not that he shall not act without orders. He may and must collect the assets. That is what he is appointed for. (Bradley J., in Bank vs. Kennedy, 17 Wall., pp. 22–3.)

RECEIVERS—Continued.

VII. Receivers of national banks are officers of the United States, within the meaning of the act of Congress of March 3, 1815, giving United States courts jurisdiction of actions by United States officers, and may sue in such courts. (Platt, receiver, &c., vs. Beach, 2 Ben., p. 303.)

[NOTE.—The judge places stress upon the provision of section 31 of the act of 1864, which requires (in that particular instance) that the Secretary of the Treasury shall concur in the appointment of the receiver.]

VIII. Receiver not liable to be sued on a claim against the bank.

(See Title "JURISDICTION," V, ante.)

IX. The personal assets and personal property of an insolvent national bank in the hands of a receiver appointed by the Comptroller of the Currency, in accordance with the provision of section 5234 of the Revised Statutes, in legal contemplation still belong to the bank, though in the hands of the receiver to be administered under the law. The bank does not cease to exist on appointment of the receiver. Its corporate capacity continues until its affairs are finally wound up and its assets distributed. (Rosenblatt vs. Johnston, Chief Justice Waite, United States Supreme Court, October term, 1881.)

X. A new receiver may be substituted as plaintiff and appellant in suits begun by his predecessor. (Orson Adams, substituted for George E. Bowden, receiver, vs. Jacob C. Johnson and Belsey Valentine, United States Supreme Court, October term, 1882.) This case was appealed from the United States circuit court of New Jersey. When the bill was dismissed in the lower court, a new receiver had been appointed. The appeal was taken in the name of the old receiver, the new receiver becoming surety on the appeal bond. In the Supreme Court a motion on the part of the appellees to dismiss the appeal on the ground that no appeal was lawfully taken was denied, and a motion on the part of appellant to substitute new receiver as plaintiff and appellant was granted.

SET-OFF.

I. In an action brought to enforce the individual liability of a shareholder of an insolvent bank, such shareholder cannot set off against such liability the amount due to him as a creditor of the bank. (Garrison vs. Howe, 17 N. Y., p. 458: In re Empire City Bank, 18 N. Y., p. 199.)

[NOTE.—Though these cases were decided by a State tribunal (New York court of appeals), and the rulings were based upon provisions of a State constitution and a State statute, yet the principle they enunciate is recognized and fully affirmed in Sawyer vs. Hoag, 17 Wall., p. 610, and Scammon vs. Kimball, 2 Otto, p. 342. See, also, Venango National Bank vs. Taylor, 56 Pa., p. 14.]

II. A creditor of an insolvent national bank, being such at date of its suspension, may set off the amount of his claim against any claim held by the bank against him at the same date; as, for example, his note, even though such note had not then matured. (Berry vs. Brett, 6 Bos. [N. Y.], p. 627; New Amsterdam Savings Bank vs. Gartter, 54 How. [P. R.], p. 385; Platt, receiver, vs. Bentley, 11 Am. Law Register, p. 171; Hade, receiver, vs. McVay, 31 O. St., p. 231; same case, Brown's National Bankrupt Cases, p. 353; and see the cases cited on p. 357, viz, 56 Maine, 167; 1 Paige [N. Y.], p. 444; 12 Gray [Mass.], p. 233.)

III. Usurious interest paid cannot be set off. (Hade vs. McVay, 31 O. St., p. 231; Barnet vs. National Bank, 98 U. S., p. 555.)

IV. The United States cannot set off an indebtedness to itself from a national bank against the surplus proceeds of bonds deposited by said bank as security for its circulation. (Cook Co. National Bank, and Aug. H. Burley, receiver of said bank, appellants, vs. United States. U. S. Supreme Court, October term, 1882.)

[NOTE.—This was on the grounds that the bonds are a trust, and a trustee cannot set off, against the funds held by him in that character, his individual demand against the grantor of the trust.]

SHAREHOLDERS.

I. GENERAL RULES.—A person is presumed to be the owner of stock when his name appears on the books of a company as a stockholder; and when he is sued as such the burden of disproving such presumption is cast upon him. (Turnbull vs. Payson, 95 U. S. [5 Otto], p. 418.)

II. Shareholders have no standing in court to interfere for the protection of their company until the board of directors has neglected, or refused on application, to take the proper steps to protect the interests of the company. (Fifth National Bank, &c., vs. Railroad Co., 2 Thomp. Cases, p. 190.)

SHAREHOLDERS—Continued.

III. Shares of stock in a national bank are saleable and transferable like other personal property: and the statute recognizes this transferability by authorizing each association to prescribe the manner of their transfer. (Johnston vs. Lafflin, 103 U. S., per Field, J., on p. 803.)

IV. This power can only go to the extent of prescribing conditions essential to the protection of the association against fraudulent transfers, or such as are designed to evade just responsibility. It must be exercised reasonably. Transfer cannot be clogged with useless restrictions, nor be made dependent on the consent of directors or stockholders. (Ibid.)

V. As between the parties to a sale, it is enough that the certificate of stock is delivered, with authority to the purchaser, or any one he may name, to transfer it on the books of the association, and payment of the price. (Ibid., p. 804.)

VI. The entry of the transaction on the books of the association is required, not for the translation of title, but for the protection of parties and others dealing with the bank, to enable the bank to know who are its stockholders, entitled to vote and receive dividends. It is necessary to protect the seller against subsequent liability as stockholder, and perhaps also to protect the purchaser against proceedings by creditors of the seller. (Ibid., Field, J., p. 804.)

VII. When a national bank reduces its capital, each shareholder is entitled to a return of his proportional amount, and the bank cannot retain the funds as surplus, or for any other purpose; and having refused to permit shares thus retired to be transferred on its books, the bank is liable for the value of the shares to the holders. (Secley vs. New York National Exchange Bank, 4 Abb. New Cases, p. 61.)

VIII. INDIVIDUAL LIABILITY OF.—The Comptroller must decide when and for what amount the personal liability of the shareholders of an insolvent national bank shall be enforced. (Kennedy vs. Gibson, 8 Wall., p. 505.)

IX. His decision as to this is conclusive. Shareholders cannot controvert it. (Ibid., p. 505; Casey vs. Galli, 94 U. S. [4 Otto], p. 673; Germania National Bank et al. vs. Case, receiver, U. S. Supreme Court, 99 Otto, p. 628.

[NOTE.—These cases are decisive against the ruling in Bowden vs. Morris, 1 Hugh., p. 378.]

X. In any suit brought to enforce such personal liability, such decision of the Comptroller must be averred by the plaintiff, and, if put in issue, must be proved. (Kennedy vs. Gibson, supra.)

XI. The liability of shareholders is several, and not joint. (Ibid., p. 505.)

XII. The limit of such liabilities is the par value of the stock held by each one. (Ibid., p. 505.)

XIII. Where the whole amount is sought to be recovered, the proceeding must be at law; where less is required, the proceeding may be in equity, and in such case an interlocutory decree may be taken for contribution, and the case may stand over for the further action of the court, if such action should subsequently prove to be necessary, until the full amount of the liability is exhausted. (Ibid., p. 505.)

XIV. In such equity suit, all shareholders within the jurisdiction of the court should be made parties defendant; but it is no defense that those not within the jurisdiction are not joined. (Kennedy vs. Gibson, supra.)

XV. Suits to enforce personal liability of shareholders may properly be brought before other assets are exhausted. (Ibid., pp. 505–6.)

XVI. One Stevens bought shares in a national bank, and caused them to be transferred to one Elston, a porter in the office of his New York broker, and irresponsible. At the time of the transfer, there was no suspicion of the insolvency of the bank, and it remained in good credit for more than a year afterward: Held, that Stevens was liable as stockholder upon the failure of the bank. (Davis, receiver, vs. Stevens, 2 Thomp. Cases, p. 158, U. S. Circuit Court Southern District N. Y., per Waite, C. J.)

XVII. Where, before the failure of a bank, stock was transferred on its books to the name of an irresponsible person, for the purpose of escaping liability, and so stood at the time of the appointment of a receiver: Held, that the receiver could show who the real owner was, and that the latter was liable for the assessment. (Ibid.)

XVIII. RATABLE LIABILITY OF.—Mr. Morse, in his Treatise on Banks, &c., second edition, p. 503, states the law in substance as follows: "The liability of each stockholder is precisely for his ratable proportion of that indebtedness of the bank which is to be borne by the shareholders. It is for his share of such total indebtedness, not for his proportion of each item thereof. Neither are the solvent shareholders, or those who can be come at for collection, liable to assessment beyond the proportional amount as above stated, by reason of the insolvency or inaccessibility of others of the shareholders. Those who are solvent and accessible have not the burden of paying off the sum which is due from all together; only their own proportionate share." This theory was fully sustained by the United States Supreme Court in the case of United States vs. Knox, 102 U. S., p. 422. See also the cases there cited. When the holder of shares of national bank stock has information causing apprehension of its failure, and colludes with and transfers his shares to an irresponsible transferee to avoid liability, the transaction will be deemed to be a fraud on the creditors of the bank, and the transferor will be held to his liability. The transfer is good as between the parties, however, and only voidable by election of plaintiff. This case is one of equitable cognizance, and either party may be held liable. (Orson Adams, substituted for George E. Bowden, receiver, vs. Jacob C. Johnson and Betsey Valentine, U. S. Sup. Court, October term, 1882.)

XIX. LIABILITY OF EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, AND HEIRS OF. Where stockholder died before failure of bank, stock not having been transferred to name of administrator: Held, that the stock is not to be regarded as having been at the time of the failure the property of the administrator, in such a sense as to constitute him a shareholder within the meaning of sec. 5152, U. S. Rev. Stat., so as to limit liability of the estate to funds actually in the hands of administrator: Held, also, that the provision of the act exempting executors, administrators, and trustees from personal liability was not intended to affect the liability to assessments of estates in process of settlement, but only to prevent a personal liability from running against persons acting in a trust capacity, who had received the stock for the benefit of trust estates. (Davis vs. Weed, 44 Conn., p. 569.)

XX. The liability of a stockholder is in the nature of a contract, and as such was a personal liability, for which his estate was holden at his death. (Davis vs. Weed, supra, citing Hawthorne vs. Calef, 2 Wall., p. 22; Lowry vs. Jamen, 46 N. Y., p. 119; Bailey vs. Hollister, 26 N. Y., p. 112.)

XXI. LIABILITY OF TRUSTEE OF.—To protect trustee of stock from personal liability it must appear upon the books that he held as such trustee. (Davis vs. Essex Baptist Society, 44 Conn., p. 582.)

XXII. Creditors have a right to know who have pledged their personal liability. (Ibid.)

XXIII. If a trustee wishes to disclose his trusteeship, there is no difficulty in giving notice upon the books of the bank. If he does not do so, he is guilty of laches, for which others should not suffer. (Ibid.)

XXIV. The settlement of the affairs of an insolvent bank would be rendered a matter of great labor, expense, and delay if persons who appeared upon the books of the bank as individual stockholders were permitted to relieve themselves by proof aliunde that they held the stock as executors, guardians, or trustees. (Ibid.)

[NOTE.—The last-cited case, and Davis vs. Weed, supra, although reported in the Connecticut Reports, were decided by the United States District Court.]

XXV. LIABILITY OF TRANSFEREE OF.—The transferee of shares, when such transfer is absolute on the books of the bank, is liable to creditors to the amount of such shares, although in fact he holds them as collateral security for a loan to the shareholder who transferred them. (Hale vs. Walker, 31 Iowa, p. 614; Adderly vs. Storm, 6 Hill, p. 624; Van Riker's case, 20 Wend., p. 614; Bowden, receiver, vs. Santos et al., 1 Hugh., p. 158; Marcy vs. Clark, 17 Mass., p. 330.)

[NOTE.—In the Bankers' Magazine for January, 1875, is a notice of the case of Mann, Receiver, vs. Dr. Cheeseman, decided by Blatchford, J., in the United States Circuit Court, in New York, in which the judge held that until there was a transfer of shares on the books of the bank, the shareholder whose name there appeared was liable for the debts of the bank; that an actual sale and the signing of the ordinary power of attorney on the back of the certificate will not relieve the seller. To the foregoing rulings of State and other subordinate tribunals may now be added the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States, in Germania Bank et al. vs. Case, Receiver, already cited. The Germania National Bank of New Orleans discounted a note for the firm of Phelps, McCullough & Co. for $14,000, at ninety days, taking as part security therefor the pledge of 100 shares of the Crescent City National Bank stock, with power of attorney to the Germania cashier to transfer, sell, &c., on default in payment of the note. Phelps, McCullough & Co. failed, and the note was protested at maturity. Prior to the maturity of the note, the Crescent City Bank sustained such heavy losses that it was notoriously in bad repute in New Orleans; and yet, when the note fell due the cashier of the Germania immediately transferred to his own bank, upon the books of the Crescent City Bank, the 100 shares so pledged. Afterwards, on the same day, he transferred 76 of these shares to one Waldo, a clerk of the Germania Bank; and on the day following transferred the remainder to said Waldo. It was proved that Waldo paid nothing, was the mere agent of the Germania Bank, which still owned the 100 shares as security for the payment of said note, and that one of the principal reasons for the transfers to Waldo was the possible liability of the shareholders of the Crescent City Bank for its debts in case of insolvency Soon after, the Crescent City Bank failed. Held, per Strong, J., that the transfers to said Waldo were void as against said receiver, and that although the Germania Bank only held said shares as collateral security for the payment of said discount, it was still liable as owner for the assessment in this case ordered by the Comptroller. The opinion is able and fortified by numerous authorities. In this same case, at a former term, upon a motion to dismiss the appeals of certain of the appellants, the Supreme Court recognized the right of the Comptroller to make an additional assessment, if deemed necessary; and for this reason sustained the appeals, holding that the matter in dispute was, or might be, over $5,000, although the decrees appealed from were severally less than that amount. The assessment was for 70 per cent.]

(See, also, Pullman vs. Upton, 96 U. S. [6 Otto], p. 328, as to liability of transferee.)

XXVI. Where a shareholder of a corporation is called upon to respond to a liability as such, he is not permitted to deny the existence of such corporation. (B. U. Keyser, Receiver, vs. Jane C. Hitz, Supreme Court D. C., June 26, 1883.)

XXVII. Under married woman's act, D. C., where during marriage a married woman acquires bank stock otherwise than from her husband, both her title and liability are absolute. (Ibid.) Where she acquires it from her husband, she holds it with a qualified property in her husband. It is liable as a chose en action to be reduced to his possession. (Ibid.) Where a woman holding savings-bank stock acquired by deed or gift from her husband agrees, with his consent, to convert the stock into national-bank stock, and although still holding it subject to his marital rights, she is liable to assessment as a stockholder and must pay such assessment from her estate. (Ibid.) If the transfer to her and the subsequent conversion were without her knowledge, it might be otherwise.

XXVIII. The liability incurred by a holder of national bank stock is statutory and not by contract. Being so it attaches, as an incident of ownership, to all who are capable of such ownership, without reference to any supposed voluntary assumption by contract, express or implied. Therefore when national-bank stock is held by a femme covert either in her own right or subject to the marital rights of her husband, the liability to be assessed affects her alone, and it is not necessary, in an action to enforce collection of an assessment, to join her husband, as would be necessary if it were a common-law obligation or liability of the wife. (Ibid.)

XXIX. PLEDGE TO A NATIONAL BANK OF ITS OWN SHARES AS SECURITY.—Where a national bank made a loan upon the pledge of its own shares and afterward sold the shares to obtain payment of the loan which exceeded the amount realized from the shares: Held, that the owner of the shares could not, on the ground that the statute forbids a national bank to take its own shares as security, recover from the bank the amount realized upon the sale of the shares. (Supreme Court of the United States. First National Bank vs. Stewart.)

SHAREHOLDER'S RIGHT TO SUE.

I. In an action by a shareholder of a national bank charging the directors with misconduct, if the complaint fails to show a demand on the Comptroller for and his refusal of a direction to the receiver to bring suit, it is bad, and the action must fail; though it is said that if the Comptroller, in a proper case, should thus refuse, probably the stockholders could sue, making the bank a proper party. (Brinkerhoff vs. Bostwick, 23 Hun. [N. Y.], 237.)

[NOTE.—In a suit at law in New Jersey, by one Ackerman, a shareholder, against Halsey, president of the Mechanics' National Bank, it was by Mr. Justice Depue Held, 1st. That a suit under section 5239 of the national-bank act, to enforce the liability of a director for misconduct, should be brought by the corporation, or, when in the hands of a receiver, by him. 2d. That in the event of the improper refusal of the corporation or receiver to sue, one or more shareholders might institute a suit; but in such instances the suit should be for the benefit of all shareholders, making the bank or receiver a proper party, and, of course, the proceedings should be, not at law, but in equity.]

II. ACTION BY SHAREHOLDERS AGAINST BANK OFFICER FOR MISMANAGEMENT.—An action will not lie by a stockholder in a national bank against the president and directors for their neglect and mismanagement of the affairs of the bank, whereby insolvency ensued and the stock became worthless. (New Jersey Supreme Court. Conway vs. Halsey.)

SHARES OF STOCK.

I. A national bank whose certificates of stock specify that the shares are transferable on the books of the bank on surrender of the certificates, and not otherwise, and which suffers a shareholder to transfer without such surrender, is liable to a bona fide transferee, for value of same stock, who produces such certificate with usual power of attorney to transfer; and this is so though no notice had been given to the bank of the transfer. (Bank vs. Lanier, 11 Wall., p. 369.)

II. Shares are quasi negotiable. (Ibid., p. 369.)

III. Stock of an incorporated company is chose in action. (B. U. Keyser vs. Jane C. Hitz, Sup. Court D. C., June 26, 1883.)

IV. The creditors of a shareholder in a national bank sued him in the place where the bank was located, and attached his stock, obtained judgment, sold the shares on execution, and on the sheriff's certificate the bank transferred the stock to purchasers. It appears that a year previous to this action the owner had assigned them to D, with power of attorney to make the transfer, and, January, 1869, D assigned them to S for full consideration, power of attorney, &c. S went to bank to make the transfer. The bank refusing, he brought suit and recovered judgment. The judge held that where there are no positive provisions of law making transfers without public notice void as against attaching creditors, such creditors take their debtor's property subject to honest and bona fide liens and equitable transfers. (Scott vs. Pequonnock Nat'l Bank, U. S. Circuit Court S. D. N. Y.)

V. ASSIGNMENT OF BANK STOCK NOT TRANSFERRED ON BANK BOOKS.—The by-laws of the Eliot National Bank provided that its stock should be assignable only on the books, and that when the stock was transferred the certificate should be returned and canceled, and a new one issued. The owner of stock assigned his certificate with power of attorney to the Continental National Bank as collateral security for a loan: Held, that this assignment to the latter bank was valid against an attachment of the stock by the former bank in an action by it against the owner of the stock. (United States Circuit Court, Mass., May 21, 1881; Continental National Bank vs. Eliot National Bank.)

SURPLUS FUND.

I. Where the shares of a national bank are assessed for taxation at their par value, the surplus fund of such bank, in excess of the amount required by law to be kept on hand, is taxable. (First National Bank vs. Peterborough, 56 N. H., p. 38.) But when such shares are assessed at their market value, and the amount of such surplus is taken into account in estimating such market value, it is not taxable. (State vs. City of Newark, 10 Vroom [N. J.], p. 380.)

II. Neither a dividend which has been declared, nor a portion of capital of a national bank remaining after a reduction has been made, can be retained by the directors to constitute a surplus fund. (Seeley vs. New York National Exchange Bank, 4 Abb. [N. Y.], p. 61.)

III. The surplus fund which a national bank is required, by section 5199, U. S. Revised Statutes, to reserve from its net profits, is not excluded in the valuation of its shares for taxation. (Strafford National Bank vs. Dover, 2 Thomp. Cases, p. 296, Sup. Court N. H., following National Bank vs. Commonwealth, 9 Wall., p. 353; People vs. Commissioners, 94 U. S., p. 415.)

TAXATION.

I. BY LICENSE.—The District of Columbia imposed a license tax on all the national banks in the District, the rate being 50 cents annually on each $1,000 of the capital invested. The Citizens' National Bank refused to pay this assessment, and a test case was made in the District criminal court, Mr. Justice MacArthur presiding. This court, after full argument, held the tax illegal and void, as being contrary to the mode of taxation prescribed by Congress, which mode was held to be exclusive. This ruling of Judge MacArthur is fully sustained by the supreme court of Missouri. (Carthage vs. Carthage National Bank, 71 Mo., 508; also by National Bank of Titusville vs. Cadwell, U. S. Dist. Court, West. Dist. Pa., Fed. Reporter, XIII, p. 429.)

TAXATION—Continued.

II. OF INSOLVENT BANKS.—A tax levied upon the property of a national bank, subsequent to its insolvency, is subordinate to the rights of a receiver, even though he be appointed after such levy. (Woodward vs. Ellsworth, 4 Colo., p. 590.)

(See Title "SURPLUS FUND," supra.)

III. OF INTEREST AND DIVIDENDS.—Under the internal-revenue act of July, 1870, interest paid and dividends declared during the last five months of 1870 are taxable, as well as those declared during the year 1871. (Blake vs. National Banks, 23 Wall., p. 307.)

IV. OF SHARES OF STOCK.—The act of 1864, rightly construed, subjects the shares of the association in the hands of shareholders to taxation by the States, under certain limitations set forth in section 41, without regard to the fact that part or the whole of the capital of such association is invested in national securities, which are declared by law exempt from State taxation. (Van Allen vs. Assessors, 3 Wall., 573. Chase, C. J., and other judges dissented.)

V. Act thus construed is constitutional. (Ibid., p. 573.)

VI. A certain statute of New York, which taxed shares of national-bank stock, declared void, because shares of State banks were not taxed, although their capital was; the act of Congress prescribing that shares of national banks shall be taxed only as shares of State banks are. (Ibid., p. 573. The ruling as to taxing shares of stock reaffirmed in Bradley vs. People, 4 Wall., p. 459; National Bank vs. Commonwealth, 9 Wall., p. 353.)

VII. In last case, Held, that a State law requiring the cashier to pay the tax was valid. Held, also, that a certain State tax law virtually taxed "shares of moneyed corporations," &c. (Ibid., p. 353.)

VIII. Section 5219 of United States Revised Statutes applies to and includes as well the valuation of shares for taxation as the rate of tax to be imposed, and prohibits a State from discriminating, detrimentally to a national bank, as to either valuation or rate. Therefore, a statute of the State of New York which permitted a party, when being assessed, to deduct his just debts from the value of all his personal property, save such as was invested in shares of national-bank stock, was held void as to taxation of such shares. (People vs. Weaver, U. S., p. 539, overruling the judgment of New York court of appeals in same cause.)

IX. So in another case, where local assessors valued all other property below its cash worth, but assessed shares of national-bank stock at par or their full value: Held, that the tax upon shares thus assessed was invalid, and that, upon payment of the amount justly assessable, a court of equity would enjoin collection of the residue. (Pelton vs. Commercial National Bank of Cleveland, 101 U. S., p. 143.)

X. Where it appeared that throughout a portion of Ohio, including Lucas County, and perhaps all over the State, a settled rule with the equalizing officers was to value real estate and ordinary personal property at one-third of their worth, while moneyed capital was fixed at three-fifths, and the State board of equalization, without changing the valuation thus made of real estate and ordinary personalty, assessed national-bank shares at par: Held, that such unequal valuation was in violation of the constitutional rights of such shareholders; and, on payment of the tax justly due, equity would enjoin collection of the residue. (Cummings vs. Merchants' National Bank of Toledo, 101 U. S., p. 153.)

XI. Shares of stock in national banks are personal property, and though in one sense incorporeal, the law which created them could separate them from the person of their owner for taxation, and give them a situs of their own. (Tappan, collector, vs. Bank, 19 Wall., p. 490.)

XII. Section 41 did thus separate them and give them a situs of their own. (Ibid., p. 490.)

XIII. This provision of the national currency act became a law of the property (in shares), and every State in which a bank was located acquired jurisdiction, for taxation, of all the shares, whether owned by residents or non-residents, and power to legislate accordingly. (Ibid., p. 490.)

XIV. Under the act of Congress of February 10, 1868, enacting that each State legislature may direct the manner of taxing all shares of stock of national banks located within the State, subject to the restriction that the taxation shall not be greater than the rate assessed upon other moneyed capital in the hands of individual citizens of such State, and of a certain act of the legislature of Pennsylvania, which provides that such shares shall be assessed for school, municipal, and local purposes at the same rate as is now or may hereafter be assessed and imposed upon other moneyed capital in the hands of individual citizens of the State: Held, that shares of national-bank stock may be valued for taxation for county, school, municipal, and local purposes at an amount above their par value. (Hepburn vs. School Directors of the Borough of Carlisle, 23 Wall., p. 480.)

[NOTE.—In this case it appeared that Hepburn owned several thousand dollars of national-bank stock, the par value of which was $100 per share, and that it was valued for taxation, for a school tax, at $150 per share. This assessment was held valid, notwithstanding that by a certain act of the State legislature, applicable to the county of Cumberland, in which the borough of Carlisle was situated, certain specified kinds of moneyed obligations were exempt from taxation except for State purposes.]

XV. The rate of taxation of shares of a national bank by a State should be the same as, or not greater than, that upon the moneyed capital of the individual citizen which is liable to taxation; that is, no greater in proportion or percentage of tax on the valuation of shares should be levied than upon other moneyed taxable capital in the hands of the citizen. (People vs. The Commissioners, &c., 4 Wall., p. 256.)

XVI. The act of Congress approved June 3, 1864 (R. S., sec. 5219), was not intended to curtail the power of the States on the subject of taxation, or to prohibit the exemption of particular kinds of property, but to protect the corporations formed under its authority from unfriendly discrimination by the States in the exercise of their taxing power. (Adams vs. Nashville, 95 U. S. [5 Otto], p. 19. See, also, Saint Louis National Bank, National Bank of the State of Missouri, Third National Bank, Valley National Bank, and Merchant's National Bank of Saint Louis vs. Papin, in United States circuit court, eastern district of Missouri, September term, 1876. Also, Gallatin National Bank of New York vs. Commissioners of Taxes, supreme court of New York, first department, general term, November, 1876. These latter cases are published in the Bankers' Magazine for December, 1876.)

XVII. OF TOWN AND CITY NOTES, ETC.—Section 3441, U. S. Revised Statutes, which enacts that every national bank, State bank, or banker, or association shall pay a tax of ten per centum on the amount of notes of any town, city, or municipal corporation paid out by them, imposes the taxes thus laid, not on the notes, but on their use as a circulating medium, and is therefore constitutional. (National Bank vs. United States, 101 U. S., p. 1.)

XVIII. When by a State statute the citizen may have the amount of his indebtedness deducted from the total value of his personal property, thus ascertaining the amount of his personal estate subject to taxation, and a subsequent statute relating to taxation of bank shares makes no provision for such deduction, the latter statute is nevertheless the valid rule for assessing such shares in all instances where there are no debts to be deducted. That the latter statute does not authorize a deduction for debts does not invalidate it, except as to that distinct and separable principle.

XIX. Under such statutes assessments of bank shares where there are no debts to deduct are valid. Even in cases of assessments where debts exist, which should be deducted, but are not, the assessments are avoidable only, not void. (Supervisors of Albany vs. Stanley, U. S. Supreme Court, April, 1882. Fed. Reporter, Vol. XII, p. 82.)

XX. Johnston vs. U. S. Court of Claims, December 1, 1881. Under section 22 of the act of March 3, 1869, relative to abatement of taxes versus insolvent national banks. Semi-annual taxes are expected to come out of profits of the bank, and, thus reducing dividends, they are a tax on the proprietors of the institution, not on the depositors. (Court of Claims Reports, vol. 17, 158.)

XXI. In the two following cases, one in California and one in Alabama, it was decided in each instance that the particular form of discrimination under the laws and regulations of the State was contrary to the Federal law permitting the taxation of national-bank shares by States. (Pollard vs. Zuber, 65 Ala., 635, Miller vs. Heilbrun, 58 Cal., 133.)

TRANSFERS OF ASSETS.

I. A preference of one creditor to another, within the meaning of section 5242 Revised Statutes, is a preference given by the bank to secure or pay a pre-existing debt. Where a person, knowing that a national bank is embarrassed, makes to it a loan, taking as security therefor a pledge of part of the assets of the bank, this transfer does not give him the preference prohibited by the statute. (Casey vs. Le Société de Crédit Mobilier, 2 Woods, p. 77.)

TRANSFERS OF ASSETS—Continued.

II. WHEN NOT BINDING.—Under said section 5242, which declares void transfers of its property by a national bank, made in contemplation of insolvency, and with a view to give a preference to one creditor over another, or with a view to prevent the application of the assets of the bank in the manner prescribed by law, such a transfer is void if the insolvency is in the contemplation of the bank making the transfer, although the party to whom it is made does not know or contemplate the insolvency of the bank. (Case, Receiver, vs. Citizens' Bank, 2 Woods, p. 23.)

III. As to when a pledge of assets, even when intended as security for a loan to a national bank, will be held invalid as against general creditors, see the cases of Casey, Receiver, vs. Le Société de Crédit Mobilier; Same vs. National Park Bank; Same vs. Schuchardt, 96 U. S. [6 Otto], pp. 467, 492, 494.

TRUSTEES, ETC.

I. A trustee transferred sureties to the Merchants' Bank of Boston as collateral for money advanced and lost in speculation. The Massachusetts Supreme Court compelled the bank to restore the collateral, some $40,000, to the plaintiff, a lady, on the ground that the stocks and bonds were transferred under such circumstances as to put the bank on inquiry.

ULTRA VIRES.

I. WHAT IS.—National banks cannot sell railroad bonds for third parties on commission, or engage in business of that character. (Susan Weckler vs. First National Bank of Hagerstown, Court of Appeals of Maryland, 42 Md., p. 581.)

II. In an action of deceit against a national bank, for alleged false representations of its teller in the sale to plaintiff of certain railroad bonds: Held, that the selling of such bonds on commission was not within the authorized business of a national bank, and being thus beyond the scope of its corporate powers, the defense of ultra vires was open to it, and it was not responsible for the deceit of its teller. (Ibid.)

III. A national bank has no inherent power to act as agent in the purchase of bonds or stocks for third persons, and its president cannot bind it by an agreement so to act without special authority. (First National Bank of Allentown vs. Hoch, 89 Penn., p. 324.) Quere: If the bank has no such inherent power, how can it confer "special authority" on the president?

[NOTE.—Whether the purchase of promissory notes by a bank empowered to discount them is ultra vires, is a question upon which the adjudications are in conflict. That such purchase is valid, see Pape vs. Capital Bank of Topeka, 20 Kans., p. 440; Smith vs. Exchange Bank, 26 O., p. 141, &c. Per contra, see Farmers and Mechanics' Bank vs. Baldwin, 23 Minn., p. 198; First National Bank of Rochester vs. Pierson, 1 Thomp. Cases, p. 673. There is much in the point that if a national bank can purchase promissory notes, it can do so for such price as the seller may be willing to take; and thus the prohibitions as to usury may be practically nullified. But further, why should not the rule "expressio unius est exclusio alterius" control? In National Bank vs. Johnson, 104 U. S. 271, the United States Supreme Court held that a national bank may purchase business paper (promissory notes) when the transaction amounts in law, to a discount, but expressly leaves undecided the question whether such bank can buy such paper "indorsed without recourse," or transferred by delivery only. (See the closing paragraph of opinion.)]

IV. WHAT IS NOT.—A national bank took a lien upon real estate to secure a pre-existing debt. Afterward the bank paid $500 to discharge a prior lien upon the land, taking a note and mortgage on land in Kansas to secure this advance. Lien and mortgage held valid and warranted by law. (Ornn vs. Merchants' National Bank, 16 Kans., p. 341.)

V. A chattel mortgage taken by a national bank to secure a pre-existing debt is valid, and will be enforced. (Spofford vs. First National Bank, 37 Iowa, p. 181.)

VI. A bank organized under the national bank act has power to sell any immovable it may own, and may reserve a mortgage and vendor's privilege (lien) thereon. (New Orleans National Bank vs. Raymond, 29 La. Annual, p. 355.)

VII. It would seem that where a national bank had realized the consideration agreed upon for its guarantee of the paper of another, the doctrine of estoppel in pais precludes such bank from asserting that such guarantee is ultra vires. (People's Bank vs. National Bank, 101 U. S., p. 181.)

VIII. A national bank has corporate power to enter into an agreement with a customer to exchange for him non-registered for registered United States bonds; and it is bound by an agreement to that effect, made for a sufficient consideration by its cashier. (Yerkes vs. National Bank, 69 N. Y., p. 382.)

(See, also, Title "DEPOSITS, SPECIAL," ante.)

IX. A township in Vermont issued its bonds with interest coupons attached. Each coupon contained an express promise to pay, &c. A national bank bought of these bonds, and sued the township in assumpsit, on unpaid coupons: Held, that the action was in due form, and that a national bank could legally buy, hold, and sue upon such bonds and upon the coupons. (North Bennington Bank vs. Bennington, 16 Blatchf., p. 53.)

USURY.

I. State laws relative to usury do not apply to national banks. (Farmers and Mechanics' National Bank vs. Dearing, 1 Otto, p. 29.)

II. The only forfeiture declared by the 30th section of the act of June 3, 1864 (Revised Statutes, section 5198), is of the entire interest which the note or bill carries with it, or which has been agreed to be paid thereon, when the rate knowingly reserved or charged by a national bank is in excess of that allowed by that section; and no loss of the entire debt is incurred by such bank as a penalty or otherwise, by reason of the provision of the usury law of a State. (Farmers and Mechanics' National Bank vs. Dearing, above cited; National Exchange Bank vs. Moore, 2 Bond, p. 170; Barnett vs. National Bank, 98 U. S. [8 Otto], p. 555.)

III. If usurious interest has been paid to a national bank, twice the amount of interest thus paid may be recovered from such bank by the person paying the same, or his legal representative; but as this provision of the statute is penal and the same statute prescribes how such recovery may be had, no other remedy can be resorted to. It must be recovered, if at all, in a suit in the nature of an action of debt. That the borrower from a national bank has paid usurious interest can avail him nothing, as a defense, or by way of a set-off, when sued for the amount of the loan by the bank. (Barnett vs. National Bank, above cited.)

(See Title "INTEREST," ante.)

IV. While the national-bank act prescribes penalties for usury, it does not make the contract (e. g. contract of indorser) void; and for the court so to decide would be to add a penalty not imposed by the statute. This the court will not do. (Oates vs. First National Bank of Montgomery, 100 U. S., p. 239.

V. The assignee in bankruptcy of a borrower from a national bank may sue for and recover the penalty for having received usurious interest. (Wright vs. First National Bank of Greensburg, 2 Thomp. Cases, p. 138, U. S. Cir. Court, Indiana.)

VI. The exacting of usurious interest by a national bank, upon the discount of a note, works a forfeiture of interest accruing after, as well as before, the maturity of the note. (National Bank of Uniontown vs. Stauffer, 2 Thomp. Cases, p. 178, U. S. Cir. Court, Western District Penn.)

VII. There are no State banks of issue in this State entitled to receive more than six per cent. interest, consequently national banks cannot contract for or receive a higher rate than six per cent. Where money is recoverable under a statute that makes no provision for interest none can be recovered. (Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, Columbia National Bank vs. Bletz.)

A person who procures the discount by a national bank of promissory notes of others, held by him, he indorsing the same, at an unlawful rate of interest, may maintain an action to recover back from the bank twice the amount of such interest, under the provisions of the United States Revised Statutes, section 5198, giving the right to such an action, and this, notwithstanding the transaction, would not, under the law of the State where the bank is located, be usurious if between private persons. (United States Supreme Court, December 12, 1881. National Bank of Gloversville vs. Johnson.)

VISITORIAL POWERS.

I. Section 5241 U. S. Rev. Stats. prohibits a State court from compelling officers of a national bank to produce the bank books for the purpose of ascertaining facts upon which to impose a State tax upon the deposits of depositors. (National Bank of Youngstown vs. Hughes, Auditor, &c., 2 Thomp. Cases, p. 176, U. S. Cir. Court, N. Dist. Ohio.)
