REPORT OF
THE COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF THE COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY,
Washington, December 2, 1895.

SIR: I have the honor, pursuant to law, to herewith submit for the consideration of Congress the report of the Comptroller of the Currency for the year ended October 31, 1895, constituting the thirty-third made since the creation of the Bureau. In accordance with the provisions of the act prescribing the duties of the Comptroller it exhibits:

First. A summary of the state and condition of every association from which reports have been received during the preceding year, with an abstract of the whole amount of banking capital returned by them, the amount of their debts and liabilities, the amount of their circulating notes outstanding, their total resources, and the amount of lawful money held by them at the time of the several calls made upon them during the year, together with such other information as is deemed necessary and useful to be given.

Second. A statement exhibiting, under appropriate heads, the resources, liabilities, and condition of the banks, banking companies, and savings banks organized under the laws of the several States and Territories.

Third. A statement of the associations whose business has been closed during the year, with the amount of their circulation redeemed and outstanding.

Fourth. Suggested amendments to the law by which it is believed the system may be improved.

In addition thereto it has been deemed advisable to incorporate the result of inquiries undertaken under the auspices of this office, showing briefly the various systems of banking in operation in foreign countries and in the States and Territories comprising the Union. The information thus obtained, though, in a number of instances, incomplete and imperfect, will be of benefit in a measure, at least, in giving a better knowledge of the different methods employed to facilitate commercial exchanges and sustain a bank-note circulation.

The records of this office show that from the date of the granting of the first certificate of authority on June 20, 1863, to the close of the year embraced in this report the total number of national banks organized has been 5,023, making an average for each year of 152. Of this total number there were in active operation on October 31 last 3,715, having an authorized capital stock of $664,136,915, represented by 285,190 shareholders, making for each bank in the system an average capital stock of $178,772, the number of shares to each 2,136, and shareholders 77. The total amount of their circulating notes outstanding was $213,887,630. Of this amount $190,180,961 was secured by United States bonds and $23,706,669 by lawful money deposited with the Treasurer of the United States.

The net increase in the amount of circulation secured by bonds during the year was $10,779,597, and the gross increase in the total circulation $6,322,540.

On September 28, 1895, the date of their last report of condition, the total resources of the 3,712 banks then reporting was $3,423,629,343.63. of which $2,059,408,402.27 represented their loans and discounts and $356,577,580.61 money of all kinds in bank.

Of their liabilities, $1,701,653,521.28 represented individual deposits, $336,888,350.86 surplus and net undivided profits, and $182,481,610.56 outstanding circulating notes secured by bonds.

In geographical divisions the 3,715 banks in active operation are divided as follows: Two thousand nine hundred and one, with a capital stock of $536,725,832, in the northern and northwestern half of the country, and 814, with a capital stock of $126,848,950, in the South and Southwest.

East of the Mississippi River 2,611 national banks are located, with a capital stock of $527,612,792, while 1,104, with a capital stock of $135,961,990, are west of it.

In point of number of active banks Pennsylvania, New York, Massachusetts, Ohio, Illinois, and Texas lead, with 412, 334, 268, 248, 220, and 214 respectively. Arranged according to capital stock, Massachusetts is first, with $97,017,500; New York second, with $87,136,060; Pennsylvania third, with $74,233,129; followed by Ohio, with $45,645,338; Illinois, $38,696,000, and Texas, $22,523,090.

There were organized during the report year 43 banks, located in 20 different States, with an aggregate capital stock of $4,890,000. Of this number 8 were in Pennsylvania, 5 each in New York and Texas, and 3 each in Illinois and Iowa. The number located east of the Mississippi River was 24, aggregating in capital stock $2,310,000, and west of it 19, whose combined capital stock was $2,580,000. The State of Missouri is first in amount of capital stock represented by new banks, having $1,400,000; Pennsylvania has $800,000, Ohio $550,000, New York $400,000, and Texas $350,000.

There are 28 of these banks, with a capital stock of $2,530,000, in the northern and northwestern section of the country, and 15, with a capital stock of $2,360,000, in the South and Southwest.

The number of banks organized was less than 30 per cent of the yearly average.

The corporate existence of 71 national banks in 16 States, with a capital stock of $10,662,000 and a total circulation of $3,226,275, has been extended during the year. Pennsylvania has 21; Massachusetts, 14; Maine and Vermont, 5 each; with 4 each in New York and New Jersey. Of the total capital of such banks, that in Massachusetts aggregates $3,280,000; in Pennsylvania, $2,882,000; Maine, $875,000; Vermont, $725,000.

Under the act of July 12, 1882, providing for the extension of national banks, the corporate existence of 1,607 banks, representing an aggregate capital stock of $400,193,315, has been extended. Of these, New York has 232, with a capital stock of $73,497,460; Massachusetts 227, with a capital stock of $92,492,200; Pennsylvania 199, with a capital stock of $53,086,000, followed by Ohio, with 111 and aggregated capital of $17,879,000.

The number of banks leaving the system by reason of the expiration of their corporate existence was 4, having a capital stock of $300,000 and a circulation of $123,700. Two of these were located in New York, 1 in Maine, and 1 in Pennsylvania. A new association, with a capital stock of $50,000 and circulation of $22,500, succeeded to 1 of the 2 in New York.

During the year ending October 31, 1896, the corporate existence of 28 banks, with a capital stock aggregating $3,453,800 and circulation of $1,310,400, will expire. They are located in 17 States, 5 of them being in Pennsylvania and 3 each in Illinois, New Jersey, and North Carolina. In the succeeding ten years, from 1896 to 1905, the corporate existence of 889 banks, having a capital stock of $129,694,950 and a circulation of $34,011,887, will expire.

The number of banks leaving the system during the year through voluntary liquidation was 51, having a capital stock of $6,093,100 and circulation of $1,152,000.

It has been found necessary to appoint receivers for 36 banks during the year. Their aggregate capital stock was $5,235,020 and circulation $1,003,402. Of this number 2, with a capital stock of $450,000, were reported last year as being in voluntary liquidation, and 9, with a capital stock of $2,750,000, were of the number of banks which closed their doors in 1893 and subsequently resumed business, but through continued business depression and the slow character of their assets were unable to meet their obligations, and were thus compelled to go into insolvency.

A comparison of the data of this year with that set forth in the report of this Bureau for the year 1894 shows the number of active banks to have decreased 41, with a corresponding decrease in capital stock of $6,438,120. The number of banks organized is 7 less and the number going into voluntary liquidation 28 less. There has been an increase of 15 in the number of receivers appointed and an increase of 30 in the number of extensions of corporate existence granted. The loss through expiration of charters decreased 2 and the number of banks organized to succeed expiring associations decreased 4.

The following abstracts of the reports made by the banks in response to the five calls required by law indicate the changes which have characterized the status of the banks at different periods covered by this report. In addition thereto are given abstracts of the reports of 1894 and 1893 for purposes of comparison. Those of 1893 are given as showing the extreme conditions of the year of greatest financial depression and serious banking loss.

REPORTS FOR 1895 AND 1894 COMPARED.

Summarizing the changes disclosed by a comparison of the resources and liabilities of the national banks on September 28, 1895, with those on October 2, 1894, about a year previous, the material increase in loans and discounts, and the decrease in lawful-money reserve and the amount due from reserve agents, indicate clearly the larger demand for loanable funds, further evidence of which is found on the side of liabilities in the increase in the volume of circulating notes outstanding, and in the amount of money borrowed by the banks. This further appears by the decrease in the amount due to other banks and bankers and the amount due to individual depositors, which amounts have been withdrawn from the banks where they remained idle during the period of financial depression, for investment in more profitable forms.

REPORTS OF 1893 AND 1895 COMPARED.

By comparing the figures showing the aggregate resources and liabilities of the national banks on October 3, 1893, with those of September 28, 1895, the following changes are to be noted:

On the side of resources, loans and discounts at the latter date had increased $216,000,000, United States bonds held to secure circulation $3,000,000, United States bonds held for other purposes $9,000,000, stocks, securities, etc., $47,000,000, amounts due from reserve agents $64,000,000, amounts due from other banks and bankers $35,000,000, legal-tender notes and United States certificates for these notes $22,000,000, while checks and other cash items had decreased $2,000,000, exchanges for clearing house $49,000,000, bills of other national banks $7,000,000, and specie $29,000,000.

On the side of liabilities capital stock decreased $21,000,000, undivided profits $2,000,000, national-bank circulation outstanding $1,000,000, and money borrowed in different forms $45,000,000, while amounts due to other banks and bankers increased $146,000,000, and individual deposits $250,000,000.

EARNINGS AND DIVIDENDS.

The law requiring dividend reports from national banks went into effect in March, 1869, and since that date the abstracts for semiannual periods have been incorporated in the annual reports issued by this Bureau. The number, capital, surplus, dividends, net earnings, and ratios of dividends to capital, dividends to capital and surplus, and net earnings to capital and surplus semiannually from September, 1883, to September, 1895, are shown by such abstracts. To these abstracts has been appended a table exhibiting similar information for each year ended on March 1 from 1870 to 1895.

The average annual capital and surplus for the twenty-six years were $528,256,187 and $153,611,141, respectively; the average annual dividends paid amount to $44,428,765 and the net earnings to $54,865,257. The rate per cent of dividends paid varies from 10.5 in the year ended on March 1, 1870, to 6.8 in 1894, the average for the twenty-six years being 8.4. The total amount of dividends paid and the net earnings for the period referred to are shown to amount to $1,155,147,903 and $1,426,496,670, respectively.

By means of a special circular addressed to national banks an effort has been made to ascertain what percentage of current expenses paid by the banks during the year ended September 1, 1895, was represented by taxes paid, and the result of such information as has been obtained will be found in the table appearing on the next page, showing ratios of net earnings, losses, expenses, taxes, and gross earnings, respectively, to capital and surplus for the year ended September 1, 1895.

It will be observed from this table that great variations in the figures showing these ratios appear. These variations are accounted for as follows: In the matter of taxes paid the ratio in some cases represents the tax on circulating notes only, in others to this is added taxes on real estate held, and in others again the tax on shares is paid by the banks for their shareholders, while in other cases this tax is paid by each shareholder individually and not by the bank.

While, necessarily, the rate of taxation on shares of national-bank stock varies in the different States and Territories, the explanation suggested will account for the extreme variations shown in the table. It was found impossible with the means at hand to obviate the difficulties, and to that extent the investigation was unsatisfactory. It, however, is of value in other directions, and the results are therefore given.

The variations in the ratios showing gross earnings are accounted for by the fact that in the West and Southwest rates of interest are very much higher than they are in the Eastern and Middle States, while another important feature in determining the ratio is the holding of deposits large in proportion to the capital and surplus.

The difference in ratios representing expenses are in some measure accounted for by the difference in rates of salaries paid and other expenses prevailing in different sections of the country, and also by the fact that where interest is paid upon deposits or for money borrowed by the banks the amount of this interest paid is included with the current operating expenses.

The ratios in the column of losses represent the measure of losses developed and charged off during the year, which, like the years of 1893 and 1894, has been one of severe liquidation in some sections of the country.

In referring to the ratios of net earnings, while the figures undoubtedly show that investments in shares of national banks are more profitable in some sections than in others, still it must be borne in mind that the ratios in some cases represent net earnings after taxes on shares have been paid by the banks, while in others these taxes are paid by shareholders individually, and to this extent the percentage of profit on investments in these shares is reduced.

The table herewith given sets forth the results as they were collected by this office. The statist who desires to analyze in their completeness the different items of percentage of net earnings, losses, expenses, taxes, and gross earnings of the various States and cities can supplement the information thus given by that which he can gather upon these subjects from the particular locality which he may have under consideration.

STATE BANKS AND BANKING ASSOCIATIONS.

Such information as the Comptroller has been able to obtain with respect to the resources, liabilities, and condition of banks, banking companies, and savings institutions organized under laws of the several States and Territories is herewith presented, and is substantially complete, except as to the following States: Delaware, Maryland, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, Tennessee, Nevada, Oregon, Idaho, Utah, New Mexico, Arizona, Oklahoma, and Indian Territory.

The information furnished by State officials is supplemented by the returns courteously made to this office by the bank officials doing business in the States and Territories above mentioned.

The number of banks incorporated under State authority and in active operation on or about the close of the fiscal year ended June 30, 1895, was 5,066; and the number from which reports of condition have been received is 5,033. Abstracts of these reports, tabulated by classes and States, with the sources of information indicated, will be found in the appendix.

Reports of condition have been received from 1,070 private banks and bankers and 5,033 State and savings banks and loan and trust companies, an increase of 365 over 1894.

A comparison of the returns in 1894 with those of 1893 shows a decrease in the following items: Loans, nearly $207,000,000; capital, $7,000,000; deposits, $97,000,000, and total resources, over $110,000,000.

The returns for this year show not only an increase in every item, except cash on hand, over 1894, but also an increase in corresponding items reported in 1893, prior to the monetary stringency of that year. The following statement shows the principal items of resources and liabilities of these banks in 1893, 1894, and 1895:

| Items. | 1893. | 1894. | 1895. |
| Loans | $2,348,193,077 | $2,133,628,978 | $2,417,468,494 |
| Bonds | 1,009,604,350 | 1,010,248,230 | 1,375,626,025 |
| Cash | 205,645,203 | 229,373,004 | 227,743,303 |
| Capital | 406,007,240 | 398,735,390 | 422,032,618 |
| Surplus and undivided profits | 346,206,287 | 352,424,784 | 370,397,003 |
| Deposits | 3,070,462,689 | 2,973,414,101 | 3,185,245,810 |

From the foregoing statement it will be observed that there has been an increase in 1895 over 1894 in the following items: Loans, $283,839,516; bonds and stocks, $364,777,795; capital, $23,317,228; surplus and undivided profits, $17,972,219; deposits, $211,831,709; total resources, $270,515,532; the only decrease noted being in cash items, and is only $1,629,701. The increase in 1895 over 1893 is as follows: Loans and discounts, $69,275,417; bonds and stocks, $365,421,675; cash and cash items, $22,098,100; capital, $16,045,378; surplus and net undivided profits, $24,190,716; deposits, $114,783,130; and total resources, $159,981,996.

State banks to the number of 3,774 reported, being an increase in number and capital of 188 and $5,905,722, respectively. The capital of these banks aggregates $250,341,295; deposits, $712,410,423; loans, $697,688,068; bonds and stocks, $91,988,696, and total resources, $1,147,545,818. The increase in deposits over 1894 is about $54,000,000; in loans, $26,000,000; in bonds and stocks, $7,000,000, and in total resources, $70,000,000.

Reports of dividends paid by this class of banks have been received from 928 associations, located in 24 States. The total capital of the reporting banks is $56,596,382, and the amount and average rate per cent of dividends paid, $4,088,752 and 7.2, respectively.

Savings banks to the number of 1,017, of which 664 are mutual, that is, associations conducted for the sole benefit of the depositors, and 353 stock savings banks, operated for the benefit of both shareholders and depositors, have submitted reports of condition. The resources of the stock savings banks are less than 15 per cent of those of all savings associations.

With the exception of 10 banks in Ohio, Indiana, and Wisconsin, mutual savings banks are confined to the Eastern and Middle States. Loans of this class of banks amount to $823,036,954; bonds and stocks, $801,044,935; deposits, $1,597,343,160, and total resources, $1,756,740,953. The total loans of all savings banks are $1,035,597,142; bonds and stocks, $841,807,699; deposits subject to check, $33,760,775; savings deposits, $1,810,597,023, and aggregate resources, $2,053,764,328. Comparing these items with those reported in 1894, an increase is noted in each as follows: Loans, $8,659,334; bonds and stocks, $63,219,833; deposits, $66,424,556; total resources, $73,020,139.

The number of depositors has increased 97,832, and the average amount due each depositor from $365.86 to $371.36. Interest paid to depositors varies from 3 to 4.5 per cent, the average being apparently a trifle less than 4 per cent.

The number of loan and trust companies submitting reports of condition was 242. Their loans aggregate $433,508,516; bonds and stocks, $177,086,555; capital, $108,963,905; deposits, $546,652,657, and total resources, $807,063,041.

Returns have been received from 1,070 private banks, with capital aggregating $33,281,845; deposits, $81,824,932; loans, $85,489,066; bonds and stocks, $7,276,159, and total resources, $130,617,342.

A condensed statement is herewith given for the purpose of comparison, exhibiting the principal items of resources and liabilities of each class of banks referred to:

The capital stock of national banks on July 11, 1895, and of all other banks at the date of the latest returns to this Bureau amounts to $1,080,276,798, an increase during the year of $10,450,243. The average per capita is $15.44.

The population of the United States on June 1, 1895, as estimated by the Government actuary, was 69,954,000 and the total banking funds, namely, capital, surplus, undivided profits, and deposits of national and all other banks, $6,703,544,084, making the average per capita $95.83. These funds in 1894 amounted to $6,407,003,338, being $296,540,746 less than this year.

The cash held by national banks on July 11, and by other banks at about that date, amounted to $631,111,290, classified as follows: Gold, $127,621,099; silver, $15,594,037; specie, not classified, $19,298,363; paper currency, $342,739,129; fractional currency, $1,023,442, and cash, not classified, $124,835,220.

In the appendix will be found abstracts of the reports of each class of banks, by States and geographical divisions, for the past and prior years and statistics in detail covering the subjects hereinbefore referred to. To this has also been added a summary of the condition of the Canadian banks on August 31, 1895, and the latest reports of the loan and trust companies in the District of Columbia.

INSOLVENT BANKS OTHER THAN NATIONAL.

Mr. Albert C. Stevens, editor of Bradstreet's, has courteously placed this Bureau in possession of a statement showing the number of banks other than national, and the amount of their assets and liabilities, which failed during the year ended August 31, 1895, which appears in detail in the appendix. An abstract of this information, with similar returns for 1894, is herewith given.

STATE AND NATIONAL BANKS IN THE STATE OF NEW YORK.

A question arising during the year which made it desirable to obtain information showing the relations existing between the various State banking institutions and the national banks of the State of New York, a special call was made on August 6 on the national banks for statements of balances with State, private, and savings banks and with loan and trust companies. While the information was obtained for a special purpose, the results of it are of sufficient interest to warrant the publishing of them in this report.

The returns from the 50 national banks of the city of New York showed average daily credits for the month of June of $61,380,569, due to State banking institutions, and an amount on July 11 of $54,485,412, while the daily balances due the national banks averaged for June $1,526,842, and on July 11 amounted to $1,586,258.

The 5 national banks in Brooklyn, the 6 in Albany, and the 273 located in the State outside of the cities named reported the average daily credits for June at $10,658,493, and the amount on July 11 as $11,544,328. The same banks reported daily balances due them averaging for June $1,036,998, and the amount on July 11, $1,156,401.

The total for the 334 national banks in the State averaged daily balances for these banks during June, $72,039,062; amount on July 11, $66,029,740. Average daily balances due from the State institutions for June, $2,563,840; on July 11, $2,742,659.

Included in the special call was a request for data concerning the receipts and withdrawals of every kind in which these banks participated.

For the 50 national banks in the city of New York the average daily receipts for June were $124,503,693; receipts on July 11 were $121,061,669. For the remaining 284 banks the average daily receipts for June were $11,988,577, and on July 11, $11,980,788.

Withdrawals from the 50 national banks of the city of New York for June averaged $119,308,833 a day, and on July 11, $122,769,213. Withdrawals from the 284 banks outside of New York City averaged for June $13,914,367 per day, and for July 11 were $12,006,343.

Combining all the reports for both items makes the average daily receipts of the 334 banks for June $136,492,270; withdrawals, $133,223,200; a daily balance in favor of the banks of $3,269,070, or $98,072,100 for the month. On July 11 receipts aggregated $133,042,452 and withdrawals had risen to $134,775,556, reversing the balance to $1,733,104 of withdrawals over receipts.

From these results it may be effectually argued that the interests of State and national banks are not antagonistic. No better ground for investigation could be found than in the financial center where the strongest banks of each class are competitors for business. The exhibit made not only shows how baseless is the claim of friction between them, but renders the refutation more emphatic by the very close relations which are seen to exist by the returns made.

INSOLVENT NATIONAL BANKS.

The number of banks placed in the hands of receivers during the year was 36, located in 15 States, having an aggregate capital stock of $5,235,020 and circulation of $1,003,402, of which amount $205,146 has been destroyed and $798,256 is yet outstanding. The increase thus shown over the number of receivers appointed in 1894 is due to the fact that 9 banks which closed temporarily during the stress of 1893 were unable to reduce their assets to an extent sufficient to meet their maturing obligations, and therefore passed under the administration of this office. The banks of this character, with the amount of their capital stock, are shown in the following table:

| Name of bank. | Location. | Capital. |
|------------------------------------|---------------------------|-----------|
| Citizen's National Bank | Spokane Falls, Wash | $150,000 |
| Tacoma National Bank | Tacoma, Wash | 200,000 |
| First National Bank | Port Angeles, Wash | 50,000 |
| Puget Sound National Bank | Everett, Wash | 50,000 |
| Union National Bank | Denver, Colo | 1,000,000 |
| National Bank of Kansas City | Kansas City, Mo | 1,000,000 |
| Buffalo County National Bank | Kearney, Nebr | 100,000 |
| First National Bank | San Bernardino, Cal | 100,000 |
| Kearney National Bank | Kearney, Nebr | 100,000 |
| Total | | 2,750,000 |

In addition to the number thus added were 2, the First National Bank of Ida Grove, Iowa, with a capital stock of $150,000, and the State National Bank of Denver, Colo., with a capital stock of $300,000, which had, prior to October 31, gone into voluntary liquidation, but through failure to comply with the statute were placed in the hands of receivers.

By deducting the number of the banks and the amount of the capital stock represented by them coming into the hands of receivers, under the circumstances named, the total number of receiverships for the year is reduced to 25 and the amount of capital stock involved to $2,035,020.

The following table sets forth in detail the names, location, capital stock, and condition of the assets of the failed banks of the year at the time of the appointment of receivers therefor:

RECEIVERSHIPS.

The difficulties attendant upon the liquidation of banks now in the hands of receivers have been largely augmented during the year by the character of the assets to be reduced and the complications arising from the business depression of the past two years. In the majority of instances no bank closes its doors while it is possessed of quickly convertible paper, and therefore there comes into the possession of the Comptroller only that which is slow, doubtful, bad, or absolutely worthless. It thus follows that with little or no cash received, but debts which are slow of payment and much involved in or necessitating litigation, the closing of trusts is prolonged and the expense attendant thereon increased. The records of the office, however, show that such expense, as compared with any other class of receiverships, is greatly less and the results attained far more substantial. Notwithstanding the conditions which have followed the year 1893 there were paid in dividends to creditors of failed banks in 1894 the sum of $5,124,577.94, and during the year just closed $3,380,552.65, represented by 101 dividends.

On October 31, 1894, there were 125 banks in the hands of receivers. Since then 36 receivers have been appointed, making 161 trusts open during the year; 11 trusts have been closed and 1 bank has been restored to solvency and has resumed business. This leaves 149 banks in charge of receivers on October 31, 1895.

A total of 303 banks have been under the charge of receivers. Of these, 13 have resumed business, leaving the assets of 290 to be collected and distributed under the supervision of this office.

The following data relate to 289 insolvent banks, as the report of 1 bank, for which a receiver was appointed on October 30, was not received in time to include it in this summary:

The nominal value of the assets coming into the hands of receivers was $155,825,372; scheduled as "good," $60,751,706; "doubtful," $55,888,525; "worthless," $39,185,141. In addition, receivers have recovered assets of the nominal value of $16,294,040 after taking charge of their trusts, thus increasing the assets of the insolvent banks to $172,119,412. Assessments have been ordered against the shareholders of these banks amounting to $26,770,070, making the total nominal resources of the 289 receiverships $198,889,482. The total liabilities of these banks were $107,538,151.

There have been cash collections from the assets amounting to $69,686,616, and from shareholders $10,990,861; total, $80,677,477. Offset settlements, etc., amounting to $12,904,089 have been adjusted. Assets have been sold and doubtful or worthless claims compromised, under order of court, at a loss from nominal value of $35,362,748.

Receivers of banks which have paid all claims in full have, in addition thereto, returned to shareholders $1,116,438 cash and assets of the nominal value of $4,720,995. The number of receiverships acting under the Comptroller's supervision at the close of the report year was 149, with assets of the nominal value of $50,005,200.

BANK RECEIVERSHIPS OTHER THAN NATIONAL.

During the past year an effort has been made to obtain information relative to insolvent State banks and receiverships. A large amount of correspondence was had with State officers, bank officers, bank examiners and others in order to obtain some data bearing upon the subject. While the returns have to a large degree been fragmentary, and to such extent of doubtful utility, yet it is believed that something of value may be gathered from them.

Reports, more or less defective, have been received concerning 471 banks, located in 38 States and Territories, the dates of failure going back to 1843. A large number of others were reported, but no data given that would be available in this connection. Nothing has been received from the States of Delaware, Kansas, Mississippi, Nevada, New Jersey, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Vermont, Virginia, West Virginia, Indian Territory, or the District of Columbia. The reports from New York (furnished by the New York State banking department) and from Ohio (furnished by Mr. W. A. Graham, of the Citizens Bank, Sidney, Ohio) are remarkably complete.

The amount of capital reported was $25,053,638; nominal assets, $96,154,382, and liabilities, $124,481,807. Dividends on claims already paid amount to $55,018,121, or 44 per cent. Additional dividends are estimated at $4,659,678, or 3 per cent.

It is but just to say, in this connection, that the returns from the different banks are so exceedingly meager that if correct data could be obtained from each of the banks reported the amount of dividends paid would be considerably increased. In a large number of cases no estimates were given as to future dividends, but if an estimate should be obtained based on correct data the percentage of further dividends would, it is safe to say, also be increased. A further investigation will be pursued.

The number, capital, assets, liabilities, dividends paid, etc., of banks reported are shown in the following table:

AMENDMENTS RECOMMENDED.

In the reports of this Bureau heretofore submitted have been suggested amendments to the laws governing national banks which, if made, it is believed would tend to the betterment of the system. All of the suggestions of this character for several years last past yet remain unacted upon. It is respectfully suggested that, as the General Government is in complete control of this system of banks, its legislative branch should give to the system the benefit of all proper enactments. In this view of the case the attention of Congress is again called to the following suggested amendments and action looking toward their incorporation into the banking laws strenuously urged:

First. That the Comptroller, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, be empowered in all proper cases to remove officers and directors of national banks for violations of law and mismanagement, first according them a hearing on charges preferred.

Second. That the loans of any bank to its executive officers and employes be restricted and made only upon the approval of the board of directors, a separate written record thereof being kept.

Third. That the assistant cashier in the absence of the cashier be authorized to sign the circulating notes of the bank and reports of condition.

Fourth. That some class of public officers be empowered to administer the general oaths required by the national-bank act.

Fifth. That bank examiners be required to take an oath of office and execute a bond before entering upon the discharge of their duties.

Sixth. That upon a day in each year, to be designated by the Comptroller, the directors of national banks shall be required to make an examination of the affairs of the banks and submit to the Comptroller a report thereon upon blanks to be furnished for such purpose.

Seventh. That the Comptroller be authorized to issue to national banking associations circulating notes to the par value of the bonds deposited by them with the Treasurer of the United States to secure such notes.

Eighth. That the semiannual tax levied on account of the circulating notes of national banks be reduced so as to equal but one-fourth of 1 per cent per annum.

In support of all of the foregoing suggestions, excepting the sixth one, reasons have in previous reports been given. Amendment six is deemed advisable that directors of national banks may be compelled to know from an examination required at their hands of the condition of the banks in whose management they participate and for which they should bear a full share of responsibility. Such a law would lead to better banking methods, less carelessness in extending loans, and make less liable the long continuance of any dishonesty which might be undertaken by any executive officer or employé of banks. It would also enable the Comptroller, in case of the failure of any national bank, to fix the responsibility more clearly for negligence of duty on the part of directors.

The issuing of circulating notes to the par value of bonds deposited to secure the same and the reducing of the per cent of semiannual tax levied upon such notes has been urged by all the Secretaries of the Treasury who have touched upon the subject at all and by every Comptroller from the time of and including Comptroller Knox. The provision of the law prohibiting the former and the provision of the law governing the amount of the latter, however, are still unchanged upon the statute book.

At a time when the desire is so frequently expressed that there be a larger issue of bank notes and complaint is made that national banks are indifferent to the note-issuing function vested in them, it may well be considered by Congress whether it would not be wise to do that which will make it of sufficient interest to the national banks to pay greater attention to note issues. The profit of banking in the United States is now largely in the deposit feature of it and thus it is of greater concern under existing circumstances to the banks to secure deposits than it is to issue notes upon a return so small as to scarcely justify the expense and trouble entailed thereby.

Banks are not eleemosynary institutions, and therefore engage only in that which promises a margin of profit. While on the one hand entitled to no more favors than are granted to other corporations or enterprises carried on by associated individuals, on the other they should not be denied any privileges which they may justly claim, and for the denial of which no possible excuse can be given. It is unquestionably true that national banks would largely increase their note circulation if the embarrassment arising from the needless locking up of a large part of their capital, available for other purposes, and the lessened profit through excessive taxation now imposed did not confront them. They certainly would do so if the legal-tender issues of the Government were paid and canceled and the channel now clogged by them freed for bank-note circulation.

The experience of this and other countries conclusively demonstrates that the best and most rational note issues are those put forth by banks properly and safely conducted. It likewise demonstrates that issues made direct by governments are always expensive, and under every circumstance a source of danger to such governments and loss to their people's business interests. No clearer proof of this could be had than that furnished by the difficulties which we have witnessed on the part of this Government in its efforts to maintain the full credit of its practically limitless amount of demand obligations.

The granting of even the small measure of relief as indicated would undoubtedly aid in bringing about a solution of this, the gravest question now demanding legislative attention. It would at least point the way out and tend to avoid any real or imaginary danger which might exist through fear of a contraction of the volume of the circulating medium by the cancellation of the legal-tender issues. Under such provisions of law, unhampered by unwise restraints and rid of unwholesome competition, the banks now in the national system alone could and undoubtedly would put in circulation a sufficient amount of bank notes to prevent any approach to sudden contraction by the payment and permanent cancellation of this part of the Government's debts.

The advantage accruing to the Government by the substitution of a bank-note for a Treasury-note currency would be immeasurably great. The need of maintaining a gold reserve to meet the recurring demand obligations, now never retired, would, within a reasonable time, be obviated and delivered from this vexatious and expensive difficulty, the Treasury Department could return to its legitimate function of collecting the revenues of the Government needful to meet governmental expenses and disbursing the same.

With the relief gained to it through the removal of this burden would come a greater one to the business interests of the individual citizen, whose every operation would no longer be harassed by the uncertainty springing from a fear that either in the present or the future the currency obligations now forced by his Government through the provisions of an inflexible law into the avenues of trade and commerce may be discredited and dishonored. The relegating of note issuing entirely to the banks would give a better guarantee of meeting the varying wants of trade, which is impossible with a legal mandate decreeing an amount of Treasury issues of no greater and no less volume at one season of the year than another, whether or no there be a corresponding increase or lessening of the demand for currency to transact the business in hand.

It is respectfully suggested that, as a necessary element to the securing of proper elasticity of issue in our bank-note currency, section 9 of the act of July 12, 1882, regulating the retirement and issuing of circulation to banks within a fixed period of time, should be repealed, and also that such amendment should be made to the law as will necessitate the banks keeping in the office of the Comptroller of the Currency a sufficient amount of blank notes as will enable them to secure circulation at once, instead of after a period of delay, frequently of sufficient duration as to make the issue unavailable to relieve the pressure existing at the time of ordering.

It is in view of these and other reasons which will unquestionably suggest themselves to those to whom this report is submitted that action is recommended looking toward the enlargement of the country's bank-note circulation.

FOREIGN BANKING SYSTEMS.

The attention throughout the year attracted to all matters pertaining to banks and the varied opinions which the discussion of them has called forth warranted the attempt to secure such information as could be had both at home and abroad bearing upon the general subject. It has been done under the belief that a comparative study of such of the foreign and State banking systems as could be readily investigated would be of considerable value, and the effort has been made to collect information bearing upon the salient points of the different systems now in actual existence. Through the courtesy of the State Department each of the ambassadors, ministers, and consuls of the United States was asked to aid in this work by forwarding statements concerning the countries to which they were accredited. The following questions, calling for the desired information, were forwarded to each:

1. Give the different classes or kinds of banks.
2. What requirements must be met in order to enable each class of banks to transact business?
3. Who determines when these conditions have been satisfied?
4. Give regulations, if any, governing each class of banks as to (a) capital stock, (b) management of the bank, (c) liability of shareholders for claims against the bank, (d) reports of condition of the bank, (e) examination by Government official, (f) restrictions on the amount of loans, (g) restrictions of any other character on loans by the bank, (h) security for loans, (i) cash reserve required, (j) accumulation of surplus.
5. Give the regulations, if any, governing the receipt of deposits, and state if it is the custom of the banks to allow interest on deposits.
6. To what extent is the Government interested as a shareholder in the banks?
7. Are any of the banks permitted to conduct branch banks or offices?
8. To what extent and by what medium is information as to the condition of the banks given to the public?
9. What taxes or burdens are imposed upon the banks in return for the privileges granted them?
10. Give as full information as possible as to the closing up of the business of insolvent banks.
11. To what extent and under what conditions are the banks allowed to issue bank notes?
12. What provision is made for the redemption of such notes?
13. Please give any additional information which you think will be of interest concerning the banks.

Replies have been received thus far from twenty-three* countries, viz: Belgium, Canada, Chile, China, Denmark, Ecuador, France, Germany, Guatemala, Haiti, Hawaii, Italy, Korea, Liberia, Netherlands, Paraguay, Peru, Portugal, Russia, Switzerland, Turkey, Uruguay, and Venezuela. Of the countries reporting, Liberia is stated to be entirely destitute of banking privileges. Korea has no banks except those of the Japanese, which are conducted according to the legal provisions of Japan.

An abstract, as correct as the information obtained will permit, has been prepared from the replies received from the remaining twenty-one. Ten of them have banks which perform functions so closely related to the government as to justify the designation of "government banks." Most of them have the ordinary banks of discount and deposit; several have savings or "coöperative" banks, while two have postal savings banks in successful operation. Twenty have banks privileged to issue bank notes for circulation. Some of these are limited to this particular business, and others are privileged to conduct a general banking business in addition to the note-issuing powers. Several countries are reported to have corporations similar to trust and mortgage companies here. One country has a class of banks which makes loans only on chattel security.

* Since the first edition of this report was issued replies have been received from Greece, Salvador, and Siam, which will be found in full in the appendix.

Special charters are required in most of the countries, which are obtained from the legislative bodies or by proclamation of the ruling prince. The banks are generally authorized to begin business as soon as they have filed the necessary papers with the proper official in proof of their organization. A few governments seem to have no officer charged with the duty of passing upon the organization proceedings. In some cases the capital stock is required to be paid up in part or in full, but in most cases it is left, both as to amount and as to payment, to be regulated by the "statutes" or by-laws and rules under which the bank is to be conducted or by the conditions specified in the charter.

The management is sometimes left to representatives, and again is confided to a board composed of government officials, or a mixed board of officials and directors chosen by the stockholders. In nearly all the countries heard from the liability of the shareholders is limited to the amount they have invested in the banks. Two countries report exceptions, one of which attaches special liability only to those holding the stock of savings banks. Special mention should be made of the excellent requirements of the seventeen countries reporting as to furnishing public information of the condition of the banks. In addition to the monthly, quarterly, semiannual, or annual reports, four countries require weekly statements from some or all classes of banks. These are published either in local newspapers, in the official journal, or in reports, so that the public is amply provided with information. This feature is in very marked contrast to the lax requirements of several of our States.

The subject of loans does not appear to have received as careful attention as it merits. Very many of the bank failures in the United States have been caused by the abuse of the loaning powers of the banks, yet only five countries are reported as having restrictions of any special value upon the loaning ability of the banks. The matter seems to have been left almost entirely to the judgment and discretion of the managing officers.

The majority of the countries reporting have no special provisions regarding cash reserve; and the accumulation of a surplus fund, except for banks allowed to issue circulation, seems to be practically subject to the wisdom of the directors or managers. Some slight limitations have been placed upon the receipt of deposits. Usually the banks pay interest on time deposits, although three reports show that interest is not allowed.

In but four countries reported is the government interested as a shareholder in banks.

It is notable that every country reporting allows the banks to maintain branch offices or banks. This is worthy of much consideration, as it appears that branches are thought to be necessary adjuncts to the banks to enable them to exercise their function to the greatest benefit of their governments and patrons. One country even goes so far as to absolutely require that branch banks must be established and operated for the convenience of the public. Our national banking act has been construed as prohibiting all branches, except for converted State banks having them in operation at the time of entering the national system. It is worthy of serious consideration whether many communities here would not be better served with banking facilities if branch banks, limited to a deposit and commercial business, under the national banking act, were to be allowed.

License fees must be paid in six of the countries for the privilege of engaging in banking. Capital, net profits, and circulation are taxed by most, and a few require the expenses of the bureau of banking to be borne by the banks.

Insolvent banks are treated the same as other insolvents in five countries. In three others government officials are appointed to close the bank's business. In one country preferred claims in order of preference are: (1) Government claims; (2) claims of employes, bills of exchange, brokerage, and commission, and (3) depositors. One government bank reported as being insolvent and in the hands of a committee of three; one representing the directors, another the shareholders, and the third the government. No information on this branch of the subject came from many of the countries. In several countries the banks provide the entire supply of currency. Provisions apparently adequate have been made by law in fourteen countries to redeem the bank notes as they are presented.

Herewith is given a brief summary of the reports received. The full reports will be found in the appendix.

INFORMATION FROM SOURCE OTHER THAN OFFICIAL.

The information sought at the hands of American representatives abroad not having been received as to all countries at the date of the writing of the text of this report, other sources have been relied upon relative to the banking systems of the countries following. In some instances such information was courteously given by the representative of the country in question at Washington, and in others it has been obtained from published works, documents, and reports. In not a few the facts have been gleaned from Monetary Systems of the World, a publication recently issued by Maurice L. Muhleman, deputy assistant treasurer of the United States at New York.

All reports received too late to be briefed so as to appear in the text will be found in full in the appendix.

STATE BANKING SYSTEMS.

In furtherance of the attempt to collect information on banking systems now in vogue a personal letter was addressed to the State officer having the banks in charge, or to the governor of each State and Territory of the Union, requesting from such officer that this Bureau be furnished with as complete data as possible. While many of the replies were promptly received and the answers given very satisfactory, yet it has been almost impossible to secure the information from several, even with the assistance of the corps of national-bank examiners. An abstract has been prepared similar to the one relating to the foreign systems. While it is imperfect in many ways it may serve to show the strength and weakness of our State systems when considered in the aggregate. The reports were based upon the following questions which were inclosed in the letter to the State officers:

1. Give the different classes or kinds of banks permitted by law to do business in your State.
2. What legal requirements must be met in order to enable each class of banks to begin the actual business of banking?
3. What officer determines when these conditions have been satisfied?
4. Give the legal provisions governing each class of banks as to the following, viz: (a) Amount and payment of capital stock; (b) the management of the bank; (c) liability of shareholders for claims against the bank; (d) making reports of condition; (e) examination or supervision by State officials; (f) restrictions of any character on loans by the bank; (g) amount of cash reserve required; (h) accumulation of surplus required.
5. Give the legal provisions, if any, governing the receipt of deposits by each class of banks, and state if it is generally the custom of the banks to allow interest on deposits.
6. To what extent, if any, is the State interested as a shareholder in any of the banks?
7. Are any of the banks permitted to conduct branch offices or banks?
8. To what extent and by what medium is information furnished to the public as to the condition of any of the banks?
9. What taxes or burdens are imposed upon the banks in return for the banking privilege granted them?
10. Give as full information as possible as to the legal provisions for closing up the business of insolvent banks.
11. Give the legal provisions covering or referring to the issue of bank circulation.
12. Give a brief sketch showing the principal points in the law of your State relating to savings banks.

In addition to the national banks the States have made use of the privileges arising from incorporated State banks, savings banks, private banks, and, in most cases, trust companies. While a small number of them have made no special provision for savings banks, such institutions have obtained a strong foothold in all of the older States and many of the newer.

Thirty-three States require a part or all of the capital stock to be paid in and certificates filed with the proper officers as preliminaries to the chartering of the banks. Seven States require special acts to authorize new banks. Six States make no special provision for banks, but they are organized under the general incorporation laws of the States. The law in seven States designates no officer to determine when a bank is entitled to begin business. The secretary of state is named in fifteen States. The auditor, comptroller, treasurer, bank commissioner, and superintendent are also empowered in several States to charter new banks. The amount of capital required varies from no provisions at all, and elsewhere from $5,000 to $100,000 minimum, to a maximum in some States as high as $10,000,000. While in a few States the law is very loose in this particular, yet the great majority of them require a fair amount of capital, half or all paid in, the balance, if any, to be paid within two years at the most. A few States require savings banks to have a definite capital on which dividends are paid, if the earnings justify it. The management of the various kinds of banks under State laws is vested in a board of directors, or trustees, who elect the executive officers and are expected to have general supervision over all the affairs of the banks.

In eighteen States no additional liability is undertaken by the purchaser of bank stock. Twenty States add a double liability, or an amount equal to the par value of the stock, upon shareholders in banks. Two States provide for the pro rata liability for all debts incurred while the party was a stockholder. While most of the banks are required to make reports as often as quarterly, four of the States and one Territory do not require any report whatever. Six others require but one report a year. The remainder range from two to five a year, and special reports upon call being made for them. Six States make no provision for giving information to the public. The older States, in most instances, require reports to be published in local papers. There is no provision in twelve States for examination by State officials. The other States appear to authorize examinations as often as once a year, and additional examinations as deemed advisable.

Seven States have no restrictions at all upon the loaning privileges of the banks. Several restrict savings banks in amount, security, and time. Nine States restrict or utterly prohibit loans to officers or employes. Most of them prohibit loans on security of the bank's own stock. Twenty-four States do not require any cash reserve at all. The banking departments of a few others require a reserve of a greater or smaller amount, although the law is entirely silent on the point. Twenty-one States require a reserve varying from 10 to 33 $\frac{1}{3}$ per cent for banks of discount and deposit and from 5 to 50 per cent for banks of issue.

Twenty of the States have no legal provision relating to the accumulation of a surplus fund. Twenty-three States have such provision varying from 5 to 25 per cent for commercial banks and most savings banks. One State has enacted that savings banks shall retain as surplus not less than 3 per cent and not more than 10 per cent of deposits.

The amount of single or total deposits is limited for savings banks by the laws of thirteen States. The amounts vary from $1,000 to $5,000 for single depositors, and from ten to twenty times the amount of capital in the aggregate. Interest is allowed on deposits in forty of the States, restricted to savings banks and trust companies in one State, while one State reports that it is not customary to allow any interest.

Forty-one States report no interest in the stock of the banks, while three States have invested larger or smaller amounts of the public funds in bank stocks.

Thirteen States do not allow branch banks. Ten States report no law prohibiting them nor providing for their establishment. In twenty States branches are permitted, and to some extent encouraged by favorable legislation.

Thirty States require the reports of the banks to be published in local newspapers. Twenty States give information concerning the banks in annual or biennial reports. Six States leave it entirely voluntary with the banks.

Seven States exact a license or privilege tax for engaging in banking. Eighteen States have no special provision relating to taxation of banks. Eight States require the banks to pay the expenses of examination, and some of these add the expense of the State banking departments. A few States have special tax provisions which apply only to banks.

In nearly all of the States insolvent banks are managed in the same manner as other insolvent concerns. In 1 State the officers of the bank bring its affairs to a close under the supervision of the bank commissioners. Two States provide that claims against savings banks on insolvency may be scaled down or a receiver appointed. One State prohibits preferences, while 2 States prefer depositors under certain conditions.

Fourteen States allow banks to issue circulation. Nineteen States prohibit banks from issuing circulation, and several have no legal provisions touching the question.

The greater number of the States allow savings banks to be incorporated either under a savings-bank law or under the general incorporation acts. A few States require capital stock. One State requires dividends to be paid of not less than 5 per cent. Another State requires the incorporators to give bonds in amount of $5,000 each. There are many other special provisions which can not be here enumerated. In the appendix will be found the reports as submitted. Herewith is given in brief a synopsis of them, together with a bare outline of the main provisions of the national-bank act.

NATIONAL BANKS.

Upon executing and filing with the Comptroller of the Currency articles of association and organization certificate in accordance with the requirements of the law, and satisfying him that 50 per cent of the capital has been paid in in cash, and upon the deposit of the necessary amount of United States bonds for securing circulation, his certificate issues authorizing the bank to begin business. Where the population of the place of location is less than 6,000 inhabitants, minimum capital $50,000; less than 50,000 population, minimum capital $100,000; over 50,000 population, minimum capital $200,000; 50 per cent to be paid in before bank begins business and remainder 10 per cent a month. Directors (not less than five) manage bank. Shareholders are subjected to double stock liability.

Five reports of condition are required each year, to be made on call of the Comptroller of the Currency. Every national bank is subject to examination by a national-bank examiner whenever the Comptroller deems it necessary or advisable. Loans to one person or firm in excess of 10 per cent of capital are prohibited. Real estate and stock of the bank are not to be taken as security, unless for the protection of pre-existing debts. Twenty-five per cent cash reserve is required in reserve cities and 15 per cent elsewhere. A surplus of 20 per cent must be accumulated. There are no special provisions concerning the receipt of deposits, and many of the banks allow interest. United States not interested as a shareholder in any of the banks. Branch banks not permitted except for converted State banks. Reports of condition must be published in local newspapers, and summaries are distributed by the Comptroller and included in his annual report to Congress. Banks are taxed one-half of 1 per cent semiannually upon the outstanding circulation, are assessed for expense of preparing and redeeming circulation, and for examinations, in addition to such taxes as may be placed upon them under the laws of the various States in which they operate.

Insolvent banks are liquidated by receivers appointed by the Comptroller of the Currency. Any national bank may receive in circulating notes 90 per cent of the par value of its bond deposit, which deposit must not exceed the amount of capital stock. Some national banks operate a savings' department, which is conducted in accordance with the judgment of the bank directors, so long as the law is not violated.

CONCLUSION.

In concluding this report the Comptroller desires to again bear testimony to the character and general efficiency of the employés in the Bureau, the examiners in the field, and the work accomplished by the receivers in the management of the trusts in their charge. The record of the Bureau throughout the past year justifies these expressions of praise.

In the appendix will be found in detail the usual tables, together with a digest of legal decisions rendered by the various courts of the country involving questions affecting national banks, and also a carefully revised edition of the national-bank act, which is believed to contain all the Federal statutes now in force relating to national banks.

In the second volume of this report will be found a detailed statement of the condition of all the national banks, as shown by the report of condition of September 28, 1895, alphabetically arranged by States and properly indexed.

APPENDIX.

FOREIGN BANKING SYSTEMS.

The various reports (copies of laws transmitted being necessarily omitted) received in reference to foreign banking systems are as follows:

BELGIUM.

[James E. Ewing, United States minister.]

1. There is in Belgium only one bank of issue, that is La Banque Nationale, organized under the law of the 5th of May, 1850, and under the law of the 20th of May, 1872. The texts of these laws and the text of the by-laws of the Banque Nationale will be found in Appendix A. It is difficult to classify the other banks. There exist banks of discount, of deposit, of crédit foncier (banks that make loans on real estate), and unions du crédit (banks that do the banking business of their members only). With the exception of the banks known as crédit foncier, all the banks in Belgium discount bills, receive deposits, and interest themselves in industrial affairs.

2. Banks in Belgium are established under the forms of société en nom collectif—partnership société en commandite simple—partnership in which the active partners are responsible without limitation and the dormant ones to the extent of their share of capital only. Société anonyme, joint stock company. Société en commandite par actions, partnership in which the active members are responsible without limitation and in which the dormant members are stockholders and are responsible for the amount of their stock only. Société coopérative, cooperative societies in accordance with the provisions of the law of the 18th of May, 1873, modified by the law of the 22d of May, 1886. This law, which will be found in Appendix B, determines the conditions to be complied with by the banks in order that they may commence their banking operations. If the provisions of the law be complied with, the banks above described may be organized indefinitely. There is no public officer empowered to determine whether the conditions imposed by law in the organization of a bank have been complied with or not.

3. The shareholders and interested third parties have the right to protest against any infraction of law.

4. The provisions of the law of the 18th of May, 1873, found in Appendix B, answer these questions fully.

5. The Banque Nationale may receive deposits on current account, but without interest. All private banks may receive voluntary deposits and pay interest on them or not, as they may agree.

6. The Government is not interested as a shareholder in any of the banks of the country.

7. Banks may organize subbanks or branch offices as they please in conformity to their by-laws.

8. Only banks organized as joint stock companies or as sociétés en commandite par actions are required to publish every year a general statement regarding their condition. This statement must contain an inventory indicating the value of the personal and real property and a balance sheet showing all the assets and liabilities of the society, with an annex containing a list of its contracts, and must be published in the Moniteur Belge (the official paper) fifteen days after its approval by the members composing the annual general assembly, and at the expense of the society. The Banque Nationale, governed, as has been stated, by a special law, has to furnish every month to the Government a statement as to its condition as well as to the condition of its branch offices. This statement is also published in the official paper of the country. The cooperative societies must deposit the annual statement as to their condition, fifteen days after its approval, at the registry office of the tribunal du commerce of the district to which the society belongs.

9. Except the Banque Nationale, the banks are not taxed on account of any privileges they enjoy, but all pay a license fee according to the amount of their earnings. The Banque Nationale, which alone is authorized to issue bank notes, is subject on that account to various charges, determined by law.

10. The law of 1873 provides for the closing up of the business of insolvent banks. (See section VIII, Appendix B.)

11. With exception of the Banque Nationale, no bank is authorized by law to issue bank notes. The amount of bank notes in circulation and of obligations payable at sight must not be in excess of three times the amount of the reserve in coin of the Banque Nationale. The amount of the bank notes in circulation may be increased by the authority of the minister of finance to more than three times the amount of the reserve in coin. On the 31st of December, 1894, the bank notes in circulation amounted to 469,662,000 francs, and the balances of current accounts to 78,558,169.29 francs; total, 548,220,169.29 francs. The available assets comprised the public funds of the bank and of the reserve, 74,382,512.05 francs; cash in bank, 130,756,515.01 francs; bills due and in account current, 41,847,875 francs; bills not due, 346,590,227.84 francs; loans on public funds, 13,469,529.90 francs; total, 607,046,529.90 francs.

12. See answer to question 11 for the redemption of bank notes. The payment of the latter is guaranteed by the available assets of the bank.

13. See Appendixes A and B.

CANADA.

[John B. Riley, consul-general.]

1. (a) The chartered banks, which alone can issue notes for circulation in denominations of $5 and upward, the smaller currency being issued by the Dominion Government. These banks are governed by the provisions of the act 53 Vict., cap. 31, "The Bank Act," a copy of which is sent herewith marked A. (b) Two savings banks in the province of Quebec, the City and District Savings Bank of Montreal, and La Caisse d'Economie de Notre Dame of Quebec, which are doing business under special act 53 Vict., cap. 32., a copy of which is annexed marked B. These banks do not issue notes for circulation and are not banks within the meaning of the bank act (vide sec. 29). They furnish monthly returns to the Government of the state of their affairs and annual returns of their shareholders and of dividends, etc., unclaimed for five years (vide secs. 31, 32, and 33). Their stockholders are only liable for the unpaid amount of their stock (vide sec. 8). These banks have been in existence since before confederation. (c) The Government savings banks: These are under control of two departments of the Dominion, viz, the Post-Office Savings Banks authorized by sections 65 to 77 of the post-office act R. S. C., cap. 35 (act herewith marked C and regulations marked D), and the Government Savings Bank under control of the finance department, under R. S. C., cap. 121 (act herewith marked E and regulations thereunder marked F). These banks are simply savings banks to encourage the deposit of small savings. The limit of deposit is $1,000 in any financial year and a maximum deposit of $3,000 exclusive of interest. The rate of interest paid is 3½ per cent compounded yearly. (d) The loan and savings companies, a copy of the latest report as to which is sent herewith marked G. (e) The private bankers, with reference to whom there is no Dominion legislation except that they can not issue notes nor use the title of "bank," "banking company," etc. (See sections 60 and 100 of the bank act.)

NOTE.—The answers to the following questions refer only to the chartered banks, and the references are to sections of "the bank act," 53 Vict., cap. 31.

2. They must procure an act of incorporation from the Dominion Parliament, and then comply with the sections 9 to 17.

(d) Reports of condition of the bank: (a) Monthly (sec. 85). (b) Special when called for by the minister of finance (sec. 86). (c) Yearly as to shareholders (sec. 87). The above are to the Government, and in addition an annual statement has to be made to the shareholders on the occasion of the election of directors (see sec. 45). (e) Examination by Government official, none. (f) The amount of discounts and loans to directors, either jointly or severally, or to any one firm or person, or to any shareholder, or to corporations, may be regulated by the shareholders by by-law (sec. 18). The amount of discounted notes and of the loans are exhibited in the annual statement to the shareholders (sec. 45), and in the monthly returns to the Government (Schedule D), and in the monthly returns special mention is made of the aggregate amount of loans to directors and firms of which they are partners. (G) The bank can not lend money—(a) on notes of a bank (sec. 52); (b) on a share of its own capital stock, or of the capital stock of another bank (sec. 64); (c) on the security of land, ships, or of any goods, wares, and merchandise (sec. 64). See, however, section 72 as to advances in aid of the building of a ship. (H) Security for loans: (a) Bills of exchange, promissory, etc. (sec. 64). (b) Has lien on its own shares, and may decline to allow transfer (secs. 65 and 66). (c) Mortgages upon real or personal property by way of additional security for debts contracted (sec. 68). (d) May purchase and acquire title to lands offered for sale under execution, etc., belonging to debtor to the bank, but such lands must be sold within seven years (secs. 69 to 71). (e) Warehouse receipts or bills of lading as security (sec. 73). (f) Goods, etc., to secure advances to wholesale merchants, etc., in certain cases (secs. 74 to 78). (E) Cash reserve required: None, the only provisions being (a) that no division exceeding 8 per cent per annum is to be made, unless after making it the bank has a rest or reserve fund equal to at least 30 per cent of its paid up capital after deducting all bad and doubtful debts (sec. 49), and (b) that of whatever reserves are held at least 40 per cent must be held in Dominion notes (sec. 50). (F) Accumulation of surplus, none. No dividend is allowed to be made to impair the paid up capital, and if the paid up capital is impaired all net profits must be applied to make good the loss.

5. See section 84 as to receipt of deposits. Most of the banks have savings-bank departments attached.

6. The Government holds no bank shares.

7. All are. See section 64.

8. Monthly returns to Government published in Canada Gazette. (Latest return transmitted.) List of shareholders and unclaimed balances, returned to Parliament and printed in Blue Book from latest issues, herewith marked I and J. Annual statements to shareholders—generally printed and published in the financial papers—latest semiannual return of Bank of Montreal, herewith marked K.

9. The banks do not pay any taxes to the Government in any way. They are, however, debarred from charging any discount or commission on official checks of the Government of Canada (sec. 103). They have to make arrangements to insure the circulation of their notes in every part of Canada at par (sec. 55), and they contribute to the circulation redemption fund (sec. 54).

10. See sections 89 to 96 of the bank, and the winding-up act, R. S. C., cap. 129 (herewith marked L), and 52 Vic., c. 32, in amendment thereof annexed thereto.

11. To the extent of unimpaired paid-up capital, except in the Banque du Peuple and the Bank of British North America, which can only issue to extent of 75 per cent of unimpaired paid-up capital. See, in this connection, section 51, subsections 1 and 2. See subsection 3 of section 51 for penalties for noncirculation. They can only issue notes of the denomination of $5, or multiples of $5 (see subsection 4).

12. They are a first charge upon the assets of the bank, and in case of insolvency they bear interest at 6 per cent from date of insolvency until date named for redemption. There is the further security of the "double liability" of the shareholders and of the "bank circulation redemption fund" (see secs. 53, 54, and 89).

13. The only points to which attention may be called, in addition to the foregoing, are that all sales and transfers of shares must be of bona fide shares, actually in the possession of the transferor, this being with the view of preventing speculative sales of shares (sec. 37); that counterfeit notes must be stamped as such when presented at the bank (section 62); and that heavy penalties are imposed for violation of the provisions of the act. Special attention is directed to the system of note circulation, which is a very elastic one, the circulation expanding and contracting as the business of the country requires, while at the same time the issue is fully protected. In the last act (1890) three new provisions were made: (1) The establishment of the bank circulation redemption fund, to give additional security for the redemption of the circulation in case of insolvency; (2) the notes bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent in case of insolvency, the intention being to prevent the notes going under par, and (3) compelling the bank to establish agencies throughout the Dominion, so as to prevent a discount being charged on their notes. The charters of the banks will expire on the 1st of July, 1901, and further legislation will be required before that time. The Dominion Government, under certain restrictions, may issue Dominion notes to any amount. (See act respecting Dominion notes, and amendments thereto, marked M.) As to the currency, see act respecting the currency, marked N.

CHILE.

[Edward H. Strobel, United States minister.]

1. There are two classes of banks, namely, the hypothecary or mortgage banks (bancos hipotecarios) and the banks of issue (bancos de emision). The former were authorized by the act of Congress of August 29, 1855, which provided for the establishment of a bank called the Caja de Crédito Hipotecario (Bank of Mortgage Credit) in Santiago, and permitted the founding of like institutions throughout the country, provided there should not be more than one in each Province. These banks are in imitation of the French banques hypothécaires. They give loans upon real estate in return for certain annual payments (anualidades), first, not exceeding 8 per cent for interest; second, not less than 1 nor more than 2 per cent for the sinking fund; third, not more than one-half per cent for the reserve fund and expenses. The loan is given by the bank in notes of credit (letras de credito), the payment of which is guaranteed by the bank, and for which payment they are drawn by lot every six months (or sooner, if the bank so decides), to the amount of the sinking fund which the bank has for the purpose. These notes belong to different series, according to the amount of interest they bear, which is fixed at 8, 7, 6, and 5 per cent per annum. They are, of course, negotiable, and are quoted daily in the open market, being made out payable to order or to bearer, according to the wishes of the borrower. As stated above, this sinking fund for the paying off of these notes was derived from part of the annual payment fixed by law of not less than 1 nor more than 2 per cent, made by the borrower on the amount of the loan, and at the time of the passage of the act it was calculated that by this arrangement the paying off of the notes would be effected as follows: Those of 8 per cent in 21 years; those of 7 per cent in 22 years; those of 6 per cent in 23½ years; those of 5 per cent in 25½ years. (See Appendix, note 1.) The hypothecary bank, therefore, plays the part of middleman between the lender and the borrower, and begins with little or no capital. Banks of issue (bancos de emision) are banks in the ordinary sense of the word. They are authorized by act of Congress of July 23, 1860, and are called banks of issue because, besides doing ordinary banking business, they are allowed to issue notes payable at sight and to bearer. Banks of issue are also permitted to engage in the business of hypothecary banks (bancos hipotecarios), but through a special department (seccion), which is entirely independent of their other business. In like manner several of the hypothecary banks have availed themselves of the act allowing banks to issue notes at sight and payable to bearer. In both cases the two classes of business, although managed by the same banking institution, are kept entirely distinct, and in many cases even to the extent of having separate capital stock for each class of business. This latter is done in order to enable the shares of each section to be quoted according to business done by the bank. As the two classes of business are authorized by two entirely separate and distinct acts of Congress, mentioned above, and as the credit notes of the hypothecary banks are amply secured by the real estate mortgaged to the bank, while, as will be seen, the notes of the banks of issue payable at sight and to bearer were issued without proper security, the shares of both sections are quoted in the market independently of each other, and generally at widely differing rates.

2. The act of Congress of August 29, 1855, makes no special requirements for the establishment of hypothecary banks; but the latter are subject to the provisions of the Commercial Code (Codigo de Comercio) applying to the organization of joint stock companies, given below. The act of July 23, 1860, provides that the following requirements must be met in order to establish a bank of issue: Those who intend to found a bank of issue are obliged to deposit beforehand in the ministry of finance a declaration stating the name, domicile, number of branch offices, and capital of the same, as well as the date on which it is intended to begin operations. They must also deposit a copy of the by-laws and regulations. This is all that is contained on this point in the above special banking act. Both classes of banks, in order to transact business, must satisfy the provisions of the Civil Code (Codigo Civil) and of the Commercial Code (Codigo de Comercio) applying to joint stock companies (sociedades anonimas). According to articles 350 and 355 of the Commercial Code, the proof of the formation of a joint stock company must be a document to that effect prepared before a notary, inscribed in the commercial register, posted for three months in the office of the secretary of the judge of the department, and published ten times in a newspaper of the department. If there is no newspaper in the department, the publication must be made by posters in three of the most conspicuous places in the domicile of the company. The document must declare, first, the name, surname, profession, and domicile of the founders; second, the domicile of the company; third, the business the company intends undertaking, and the reason for its name, with clear and complete details; fourth, the capital of the company, the number of shares, and the periods in which the stockholders should pay in the amount of their subscription; fifth, the date for making inventory, balance, and declaring dividends; sixth, duration of the company; seventh, the manner of administration, powers of directors, and the rights reserved to the general assembly of stockholders; eighth, the amount of profit which should remain in the treasury of the company to form a reserve fund; ninth, the amount of deficit in the capital sufficient to cause dissolution of the company; tenth, in case of dissolution, the form in which the company shall be wound up and the assets divided; eleventh, whether difficulties which arise during the duration of the company should or should not be submitted to the decision of arbitrators, and if they are so to be submitted, the manner in which the appointment of arbitrators should be made; twelfth, any other agreements made between the stockholders. No petition for the formation of a joint stock company shall be received if not signed by a number of subscribers to the stock equal to at least one-third of the whole, accompanied by a statement in which the above details, as well as the by-laws, are approved by the subscribers to the stock at a general meeting.

3. By article 427 of the Commercial Code joint stock companies exist by virtue of a decree of the President of the Republic. As already stated, the petition for this decree must be signed by subscribers to at least one-third of the capital stock. On granting the petition and issuing the decree establishing the company the President of the Republic decides whether a sufficient amount of the capital subscribed has been paid in to warrant the company's beginning business; and if this has not been done he fixes the amount that should be paid in. When proof has been furnished that the amount has been paid in the President will issue the corresponding decree. These general provisions of the code apply to banks. The only special provision on this subject is article 5 of the act of July 23, 1860, establishing banks of issue, which is as follows: "Before the date indicated for beginning its operations, the President of the Republic must ascertain the manner in which he considers best the existence of the capital of the future bank." As will be seen, therefore, the President of the Republic is the only one having authority to determine whether the legal conditions for the establishment of a bank have been satisfied.

4. (A) Capital stock: Article 6 of the act of July 23, 1860 (banks of issue), provides that the capital stock of a bank must consist of legal money of the country, bars of gold or silver, or any obligations or documents signed by persons who are notoriously solvent, payable at six months or less. Real estate and ordinary obligations with mortgage security may be regarded as security for the capital stock, but in no case as constituting it; and the bank directors are prohibited from mentioning the said values or guaranties as constituting the capital of the bank, in the notices or prospectuses which they publish, under a penalty of $100 for each publication. It is also provided by article 7 of the same act, that the director or directors of a bank must declare under oath, to the agent appointed by the President for the purpose of ascertaining whether the capital stock exists, that the capital really belongs to the persons or company proposing to establish the said bank, and that it is to be truly and faithfully employed in its operations. As I have already stated, the capital stock to be paid in before beginning operations must be fixed by the President of the Republic before issuing the decree authorizing the establishment of the bank. These are the regulations in the act of July 23, 1860, regarding the capital stock of banks of issue. The act of August 29, 1855, makes no reference to the amount which shall constitute the capital of hypothecary banks, which, as before mentioned, are mere middlemen, and begin with little or no capital. (B) Management of the bank: The management of a joint-stock company is in the hands of a board of directors (consejo de administracion) elected, in accordance with the by-laws (estatutos), by the stockholders (Commercial Code, article 457). The Bank of Chile—the leading bank in this country—is managed by a board of eleven directors (consejo general), composed of eleven stockholders living in Santiago, and eleven residing in Valparaiso. The directors, with the exception of the president, are elected at the general meeting of stockholders. The president of the bank is annually elected by the board of directors, and may be reelected indefinitely. In addition, the board of directors may appoint as many managing directors as they regard necessary. By the act of August 29, 1855, which established the bank of mortgage credit (caja hipotecaria), the management of this institution is placed in the hands of a manager appointed by the President of the Republic, and a board of four directors, two of which are appointed by the Senate and two by the Chamber of Deputies. The other banks of the same class authorized by this act have the right to elect their own board of directors, but the manager must be appointed by the President of the Republic, and from a list of candidates submitted by the board. It will therefore be seen that the Government only exercises supervision in the choice of officers of the hypothecary banks, but not in the case of banks of issue. (C) Liability of shareholders for claims against the bank: No ordinary shareholder is liable for claims against a bank beyond the amount of his unpaid subscription. According to article 452 of the Commercial Code, the shareholder was liable to a third party having claims against the bank to the extent of his unpaid subscription even after the transfer of his stock; but this section of the code has been repealed by the act of September 6, 1878, which provides that the liability of the transferrer shall be only secondary, primary liability resting with the transferee. Article 9 of the act of July 23, 1860, makes a director of a bank responsible for all obligations contracted by the bank during his term of office. It also requires him to hold a number of shares equal to 10 per cent of the capital, or an interest in the profits of not less than 10 per cent; but whatever may be the capital of the bank, it is sufficient for the director to hold shares to the extent of $40,000, or to have an interest of not less than 10,000 pesos in the profits. The shares of the director shall be registered in his name, and shall be free of all obligations toward third parties not creditors of the bank during his term of office. They shall be deposited in the bank during that time and for six months afterwards as a guarantee. During this period the creditors of the bank shall be preferred creditors with reference to the attachment of this guarantee over the personal creditors of the director. (D) Reports of the condition of the bank: Article 8 of the act of July 23, 1860 (banks of issue), provides that the directors of a bank of issue must, in the first fifteen days of each month, send to the minister of finance a balance giving a summary of the condition of the bank at the end of the preceding month. By article 30 there must appear in this balance, on the credit side, the assets with the value given in legal currency, bars of gold or silver, documents, promissory notes, accounts current, advances or debts of agents or employees, and notes of other banks; and on the debit side there must appear the capital of the bank, the reserve fund, the notes in circulation, and deposits with and without interest. By article 4, there must also be deposited with the minister of finance a copy of the regulations and statutes of the bank, the annual inventories, the minutes of the meetings of the shareholders and resolutions adopted at the same, especially of those resolutions that have for an object the augmentation or diminution of the bank's capital stock. By article 25, delay in the transmission of documents and accounts to the minister of finance, as required by this act, will be punished by a fine of $20 for each day's delay. Article 5 of the act of August 29, 1855 (hypothecary banks), provides that every credit note issued must be entered in the register of the mint. There must be at the same time an authorized copy of every mortgage contracted in favor of the bank, and the notes of credit must be equal in value to that of the mortgage. By article 27 of the same act, the board of directors must send to the Government a full report of all the operations of the preceding year, and the results obtained, so that the bank's condition may be fully known. (E) Examination by Government official: Article 13 of the act of July 23, 1860 (banks of issue), provides that the President of the Republic may, through one or more agents appointed by him for the purpose, at any interval of time he thinks convenient, cause an examination to be made of the books, and the cash, and other assets of the banks of issue. By article 23, any director or agent of a bank who, after having been duly notified by the agent appointed for the purpose by the Government, refuses at once to exhibit to such Government agent the books, cash, and other assets of the bank, will be punished by a fine of $1,000, to be paid into the public treasury by the bank. By article 24, any bank director or manager who knowingly makes a false declaration regarding the property and the employment of the capital of the bank, or who has furnished a false balance, or has concealed by fraudulent documents the situation of the bank, especially the sums advanced by the bank to its directors or any other officers, whether directly or by discounting documents under their signature, shall be punished with a fine not exceeding 10,000 pesos. No provision is made in the act of August 29, 1855, for the examination of the affairs of a hypothecary bank by a Government official. It will be remembered that certain officials of these banks are appointed by the President of the Republic, which is not the case with banks of issue. (F) Restrictions on the amount of loans: There is no provision in the act of July 23, 1860, restricting the amount of loans of a bank of issue. The question does not arise in the case of hypothecary banks, which, as has been stated, give their own notes for the value of their loans or mortgages, these notes being sold in the open market by the borrower. (G) Restrictions of any other character on loans by the bank: By article 10, of the act of July 23, 1860 (banks of issue), all loans or discounts made by a bank in favor of its directors or any other officers, or any agent of any kind who may take part in the administration of a bank, must be entered in a special account in the books and in the statement of the bank's balance. By article 11, every bank of issue is prohibited from making loans on its own shares. These are the only restrictions of any kind upon loans by the banks, contained in the act. (H) Security for loans: The act of July 23, 1860 (banks of issue), makes no provisions for the security for loans. The act of August 29, 1855 (hypothecary banks), provides that the loans given by a hypothecary bank in the form of its credit notes (letras de credito) must not be for more than 50 per cent of the value of the property mortgaged to the bank. The value of the property mortgaged may not be less than $2,000, nor the value of the loan less than $500. (I) Cash reserve required: There are no provisions regarding the amount of cash reserve. (J) Accumulation of surplus: There are no provisions regarding the accumulation of surplus.

5. Receipt of deposits: There are no regulations established by law governing the receipt of deposits by the bank. It is the custom all over Chile for banks to allow interest on deposits. The following statement, showing the variations in the rates of interest allowed on deposits from 1865 to 1883, may be of interest:

6. The Government is not interested as a shareholder in any of the banks. The Bank of Mortgage Credit (Caja de Crédito Hipotecario), the first hypothecary bank established by the act of August 29, 1855, was established under the supervision of Government, but the Government is not a shareholder, nor has it any interest in the bank's operations.

7. By article 355 of the Commercial Code any stock company can establish branch offices in any part of the Republic by fulfilling the conditions referred to under No. 2, regarding the publication and registration, the same as in the case of the company itself. These forms must be complied with in at least fifteen days before the opening of the new office. As already stated, article 3 of the act of July 23, 1860 (banks of issue), the declaration to be filed with the minister of finance fifteen days at least before the bank begins its operations must state the number of branch offices (if the bank intends to have branch offices), and the place in which it is intended to establish them.

8. The information, which, as already explained under No. 4 (D), must be given to the minister of finance within the first fifteen days of each month, is published in the Diario Oficial, the official journal of the Republic. As an example that may be of interest, I give below a statement of the Bank of Chile, the leading bank of the country, on August 31, 1895. The statements of all the banks of issue are published in this form.

I also give a general summary, published in the same number of the Diario Oficial, of the balances of all the banks of issue on August 31, 1895. By article 27 of the act of August 29, 1855, the board of directors (consejo de administracion) of the hypothecary banks must every six months present to the Government a statement of the operations of the bank, and must publish this statement in the Diario Oficial, and one annual balance must also be published.

9. There are no general taxes or burdens imposed on the banks for the privileges granted them. In certain crises in the history of the country, however, special privileges have been given to the banks in return for favors to the Government, and it is necessary, for the understanding of the banking system which has existed in this country, to give some of the most important cases in which these arrangements have been made between the Government and the banks. Although the act of July 23, 1860, required at that time that bank notes should be redeemed on their presentation, by acts passed on December 20, 1865, and February 1, 1866, in consequence of the war with Spain, in return for a loan of about 4,500,000 pesos to the Government of Chile, the Bank of Chile and four other banks were permitted to defer the redemption of their notes until six months after the close of the war, or at any rate until not later than July 30, 1867. The inconvertible paper, however, did not extend later than August 31, 1866, and under these acts the bank notes were also to be received by the Government at their face value in payment of all Government debts. In 1878, the Government being again in need of funds, by the act of July 25 of that year—now known as the act establishing irredeemable paper currency—eleven banks, which subscribed for a certain amount of 9-per-cent bonds issued by the Government, were authorized to defer the redemption of their paper until August 31, 1879. The issue of the paper was not to exceed 15,000,000 pesos. This amount was divided up proportionately among the eleven banks subscribing to the loan, and was about four times the total amount subscribed. These notes were received by the treasury at their face value in payment of all Government debts. The financial crisis at the time and the necessities of the war with Peru and Bolivia, which broke out during the same year, not only required continual postponements of the date of redemption by the banks, by further acts of Congress, but also necessitated the issue by the Government of its own irredeemable paper. This system of irredeemable paper lasted until June 1 last, when specie payment was resumed in accordance with the act of February 11 of the present year providing for the redemption of the paper money on June 1, at the rate of 18 pence per peso, worth formerly 48 pence. Since that time and up to the present date specie payment has been sustained, but exchange in London, at ninety days' sight, has not risen above 17½ pence, with much exportation of gold.

10. There are no special provisions for the closing up of the business of insolvent banks. The same rules of law apply as to the failure of a firm or an individual. The following summary regarding bankruptcy laws must therefore be made up from the somewhat complicated sections of book 4 of the Commercial Code (Libro 4 del Código de Comercio): There are three kinds of bankruptcy—accidental (fortuita), culpable (culpable), and fraudulent (fraudulento). The last two are cases where there has been either fraud or concealment, and in the case of a bank the responsibility would rest upon the managers or directors. The rules here given apply to the case of accidental bankruptcy, as the other two kinds are subject to the jurisdiction of the criminal court (juzgado del crimen). The declaration of bankruptcy must be made before the commercial court (juzgado del comercio), and may be made on the petition of the bankrupt or his heirs, or on the petition of any creditor, or of a Government attorney (fiscal). As soon as the declaration of the inability of the individual or company to pay the debts is made, the individual or the company's agent must present himself within three days before the court, bringing with him a statement of the affairs and the explanation of the causes of the bankruptcy. The judge then makes a declaration of bankruptcy, and fixes the day on which all payments must cease, suspends the operations of the bankrupt, summons his creditors, and appoints two or three provisional administrators or receivers (síndicos) of his property. The decision of the judge is published in the newspapers, and effect is given to it in spite of a pending appeal. The declaration of bankruptcy acts as an attachment upon all the property of the bankrupt, and all suits against him are suspended, excepting suits regarding real property, such as mortgages, etc. An appeal can be taken against the declaration of bankruptcy either by the bankrupt or his creditors. The court of appeal in such case decides, within twenty days, whether there is a case for bankruptcy or not. As already stated, however, the proceedings begun do not cease during this appeal. The judge, at the time of the declaration of bankruptcy, causes an inventory to be made of the property of the bankrupt, puts his seal upon the latter's office and books, and delivers everything to the receiver or receivers. The creditors are summoned as soon as possible by the judge, and they agree upon the number of permanent receivers to be appointed. The resolutions of the creditors are made by a simple majority of their number, representing three-fifths of the debts against the bankrupt. The correspondence of the bankrupt is opened in his presence, and within fifteen days the permanent receivers must present to the judge a record setting forth the causes of the bankruptcy and state of the bankrupt's affairs. On the day following the appointment of the permanent receivers, the judge summons the creditors, in order that they should present their claims against the bankrupt. Creditors can raise objections to claims against the estate and the bankrupt can also raise objections to such claims, and whatever doubts may arise the judge must decide within eight days following the application presented to him by the parties interested. At this stage of the failure, the bankrupt may propose a settlement (convenio) to his creditors, either for the purpose of obtaining from them a reduction of their claims, or time for the payment of the same. This plan should be discussed at an open meeting of the creditors, and the agreement can only be accepted by a majority of the votes of the creditors. Each creditor has but a single vote, regardless of the number and amount of his claims. Whenever an agreement is made, the affairs of the individual bankrupt or the bankrupt company are wound up in accordance with this agreement. When no agreement is made, the receivers sell the property of the bankrupt at public auction, collect all the debts due to the bankrupt, and notify the judge of the amount that should be paid to each of the creditors, reserving the proportion belonging to any creditors domiciled abroad. Having realized all the property and settled with the creditors, they present their accounts to the judge. Any property of third parties in the possession of the bankrupt at the time of the failure is returned to its owners on proof of ownership. When the amount to be paid to the creditors is fixed, the judge orders the payment of certain preferred claims, such as those of the treasury, those of the municipality, employees, creditors secured by pledges, common carriers, insurance companies, etc. The foregoing is a short summary of the bankruptcy law of Chile, and of course the same proceedings must follow in the case of an insolvent bank. It is the usual custom here, however, in the case of an insolvent bank, to have one of the other banks, such as, for instance, the Bank of Chile (Banco de Chile), appointed receiver. It is necessary also to refer again to the articles of the Commercial Code quoted in answer to No. 12, which provide that in the case of the insolvency of a bank, after the passage of that act, the Government shall dispose of the guaranty deposited for the notes issued by the bank, and shall pay off those notes. In the case of the insolvency of a bank of issue at the present time, the Government therefore assumes the responsibility of redeeming the paper of the insolvent bank.

11. Article 29 of the act of July 23, 1860, establishing banks of issue, allowed any bank to issue notes payable at sight and to bearer to an amount not greater than 150 per cent of its capital stock, the stock being defined as above under No. 4 (A). Bank notes, by article 14, must be numbered and have a double stub, and must bear the signature and seal of the superintendent of the mint. One of the stubs must remain in the mint. Article 27 of the same act required that bank notes should be paid in gold or silver, but, as I have explained under No. 9, this article of the act was virtually repealed by various other acts, so that the system of irredeemable paper existed in this country from July 22, 1878, to June 1 of the present year.

12. The act of July 23, 1860, to which I have so often referred, made absolutely no provision for the redemption of the bank notes. With the exception of the period of the war with Spain, above mentioned under answer to No. 9, the bank notes, however, were promptly redeemed in this country down to the act of July 23, 1878. One of the conditions of the successful resumption of specie payment was, of course, provision for the redemption of bank notes. The resumption act of February 11 of the present year makes the following requirements of the banks, which are of sufficient importance to be mentioned here in full: "Article 6. The banks shall guarantee the total value of their issue by depositing, in the mint, gold, Government bills, Government bonds, municipal bonds payable by the Government, treasury notes, and bonds of banks which are exclusively hypothecary. These values shall be appraised monthly at an estimate fixed by the President of the Republic. The said guaranty shall be deposited in the following form: Seventy per cent within three months following the promulgation of this act, and the remaining 30 per cent at the rate of 5 per cent per month for the following six months. In case of the insolvency of the bank, the Government shall realize the guaranty, which shall be regarded as a pledge, and shall pay in full the notes of the bank through the Government offices. Bank notes shall, besides, enjoy preference over all other claims against the insolvent bank, except judicial costs and the fee of the receiver (sindico liquidador). Article 7. The bank notes guaranteed in the form prescribed in the preceding article shall be received by the Government in payment of taxes, credits, and for all other purposes until December 31, 1897. Article 8. Until the date mentioned in the preceding article, the total emission of bank notes is limited to 24,000,000 pesos, divided proportionately among the banks according to their paid-up capital." All the banks of issue have complied with the above requirements of the law.

13. The Chilean banking act of July 23, 1860, establishing banks of issue, on which the banking system of the country down to the resumption of specie payment on June 1, 1895, was based, was distinguished by a certain careless liberality toward the banks. No provision was made for the redemption of bank notes, no provision for a reserve fund, and no limit to the amount of loans which the managers of the institutions might make to themselves. The result has been that profits which, under the banking systems of other countries, would go into the reserve fund, have been expended in dividends paid to the stockholders; and the financial history of the country shows large dividends paid by the banks, while at the same time the stock of the banks has been below par. The Bank of Chile in twelve years and a half, that is, from the date of its foundation down to June 30, 1878, the month in which the law making paper irredeemable was passed, had paid 228 per cent in dividends, an average of more than 18 per cent a year. In 1872 it distributed a dividend of 24 per cent; in 1873 of 22 per cent; in 1875 of 20 per cent; and in December of 1875 it had only $2,452,000 (pesos) cash on hand to meet 2,555,000 pesos of notes and over 20,000,000 of deposits; and at the same date the bank had the precaution to accumulate a special fund for dividends, which amounted to 319,000 pesos. I give below the average rate of dividends paid by some of the principal banks between the periods I mention:

| Banks. | Years. | Semiannual. | Annual. |
|------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|------------------|------------------|
| | | Per cent. | Per cent. |
| Bank of Chile..... | 1865-1894 | 8.54 | 17.08 |
| Banco Agrícola (which coalesced in 1894 with the Bank of Chile). | 1869-1894 | 5.91 | 11.82 |
| Bank of Talca..... | 1885-1895 | | 9.31 |
| Bank of the Union..... | 1885-1895 | | 9.62 |
| Bank of Concepcion..... | 1872-1894 | | 14.062 |
| Bank of Curico..... | 1882-1894 | | 11.08 |
| Bank of Santiago..... | 1884-1893 | | 13 |

As a contrast to the large dividends paid I give at random the value of the shares of certain banks quoted in 1888: Bank of Chile, 50; Valparaiso, 50; Banco Agrícola, 60; Bank of the Union, 50. The quotations to-day are as follows: Bank of Chile, 86; Santiago, 90; Bank of the Union, 63; the Commercial Bank, 71. The values of the notes of the hypothecary banks have fluctuated as follows: eight per cent between 73 and 105, 7 per cent between 70 and 104, 6 per cent between 89 and 102, 5 per cent between 65 and 93. If the Chilean law has been liberal toward the banks, it must also be said that the banks have shown great liberality toward their customers. Every person in this country of good credit who has a deposit in one of the banks is allowed to overdraw his account. This agreement is known as an account current contract (contrato de cuenta corriente). Of course the bank charges interest on the amount overdrawn, so that it is really equivalent to an unsecured loan by the bank to the depositor. The following shows the variation in interest collected on advances in account current from 1858 to 1893:

| Date. | Per cent. | Date. | Per cent. | Date. | Per cent. |
|--------------------|-----------|--------------------|-----------|-------------------|-----------|
| 1858, Oct. 1..... | 8 | 1874, Oct. 1..... | 10 | 1888, Jan. 1..... | 6 |
| 1868, Nov. 28..... | 7 | 1876, Sept. 1..... | 11 | 1889, Jan. 1..... | 6 |
| 1869, Dec. 31..... | 8 | 1877, Jan. 15..... | 10 | 1890, Jan. 1..... | 6 |
| 1870, Oct. 15..... | 9 | 1879, July 15..... | 9 | 1891, Jan. 1..... | 6 |
| 1871, Sept. 1..... | 8 | 1880, Sept. 1..... | 7 | 1892, Jan. 1..... | 6 |
| 1873, Mar. 18..... | 9 | 1881, Jan. 1..... | 6 | 1893, Jan. 1..... | 7 |

In addition to the interest, the condition of the contract is that the depositor shall pay a commission of one-half per cent on the amount of the credit given him by the bank, payable every six months. Owing to the contraction caused by the resumption of specie payment the present rate is much higher, and has reached 10 per cent. To-day the rate quoted is 9 per cent.

APPENDIX.

Note No. 1.—By the act of January 10, 1884, the provision of the law of August 29, 1855, establishing hypothecary banks, and fixing the portion of the annual payment to be devoted to the sinking fund at not less than 1 nor more than 2 per cent, has been repealed. The amount to be devoted to the sinking fund may now be the subject of contract between the bank and the borrower.

Note No. 2.—In the year 1888 this interest was quoted as follows: At sight, 2 per cent; at a fixed term of two to three months, 3 per cent; at a fixed term of four months or less, subject to thirty days' notice after two months, 4 per cent; at a fixed term of six months or less, with thirty days' notice after four months, 4½ per cent; at a fixed term of one year, 5 per cent; at sixty days' notice after six months, 5 per cent; at thirty days' sight after two months, 4 per cent. The last two classes of deposits are received for indefinite terms, and the interest is payable on June 30 and December 31 of each year. To-day (October 18, 1895) the quotations are as follows: At sight and in account current, 2 per cent per annum; at two months, or subject to fifteen days' notice after the first month, 4 per cent; at three months, subject to thirty days' notice after one month, 5 per cent; at four months, subject to thirty days' notice after two months, 6 per cent; at six months, subject to thirty days' notice after four months, 7 per cent; at one year, subject to sixty days' notice after six months, 8 per cent. Deposits at fifteen, thirty, and sixty days' notice are received for indefinite terms, and the interest is payable, at the option of the interested party, either on the withdrawal of the funds or on the 30th of June and 31st of December of each year.

CHINA.

[Charles Denby, United States minister.]

1. Native chartered banking companies are unknown. Private bankers are found in all large towns. They are chiefly banks of discount and deposit. There are several foreign banks which are organized under the laws of their own countries, of which the chief is the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation.
2. A bank can be opened by any person or company on reporting its organization to the local officials. There are no special laws appertaining to banks.
3. See answer No. 2.
4. There are no regulations such as are specified in this interrogatory.
5. The Chinese bank is a bank of discount and deposit. There is no limit to the receipt of deposits. It is the custom to allow interest thereon, except at Peking.
6. The Government is not interested as a shareholder in banks.
7. All banks are permitted to conduct branch banks or offices.
8. There is no system by which information as to the condition of banks is given to the public.
9. There are no taxes or burdens imposed on the banks in return for privileges. In times of emergency, however, they are expected to aid the Government by loans or subsidies.
10. Insolvent banks are taken possession of by a special officer appointed for that purpose, who winds them up and sees that their assets are properly administered and the proceeds paid to the bill holders.

11. There are private banks of emission, but they are not numerous. They exist chiefly at Peking. The banks at Peking issue notes as low as 10 cents, but their circulation is local. There is no limit as to the right to issue notes.

12. There is no legal provision made for the redemption of these notes. Usually when disaster comes the banker disappears with the assets and the loss is total. If any assets are available the Government takes possession of them.

13. There is no State bank in China. The issue of paper money dates back to the earliest historic period. Five hundred years before Christ Government bills, which were utterly worthless, were in circulation. In 1445 the issue was suspended and, except during the Taiping rebellion in 1858, no bills have been issued since. As a State China has nothing to do with banking, but there is in each province a private bank which performs the functions of the treasury for the Government and receives the taxes. It requires payment in silver purer than the silver of the locality and thereby makes 2 per cent as a compensation for its services. The Chinese banks stand high in popular confidence. Banks for a consideration guarantee the paper of their customers. A clearing house exists at Peking. Immediate payment of bills is not demanded. Government moneys are deposited in the banks to prevent failures. There is little counterfeiting of bills. Bills are made out to the depositor as he requires them. Circular letters of credit are issued, which are good wherever the banks have agencies. Rates are higher than with us, as transportation is costly. In my opinion our banking system would work perfectly in China and would greatly benefit the country. What China ought to do, and what some day she will do, is to intrust the subject of banking and of finance to a competent American financier. If he succeeded in establishing a good system of collection and distribution of revenues he would be a great public benefactor.

DENMARK.

[John E. Risley, United States minister.]

1. There are three classes of banks, namely, the national, the private, and savings banks. There is only one bank of the first class, viz, the National Bank of Copenhagen, and it alone is authorized to issue bills to circulate as money. Of the second class there are several, of which the largest are: (1) "Den Danske Landmandsbank," (2) "Handelsbanken," (3) "Privatbanken." The third class, savings banks, is the most numerous of the banks of Denmark.

2. The National Bank was established in 1818 to succeed the State Bank (Rigsbanken). The latter, which was established by the Government in 1813, did not succeed in promoting the objects for which it was created, namely, to give new life to the broken-down financial and commercial condition of the country, subsequent to the wars and unhappy circumstances of that period. While the State Bank was owned by the Government, the National Bank is a joint stock company, owned by individuals; but the original shareholders did not enter voluntarily upon this affair. By royal ordinance all real estate in the towns was taxed to 6 per cent of its value, and till this payment was effected this debt bore an interest of 6½ per cent; all farm lands were taxed to 1 per cent, bearing the above-mentioned interest. In return the proprietors became shareholders for the amount of the tax; but as the new bank should redeem all the notes as well as the bonds issued by the old bank before any profit could be gained, for many years no dividend could be paid to the shareholders. From 1845, however, the bank began to pay a dividend, which on an average has amounted to 7 per cent per annum. The shares are of course transferable.

By octroi of July 4, 1813, the bank is granted the rights and privileges of the old State Bank (Rigsbank), whose assets and liabilities it assumed, so that transactions pending with the latter were transferred to the former for a term of ninety years, from 1818 to 1908. When the term shall have expired the octroi shall be renewed or revoked, as the case may be. The private banks are also stock companies. Every joint stock company is by law required to notify the proper authority of its foundation and state (1) the date of the by-law, (2) the business, (3) the amount of capital subscribed for, (4) the number of shares issued and whether they are payable to the holder or issued upon name, (5) whether the full face value of the certificate is paid, or if not, when payment may be demanded, (6) in what newspapers notices to the shareholders will be published, (7) names and domiciles of the administrators, (8) the locality in which the office is situated, and (9) the name of the manager, whose signature binds the company. (Law of March 1, 1889.) Otherwise there are no laws in Denmark governing or controlling stock companies. Any three or more persons may unite by private agreement and form a joint stock company for the business of banking or any other business, and a company so formed, having complied with the law above mentioned, carries on its business in its own way, being liable only under the general penal statutes for any wrongdoing. But such companies may make for themselves by-laws, and may file a copy of the same in the ministry of the interior and obtain the sanction of the ministry thereto, and thereupon it becomes the duty of that ministry to see to it that such by-laws are faithfully observed. It is not obligatory to so file their by-laws, and in case it is not done the Government takes no cognizance of the doings of the company, except to punish its managers for any dishonest or unfair dealing, but companies formed for banking business usually do it for the purpose of strengthening their credit and gaining public confidence. The savings banks are subject to the law of May 28, 1880, and their by-laws must be sanctioned by the King. Two copies of the law are sent herewith, and a translation of the principal sections is appended below.

3. The minister of the interior, so far as any authorization is required.

4. (a) For the National Bank the capital stock was determined as above mentioned. (b) They are managed by directors chosen from their shareholders. The number of such directors is fixed by by-laws. For the National Bank one of the directors is appointed by the King, and it is managed by fifteen so-called representatives and four directors. (c) There is no legal liability of shareholders. The savings banks are conducted in conformity to the law of May 28, 1880, as said before, section 12 of which provides for the responsibility of the proper parties. (d) Reports of condition of the bank are made monthly and annually—the National Bank and such private banking companies as have had their by-laws sanctioned by the ministry to the bank commissioner, and by the savings banks to the savings-bank inspector. (e) At the National Bank the minister of justice is commissioner; at each of the three other great banks the minister of interior appoints a commissioner, who exercises the control of the Government. For the savings bank is the inspector appointed by the King for such banks. (f) The National Bank can loan for periods of from one to six months, on such securities as its managers may deem safe, at not exceeding 6 per cent interest per annum. There are no restrictions on the other banks, except such as are imposed by their respective by-laws. The bank doing the largest loaning business is the "Landmandsbank." The loans are made partly on pledge of stocks or bonds, but mostly in mortgages on real estate, but personal security and bond is also accepted. The by-laws of the "Handelsbank" reads that "the bank gives loans on security, advances money on merchandise, procures capital for railroads and other enterprises." (g) Answered above. (h) Answered above. (i) The National Bank is required to keep 25 per cent in legal coins of the amount of bank notes in circulation, if the latter is less than 48,000,000; if 48,000,000 or more the amount in coins must not be less than 12,000,000 kroner. The larger part of the banking business of the country is done by the private banking companies above named; as to them, there is no requirement by public law for a cash reserve. (j) The by-laws of the Landmandsbank provide that the surplus fund shall not exceed 4,000,000 kroner, but there is no public law or regulation to determine the amount of the surplus. All private banking companies fix the amount of surplus to be accumulated to suit themselves by their by-laws. The usual mode of accumulating the surplus is this: Ten per cent of the net earnings are placed to the credit of the surplus fund annually until the amount is reached, as fixed by the by-laws of the bank; 4 per cent dividend is paid to the shareholder, and when there is still a surplus the same is disposed of in an extra dividend. The dividends paid by the principal banks have of late years been 6 to 7 per cent, and sometimes more.

5. There are no regulations by public law. Deposits are received by all the banks, and an interest of 1 per cent as a rule is paid. But savings banks allow 3, and sometimes 3½ per cent.

6. The Government is not interested in any bank as shareholder.

7. Yes, all the banks may have branch offices. The National Bank alone requires the sanction of the Government to open other offices.

8. Monthly and annual reports are made and printed by the national and savings banks and by such private banks as have had their by-laws sanctioned by the minister of interior. A copy of such report is sent to the royal bank commissioner by the National Bank, to the ministry of interior by the private banks, and to the royal savings bank inspector by the savings banks. Any person may have a copy of these reports on application to the bank making them. In addition to this the minister of the interior may at his discretion cause an examination to be made of any of the private banks, whose by-laws have been sanctioned by the ministry.

9. There are no taxes nor burdens; neither are the banks (except the National Bank) granted any other privileges than to carry on business like any other stock company or business concern.

10. The proceedings are the same as in the case of any other business, i. e., by action in the courts by any person. The savings banks alone are subject to a special provision of the law of May 28, 1880, section 8 (see under No. 2).

11. The National Bank of Copenhagen alone is allowed to issue bank notes. The octroy of July 4, 1818, grants the privilege to the bank, and a royal proclamation of December 20, 1873, determines the conditions upon which the privilege shall remain in force. The proclamation of 1873 reads: "Section 1. The National Bank is authorized to issue as large an amount of bank notes as the business may make necessary, provided, however, (1) that the bank is in possession of a metal fund to the value of the amount which the bank notes exceed 27,000,000 kroner, and never to a less value than three-eighths of the face value of the bank notes; (2) that the bank owns, as security for that part of the bank notes, which are not covered by the metal fund, easily realizable, good and secure assets in the proportion of 150 kroner in assets to every 100 kroner in bank notes. Section 2. The metal fund, which the National Bank, according to the foregoing provision, must be in possession of at all times, shall alone consist of (1) coins of legal currency according to the face value; (2) gold in bars or foreign gold coins to the value of 2,480 kroner per kilogram fine gold; and (3) to a limited extent only, which at present is fixed at one-third of the amount of the fund, silver bars and foreign silver coins at a purchase price, not exceeding the relation of the value to gold of 1 to 15.675. That part of the metal fund which consists of legal currency must not sink below 12,000,000 kroner if the circulating bank notes amount to 48,000,000 kroner. If the circulating amount of the bank notes is less, then the aforesaid metal fund in legal currency must amount to at least one-fourth of the value of the bank notes. Gold bars, which the National Bank has delivered to the Royal mint for coinage, may be included in the metal fund of coins of the bank. Section 3. The following assets serve to secure the amount of bank notes which is not covered by the metal fund: Notes for loans against security, bills of exchange upon Denmark and foreign countries, money payable on demand with foreign correspondents, public stocks according to the market value, and mortgages for direct loans on real estate; the last named, however, not to exceed the value of 6,000,000 kroner. Section 4. The bank notes must not be of a smaller denomination than 10 kroner. Section 5. The bank shall pay on demand the face value of the bank [notes?] in gold of legal currency, and shall also purchase of anybody who may wish it fine gold bars at a price of 2,480 kroner for each kilogram fine gold, deducting, however, one-fourth of 1 per cent for coinage expenses. Section 6. It is the duty of the directors of the bank to make a monthly report to the Royal bank commissioner, on the relations between the bank notes in circulation and the assets and metal funds, which serve as security for same. Section 7. Should it ever, against all expectations, be found that the report aforesaid shows a discrepancy in the relations between the assets and the bank notes, it shall be the duty of the directors to prove to the Royal bank commissioner, before the end of the following month, that the proper relations have been absolutely restored. Section 8. These provisions go into effect from the time when gold coin, in conformity to the law of May 23, 1873, section 16, is made legal currency. The bank, however, is authorized to pay bank notes issued with the coins, coined heretofore, until the latter have ceased to be legal currency. Section 9. All previous rescripts and resolutions are canceled from the time when these provisions go into effect." (Signed by the King). By a Royal resolution of November 2, 1877, permission is granted to the National Bank to increase the amount, 27,000,000 kroner, which is not covered by a metal fund, to 30,000,000 kroner, by forming an extra reserve fund of 3,000,000 kroner from the surplus of the earnings, but this amount shall not be decreased, as long as the octroi remains in force, without the sanction of the King. This resolution is found on pages 60 and 61 of the octroi sent herewith. The circulation of the National Bank, under the provisions of the octroi and subsequent decrees, has been increased, and on July 31, 1895, was 83,000,000 kroner.

12. They are redeemable on presentation and demand in gold coin of the realm.

13 I transmit herewith two copies of the octroi, regulations and decrees relating to the National Bank, the statutes or by-laws of the "Landmandsbank" and the "Handelsbank," also two copies of the law of May 28, 1880, regulating savings banks; also annual report for 1894 of the National Bank, Landmandsbank, and Handelsbank, under another cover. A translation of the principal sections of the law of May 28, 1880, and of section 262 of the penal code I subjoin below.

[Translation of the law of May 28, 1880, sections 1, 2, 5, 7, 8, 12.]

Section 1. Under the ministry of interior a savings bank inspector is appointed by the King. He is the immediate subordinate to the minister. Section 2. Savings banks which shall be established hereafter must, before starting, transmit a copy of their by-laws to the savings bank inspector, together with a list of the persons who constitute the board of managers of the bank. Amendments to the by-laws and changes in the personnel of the board must be announced within one month of their taking effect. Section 5. The annual account shall be revised by the auditors of the savings bank, who must not be members of the board of management, nor elected by same. The auditors shall compare the accounts of the depositors with the amount put down in the chief account, subject the assets and liabilities to a careful examination, and see that the bank has been conducted in conformity to the statutes. The revision must be over within two months of the receipt of the account. Section 7. The accounts shall always be laid before the savings bank inspector as soon as they have been revised by the auditors. It is also the duty of the inspector to satisfy himself as to the standing and proper management of the bank by personal investigations on the spot, when the managers are required to answer all questions concerning the affairs of the bank. The inspector shall make an annual report to the minister of the interior concerning the affairs of all the savings banks. Section 8. When a savings bank has not only lost its reserve fund, but sustains a deficit amounting to 5 per cent of the amount due depositors, the savings bank inspector is authorized to suspend the transactions of the bank. When the management gives security for the deficit, and such security is approved by the minister of the interior, the suspension shall cease; otherwise the bank shall make an assignment. Section 12. The managing members of the savings banks, who are liable to punishment and to pay damages according to the usual rules of the law concerning losses which are sustained by the banks or depositors by reason of willful or undue neglect, may also be subject to section 262 of the penal code in case of the bankruptcy of the banks when proper charges of disorder in bookkeeping and accounting can be made against all or any of them. (Sanctioned by the King.)

Section 262 of the penal code reads: "When a person who is required to keep proper books of account, and has been declared bankrupt, is found to have falsified, destroyed, or taken away such books, or has kept the books in a dishonest manner, or has, with fraudulent intent, not kept them, he shall be punished with imprisonment, on bread and water or with hard labor, for a term not exceeding two years. If such person is guilty of having kept his books in an improper manner, he shall be imprisoned for a term not exceeding six months."

ECUADOR.

[James D. Tillman, United States minister.]

1. All the banks are organized under the laws of the Congress, and are denominated "Sociedades Anónimas," or corporations, and all have a right to issue notes to be circulated as money, except the two hereafter named as "Bancos Hipotecarios," to discount commercial paper and may lend money on mortgages.

2. The requirements before going into business are the payment of 40 per cent of the capital stock and satisfactory proof of it to a Government official.

3. A Government officer is appointed to determine when these conditions have been complied with by the bank.

4. (b) The bank is managed by a board of directors. (c) There is no personal liability of shareholders. (d) Reports on condition must be made and published as often as called for, and the Government may call for these reports at any time. (e) They are subject to examination at any time by Government officials. The whole question of loans, security, amount cash reserve and surplus is in the discretion of the directors.

5. Small interest on deposits is allowed, ranging from 2 per cent for short time to 5 per cent for twelve months.

6. The Government has no stock in the banks.

7. Some of the banks have agents at places different from the sites of the bank.

8. Statements of the condition of the banks are published occasionally in a newspaper. A statement of the Bank of the Union will be found in this report.

9. The Government tax on the banks is 4 sucres per 1,000 on the amount of circulating notes issued. These notes are nearly all printed or lithographed by the American Bank Note Company, New York.

10. Government officials may take charge of the banks for the purpose of closing them.

11. The banks may issue 3 sucres of circulating notes for every sucre of silver held by the bank.

12. No provision is made for the redemption of the notes other than the proper management of the bank by the officials (banking and Government), whose duty it is to conduct its affairs. There are in the Republic five banks, with an aggregate capital of 8,140,000 sucres, as follows: First. The Bank of Ecuador, established in 1867, in Guayaquil; capital, 2,000,000 sucres. Second. The Bank of Commerce and Agriculture, recently established in Guayaquil; capital, 5,000,000 sucres. Third. The Bank of Hipotecario (mortgage bank), with a capital of 400,000 sucres, established in 1881 in Guayaquil. Fourth. The "Bank of Hipotecario Territorial," with a capital of 500,000 sucres, founded in Guayaquil in 1887. Fifth. The "Banco de la Union," with a capital of 240,000 sucres, founded in Quito in 1881. This bank is now in a state of suspension and its notes are at a large discount. In a communication addressed to the public on the 30th of September, 1895, by the president and which concludes "Dios guarde á V." (God protect you), there is given a statement of the condition of the bank. Among the assets there appears: Silver, 200,233.68 sucres; overchecks, 249,324.68; unpaid stock, 37,200; various accounts, 43,019.68. I understand this to be that uncertain account, "cash items." In the list of liabilities there appears: Demand certificate deposits, 97,167.38; time certificate deposits, 48,150.52; deposits subject to check, 79,923.12; circulating notes outstanding, 575,259. It will thus be seen that the amount of overchecks exceeds the total amount of deposits. Many of the bills of this bank were printed for "pesos," 5 pesos, or 1 or 20 pesos, and afterwards, when the sucre was made the unit of value, these bills were raised to a sucre by stamping on the face with an india-rubber stamp the word "Fuerte," meaning "hard" or "strong;" "full measure;" and they afterwards circulated as sucres. This bank, it is said, has been largely used by the Government and its officials during the late political troubles here. It is now in the hands of the de facto authorities, General Alfaro and his executive ministers. The notes of the "Bank of Ecuador" and of the "International Bank" are preferred to silver, and these banks deservedly have high character at home and abroad. The "Banco Internacional" has been merged with the "Bank of Commerce and Agriculture" recently founded at Guayaquil.

FRANCE.

[J. B. Eustis, United States ambassador.]

1. The Bank of France is the only bank of issue in France. There are also the Bank of Algeria and colonial banks, but they are regulated by special laws, and any privilege accorded is limited to the colony whose names they bear.

2. The Bank of France is a private institution, but a privileged one; its charter is voted by the Chambers. Since the foundation of the bank, nearly a century ago, it has been renewed many times. The present one expires in December, 1895. It can engage in no other transactions but those allowed by the laws authorizing its establishment and by its statutes, viz, (a) to issue bank notes payable on demand; (b) to discount bankers' drafts and commercial bills drawn at a fixed usance not exceeding three months and bearing the names of business people and others well known to be solvent; (c) to collect bills remitted them by private parties or public establishments; (d) to receive in account current sums for deposit with the bank by private individuals or public institutions and to pay amount drawn to extent of funds deposited; (f) to keep a record of voluntary deposits of all securities, bullion, and all kinds of gold and silver money; (g) to make advances upon French bills and French securities, upon bullion and foreign coins in accordance with a certain proportion fixed by law and to terms fixed by the statutes of the bank; (h) to deliver to any person applying therefor orders from Paris on their branch offices, and orders on Paris from the branch offices.

3. The bank being a privileged institution is, as such, under the control of the Government. This control is exercised by the representatives of the Government in the board of managers of the bank, who are the governor of the bank and two deputy governors, all three appointed by the State and removable at its will. Their functions and duties are determined by law. The minister of finance, through whom they are appointed, can report to the special jurisdiction of the council of state any action of the bank which he may deem contrary to the laws and regulations governing the institution.

4. (A) Originally fixed at 45,000,000 francs it has been increased in successive amounts to 182,500,000 francs, made up of 182,500 shares of 1,000 francs each. (Nominal value; it is worth nearly four times as much on the market.) (B) It is confided to the governor, aided by the two deputy governors, and to a general council (conseil général), made up of fifteen councilors (regents), and of three inspectors or auditors (censeurs). As stated above, the governor and the two deputy governors are appointed by the State. The councilors, or regents, and the inspectors, or censeurs, are elected at a general meeting of the stockholders. The three inspectors and five of the councilors are chosen from the business portion of the shareholders—industrials, fabricants, manufacturers, and merchants. Three of the councilors are selected from the treasury disbursing agents (trésoriers-payeurs généraux). The particular functions assigned to the councilors are much the same as those of the directors of limited stock companies. The inspectors, or auditors, exercise a control and surveillance over all transactions of the banks. The general council (conseil général) of the bank is divided into five committees, viz, the discount committee (comité d'escompte), which examines the papers handed to the bank for discount; the note committee (comité des billets), having the making, signing, and registration of the notes; the books and portfolio committee (comité des livres et du portfolio), having the bank books under its charge, and the treasury committee (comité des relations avec le trésor public) looking after whatever matters affecting the treasury. (C) Stockholders are liable only to the extent of the amount of their shares. (D) Every six months the bank furnishes to the Government a statement of its operations and of the payment of its dividends. In January of each year there is a general meeting of the two hundred largest shareholders, when a statement is rendered of the general position of the bank's affairs. It is printed and at the disposal of the public. Every Friday the bank publishes in the Journal Officiel a return of its transactions. (E) See reply to No. 3. The minister of finance has the right to have the books of the bank examined by its inspectors of finances. (F, G) The bank can make loans to any amount. In so doing it is governed by certain rules. It can not lend more than 80 per cent on Government securities, and not more than 75 per cent on other securities. It makes no loans on foreign securities. The loans are made for a period of ninety days, but they can be renewed. Advances of money on current account are made for five days. (H) Securities deposited in guaranty for loans obtained from the bank must be registered in the name of the bank. (I) The bank reserve fund (fonds de réserve de la Banque de France) is fixed by law at 10,000,000 francs, besides the amount paid for the buildings of the bank. (J) That fund amounts at present to eight millions and a fraction. It is derived from certain specified profits.

5. Anyone can open an account with the Bank of France by making a deposit of 500 francs. Deposits are payable at sight either at the bank or at any of its branches. No interest is paid on them.

6. The Government has no interest as a shareholder.

7. The bank is obliged to conduct branch offices. It has now ninety-four branch offices and thirty-eight auxiliary offices in different parts of larger cities. The branch banks (succursales), are created by decree of the State upon proposals of the bank's council, and a like decree is necessary before such branches can be abolished. Each branch is under control of a director appointed by decree by the chief of State on a proposition to that effect from the bank's governor and by managers appointed by the governor of the bank. These branches are examined into by a special body of inspectors from the Bank of France and by Government inspectors commissioned to that effect by the minister of finances.

8. By the balance sheet published every week and posted up in the bourse and by the annual statement which is furnished to the press.

9. The State has no share in the business of the bank, but the bank performs for the Government, without charge, important Treasury operations, amounting every year to 6,000,000,000 or 7,000,000,000 francs. Another advantage obtained by the State in return for the charter accorded to the bank is an advance of 140,000,000 francs made to the Treasury at a low rate of interest (3 per cent on the 60,000,000 formerly advanced by the bank and 1 per cent on the balance). The State gets, besides, the proceeds of the stamp duty on the notes issued by the bank and of a tax of 4 per cent on its dividends. Last year the proceeds derived from these two sources amounted to over 2,500,000. It is further necessary to take into consideration the important advantages assured to a large country in the matter of its credit, at home and abroad, by the excellent working of a first-class establishment, such as the Bank of France, and the consequent feeling of security that such a bank must everywhere inspire.

10. No information obtained. It seems that there is no special provision of law applicable to such case.

11. The issue of bank notes is regulated by law. The extent of the authorized note circulation of the Bank of France, limited by decree of March 15, 1848, to 350,000,000 francs, was increased by subsequent legislation as follows: December 10, 1849, to 526,000,000; August 12, 1870, to 1,800,000,000; December 29, 1871, to 2,800,000,000; July 15, 1872, to 3,200,000,000; July 30, 1884, to 3,500,000,000, and finally the law of January 25, 1893, raised the amount to 4,000,000,000 francs. The bank issues notes of 1,000, 500, 100, 25, 10, and 5 francs. But notes of the last three denominations are no longer in use. Bank notes, as soon as placed in circulation, constitute a legal tender in France and in all French possessions. They have to be guaranteed by deposit at the bank, by gold or silver coin, or by loans made upon securities or public funds, or, finally, by loans made to the State, or drafts discounted upon terms prescribed by the fundamental laws and regulations of the bank. The notes of the bank are payable in coin on demand. The bank may pay in silver if it chooses, but in fact it pays in gold.

12. It belongs to the council-general of the bank to proportion the circulation of its notes with its cash in hand and securities. In times of crisis, the Government can give to the notes of the bank forced circulation (cours forcé), in which case the bank is relieved from the obligation of redeeming its notes in coin.

13. To accompany the above report I transmit the following printed documents, in which additional information can be found: (1) Banque de France Compte rendu. (2) Lois et Statuts de la Banque de France.

GERMANY.

[Theodore Runyan, United States ambassador.]

1. Banks issuing bills with the privilege of circulating them: The Imperial Bank, private banks issuing bills, mortgage banks, or banks granting credit on real estate, which grant loans on mortgages or other loans and issue mortgage bonds thereon; all other kinds of banks which are embraced under the customary name of "credit banks" (Kreditbanken).

2. This is regulated by the Imperial law of March 14, 1875, inclosed herewith, as regards the Imperial Bank and the private banks issuing notes (Privatnotenbanken). The conditions for establishing and carrying on mortgage banks and the mortgage and bond system (Pfandbriefwesen) not being regulated by Imperial law up to this time vary in the individual confederated States. In most of the confederated States it is necessary to have a grant from the State for the carrying on of a mortgage bank empowered to issue bonds payable to bearer. The conditions under which grants for mortgage banks in Prussia may be obtained are contained in the inclosed "Standard regulations for the Prussian mortgage banks" of June 27, 1893. For the other banks (credit banks) regulations of the General German Business Law Book govern, which simply require the entry in the commercial register. (Compare articles 110, 163, 178, and 211 of the Business Law Book.)

3. As to the banks issuing bills, the Imperial chancellor or the Federal Council (sections 44-54 of the banking law of March 14, 1875). As to mortgage banks which receive their grant from the State, the State government. As to mortgage banks which do not, according to State law, require a grant from the Government, and as to the credit banks which do not require a permit from the State for their establishment (Law of the Confederated States (Bundesgesetz) of June 11, 1870; Banking Law Sheet, p. 375), the appropriate commercial court (Handelsgericht) in whose commercial register the company is entered according to the German Business Law Book.

4. (a) The capital stock of the Imperial Bank amounts to 120,000,000 marks, divided into 40,000 shares of 3,000 marks each, bearing the names of the owners. This capital is raised out of private means without participation of the Empire or the confederated States. (Banking law of March 14, 1875, sec. 23.) The capital stock of the other banks is fixed in the statute of each bank. No regulations regarding the amount of the same exist. (b) The management of the Imperial Bank is with the imperial chancellor. The current management and its representation in business rests with the Imperial bank directors (banking law of March 14, 1875, secs. 12, 25, 26, 27), who have at their head the bank president. (Banking law of March 14, 1875, secs. 27, 31, 32a.) The standard for the management of all other banks is, so far as they are business companies, open business partnerships, joint stock companies, joint stock companies with shares or stock companies, contained in the second book of the Business Law Book and in the corporation statutes. (c) The stockholders of joint stock companies or stock companies are only held liable to the amount of the face value of their stocks. To what extent the original subscribers and subsequent owners of stocks that have not been paid up in full are held liable as to the unpaid amount is regulated by articles 184, 184a-c, and 219 of the Business Law Book. (d) The Imperial Bank and the private banks issuing bills must publish an account on the 7th, 15th, 23d, and last day of each month of their profit and loss, and must draw up a balance sheet of profit and loss at the end of each business year, and must also publish in the Imperial Gazette the yearly account of profit and loss. (Banking law of March 14, 1875, sec. 8.) Furthermore, they are to furnish to the supervising authority (imperial chancellor), in order to enable it to collect the bill tax, a statement of the cash on hand (coin) and of the bills in circulation. (Banking law of March 14, 1875, sec. 10.) For the weekly reports and the annual statements of management the regulations of the banking law of the 14th of March, 1875, sections 15, 32, and 40-44, are also to be regarded. The report of management of the Imperial Bank for 1894 is inclosed herewith. For the balance sheets, as well as the profit and loss calculations of the stock banks and the publication thereof, the regulations, articles 185a-c and 239b of the German Business Law Book, govern. Besides this, for the Prussian mortgage banks there is also section 10 of the standard regulations of June 27, 1893. (e) The supervision of the Imperial Bank is with the Empire, and is done by the bank curators, which body consists of the imperial chancellor, as chairman, and four members. (Banking law of March 3, 1875, sec. 25.) The private banks issuing bills are also placed under the supervision of the Imperial Government through the imperial chancellor. (Banking law of March 14, 1875, secs. 48, 10.) Besides this, the confederated States have the right of supervision of the private banks issuing bills. (Compare banking law, sec. 48, chap. 2.) For the supervision of the mortgage banks various State regulations, issued by State government, exist. (Compare, for Prussia, the standard regulation of June 27, 1893, sec. 2, last chapter, and sec. 11.) (f) No restriction by law of the amount of loans, as to the maximum limit, exists with regard to any of the banks. (g) The granting of credit by the Imperial Bank and by the private banks issuing bills is limited by the regulations of sections 13 and 44 of the banking law. (Compare, also, the general regulations regarding business transactions of the Imperial Bank herewith inclosed.) The mortgage banks grant loans on mortgage of real estate, which, according to its value as ascertained by appraisal, etc., must be in a fixed proportion with the mortgaged property. They are generally also empowered to invest their available means in other profitable ways. (Compare section 1 of the standard regulations for the Prussian mortgage banks of June 27, 1893.) The granting of loans by other banks is not restricted by law. (h) Compare under question 4g as regards banks issuing bills. (Banking law of March 14, 1875, secs. 13, No. 3, and 44, No. 1.) (i) The having on hand of a cash reserve of at least one-third of the amount of the bills in circulation is only prescribed for the banks issuing bills (so-called metallic third security). (Banking law of March 14, 1875, secs. 17 and 44-3.) (j) In the case of the Imperial Bank the annual net profit is divided between the Empire and the stockholders, according to section 24 of the banking law of March 14, 1875, and the supplement of December 13, 1889. Since December 31, 1891, the lawful limit of the reserve—one-fourth of the original capital, 30,000,000 marks—has been reached. (See banking law of March 14, 1875, sec. 24.) The private banks issuing bills must place at least 20 per cent of the net profit beyond $4\frac{1}{2}$ per cent of the original capital for the accumulation of a reserve fund until the latter reaches one-fourth of the original capital. (Banking law of March 14, 1875, sec. 44-2.) For stock banks the regulations regarding the creation of a reserve fund are contained in article 185b-c and 239b of the Business Law Book.

5. The Imperial Bank is authorized to accept on deposit money on which interest is to be paid and money without interest. The amount of the deposits on which interest is to be paid is not to exceed the amount of the capital stock and the reserve fund of the bank. (Banking law of March 14, 1875, sec. 13, sub. 7.) The Imperial Bank, however, has not, since 1879, accepted any deposits on interest. On deposits to be withdrawn at pleasure it pays no interest. The regulations for money to be withdrawn at pleasure are to be found in the inclosed "General regulations regarding the business transactions of the Imperial Bank," pages 39 to 47. As regards the acceptance of money on deposit by the Prussian mortgage banks, compare the standard regulations of June 27, 1893, sections 1 and 2. For all other banks no legal regulations exist as regards their acceptance of money on deposit. On deposits which may be withdrawn daily without notice, the larger banks generally pay from 1 to 2 per cent, according to the condition of the money market, while on deposits with a longer time of notice a comparatively higher rate of interest is granted.

6. The Empire has no interest in any bank as stockholder (owner of shares). It, however, participates in the profits of the Imperial Bank according to article 24 of the banking law of March 14, 1875. The Bavarian State is a stockholder to the extent of 5,000 shares of 500 marks each of the Bavarian Bank, which is a bank issuing bills.

7. According to banking law of March 14, 1875, sections 12, 36, 37, the Imperial Bank may establish branch offices at any place throughout the Empire. The regulations of sections 42, 44, chapters 3 and 45, of the banking law of March 14, 1875, govern the private banks issuing bills. There are no restrictions as regards the establishment of branches by the other banks.

8. As regards banks issuing bills, compare interrogatory 4 D. The balance sheet and profit and loss account of stock banks are to be published in the papers specified by statute, and are to be forwarded to the commercial register. (Arts. 185c and 239b of the Business Law Book.)

9. The banks issuing bills, whose bills in circulation exceed the amount of cash on hand and the amount allowed in accordance with section 9 of the inclosed banking law (sec. 52 of the printed inclosure) are required to pay 5 per cent annually of the surplus to the imperial treasury. (Banking law of March 14, 1875, sec. 9.) Besides this, the Imperial Government participates in the net profits of the Imperial Bank in accordance with section 24 of the banking law of March 14, 1875; in a like manner individual confederated States participate in the profits of the private banks issuing bills, doing business within their territory.

10. In the case of bankruptcy of an insolvent bank the general bankruptcy proceeding is applicable, as regulated by the German imperial bankruptcy regulation of February 10, 1877. Not only the debtors, but each of the directors is authorized to make the request for the declaration of bankruptcy. (As regards the stock banks, compare sections 193 and 194 of the bankruptcy regulation.) As to actual stock companies (not joint stock companies with shares) the special regulation exists that the board of directors must give notice of the bankruptcy before actual insolvency takes place, whenever the balance sheet shows that the capital is not sufficient to cover the debts. (Art. 240 of the Business Law Book.)

11. The amount of the bank bills in circulation of the individual banks issuing bills is not absolutely restricted by the Empire; it is, however, fixed by inclosure, section 9 of the banking law of March 14, 1875, up to what amount each bank may issue bills free from tax which are not covered by cash reserve. For individual banks the confederated States have issued regulations as to the limit of the bills which may be issued by the banks located in their territory, and the limit of the notes to be circulated amounts to: In the case of the Baden Bank, 27,000,000 marks; Bank for Southern Germany, 36,981,000 marks; Bavarian Bank issuing bills, 70,000,000 marks; Brunswick Bank, 10,500,000 marks; Frankfort Bank, 34,285,700 marks, and the Wurtemberg Bank issuing bills, 25,714,200 marks.

12. The banks issuing bills are required to have in their treasury as security for the amount of their bills in circulation, at all times, at least one-third in German current money, Imperial bank bills, or in gold bullion or foreign coin (the pound fine of bullion to be calculated at 1,392 marks) and the remainder in discounted paper, payable within three months, and which as a rule is to have three or at least two solvent sureties. (Banking law of March 14, 1875, secs. 17 and 44-3.) Loans by the bank (Lombard Forderungen), notes, stocks, etc. (Werthpapiere), are not competent as security for bank bills.

13. Detailed information regarding the banking system of Germany will be found in the publications transmitted.

GREECE.

[E. Alexander, United States minister.]

1. There are three privileged banks—the National Bank of Greece, the Ionian Bank, and the Epeiro-Thessalian Bank. They do a general banking business in discounts, loans, etc., and are the only banks in Greece which are permitted to issue bank notes. There are also other banks which transact every kind of banking business, except the issue of bank notes. Loans on mortgage are made chiefly by the three privileged banks, whose regulations require them to make such loans. Most of the banks are limited.

2. All limited banks, before beginning business, must submit to the ministry of the interior their proposed regulations, specifying the amount of capital stock, the number of shares into which the same is to be divided, the object for which they are formed, and the provisions which may seem fit for the regulation of their business and the conduct of their affairs. A copy of the regulations is forwarded to the ministry of the interior, which, if it approves them, asks for a royal decree. The royal decree, together with the regulations of the bank, is published in the official gazette, thus sanctioning the formation of the bank. Other banks deposit their regulations at the court of first instance.

3. The ministry of the interior determines when the required conditions have been satisfied.

4. (A) The regulations of each bank determine the capital stock. (B) All banks have a manager, or managers, and a council elected at the annual meeting of the shareholders. At the same meeting the auditors are chosen, who examine the accounts of the past year and make a report on the condition of the bank. The councillors are usually elected for two or three years, but are eligible for reelection. Every councillor or manager is required to own, in his own right, a certain number of shares of the capital stock, as designated by the regulations of each bank. (C) The liability of shareholders is determined by the regulations of each bank, but shareholders are usually liable only for the amount invested in their shares. (D) Every year the manager reads, at the meeting of the shareholders, a report on the affairs of the bank for the preceding year. (See, also, No. 8.) (E) Each of the three privileged banks has a royal commissioner, appointed by the Government. All other banks are under the control of the ministry of the interior. (F) There are no fixed restrictions on the amount of loans. (G) As regards restrictions of any other character, the regulations of the National Bank require that three-fourths of the capital stock be invested in mortgages; of the Epeiro-Thessalian Bank, that three-fourths of the capital stock and reserve fund be so invested. (H) Bank loans are made only on first mortgages or on approved securities. (I) The regulations of each bank determine the cash reserve required. The National Bank and the Epeiro-Thessalian Bank set aside 5 per centum for their reserve fund. (J) The accumulation of surplus is determined by the banks' regulations.

5. All banks receive deposits bearing interest. The interest varies from 1½ per cent to 5½ per cent, according to the time that money is to be left on deposit. Certain banks allow as much as 6 per cent; the National Bank allows 4 per cent. All of the banks receive deposits not bearing interest, which can be withdrawn at any time.

6. The Government is not interested as a shareholder in any of the banks.

7. All of the banks are permitted to conduct branch banks or offices. The National Bank, for example, has branches in 26 towns of Greece, the principal establishment being at Athens; and the Ionian Bank, whose head office is in London, has branches at Athens, Corfu, Patras, Cephalonia, and Zante.

8. Information as to the condition of banks is given to the public by monthly or semi-monthly balance sheets, and by the annual reports of the managers and auditors.

9. In return for the privileges granted them, the banks pay a tax of 5 per cent on their dividends, the customary house tax, and transport the money of the Government free of charge.

10. The closing up of its business, when insolvent, is determined by the regulations of each bank. In general, it may be said that when a bank has lost one-half or two-thirds of its capital stock a meeting of its shareholders is held; three examiners appointed at this meeting examine the books of the bank and make a detailed report to the shareholders, who then decide whether the bank shall close up or continue its business. In other cases the court of first instance is called upon to decide any matters relating to insolvent banks which may be brought before it.

11. Since October 1, 1885, Greece has had forced currency. Only the three privileged banks are permitted to issue bank notes. Under the agreement for forced currency the National Bank can issue 70,000,000 drachmas for the Government and 60,000,000 for its own account; the Ionian Bank, 2,000,000 drachmas for the Government and 5,000,000 for its own account; the Epeiro-Thessalian Bank 800,000 drachmas for the Government and 4,200,000 for its own account. By special agreement the three privileged banks have been authorized to issue also 14,000,000 drachmas in fractional currency (notes of 1 and 2 drachmas). Of this amount 7,000,000 are issued by the National Bank, 3,500,000 by the Ionian Bank, and 3,500,000 by the Epeiro-Thessalian Bank.

12. No provision is made for the redemption of bank notes.

13. Balance sheets issued by two banks are here given, in the way of additional information.

HAITI.

[John B. Ferris, United States minister.]

1. There is only one bank existing in Haiti. It is a privileged Government bank, under the title of "The National Bank of Haiti," performing all the treasury service of the State.

2, 3, 4. The bank is a French establishment, formed according to the accompanying law and statutes (inclosure No. 1) by French capitalists.

5. The bank receives deposits in paper money (Haitian currency) as well as in American gold, but allows no interest on such deposits, according to amended regulation (inclosure No. 2).

6. The Government has no share in the bank.

7. The bank has branch establishments in all the open ports of Haiti.

8. The bank publishes once a month in the official journal (Le Moniteur) its monthly balance.

9. No taxes are paid in return for the privileges.

10 to 13. See law and amended statutes (inclosure No. 1). By a new agreement the bank has now the exclusive privilege of issuing bank notes, redeemable in American gold. Inclosure No. 1 gives all the information as to the working and privileges of the bank. When first established the bank issued a few $5 notes; at present there are none of these in circulation, and they have no issue at present, either of gold, silver, or notes. The Government has had $6,200,000 of paper money in circulation in $1 and $2 bills, which have been gradually redeemed and destroyed. The amount at present in circulation is about $4,200,000. This redemption is effected by a tax amounting to 50 per cent on every 100 pounds of coffee exported, which is set aside for the purpose. Besides this amount in paper the Government has $3,584,000 in silver in $1, 50, 20, and 10 cent pieces, which have the same intrinsic value as the French silver coins. This money remains in circulation and is not being redeemed. The only guaranty for this silver is the current value of silver. They have also in circulation $160,000 in copper coin of 1 and 2 cent pieces, which are equal in value to the French copper coins. We have here in circulation American gold and silver estimated at about $3,000,000, which rates at from 12 to 25 per cent above the Haitian currency. The rate of exchange depends on the season of the year. During the dull season, which is from about June to October, exchange is high, and this year it has run up to 25 per cent, and is now at 21 per cent and will gradually fall during the coffee season and may decline to 12 or 15 per cent. A great deal of the fluctuation of exchange depends also on the indebtedness of the Government. If the Government is heavily involved by loans made from the bank and other sources, exchange keeps high. From the decree (inclosure No. 1) it will be seen that the bank receives all money for the Government and pays all indebtedness for it, as far as the receipts will allow. If the receipts are not sufficient the Government negotiates loans with the bank or other sources. Besides the National Bank of Haiti and its branches there are in every city commercial houses that transact banking business. They advance money on loans to the Government, buy and sell drafts on Europe and the United States, and speculate in all kinds of Government paper. The only tax on these commercial houses is the local tax on all foreigners doing business. The head of the firm pays $300, Haitian currency, per year for a license, and all foreign clerks employed pay $50. That is the extent of the taxes on commercial houses, on payment of which they can transact all kinds of banking business with the exception of issuing money. The Government has an internal debt on the different loans made during the past five years amounting to about $4,000,000 in American gold, on which they pay interest at the rate of 1½ per cent in gold per month. These debts are secured by a certain portion of the exportation duty on coffee, and it takes about three years to pay off one of these loans. They have been repeatedly made at different times during the past five years; thus, a loan is made, say for $500,000 at a time, and they find no difficulty in obtaining any amount they may ask for on the terms given. The interest is paid regularly every month, and the principal gradually reduced. To give an example, a loan was negotiated for $500,000 last November; this loan has been reduced to less than one-half, and the interest has been regularly paid. I will also state that in making these loans if gold is at 120 against Haitian money the Government accepts it at 110, which really makes 28 per cent per year interest for the first year. The present session of the Haitian legislature has passed a bill authorizing the Government to contract a loan (all loans made by the Government must be sanctioned by the legislature) for 50,000,000 francs ($10,000,000), to be obtained in Europe at 8 per cent per year, for the purpose of paying off the $4,000,000 of the internal loans, redeeming the paper money at present in circulation, and with the balance to issue a gold currency. I have been informed that they will have no difficulty in obtaining the money on the terms mentioned, secured by a tax on coffee, in Europe.

HAWAII

[Albert S. Willis, United States minister.]

1. Commercial banks only.
2. By payment of a license fee of $500 to the Hawaiian treasury, and a list of partners in the proposed bank.
3. The minister of the interior.
4. As there are no incorporated banks answers to interrogatory 4 are not required.
5. There are no regulations governing the receipt of deposits, and it is not the custom for the banks to allow interest on deposits.
6. The Government is in no way interested as a shareholder in the banks.
7. Banks may, if they desire, conduct branch offices; none such exist at present.
8. The banks being private concerns there is no public information given.
9. A tax of 1 per cent is levied upon the actual cash in hand on the 1st of July.
10. In the case of insolvent banks they would be treated as an ordinary insolvent partnership.
11. The banks here are not banks of issue.
12. Not being banks of issue no provision is necessary.
13. The banks carrying on business in Hawaii have maintained a high reputation, and there has been no instance of a bank going into liquidation. The principal connections of the banks in Hawaii are with the banks in San Francisco, with whom they correspond and secure advances. In connection with the general post-office is a postal savings bank with an aggregate deposit of $725,000. Depositors are allowed 5 per cent.

ITALY.

[Larz Anderson, secretary of embassy.]

The banks of issue in Italy are, "The Bank of Italy," "The Bank of Naples," and "The Bank of Sicily." The Bank of Italy dates back to the year 1849. It was first constituted under the name of "Sardinian Bank," with a capital of 8,000,000 lire, and was afterwards called "Sardinian National Bank," and at the time of the proclamation of the Kingdom of Italy was called "National Bank of the Kingdom of Italy." Lately, by the law of the year 1893, the bank was transformed into the "Bank of Italy," with a nominal capital of 300,000,000, of which 210,000,000 were paid in. The capital is formed of shares of 900 lire, of which 600 are paid in. The Bank of Naples is the oldest institute of credit in Europe. It has its own capital; therefore it pays no interest on the capital which forms its patrimony. The capital of the Bank of Naples, comprising the reserve fund, amounts to about 170,000,000 lire. The Bank of Sicily is of the same nature of the Bank of Naples, it being created in the year 1843. Capital and reserve fund amount to about 50,000,000 lire. The faculty of making banking transactions, the modalities, modifications, and privileges granted to or withdrawn from the institutes of issue are regulated by law. The faculty of issuing bank notes is granted to the three institutes for a period of twenty-five years, beginning with the year 1893. The issue of bank notes is limited to each institute to triple its real capital. However, up to 1897 the exceptional limit of circulation for the three institutes is 1,000,000,000 lire, divided as follows: Bank of Italy, 800,000,000 lire; Bank of Naples, 242,000,000 lire; Bank of Sicily, 48,000,000 lire. The institutes are under obligations, however, to gradually reduce their circulation, bringing it, within fourteen years from 1893, to the legal limit—that is, after fourteen years the capital or patrimony of each institute must correspond to the third part of the circulation. The bearers of bank notes are entitled to have them exchanged for currency by the institute issuing them. The notes of the Bank of Italy, Bank of Naples, and Bank of Sicily have legal course in the districts where there is a branch office or agent of the bank which issued them. The Government officials and bank officers jointly supervise the issuance of bank notes. The expense connected with the preparation of the bank notes are defrayed by the institutes. The Government tax on circulation is 1 per cent per annum on bills issued for free circulation and which are not guaranteed by the capital of the bank. The tax is payable to the Government on January 20 and July 20 of each year. The capital required as a guarantee of the circulation (i. e., the third part of the circulation itself) must consist of currency and golden ingots. The institutes are authorized to issue checks or bonds payable at sight in all principal or branch offices of each institute, but the debt corresponding to the issuance of such checks or bonds must be guaranteed by currency equal in amount to 40 per cent of the debt itself. The three institutes can make the following business transactions: (a) Advances for a period not to exceed three months upon acceptances bearing the signatures of three persons unquestionably solvent; (b) advances for a period not to exceed four months, and for three-quarters of the rate of exchange upon bonds of the public debt of any state, or guaranteed by the state, as well as upon shares of the institutes of land security; (c) advances upon golden and silver valuables or golden ingots; (d) advances upon raw and woven silks and silver ingots for two-thirds of their value; (e) purchase and sale, in ready money and for their own account, of foreign bills of exchange payable in gold. The Bank of Italy can not make any business transactions upon its own shares. The institutes can receive deposits in account current bearing interest, such interest not to exceed one-half of the rate of discount. The discount may be modified on demand of the institutes with the authorization of the Government. The institutes can accept properties or mortgages as securities for doubtful credits, the same to be disposed of within three years. Inspection of institutes of issue rests with the ministry of agriculture, industry, and commerce, together with the treasury department, public officials making extraordinary examinations every two years. If such officials fail to disclose the exact findings of the examination, punishment is provided for by imprisonment for from three months to five years. Members of Parliament are not permitted to be administrators nor occupy any other honorary or remunerative office in the institutes of issue. Authority to issue bank notes was formerly granted to the National Bank, Bank of Naples, Bank of Sicily, Roman Bank, National Tuscan Bank, and the Tuscan Bank of Credit. Under the law of 1893 the National Bank, National Tuscan Bank, and the Tuscan Bank of Credit were authorized to consolidate for the purpose of constituting a new bank of issue under the title of Bank of Italy. The Roman Bank, on account of grave irregularities and consequent penal prosecutions, was liquidated by the Bank of Italy. The shares of the Bank of Italy are but nominal, i. e., made out to the bearer.

KOREA.

[H. N. Allen, chargé d' affaires.]

Korea has no banking system or anything to take the place of one. The Japanese banks operate here, but they will be fully covered by the reports from Japan.

LIBERIA.

A dispatch from the United States minister at Monrovia, Liberia, states that there is no banking system in that country.

MEXICO.

[M. Romero, Mexican minister.]

As in the United States, banking in Mexico is a State affair—that is, the Federal Government issues grants to several banks in the Federal district, which includes the city of Mexico, and in the territories, and each State has a right to issue a charter to banks established within her own limits; but the Federal Government, by taxation and other means, can monopolize banking. The Federal Government chartered several banks previous to 1882, but only one was successful and is still in existence, formerly called the Bank of London, Mexico and South America, which has been reorganized and is now called the Bank of London and Mexico. The other few chartered banks were consolidated in 1884 into one, called the National Bank of Mexico, which has the exclusive right to issue notes, which are received in payment of all taxes, but the Government does not guarantee them and only authorizes the bank to make that issue. The bank can issue notes for three times the amount of its capital and deposits not of a confidential character. To supervise the amount of the notes issued by the bank, so that they shall not exceed the amount allowed, the Government appoints two officers to act as supervisors of the bank for the purpose aforesaid. That bank has a right to establish agencies all over the country and has actually established them in all the principal cities of the Republic. The bank started with a capital of $20,000,000, of which 40 per cent was paid up, and the balance to be called upon by the subscribers, the bank having a right to increase its capital to any amount that they thought convenient. The bank agreed to advance the Mexican Government from $6,000,000 to $8,000,000 at 6 per cent interest, and to collect some of the Federal revenues, charging a small commission for that service. The Mexican Government appointed the bank its agent to pay the interest of the public debt. The bank enjoys all those privileges for fifty years from the date of the charter, which was May 31, 1884. You will see by this brief synopsis that we have really only one bank in Mexico, and that it stands in very much the same position as the Bank of England stands to the British Government.

NETHERLANDS.

[William E. Quinby, United States minister.]

1, 2, and 3. The Bank of The Netherlands is the only institution subject to Government interference. All other banks are of an entirely private nature. Like all liability companies, they are required by the Commercial Code to submit their deed of foundation for the Royal sanction and to observe the provisions of that code, but for the rest they are perfectly free in their operations. Hence these replies refer to the Bank of the Netherlands only.

PARAGUAY.

[Eben M. Flagg, United States vice-consul.]

1. The following banks are in actual existence in Paraguay to-day: Banco Agricola, Banco Paraguay y Rio de la Plata, Banco Territorial, Banco Mercantil, and Banco Milleres & Co. They may be classified as follows, translating as literally as possible from their statutes: Banco Agricola, to stir up and protect agriculture (Government bank). Banco Paraguay y Rio de la Plata, an incorporated society under law of June 25, 1889. The Government is a heavy shareholder. Banco Territorial, an incorporated society having for its object to speculate in land, purchasing areas that may be presented for subdivision under the security of an increase in value of the property; to form districts (wards) in those places that are already set apart, selling the ground on easy conditions of payment, putting it within the reach of all; to exploit the markets of Buenos Ayres, La Plata, Montevideo, and other centers of population; to cause unproductive land to produce income (such land as the society shall purchase and consider convenient to retain); to fence, build, and mortgage; to make leases, form savings bank, give money on bill of sale of properties, and to perform all other operations, civil or mercantile, as shall tend to increase land values. Moreover, it has the following objects: (1) Receive deposits at interest, in current account at sight or on time; (2) to discount and loan; (3) to realize any class of credit operations; (4) give and take exchange upon markets at home and abroad, and (5) finally, to practice whatever banking operations, civil or mercantile, that its administrative council may find convenient. The bank is free of Government control. Banco Mercantile del Paraguay, an incorporated society whose object is to aid the commerce of Paraguay by banking and commission operations: To fulfill this object the society may practice the following operations: (a) Receive deposits with or without interest; (b) discount documents with two or more indorsements, exchange received, collect promissory notes or other commercial titles, always giving preference to the discounting of commercial paper; (c) do every class of exchange; (d) make advances and establish credits upon titles and precious metals, general merchandise, products of the country—harvested or about to be, present or future—with such guarantees as the directory shall esteem convenient; (e) buy and sell on commission products of the country; (f) make advances on consignments to brokers; (g) receive and fulfill every kind of commercial order or commission; (h) to perform any other operation that shall not be prohibited by the general law, and that appertains by its nature to a banking establishment. The bank is not under Government control. Banco Milleres & Co., devoted to discounts and exchange. A commercial partnership, Miller & Rieva, doing principally a business in yerba maté (paraguayan tea) grown on their own estate, and the credit of the firm pledged to the fulfillment of its banking obligations, and entirely independent of Government.

2 and 3. A banking institution may be established in Paraguay with the same facility that any other corporation, society, partnership, or individual enterprise may be. On application to the Government (Congress) stating the object of the corporation and the internal organization which is to govern it, and which should not contravene any organic law of the Republic, permission will be issued to the banking company to establish itself under full recognition by the law. The bank will then be entered in the commercial register and from that moment may proceed to business. In case the bank is to enjoy any special privilege under Government, such special privilege is made the subject of special legislation, the Government and the bank entering into such contract with one another as they may find to be mutually agreeable.

4. (A) In the nongovernment banks the directory of the bank emits its share of capital stock in such proportions and at such times as it considers to be convenient, and in accordance with the best business interests of the institution. The Government, as such, has no more control over the bank's capital than it would have over the capital of a mercantile house. When the bank enjoys a Government privilege, the launching of its stock may be made the subject of special arrangement with the Government. In the case of the Banco Paraguay y Rio de la Plata, where the Government was a heavy shareholder and gave said bank right to issue notes, the regulations governing its capital stock were as follows: Capital of bank $8,000,000, Paraguayan money (at the time of opening the bank the dollar was worth silver, or about 66½ cents gold; it is now worth about 18 cents gold), divided into 80,000 shares of $100 each—$70,000 intended for subscription, $10,000 for compensation of initiators and founders, to be delivered to them and considered as paid up, the burden of such full payment being "distributed at so much per share and paid proportionally on installments paid in advance by shareholders." Of the 70,000 shares intended for subscription, 20,000 to be taken up by Government, and Government to give a bond for £400,000 to be negotiated at 6 per cent; 30,000 to be taken by the syndicate (the syndicate must not be confounded with the initiators); 20,000 offered for public subscription—shares to be paid as follows: Twenty per cent previously to the opening of the bank; 30 per cent by three installments of 10 per cent, in three, six, and nine months; 50 per cent when so determined by the general meeting of shareholders in conformity of the law. (B) (Translation.) Article 4. "The Banco Agricola shall be in charge of a directory of five members, of which one shall be president. They shall be named by the Executive with consent of the senate, and preferably those who are in the farming trade." The Banco Paraguay y Rio de la Plata is managed by a board of nine directors, of which five are named by the bank and four by the Government. The Banco Territorial is managed by a board of eleven directors; Banco Mercantil by seven, and Banco Milleres & Co. is managed by the two partners. (C) The liability of shareholders for claims against the bank is limited to the value and amount of their shares. That is to say, the creditors of a bank could not force any payment nor encroach upon any property owned by the shareholder other than was invested in the bank shares. (D) Reports of the condition of the bank are printed and published yearly by the management and distributed among shareholders, depositors, etc., and often a balance sheet is advertised in the public prints. (E) Nongovernment banks are not subjected to any official espionage. The Banco Paraguay y Rio de la Plata was permitted to issue three paper dollars for every silver dollar in its vaults, and a Government official, whom the bank paid $200 per month, made the examination monthly, in order to report that the paper note emission was not in excess of what was allowed by law. (F and G) The directories of the different banks, either at their general or special meetings, decide upon the advisability of diminishing, restricting, or suspending loans, and it should be remarked that they generally lean to the side of conservatism, and all the banks act in unison, so that frequently the money market is tied up and speculators obtain enormous interest. (H) Already answered in question 1. (I) With the exception of the case of the Banco Paraguay y Rio de la Plata, above reported, no cash reserve is exacted. (J) Have never known such a contingency to occur as the accumulation of surplus.

5. The regulation governing receipt of deposits is to never reject it, but always receive it, and the following is allowed by all the banks: Paper, current account, 4 per cent annual; paper, thirty days deposit, 5 per cent annual; paper, sixty days deposit, 7 per cent annual; paper, ninety days deposit, 9 per cent annual; paper, one hundred and eighty days deposit, 10 per cent annual. Gold coin, current account, no interest; gold coin, ninety days deposit, 4 per cent annually; gold coin, one hundred and eighty days deposit, 6 per cent annually. It will be remarked from the above that gold coin has not one-half the interest-drawing power that Paraguayan paper has.

6. The interest of the Government as a shareholder in the Banco Paraguay y Rio de la Plata has already been mentioned. In compensation for this interest, 5 per cent of the profits of the bank were to go to the Government. For the benefit of the Banco Agrícola, which is more closely allied with the Government, the following taxes are imposed: A specific exportation tax of 2 cents for every 25 pounds of yerba maté or tobacco; 2 cents for every hide exported; 1½ cents for every vara (32 inches) of hard wood 10 by 10 square; one-half cent for every vara of boards 1 inch thick and over; 3 cents for every railroad sleeper; 50 cents for every beef that is butchered for public consumption. What benefit the Government is to derive from these tax-gathering powers accorded to the Banco Agrícola it is difficult to see, unless it is supposed to find its compensation in the improvement of the agricultural business which the bank is expected to "stir up" and "protect." However, Paraguay is not the only country whose people are supposed to be "stirred up" and "protected" by having burdens laid upon them, and probably it does not make much difference to the people, so long as they are "protected," whether they are prevented from buying or whether they are prevented from selling.

7. The banks are permitted to conduct branch offices and some of them have opened such in the larger towns outside the capital, but what seems strange to the writer is that in view of the enormous interest that the very best security yields to capital, no foreign banking institution has opened a branch in Paraguay. I could only account for it on the supposition that there must be some specific restriction operating to prevent it, and so addressed a note to the secretary of state on the subject. It will be seen by the note and answer, which, together with translation, is hereto annexed, that such an institution as I describe would meet with no legal disqualifications, so the reason must be sought in the fact that Paraguay is so far out of the way of capitalistic ventures that the large interest which capital draws is not known abroad, and that, with some other facts to be mentioned at the close of this article, will explain what would otherwise be considered an anomalous condition.

8. Information as to the condition of the banks is given through the medium of the public press and reports printed in pamphlet form that are issued under the name of "memorials" every year.

9. The Banco Paraguay y Rio de la Plata pays annually 5 per cent of her profits to the Government in compensation for the concession she obtained. Private banks pay biennially a patent or license for permission to work, and it amounts to 1,000 Paraguayan paper dollars yearly, or about $170 United States gold.

10. As to the closing up of the business of insolvent banks, Mr. Schantens, attorney for the syndicate of the Banco Paraguay y Rio de la Plata (in liquidation), writes me as follows: "In the same manner as bankrupt merchants. The court appoints a receiver and the liquidation follows. The Government does not interfere. The responsibility of directors exist only on paper (in name)." The writer regards the case as only partially stated. What the learned attorney states may be the theory from a legal point of view, but what has actually occurred and is occurring may be inferred by reading a description of the liquidation of the Banco Nacional, which is here appended. When the writer came to Paraguay ten years ago, this bank, backed by the Government, was emitting all the paper currency then extant. Its notes read, "The Banco Nacional will pay to the bearer and at sight — dollars, in gold or silver coin, legally current according to law," etc. The monetary gold standard was the £. It stood for $5, and no one thought of paying any more than five paper dollars for a British sovereign. Paraguay was then in intimate commercial relations with Argentina, and on the 1st of January, 1885, Argentina suspended specie payments, or rather permitted its National Bank to do so, and the Argentine National Bank was then accounted the third richest bank in the world. To the astonishment of everybody, Paraguayan paper did not depreciate. The same causes that had produced the financial crisis in Argentina (which will be described later on) had not yet commenced to operate in Paraguay, and month after month went on without much depreciation of her currency. At length, toward the end of 1885, certain events occurred which drove up the gold premium to nearly 50 per cent. But the National Bank of Paraguay was not considered on that account insolvent, for by an interpretation of the law the expression "will pay in gold or silver coin" was understood to mean that the bank had the option of redeeming in silver coin but the holder of the note had not the option of demanding gold coin; and so silver coin was at a discount of about 33½ per cent—it corresponded with a gold premium of 50 per cent—and so matters stood till 1889, about which time the Banco Paraguay y Rio de la Plata was founded, redeeming its notes in silver, but the following year both banks were subjected to a "run." Their silver reserve was drawn out by holders of notes anxious to realize, and gold went speedily to 300 per cent. There was now no pretext for declaring that the National Bank was not insolvent, for any society or individual who does not fulfill the conditions subscribed to in their commercial paper can not be considered solvent. An individual under such circumstances would in any honest community have been instantly and legally confronted by their liabilities, and their assets demanded. But the Banco Nacional explained that large sums were owing to them by many people, some of them officials high in authority, who were perfectly solvent and only suffering from temporary pecuniary embarrassments that no doubt would soon pass over; that these people were large landowners, and the price of land was sure to go up after the financial crisis had passed over. So, instead of demanding the bank to show what it could pay, and—even if it were only 20 cents on the dollar—forcing it to pay, the bank was granted a ten years' extension of time (movatorio), and all its debtors were expected to pay off their indebtedness in ten years, at 12 per cent a year, quarterly payments. Nearly all the money had been borrowed from the bank during the time of specie payments, but the bank was to receive the money back in depreciated paper, for by 1891 gold had reached a premium of 600 per cent; but the payments were not made, and in August of 1894 the bank agreed to compromise with its debtors for 50 per cent. Some debtors did pay up at that rate and received discharge of their obligation, but there was such a rush for money, for the offer did not last but three months, that interest rose enormously, and many could not in the straightened condition of the money market avail themselves of the opportunity. The price of gold remained virtually the same, though the bank did get in some hundreds of thousands of dollars. What debts it has not been able to collect are now about to be handed over to a syndicate, but it is not certain when the business will be finally settled, and a liquidation that was commenced four years ago may drag on two years more, producing in the commercial community a continual doubt about the value of the circulating medium, which will prevent the making of contracts, since no man can prophesy how they may turn out.

11. The banks, such as were allowed to issue notes, issued, as I have already stated, three paper dollars to one silver dollar.

12. The only provision now made for the redemption of the notes is through the custom-house. Custom-house taxes are either paid directly in gold coin or in paper money at the quotation furnished by the Government and 5 per cent of the custom-house receipts are set apart for the redemption of the notes each month. This business is conducted by the Banco Agrícola, and there is still some question as to the best means of carrying out the provisions of the law—some contending that it would be better to burn the notes coming in from this source, and others not to burn them but buy gold with them, which gold should be deposited in reserve. There must always remain, however, this objection to a custom-house tax for such a purpose, that it lacks the element of steadiness. A general 25 per cent tax that passes off very well this year when the harvest is good and no locusts to eat it, may prove a serious burden next year if the country suffers from drought and locusts. The merchants will complain loudly against the tax, not so much on account of its amount as upon their inability to re-collect it from the consumer, and they will stop importing, thereby crippling the resources of a Government that depends more for its existence upon taxing commerce than any other means. The merchants have done so before, compelling the Government to yield, and there would be nothing to prevent them from doing so again.

13. In 1885 the population of Paraguay was only 250,000, while it is to-day (1895) more than 600,000. In 1885 the paper emission was \$4,000,000 and redeemable in gold; to-day (1895) it is about \$5,000,000, but its gold value is only \$850,000, or about \$1.35 gold per capita. The foreign debt, counting accumulated interest for several years, is only \$5,000,000 gold. The home debt is about \$1,000,000 gold. The country, besides possessing rare beauty in the way of natural scenery, has most abundant natural wealth, requiring only the application of labor to develop it. The constitution (with the exception of one clause, that dictates what theological opinions the chief magistrate shall profess) is considered to be as fair to mankind as any constitution can be. The climate is mild and the soil productive. On the best security, such as bond and first mortgage, the capitalist can get $1\frac{1}{2}$ per cent a month, or 18 per cent per annum. This large interest is not due to insecurity of the circulating medium, for the loan can be made on a gold basis if desired. In stating 18 per cent per annum as the rate of interest the writer is well within the limit, as many loans are made at 24 and 36 per cent per annum, and bills discounted at the same rate, with interest paid in advance every three months. Under such circumstances it may well be asked why capital is not pouring into the country and the banks flourishing. The answer may be dated back to 1885. At that time the war of extermination had been closed for more than twelve years. The country, no longer under a dictatorship, was in possession of a constitution and had entered the family of nations as a sovereign State, fully recognized as such, sending to and receiving from all the principal nations her consular and diplomatic representatives. At this time the Government had in its possession a large quantity—many square leagues—of fiscal land, which amount was considerably increased by the concession of the Paraguayan Chaco through the arbitration award of President Hayes. Instead of retaining these lands for the benefit of actual settlers the Government was induced to make sale of them to speculators under the belief that they would colonize them. It is needless to say that all hopes of that nature have proven fallacious, and the speculator is doing as much to prevent the settlement of the land as though he were an enemy to the progress of the country, for he manages to keep at least one step in advance of the immigrant, so that if the land is not actually monopolized it is relatively so, while the absorption of so large a quantity of the element that everyone must make use of in one form or another operated at first to drive up rents to an enormous price, and landowners, capitalizing their possessions on this fictitious basis, were enabled to borrow from banks on bond and mortgage sums that actually amounted to far more than the intrinsic value of their pledge. It was useless at the time to point out the danger of the situation; if one bank would not lend the money another would, and the banks soon became swamped with lands whose actual value was worth hardly one-fourth of what had been loaned on them. The same thing had happened before in Argentina, but Paraguay, in the fever of excitement, did not heed the warning. Had the lands been in the possession of actual settlers, of laborers whose work was producing wealth, and whose wants were employing the wealth produced by others, Paraguay would soon have been in possession of sufficient collateral, not only to have redeemed the notes of her banks, but to have warranted an increased emission. As it was, some squatters were driven off the lands, and vagabonds drifted into the cities, immigration ceased, and merchants who had to pay their outside debts in gold coin soon found that there was little in the country to attract that gold coin, so that \$2, \$3, and very soon \$4 in paper was required to pay for \$1 in gold. While labor was thus suffering, it was at the same time bearing all the burdens of Government and privilege was going scot-free. Any person might own a million dollars' worth of land in the heart of the capital, levying rent in every direction on the labor of others, and for that enormous privilege did not return one cent to the community. In fact, to make matters worse, labor had to bear an increased burden of taxes by raising the license fees that a man had to pay for permission to work at his trade or profession. No one was exempt—physicians, dentists, carpenters, down to boatmen, porters, and washerwomen were all taxed as though industry were so heinous a crime that if it dared to show itself it must be immediately punished by a fine. At this crisis, some few men in Congress, with Don José Segundo Decoud at their head, succeeded in obtaining the passage of a law imposing a tax on land values in the hope that owners of valuable land would be stimulated to put it to some use and give employment to labor. The land of the country was valued by Government assessors without much difficulty, improvements being valued separately, and though the tax was only \$3 per thousand, its beneficial effect was immediately apparent. Fences were erected, fields planted, and deserts artificially created were being redeemed. Soon after the passage of the law Congress adjourned. It had taken months of labor to frame and pass the law, but when Congress met the following April it took only ten minutes to repeal it, and matters relapsed into their former condition, gold reaching 700 per cent premium at one time last year. However, there is now another project for a land tax before Congress, and since its agitation commenced gold has fallen more than 100 points. One would think that this fact alone should indicate the direction that legislation ought to take in order to increase the prosperity of the country and establish the banks once more in the position of security that such institutions must necessarily occupy for the well-being of the citizen and the credit of the nation.

CONSULATE OF THE UNITED STATES,
Asuncion, Paraguay, October 3, 1895.

SIR: Can you kindly inform me if there is any legal impediment in the Republic of Paraguay to the establishment of a bank here that is a branch of a foreign bank? During the ten years since I have been a resident of your country I have never known of any banking corporation having its principal establishment in another country to open a branch in Paraguay, notwithstanding the high rate of interest that has obtained here.

This information is requested most respectfully for the Department of State of the United States, and your answer at the foot of the present document will be most gratefully appreciated by

Your obedient servant,

EBEN M. FLAGG,
Vice-Consul of the United States.

Hon. JOSÉ SEGUNDO DECOUD,
Secretary of State for the Republic of Paraguay.

ASCUNCION, October 3, 1895.

Distinguished Senior Vice-Consul:

In reply to the request that you make me in the preceding note I should inform you that in my opinion there exists no law or disposition that prohibits the establishment in this country of a branch of any foreign bank. To enjoy the rights that the Commercial Code accords, it should solicit the approval of its statutes by the Executive and its consequent inscription in the respective commercial register. It is understood that the banks do not possess the privilege of emitting paper money without the authority of Congress.

JOSÉ S. DECOUD.

PERU.

[Richard R. Neill, United States chargé d'affaires.]

1. The three banks established in Lima may be classified as loan and discount banks. One of these banks, the "Banco del Callao" has a "Seccion Hipotecaria."
2. A license from the municipality would be necessary to establish a bank, and for obtaining same a copy of the statutes should be presented for inspection.
3. The municipality.
4. There are no regulations for banks. The liability of the shareholders does not go beyond the nominal value of the shares. A statement showing the general balances on the last day of each month has to be published in one of the local papers. There is no examination by Government official; no restrictions on the amount of loans. The securities for loans are generally shares of companies domiciled here, like gas, water, internal debt, railways, or any kind of document which, to the judgment of the banker, could be considered as good. The amount of cash held by each of the banks is 1,000,000 (national money) soles, but it is owing to the bad state of business that a good part of this sum is not invested. There are no restrictions in regard to cash reserve, but of course all banks are careful to have enough to meet their requirements.
5. The banks receive money in current accounts and allow 2 per cent per annum; for deposits at sight, 2 per cent per annum; for six months, 3 per cent per annum, and one year, 4 per cent.
6. The Government is not interested in any of the banks as shareholder.
7. All banks are allowed to conduct branches.
8. By the monthly statement published and by the half-yearly reports presented to the local shareholders.
9. Five per cent of the net profits is paid for patent. ●
10. Nothing can be said about this.
- 11 and 12. These matters should have to be put before Congress and discussed.

PORTUGAL.

[George William Caruth, United States minister.]

1. The banking system of the Kingdom of Portugal is conducted by the Bank of Portugal, which is the fiscal agent of the Government, and such other banks as may be organized and conducted under the decree of July 12, 1894.
2. The Bank of Portugal has been in operation many years. The organization of other banks consists in obtaining the special permission of the Government to so organize, and in the subscription of a capital stock, the amount to be determined by the shareholders, which must be paid in.
3. This is determined by the commercial section of the department of public works, which is charged with the control of the entire banking system.
4. (a) The capital stock of the Bank of Portugal was fixed by the law of its creation at 13,500,000,000 reis, divided into 135,000 shares of 100,000 reis each. As to other banks, it is determined by the shareholders at the time of organization what the capital stock shall be. (b) The Bank of Portugal is managed by: (1) A governor appointed by the Government, and who holds his office for three years, subject to removal; (2) a board of directors composed of ten members, presided over by the governor, and elected by the shareholders at the annual general meeting; (3) a fiscal board composed of seven members, elected by the shareholders at the annual general meeting, charged with the duty of examining the weekly balance sheets of the bank, seeing that the statutes, rules, and orders relating to the administration of the bank are duly complied with, and to examine the books and accounts, the safes, vaults, etc., of the bank whenever deemed necessary, with the securities on which loans have been made. As to the other banks organized under the general banking law, known as the decree of July 12, 1894, a different rule as to the management obtains. They are managed simply by a board of directors selected by the shareholders. The law, however, disqualifies the following persons from serving on the board: (1) Any person having a relative engaged in any of the managing departments of the same bank; (2) any person who is a partner of any other member of the board; (3) any person who is a member of the board of directors of any other bank. (c) Shareholders are not liable in the event of insolvency of the bank; they lose their investment and nothing more. (d) Reports as to the condition of the Bank of Portugal are made weekly. Other banks make monthly reports to the commercial section of the department of public works. These reports are then published in the official journal. (e) The examination of the condition of the Bank of Portugal is made by the governor of the bank, who is appointed by the Government as a general supervisor of the business of the bank. Examination of all other banks is made by the commercial section of the department of public works, being the same office to which the monthly reports are made. (f) There are no restrictions on the amount of loans made by the Bank of Portugal except the provision requiring certain reserves, to be mentioned hereafter. In the case of other banks, in addition to the reserve required, to be set out hereafter, the law provides that when the balance sheets show securities for loans of a fluctuating character there shall accompany them a detailed account of each security. (g) There are no other restrictions on loans except loans secured by the shares of the bank shall not exceed 15 per cent of the capital. (h) The law does not provide for any particular class of securities to be accepted on loans; that is left to the judgment and discretion of the management. (i) The Bank of Portugal is required to have two reserve funds, viz: 20 per cent of the paid-up capital, formed by a yearly contribution of not less than 5 per cent taken from the net profits, which is destined to constitute a supplementary capital as the bank's permanent reserve, and a fluctuating reserve limited to 10 per cent of the capital, formed by a yearly contribution of not less than 5 per cent taken from the net profits, for the purpose of making good any losses or depreciations. Other banks are required to maintain a reserve of at least 20 per cent of the amount of the deposits. (j) There is no provision as to accumulation of a surplus except that mentioned in a preceding section in relation to the Bank of Portugal.

5. The banks may and do allow interest on deposits, but the law requires that the amount allowed shall never exceed half the average rate of discount at the Bank of Portugal during the half year preceding the settlement of the interest.

6. The Government is not a shareholder in any of the banks.

7. The law permits the banks, if they see proper, to conduct branch banks or offices.

8. The public is advised as to the condition of the banks by the publication of the reports in the official journal, the Diario de Governo.

9. There are no special taxes or burdens imposed upon the banks in return for the privileges granted them.

10. When a bank fails to fulfill entirely or in part the obligations incurred in the course of its operations, the Government appoints a commissioner of its own, whose duty it is to act with the directors until the settlement of the crisis, either by restoring the normal state of affairs or by a declaration of bankruptcy.

11. The only bank issuing bank notes is the Bank of Portugal. The entire paper currency of the Kingdom, and there is no other sort of money in circulation, is issued by that institution.

12. There is no provision for the redemption of their paper currency. It is supposed, however, to be in some way protected by gold, silver, and bronze coins in the vaults of the bank.

13. Banks are forbidden to buy on their own account their own shares. Shareholders having shares pledged at the bank are not qualified to take part in general meetings to represent such shares. Banks are forbidden to draw from the reserve fund in order to complete a dividend any sum exceeding one-tenth of the amount of the reserve, and this deduction must be replaced, as far as possible, in the next succeeding year. Balance sheets must be signed by an acting director and by the manager or bookkeeper, who shall certify as to its accuracy. The present charter of the Bank of Portugal dates from January 1, 1888, and is to continue for the term of forty years.

RUSSIA.

[Clifton R. Breckinridge, United States minister.]

1. The different classes or kinds of banks are seven in number. First, there is the Imperial or State Bank, which is not a sharehold bank, but is a part of the treasury machinery of the Government. It issues the Government notes, similar to our greenbacks, has branches in various parts of the Empire, and does a general banking business, such as receiving deposits, discounting paper, and dealing in bills of exchange. This is the only bank of issue. All other banks are sharehold or stock banks, and the Government, while it has control over them, which will be explained farther on, has no stock or interest in any of them. The second class is the commercial banks, which do a general banking business. The third class is the discount banks, which make a speciality of discounting paper and making loans on stock, bonds, etc. They are closely akin to commercial banks, but are nevertheless classed separately. The fourth class is the Lombard banks. These make loans only on movable property. They are virtually pawn shops, though the business is upon a far more extended scale than the pawn business is supposed to be in the United States. They are said to be closely overlooked by the Government, and admirably conducted. The fifth class is the mutual credit banks. In banks of this class the interested parties are associated by membership. They are also called mutual credit societies. New members are accepted upon being properly recommended, and at the time of joining they are given a certain amount of credit, which they can use by giving their notes whenever they wish to do so. They are required, upon joining, to deposit, as a part of the permanent capital of the bank, 10 per cent of the credit that they will be entitled to command. This is equivalent to holding paid-up stock to the extent of 10 per cent of the credit the bank is permitted to give them. This deposit, however, is not deducted from their line of credit, and the working capital of the bank is made up of such deposits from those who make them simply as an investment, and of the current deposits of the members. The principal business of these banks is discounting paper, which, as indicated, is restricted to their own membership. The sixth class is known as the land property banks. They are permitted to make advances only upon lands in the provinces, and are equivalent to our farm-mortgage companies, with this distinction, that they issue 4 and 4½ per cent bonds to the borrower to the extent of the loan, and the borrower gets his money by selling these bonds. He can also make his payments to the bank either in money or in bonds. Sometimes the borrower makes and sometimes he loses by this operation. Much information in regard to the business of these banks is contained in dispatch No. 90, of June 12, 1895, by Mr. Pierce, charge d'affaires, to which reference is made at the State Department. The seventh class is the town credit banks. They are limited to making loans upon city and town real estate, improved or to be improved, and they issue 4½ per cent bonds to the extent of their loans, as the land banks do. The above exhausts the list of the different classes or kinds of banks.

2. The requirements which must be met to enable a bank of any class to begin business are not definitely fixed, and hence they can not be definitely stated. In a general sense, the proposal must come within one or another of the foregoing classes, unless those desiring to organize a bank can devise some new branch of the business. They form their plan and make their rules or statutes for their own government, and submit the whole to the ministry of finance. It is accepted, with or without change, or rejected, by the ministry, or, officially speaking, by the Emperor, as may appear advisable at the time. There are doubtless some general rules which serve as a guide in the matter, and which are not lightly departed from, but the latitude appears to be largely one of broad and varying discretion, according as the proposition may commend itself at the time.

3. A bank having been authorized to begin business, the right to continue is practically determined by the ministry of finance, to whom it is required to send monthly reports of its transactions, a report of shareholders' meetings, and a copy of all published statements of its affairs.

4. The regulations governing each class of banks are too numerous and varied to admit of reply, except by noting a few leading points and referring to the accompanying translation of statutes for fuller details. This follows from what is stated about the requirements to begin and continue the transaction of business in Nos. 2 and 3; but I take up your points in their order and remark upon them separately as the facts may seem to warrant. (A) Capital stock is not subject to any regulations that I know of except such as may determine the amount and time of payments prior to beginning business. (B) As to the management of banks, reference must be had to the accompanying statutes. (C) The liability of shareholders for claims against a bank is always limited to the amount of their paid-up shares, they being the last to realize in case of failure, but not subject to any further liability or assessment. (D) Reports of the condition of the bank are covered by reports of transactions and condition, as stated in No. 3. Newspaper publication therein referred to is general and obligatory. (E) Government officials examine the books and affairs of a bank at the discretion of the ministry of finance, but such an examination is seldom made if a bank appears to be going on successfully and satisfactorily. (F) As to restrictions on the amount of loans, they are of a varied character. Land and loan credit banks, which issue bonds to the extent of their loans and there stop, are under a very clear, though liberal, restriction. In the case of a commercial bank, the oldest in the Empire, it can not exceed, as regards the relation between loans and security, 80 per cent of the market value of merchandise, 80 per cent of the same value of stocks, and 90 per cent of Government bonds. No relation is specified between loans and deposits and capital, except such as may be embraced in a general restriction that all business at any given time must not exceed ten times the volume of the paid-up capital and surplus. While it does not bear strictly upon this point, yet I will add that in buying and selling exchange it must not exceed at any time one-fourth its paid-up capital, plus one-half its surplus or "reserve," as they call it, there being in this case, and generally, so far as I am now informed, no definite reserve in the sense in which the word is used in the United States. (G), (H), and (I) are practically covered, as far as I am able to cover them, by (F). I think what is there said states the general policy as definitely as it permits of being stated, and that it will be more satisfactory to you to refer to the inclosures for further details than for me to attempt to enumerate them or to generalize upon them. (J) There are no uniform regulations about the accumulation of surplus. Having finished this list of interrogations, I will add that all of these points, of course, have such judgment passed upon them as can be exercised by the ministry of finance, which oversight, being backed by peremptory power, combined with the natural prudence of the interested parties who have been permitted to do business, secures much better results than would be supposed. By way of illustration, I am told that only one bank has failed in St. Petersburg, where thirty are doing business, within the past ten years.

5. The only regulation in regard to the receipt of deposits, of which I am aware, is as to the amount. In one charter the limit the bank can receive is five times the surplus and paid-up capital. It varies with other banks. Interest is allowed on deposits at the discretion of the bank management, as the current profits and the state of the monthly market may justify.

6. The Government is not interested as a shareholder in any bank except the State Bank, and the State Bank is exclusively a Government concern. It is as if we had a bureau in the Treasury Department with power to do a great and varied banking business, and with branches all over the country.

7. Banks are permitted to have branch banks, and most commercial banks find it to their interest to have a few branch establishments.

8. They publish monthly statements in the newspapers.

9. A tax of from 3 to 5 per cent is imposed upon the net profit of banks.

10. Insolvent banks are closed up under the general insolvency law like any other insolvents, a translation of the essential parts of which law is herewith inclosed. I will briefly state that, in making settlement, debts due the Government are preferred above all others. Then come amounts due employees, outstanding bills of exchange, and liabilities for brokerage and commission. Depositors come third, and shareholders come last.

11. No banks are permitted to issue notes. The only bank of issue is the State Bank, or, in other words, the Government.

12. The provision for the redemption of these notes can best be explained by first stating what is said upon that subject, and then by stating how it works. Taking one of the ruble notes, I find the contract or promise printed upon the note. Upon one side it reads as follows: "Imperial credit note. On presentation there will be paid at the exchange cash room of the Imperial Bank one ruble [or more] in silver or gold." Upon the other side these words are used: "Extract from the Imperial manifesto concerning credit notes: First. The Imperial credit notes are guaranteed by the whole property of the realm, without detention at any time, to be exchanged against ringing (hard, pure) metal of the above-mentioned fund. Second. These credit notes enjoy the right of circulation throughout the Empire on an equality with silver coin. Third. For the counterfeiting of credit notes the guilty party is liable to the loss of all rights and will be sentenced to hard labor." There are now reported outstanding 4,194,800,000 francs of ruble notes, amounting, when reduced to gold, to roundly one-half, say 2,100,000,000 francs. The "redemption" fund is reported at 1,403,252,000 francs in gold, including the "ordinary" and "extraordinary." This large fund is not used, however, for purposes of redemption, and the result is that the ruble notes are not even at par with silver. Practically, then, there is no provision for redemption.

Translations of the law relating to insolvents, including insolvent banks, and of the statutes of the St. Petersburg Toula Land Bank, the Russian Bank for Foreign Trade, and the Discount Bank of St. Petersburg were inclosed.

The following information relates to the

GRAND DUCHY OF FINLAND:

1. The Bank of the States, "Finlands Bank," is the sole bank of circulation, and it also transacts discount, loan, and other kinds of banking; joint-stock banks for deposit, discount, loan, and other banking; joint-stock banks for loans granted upon mortgage in town estates; the mortgage bank, "Finlands Hypoteksförening," for loans on country estates; savings banks in most parishes of the country, and post-office savings banks at the post-offices. The two last-mentioned classes are formed to promote saving, and are not allowed to be managed with any purpose of profit for the founders.

2. The Finlands Bank is guaranteed and supervised by the States of Finland. The other banks are allowed to transact banking after obtaining license from the Imperial Senate of Finland. Before beginning banking one-fourth part of the joint stock bank's capital must be paid in, and the remaining three-fourths within one year. The managers must be Finlanders.

3. The Imperial Senate of Finland, after receiving reports from the public bank controllers appointed by them for the joint-stock banks, and the supervisor for the savings banks.

4. (A) The capital of the various banks is as follows: the Finlands Bank, 10,000,000 Finnish marks; in joint-stock banks the fixed and invested funds; and in the savings banks not less than 1,000 marks. (B) The Finlands Bank is governed by four deputies for the States and managers nominated by these deputies and appointed by the Emperor, Grand Prince of Finland. Controllers are elected by the States. The managers and revisers of the joint-stock banks are appointed, reelected, or dismissed by the meeting of shareholders. The savings banks are managed by at least five principals and a board of managers. The post-office savings banks are administered in connection with the post. (C) Shareholders are not liable for claims against the banks to a greater extent than the amount of their invested shares. (D) The Bank of the States and the joint-stock banks every month publish their reports in the official journal and in the most widely read paper of the country. (E) A public controller appointed for each bank by the Senate supervises the joint-stock banks. (F and G) The discounted bills and loans from the Finlands Bank are not considered a security for the circulation. (H) The loans are given upon security in stock, bonds, mortgage, and merchandise, and in the joint-stock banks also upon personal credit. (I) Most banks have reserve funds. (J) The surplus or net profits for each year are, first of all, to be used for the accumulation or increase of the reserve fund; to the reserve fund of the Bank of the States is yearly added one-fourth of the net profits until this fund amounts to 15,000,000 marks. The remainder of the profits is then disposed of by the States for various useful purposes. In the case of joint-stock banks 10 per cent of the net profits is annually carried to the reserve fund, until this fund has reached a fixed amount, this varying with the different banks. The remainder of the net profits is divided among the shareholders, or becomes a part of the pension fund for clerks, etc.

5. Deposits are received in the joint-stock banks, and interest allowed. Should the legally fixed capital stock of such a bank be diminished by losses to 90 per cent of its original amount, and its liabilities exceed five times such amount, unless this deficit is made good by the shareholders before the lapse of three months the bank is allowed to transact no further business until such losses are replaced. No interest is allowed on deposits by the Finlands Bank.

6. The Government is not a partner or shareholder in any of the banks.

7. The Finlands Bank is licensed to conduct branch offices by the Imperial Senate. The States issue licenses to other banks to conduct branches.

8. Full reports of the condition of the banks are published monthly in the most widely read papers of the country.

9. No separate taxes or burdens are imposed on the banks.

10. Should the capital stock of any bank be diminished by losses to 75 per cent of the original amount such bank is compelled to stop business and to liquidate its liabilities. The amount remaining after this is done is divided among the shareholders.

11. Finlands Bank, the Bank of the States, is now the sole authorized bank of issue of this country.

12. The total amount of notes in circulation and other liabilities of the bank payable on demand is not allowed to exceed 35,000,000 marks, and the total amount of the gold coin and bullion in the bank is fixed at not less than 20,000,000 marks, the silver coin in cash, the claims due to the bank from abroad, and the bonds and coupons in foreign money possessed by the bank. The amount of circulation not disposed of amounted on the 30th of last September to 32,500,000 marks.

13. License to issue bonds is given by the Senate only where a bank has a paid-up capital for that purpose of at least 1,000,000 marks, and as security for the proper payment of these bonds when due, in the custody of the public controller, Government or municipal bonds, the sum of which must exceed at least 10 per cent of the amount of bonds issued. Loans on mortgage are given only for half the value of the mortgaged estate. Bonds on foreign money issued by the mortgage bank, "Finlands Hypotekforening," are guaranteed by the State up to 30,000,000 marks.

Finland has never had a bank failure. The following summary is extracted from the reports of September 30 last of the Bank of the States and of six of the joint-stock banks:

Translation of the charter of the Helsingfors Public Bank transmitted.

SALVADOR.

[Lewis Baker, United States minister.]

I am gathering the necessary data for a report on the financial situation in Costa Rica, in which country there are but two banks, and but one bank of issue. In Nicaragua there is no bank other than a branch of the London Bank of Central America, with headquarters in London, England. Of its operation here it is rather difficult to gain accurate and trustworthy information. But I will, at a later day, send you a report covering such information of a reliable nature as I can gather.

1. There is only one class of banks in the Republic of Salvador—banks of emission. In order of date of their creation: The Banco Internacional del Salvador, capital $3,000,000, divided in 3,000 shares of $1,000 each, 2,100 shares emitted, $1,050,000 paid in; reserve fund, $566,000; present quotation of shares, $1,300; probable dividend, $60 per half year, February and August; headquarters, San Salvador. The Banco Occidental, nominal capital $2,000,000, divided in 1,000 shares, all issued, of $2,000 each; $500,000 paid in; reserve fund, about $230,000; present quotation of shares, $1,400; probable dividend, $60 half yearly, January and July; best-managed bank in the Republic; headquarters, Santa Ana. The Banco Salvadoreno, nominal capital, $3,000,000, in 3,000 shares of $1,000 each, 1,800 issued; paid in, $900,000; reserve fund, $200,000; present quotations, $800; probable dividend, $30 per half year, January and July; headquarters in San Salvador; for a long time a Government bank, it has taken a new impetus lately. The Banco Industrial del Salvador, nominal capital $2,000,000, in 2,000 shares of $1,000, all subscribed, one-fourth called in, is beginning operations on November 3 with $500,000 paid in; headquarters, Santa Ana; shares command $100 premium before beginning of operations. The London Bank of Central America, with headquarters in London and a capital of £600,000, shares of £10 each, has also a branch in the capital and agencies in other parts of the Republic. The amount of money with which it operates in Salvador is unknown.

2. In order to transact business the banks must operate under a concession granted by the Government. To become a body politic it must make an escritura social, the concessionnaires forming a company in accordance with the codex governing stock companies, viz, presenting their statutes, deeds, public documents, by-laws, and books to the juez de comercio (judge of commerce) of the respective districts.

3. That official determines whether the conditions of the concession have been complied with, the statements being sworn to before him by the manager of the bank, elected by a majority of the stockholders at the meeting of organization.

4. (A) Each concession specifies the regulations as to the capital stock. The approval of two-thirds of the stockholders and of the Government is required to change the statutes or to increase the capital stock. The amount paid in as maximum is 50 per cent of the nominal value of the stock, the other half being the responsibility of the stockholder. As a rule a bank may begin operations when one-fourth of the subscribed capital is paid in. (B) The management of the bank is in the hands of a gerente (gerant) or manager. He is elected by the general meeting, and is the official head and representative of the bank, his powers being defined by the by-laws of each institution. In the International Bank, for instance, the management consists of three directors, who instruct the gerente, the latter merely representing the board with the public; while in all the other banks the manager is the actual head of the bank, and in cases of need advises with the consulting director.

The board in those banks consists of the first and second director and of the manager. (C) In all cases, and under the general law of anonymous societies as well as under specification of the different statutes the liability of the stockholders is limited to the nominal value of their shares. (D) Reports of the condition of the bank are made in all the institutions semiannually to the shareholders, and published in open sheets accessible to the public. (E) The sole examination of banks by Government officials consists: First. Of a statutorily compulsive examination every half year as to the relative proportion of bills issued and of the silver coin existing in each institution. Second. Of an examination which may be made at any time as regards the same subject. No other examination may be made except by the competent courts as to the books of the bank, and that only upon mandate of the court. (F) There are no restrictions as to the amount of loans except such as provided by the rules adopted by the board of directors of each institution, such as limit of qualification of a certain signature. (G) Two of the banks, the Occidental and the Industrial, prescribe in the by-laws that no loan may be made to Government, municipalities, or charitable institutions without the approval of a majority of the general meeting, be these loans with or without guaranties. The others have repeatedly made loans of this character, which have in some cases assumed the shape of permanent loans. (H) Loans are given against two or more acceptable signatures to the same note of hand for a time of three months commercial, and up to six months agricultural. In very few cases mortgages on rural or urban real estate have been accepted. It is the intention of the new Industrial Bank and of another bank now in process of formation, the Agricola-Commercial, to lend money on mortgages, the first for a period not exceeding three years, the latter for a minimum of ten years—a clause in its concession which endangers the progress of the bank. Bank shares, market and pier shares, and any other similar collateral guaranties are also readily accepted by the banks to supply the aval of another signature. The want of another signature may also be supplied by any document or note of hand legally indorsable and of recognized value. (I and J) In most cases the statutes provide that 5 per cent of the net profits of each half year should be placed to a reserve fund. In some cases the banks, in view of extraordinary profits, have distributed only certain dividends, placing the remainder to an extraordinary reserve fund or to a fund for future dividends.

5. The receipt of deposits is not governed by any special regulation. The by-laws of the banks provide the method of making the deposit, the kind of currency insisted upon, and the mode of taking note of the depositor's signature. Check books, pass books, etc., are provided free of cost, and little care is exercised generally as to identification, most checks being extended "to bearer." The banks allow interest on deposits when there is a stringency or when their portefenille is complete, the rate varying from 1 to 3 per cent on sight deposits or current accounts; on time deposits it ranges from 3 to 5 per cent and from three months to one year.

6. The Government is interested in no bank as a shareholder.

7. All of the banks are authorized to and do conduct branch banks or offices in the principal towns of the Republic.

8. The examination referred to above, made by the minister of finance or his subordinates, as to the relative existence of paper and bullion, is published in the official paper; and, as said before, the banks publish semiannually their estado, or report, in loose sheets, which are available to the public.

9. Far from there being any taxes or burdens imposed upon the banks, they are, as a rule, exempt by their concessions from any taxes, general or municipal, and from stamp dues, and are not liable to imposts in time of peace nor to reprisals in case of war.

10. In each concession an article provided for the duration of the privileges of the bank twenty-five years, unless: "The general meeting should decide to liquidate it beforehand, and three-fourths of the shares must concur in favor of such a resolution. It will forcibly enter into liquidation in case any of its half-yearly balances should show the loss of its reserve and of 40 per cent of its capital. In that case the general meeting shall dispose as to the person who shall have charge of the liquidation, and of the method of conducting it." This is the extent of the statutory provisions as to insolvency. Any other contingency would be covered by the existing laws as to individuals.

11. In all cases, I believe the banks have been allowed to issue bills under their concessions up to twice the amount of their subscribed capital, the only condition being that they shall at all times have in their vaults coin to the amount of 40 per cent of the value of the bills in circulation. In the concession of the Banco Industrial 50 per cent is the amount insisted upon, but 30 per cent of the mortgages in portefenille is considered as bullion, a rather unwise measure, as no guarantee would be less easy to realize in case of need. Some of the bank notes are made in England; of late years some were engraved by the American Bank Note Company of New York.

12. The notes are all redeemable in silver coin, Peruvian, Chilean soles, Guatemala pesos, or the dollar of the Salvador coinage known as the colon, of the same fineness

(900) and weight (25 gr.) as the other Spanish-American standards. The only provision made for their redemption lies in the 40 per cent reserve of silver, and in the responsibility of the stockholders. So far this has been more than sufficient, but the time may come when, owing to the great competition between banks and the excessive desire to increase business at the expense of safety, the circulation of bills will be increased for the purpose of augmenting credits not easily withdrawn. A run on any bank would naturally precipitate a general crisis, the depositor class being in the minority, and, as a rule, very timid.

13. All the banks use their reserve fund for general business, thus exposing it to all the risks of their capital and counting it as cash reserve when it should be solely a bank reserve immobilized by being invested as much as possible in the safest investments, such as consol or gold bonds. The greatest object of the bank managements seems to be the increase of the circulation and the paying of the largest dividends irrespective of safety. Similar speculation on the part of the Internacional, added to otherwise indifferent management, caused a loss of at least $350,000 in their reserves at one fell swoop. Notwithstanding this, the quotation price of shares are not affected by any means. To resume: For a population of 700,000, scattered over an area of 7,225 square miles (Salvador is in territory the smallest of the Central American republics), we have the banking facilities expandible to $10,000,000 among four banks, the Internacional, the Occidental, Salvadoreno, and the Industrial. Limit of issue of bills is $20,000,000. Add to this the capital and circulation of the London Bank of Central America (available capital in Salvador unknown) and that of the new mortgage bank when it shall begin operations ($5,000,000). These figures are silver dollars, which, at the mean rate of exchange, would rate 50 cents gold to the sol. The actual circulation of bills between the four banks is about $5,000,000, or $2,500,000 gold to a present cash capital of $3,450,000, not including reserves amounting to about $950,000. The amounts loaned to the Government on such securities as pledging of — per cent from the customs dues, etc. (interest varying from 10 to 12 per cent annually), are, more or less: Internacional, $400,000; Salvadoreno, $325,000; London Bank of Central America, $200,000. These loans are dangerous because they assume, as a rule, the nature of permanent loans, upon which Government after Government pays the interest, but which immobilize a goodly amount of the banks' capital, this being unavailable in a critical moment. A number of capitalists, one firm especially with a capital larger than that of any of the banks, give money out at interest on long time, or make loans on mortgages. Under a fairly good government the situation of Salvador is excellent, and will continue so as long as coffee, its chief article of export, will command good prices. The balance of trade is always in favor of the country and wealth is somewhat disseminated. It is undoubtedly the richest of the Central American States, without any foreign debt and burdened only by an interior debt arising from late revolutions, with their accruing array of claims, just or unjust, forced loans, etc., in settlement of which the Government has created bonds more or less in the following denominations and quantities: Twelve per cent bonds, about $1,000,000, $100 nominal; 6 per cent bonds, about $4,000,000, $100 nominal; 3 per cent bonds, $6,000,000, $100 nominal. The 12 per cents were a forced loan of the other Government; the 6 per cents a railway loan and a funding of a former debt; the 3 per cents are the result of claims, etc., arising from the last revolution. There are other obligations of the Government—bonds against a certain percentage of the customs receipts—as a rule transactions ruinous to the country by the pledging or sale of papers to foreign firms doing business in the Republic. The interest has been paid monthly on all this paper and with great regularity, the Banco Internacional doing the service of the debt; moreover, every month there is a public auction of a certain amount of each class of bonds, the Government buying them, in lots from $100 to $5,000, at a maximum rate below the nominal value, from the lowest bidder. The situation of the country is virtually a good one. The rate of discounts of the banks has ranged within the year from 4 to 12 per cent; a mean rate of 8 or 9 per cent being really the normal rate in the country, the one which, if upheld by the banks, would be the one best calculated to give the necessary banking facilities under present circumstances. Competition, however, and animosities between the various circles controlling the different institutions have created, and will, I fear, continue to create these fluctuations, to the detriment of safety. It would be useless, however, to theorize against fiat money and the silver standard in a country which has so long worked purely under a silver standard, and for which a gold standard, suddenly imposed by legislation or otherwise, would mean utter ruin.

SIAM.

[John Barrett, United States minister.]

Siam has no regular banking system. There are, however, excellent banking facilities in Bangkok, the capital. To one who is told that the commerce of Siam amounts to $40,000,000 a year, and that nearly 600 ships, mostly steamers, enter this port in twelve months it might at first appear surprising that there is no system under the control or guidance of the Siamese Government. This may be accounted for in several ways: First, the Siamese as a people are not commercially inclined, and the business of the country that demands banks is largely in the hands of Europeans and wealthy Chinese; second, under the provisions and protection of extraterritoriality the great British banks, the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation, and the Chartered Bank of India, Australia, and China, have established permanent branches here, while the Mercantile Bank of India has a lesser agency; third, in the interior there is little need as yet of banks, as there are no large commercial centers aside from Bangkok, and all products are brought to this port for a market; fourth, the feeling of uncertainty as to the future of Siam, whether it will maintain its autonomy or become a dependency may deter the Government from establishing its own banks or adopting a banking system. It is therefore impossible to answer satisfactorily the questions asked by the Comptroller of the Currency.

The consul at Hongkong in his report will give the rules governing the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation, which apply equally here, as Siam has no jurisdiction over it whatever. As part of this report I append a letter from the resident manager of the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation which, though brief, may be of interest and applicable. By that it will be seen that there is a note issue of this bank in the currency of the realm, but that again is part of its general issue allowed by its British charter. These notes are not necessarily legal tender, but they are accepted for most transactions in Bangkok. At first the natives were not prone to accept notes instead of coin, but now they are looking upon them with more favor. The money of Siam is silver, of which the principal unit is the "tical," which is exactly equal to 60 cents of a "Mexican" dollar. By imperial order five "ticals" make three "Mexicans," and "ticals" are chiefly coined from melted "Mexicans." This "tical" is in turn subdivided into 64 "atts." The actual "att" is a copper piece about the size of the United States cent. Larger divisions of the "tical" are the "salung" (silver) of 16 "atts," and the "fuang" (silver) of 8 "atts."

These are all coined by the Siamese mint and come into circulation in three ways—first, by direct payment of the Government for all classes of work, contracts, and purchases, etc.; second, by exchange of Mexicans, minus a small seigniorage charge if presented at the mint for coining; and, third, through the local banking institutions above mentioned. In a previous report to the Secretary of the Treasury, dated June 19, I had the honor to report more specifically upon the amount of silver in circulation. This report, therefore, on the banking system that obtains in Siam would come principally under the last question of the Comptroller's circular, but in order to comply strictly with the request the following answers are given:

1. There is only one class of banks in Siam, branches of main institutions having British charters.
2. Compliance with the regulations of the British charter.
3. British officials.
4. Same as main institutions not located in Siam.
5. Deposits receive interest the same as in the main institutions.
6. The Government has no interest whatever as a shareholder.
7. Branches regulated by provisions of main charters.
- 8, 9, 10, 11, 12. Branches here are governed by regulations of main banks.
13. Answered in first part of this report.

A semiannual report and balance sheet of the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation was inclosed with a copy of the following letter addressed to Minister Barrett:

"I have the honor to acknowledge your letter of yesterday's date, handing me a list of questions regarding the present system of banking in Siam.

"To begin with, it is difficult to answer the questions, as they refer to countries which have national banks. As yet Siam has not any native owned banks, nor are institutions of this kind required in any part of Siam with the exception of the capital, Bangkok, as the country is not yet used to commercial ways, being satisfied with the primitive mode of barter. With the port of Bangkok a large rice trade is carried on with Europe, Hongkong, and Singapore, and the necessary banking facilities are rendered by two branch banks, namely, Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation and the Chartered Bank of India, Australia, and China. The first of these institutions has a note issue in the currency of the country, i. e., ticals, but this issue, being a part of the bank's issue under British charter, is consequently not under Siamese control. These two banks receive deposits for periods of one year, six months, and three months, allowing interest at the rate of 4, 3½, and 2½ per cent, respectively; also receiving current deposits and allowing interest at 1 per cent per annum on the daily balances.

"I hand you a statement of the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation for the half year ended 30th of June last, which may be of assistance in answering some of the questions; but I should say that this institution will be treated by your country's representative so obtained at Hongkong. Should there be any other information you may think I can give you I shall be happy to do so to the best of my ability.

"I am, sir, your obedient servant,

"T. MCC. BROWNE, Agent."

SWITZERLAND.

[James O. Broadhead, United States minister.]

The bank system of Switzerland, and especially the financial institutions based on shares, are subject to the provisions of the federal law of June 14, 1881 (titles 23-26), concerning the force of bonds. We have not at our disposal any official data with regard to the several institutions. In Switzerland only those banks which issue notes are under the control of the Government, and consequently the following information refers to that class alone:

1. They are divided, according to the manner in which their capital stock is created, into (a) cantonal, and therefore State institutions; (b) private institutions; (c) institutions of mixed system.

2. All banks of issue have to make public reports. In addition to this essential requirement they are subject, as to everything else, not only to the above-cited provisions of the bond law, but to those of the federal law of March 8, 1881, concerning the issue and redemption of bank notes, to those of the ordinance of December 21, 1881, for carrying the same into effect, and to those of various regulations.

3. The authority controlling these banks is "the inspectorate of the banks of issue," under the jurisdiction of the federal department of finance, to which the banks are obliged to make regular reports, such as weekly statements of their condition, monthly balance sheets, annual reports, and business reports for examination, statistical use, and publication.

4. The existing provisions regarding capital stock, the management of the banks, liabilities of the stockholders for claims against the banks, the methods of management on the part of the officials, restrictions of other kinds with reference to loans made by the banks, securities for loans, compulsory reserves of coin, accumulation of surplus (reserves), etc., are contained partly in the statutes and regulations of the banks themselves, so far as they are consistent with the provisions of the above-cited laws and regulations, and partly in legal provisions. A special restriction as to management is laid upon those banks which protect their circulation, not by the deposit of securities, but by putting up their negotiable paper as collateral security. The kinds of business prohibited these banks are: (a) Giving credit without security; (b) purchase and sale of chattels or securities on their own account or for others on time, or guaranteeing the fulfillment of such engagements; (c) purchase of real estate, except such as is needed for the transaction of their own business; (d) industrial, trade, and commercial enterprises and investments, excepting trade in the precious metals; (e) insurance business; (f) issues of redeemable stocks and bonds, except in the case of Swiss national and communal loans; (g) partnership in firms carrying on such prohibited kinds of business.

5. With regard to the receiving of deposits, the provisions of the statutes and regulations of the banks themselves on the subject have exclusive authority. All institutions of issue are authorized to receive deposits, and, with very few exceptions (checks and negotiable paper), pay interest on the deposits.

6. Under the now existing system of having a number of banks of issue the State or Federation is in no way interested in these banks as a stockholder, although some of the Cantons are. There are at present in Switzerland eighteen cantonal institutions—that is to say, institutions whose capital stock is exclusively furnished by the respective Cantons, and for all whose liabilities the respective Cantons are responsible; thirteen purely private institutions, in which the Cantons have no interest; three banks of mixed system, the State (cantonal) interest in which varies. In one of them it amounts to one-half (of the stock), in another to six-tenths, in the third to only 200 shares out of 24,000. The respective Cantons are liable only to the amount of their stock. Their share in the administration varies in the three cases.

7. All these thirty-four banks are authorized to establish branches or agencies, and twelve of them now have one or more branches.

8. The condition of the banks is communicated to the public in regular publications of the weekly statements, monthly balance sheets, and annual reports made to the controlling authority by the banks in an official organ, the Swiss Commercial Gazette. These publications are made, as above stated, by the inspectorate of the banks of issue.

9. The State (the federation) imposes upon all the banks of issue a yearly tax of 1 per cent of the average circulation (bank note control tax). The Cantons are allowed on their part to lay a tax of not more than 6 per cent of the average circulation on the banks of issue within their limits.

10. With regard to proceedings in stoppages of business in cases of insolvency, we refer to articles 26-34 of the bank-note law, and to the provisions of the federal law concerning prosecution for debt and apportionment of assets (of the insolvent).

11. The banks are allowed to issue notes to double the amount of their endowment capital. They must obtain permission to issue notes from the Federal Council, which gives it as soon as the conditions prescribed by the law of obligations and the bank-note law have been fulfilled by the banks. Only those financial institutions can be authorized to issue notes which (a) have their principal seat in Swiss territory and whose title (name) has been approved expressly by the Federal Council, (b) those which are legally constituted as cantonal institutions or as joint stock companies, (c) those which make public reports, (d) those which possess an actual, paid-up capital of at least 500,000 francs, exclusively liable for their own transactions, (e) those which bind themselves to accept in payment the notes of the other Swiss banks of issue. The notes are prepared through the inspectorate of the banks of issue; they are kept in the custody of the inspectorate and delivered to the banks as they need them; they are of the same identical type for all the banks.

12. If a bank wishes to renounce the right of issue which it has acquired it must notify the Federal Council, which thereupon, by public proclamation, calls in part or all of the notes. The case of insolvency is excepted; in that case the notes are called in by a commissioner appointed by the federal court. The notes called in are destroyed under the supervision of the federal authorities as worthless notes. At the expiration of the term fixed for the redemption of notes which have been called in the bank calling them in must pay the coin equivalent of the still outstanding notes into the federal treasury, which undertakes to redeem in coin the still outstanding notes, during a period of thirty years from the date of the calling in. At the expiration of this period the equivalent of the notes which have not been presented for redemption will be paid into the Swiss invalid fund.

13. As to all points not given here in detail, the bank-note law, which we inclose you, together with the ordinance for carrying the same into execution, and all the regulations, will give you, together with the above-designated passages of the law of obligations, sufficient information as to the Swiss bank-note system. For further information we inclose one copy each of the inspectorate's business reports for 1892, 1893, and 1894, and a copy of the law concerning debt and insolvency. It remains for us to state, in conclusion, that a central bank-note institution with the exclusive right to issue notes is projected and will probably be founded in the form of a Swiss national bank, in which case, of course, the thirty-four independent banks of issue now in existence will be abolished.

TURKEY.

[Alexander W. Terrell, United States minister.]

1. Private banks and limited liability companies.
2. An imperial firman for limited liability.
3. The Turkish Government.
4. (a, b, c) Their own statutes only. (d) None. (e) The Imperial Ottoman Bank being the State bank is under the nominal supervision of an imperial commissioner. There are no regulations for the others. (f) None. (g, h) None save their own statutes. (i, j) Are determined by the statutes of the particular company.
5. The statute regulations of the particular bank or company. Various rates of interest are generally allowed on sums deposited for fixed periods. The Imperial Ottoman Bank allows 2½ per cent on sums deposited for one year or longer, 1½ per cent on sums deposited for six months, 1 per cent on sums deposited for three months.
6. In no way.
7. The Imperial Ottoman Bank is free to establish branches in any town in the Empire. As regards other banks, permission must be obtained.
8. Generally by half yearly or yearly reports.
9. Certain obligations are imposed on the Imperial Ottoman Bank in return for permission to issue bank notes.
10. Formalities vary with nationality.

11. The Imperial Ottoman Bank only is allowed to issue bank notes to extent fixed by the statutes.
12. A cash reserve is kept (33 per cent of face value of notes).

URUGUAY.

[Granville Stuart, United States minister.]

1. The existing banks are all private, the National Bank being in a state of liquidation which is likely to prove disastrous, as they will probably be unable to pay their emission (some $500,000 which does not circulate) and an equal amount of judicial deposits, both of which are supposed to be privileged debts.
2. To enable a private bank to transact business the statutes of same must be presented to the Government for approval.
3. The Government after consultation with the attorney-general.
4. The only regulations which govern the private banks are those contained in their statutes, which must declare, (A) the amount of capital and (B) the management of the bank, in which Government has no interference; (C) the banks being limited shareholders are only liable for the amount of their shares; (D) only banks of emission are obliged to publish their balance sheets; (E) Government inspector is required to certify the balance sheets of the banks of emission only, and has no interference in the rest; (F) there is no restriction on loans of any of the banks; (G) there are no restrictions of any character on loans; (H) nor on security for loans; (I) no restrictions for reserve; (J) nor for the accumulation of surplus.
5. There are no Government regulations regarding deposits. The principal banks do not allow any interest on deposits at sight, but receive deposits at from thirty days to twelve months with scaling rates, which vary according to the standing of the bank.
6. The Government is not interested as a shareholder in any of the existing banks, but is responsible for the ruins of the extinct National Bank.
7. Any of the private banks are allowed to open branches in any part of the country, but the only instance is that of the London and River Plate Bank, which has a branch in Paysandí.
8. The only medium of information given to the public as to the condition of the banks is the monthly publication of the balance sheets of the two banks of emission. The condition of the rest of the banks is only made public when they present their accounts to their shareholders, six monthly.
9. Banks of emission pay yearly $2,000. Banks which do not emit pay yearly $1,000. Both classes of banks pay besides $6.50 per annum on each $1,000 of their declared capital.
10. In the case of the English Bank of the River Plate, which became insolvent, a liquidating committee of three persons, one named by the directors, another by the shareholders, and a third by the Government, was formed to carry out the liquidation by mutual consent.
11. The law permitting emission has been repealed, but there exist two banks of emission, the London and River Plate Bank and the Italian Bank of the River Plate, which acquired their rights before the repeal and still preserve them. They are allowed to emit notes of not less than $10 up to double the amount of their respective capitals, but the notes of neither of these two banks are of legal tender, the only legal tender in the country being gold.
12. Each bank makes its own provision for the redemption of its notes, which must be converted into gold on presentation, or if not, the bank be declared insolvent, in which case the notes are considered a privileged debt, and must be paid in full before any other creditor.
13. There are at present no State banks existing. The private banks are mostly established by British capital and governed by private boards of directors in London. They are entirely independent of Government intervention, except in so far as the emission of notes is concerned. All banks hitherto established with State intervention have proved a signal failure, and have been ruined by flagrant mismanagement.

VENEZUELA.

[Seneca Haselton, United States minister.]

1. Banks of deposit, drafts, loans, and discounts, circulation banks, and banks of mortgage credit. (See article 1 of the law.)
2. They must be established according to the law. (See articles 22, 23, 24, 25, and 26.)
3. An inspector appointed by the Government in accordance with the law. (See article 31.)

4. The whole banking law explains.
 5. Deposits are received at sight in account current and for a fixed term, and the same draw interest according to the conditions of the deposit.
 6. The Government is not at all interested as shareholder in any of the existing banks, but always maintains a special contract with one of the banks for the collection of the national revenues and for the purpose of supplying funds.
 7. The law entitles the banks to establish branches or agencies, but always in accordance with the corresponding stipulations. (See articles 22 and 27.)
 8. The law establishes the quarterly publication of a balance of each bank, and points out the conditions upon which such balance is to be published. (See article 24.)
 9. Only the payment for a permit, which varies according to the capital of each bank, and the obligation to pay for the salary of the inspector appointed by the Government. (See article 31.)
 10. No practical case established the rule in this matter, but it is understood that the banks are under the same regulations established for any other commercial institution.
 11. According to the new law the banks can only issue bank notes for one-half their capital. (See articles 5 and 6.)
 12. The law does not establish any, but at least 33 $\frac{1}{3}$ per cent of the amount of the issue is generally reserved in cash.
- A copy of the laws inclosed.

NICARAGUA.

[Lewis Baker, minister.]

1. There is but one class of banks in Nicaragua. This is provided for under a general banking law, and may be denominated banks of issue and deposit. They are authorized to do a general banking business, such as issuing bills for circulation, receiving deposits with or without interest, discounting notes, buying and selling exchange, etc.
2. The chief requirement in order to do business is for the officers of the proposed bank to satisfy the Government that they have in hand not less than $100,000 in silver as a basis of credit. (Gold is not known in the currency of this country.)
3. The state treasurer is the official on whom devolves the duty of determining if the law's requirements have been met.
4. There is but one class of banks in Nicaragua, and there is but one of the class. (A) This institution is now known as the "London Bank of Central America, Limited." It was founded in 1888 and began operations under the name of the "Bank of Nicaragua." It has a nominal capital stock of £600,000, divided into shares of £10 each. Only 19,567 of its 60,000 shares of capital have been issued, upon which 50 per cent has been paid in. Of the shares, one-third have been allotted to Central America and two-thirds are reserved in Europe. (B) The management of the bank is conducted at the headquarters in London, where all meetings of the directors are held. There is, besides, a local board, with limited powers and with two local managers. The latter are sent out from the London house. (C) The shareholders are liable for claims against the bank only to the extent of face value of their respective shares. (D) Reports of the condition of the bank are made annually and are published in the official paper of the Government. (E) The proper official of the Government may, at any time and without previous notice, make an examination of the condition of the bank. (F) There are no legal restrictions as to the amount of loans, so long as the proper reserve is maintained in the bank for the redemption of its own bills. (G) Under the bank's own regulations loans are made only on two good signatures, and for three months—being payable or renewable as may be agreed at the time of falling due; interest in all cases to be paid in advance for the period stipulated in the note. This was, four years ago, 24 per cent, at which rate this bank loaned this Government $400,000. Later the prevailing bank rate was 18 per cent, and this rate continued until a few months ago, when it was reduced to 12 per cent per annum. (H) Neither the shares of the bank nor the bonds of the Government are accepted as security or collateral for a loan; nor are mortgages on real estate accepted. (I) A cash reserve in silver must always be in the safe of the bank up to 40 per cent of the amount of notes issued for circulation. (J) The surplus of this bank equals less than 13 per cent of the paid-up capital. The surplus, as well as the annual dividends to the stockholders, is determined by the directors in London.
5. Deposits on call are accepted, but no interest on them or on daily balances is allowed. Interest on time deposits now paid ranges, owing to length of time, from 5 to 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ per cent.
6. The Government is not interested in the bank as a shareholder.

7. This bank is itself but a branch of the London Bank of Nicaragua, Limited; but it has also a branch in Leon, one in Granada, Nicaragua, and one in San Salvador. Under the state banking law branches may be established at any point in Central America.

8. The annual report of the condition of the bank is printed for the benefit of the public in the official newspaper in Managua.

9. Banks are not taxed on their capital, circulation, profits, or on any character of property. No import duty is levied upon any of its imports. It has the right to transfer money or property of the national railroad and steamship lines free, and it has the free use of the telegraph and telephone lines.

10. In case of insolvency, banks wind up their business in accordance with the mercantile code. There are no special provisions of law applicable to banks. The directors alone determine when and by whom the affairs shall be administered.

11. The bank is permitted to issue notes up to 60 per cent of the amount of silver in its safes.

12. There is no stipulation for the redemption of its notes by the bank other than that it must retain not less than 40 per cent in silver of the whole amount of paper money placed in circulation for redemption purposes.

13. Bank notes, before they are signed by the manager of the bank and issued, are registered in the state treasury. It is claimed by the bank management here that this institution has suffered no considerable loss from its clients. Many people here claim that there is not only room but a demand for another bank and a greater amount of banking capital. I am inclined to this opinion, especially in view of the considerable increase now taking place, and which must take place in the near future, from the recent planting of the coffee crop, and the consequent need of money to handle the exchange, etc. The raising of coffee is exceedingly profitable, and the planters are often justified in paying a large interest on temporary loans for the extension of their plantings and for handling their crops. I herewith hand you as an inclosure a copy of the last report* made public by the directors of the bank located in this city. The item "Depreciation in exchange" has, I understand, cut quite an important figure in the affairs of the bank, and accounts for the meager dividends paid to the stockholders during the early years of the bank's existence. At the time of the founding of the bank the price of exchange against this country was but a few cents. As the price of exchange mounted higher, the bank set apart a "Reserve fund for depreciation in exchange," and divided it from time to time among those original stockholders the value of whose shares was constantly diminishing. For the past year there has been no material advance in the value of gold here; hence the price of the bank shares has gone up. The shares of this bank now command a premium of 50 per cent upon the amount paid in.

AUSTRIA.

[Bartlett Tripp, United States minister.]

1. There are three classes of banks in Austria-Hungary: First, the Austro-Hungarian Bank, the only bank of issue, was created by an act of parliament June 27, 1878; second, the bank companies, which are all limited joint-stock companies or associations; third, the private banking firms. In addition to the above there are Government postal deposit and savings banks.

2. The Austro-Hungarian Bank transacts the general banking business of the Government, floats all Government loans, discounts drafts of the department of finance, undertakes commissions for the Government, and has the exclusive right of issuing notes of the value of 10 florins and upward. Two-fifths of the amount of such issue must be covered by a gold or silver reserve, and three-fifths by other first-class securities. The banking companies and associations must present their articles of incorporation, by-laws, and general system by which they propose to operate to the Government, and must obtain a concession from the latter before being permitted to transact business. Private banking firms are only required to register their name with the ministry of interior. Their business is treated as contracts between private persons, over which there is no Government supervision and no special laws governing them other than the general commercial code governing all commercial transactions.

* From this report it appears that the total liabilities of the bank on December 31, 1894, were £319,956, of which the paid-in capital amounted to £97,835; the reserve fund and fund for depreciation in exchange, £23,734; unclaimed dividends, £347; deposits, £89,752; bills payable, £492; notes in circulation, £99,270; profit and loss, £8,525. The assets were: Cash on hand and with bankers, £134,075; bills receivable, £88,526; loans, etc., £68,759; bank premises, etc., £8,595.

3. Two Government comptrollers are appointed, one by Austria and one by Hungary. They are required to examine into the condition of the Austro-Hungarian Bank from time to time and report to the Government. They have the right to attend all meetings, to exercise a supervision over all acts and resolutions, and can veto the latter, provided they be contrary to the articles of incorporation and its agreement with the Government. In the case of other bank companies, a board, one member of which is appointed from each of the ministries of the Government, have full power to grant or refuse concessions to the companies applying for same.

4. (A) The capital stock of the Austro-Hungarian Bank is 90,000,000 florins, and is divided into 150,000 shares. In the case of other banks the capital stock varies. The amount is, however, stated in the articles of incorporation and is solely an arrangement between the bank directors and the stockholders, subject to the terms of concession. The concession from the Government also usually permits a company to increase its stock, if deemed advisable, by the directors and stockholders. (B) The Austro-Hungarian Bank is managed by a governor, two vice-governors, and twelve general councilmen, acting as a board of directors. The governor is appointed by the Emperor on the joint recommendations of the ministers of finance of both divisions of the monarchy. The two vice-governors are appointed by the ministers of finance of Austria and Hungary, respectively. Eight of the board of directors are elected by the shareholders at the annual meeting, and four are appointed by the management of the bank, two from Austria and two from Hungary. The board elects six of its members to act as an executive committee, and one member to act as general secretary. Other banks are generally managed by one governor or president, two vice-governors, one general secretary and board of directors, all elected by the shareholders. (C) All stock companies in Austria-Hungary are limited-liability companies, stockholders are liable only to the amount of their shares. They are not liable to assessments for claims against the bank. (D) The Austro-Hungarian Bank is required to publish a report of its condition on the 7th, 15th, 23d, and last of each month, and in addition a yearly statement. The other bank companies are required to publish yearly balance sheets. Private bankers are not required to publish any reports or statements of their condition. (E) The weekly reports of the Austro-Hungarian Bank are submitted to the ministry of finance, and the two Government comptrollers are required to examine the condition of the bank and report from time to time to the ministry of finance. In the case of other bank companies the Government has the right to send a commissioner to every meeting of the board to exercise a supervision over the business of the company and report to the Government any irregularities or deviation from the system or by-laws as laid down in the concession under which the bank company is permitted to transact business. (F) In the case of the Austro-Hungarian Bank the amount of individual loans on real estate must not exceed 50 per cent of the valuation of the property hypothecated. The amount to be loaned on other securities is not limited by statute. There are no laws placing restrictions on the character or amount of loans of other bank companies; this is left to the managers of the companies and the stockholders, and is a matter of agreement between the bank and the party procuring the loan. (G) The Austro-Hungarian Bank is required to pay to the Government 5 per cent of the amount of all notes which it may issue above 200,000,000 florins. (H) Any coin, stock, or bonds listed on the exchange are accepted as security for loans, also first mortgages on real estate, as may be agreed between the bank and those dealing with it. (I, J) In the case of the Austro-Hungarian Bank two-fifths of the amount of notes issued by the bank must be covered by a cash reserve in coin, the remaining three-fifths by first-class securities upon which cash can be immediately realized. In addition to this reserve covering notes issued, there is another or additional fund, which is in reality part of the surplus, as the term is understood in the United States. When this reserve fund reaches the amount of 20 per cent of the capital, it shall not be further augmented, but the pension fund for retired employes shall then be increased by the addition of 5 per cent of the accumulated profits of the year. The balance, if any, is added to what is called accumulated surplus. Other bank companies and associations are not required by law to carry a cash reserve or retain a surplus. The amount of the surplus or reserve accordingly varies in different institutions and is entirely a matter to be decided by the management under the terms of the concession.

5. The Austro-Hungarian Bank does not receive cash deposits subject to check, only special deposits of stocks, bonds, and other valuables. The other bank companies receive cash deposits and allow 2 to 2½ per cent on open accounts subject to check, and 3 to 3½ per cent on closed accounts, but their deposits are not large, for the reason that the Government postal banks have almost a monopoly of the open deposit account business subject to check.

6. The Government is not interested in either the Austro-Hungarian Bank or any bank company.

7. The Austro-Hungarian Bank has branch offices in all the principal cities of Austria-Hungary. The bank companies have branches when necessary, if their concession contains a clause to this effect, not otherwise.

8. Official financial newspapers in Vienna, Prague, and Budapest publish full information of the condition of the banks from time to time, in addition to which an official book of reference is published annually containing balance sheets and general condition of all banks and stock companies.

9. The Austro-Hungarian Bank pays only a tax of 5 per cent on the amount of its notes which it issues above 200,000,000 florins. The bank companies pay the same annual taxes as all the commercial or financial companies and stock associations.

10. There are no special laws governing the closing up of the business of insolvent banks. The procedure is the same as in case of other bankrupt and insolvent corporations.

11. The Austro-Hungarian Bank has the exclusive privilege of issuing notes of the amounts of 10 florins and upward, which issue must be covered by a reserve, two-fifths of which must be in gold or silver and three-fifths in first-class securities which can be immediately converted into cash. Smaller notes of 5 florins are issued by the Government payable in the currency of the Government. This constitutes all the paper currency in circulation.

12. If called upon, the Austro-Hungarian Bank is required to redeem its notes within twenty-four hours under penalty of forfeiture of its franchise. In case of the winding up of the business of the bank, all outstanding notes must be paid, but they are forfeited if not presented for payment within six years after the date of liquidation.

13. The banking business in Austria-Hungary is yet in its infancy and is, in general, governed by the same laws and regulations that govern other financial and commercial corporations. The country being in the past an agricultural rather than a commercial one, its banking capital was comparatively small, and the same attention has not been given the legislative and administrative regulation of the business in its different departments as was found necessary in the great banking and commercial centers of western Europe, so that, outside of the special charter granted to the Austro-Hungarian Bank and the administrative discretion exercised over banking corporations and associations by the ministry in granting concessions, but little control is exercised over this business in Austria-Hungary, and no control is exercised over private banking other than is exercised over other private business transactions. In addition to the banks of Austria-Hungary above described there is another different and distinct class of banks known as the postal and savings bank, which must be separately described.

The postal deposit and savings bank is a Government institution under the control of the postal department, with a general office in Vienna and branch offices at every post-office throughout the monarchy. On opening an account the depositor is assigned a certain number, which, together with his name and address, appears upon all checks, deposit receipts, statements of account, and all papers relating to the transactions of such depositor with the bank. The depositor purchases from the bank a check book costing about $1 per hundred checks, a book of deposit blanks, costing about 40 cents per hundred blanks, the name, address, and number of the depositor being printed on each check and deposit blank; in addition to these the depositor is furnished with special envelopes addressed to the general office of the bank in Vienna, at the cost of about 10 cents per hundred. The depositor uses the postal bank not only as an ordinary bank of deposit, which allows the depositor 2 per cent on open accounts, but also as a means of paying all bills and collecting all indebtedness in every part of the city or country, free of all postage or charges to the depositor. The system in vogue, which is both simple and practical, is briefly as follows: If a depositor wishes to pay a debt to a creditor in any part of Austria-Hungary, he simply fills out a postal check to the order of his creditor, with address of same, together with the date and amount, incloses it in one of the special envelopes addressed to the general office in Vienna, and the post-office authorities find the payee, pay the amount, and take his receipt for same. Within twenty-four hours the depositor receives through the post-office, from the central office of the bank in Vienna, a statement showing the transaction. It contains date, name of depositor, number of the check, amount and name of post-office where it has been paid; also cash balance of the depositor. These statements reach the depositor after every transaction. If there have been several transactions in one day, they all appear on the statement of the day. The depositor is thus kept informed as to the condition of his account every twenty-four hours, provided he has drawn or made a deposit during the previous day. The check of the depositor, forwarded as above, thus becomes a post-office order without incurring the trouble, time, and expense which the latter system involves. The depositors pay all their bills in this manner, whether in the same city or in different parts of Austria-Hungary. The receiver of the money sends his usual receipt by mail to the payer, and in addition the latter has the daily statement from the postal bank that such a numbered check for such an amount was paid on such a day. Furthermore, if the creditor, to whose order the check is paid, is also a depositor in the postal bank as it is the custom for all business houses who are depositors in the postal bank, to have their deposit number printed on all their bills, statements, receipts, and business cards, the debtor fills in the check with the name and deposit number of his creditor, forwards it in the same manner free of postage to the general office in Vienna, and the creditor receives his daily statement that his account has been credited by so much from depositor No. — (giving number of debtor) and likewise the debtor or issuer of check receives his daily statement that his account has been debited by a like amount paid to account of depositor No. — (giving the number of creditor). Thus an enormous amount of transactions take place without the cash being withdrawn from the bank. The deposit blanks consist of two parts, each containing the name, address, and number of depositor printed on their face, in addition to which each blank contains its special number in its order in the book, which number appears on both divisions of the blank. The blanks are used in two ways: If a depositor wishes to make a cash deposit, he fills in a blank with the amount and date, presents it with the cash in person or otherwise, at the nearest post-office (there are 125 post-offices in Vienna alone). The postmaster or his deputy receives the deposit, places the date stamp of the post-office on both portions of the blank, separates the latter, affixes his signature to one portion, which he gives to the depositor as a receipt. The other portion is turned into the general office with the cash at the end of the day. Within twenty-four hours the depositor receives his daily statement, showing his account credited with the above transaction and inclosing the other half of the deposit blank. If a depositor sends a bill to one of his debtors he usually incloses one of his deposit blanks; the person receiving the bill fills in the amount of the bill on both portions of the deposit blank, adds his name and address, and presents it or sends it with the money to the nearest post-office, receiving half of the deposit blank, signed and stamped as above, which he attaches to the original bill as a receipt. When the depositor receives his next daily statement from the bank, he sees at once that his account has been credited by the amount of the bill he has sent to his debtor, and with the statement he receives the other half of the deposit blank which was presented by his debtor at the post-office when the latter made the deposit in his favor. In order that the depositors may enjoy all of the above privileges and conveniences, together with free postage and 2 per cent interest on deposit, each depositor is required to keep a constant balance of 100 florins on deposit unless he express a desire to close up his account; therefore the daily statements are most useful and necessary. Any check he may draw, the payment of which would reduce his balance to 1 krentzer below 100 florins, would be refused payment; therefore all payments are made direct from the one central office in Vienna, though they may be made through any post-office in the monarchy. As there are upward of 1,000,000 depositors, the Government has the use of 100,000,000 florins permanently, and it is not an exaggerated estimate to calculate the average balance of each depositor at 1,000 florins, so that the Government has an average sum of 1,000,000,000 florins constantly at its disposal.

ARIZONA.

[Joseph T. Talbert, national-bank examiner.]

1. State banks, savings banks, and private banks.
2. Banks of discount and deposit are incorporated under the statute relating to incorporations in general; which provides that any number of persons may associate themselves together for the transaction of lawful business, and shall have power: (1) Perpetual succession; (2) to sue and be sued; (3) to have a common seal; (4) to render the interest of stockholders transferable, and to prescribe the mode of making such transfers; (5) to exempt the private property of members from the liability of corporate debts; (6) to make contracts, acquire and transfer property; (7) to establish by-laws, make rules and regulations for the management of their business. Before commencing business, except that of organization, they must adopt articles of incorporation, which must be signed and acknowledged by them, and be recorded in the office of the county recorder of the county where the principal place of business is located. The articles of association must contain: The names of incorporators; the name of corporation, and its place of business; the general nature of the business to be transacted; the amount of capital stock authorized, and the time when and conditions upon which the same is to be paid; the time of the commencement and termination of corporate existence; by what officers and persons the affairs of the corporation are to be conducted, and the times at which they are to be elected; the highest amount of indebtedness or liability to which the corporation is at any time to subject itself, and whether the private property of incorporators is to be exempt from corporate debts. Before commencing business banks must also obtain a license from the bank comptroller.

3. The territorial auditor, who is ex officio bank comptroller.

4. (A) There are no provisions in regard to the amount and payment of capital stock. (B) No provisions as to management except such as stated in articles of association. (C) Shareholders are individually liable for the indebtedness of the incorporation in the proportion which the amount of stock owned by them bears to the whole amount of the capital, unless the liability is limited in the articles of association to the amount of their respective holdings of stock; or unless it is stated in the articles that private property of incorporators shall not be liable for debts of the corporation. (D) Every bank shall make to the comptroller not less than three reports during each year, under oath; and said report shall state the amount of capital stock and number of shares; the names of directors and shares held by each; the amount of capital paid in; the amount of reserve fund (if any); the amount due to depositors; the amount and character of all liabilities; the value of its real estate; the amount loaned on real estate; the amount invested in bonds, designating the particular class and amount; the amount loaned on stocks and bonds; the amount loaned on other securities; the actual amount of money on hand or deposited in any other bank or place, and the amount in each place; the amount of property held, or any amount of money loaned, deposited, invested, or placed not otherwise enumerated. The bank comptroller makes a general report of the business of his office to the legislature at each session. (E) The bank comptroller personally, or by a competent expert appointed by him, shall, once in each year or oftener, if necessary, without previous notice, visit and make a full examination of each bank and banking institution, and inspect all its books, papers, notes, bonds, securities, etc., and report same to the attorney-general. Said bank comptroller or examiner must examine under oath officers and servants of the bank in relation to its affairs, and such officers and servants must answer the questions put to them on oath, or be guilty of misdemeanor. (F) Savings banks are restricted to loan on real estate, unless their capital stock or reserve amounts to not less than $100,000. No loans must be made for a longer period than six years, and loans made upon real estate must not exceed 50 per cent of the market value of the security, except when made for the purpose of facilitating the sale of property owned by the corporation. Savings banks shall not loan or invest their own capital or the money of their depositors in any mining shares or mining stocks. Where the capital stock of the savings bank or reserve fund is greater than $100,000 they may purchase and hold securities and evidences of indebtedness not secured by real estate. There are no restrictions in regard to loans of banks other than savings banks. (G) State banks are required to keep on hand at all times in cash 15 per cent of the aggregate amount of their deposits, including borrowed money. Failure to do this authorizes the bank comptroller to declare the bank insolvent. This law does not apply to savings banks. (H) There are no requirements in regard to the accumulation of surplus, except that each savings association which has no capital shall, on each dividend day, retain at least 5 per cent of the net profits to constitute a fund for the payment of losses.

5. None.

6. Not at all.

7. Branch offices not provided for.

8. Reports of condition are published in the newspapers.

9. A license fee of $5 is paid for the privilege. A charge of from $15 to $25 is made by the bank comptroller for each examination. In addition to this, banks are taxed on their capital stock in the same proportion as other corporations; usually assessed on a basis of about 50 per cent.

10. When the bank comptroller is informed that any bank is insolvent or unsafe, it is his duty to report in writing the fact of such insolvency to the attorney-general, and his neglect to do so shall be deemed a felony. It is the attorney-general's duty thereupon to bring suit in the district court of the Territory, and if the bank is found to be insolvent or in an unsafe condition to do business, the court will appoint a receiver to wind up its affairs.

11. There are no legal provisions in regard to or referring to the issue of bank circulation.

12. The principal points regarding the law relative to savings banks are embraced in the above answers.

ARKANSAS.

[Edward I. Johnson, national-bank examiner.]

1. Banking may be carried on by individuals or by corporations composed of three or more persons organized under the general incorporation law of the State. The State law prescribes no special regulations for banking.

2, 3. Corporations are organized only under general incorporation laws. Business corporations must consist of not less than three persons, who shall elect a board of directors. The president and secretary are to be elected by the board, and the president must be a member of it. The secretary and treasurer must reside and keep the books of the company within the State. The articles of association must be signed by the president and a majority of the directors, and must be accompanied by a certificate, signed in like manner, and sworn to by the president and a majority of the directors, setting forth the purpose of the corporation, the amount of its capital stock, the amount actually paid in, the names of its stockholders, and the number of shares held by each, respectively, and the articles and certificate must be filed in the office of the secretary of state, and a duplicate with the clerk of the county in which the corporation is to transact business. The stock can be transferred only upon the company's books, and a record of the transfer has to be deposited with the county clerk in order to be valid as against creditors of the transferrer. The corporation has a lien on its stock for debts due from the stockholders. The president and secretary are required to file with the county clerk an annual statement of its financial condition, and, in case of a failure to do so, become liable for its debts. If the directors declare a dividend when the corporation is insolvent they become liable for all the corporate debts. Any corporation which is insolvent or has ceased to do business may be wound up on the suit of any creditor or stockholder by a decree of the chancery court. Preferences by insolvent corporations are forbidden. Shares of stock are in denominations of $25 to $100.

4. (C) Shareholders liable only for amount of holdings. (E) Not subject to examination.
5. No legal provisions governing the receipt of deposits; allow interest on deposits to about the same extent as national banks.
6. The State is not interested in any of the banks.
7. Yes, if they so desire, there being no restrictions.
8. No channel, except voluntary.
9. Same as others.
10. See answer to 2, 3, and 4.
11. Prohibited by the State constitution.
12. No law relating to savings banks.

CALIFORNIA.

[Board of bank commissioners of California.]

1. There are three classes of banks permitted to do business in this State, viz, commercial, savings, and private banks.

2. Articles of incorporation must be prepared by commercial or savings banks, setting forth (1) the name of the incorporation; (2) the purpose for which it is formed; (3) the place where its principal business is to be transacted; (4) the term for which it is to exist, not exceeding fifty years; (5) the number of its directors or trustees, which shall not be less than five nor more than eleven, and the names and residences of those who are appointed for the first year; (6) the amount of its capital stock and the number of shares into which it is divided; (7) if there is capital stock, the amount actually subscribed and by whom. The articles of incorporation must be subscribed by five or more persons, a majority of whom must be residents of this State, and acknowledged by each before some officer authorized to take and certify acknowledgments of conveyances of real property. Upon filing the articles of incorporation in the office of the county clerk of the county in which the principal business of the company is to be transacted, and a copy thereof, certified by the county clerk, with the secretary of state, and the affidavit mentioned in the last section where such affidavit is required, the secretary of state must issue to the corporation, over the great seal of the State, a certificate that a copy of the articles containing the required statement of facts has been filed in his office; and thereupon the person signing the articles, and their associates and successors, shall be a body politic and corporate, by the name stated in the certificate, and for the term of fifty years, unless it is in the articles of incorporation otherwise stated or in this code otherwise specially provided. A copy of any articles of incorporation filed in pursuance of this chapter and certified by the secretary of state must be received in all the courts and other places as prima facie evidence of the facts therein stated.

3. Secretary of state and board of bank commissioners.

4. (A) No savings bank, or bank, or banking corporation shall be incorporated in this State and conduct such banking business in a city or town of 5,000 inhabitants or under with a capital stock of less than $25,000, or in a city or town of over 5,000 and not exceeding 10,000 inhabitants with a capital stock of less than $50,000, or in a city or town of over 10,000 and not exceeding 25,000 inhabitants with a capital stock of less than $100,000, or in a city or town of over 25,000 inhabitants with a capital stock of less than $200,000. Before the secretary of state issues to any corporation that proposes to do a banking business his certificate of the filing of the articles of incorporation there must be filed in his office the affidavit of the persons named in said articles as the first directors of the corporation that all the capital stock has been actually and in good faith subscribed, and at least 50 per cent thereof paid in lawful money of the United States to a person in such affidavit named for the benefit of the corporation. The remainder of the capital stock must be paid in within two years after the said banking corporation receives from the commissioners its first license to transact business, and if not so paid no further license shall be issued to it: Provided, however, That the provisions of this section shall not apply to corporations now in existence. (B) Immediately after their election the directors must organize by the election of a president, who must be one of their number, a secretary, and treasurer. They must perform the duties enjoined on them by law and the by-laws of the corporation. A majority of the directors is a sufficient number to form a board for the transaction of business, and every decision of a majority of the directors forming such board made when duly assembled is valid as a corporate act. (C) Each stockholder of a corporation or joint-stock association shall be individually and personally liable for such portion of all its debts and liabilities contracted or incurred during the time he was a stockholder as the amount of stock or shares owned by him bear to the whole of the subscribed capital, stock, or shares of the corporation or association. The directors or trustees of corporations and joint-stock associations shall be jointly and severally liable to the creditors and stockholders for all moneys embezzled or misappropriated by the officers of such corporation or joint-stock association during the term of office of such director or trustee. (D) Any corporation mentioned in section 3 of this act, including banks in liquidation or insolvency, shall, whenever required by the board of bank commissioners, make a report in writing to the commissioners, verified by the oath of its president and its secretary or cashier, or its two principal officers. Said report shall show the actual financial condition of the corporation making the report at the close of any past day by the commissioners specified; (2) the names of the directors, and the number of shares of stock held by each. The oaths of the officers to the statements above required shall state that they, and each of them, have a personal knowledge of the matters therein contained, and that they believe every allegation, statement, matter, and thing therein contained is true; and any willfully false statement in the premises shall be perjury and shall be punished as such. The reports, as provided for by this section, shall by the commissioners be required from each and every corporation herein mentioned at least three times in each year, and shall be transmitted to the commissioners within fifteen days after the receipt from them of a request or requisition therefor. Any corporation mentioned in section 3 of this act failing to furnish the bank commissioners any report by them required under the provisions of this act within the time herein specified shall forfeit the sum of $100 per day during the time of such default. (E) It shall be the duty of one or more of the bank commissioners, as designated by the commissioners, once each year, and as often as in their judgment may be deemed necessary, without previous notice, to visit and make, personally, a full examination of each and every corporation mentioned in section 3 of this act; to inspect all books, papers, notes, bonds, or evidences of debt of such corporation, and all securities; to ascertain the condition of every such corporation, its solvency, its ability to fulfill its obligations, and, if in their opinion it is deemed necessary, report its condition to the attorney-general as soon as practicable after such examination. (F) No restriction by law regarding commercial banks. Corporations organized for the purpose of accumulating and loaning the funds of their members, stockholders, and depositors may loan and invest the funds thereof, receive deposits of money, loan, invest, and collect the same with interest, and may repay depositors with or without interest. No such corporation must loan money except on adequate security on real or personal property, and such loan must not be for a longer period than six years. No savings bank shall receive the license in this act provided for unless at least 50 per cent of its loans shall be secured by first mortgage, or other prior lien upon real estate situate within this State; such loans, at the date when made, hereafter not to exceed 60 per cent of the market value of the security, except when made for the purpose of facilitating the sale of property owned by the corporation. And it shall be unlawful for any savings and loan society, or savings bank, to purchase, invest, or loan its capital, or the money of its depositors, or any part of either, in mining shares or stocks. Any president or managing officer who knowingly consents to a violation of the above provisions shall be deemed guilty of a felony. (G) No legal provision governing cash reserve. (H) The directors of any savings bank, bank, or banking corporation having a capital stock may semi-annually declare a dividend of so much of the net profits of the stockholders as they shall judge expedient; but every such corporation shall, before the declaration of such dividend, carry at least one-tenth part of the net profits of the stockholders for the preceding half year to its surplus or reserve fund until the same shall amount to 25 per cent of its paid-up capital stock. But the whole or any part of such surplus or reserve fund, if held as the exclusive property of stockholders, may at any time be converted into paid-up capital stock, in which event such surplus or reserve fund shall be restored in manner as above provided until it amounts to 25 per cent of the aggregate paid-up capital stock. A larger surplus or reserve fund may be created, and nothing herein contained shall be construed as prohibitory thereof.

5. There is no legal provision governing the receipt of deposits. It is the custom of savings banks to pay interest on deposits. Some commercial banks pay interest on term deposits.

6. The State is not interested as a shareholder in any of the banks.

7. There are some banks which have branch offices.

8. Commissioners make, on or before the 1st of October in each year, a report to the governor of the State, containing a tabular statement and synopsis of the several reports which have been filed in their offices since their last report, and any other proceedings had or done by them under this act, showing generally the condition of the respective savings, commercial, and other banking corporations or institutions of this State and such other matters as in their opinion may be of interest to the public, with a detailed statement, verified by their oaths, of all moneys and fees of office received by them during the same period. Copy provided each member of the legislature. Reports are public, and delivered to citizens free of charge upon application.

9. There are no taxes imposed upon banks other than those assessed upon all classes of property, except to pay the salaries and all other necessary expenses of the commissioners, as provided for by this act. Every corporation receiving a license shall pay annually, in advance, to the commissioners, in gold coin, its share of the amount required to pay such salaries and expenses; the share to be paid by any corporation to be determined by the proportion which its deposits bear to the aggregate deposits of all such corporations receiving licenses, as shown by the latest reports of such corporations to the commissioners.

10. If the bank commissioners, on the examination of the affairs of any corporation mentioned in section 3 of this act, shall find that any such corporation has been guilty of violating its charter, the laws of this State, or any of the provisions of this act, or is conducting business in an unsafe manner, they shall, by an order addressed to the corporation so offending, direct discontinuance of such illegal and unsafe practices and a conformity with the requirements of the law and its charter and of the provisions of this act. And if such corporation shall refuse or neglect to conform with such requirements before the expiration of the time in the order specified, or if it shall appear to said commissioners and they shall unanimously decide that it is unsafe for any such corporation to transact business, it shall be the duty of the commissioners immediately to take such control of such corporation and all the property and effects thereof as may be necessary to prevent waste or diversion of assets, and to hold possession of the same until the order of court hereinafter mentioned, and to immediately notify the attorney-general of their action; and it is hereby made the duty of the attorney-general, upon receiving such notification, to immediately commence suit in the proper court against such corporation and all the directors or trustees thereof to enjoin and prohibit them from the transaction of any further business. If, upon the hearing of the case, the court shall find that it is unsafe for such corporation to continue business, and that such corporation or institution is insolvent, said court shall issue the injunction applied for, and shall cause the same to be served according to law, and shall order the commissioners to surrender to the corporation the property thereof in their possession for the purpose of liquidation: or if the court shall find that such corporation is solvent and may safely continue business, it shall dismiss the action and order that the corporation be restored to the possession of its property. The issuance of the injunction hereinabove provided for shall by operation of law dissolve any and all attachments levied upon any property of such corporation within one month next preceding the date of the notification by the commissioners to the attorney-general, as provided for in this section, and no attachment or execution shall, after the issuance of such injunction and during the process of liquidation hereinafter provided for, be levied upon any property of said corporation, nor shall any lien be created thereon. And if it shall appear to the court at such hearing or at any time during the liquidation hereinafter provided for, on the petition of one or more of the bank commissioners or any other interested party, that any of the directors or trustees or officers of said corporation have been guilty of fraud, malversation, or criminal carelessness or negligence, and that any of them are not the proper persons to be intrusted with the closing of the affairs and business of such corporation in the interest of the depositors, creditors, and stockholders thereof, the said court shall cause to be issued in said action and served upon said directors or trustees or officers, or any of them, an order to show cause why they, or any of them, should not be removed from office, which order shall briefly recite the grounds of the application, and shall be returnable at a time to be fixed by the court; and if on the hearing the court shall find that such directors or trustees or officers, or any of them, ought to be removed from office it shall enter its order of removal accordingly, which order shall be final in the premises; and if the board of directors or trustees of the corporation shall neglect for the period of ten days after such removal to elect or appoint a successor or successors to the person or persons so removed, then the court, by an order entered in said cause, shall appoint such successor or successors; and the court shall also have power in like manner to fill all vacancies occurring in the board, and to appoint directors or trustees in their stead whenever from any cause there are no directors or trustees, or not a sufficient number thereof to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business, or when from any cause there are no directors or trustees, the court may order an election by the stockholders, to be held according to law. Subject to this right of removal and appointment, the directors or trustees of all banking corporations in liquidation shall be permitted to continue the management of the affairs of such corporations during the process of liquidation, under the direction of the bank commissioners, as hereinafter provided. The affairs of every corporation mentioned in this act which is hereafter forced into liquidation under the provisions of this act or otherwise goes into liquidation shall be closed, and the business thereof settled within four years from the time it shall enter into liquidation, unless at the expiration of such time it shall obtain the consent in writing from a majority of the board of bank commissioners to continue in liquidation for a longer period. The bank commissioners shall, however, have no power to grant a continuance for such purpose for a longer period than one year at each time, and the affairs of any corporation in process of liquidation at the time of the adoption of this section as amended shall be closed within a time to be designated by such bank commissioners. Any corporation mentioned herein now in liquidation, or that hereafter goes into liquidation, shall make reports of the condition of its affairs to the bank commissioners, in the same manner as the solvent banks mentioned in this act, and, in addition thereto, shall state the amount of dividends paid, debts collected, and the amounts realized on property sold, if any, since the previous report. The bank commissioners shall have the power, and it is hereby made their duty, to examine the condition of every such corporation in liquidation, in the same manner as in the case of solvent banks, and they shall have a general supervision of any such corporation. They shall have the power to limit the number of employees necessary to close up the business of any such corporation, and to also limit the salaries of the same, and shall do all in their power to make such liquidation economical and as expeditious as the interests of the depositors and stockholders will admit. If any officer or employee of any corporation, insolvent or in liquidation, mentioned in this act, shall refuse to comply with the provisions of this section, or disregard or refuse to obey the directions of said bank commissioners, given in accordance with the provisions of this act, such officer or employee shall be punished by a fine of not exceeding $5,000, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, as a court of competent jurisdiction may determine.

11. Constitution of State prohibits issue and circulation of money by State banks.

12. Covered under section 4.

COLORADO.

[Joseph T. Talbert, national-bank examiner.]

1. The different classes of banks permitted by law to do business in Colorado are: (a) National banks; (b) banks incorporated under State laws other than savings banks; (c) savings banks incorporated under State laws; (d) private banks unincorporated.

2. Banks incorporated under State laws must file a certificate with the secretary of state and another certificate with the county clerk and recorder of the county where the bank is located, specifying as follows: First. The name assumed to distinguish such corporation or association and to be used in all its dealings. Second. The place where the operations of discount and deposit of such banking corporation or association are to be carried on, designating the particular county, city, or town, at which place such association shall keep an office for the transaction of its business. Third. The amount of the capital stock of such association and the number of shares into which the same is divided. Fourth. The names and places of residence of the stockholders and the number of shares held and owned by each of them respectively. Fifth. The period at which such association shall commence and terminate. Sixth. The names and places of residence of the several directors and officers and the number of shares of the capital stock of such corporation or association owned and held by each of such directors and officers, which certificate shall be acknowledged. Private savings banks not incorporated are not permitted to do business in Colorado.

3. There is no provision making it the duty of any particular officer to determine when the conditions have been satisfied.

4. An ordinary State bank must have a capital of not less than $30,000, and is not permitted to transact any business until at least 50 per cent of its capital has been paid into the treasury of the bank in cash, nor until a certificate to that effect, under oath of the president and cashier, shall have been filed in the office of the recorder of deeds of the county where such bank is located; nor is such bank permitted to continue to transact business beyond the period of one year unless the entire capital stock has been fully paid up in cash, and a certificate to that effect filed in said offices. Savings banks must have a capital of not less than $25,000, all of which must be paid in cash. The management of incorporated banks is in the hands of the directors. Shareholders in banks and savings banks are held individually responsible for debts, contracts, and engagements of said associations in double the amount of the par value of stock owned by them respectively. The directors of an ordinary bank, whenever a dividend is declared, shall make a full, clear, and accurate statement to the State treasurer of the condition of the bank at that time, and the same must be published at least once a week for three successive weeks in some newspaper of the county in which such bank is located. The directors of savings banks are required to make similar statements to the State treasurer quarterly, which statement must be published, as in the case of other banks. There is no provision for examination of banks by State officials. Banks are not permitted to take as security for any loan or discount a lien upon any part of their capital stock. In case of ordinary State banks the stockholders collectively of any bank shall at no time be liable to such bank, either as principal debtors or sureties, or both, to an amount greater than two-fifths of the amount of the capital stock actually paid in and remaining undiminished by losses or otherwise. No officer of a savings bank shall be a borrower or surety for a borrower of any of its funds, nor shall any savings bank discount any paper made, accepted, or indorsed by its cashier or any of its clerks, or by any partnership of which either is a member. The following additional provision with reference to savings banks is found among our laws: "Section 523. The board of directors or trustees may invest one-half of the deposits made with them upon personal security, or in the bonds or stock of this State or of the United States, or in the bonds of any county, city, town, or school district in this State legally authorized to issue such bonds, or loan the same upon bonds secured by mortgage upon unincumbered real estate worth at least double the amount loaned, or in such other manner as is authorized by this act; and from the remainder of said deposits temporary deposits may be made by said board in any national bank, or in any banks of this State which may be incorporated under the general banking laws, said deposits not to exceed $25,000 in any one bank; or they may keep the whole or any part of the said remainder to meet the current payments of such bank, and which may by them be kept on deposit, interest or otherwise, or in such suitable form as the directors or trustees may direct." Savings banks and other banks are required to at all times hold, either in their own keeping or on deposit subject to call with some national bank or with other banks organized under general laws, at least 20 per cent of the savings deposits of such bank or association. There is no provision requiring the accumulation of a surplus. Section 223, Mills' Annotated Statute, is as follows: "No corporation organized under the laws of this State and doing business in this State shall loan its money or the money deposited with it to any individual, corporation, firm, or company, directly or indirectly, or permit any individual, corporation, firm, or company to become indebted to it in a sum exceeding 25 per cent of its capital stock actually paid in, or permit a line of loans to any greater amount to any individual, corporation, firm, or company, nor shall any such corporation loan to any officer or director of the same as principal or surety or indorser upon paper for an amount greater than 90 per cent of the capital stock of such corporation actually paid in and owned by such director or officer, unless such borrower deposit with such corporation collateral security or execute a deed of trust or mortgage upon real or personal property which at the time is assessed or assessable for taxable purposes at a valuation 10 per cent in excess of such loan."

5. Section 222, Mills' Annotated Statutes, is as follows: "If any banker, or any president, director, manager, cashier or other officer, or any agent, clerk or employee of any banker, bank or banking institution doing business in this State shall receive or assent to the reception of any deposit of money or other valuable thing by such banker or in such bank or banking institution, or if any such banker, officer or agent shall create or assent to the creation of any debts or indebtedness by such banker, bank or banking institution, in consideration or by reason of which indebtedness any money or other valuable property shall be received by such banker, or into such bank or banking institution after he shall have had knowledge of the fact that such banker, bank or banking institution is insolvent, he shall be deemed guilty of larceny, and on conviction thereof be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary for not less than one year nor more than ten years. And upon the trial of any person charged with an offense under this section, evidence of the failure of any such banker, bank or banking institution at any time within thirty days after the reception of such deposit or the creation of such indebtedness shall be received as prima facie evidence of knowledge on the part of the person charged that such banker, bank or banking institution was insolvent at the time of the reception of such deposit or the creation of such indebtedness." Section 224, Mills' Annotated Statutes, is as follows: "No president, director, manager, cashier or other officer, agent or employee of any bank or banking institution, organized and doing business under any laws of this State, shall receive or assent to the reception of deposits or create or assent to the creation of any indebtedness by such bank or banking institution after he shall have had knowledge of the fact that it is insolvent or in failing circumstances. Every person violating the provisions of this section shall be individually responsible for such deposits so received and such indebtedness so contracted." Section 225, Mills' Annotated Statutes, is as follows: "In all suits brought for the recovery of any deposits received or debts contracted in violation of the provisions of section 2 of this act all officers, agents or managers, or the executors or administrators of such as may be deceased of such bank or banking institution, may be joined as defendants, or proceeded against severally, and the fact that such bank or banking institution was insolvent or in failing circumstances at the time of the reception of such deposit or the contracting of such indebtedness shall be prima facie evidence of knowledge of such fact and of assent to such reception or contracting on the part of such officer, agent or manager so charged therewith." It is generally the custom of savings banks to allow interest on deposits, and we believe also of other banks where the deposit is left with the bank for as long a time as one year, in case of special agreement to that effect.

6. The State is not in any manner interested as a shareholder in any bank.

7. There is no provision of law permitting banks to conduct branch offices.

8. State banks are not required to furnish information to the public as to their condition, except as stated above in answer to question 4.

9. The shares of stock in national banks doing business in Colorado are subject to taxation in the county where the bank is located, whether the owner resides there or elsewhere, and the bank is required to pay such tax as agent for the shareholders.

10. The usual method of closing up business of insolvent banks organized under State law is by deed of general assignment, all creditors standing upon an equal footing, except employees to the extent of $50 each, and in the case of the insolvency of savings banks the savings depositors are entitled to preference in the payment over other creditors.

11. State banks are not permitted to issue notes, bills, or other evidence of indebtedness for circulation as money.

12. The principal points in the Colorado law concerning savings banks have already been mentioned.

CONNECTICUT.

[Edward R. Doyle, bank commissioner.]

1. State, savings, and private banks, trust companies.

2. Must be incorporated by general assembly.

3. General assembly and bank commissioners.

4. (A and B) Stated in petition for incorporation. (C) No double liability. (D) Reports made by State banks and trust companies quarterly, savings banks annually—no supervision of private banks. (E) Examinations made by bank commissioners semiannually or oftener. (F) No bank shall discount any paper made, accepted, or indorsed by its cashier or any of its clerks, or by any partnership of which either is a member. No director in any bank shall be obligated to such bank to an amount exceeding 5 per centum of the capital actually paid in and surplus combined, and no bank shall permit the directors to become obligated to it to an amount at any time exceeding in the whole the sum of 20 per centum on its capital stock actually paid in and surplus combined. Any bank which shall violate the provisions of this section shall forfeit to the State not less than $500 nor more than $1,000. If any director of any bank shall receive any compensation for indorsing any paper discounted by such bank, he shall forfeit to the State the full amount of such paper. (G) Every bank and trust company shall always keep in its banking office gold and silver coin, bullion, bonds, legal-tender notes of the United States, or national-bank currency, to an amount not less than one-tenth of all its liabilities except its capital stock, but the bonds of the United States so included in said reserve fund shall never exceed one-twentieth of said liabilities. (H) Savings banks at least 3 per cent of deposits and no more than 10 per cent.

5. Savings banks not to exceed $1,000 in one year. Savings banks allow interest; State and trust companies, in certain cases.

6. Do not know.
7. No.
8. Reports issued by bank commissioners and statements published in newspapers quarterly.
9. One per cent on capital stock; bank commissioners' salaries apportioned according to deposits.
10. Forward copies of law.

[Michael F. Dooley, national-bank examiner.]

1. Banks of discount. Trust companies which exercise the same functions and enjoy the additional privilege of receiving and investing trust funds, acting as receivers, administrators, etc. Savings banks of a purely mutual character which receive deposits, from whose investment the depositors are paid dividends.

2. They must obtain a special charter from the legislature of the State. In the early charters certain conditions were needed to be complied with before banks began business. For instance, one bank had to pay for its franchise a bonus of $10,000 to erect a normal school, and another had to build a fence around the State House yard, etc. But such requirements have not been exacted in recent years. One provision was that one-half of the capital stock had to be paid in before beginning business. Now the full capital has to be paid in.

3. This is governed by the provisions of the charter. Formerly it was generally provided that commissioners named in the charter should receive subscriptions for the capital, and when this was fully subscribed said commissioners called the subscribers together to elect directors, and when 50 per cent of the capital stock was paid in the bank was allowed to commence business. Under recent charters commissioners are named therein to receive subscriptions, and when capital is fully paid in the banks are allowed to begin business.

4. (A) This is regulated by charter. Capital stock is required to be actually paid in before beginning business. (B) This is also fixed by charter. A board of directors manages each bank, and trustees manage savings banks. (C) There is no such liability. (D) Banks and trust companies make quarterly sworn statements to the bank commissioners. Savings banks make annual reports to the same officials, who in turn make an annual report to the governor of the condition of each bank, trust company, and savings bank. (E) There are two bank commissioners appointed by the governor, with the consent of the senate, who are obliged to make two examinations a year of each bank, trust company, and savings bank. (F) No bank or trust company shall loan to any party more than 15 per cent of its capital stock actually paid in together with the surplus. No bank or trust company shall discount any paper made, accepted or indorsed by cashier or any of its clerks or by any partnership of which either is a member. No director of any bank or trust company shall borrow to an amount exceeding 5 per cent of the capital actually paid in and surplus combined, and no bank or trust company shall permit the directors to become obligated to it to an amount at any one time exceeding in the whole the sum of 20 per cent on its capital stock actually paid in and surplus combined. No loan shall be made by any bank or trust company on a pledge of its own stock. No loan shall be made by any savings bank to a manufacturing corporation or ecclesiastical society secured by mortgage upon its property, unless the same shall be accompanied by the individual guaranty of some responsible party or parties or by collateral security of equal value to the amount of the loan. No savings bank shall loan any money upon any obligation on which only one person or firm shall be holden without taking additional security for the same equivalent to the guaranty of some other responsible party. No officer of a savings bank can borrow its funds. (G) Every bank or trust company shall always keep in its banking office gold and silver coin, bullion, bonds, legal tender notes of United States, or national-bank currency to an amount not less than one-tenth of all its liabilities except its capital stock, but the bonds of the United States so included in its reserve fund shall never exceed one-twentieth of said liabilities. (H) No accumulation of surplus is required for banks or trust companies except that no dividend shall be declared unless from its net earnings after deducting all losses, overdrafts, and obligations suspended or overdue. No savings banks shall make any dividend until its surplus shall have accumulated to an amount equal to 3 per cent of its deposits, but no savings bank shall carry to its surplus or contingent fund a sum larger than 10 per cent of its deposits, and any surplus above that sum shall be divided among the depositors entitled to it in sums of not less than 1 per cent of its deposits.

5. There are no restrictions as to deposits in banks or trust companies, but no savings bank can receive more than $1,000 on deposit from one depositor in one year. Interest is paid on many accounts by banks and trust companies, but generally on those where the funds are left on deposit for some specified time or on accounts where the average balance is large. Hartford banks, State and national, are as a rule more generally doing this than other banks in the State, but the evil of interest-paying has grown greatly during the past ten years, until to-day concentrated effort on the part of both banks and trust companies here is made to mitigate, if not entirely to eradicate it. Outside of Hartford little interest is paid on deposits.

6. The State and every educational, ecclesiastical, and charitable corporation, in addition to the authorized capital stock, may subscribe for stock to the extent, in the aggregate, of one-tenth of the capital stock actually paid in. The State, through its school fund, is interested in some of the banks as stockholder.

7. No branch offices are permitted.

8. Banks and trust companies inform the public of their condition by reports published four times a year in newspapers printed in the towns and counties where the banks are located, and by the annual reports of the bank commissioners to the governor. In these last reports appear the statements of the savings banks.

9. The stockholders of banks and trust companies, if residents of the State, pay taxes on their stock in the towns where they reside; and if nonresidents, a tax of 1 per cent is collected by the State. Every cashier of such bank or trust company must forward annually to each town a list of its shareholders resident therein, and must also make to the State treasurer a return of all the nonresident stockholders. Taxation is based upon the market value of the stock after deducting therefrom the amount invested in real estate, upon which bank or trust company pays tax. Savings banks pay one-fourth of 1 per cent on their deposits, certain deductions for real estate owned and taxable, bonds issued by towns in favor of railroads, and $50,000 in addition being permitted.

10. When in the opinion of the bank commissioners a bank has impaired its capital or the public are in danger of being defrauded, the commissioners may apply to the superior court for a receiver. Upon hearing and for cause shown the court has power to appoint a receiver to wind up the affairs of such bank.

11. In the revision of 1866 there appears a law specifying that a bank may issue bills to an amount equal to 75 per cent of its capital actually paid in and unimpaired by losses. In the revision of 1888 this law does not appear. There are no provisions that I can find.

12. The answer to this question is largely embodied in much of what appears in the other answers. To summarize, savings banks are created by charter. They are managed by trustees and entirely distinct in their powers from banks of discount. Treasurer must give a bond for not less than $10,000. All loans must be approved by trustees and a record kept, showing names of those assenting. No officer can borrow money from a savings bank. At least one-half of the deposits must be loaned upon unincumbered real estate in this State. Bonds issued by the State of Connecticut or any municipality therein may be classed as real estate. Net earnings, except a small reserve fund, are divided in form of dividends twice a year among the depositors. In declaring dividends the trustees may discriminate to an amount not exceeding 1 per cent in favor of depositors having less than $2,000 on deposit.

DELAWARE.

[Francis N. Buck, national-bank examiner.]

1. There is no general law under which banking corporations can be organized; must be under special charter by act of assembly, and privileges granted are only such as are embraced in charter or in subsequent amendments. Private banks, receiving deposits and granting discounts, do not exist because of practical prohibition by taxation on deposits. There are one State bank (principal bank and three branches), two trust companies, and two savings banks, all of which are organized and conduct business under special charters.

2. As required in charter.

3. None.

4. (A) Farmers' Bank, Dover (principal), $224,000; New Castle (branch), $100,000; Georgetown (branch), $120,000; Wilmington (branch), $236,000; total, $680,000. Equitable Guarantee and Trust Company, Wilmington, $500,000; Security Trust and Safe Deposit Company, Wilmington, $500,000, all fully paid. Savings banks are conducted on the mutual plan; both of these are strong and conservative, with large guaranty funds. (B) By directors. (C) None. (D) None, except semiannual and annual publications of statements, and in case of Farmers' Bank, of annual report to governor, for transmission to general assembly. (E) None. (F) None, or nominal if at all. (G) None. (H) None.

5. No legal provision; interest seldom paid by banks, but paid by trust companies and savings banks.

6. State owns: Farmers' Bank, general fund, 1,275 shares, par value $50; school fund, 2,439 shares, par value $50; school fund, 5,000 shares, $36 paid. National Bank of Delaware, Wilmington, general fund, 20 shares, par value $200; school fund, 37 shares, par value $200. National Bank of Smyrna, school fund, 114 shares, par value $50. Union National Bank, Wilmington, 254 shares.

7. Farmers' Bank has principal bank at Dover, branches at Georgetown, New Castle, and Wilmington; organized and conducted at these specifically designated places, under charter and amendments.

8. Only by occasional publication of summarized statements and in case of savings funds, publication of annual statements. Farmers' Bank makes annual report to governor.

9. State tax of 1½ per cent on market value of shares, but not levied on trust companies.

10. None, except those governing all corporations, usually chancery proceedings for appointment of receiver.

11. None, other than in Farmers' Bank charter, which provides that circulation shall not be greater than double the amount of capital stock.

12. No general provisions.

IDAHO.

[S. R. Flynn, national-bank examiner.]

1. Idaho has no State banking law. Incorporated banking associations are governed by the general corporation laws. There is no restriction as to classes or kinds of banks, except that a special partnership can not be formed for the purpose of entering the banking business. Banking business is done by private parties without incorporation and without capital.

2. No requirements in case of unincorporated concerns. Five or more persons, of whom a majority shall be bona fide residents of the State, can form any private corporation. Articles of incorporation must be prepared, setting forth (1) name of corporation; (2) purpose for which it is formed; (3) place where its principal business is to be transacted; (4) term for which it is to exist, not exceeding fifty years; (5) the names of its directors and trustees and the names and residences of those who are appointed for the first year; (6) the amount of capital stock and the number of shares into which it is divided; (7) if there is capital stock, the amount actually subscribed and by whom. The articles of incorporation must be subscribed by five or more persons, a majority of whom must be resident freeholders of the State, and acknowledged by each before some officer authorized to take and certify acknowledgments of conveyances of real property. Before the secretary of state or the recorder of a county issues a certificate of incorporation, there must be filed in his office an affidavit of the president, secretary, or treasurer named in the articles that the amount of the capital stock required by law has been actually subscribed; but the only corporations required to have a specified amount of capital subscribed are railroad, wagon road, or telegraph corporations.

3. Recorder of county in which corporation does business, or secretary of state must issue certificate when requirements are complied with.

4. (A) No requirement except as to railroad, wagon road, or telegraph corporations. (B) Not less than five nor more than eleven directors. (C) Each stockholder is individually and personally liable for its liabilities to the full amount unpaid upon the par or face value of the stock or shares owned by him. The liability of each stockholder is determined by the amount of stock or shares owned by him at the time the debt or liability was incurred by the corporation; and such liability is not released or discharged by any subsequent transfer of stock. Any creditor of the corporation may institute actions against any of its stockholders jointly or severally, and in such action the court must determine the amount unpaid upon the stock held or owned by each defendant, and a several judgment must be entered against him for a sum not exceeding such amount. (D) None required. (E) The governor may order an inquiry into the affairs or management of any corporation. (F) No restrictions, except that officers and employees of savings banks who knowingly overdraw their accounts are declared guilty of misdemeanor. (G) No requirement. (H) No requirement.

5. No provisions, except that any officer, agent, teller, or clerk of any bank, and every individual banker or agent, teller or clerk of any individual banker, who receives any deposits, knowing that such bank or banker is insolvent, is guilty of a misdemeanor. It is customary to allow interest on deposits.

6. Not interested.

7. Nothing in the law to prevent.

8. No information furnished the public through any regular channel.

9. No taxes, except such as are imposed on capital stock and credits. Private and incorporated banking associations have a distinct advantage in the matter of taxation over national banks in this: In estimating assessable property all credits secured by real or personal property are deducted, or rather not included in such estimates.

10. Upon the dissolution of any corporation, the district court of the county in which the corporation carries on its business or has its principal place of business, on application of any creditor of the corporation, or a member or stockholder thereof, may appoint one or more persons to be receivers or trustees of the corporation, to take charge of the estate and effects thereof, and to collect the debts and property due and belonging to the corporation, and to pay the outstanding debts thereof, and to divide the moneys and other property that shall remain over among the stockholders or members. The receiver has, under the control of the court, power to bring and defend actions in his own name as receiver, to take and keep possession of the property, to receive rents and collect debts, or to compound for or compromise the same, to make transfers, and generally to do such acts respecting the property as the court may authorize. Funds in the hands of a receiver may be invested upon interest by order of the court, but no such order can be made except upon the consent of all the parties to the action.

11. No corporation shall emit paper money or create or issue bills, notes, or other evidences of debt, upon loans or otherwise, for circulation as money.

12. No provision of law regarding the organization of savings banks, and there are none doing business in the State.

ILLINOIS.

[David Gore, auditor of public accounts.]

1. Under the general banking act entitled "An act concerning corporations with banking powers," approved June 16, 1887, as amended by act approved June 3, 1889, banks may be formed "for the purpose of discount and deposit, buying and selling exchange, and doing a general banking business, excepting the issuing of bills to circulate as money, and such banks or banking associations shall have the power to loan money on personal and real-estate security and to accept and execute trusts."

2. First, application must be made for permit to organize, stating place of business, amount of capital, the name under which they desire to organize, and the duration of the association. When permit is issued they may proceed to take subscriptions to stock, and when all subscribed for the stockholders meet and determine upon the number of directors and proceed to elect same. The directors then meet and organize by the election of officers. The capital stock must be paid in in full in cash, and the directors make affidavit to that effect, and the auditor of public accounts also verifies this by an examination into their affairs, and if satisfied that the organization has been legally effected and the association has on hand in cash the full amount of the capital and is otherwise equipped for business, the auditor issues his certificate, authorizing them to commence business. Upon filing with the county recorder of deeds this certificate and the permit previously issued they may open their doors for business.

3. The auditor of public accounts.

4. (A) The amount of capital stock is regulated by the population of the place where bank is located, as follows: Under 5,000 inhabitants, $25,000 capital; over 5,000 and less than 10,000 inhabitants, $50,000 capital; over 10,000 and less than 50,000 inhabitants, $100,000 capital; over 50,000 inhabitants, $200,000 capital. The above is the minimum amount of capital allowed by the law. The entire amount of capital must be paid in in cash before the bank commences business. (B) The directors elect officers to carry on the business of the bank. (C) A stockholder is liable for double the amount of his stock for all liabilities accruing while he remains a stockholder, and no transfer of stock operates as a release from such liability. (D) Reports of condition under oath are made at least once in each three months, and as often as the auditor of public accounts may call for the same. (E) Each bank is examined at least once in each year, and as often as the auditor of public accounts may determine, by some competent person appointed by him. (F) The restriction as to loans is covered by section 10 of the banking act, as follows: "The total liabilities to any association, of any person or of any company or firm, for money borrowed, including in the liabilities of a company or firm the liabilities of the several members thereof, shall at no time exceed one-tenth part of the amount of capital of such association actually paid in. But the discount of bills of exchange drawn, in good faith, against actually existing values, and the discount of commercial or business paper actually owned by the person negotiating the same, shall not be considered as money borrowed." (G) The law fixes no amount of required reserve. The department rule has been 15 per cent of deposits subject to notice, and 20 per cent of other deposits. (H) The law does not require the accumulation of a surplus.

5. The law contains no provisions governing the receipt of deposits. Banks having a savings department and issuing time certificates of deposit pay interest. It is not the practice to pay interest upon commercial accounts or individual deposits subject to check.

6. The State is interested to no extent whatever as a shareholder in any bank.

7. The law contains no reference to branch banks; they are neither specifically permitted nor prohibited. In practice this department rules that they are not permissible.

8. The reports called for by the auditor of public accounts are required to be published in a newspaper published where the bank is located. The auditor also issues and distributes after each call a tabulated statement showing the condition of each bank.

9. Banks, of course, pay taxes on their assets. There are no special taxes or burdens imposed, however, except the expense of examination, which is $10 per day for each day employed, and mileage for necessary travel at the rate of 8 cents per mile; also a fee of $5 to accompany each report of condition, and the cost of publishing report.

10. The following are the provisions of section 11 of the banking law: "Should the capital stock of any bank organized under this act become impaired the auditor shall give notice to the president to have the impairment made good by assessment of the stockholders or a reduction of the capital stock of such bank, if the reduction should not bring the capital below the provisions of this section; and if the capital stock of said bank shall remain impaired for thirty days after notice by the auditor, he shall have power, and it is hereby made his duty, to enter suit against each stockholder, in the name of the people of the State of Illinois, for the use of said bank, for his or her pro rata proportion of such impairment, and when collected shall pay over the amount thereof to said bank, and the judgment in such case shall be for the amount claimed, with all costs and reasonable attorneys' fees, which fees shall be fixed by the court; or he may, in his discretion, file a bill in the circuit court of the county in which said bank is located, in the name of the people of the State of Illinois, against said bank and its stockholders for the appointment of a receiver for the winding up of the affairs of said bank. And said court, upon the presentation of said bill, and upon being made satisfied that the capital of said bank has become impaired, shall immediately appoint a competent and disinterested person as such receiver, and shall determine and fix his bonds, and shall prescribe his duties. And said cause shall proceed as other cases in equity."

11. A bank circulation is not permitted.

12. The general banking law makes no reference to savings banks. We have no law governing savings banks, as such. A bank formed under the general banking law may be exclusively a savings bank.

I will add that the information given applies to State banks only. Private banking is fully recognized in this State; indeed, three-fifths of all the banks in the State are private banks. These have never been brought under supervision of any kind, and carry on their business without regulations as to capital, publication of reports, or other requirements common to incorporated banks.

INDIANA.

[A. C. Daily, State auditor.]

1. There are authorized under the laws of this State, banks of discount and deposit, savings banks, and trust companies, although the latter could not properly be termed banks. Of course private banks are not prohibited, although they are under no kind of supervision, but their business is conducted the same as any other ordinary business partnership.

2. The State banks, or banks of discount, are required, before beginning business, to file articles of incorporation entered into by not less than five persons, and also to pay in cash one-half of the amount of their capital stock, which capital can not be less than $25,000. Savings banks are required to file certificate under the hands of the incorporators, who can not be less than seven nor more than twenty-one, and who must have resided for at least five years next preceding the incorporation in this State, and who must severally own unincumbered real estate therein, worth at least $5,000, and must obtain a certificate from the judge of the circuit court in the county in which the bank is to be established that they are qualified to act under the provisions above stated. Trust companies are required to file articles of incorporation entered into by not less than ten persons, and before beginning business must obtain a certificate of the auditor of state that $100,000 of its capital stock has been subscribed and paid in, and is in the custody of his office.

3. I have answered this question practically in answering question 2.

4. State banks of discount can not have a capital of less than $25,000, and one-half of this amount must be paid in before beginning business, and the other half within six months. Savings banks have no capital. Trust companies are required to pay in $100,000 of their capital before beginning business, and the remainder can be paid as ordered by the stockholders or directors. State banks are under the management of a board of directors, which shall not be less than three. Savings banks are managed by the trustees who incorporate the same. Trust companies are managed by a board of directors consisting of not less than six nor more than twelve. All of these banks have authority to appoint other officers to assist them in the management. State banks are required to make and publish at least five reports to the auditor of state, at such times as he may call for the same, and to make and publish an annual statement, the time for which is fixed by the fiscal year of the bank. Savings banks make an annual report to the auditor of state of their condition on the 1st day of January of each year. Trust companies make an annual report to the auditor of state on or before the 1st day of April in each year. Shareholders in banks of discount and trust companies are liable for double the amount of the capital stock held by them. All these banks are under the supervision of and subject to examination by, the auditor of state, or by an examiner appointed by him. There are practically no restrictions in the character of loans by State banks. Savings banks are limited in their investments to stock or bonds or Treasury notes of the United States; orders or bonds of any county, city, or town in this State issued pursuant to law; stocks or bonds of any State in the Union that has, for five years previous to such investment being made, regularly paid the interest on its legal bonded debt in lawful money of the United States; bonds or notes secured by mortgages on unincumbered real estate in Indiana, worth, exclusive of perishable improvements, at least twice the amount loaned thereon; promissory notes or bills of exchange before their maturity, payable at some chartered bank in this State, and not having to exceed twelve months to run from the date of the loan or purchase, made or indorsed by two or more responsible freeholders of the State of Indiana, provided that any such notes or bills shall not exceed the sum of $10,000, and that no more than $10,000 shall be loaned upon the same security; in real estate for the purpose of a banking house, or in such that it may be required to purchase under mortgages executed to it. No amount of cash reserve is required to be held by any of these banks. State banks are required to set apart 10 per cent of the annual net profits for a surplus fund, until the same shall amount to 25 per cent of its capital stock. Savings banks are required to set aside not less than one-half of 1 per cent per annum from its gross profits, until the same amounts to 10 per cent of its deposits.

5. There are various provisions concerning receipt of deposits in these banks, and I inclose you a copy of the law under which they operate, as it would require a good deal of space to answer this question in full. It has been the custom to allow interest on deposits, but in the last year or two a good many of the State banks have ceased doing this.

6. The State has no interest as a shareholder in any of these banks.

7. There is no provision in the law authorizing any of these banks to conduct branch offices or banks.

8. All reports of the condition of State banks are published in a paper printed in the county in which the bank is located. The reports of savings banks and trust companies are not required to be printed, but it is the custom of these banks to do so.

9. There are no special taxes or burdens imposed upon any of these banks for banking privileges granted them. They are subject to taxation the same as an individual or other corporation.

10. Insolvent banks are closed up as a rule by receiver appointed by the court having jurisdiction over them. By recent amendment of the State bank law, the auditor of State is authorized to take charge of a failing bank pending the appointment of a receiver, and it is made the duty of the president or cashier of said bank to immediately notify him of the failure or suspension. He is also authorized by same amendment to take charge of any bank found upon examination to be in an insolvent or failing condition, and to make application to the proper court for a receiver for the same.

11. There are no provisions in the banking law for the issuing of bank circulation.

12. In answer to this question a copy of the law is inclosed.

IOWA.

[C. G. McCarthy, auditor of state.]

1. State and savings banks are the only class of banks under State supervision in Iowa. Private banks are authorized to do business, but are not subject to State supervision or regulation.

2. State banks must adopt articles of incorporation, file and record the same in the offices of the county recorder and secretary of state, publish notice of such incorporation for four consecutive weeks in some newspaper published in the county where the business is done, and furnish the auditor of state with a schedule, duly sworn to, of its capital stock, setting forth that the same has been fully paid up. Savings banks must pursue substantially the same method in organizing as State banks do, with this difference, that in the organization of State banks one or more persons may constitute the corporation, while in that of savings banks any number of persons not less than five may organize the corporation. The directors of a savings bank must also take an oath as to the discharge of their duties, a copy of which must be filed in the office of the auditor of state.

3. The auditor of state is charged with the supervision of the State and savings banks and must be fully satisfied that the requirements of law have been complied with before they are authorized to commence business.

4. First, State banks. (A) State banks may be organized with not less than a capital of $50,000, except in cities and towns having a population not exceeding 3,000, when such associations may be organized with a paid-up capital of not less than $25,000. (B) The State banks are managed by a board of directors elected by the stockholders, which board selects the officers of the bank. (C) Stockholders or shareholders in all banking associations are individually and severally liable to the creditors of such association over and above the amount of stock by them held therein to an amount equal to their respective shares so held for all its liabilities accruing while they remain such stockholders. (D) State banks are required to make reports of their condition, under oath, to the auditor of state, whenever that officer may call upon them to do so, but not oftener than four times a year, which reports must also be published in some newspaper published in the county, for one week. (E) State banks are subject to examinations by bank examiners appointed by the auditor of state, which examination takes place whenever, in the opinion of the auditor, it is necessary. Usually this examination is made once a year, unless there are reasons why it should be made oftener. (F) State banks are prohibited from loaning to a director or trustee except upon such securities as are required of other borrowers, and, furthermore, all loans made to directors or trustees must be passed upon by the board of directors of the bank in the absence of the person making application therefor. The total liabilities to any State bank of any person, or of any company, corporation, or firm, for money borrowed, including the liabilities of a company or firm, the liabilities of the several members thereof, shall at no time exceed 20 per cent of the capital stock. (G) The law fixes no specific amount of cash reserve to be held by the State banks, although the auditor of state insists upon the reserve of at least 15 per cent of the deposits. (H) There is no legal provision regarding the accumulation of a surplus fund. Savings banks. (A) Savings banks may organize with a paid-up capital of not less than $10,000, in cities and towns of 10,000 inhabitants or under, and a paid-up capital stock of not less than $50,000 in cities of over 10,000. (B) The business of savings banks is managed by a board of directors or trustees of not less than five nor more than nine members, all of whom must be shareholders and citizens of the State of Iowa. (C) The liability of shareholders in savings banks for claims against the bank is the same as that of shareholders in State banks noted above. (D) Savings banks are required to make the same reports of condition as State banks. (E) Savings banks are subject to examination and supervision the same as State banks. (F) Savings banks are restricted in their loans to the same extent as State banks. Savings banks are further prohibited from borrowing money for any purpose whatever except for the payment of depositors and the necessary running expenses of the bank. (G) No amount of cash reserve required, nor is there any legal requirement as to the accumulation of surplus.

5. State banks have a general common law power of receiving deposits and discounting commercial paper without any particular restrictions or limitations as to the amount. Savings banks may receive deposits amounting to ten times their capital stock, under such regulations as the board of directors or trustees shall from time to time prescribe. As a general rule both State and savings banks allow interest on time deposits.

6. The State is not interested to any extent as a shareholder in any of the banks doing business therein.

7. State and savings banks are not permitted by law to conduct branch offices or banks.

8. State and savings banks are required to publish their quarterly reports made to this office in some paper published in the county where they do business. In addition thereto the auditor of state is required to publish a report every year setting forth the condition of the State and savings banks under his supervision.

9. The capital invested in State and savings banks is subject to the same rates of taxation for State, county, and municipal purposes as other property. In addition thereto the banks are required to pay the examiner's fees whenever an examination is made.

10. Whenever the auditor of state is satisfied, from an examination, or reports, that a banking institution under his supervision is insolvent, it becomes his duty to direct the attorney-general to commence the proper proceedings to have a receiver appointed and the affairs of said institution wound up and the assets thereof ratably distributed among the creditors thereof, giving preference to the depositors.

11. State and savings banks are prohibited by the laws of this State from issuing any bills to circulate as money.

12. I can best answer your question by forwarding to your address, under another cover, a copy of the laws of this State relating to the organization and management of savings bank. On pages 13 to 24, inclusive, you will find full answers to this question.

KANSAS.

[Charles M. Sawyer, national-bank examiner.]

1. Private and incorporated banks.

2. A State bank may be incorporated by five or more persons. Its existence dates from the filing of its charter. No business shall be transacted except that incidental to the organization until it has been examined by the proper officer and a certificate has been issued by him authorizing it to transact a banking business. Private banks must also be examined by the same officer and authorized to do business in the same way before they can commence the business of banking.

3. Bank commissioner.

4. (A) The capital stock can not be less than $5,000, one-half of which must be paid before the bank is authorized to do business; 10 per cent of the balance must be paid each month until the full amount is paid in. (B) The management of the bank is vested in a board of directors of not less than five or more than thirteen members. (C) Stockholders are liable for an amount equal to the amount of the stock owned in addition thereto. (D) Reports of condition must be made four times a year or oftener at the discretion of the commissioner. (E) It must be examined at least once a year by the commissioner or his deputy. (F) No more than 15 per cent of the capital and surplus shall be loaned to one person, firm, or corporation. There is no restriction as to the character of the security to be taken for loans. (G) A reserve of 20 per cent of the deposits must be kept on hand, one-half of which may be on deposit with solvent banks. (H) Ten per cent of the profits of the six months preceding the dividend period must be carried to the surplus fund until this fund equals 50 per cent of the capital.

5. There are no regular provisions covering the receipts of deposits. It is the general practice of banks in the State to allow interest on public funds and on individual deposits if left a specified time. The rates vary in different parts of the State.

6. The constitution provides that the State shall not be a shareholder in any banking institution.

7. There are no provisions in the law in regard to banks conducting branch offices.

8. Information in regard to the condition of banks is furnished only by way of published statements at least four times a year.

9. No taxes are imposed upon banks by the State in return for the banking privileges except the expense of examinations.

10. Where the bank commissioner finds that a bank is insolvent he immediately notifies the attorney-general, who applies to the proper court for a receiver, and the bank is then without the jurisdiction of the banking department.

11. The constitution provides that all banking laws shall require as collateral security for the redemption of circulating notes a deposit with the auditor of state of the interest-paying bonds of the several States or the United States at the market prices of the New York Stock Exchange, in amount equal to the amount of circulating notes which the bank is authorized to issue and shall keep on hand in the vault at all times in cash 10 per cent of the total amount of circulating notes.

12. Savings banks are operated in the same way as other State banks.

KENTUCKY.

[John W. Headley, secretary of state.]

6. The State is interested to the extent of $28,420 in the stock of the Bank of Louisville, located in Louisville.

7. The Northern Bank of Kentucky, Lexington, has branches in Paris and Covington; the Farmers' Bank of Kentucky, Frankfort, has branches in Georgetown and Henderson; the Bank of Kentucky, Louisville, has a branch in Frankfort; the Owensboro Banking Company, Owensboro, has a branch at West Louisville; Wilson & Muir, Bardstown, have a branch at Bloomfield. I know of no restriction as to the number of branches a bank may have.

8. State-chartered banks make quarterly reports to the secretary of state of their condition. Each alternate report is published by the banks in the newspapers. Private banks make semiannual reports, which are published. The reports are kept as public records in the office of the secretary of state, and are open to public inspection at any time. The secretary of state publishes no report.

9. Under the present constitution banks are taxed as any other property, an allowance being made for franchise. Under the old law they were taxed 75 cents on the $100 on the face of their capital stock. They claim that under this law they had a contract with the State, and refuse to pay in accordance with the first law mentioned. They have been sustained by a recent decision of the court of appeals, but a motion for a new trial has been entered.

11. No banks are allowed to issue circulation in the State except of course national banks, but some of the old State banks still have some notes out that have not been redeemed.

12. No laws especially relating to savings banks.

(Copy of corporation law inclosed.)

[James S. Escott, national-bank examiner.]

1. Banks of deposit and discount, savings banks, and trust companies.

2. A charter from the legislature granted to reputable persons and a sworn statement to the secretary of state as to payment of capital stock.

3. The secretary of state.

4. (A) Regulated by charter. (B) Devolves upon board of directors. (C) Are only liable to extent of holdings of stock. Double-liability laws go into effect September, 1897. (D) Five sworn statements are made annually to secretary of state upon call from that official. (E) There are no examinations and no supervision by State officials. (F) Loans to any one individual or interest are restricted to 20 per cent of capital stock paid in. (G) Amount of cash reserve not fixed. (H) Accumulation of surplus required but not rigidly enforced.

5. No legal provisions govern the receipt of deposits. It is almost a universal custom to allow interest on time deposits and very often on open account. Rate varies from 2½ to 6 per cent.

6. The State is not interested as shareholder in any bank.

7. By special provision of charter banks are permitted to conduct branch banks. There are three such institutions at present.

8. The statements called for by the secretary of state are similar in general form to that called for by the Comptroller of the Currency, and are published in the local newspapers.

9. A tax of 75 cents per $100 on capital and surplus is levied on all banking institutions, both national and State. This tax goes into the State treasury. There are no city or county taxes.

10. Insolvent banks are wound up by the assignee without special legal provisions.

11. There is no special provision referring to the issue of bank circulation.

12. There are no special points in the law relating to savings banks.

(Copy of laws inclosed.)

LOUISIANA.

[Edward I. Johnson, national-bank examiner.]

1. In Louisiana there is no limit to the kinds or classes of banks permitted by law to do business. Under the law of this State any person, or association of persons, or corporation formed in compliance with the provisions given in answer 2 may transact the business of banking in this State, and establish offices of discount, deposit, and circulation for that purpose.

2. So far as any individual is concerned, the law allows him to carry on the business of banking as in the case of corporations. Corporations established to carry on the business of banking have power to discount bills, notes, and other evidences of debt; to receive deposits; to buy and sell gold and silver bullion, foreign coin, and bills of exchange; to lend money on real and personal security, and to exercise all incidental powers necessary to carry on the business. Since 1879 the constitution of this State forbids the legislature from passing any local or special law creating corporations or amending, renewing, extending, or explaining the charter thereof; and, in consequence, all banking corporations now must be chartered under the general laws of the State. This is done by written articles of association executed by notarial act. There must not be less than six persons organizing the corporation. The existence of any banking corporation is limited to ninety-nine years. The act of incorporation must be recorded in the office of the recorder of mortgages or other officer exercising the functions of recording of mortgages at the place named in the act as the place of business or domicile of the corporation. A certified copy of the act must be deposited in the office of the auditor of public accounts. It must be published once a week for four weeks in the official journal of the State and at least one daily newspaper of the city of New Orleans, and also in a newspaper at the place named in the act as the place of business, if there be one published there. This act of incorporation should contain, under the signatures of the subscribers and associates, (1) the name of the bank; (2) the place where the banking business is to be carried on; (3) the amount of capital stock and number of shares into which it is divided; (4) the names and places of residence of shareholders; the number of shares held by each, respectively; the time when and the manner in which payments on stock subscribed shall be made; (5) the period at which the association shall commence and the period of its duration; (6) the number of its directors and its managers and mode of their election, and (7) mode of liquidation at end of term.

3. In Louisiana banking corporations can begin and carry on their business without the approval of any officer. There is no officer to determine when they have complied with the legal provisions.

4. (A) The aggregate amount of the capital stock of the banker or banking corporation shall not be less than $100,000. All stock subscribed must be paid up in full in specie within twelve months after the company shall commence business. (B) The corporation is managed by its directors and managers prescribed by its charter. These must all be citizens of Louisiana. (C) No shareholder is liable for the bank's debts to a greater amount than the whole of his shares. Unincorporated bankers are liable to the full amount of their obligations and contracts. (D) The only legal provision for any character of report of condition to be made by banks is that given in answer to question 8. (E) There is no examination or supervision by any State official. (F) No loans of any banking company shall be made to any of its stockholders on a pledge of its own stock. There are no other restrictions on loans by the bank save such as prevent the managers, under the penalty of criminal or civil personal responsibility, from making loans when the bank is in insolvent condition. (G) Every banker or banking company is required to have on hand at all times in specie an amount equal to one-third of all their other cash liabilities; and for the other two-thirds of said liabilities an equal amount in specie, specie funds, bills of exchange, or discounted paper maturing within ninety days and not renewable. (H) No surplus is required to be accumulated.

5. There is nothing peculiar to the law of Louisiana governing the receipt of deposits by banks of this State. Banks in insolvent conditions are forbidden to receive deposits. Except savings banks, banks do not generally allow any interest on deposits. Savings banks allow after four months 3 per cent interest.

6. There is no law forbidding banks from conducting branch offices.

7. Since 1879 the State is prohibited from subscribing to or purchasing the capital stock of any corporation or association whatever.

8. Banks are required to make quarterly statements of their condition under oath and publish the same in one or more of the daily journals of the city of New Orleans, and banks in any incorporated town or city in the State must publish such a statement in any daily paper published in the town or city in which the bank is situated, and if there is no daily paper in such place in a weekly paper.

9. Banks have to pay a license tax to carry on the business in this State, as any other corporation, any trading firm, or business man. This license is based on the declared or nominal capital and surplus, whether the surplus is owned or in use or on deposit in the State or elsewhere.

10. Banking incorporations, on proof of insolvency, are wound up by commissioners appointed by the district court where the corporation is situated, at the instance of any creditor or of the auditor of public accounts, and the duties of such liquidating commissioners are to convert into cash as speedily as possible, under the court's direction, the assets of the corporation, including the sum that may have remained unpaid by the stockholders upon their respective shares of the capital stock, and to distribute the funds as provided by law in the case of the insolvencies of individuals.

11. There are numbers of provisions for bank circulation, but the Federal Government has virtually taxed such circulation out of existence.

12. Savings, safe-deposit, and trust banks, without power to issue bank notes, may be organized under the banking laws of the State. The capital must be not less than $50,000, of which $10,000 must be paid up before the business is begun.

MAINE.

[F. E. Timberlake, State bank examiner.]

1. Savings banks and trust companies.

2. Savings banks may be organized under the general law; trust companies are chartered by the State legislature.

3. The bank examiner.

4. (A) Savings banks have no capital stock. The only funds of the bank are the deposits and their accumulations. Trust companies: The amount of capital stock is fixed by their charters. (B) Savings banks are managed by a board of trustees elected by corporators annually, and a president and treasurer elected by that board, and trust companies by a board of directors elected annually by stockholders the same as in national banks. (C) Savings banks have no stockholders as already stated. Trust companies: Liability of the stockholders the same as in national banks. (D) Savings banks: The trustees and treasurer each make at least one report to the bank examiner in each year, and each in addition reporting as often as required so to do by the bank. Examiner: Trust companies are under the supervision of the bank examiner, and are required by law to report condition of bank to him as often as he may direct, and by custom are required to make such report twice in each year. (E) The law provides that both classes of banks shall be examined at least once in each year by the bank examiner. (F) Savings banks are restricted in their loans and investments as shown by copy of statute hereto attached. Trust companies are not restricted by law in making loans and investments, but can invest in all kinds of stocks and securities and loan money upon notes, collateral, or mortgages of real estate. (G) Savings banks are not required to keep a cash reserve. Trust companies are required by law to keep a cash reserve equal to 15 per cent of the aggregate amount of all deposits which are subject to withdrawal upon demand or within ten days. (H) Savings banks are required semiannually, before declaring a dividend, to carry one-fourth of 1 per cent of the average deposits for the preceding six months to a surplus account to be held as a guarantee for the protection of depositors. Trust companies are not required by law to accumulate a surplus.

5. Savings banks are not allowed to receive over $2,000 from any one person, excepting from widows, orphans, administrators, executors, guardians, charitable institutions, and trusts funds, and pay such dividends, not exceeding 5 per cent per annum, as the profits will allow. Trust companies are not restricted in any way as to what deposits they shall or may receive, such contracts for the payment of interest as they please, but usually pay from 2 to 4 per cent per annum on time deposits.

6. The State has no direct pecuniary interest in any of these institutions.

7. Savings banks are not permitted to conduct branch offices or banks. A part of the trust companies are authorized by their charters to conduct branch offices or banks, and two of them have such branches established that do a small amount of business, making report of the same daily to the home office.

8. The law provides that all examinations by the bank examiner shall be published in some newspaper printed in the locality of the bank, and all returns and examinations are, at the close of the year, incorporated into a report to the governor and council, and that report is printed and distributed through the State.

9. Savings banks pay a tax direct to the State of about three-fourths of 1 per cent upon the average amount of their deposits, surplus, and undivided profits for the year. This tax is by law so regulated that it gives a discrimination in favor of such portion of their funds as may be invested within the State of Maine. Trust companies pay no tax, except upon such real estate or other corporeal property as it may own. The stockholders are liable to municipal taxation, the same as stockholders in national banks.

10. When the bank examiner is of the opinion that a savings bank is insolvent, or that further proceedings by the bank will be hazardous to the public, he may apply to the supreme court of the State for an injunction restraining it from doing further business, and after hearing in court a receiver may be appointed to close up its affairs, or the court may, on application of the trustees of the bank, reduce the deposit account of each depositor to an amount necessary to make the bank solvent. Trust companies, if insolvent, on application to the courts, a receiver may be appointed to settle the affairs of the bank.

11. No State bank has authority to issue bank circulation.

12. A savings bank in this State has no stockholders to share in the profits and losses of the institution. The officers receive a fixed salary for services performed. The corporators forming the corporation are usually taken from among the leading business men of the section where the bank is located, and they contribute their services to maintain the bank to furnish a safe and convenient place for the laboring people to deposit and invest their savings.

(Copy of State banking law transmitted.)

MARYLAND.

[Frank Brown, governor.]

1. Savings banks. Associations for carrying on the business of banking.

2. In the case of savings banks the only requirement is to have not less than five incorporators, and apply to the clerk of the court for a charter, mentioning the names of those who will serve as directors for the first year.

In the case of regular commercial banks the law states that the capital stock of said corporation, when located in the city of Baltimore, shall consist of not less than $300,000, divided into shares of $100 each, and when $300,000 of said capital stock shall have been fully paid in the "lawful money of the United States," and so certified by a majority of the said commissioners or directors to the treasury and comptroller of the State, and a certificate of their organization be transmitted to the clerk of the court of appeals, to be by him recorded among the records of his office. When the corporation is located other than in the city of Baltimore, the capital stock may be not less than $50,000.

3. No special officer only as indicated above.

4. (A) As specified above for commercial banks. Savings banks have no capital stock. (B) And be it enacted, that the affairs of the several singular corporations herein provided for shall be managed by a president and directors in each of said corporations, and the number of directors in any of the said corporations shall not be greater than seven, nor less than five, and the number of directors in any of said corporations may be changed by the stockholders from time to time, within the limits as to number aforesaid; and no person shall be a director in any of the said corporations who is not a stockholder thereof and who is not also a citizen of the State of Maryland. (C) And be it enacted that the continuance of the said several corporations shall be on the condition that the stockholders and directors of each of said corporations shall be liable to the amount of their respective share or shares of stock in such corporation, for all its debts and liabilities upon note, bill, or otherwise; and upon this further condition that this act, and every part of it, may be altered from time to time, or repealed by the legislature. (D) The treasurer of this State shall be furnished with statements of the amount of the capital stock of the corporation, and of the debts due to and from the same, specifying those due to and from other banks, of the moneys deposited therein, of the notes in circulation, of the cash on hand, specifying the amount of coin, and of the notes of other banks, of the value of the real estate held by the corporation, and of the amount and value of public or other stocks owned by the corporation; said statement to be furnished twice in each year, and to show the condition of the corporation in the said particulars as they may appear at the close of the business transactions of the day in settlement thereof, on the first Monday of January and the first Monday of July; and each of the said corporations shall publish said statement so made to the treasurer in at least one of the daily newspapers published in the city of Baltimore, if the corporation be located in said city, or in a newspaper published in the county in which the corporation may be located, if not located in said city, said statements in all cases to be verified by the oath or affirmation of the president or cashier of the corporation. (E) No provision made. (F) That the corporation shall not deal or trade in anything except bills of exchange, promissory notes, and bullion; or in the produce of their lands, or of such goods and effects as shall have been bona fide pledged or mortgaged to it by way of security, or conveyed to it in satisfaction of debts contracted in the course of its dealings, or purchased at sales upon judgments which shall have been obtained for such debts; Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent the said corporation from making temporary investments of its funds in purchase of the public debt of the United States, or any one of the United States, or of the city of Baltimore, or of the county or other city in which said corporation may be located, as the president and directors for the time being may deem safe and beneficial. No loan shall be made by the said corporation for the use on account of this State, or the United States, to an amount exceeding $50,000, or to any other state of this Union, or to any foreign prince or State, to any amount whatever, without the previous consent of the legislature. (G) No provision made. (H) No provision made.

5. There are no legal provisions governing receipt of deposits. It is not generally the custom to allow interest on deposits, though a great many of the banks allow interest from 2 to 3 per cent for bank balances, and some of them about 2½ and 3 per cent in special cases. It largely depends upon the character of the business the bank wishes to do, though it is not thought that any of the four State banks in Baltimore City ever allow any interest.

6. The State is not interested as a shareholder in any of the banks.

7. No provision is made for the banks to have any branch offices, nor is there any prohibition of it.

8. By the publication of a statement of the condition of the banks twice each year as is mentioned in answer 4 (D).

9. No special taxes are put upon the banks.

10. And be it enacted, that if the said corporation shall at any time suspend its payments the assets which said corporation may hold or be in anywise entitled to at the time of such suspension of payment shall be ratably distributed to and among all the persons who shall be its creditors at such time and to their assigns respectively.

11. The issues or notes, usually denominated bank notes, which it shall be lawful for the corporation to issue, shall not at any time exceed the amount of its capital stock actually paid in, and no note shall be issued of a less amount or denomination than $5, nor of any amount intermediate between $5 and $10; and the general assembly may at any time restrict the issue of such notes, both in the amount which may be issued and in the denominations of the notes. That all bills or notes which may be issued by order of the said corporation, signed by the president and countersigned by the principal cashier or treasurer thereof, promising the payment of money to any person or persons, his, her, or their orders, or bearer, though not under the seal of the corporation, shall be binding and obligatory upon the same, in the like manner and with the like force and effect as upon any private person or persons, if issued by him or them in his, her, or their private or natural capacity or capacities; and shall be assignable and negotiable in like manner as if they were so issued by such private person or persons, that is to say, those which shall be payable to any person or persons, his, her, or their order, shall be assignable by indorsement in like manner and with the like effect as foreign bills of exchange now are, and those which are payable to bearer shall be negotiable or assignable by delivery only. And be it enacted that if at any time any of the said corporations shall neglect or refuse to pay in gold and silver, or lawful money of the United States, any of its notes, bills, obligations, or money received on deposit, in violation of the contract, promise, or undertaking of said corporation, the person or persons entitled to demand and receive such payment shall respectively receive and recover interest on said bills, notes, obligations, and deposits, until the same shall be fully paid and satisfied, at the rate of 6 per cent per annum from the time of such demand. And be it enacted that if the said corporation shall neglect or refuse to pay as aforesaid any of its notes, bills, obligations, or money received on deposit the holder of such note, bill, or obligation, or the person or persons entitled to demand and receive such money, shall be respectively entitled only to demand and receive as creditor or as debtor, to claim and set off such part of the sum of its assets as shall be actually distributable and payable to such creditor or debtor at the time when such claim or demand may be made.

MASSACHUSETTS.

[Board of commissioners of savings banks.]

1. Savings banks, cooperative banks (known elsewhere as building and loan associations), and trust companies. The provisions of chapter 118, Public Statutes, permit the formation of banks of deposit and discount, with right to issue circulating notes, but there are no such institutions now in existence in the Commonwealth.

2. Savings banks and trust companies are required to obtain an act of incorporation from the general court. Cooperative banks can, by and with the consent of this board, be organized under the provisions of a general law. (Chapter 117 of the Public Statutes.)

3. See answer to No. 4.

4. The legal provisions governing each class of banks is given in full in the copies of statutes sent herewith, viz, (A) relating to savings banks, (B) relating to cooperative banks, (C) relating to trust companies.

5. The legal provisions governing the receipt of deposits is shown in the copies of statutes referred to, as is also the interest to be allowed in the savings banks. The trust companies usually allow interest on deposits upon such terms as may be agreed upon. In some cases interest is allowed on all daily balances; in others only upon balances of or exceeding certain sums, varying in the different institutions from $200 to $1,000.

6. The Commonwealth is not interested at all as a shareholder in any of the institutions.

7. None of the institutions are permitted to have branch offices.

8. All of the institutions are required to make annual reports to this board showing their condition at the close of business on the last business day of October, and these reports are published in the annual report of this board made to the general court in the January following. Copy of our last report is sent you by to-day's mail. The trust companies also make semiannual reports, which are published in some newspaper approved by this board, at the time, as are also their annual reports.

9. Savings banks are annually taxed by the Commonwealth one-half of 1 per cent on the average amount of deposits computed each six months, the amounts invested in bank stock, in real estate, and in loans on real estate being deducted. The capital stock of the trust companies is taxed by the Commonwealth upon its market value at the same rate as other corporations, the amounts invested in bank stock and real estate being deducted from the market value of the stock, the property deducted in each case being subject to local taxation at its fair cash value. Cooperative banks are not taxed.

10. See provisions of sections 6, 7, and 51 of the statutes regulating savings banks (Exhibit A).

11. See Public Statutes, chapter 118, sections 60-79; but, as previously stated, there are not any State banks in existence in this Commonwealth.

12. See Exhibit A.

(Incloses (A) statutes relating to savings banks and institutions for savings; (B) statutes relating to cooperative banks and to foreign corporations; (C) statutes relating to safe deposit, loan, and trust companies.)

[J. Gatchell, national-bank examiner.]

1. Banks permitted by law are State banks, savings banks, trust companies, and cooperative banks.

2. State banks, savings banks, and trust companies are chartered by the legislature, and cooperative banks by approval of commissioners of savings banks. Each class comes under the provisions of a general law; State banks and trust companies are required to have capital stock paid in full; savings banks and cooperative banks commence when a legal organization of the trustees named has been accomplished.

3. The board of commissioners of savings banks.

4. No State bank has been organized since the passage of the national-bank act, and none are now doing business. The present law is practically inoperative, and unsuccessful efforts have been made to legislate on revision. Savings banks: (A) No capital stock. (B) Management intrusted to persons named in act of incorporation, who elect their successors. (C) No liability. (D) Report annually to commissioners of savings banks. (E) Examined at least annually by commissioners of savings banks. (F) Investments allowed; no limit on United States bonds, bonds of New England States, New York, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Iowa, Wisconsin, Michigan, District of Columbia; bonds or notes of any county, city or town in Massachusetts; bonds or notes of incorporated districts in Massachusetts whose net indebtedness does not exceed 5 per cent of valuation; bonds or notes of any city of the State of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island, or Connecticut, whose indebtedness does not exceed 5 per cent of last valuation; bonds or notes of any county or town of the States of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island, or Connecticut whose net indebtedness does not exceed 3 per cent; bonds of cities in New York, Ohio, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Michigan, Iowa, and Wisconsin, of more than 30,000 inhabitants, debt not exceeding 5 per cent of valuation. First-mortgage bonds of any railroad incorporated in New England States, operating its own road and paying dividends two years preceding; bonds of roads in this State unencumbered by mortgage, paying dividend two years preceding, and special authority for bonds of the Old Colony, Fitchburg, Boston and Lowell, Concord and Montreal, Maine Central, Boston and Maine, and New York and New England railroads. Not exceeding 35 per cent of deposits may be invested in stocks of banks of this State and national banks of the New England States; 5 per cent of deposits, but not exceeding $200,000 in banking house; real estate acquired by foreclosure to be held not exceeding five years; loan not exceeding 70 per cent of value on real estate in this State, not exceeding one-third of deposit in personal notes, with at least two sureties, all residents of this State; loans to citizens of this State, with pledge as collateral, any of securities authorized for purchase and stocks of railroads in the New England States paying dividends not less than 5 per cent, said loans not exceeding 70 per cent of market value. All loans not named prohibited. (G) No reserve required. (H) Guaranty fund not less than one-eighth nor more than one-fourth of 1 per cent per year until 5 per cent of deposits has accumulated. Trust companies: (A) Amount fixed by charter, shares $100 each, full payment before commencing business. (B) Directors elected annually by stockholders. (C) Previous to 1888 the liability was fixed in each charter, and in several instances there is none. Under general law of 1888 it is 100 per cent of par value. (D) Annual to commissioners of savings banks. (E) At least once each year by commissioners of savings banks. (F) Trust departments when established restricted to class of investments, other loans not to exceed one-fifth of capital in corporations since 1888; previous corporations not uniform. (G) Under law of 1888 15 per cent, two-thirds of which may be in national banks; previous corporations not uniform. (H) Optional. Cooperative banks only loan to shareholders and do not do a commercial business.

5. Savings banks are limited to $1,000 for each depositor; dividends semiannually. Trust companies: No limit to deposits and nearly all pay interest on daily balances. Cooperative banks sell shares, receiving monthly payments of $2 each.

7. No branch offices allowed.

8. All make annual reports to the commissioners of savings banks and are required to publish same.

9. Savings banks pay one-fourth of 1 per cent on deposits. Trust companies, same as assessed on other corporations.

10. Commissioners of savings banks file information in equity court asking injunction, which is granted, and a hearing ordered; if cause is shown a receiver is appointed by the court who is authorized to liquidate and distribute assets among creditors or depositors.

11. No institution now doing business in this State is acting under a law authorizing circulation.

12. Savings banks are created by special charter, but are governed by a general law which carefully restricts loans to a class of securities thought most secure and free from speculative influences. The amount of deposits is restricted to not exceeding $1,000, with permission to accumulate to $1,600 by dividends. Dividends are restricted to 5 per cent per annum with requirement of an extra dividend once in five years, if a surplus is accumulated. The corporators are named in the original charter and elect their successors, and they elect from their number a board of trustees, but the law holds them rigidly to the discharge of their duties and provides that absence from two successive quarterly meetings shall cause a vacancy.

MICHIGAN.

[George B. Caldwell, national-bank examiner.]

1. Two kinds of banks are provided for under the State law in Michigan—commercial and savings. Either may be operated, having a separate capital, or both may be operated upon one capital. The latter method prevails.

2. The legal requirements are that 50 per cent of the subscribed capital must be paid in and a board of at least five directors elected to get a charter, and that articles of association shall be executed and filed with the secretary of state. The minimum capital required is $15,000 in a town where the population does not exceed 1,500, and $50,000 in a city of 20,000 people.

3. The commissioner of banking determines when these conditions are complied with.

4. (A) Fifty per cent paid in when organized and 10 per cent each month thereafter until paid up. (B) At least five directors. (C) Liable for twice their stock. (D) Reports of condition are made to banking department but four times a year on call by commissioner, usually at same dates as called by Comptroller of the Currency. (E) Examinations yearly by deputy commissioner or clerk of banking department. (F) Loans are restricted to 10 per cent of bank's capital, except the surplus is figured as part of the capital, and upon a vote of two-thirds of all directors 20 per cent of bank's capital is loanable to one firm or person. (G) Fifteen per cent of commercial or savings deposits, except in reserve cities or cities of over 100,000 population, where 20 per cent of commercial deposits is required—one-third of 15 per cent, or 5 per cent, on savings deposits is all that is required in cash. (H) One-tenth of net profits shall be passed to surplus until surplus equals 20 per cent of capital.

5. Either commercial or savings banks are allowed (and have been encouraged) by commissioner to pay interest on deposits. There is no legal provision fixing the rate or compelling payment of interest.

6. The State is in no way a shareholder.

7. Branch banks are permitted. There are four branches to savings banks in Detroit—the Dime Savings has two, City Savings Bank one, and Home Savings Bank one.

8. The four published statements of condition are for information of the public.

9. No fees or taxes are imposed upon banks for a charter. Their stock is considered as personal property and assessed as such.

10. Ninety days are given for making good any deficiency of capital found to exist by the commissioner. If not made good, the commissioner, in concurrence with the attorney-general, applies to a circuit judge for the appointment of receivers. Receivers give bonds and are accountable to the judge of the circuit court in the district where the bank is located.

11. No bank circulation provided for.

12. The growth of State banks here is largely due, first, to the small capital as compared to that required for national banks for a given population; second, because of the more liberal advantages for making loans (commercial banks may loan 50 per cent of their capital upon mortgage security and 20 per cent to one person or firm; three-fifths of all savings deposits are to be invested either in municipal bonds or notes, bonds or mortgages upon unencumbered real estate worth at least double the amount loaned; the remainder of savings deposits shall consist of bank balances and loans upon negotiable paper approved by directors); third, the dual business of commercial and savings banks upon one capital.

(T. C. Sherwood, commissioner, State banking department, transmitted copy of banking law and an address on resources, banking law, and finances of Michigan.)

MINNESOTA.

[M. D. Kenyon, public examiner and superintendent of banks.]

1. Commercial and savings banks are the kind that are incorporated in this State. Private banks are common in this State as personal or firm enterprises.

2. Incorporated commercial banks must have three persons as incorporators.

3. The superintendent of banks determines when the conditions have been satisfied as to commercial banks, and the public examiner, who is ex officio superintendent of banks, and the attorney-general and the State auditor determine when savings banks may become incorporated.

4. (A) Banks in towns of 1,000 inhabitants or less, must have a capital of $10,000; in towns of more than 1,000 and not exceeding 1,500 inhabitants, must have a capital of $15,000; in towns of more than 1,500 and not exceeding 2,000 inhabitants, must have a capital of $20,000; in towns of more than 2,000 inhabitants, $25,000 capital is required. The capital must be paid in cash before the banks can be allowed to commence business. (B) The affairs of the bank are to be managed by a board of not less than three directors, to be elected by the shareholders. (C) A shareholder's liability is an additional amount equal to the amount of his stock. (D) Banks are required to make not less than four reports during each year to the superintendent of banks, and are required to publish the same at the place where the bank is located. (E) Each bank is to be examined once a year under the supervision of the superintendent of banks. The superintendent has power to take possession of the assets of the bank in cases where there is an insolvency or where its capital stock has become impaired and has not been restored. (F) Loans are restricted to 15 per cent of capital stock and surplus to ordinary customers, and to 10 per cent of same to directors and officers, except in certain cases where there is collateral security of warehouse receipts covering agricultural products in store, on which products there is no limit to loans. (G) There must be a cash reserve of 10 per cent of the immediate liabilities and an additional reserve in banks of 10 per cent, making a total reserve of 20 per cent. (H) One-tenth of the net profits of the bank for each dividend period is to be carried to the surplus fund until such surplus fund amounts to 20 per cent of its capital stock, and that amount of surplus must be maintained.

5. Deposits may not be received by insolvent banks; otherwise there are no laws governing deposits. It is the custom of banks generally to allow interest on time deposits.

6. The State is not a shareholder in any class of banks.

7. Banks are not authorized to conduct branch offices.

8. Commercial banks are required to publish each report made to the department. Savings banks have to report to the department, and such reports are published biennially in the department reports.

9. Commercial banks are taxed upon their capital stock and surplus in the locality where they are situated. Savings banks are taxed practically upon what might be a surplus accumulation, and furniture and fixtures, office buildings, and real estate.

10. Herewith are transmitted copy of the printed sections of the law in regard to commercial banks. Savings banks are closed under the general insolvency act.

11. The old banking law provided for pledge of public stocks for the protection of bank circulation. As that law has become obsolete, if not repealed (of which there may be some doubt), it is hardly necessary to give the full details.

12. Savings banks: Seven persons may unite to form a savings bank. Such bank has (1) perpetual succession; (2) may sue and be sued, etc.; (3) make and use a seal; (4) appoint officers, etc.; (5) make by-laws; (6) contract and be contracted with; (7) receive money on deposit and invest same; (8) exercise corporate powers necessary to carry out the objects of the corporation. Each incorporator becomes a trustee of the bank, and must give a bond of $5,000 conditioned for the faithful discharge of his duties as trustee. Deposits in savings banks may be invested (1) in stocks or securities of the United States; (2) in the stocks or bonds of any State in the Union; (3) in the stocks or bonds of any city, county, town, village, or school district in the States of Minnesota, Wisconsin, North or South Dakota, or in any warrants issued by the State, or any city, county, town, village, or school district in which such bank is situated, or in any town, city, county, or school district in the United States which has at least 10,000 inhabitants, such bonds to be limited to 10 per cent of the assessed valuation of such city, county, town, village, or school district; (4) in notes secured by mortgages on real estate, worth at least twice the amount of the loan, but not to exceed 70 per cent of the capital of the bank, and in case the loan is on unimproved or unproductive real estate, the amount loaned thereon shall not exceed 30 per cent of the actual value; (5) an amount not to exceed one-fourth part of the deposits may be loaned, on personal securities with at least two sureties not to exceed $5,000, to any one person.

MISSISSIPPI.

[W. W. Stone, auditor of public accounts.]

There is no banking law in this State and no supervision by the State. The auditor makes calls for statements not less than four times each year. They begin business as any individual or company, are closed up in a similar manner, pay ad valorem tax on capital, surplus, and all undivided profits. Several have branches.

[W. H. S. Burgwyn, national-bank examiner.]

Code of 1892, section 246: Banks shall make balanced statements to auditor of public accounts at least four times each year and shall publish the same. Section 247: Auditor shall, at least four times each year, make requisition for such statement. Section 248: Penalty for bank's refusal or neglect, without excuse, to return such statement: auditor shall cause suit for forfeiture at once, and shall also, after ten days, publish the fact of the failure to make the statement. Section 3750: Banks to be assessed in the county in which its principal place of business is situated or where the business is carried on. Section 851: Banks of deposit not to loan to any one person or firm more than one-fifth its capital. Section 1088: "If the president, manager, cashier, clerk, * * * or other employé or agent of a bank * * * shall receive any deposit knowing or having good reason to believe the establishment to be insolvent, without informing the depositor of such condition, on conviction he shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not longer than five years."

MISSOURI.

[A. A. Lesueur, secretary of state.]

1. State incorporated banks, State private banks, State incorporated trust companies.

2. State incorporated banks must file articles of agreement with the secretary of state containing (1) the corporate name of the proposed corporation, which shall not be the name of any corporation heretofore incorporated in this State for similar purposes, or an imitation of such name; (2) the name of the city or town and county in which the corporation is to be located; (3) the amount of capital stock of the corporation, the number of shares into which it is divided, and the par value thereof; that the same has been bona fide subscribed and one-half thereof actually paid up in lawful money of the United States and is in the custody of the persons named as the first board of directors or managers; (4) the names, places of residence of the several shareholders, and the number of shares subscribed by each; (5) the number of directors or managers and the names of those agreed upon for the first year; (6) the num ber of years the corporation is to continue, which in no case shall exceed fifty years. The articles of agreement must be signed by and acknowledged by the parties thereto, and must have been recorded in the office of the recorder of deeds of the county or city in which the corporation is to be located, and a certified copy of such recorded instrument is the paper to be filed in the office of the secretary of state. If incorporated by the secretary of state, a certified copy of the certificate of incorporation must also be placed on record with the recorder of the county (or city of St. Louis) where the bank is located. The cash capital of such corporation can in no case be less than $10,000 nor more than $5,000,000. In a city having a population of 150,000 inhabitants or more, the cash capital of such corporation can be no less than $100,000. All of the capital stock must be paid up within one year next after the date of the certificate of incorporation, at such times and in such amounts as the board of directors may require. As to private banks: These must file with the secretary of state a statement of their intention to engage in the business of banking, subscribed and sworn to before a notary public, which must set forth (1) the names of all persons interested in the business and the amount of capital invested, and (2) the name under which the business is to be conducted and the place it is to be carried on, which statement must be acknowledged, recorded, and filed in the same manner as provided for articles of incorporation, supra. The paid up capital of such banks must be not less than $5,000. Trust companies are organized as corporations under a special law granting them certain powers which include a savings-bank feature. The management of the incorporated banks is in the hands of the directors. In incorporated banks the shareholders are liable only for the amount subscribed for their shares. In private banks the partners are liable for all their possessions. All banks and trust companies are subjected to examination by the secretary of state or examiners appointed by him at least once a year, or as many times oftener as the secretary of state may deem necessary. No banking institution is permitted to make a larger loan than an amount equal to 25 per cent of its capital stock. There is no provision of law regulating the cash reserve or accumulation of surplus.

5. The legal provisions governing the receipt of deposits by banks are in these words: "Section 2760. * * * No president, director, manager, cashier, or other officer or agent of any bank or banking institution organized and doing business under the provisions of this article or of any law of this State, shall receive or assent to the reception of deposits, or create or assent to the creation of any debts by such bank or banking institution, after he shall have knowledge of the fact that it is insolvent or in failing circumstances. Every person violating the provisions of this section shall be individually responsible for such deposits so received and all such debts so contracted: Provided, Any director who may have paid more than his share of the liabilities mentioned in this section may have the proper remedy at law against such other persons as shall not have paid their full share of such liabilities: And provided, further, That in case of the insolvency of one or more of such officers, agents, or managers, the same shall be paid, for the time being, by those who are solvent, in equal proportions. Section 2761. In all suits brought for the recovery of the amount of any deposits received or debts so created, all officers, agents, or managers of any such banking institutions charged with having so assented to the reception of such deposit, or the creation of such debt, may be joined as defendants or proceeded against severally, and the fact that such banking institution was so insolvent or in failing circumstances at the time of the reception of the deposit charged to have been so received, or the creation of the debt charged to have been so created, shall be prima facie evidence of such knowledge and assent to such deposit or creation of such debt on the part of such officer, agent, or manager so charged therewith. Section 2762. * * * This article shall extend to and may be enforced by and against the executors and administrators of such deceased officers, agents, and managers." There is no law limiting the amount of interest to be paid on deposits, but this department objects to the payment of more than 4 per cent on time deposits. In passing upon this question the amount of such deposits and the circumstances surrounding them are taken into consideration, and no absolute rule is enforced.

6. The State of Missouri is not a shareholder in any bank.

7. Branch banks are not authorized by the laws of Missouri, and are not permitted to do business in the State.

8. The law requires each bank, at least twice per year and as much oftener as the secretary of state may require, to make a sworn statement of its condition at a time set by the secretary of state, which must be a day previous to the call. These reports are accessible to the public, but there is no provision made for their publication. The totals or abstracts of the statements are given to the press and sent to the Comptroller of the Currency at Washington.

9. Corporations generally in Missouri are assessed upon the property they have, just as individuals are assessed. Banks are assessed on their capital and surplus. It is unfortunately true that the manner of assessing banks in Missouri is not an equitable one, as the various counties assess them at different rates, running from 40 per cent to more than 100 per cent upon capital stock; but the laws as they now stand can not be corrected by the state board of equalization as is done in the case of other property. The levies for taxation upon banks are the same as those upon other property in the various counties.

10. In case a State bank examiner finds a bank to be in a failing or unlawful condition, or perpetrating fraud, he makes a full report of the condition of the bank to the secretary of state, who then, through the attorney-general, brings an injunction proceeding in the circuit court of the county in which the bank is situate, requesting the closing of the bank and the appointment of a receiver. This system, while it divides responsibility and is protective against an abuse of power, is wanting in flexibility and occasionally in adaptation to the situation. As a rule it works without friction, but in some cases delays occur which are detrimental to the interests of the innocent depositor who is uninformed as to the failing condition of the bank. When a bank is once closed it is under the control of the court through the receiver appointed thereby. Up to this time no provision has been made to keep the department of state informed as to the progress of settlement of the affairs of the bank. For statistical and other useful purposes this should be done, and probably will be arranged by common consent, even before the law can be amended.

11. There are now no legal provisions covering or referring to the issue of bank circulation.

12. While the State of Missouri has upon its statute books an elaborate and carefully drawn savings-bank law, yet it is true that under this law there has been but one such bank organized. This is a very successful institution. While this is a fact, it is not to be understood that no other banks do a savings business. Very many of the banks have lines of deposit of this kind. Probably fifteen of the trust companies of the State have a savings bank department. In this State, owing to a provision in the constitution, savings banks have a capital stock. The shares must be divided at a par value of $100. The entire amount must be subscribed and actually paid up in lawful money of the United States. The other provisions for incorporating are somewhat similar to those mentioned for banks. The capital stock can be not less than $10,000 in cities having a population of 50,000 or under, and not less than $50,000 in cities having a population of more than 50,000 and less than 150,000, and not less than $100,000 in cities having a population of 150,000 or over. This capital stock must be invested in certain bonds and stocks, as set out rather voluminously in the law. It is made unlawful for such banks to deal or trade in real estate, except under certain specific conditions laid down in the statutes. Banks of this kind having a capital of $10,000 may receive deposits to the amount of $200,000. Those having a capital of $25,000 may receive deposits to the amount of $500,000; those having a capital of $50,000 may receive to the amount of $1,000,000, and no greater amount of deposits shall be received without a like proportionate increase of cash capital. No such bank shall have a capital stock of more than $5,000,000. Strict regulation is made in the law for the declaring of dividends. The aggregate amount that may be received from any one individual or corporation shall not exceed $4,000. The law makes it the duty of the board of directors to regulate from time to time the rate of interest to be allowed the depositors out of the net profits, and to pay or credit the same semi-annually on dates to be fixed by the by-laws. No dividends can be declared or paid until at least one-tenth of the net profits of the corporation shall have been carried to the credit of the guarantee fund. The available cash fund of these banks must at all times be maintained at over 15 per cent of the whole amount of its assets. The deposits of the funds of the bank in any one bank, safe deposit, or trust company can not exceed 20 per cent of the total deposits, capital, and surplus of the deposit bank. No director or officer of such bank can be an indorser or surety or in any manner an obligor for moneys loaned or borrowed of the bank. Boards of directors of such banks must meet at least once in each month.

2. Every bank, corporation, partnership, firm, or individual, organized for and desiring to transact a banking business, shall, before commencing such business, make, under oath, and transmit to the State banking board a full, complete, and detailed statement of, first, the name of the proposed bank; second, if incorporated, a certified copy of the articles of incorporation; third, the names of the incorporators, partners, firm, or individuals; fourth, the county, city, town, or village in which the said proposed bank is located; fifth, the nature of proposed banking business, whether commercial or savings; sixth, the amount of paid-up capital stock. Whenever, after the examination and approval by the State banking board of the statement provided for in section 6 of this act, the corporation, partnership, firm, or individual shall file with the State banking board the oath of the president, cashier, partner, member of the firm, or individual, that the capital stock has been paid in as provided for, and in compliance with section 4 of this act, then the State banking board shall, without unnecessary delay, issue to said corporation, partnership, firm, or individual a charter for the same purpose, and in the same manner as in section 5. On receipt of said charter the proposed bank may begin to transact a banking business.

3. The auditor of public accounts, the State treasurer, and the attorney-general shall be, and they are hereby, made a board which shall be designated and known as the State banking board.

4. (A) It shall be unlawful for any corporation, partnership, firm, or individual to transact a banking business unless such corporation, partnership, firm, or individual has property of cash value as follows: In cities, villages, and communities having a population of less than 1,000 inhabitants, $5,000; more than 1,000 and less than 1,500, $10,000; less than 2,000 and more than 1,500, $15,000; less than 3,000 and more than 2,000, $20,000; less than 5,000 and more than 3,000, $25,000; less than 10,000 and more than 5,000, $30,000; more than 10,000, $50,000. (B) As specified in articles of incorporation for corporated banks; no legal requirements for private banks. (C) Every stockholder in any banking corporation transacting a banking business in this State shall be liable to the creditors of such bank for an amount, over and above the share or shares of stock so held, equal to the paid-up value thereof, for all liabilities accruing while such stock is owned or held by such shareholder. (D) Every bank and every corporation, partnership, firm, or individual transacting a banking business shall make to the State banking board not less than four reports during each year. Each report shall state such resources and liabilities at the close of business on any past day by the State banking board specified, and shall be transmitted to said board within five days after the receipt of a request or a requisition therefor. And a summary of such report in the form prescribed by the State banking board shall be published in a newspaper published in the place where such banking business is transacted, or if there is no newspaper in the place, then in one published in the same county, at the expense of such bank, corporation, firm, or individual; and proof of such publication shall be transmitted to the State banking board within twenty days from the date fixed for such report. (E) The State banking board shall appoint a suitable person or persons having at least three years' actual experience in the banking business, or with the affairs of the State banking department, to make an examination of and into the affairs of every bank, and every corporation, partnership, firm, or individual transacting a banking business, as often as shall be deemed necessary and proper and at least once in every year. (F) No corporation conducting a banking business shall make any loan or discount on the security of the shares of its own capital stock, nor be the purchaser or holder of any such shares, unless such security or purchase shall be necessary to prevent loss upon a debt previously contracted in good faith; and stock so purchased or acquired shall within six months from the time of its purchase be sold or disposed of at public or private sale; or in default thereof, a receiver may be appointed to close up the business of the bank. Provided, that in no case shall the amount of stock so held exceed 10 per cent of the paid-up capital of such bank. No partnership, firm, or individual transacting a banking business in this State shall be permitted to carry any note or obligation of any such partnership, firm, or individual, or any of the members of such partnership or firm, as any part of the assets of the bank. And no officer, director, or employee of any corporation transacting a banking business in this State shall be permitted to borrow any of the funds of the bank upon his own note or obligation, or upon any note or obligation made to him for accommodation, without having first obtained the approval of a majority of the board of directors of the bank, and the approval, if obtained, shall be made a part of the records of the bank. Any individual member of a firm, partner, officer, director, or employee who shall violate the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of the embezzlement of the funds of said bank to the extent of said notes or obligations so given, and on conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000, or imprisonment in the penitentiary not to exceed five years, or both, at the discretion of the court. No individual, firm, or corporation transacting a banking business in this State shall loan to any single corporation, firm, or individual, including in such loan all loans made to the several members or shareholders of such firm or corporation, more than 20 per cent of the paid-up capital of such bank. And in no case shall the total liabilities of the several stockholders of an incorporated bank to such bank exceed 50 per cent of the paid-up capital of such bank. But the discount of bills of exchange drawn in good faith against actually existing values, and the discount of commercial paper actually owned by the person negotiating the same, shall not be considered as money borrowed. Any officer, director, or employee of any corporation transacting a banking business in this State, who shall knowingly permit or allow the shareholders of such bank to at any one time become indebted to such banking corporation in a total sum exceeding 50 per cent of the paid-up capital of such banking corporation shall be deemed guilty of felony, and upon conviction thereof shall be subject to a fine of not to exceed $500, or by imprisonment not to exceed three years in the State penitentiary, or both, at the discretion of the court. (G) Every bank shall at all times have on hand as a reserve in available funds an amount equal to at least 15 per cent of the aggregate amount of its deposits. Two-fifths of said 15 per cent shall be in cash in the vaults of the bank; provided, that in cities having a population of more than 25,000 said reserve shall be 20 per cent of the aggregate amount of the deposits; provided further, that savings banks shall have on hand at all times as a reserve in available funds an amount equal to at least 5 per cent of their aggregate deposits. (H) Any corporation, partnership, firm, or individual transacting a banking business may semiannually declare a dividend of so much of the net profits as it, they, or he may judge expedient, but such corporation, partnership, firm, or individual shall, before the declaration of a dividend, carry one-tenth part of its net profits to its surplus fund until the same shall amount to 20 per cent of its paid-up capital stock. No corporation, partnership, firm, or individual transacting a banking business in this State shall withdraw, or permit to be withdrawn, either in the form of dividends or otherwise, any part of its capital. If losses have at any time been sustained, equal to or exceeding undivided profits on hand, no dividend shall be made; and no dividend shall be made by any bank transacting a banking business under the laws of this State to an amount greater than the net profits on hand less the losses and bad debts.

5. No bank, corporation, partnership, firm, or individual transacting a banking business in this State shall accept or receive on deposit for any purpose any money, bank bills, United States Treasury notes or currency, or other notes, bills, checks, drafts, credits, or currency, when such bank, corporation, partnership, firm, or individual is insolvent. Savings bank shall receive deposits to an amount not exceeding ten times the aggregate amount of its paid-up capital and surplus. Interest paid on time certificates of deposit, also on public moneys under depository law of this State, for which bond is required.

6. None.

7. No.

8. Summary of report under call of State banking board published in local newspaper at least four times annually. List of shareholders with number of shares owned by each, subject to public inspection.

9. None except for examination fees.

10. Whenever it shall appear to the State banking board from an examination or report provided for by this act that the capital of any corporation, partnership, firm, or individual transacting a banking business in this State is impaired, * * * the said State banking board shall communicate the facts to the attorney-general, who shall thereupon cause an application to be made to the district court of the county where such corporation, etc., is located, or to any judge of such court, for the appointment of a suitable person as receiver to take charge of the business and affairs of and wind up such bank.

11. None.

12. Any corporation, partnership, firm, or individual designating its, their, or his business as that of a savings bank, shall have power to carry on a savings bank business as prescribed and limited in this act. Any savings bank may receive deposits from the general public. The funds of any savings bank, except the reserve provided for in this act, shall be invested in bonds of the United States, or of any State in the United States, or in the public debt or bonds of any city, county, township, village, or school district of any State of the United States which shall have been authorized by the legislature of the State, or shall be loaned on negotiable paper, secured by any of the above-mentioned classes of security, or upon notes or bonds secured by mortgage lien upon unincumbered real estate (provided that second-mortgage loans may be made on improved farm lands, but no loan shall be made on such improved farm lands or other real estate which, including the aggregate amount of incumbrance thereon, shall exceed 50 per cent of the cash value thereof), or upon notes secured by collateral security of known marketable value, or held as cash, or shall be deposited in good solvent banks; provided, that chattel mortgages shall not be deemed collateral security, and savings banks are hereby prohibited from investing their funds in them, except chattel loans on cattle. Nothing in this section shall prohibit a savings bank from issuing certificates for legitimate deposits. Savings banks shall not be subject to the provisions of section 4 of this act relating to capital, but it shall be unlawful for any savings bank to transact a savings bank business in this State with a paid-up capital of less than $12,000, one-third of which may be invested in bank building and the lot or lots on which the same are situated and the necessary bank furniture and fixtures; provided that on and after the passage of this act it shall be unlawful for any savings bank to organize and commence a savings bank business with a paid-up capital of less than $25,000 in cities having more than 25,000 population; provided, further, that no savings bank in this State shall receive deposits to an amount exceeding ten times the aggregate amount of its paid-up capital and surplus. Any corporation transacting a banking business in this State may purchase, hold, and convey real estate for the following purposes only: Such as is necessary for convenient transaction of its business, not exceeding in value one-third of the paid-up capital; such as shall be conveyed to it for debts due the bank, and such as it shall purchase at sale under judgments or decrees upon its securities, but the bank at such sale shall not bid a larger amount than to satisfy its debt. No real estate so acquired in satisfaction of debts or at a sale upon its judgments or decrees shall be held longer than five years, and within thirty days thereafter must be sold at private or public sale, and at no time shall the total amount of real estate held by any bank for any purpose exceed 50 per cent of the paid-up capital of such bank. Savings banks shall not be subject to the provisions of this section.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

[James O. Lyford, bank commissioner.]

1. The different kinds of banks permitted to do business in this State are as follows: Mutual savings banks, governed by trustees elected by the incorporators, the incorporators having power to perpetuate themselves by filling vacancies as they occur; the depositors have no voice in the management of the banks. Guaranty savings banks, with a guaranty fund or capital stock paid in, which must at all times be equal to 10 per cent of the general deposits; the control of these banks is in the hands of the stockholders who elect the board of trustees, and the depositors have no voice in the management. State banks of discount, with a capital stock, controlled by the stockholders. Trust companies, having authority to do both a discount and a savings bank business, as well as the business of trust companies. The savings department is required by law to be kept as a separate department, and is amenable by the laws governing the savings banks of the State.

2. All banking institutions are incorporated by act of the legislature, and there is no general law under which they can incorporate. Having obtained the charter, the incorporators organize for business, with no other requirements than that guaranty savings banks and trust companies have to satisfy the bank commissioners that their capital or guaranty fund has been paid in in cash.

3. The answer to this question is contained in the preceding paragraph.

4. (A) The amount of capital stock is determined by the legislature in each case, and the payment of the capital stock must be in cash, to the satisfaction of the bank commissioners. (B) The management of all these classes of banks is in control of their trustees or directors, subject to the laws of the State and the supervision of the bank commissioners. As the reply to this inquiry might be elaborated at any length, I refer you to the law, copy herewith. (C) The liability of the shareholders extends only to the amount of their capital stock. (D) Semiannual reports of condition are required by statute to be made to the bank commissioners. (E) At least annual examinations must be made by the commissioners of all these institutions; and the bank commissioners are authorized to apply to the court for the protection of the stockholders and depositors. (F) The restrictions of investments of savings banks are to be found largely in chapter 114 of the session laws of 1895, on page 45 of the pamphlet, which prescribes the class of investments that savings banks may take. The trust companies and State banks are prohibited from making any loan to an officer and director except by the unanimous approval of the board of directors in writing. No savings bank, State bank, or trust company can hire money or give the note of such institution except by vote of the trustees or directors thereof, duly recorded. No savings bank or trust company can loan to any person, firm, or its individual members an amount in excess of 10 per cent of its deposits or capital stock, nor purchase or hold, both by way of investment and security for loans, the stock and bonds of any corporation to an amount in excess of said 10 per cent. (G) No amount of cash reserve is required. In explanation of this it perhaps should be said that we have only two State banks of discount, and but very few trust companies doing a discount business. (H) The savings banks are required to pass to the credit of the guaranty fund annually an amount equal to 10 per cent of their net earnings until the guaranty fund is equal to 5 per cent of the deposits.

5. There are no restrictions upon the receipt of deposits by either savings banks, State banks, or trust companies, and it is not the custom of the State banks and trust companies to allow interest on deposits.

6. The State is not interested as a shareholder in any of the banks of the State.

7. No banks are permitted to conduct branch offices or banks, although there is no statute on the subject.

8. The public is furnished with an annual report of the condition of the banks of the State, published at the expense of the State and distributed to those who ask for it.

9. The savings banks pay a tax of three-fourths of 1 per cent on the amount of their deposits, and are permitted to deduct from the gross amount of deposits the amount of real estate owned by the bank, whether acquired by purchase or foreclosure, and also the amount of all real-estate loans made at a rate of 5 per cent or less. The guaranty banks pay in addition a tax of 1 per cent on their guaranty fund or capital stock; and the same is true of the trust companies. While this tax is collected by the State it is redistributed by the State to the towns of the State in the proportion that the deposits of those towns in the savings banks bear to the total amount of savings deposits. The capital stock of the State banks of discount is taxed locally in the towns where the banks are situated at the local rate, with certain reductions on account of real estate held by the bank, and such other property as would not be subject to taxation if held by an individual owner, or it is by law exempt from taxation when owned by individuals.

10. If the bank commissioners are satisfied that it is not for the public safety that a banking institution should continue to transact business, they present the facts by petition to some justice of the supreme court, who is empowered to issue an injunction restraining the institution in whole or in part from the transaction of further business. If, in the judgment of the court or the commissioners, it is better for the creditors that the institution should continue under its existing management, that may be done, or, if it is thought advisable, a receiver can be appointed by the court. Another method of dealing with insolvent savings banks is to reduce the deposit accounts of each depositor such a percentage that the assets will pay out the reduced amount. The bank continues to transact business, and when it has realized all that can be realized from the depreciated assets, the surplus thus accumulated is distributed among the depositors. If the bank takes new deposits they must be kept separate and invested separately, so that the old institution could be wound up and the new institution go on. To illustrate: The bank commissioners, from an examination, are of the opinion that a bank can with safety only pay its depositors 75 per cent of their deposit accounts. The deposits are accordingly reduced 25 per cent. Any depositor can then withdraw 75 per cent of his deposit at the date of reduction. If the bank is to be finally closed up because of loss of confidence in its management, each depositor receives the 75 per cent in the liquidation and as much more as the assets realize. The statute relating to this subject may be found on page 39 of the pamphlet, sections 26, 27, 28, and 29.

11. The legal provisions referring to the issue of bank circulation will be found in chapter 163 of the Public Statutes, on page 27 of the pamphlet above referred to.

NEW JERSEY.

[George S. Duryee, bank commissioner.]

1. Banks of discount, deposit, and circulation, individual or private bankers, savings banks, safe deposit and trust companies. Individual bankers are subject to the same control and supervision as incorporated banks of discount, deposit, and circulation, but are not required to become incorporated. They are not authorized to issue their "notes, bills, currency, or other circulating medium of exchange." No individual banker can legally transact a banking business in the State until he has filed a report of his condition, in form similar to that required of incorporated banks, nor until the commissioner of banking and insurance shall have made an examination of his affairs and ascertained that he is then solvent and able to pay his debts at maturity, and shall have issued his certificate to that effect. In case of the insolvency of any such banker, said commissioner may institute proceedings in the court of chancery as provided by law in the case of insolvent banking corporations, the court having the same power to appoint receivers, make distribution of the assets, etc., as in the latter instance. Safe deposit and trust companies have the trust powers usually conferred upon such institutions, and may "receive money on deposit to be repaid on demand or otherwise, as may be agreed upon by and between the depositor and the company, and with or without interest, as they agree." They are distinguished from banks in that they are not given the power to discount bills, etc., unless located in a city or village having no national or State bank of discount and deposit (but two of the companies being so situated), nor have they the privilege of issuing notes to circulate as money. For the statutes governing the same see the accompanying pamphlet, marked A. The following answers, from 2 to 11, inclusive, relate to the incorporated banks of discount, deposit, and circulation.

2. A certificate of association must be executed, acknowledged, and recorded in the office of the clerk of the county where the bank is to be located and in the office of the commissioner of banking and insurance. Not less than $50,000 of the capital stock must be paid in. A certificate of authority by the commissioner of banking and insurance must be obtained. The commissioner is not authorized to issue such certificate except after due inquiry and information, from which he shall be satisfied that the institution is required for the public benefit; also that it has complied with all preliminary requirements of law, which comprehend the due execution and recording of the certificate of association and the payment of the prescribed minimum of capital. Evidence as to the latter is required to be submitted in the form of an affidavit signed by the president and cashier and a majority of the directors. The details as to organization and such payment are then inquired into by said commissioner, or someone appointed by him, and report filed.

3. The commissioner of banking and insurance. (See answer to preceding question.)

4. (A) The maximum of capital authorized by the general banking law is $2,000,000 and the minimum $50,000. At least the latter amount must be fully paid in before a bank is permitted to commence business. As the additional capital is called and paid in certificates thereof must be filed in the department of banking and insurance. By subsequent enactments amendatory of the general corporation law, corporations organized under any law of the State, general or special (except railroad or canal companies), are authorized to increase their capital stock to such amount as the board of directors may determine, with the consent of stockholders owning at least two-thirds in value of the existing capital stock, upon filing a certificate that such action has been taken and consent given. (B) The conduct of the business is vested in a board of directors, elected as may be provided in the articles of association or by-laws. Each director must be a bona fide holder of some of the stock, but not of any specified amount thereof or number of shares. No provision as to the number of directors, but the requirement that the number of incorporators must not be less than seven, citizens of the State, must be considered in this connection. The directors may choose from their number a president, cashier, and other officers and agents, and remove such officers and agents at pleasure; also may establish by-laws for their government and exercise such other incidental powers as shall be necessary to carry on the banking business. (C) Stockholders are not liable beyond the amount invested in their shares. (No personal liability in addition thereto.) They are liable for their unpaid subscriptions. (D) The institutions have one fixed time for reporting, viz, December 31, annually; but under the authority vested in the commissioner of banking and insurance to call for additional reports at any time, returns are required to be rendered quarterly. Such reports must be filed within five days after receipt of notice, under penalty of $250. (E) The commissioner of banking and insurance is the supervising officer. He has full authority himself, or by such person or persons as he may appoint for the purpose, to investigate the affairs of any bank whenever he may deem it expedient, or at the request of the bank, or like request in writing by three or more of its creditors, depositors, or stockholders. Examinations are frequently made, one examiner being regularly employed by the commissioner. He receives a stated salary, which is paid by check of the State treasurer. The necessary expenses of all examinations must be paid by the institutions examined. These are paid to the commissioner of banking and insurance, and by him to the State treasurer, less the necessary traveling and incidental expenses of the examiners, which are paid by check of the commissioner upon proper vouchers. (F) The banks may loan money on real and personal security. No restrictions. (G) No cash-reserve requirement. (H) No provision for the accumulation of surplus. Dividends may be declared from the surplus or net profits (interchangeable terms) only.

5. No special regulations upon the subject. Some ten of the twenty-one banks now doing business allow interest on deposits, but in several instances only on special-deposit accounts.

6. None whatever.

7. The general banking act directs that the business must be carried on at the place specified in the certificate of association, and not elsewhere; but by subsequent legislation it is provided that no such corporation shall establish or maintain any branch or agency nor more than one place of business without the approval of the commissioner of banking and insurance. With a single exception, the required consent has not been granted.

8. By publication of abstracts of the reports of condition in the annual report of the commissioner of banking and insurance to the legislature. In addition, it has been the practice to issue printed summaries of the quarterly returns of each bank and distribute them to newspapers and persons applying for same, although there is no provision for this publication. The institutions themselves are not required to publish their returns in any newspaper, but some of them do so voluntarily.

9. The stockholders are taxed for the value of their shares. The tax upon resident stockholders is assessed to them in the township or ward where they may reside, and in the case of nonresident stockholders the bank is assessed therefor. National banks are taxed in the same manner. The fees and other charges payable by the banks are $20 for filing their December 31 report and the "necessary expenses" of any examination of their affairs.

10. The court of chancery has jurisdiction in such cases, with authority to appoint receivers and make distribution of the assets and property among the creditors and stockholders, according to the prescribed legal rules and the practice of said court. For the general powers, duties, etc., of such receivers, see Revision of New Jersey, 1709-1877; title Corporations, sections 60, 61, 62, 72 to 85, pages 187, etc.

11. The existing provisions of the old general banking law, as reenacted in the "revision" of 1875, are substantially as follows: The State treasurer is authorized and required to cause to be engraved and printed in the best manner to guard against counterfeiting, at the request and expense of any bank organized under the act, such quantity of notes for circulation in the similitude of bank notes, in blank, and of different denominations not less than $1, as he may from time to time deem necessary to carry into effect the provisions of the act, and of such form as he may prescribe. Such notes must be countersigned, numbered, and registered in proper books to be provided and kept in the office of said treasurer, under his direction, either by himself or by such clerks or registers as he shall, with the advice and consent of the governor and attorney-general, appoint for the purpose, so that each denomination of the notes shall bear the uniform signature of said treasurer or register. The treasurer and every such register or clerk, before entering upon the discharge of their trusts or duties under the act, must give bond to the State, with sufficient sureties, to be approved by the governor and chief justice, and in such sum as they shall direct. Whenever any such bank shall legally transfer to the State treasurer public stocks, or public stocks and bonds, and mortgages, as prescribed, it is entitled to receive an equal amount of notes for circulation, registered and countersigned as aforesaid. Such notes, before delivery by the treasurer, must be exhibited to the State auditor, who, in a book to be provided for the purpose, must enter the amount delivered, the time when delivered, the name of the bank, the amount of each denomination, and a description of the securities deposited therefor. No such bank is required to issue circulating notes and deposit securities for their redemption unless it shall deem it proper so to do and shall make the request as above. The public stocks so to be transferred and deposited with the State treasurer shall in all cases be, or made to be, equal to a stock producing not less than 4 per cent per annum; and it is unlawful for the treasurer to take any such stock at a rate above its par value, or that shall not be worth "upon a sale made 100 cents on the dollar." Such stocks must be either the public stocks of the United States or the States of New Jersey, New York, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, or Ohio; "and such other bonds as are now or may hereafter be by law authorized to be used for the purpose," and bonds of the county "public-road boards" of New Jersey. Instead of securing the whole amount of the notes by pledge of public stocks, a bank may secure not less than one-third thereof by bonds and mortgages, bearing at least 6 per cent interest, and covering improved, productive, unincumbered lands in the State of New Jersey, worth, independently of any building thereon, at least three times the amount for which they shall be mortgaged, no one mortgage to be for a greater amount than $5,000. The total amount of notes issued under the act and remaining outstanding at any time is limited to $10,000,000. Any bank is liable to pay the holder of every bill or note put by it in circulation as money, the payment of which shall have been demanded and refused, damages for nonpayment thereof, in lieu of interest, at the rate of 12 per cent per annum from the time of such refusal until the payment of the note. The charters of four of the five specially incorporated banks authorize the issue of circulating notes, the provisions as to which being substantially the same in each case. Summarized, these provisions are as follows: Notes may be issued up to twice the capital stock paid in; no note to be of a less denomination than $1, except, perhaps, in the case of one bank, whose charter contains no such restriction. The penalty for any willful or intentional overissue is imprisonment for not less than one nor more than five years. All the notes are payable on demand at the counter of the bank, and in the event of its refusal or neglect to pay any of the same, after demand made at the banking house during the regular hours of business, the institution must cease its banking operations until the notes are fully paid, under penalty of forfeiture of its charter. The charters of two of the banks make the notes a first and paramount lien upon all the assets in case of insolvency, but in the case of the two others the claims of bona-fide judgment and mortgage creditors are given equal priority with the notes. The directors are made liable for all the notes in circulation at the time of insolvency, and may be proceeded against to recover the amount of any deficiency remaining after the assets have been appropriated to their payment. No director can resign or transfer his shares to avoid this liability. If the assets of the bank and the property of the directors prove insufficient to pay the notes in full the stockholders other than such directors are personally liable for the deficiency, but not, however, for an amount beyond the par value of their shares. They are not permitted to transfer their shares to avoid this liability.

12. They are nonstock institutions, conducted by a board of managers of not less than nine. A majority of the managers must reside in the county where the bank is located and be freholders in the State. All selections to fill vacancies are subject to the approval of the commissioner of banking and insurance. No manager can have any interest, directly or indirectly, in the gains or profits of the bank except as a depositor, or borrow any of its funds, or become an indorser, surety, or obligor in any manner for money loaned by or borrowed from the bank. It is the duty of the managers to so regulate the rate of interest or dividends (not to exceed 5 per cent per annum) that the depositors shall receive all the profits of the institution, after deducting necessary expenses and reserving such sum as they may deem expedient as a surplus fund, which, to the amount of 15 per cent of the deposits, the managers are authorized to gradually accumulate and to hold to meet any contingency or loss by depreciation of securities or otherwise. Investments are restricted to bonds of the United States; the State of New Jersey and the cities, counties, etc., therein; bonds of other States in the United States, or of any city or county thereof, whose net indebtedness is limited by law to 10 per cent of the assessed valuation of property therein, and first-mortgage bonds of railroad companies that have paid dividends regularly on their entire capital stock for the five years preceding, or the consolidated mortgage bonds issued by any such company to retire its entire bonded debt. Loans on personal securities can not be made except upon the additional pledge of specified collaterals having a market-value margin of 20 per cent. Not more than 15 per cent of the deposits can be so loaned. Mortgage loans may be made, up to 80 per cent of the deposits, on real estate in New Jersey worth 50 per cent more than the amount loaned thereon, but if the real estate is unimproved or unproductive the margin of value must be 70 per cent. The cost of office building is restricted to 50 per cent of the net surplus of the bank, based on par values of securities. The managers are required to invest the moneys deposited as soon as practicable after their receipt, except that for the purpose of meeting current payments in excess of the receipts they may keep an available fund of not exceeding 10 per cent of the deposits, either on hand or deposited on call in designated banks or trust companies, or loaned on demand on specified collaterals. The aggregate deposit of any one individual or corporation is limited to $5,000, exclusive of accrued interest, unless made prior to 1876 or by order of a court of record or surrogate. Deposits of less than $1 need not be received. A deposit made not later than the third day commencing any interest period or month may draw interest for the whole of the period or month. Depositors may be classified according to the duration and nature of their dealings with the bank, and interest may be allowed them accordingly. Deposits are repayable after demand, in such manner and under such regulations as the managers may prescribe. The institutions must be examined at least once in every two years, and oftener if deemed expedient by the commissioner of banking and insurance. Reports of condition on January 1 and transactions for the year must be filed annually, within one month from said date, under penalty of $200 for each day's delay, for which the managers are personally liable. Savings banks having no capital stock are taxed upon all their "property and valuable assets," but the depositors therein are exempt from taxation on their personal estate to the amount of their deposits. No such institution can be established without a certificate of authority by the commissioner of banking and insurance, which he is not authorized to issue in any case until he has ascertained from the best sources of information at his command (1) whether greater convenience of access to a savings bank will be afforded to any considerable number of depositors by opening such a bank at the place proposed; (2) whether the density of the population in the particular neighborhood and in the surrounding country gives reasonable promise of adequate support to the enterprise, and (3) whether the responsibility, character, and general fitness for the discharge of such a trust of the persons named in the certificate of association are such as to command the confidence of the community in which the bank is to be located.

NEW MEXICO.

[Joseph T. Talbert, national-bank examiner.]

1. State banks and savings banks and trust associations.

2. Any number of persons not less than three may associate to establish a State bank, the capital of which must not be less than $30,000. No bank shall transact business until at least 50 per cent of its capital has been paid into the treasury of the bank in cash and until a certificate to that effect under oath of the president or cashier, shall be filed in the office of the secretary of the Territory and in the office of the probate clerk in the county where such bank is located; nor shall such bank continue to transact business beyond the period of one year unless the capital is fully paid up in cash and a sworn statement to that effect filed with the aforesaid officers. The same law applies to savings banks.

3. The secretary of the Territory.

4. (A) For both State and savings banks the least amount of capital required is $30,000, one-half of which must be paid in before commencement of business, the remainder at the expiration of one year from date of commencing business. (B) For both State and savings banks there must be a board of directors, not exceeding nine, who elect a president and vice-president and appoint a cashier or treasurer. (C) For State banks stockholders are liable for all debts of the bank contracted during the term of their being stockholders equally and ratably to the extent of their respective shares, such liability to continue for one year after the transfer of such shares. For savings banks the stockholders are liable to the extent of the par value of the shares of stock held by them. (D) For both State and savings banks statements are required to be made (to the treasurer for State banks and to the secretary for savings banks) at least twice a year, or whenever dividends are declared, the statements to be published once a week for three weeks in the nearest paper. (E) The secretary of the Territory may at any time make an examination in person or by an appointee. (F) For State banks there is no restriction on loans except that they are not allowed to loan on their own stock, nor is the stock permitted to be transferred while the stockholder owes the bank. For savings banks the last clause of the foregoing applies. They are also restricted to loans of 10 per cent of capital and to 5 per cent to officers or stockholders, unless on deed of trust or collateral. They may loan on real estate on a value of 50 per cent on improved and 30 per cent on unimproved appraisement, not to exceed valuation for taxes. (G) No requirement as to cash reserve. (H) For State banks no requirement as to surplus. Savings banks are required to apply to surplus 10 per cent of earnings semiannually.

5. The reception of deposits after the insolvency of savings banks renders the directors liable for such deposits. The fact that such insolvency existed is prima facie evidence of the knowledge of it. It is the custom of savings banks to allow interest on deposits.

6. The State is in no way interested as a shareholder in the bank.

7. There is no law bearing on this.

8. By statements, as above explained.

9. None.

10. When a bank appears insolvent on examination the secretary reports it to the attorney-general, who shall take such steps as the nature of the case may require, and may bring suit in the name of the Territory or a creditor of the bank before any court of competent jurisdiction, and on satisfactory evidence of such insolvency the court shall at once appoint a receiver.

11. Savings banks may issue their own evidence of indebtedness and negotiate the same to an amount not exceeding 90 per cent of the aggregate loans made and held by such association secured by mortgages or deeds of trust on real estate; which shall not be construed to empower the association to issue notes for circulation.

12. The reason for the wide difference in the law governing State banks and savings banks is that the law under which savings banks are organized was passed at a much later date than the one under which State banks are authorized. The last law provided only for the savings banks and only repealed such laws as were in conflict. The principal points in the law governing savings banks has been cited in the above with the exception of the law governing the purchase of real estate, which is, first, a plat of ground for the purpose of erecting a building for the transaction of business, the cost of which shall not exceed 50 per cent of the net surplus (this includes the building); second, such as it may have to purchase to secure it for loans previously contracted, which shall not be held longer than five years.

NEW YORK.

(E) Regular annual examinations; special examinations when ordered by superintendent. (F) Loans to individual, firm, or corporation restricted to 20 per cent of capital and surplus of bank; bona fide commercial paper excepted. (G) Reserve of 15 per cent required in cities of 800,000 and over, and elsewhere 10 per cent, one-half of such reserve in cash and one-half in depository approved by superintendent of banks. (H) Surplus of 20 per cent of capital provided for by requiring one-tenth of net profits carried to surplus fund until such fund is 20 per cent.

5. No limit as to amount. Banks can not advertise for or receive deposits as savings banks. Deposits from savings banks preferred liability. It is a general rule to allow interest on deposits where certificates of deposit are issued. Some banks allow interest on balances of account.

6. The State is not interested as a shareholder in any of the banks.

7. Banks are not permitted to conduct branches.

8. Quarterly statements containing substance of quarterly reports are published in local paper. Superintendent of banks publishes annual summary statement in State paper at Albany, and in book form.

If it shall appear to the superintendent that any such corporation or banker has violated its charter or any law of this State, or is conducting business in an unsafe or unauthorized manner, he shall, by an order under his hand and official seal, addressed to such corporation or banker, direct a discontinuance of such illegal or unsafe practices, and conformity with the requirements of its charter, and with safety and security in its transactions, and whenever it shall appear to the superintendent that it is unsafe and inexpedient for such corporation or banker to continue business he shall communicate the facts to the attorney-general, who shall thereupon institute such proceedings against the corporation or banker as are authorized in the case of insolvent corporations, or such other proceedings as the nature of the case may require. (B) Voluntary liquidation: Majority of directors may petition supreme court, praying for final order of dissolution. (Code of Civil Procedure, Title XI.)

11. In addition to the powers conferred by the general and stock corporation laws every bank shall have power: * * * (Of) obtaining, issuing, and circulating notes. * * * (Sec. 43, revised banking law, 1892.) Reference is made to sections 64 to 86, inclusive, of revised banking law, 1892, transmitted.

12. Savings banks have no capital stock. Thirteen or more persons, two-thirds resident of county, may establish a savings bank by executing under their hands and seals and acknowledging a certificate in duplicate, one to be filed in county clerk's office and one in banking department, within sixty days after acknowledgment, setting forth (1) name of corporation; (2) place where business is to be transacted; (3) name, residence, occupation, and post-office address of each incorporator; (4) declaration of all of acceptance of responsibilities and of faithful discharge of duties. (Sec. 100, revised banking law, 1892.) Notice of intention to organize published for four weeks in newspaper of largest circulation of locality and served on all other savings banks in county fifteen days before filing certificate. Superintendent of banks, on receiving certificate, indorses same "Filed for examination." Sixty days allowed superintendent to examine as to convenience of locality, etc., needs of the population, responsibility, character, and general fitness of persons named in certificate. If satisfied superintendent issues certificate of authorization, on filing of which in county clerk's office such savings bank becomes a corporation. Must begin business within a year. Board of trustees, not less than thirteen, have entire management and control and fill vacancies in their number; also make by-laws.

Quorum, seven, including president or vice-president. Have power to require security from officers. No trustee to have interest in gains or profits. Two-thirds of trustees may declare by resolution determination to close business, file resolution in banking department, publish notice to depositors and creditors, realize upon investments, pay off depositors and petition supreme court, on notice to attorney-general, for order declaring franchise surrendered and corporation terminated. NORTH CAROLINA.

[W. N. Worth, State treasurer.]

1. The different classes of banks doing business in the State are national banks, State banks, savings and private banks.

2. The legal requirements for the national banks are such as hold good in all the States. The State and savings banks must secure a charter from the general assembly, in which is stated the amount of capital stock, the amount required to be subscribed, and the amount paid up at the time of organizing, the place of business and the general line of business they intend to follow. Private banks begin business as persons or firms in other lines of trade, submitting to the laws as to taxation and supervision.

3. The State treasurer determines when the conditions of their doing business are complied with.

4. There are no legal provisions as to the points here involved, except that the banks must of course do as required in their charters; and, except as to (D), reports of their condition must be made over affidavit to State treasurer when required, which will be when the national banks are required to report to the Comptroller of the Currency; and these statements must be published in condensed form in newspaper in nearest city or town; and except also as to (E) examinations are made annually by direction of the State treasurer, the expense of which is borne by the banks severally.

5. There are no legal provisions in regard to receipt of deposits, except as below, in regard to savings banks. The banks allow interest at their own discretion and by agreement on deposits left with them a sufficient time.

6. The State is not interested as shareholder in any bank.

7. The banks conduct branch offices at their own discretion.

8. The public receive the published statements in newspapers provided for in No. 4.

9. The bank tax is laid on capital stock as follows: On $25,000 or less, $50, and $2 each for every $1,000 in excess of $25,000; and $25 additional for each county in which they have an agency.

10. If the condition of any bank is thought to be precarious or unsatisfactory, after due notice to them to make good the deficiency or losses, the State treasurer shall order a special examination; and if convinced of the necessity he shall institute proceedings in the superior court of Wake County (in which Raleigh is situated) for settling the affairs of such bank and appointment of a receiver.

11. The State banks have no circulation.

12. The main points in the law relative to savings banks are as follows: Every savings bank shall have a commissioner, appointed by the governor, who shall visit it at least once a year, with full power to investigate its affairs completely, and shall do so when required by five or more who are interested to have an extra examination, and shall, if he deem its condition hazardous, restrain it by injunction from further proceeding until a hearing before court, and he shall report to the attorney-general and have a prosecution issued on behalf of the State. Every continuous depositor of $1,000 is a member of the corporation. Deposits drawing interest shall not exceed $3,000 in one name, except by religious or charitable corporations. Its officers and members of committees of investments shall not borrow its funds, nor be surety for loans, nor take a fee on account of such loans. The bank shall reserve a guarantee fund not less than one-eighth nor more than one-fourth of 1 per cent of deposits every six months till the whole amounts to 10 per cent of the deposits. Dividends are carefully regulated by the law. The treasurer of the bank must make annual reports to the commissioner.

NORTH DAKOTA.

[H. A. Langlic, State examiner.]

1. The law of the State of North Dakota provides for only one class of banks, such as are authorized to carry on a general banking business only.

2, 3. Before authorized to do business three or more persons, two-thirds of whom must be residents of the State, may organize under the provisions of the law; such organization papers must be recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the county in which the bank is located, then filed with the secretary of state.

4. (A) Banks can be organized with a capital not less than $5,000, but upward according to the population of the town in which it is located. At least half of the capital must be paid in cash, and the balance in monthly installments of 10 per cent. (B) Not less than three directors, one president, vice-president, cashier, and assistant cashier, and such other help as may be required, to constitute the management of a bank. (C) The shareholders are liable for double the amount of the capital for claims against the bank. (D) Upon call by the State examiner, the banks must render four reports during the year in such form as said officer prescribes, and any special report that may be requested by said officer. (E) The State examiner is ex officio superintendent of banks, who must examine same at least once a year, and oftener if he deems it necessary. (F) They are restricted from making loans to any one person, company, or firm to exceed 15 per centum of their capital. (G) Cash reserve not to be less than 20 per cent of deposits, half of which may be in other banks and half in cash on hand.

5. There are no provisions governing the receipts of deposits, except in case of insolvency. Interest is paid on time deposits as a rule.

6. The State has no interest whatsoever as a shareholder in the banks.

7. Branch offices are not provided for by law.

8. The public is kept informed as to the condition of the banks by publication of the statements rendered upon the call of the State examiner four times a year.

9. When organizing, $50 is paid to the State as a tax, and a fee, regulated by the amount of the capital, is collected by the State examiner once a year and turned over to the State.

10. The law is weak on the point of closing up the business of insolvent banks, in that the examiner has no power to take control of the affairs of the association, but must apply to the courts for the appointment of a receiver.

11. There are no provisions covering or referring to the issue of bank circulation.

12. We have no law relating to savings banks.

(Copy of laws transmitted.)

OKLAHOMA.

[William C. Renfrow, governor.]

It is hardly practicable for me to take up your list of questions in their order and give separate reply to each, for the reason that there are very meager provisions in our statutes relative to the subject of banking. The organic act of the Territory provides "that the provisions of title 62 of the Revised Statutes of the United States relating to national banks, and all amendments thereto, shall have the same force and effect in the Territory of Oklahoma as elsewhere in the United States: Provided, That persons otherwise qualified to act as directors shall not be required to reside in said Territory for more than three months immediately preceding their election as such." Under the corporation laws of the Territory private corporations are permitted to be organized for the purpose of conducting the business of "banks of discount and deposit, but not of issue." The property of banks and banking corporations under the revenue laws of the Territory are taxed the same as the property of other persons. Some of the provisions of the statutes on this subject are as follows: "Every bank located within the Territory, whether such bank has been organized under the banking laws of the Territory or any other Territory or State or of the United States, shall be assessed and taxed on the value of their shares of stock therein in the county, town, district, village, or city where such bank or banking association is located, and not elsewhere, whether such stockholder resides in such place or not. Such shares shall be listed and assessed with regard to the ownership and value thereof as they exist on the 1st day of February annually, subject, however, to the restriction that taxation of such shares shall not be at a greater rate than is assessed upon any other moneyed capital in the hands of the individual citizens of this Territory, in the county, town, district, village, or city where such bank is located. The shares of capital stock of national banks not located in this Territory held in this Territory shall not be required to be listed under the provisions of this act. In the crimes act of the statutes, various penalties are prescribed for irregular banking, one of them making it a felony for any officer or employee of any banking institution to receive on deposit any money or other thing of value at the time when he knows said bank to be insolvent. Another provision makes it a misdemeanor for any director of any banking corporation to consent to or make any loans and discounts by which the whole amount of the loans or discounts of the corporation is made to exceed three times the capital stock then paid in and actually possessed, or to make any loan or discount to any director of such corporation to an amount exceeding in the aggregate one-third of the capital stock then paid in and actually possessed. There are in the Territory three classes of banks, viz, national banks, private corporations organized under the laws of the Territory for banking purposes, and private banks conducted by individuals or partnerships. There is no law requiring statements from private banks. All the information the public can obtain from the last two classes of banks is that which may be voluntarily given by the managers thereof. The Territory is not interested as shareholder in any banking institution. There are no provisions of statute for closing up the business of insolvent banks other than the general provisions of law applicable to other insolvent partnerships and private corporations. The only banks of issue in the Territory are national banks. There are no savings banks in the Territory. It is the custom of some banks to pay interest on time deposits, but this is not the rule. In my message to the last legislative assembly of the Territory it was earnestly urged that a comprehensive and just law regulating the business of private banking in this Territory be enacted, and such a bill was introduced but failed of passage. The present meager provisions of the statutes on this subject are very unsatisfactory, and have been taken advantage of by certain dishonest persons engaged in the banking business to obtain possession of and carry away the funds of their credulous depositors.

OREGON.

[William P. Lord, governor.]

The constitution of the State of Oregon provides: The legislative assembly shall not have the power to establish or incorporate any bank or banking company or moneyed institution whatever, nor shall any bank, company, or institution exist in the State with the privilege of making, issuing, or putting into circulation any bill, check, certificate, promissory note, or other paper, or the paper of any bank, company, or person to circulate as money. Corporations may be formed under general laws, but shall not be created by special laws, except for municipal purposes. All laws passed pursuant to this section may be altered, amended, or repealed, but not so as to impair or destroy any vested corporate rights. The stockholders of all corporations and joint-stock companies shall be liable for the indebtedness of said corporation to the amount of their stock subscribed and unpaid, and no more. The State shall not subscribe to or be interested in the stock of any company, association, or corporation. There are private banks and corporations doing a general banking business under the general incorporation laws of the State, neither being subject to any legislative supervision or restrictions or otherwise—banking being placed on the same footing as other legitimate business. Nor has there been any legislation in relation to savings banks, they being also organized under the general incorporation laws of the State. As to taxation, officers of banks are required to furnish the assessor with a list of stockholders, who are taxed upon the value of the shares as other property is valued, nonresident stock being taxed where the bank is located. No special tax is imposed on banks. There is an old law requiring banks to furnish a list of depositors and amounts to the assessor for taxation, but it seems to be inoperative, as it has never been enforced in any instance. Inferior courts have refused to enforce it, but I think the supreme court has never passed upon its validity. It is not generally the custom of banks to allow interest on deposits, except those represented by time certificates. There are no legal provisions for closing up insolvent banks, except the general laws applicable to all insolvent debtors.

PENNSYLVANIA.

[B. F. Gilkeson, commissioner of banking.]

1. The different kinds of banks permitted to do business in the State of Pennsylvania are classified by the banking department as follows: Banks (having discounting privileges), savings institutions (with or without capital, having no discounting privileges), to which is added trust companies, for the reason that they transact a general or quasi banking business in addition to that of trusts. The variance in charters of our different classes of institutions, as banks, saving fund, and trust companies, with their multiplicity of specialties and accumulation of securities, makes examination of their condition and report far more laborious and tedious than that of banks created under our national system, where general rules apply to all. A large proportion of our banking institutions have been created by special acts of assembly, with powers and restrictions greatly varying, and with titles that do not indicate the character (which also applies to a number of corporations chartered under general acts) of the business conducted by them, banks of discount being indiscriminately confused with savings banks and savings banks mixed up with banks without powers of discount, and both further confused by the addition to their corporate name the title "trust company."

2. To secure corporate privileges banks are required, before application is made for their creation, to advertise in two newspapers printed in the county where proposed to be located once a week for three months, setting forth name and style, the location, the specific object for which created, and the amount of capital. Articles of association must be entered into by not less than three persons, specifying the object for which the association is formed, and may contain any provisions not inconsistent with the general banking act approved May 13, 1876, said articles to be approved by the attorney-general. The said persons forming the association, under their hands, are to make a certificate specifying: (1) Name (subject to the approval of the commissioner of banking), (2) location or place of business, (3) amount of capital and number of shares, (4) names and residences of shareholders with number of shares held by each, (5) a statement that the certificate is made to enable the persons named to form a corporation for banking purposes under the act. The aforesaid certificate to be acknowledged before a judge or notary public. After its receipt and approval by the commissioner of banking a copy is to be certified to the governor, who causes letters patent to be issued, under seal of the Commonwealth. Similar and additional requirements are requisite in the matter of savings institutions; information as to which you are respectfully referred to the act of May 20, 1889, inclosed herewith in pamphlet form.

1. State and savings banks and trust companies.

2. Application for charter must be made to the secretary of state, who refers the same to the commissioner of banking, and after his inspection it is sent to the attorney-general and then to the governor for their approval. Corporations for carrying on the business of banking may be formed by any number of persons not less than three, who shall enter into articles of association which shall specify the object for which formed, and being signed by the persons forming such association. They shall also under their hands make a certificate which shall specify the name; location or place of business, designating the county, city, borough, or village; amount of capital stock and number of shares in which divided; the names and places of residence of shareholders, and number of shares held by each. Savings banks may be formed by any number of persons not less than thirteen, and under the same general form of application for articles of association. The trust companies generally are operating under special charters granted by the legislature, the provisions of which differ materially. This is also the case with many of the savings banks.

3. Commissioner of banking.

4. (A) Banks of discount and deposit must have capital stock of not less than $50,000, and before commencing business at least 50 per cent of its capital stock shall be paid in, and the remainder of the capital stock shall be paid in installments of at least 10 per cent on the whole amount of capital per month from the time of commencing business. Savings banks are unrestricted as to the amount of capital, but the trust companies shall have $125,000 of paid-up capital. (B) The affairs of every bank shall be managed by not less than five directors, one of whom shall be president and another vice-president. No cashier, clerk, or teller shall be eligible as a director. Savings banks shall have at least thirteen directors, and trust companies are unrestricted in this particular. (C) Banks of deposit and discount shareholders are liable, equally and ratably, but not one for the other, for all contracts, debts, and engagements of such corporations to the amount of their stock at the par value, in addition to the par value of such share. No liability of this character is imposed on shareholders of savings banks or trust companies. (D) All corporations mentioned shall make not less than two reports of its condition during each year according to the form and manner prescribed by the commissioner of banking, which reports shall be verified by the oath or affirmation of the president, cashier, or treasurer, attested as correct by the signatures of at least three of the directors, trustees, or managers. Each such report of condition shall exhibit in detail and under appropriate heads the resources and liabilities of the corporation at the close of business on any past day specified, and an abstract summary shall forthwith be published in a newspaper, in the place where the corporation is located, at least three times. (E) It is the duty of the commissioner of banking, as often as he shall deem proper, to examine or cause to be examined the affairs of every corporation of the several classes mentioned. (F) None, except that no director of any corporation shall receive as a loan from such corporation an amount greater than 10 per cent of the capital stock actually paid in, and the gross amount loaned to all the officers and directors of such corporation, and to the houses or firms in which they may be interested, directly or indirectly, shall not exceed at any time the sum of 25 per cent of the capital stock paid in; and no shareholder shall sell or transfer any shares in the capital stock held in his own right so long as he shall be liable, either as principal, debtor, surety, or otherwise, to the corporation, for any debt, without the consent of a majority of the directors; nor shall such shareholder, when liable to the corporation for any debt that is overdue and unpaid, be entitled to receive any dividend, interest, or profit on such shares as long as such liabilities shall so continue. (G) None. (H) Banks of discount and deposit are required to carry one-tenth of the net profits of the preceding dividend period to its surplus fund until such surplus fund shall amount to 25 per cent of its capital stock.

5. Banks of discount and deposit are prohibited by law from paying interest on deposits. It is the custom, however, to allow interest on deposits, and it is not prohibited on the part of trust companies and savings banks.

6. Not interested.

7. No.

8. By publication of two reports yearly.

9. The regular State tax is imposed upon the shareholders of each corporation, and in addition the corporations are required to pay the sum of $25 each, and for each $100,000 of capital stock, or fractional part in excess, of $100,000, the sum of $5 shall be paid annually; and all such corporations shall pay annually the sum of 2 cents for each $1,000 of assets. Savings institutions without capital stock shall annually pay, in addition to the taxes imposed, the sum of $25, and for each $100,000 of assets, or fractional part, the sum of $1.

10. If the commissioner of banking shall have reason at any time to conclude that any banking corporation is in an insolvent condition, he shall forthwith communicate the facts to the attorney-general, who shall immediately make application to the court of common pleas of Dauphin County, or to a law judge thereof, for the appointment of a receiver to take charge of such corporation's property and wind up its business. Such receiver shall proceed under and subject to the orders of the court of common pleas. If the commissioner of banking should deem it necessary for the immediate protection of the depositors and other creditors, he may, after hearing before the attorney-general (of which hearing the corporation shall have notice) appoint a temporary receiver. He also has power to withdraw the temporary receiver and surrender possession and property to the corporation. When a corporation denies that there is good reason for the institution of either of the proceedings it shall file its answer in the court of common pleas.

11. An act passed about 1860 makes it illegal for banks to issue circulation.

12. Many of the savings banks are operating under special charters granted by the legislature, which have different and varied privileges. Savings institutions for the encouragement of savings, having no capital stock, are not very numerous, but the law under which they operate contains the following principal points: To receive deposits, and to invest the same, credit and pay interest thereon. The sums may be limited in the aggregate which any person or corporation may deposit. The aggregate amount of deposits to the credit of any one individual or corporation shall not exceed $5,000. Investment of funds may be made in stocks or bonds of the United States, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, or of any State in the Union that has not within 10 years previous to making such investment defaulted in the payment of principal or interest of State debt; in the stocks or bonds of any city, county, town, or village of any State of the United States issued pursuant to the authority of any law of the State; in bonds or mortgages, or unencumbered improved real estate in this State. Loans upon notes, bills of exchange, or drafts are prohibited, as is also the discounting of them. Interest or dividends to depositors not to exceed 5 per cent per annum. When surplus amounts to 15 per cent of the deposits, at least once in three years the accumulation beyond such surplus (15 per cent) shall be divided among the depositors in excess of the regular dividends.

1. State banks, savings institutions, and trust companies.
2. After receiving a charter from the legislature the following requirements must be met: (See chapter 153, sections 1 to 8.) TEXAS.

[Allison Mayfield, secretary of state.]

Section 16, article 16, of the constitution of this State, adopted in 1876, provides as follows: "No corporate body shall hereafter be created, renewed, or extended with banking or discounting privileges." A few institutions known as State banks are carrying on a banking business in this State, which procured their charters prior to the adoption of the above-named constitutional provision. In addition, there are a few institutions conducting a banking business as private individuals or partnerships, not, however, in any sense antagonistic to the constitutional provision mentioned. In the main, however, the banking business of this State is transacted by banks incorporated under the Federal laws.

VERMONT.

[Elisha May, national-bank examiner.]

Vermont permits three kinds of banks organized under the laws of the State, and certain loan and investment companies not organized under her laws, to do business in her borders. First, banks of circulation, discount, and deposit; second, savings banks, strictly, and third, savings institutions and trust companies. Loan and investment companies are not allowed to do a general banking business, but only to sell their choses in action, or to sell, guarantee, or negotiate those of other persons or corporations as investments or as a business, and are under the supervision of the inspector of finance or his deputy. Banks of circulation, etc.: Of this class of banks none at present are doing business in this State, but may be organized under a general law in this manner: Five or more persons, residents of the State, may form an association to carry on the business of banking "for the purpose of discounting bills, notes, and other evidences of debt, receiving deposits, buying and selling gold and silver bullion, foreign coin, and bills of exchange; loaning money on real and personal security, and exercising such incidental powers as are necessary to carry on such business." A certificate must be prepared in accordance with a statutory form and filed with the secretary of state. The capital stock shall not be less than $50,000 nor more than $500,000. Directors to number not less than five nor more than nine, and each share to count one at all meetings of shareholders. The officers to be a president, vice-president, cashier, and such officers and agents as the business requires. The basis of banking are bonds and stocks of the United States, or guaranteed by the United States, not bearing less than 3 per cent, and bonds of the States of Vermont, Maine, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, New York, New Jersey, and Ohio, not bearing less than 4 per cent interest. These bonds are to be deposited with the State treasurer. The capital stock must all be paid in, and the inspector of finance must examine the bank before it may begin business. The inspector of finance is the officer whose determination is final. The management of the affairs of the bank is given to its board of directors. No stockholder "is liable, in his individual capacity, for a contract, debt, or engagement of the bank, unless the articles, by him signed, declare that the shareholders shall be so liable." But a director is liable to the bank's creditors and stockholders "for all losses sustained by violation by such directors of the provisions of the law or other unfaithfulness in the discharge of their official duties." Such banks are not required to make reports of their condition to anyone, but the inspector of finance is required to at least once a year examine all such banks and report to the auditor of accounts. Upon application of creditors or shareholders in any such bank, whose debts or shares amount to $1,000, verified by oath, any chancellor, in his discretion, could order "a strict examination to be made by a master in chancery of the affairs of the association for the purpose of ascertaining the safety of its investments and the prudence of its management." No provisions are made as to the matter of loans, except power is given to each bank to purchase, hold, and convey real estate necessary for its business purposes in the transaction of its business or to take mortgages, in good faith, as security for loans made by it or money due to it, or in satisfaction of debts previously contracted in the course of its dealings, or such as it acquires by way of execution. But it "shall not purchase, hold, or convey real estate in any other case or for any other purpose." It is not permitted to employ its money directly or indirectly in trade or commerce other than as above stated; or deal or trade in buying or selling goods, chattels, wares, or merchandise, but it may sell property that comes into its possession in the collection of its debts. The law does not require any cash reserve or any accumulation of surplus. There is no provision as to the receipt of deposits by such bank. The State is not interested in any such banks as a shareholder, and can not be under the law. Branch offices of such banks are not permitted; and the only information the public is furnished comes from the reports of the inspector of finance furnished to and published by the auditor of accounts, or obtained by an investigation by a master appointed by the chancellor, the findings of whom and the decision of the chancellor thereon "shall be published in such manner as the chancellor directs." The law requires each bank to pay semiannually 1 per cent of its capital stock into the State treasury. Upon failure for ten days after notice by the State treasurer to redeem any of its notes, and upon notice duly published, the State treasurer may forthwith sell the bonds and stock and redeem the circulating notes of any such bank pro rata. A bank may, by a voluntary proceeding, also close up its affairs. The inspector of finance, if he believes any such bank insolvent, or that it has violated any provision of law relating to banking, or if it refuses to submit its books, papers, and affairs to his inspection, or if its officers refuse to be examined on oath by him as to its business and affairs, may apply for an injunction, the appointment of a receiver, and the winding up of the business of such bank.

Savings banks and trust companies: All these institutions are chartered by the legislature. There is no general law under which they can be organized. Each bank has certain general provisions under which it must act; others are accorded greater powers, but in substance all are nearly alike. The trustees of such banks, etc., have general management of the affairs of the corporation, but may act through committees. They must meet once in three months. The treasurer of every such bank, etc., must annually make a report to the inspector of finance, showing accurately the condition of the same as it was on the close of business June 30 of each year and must give in detail all the assets of the bank and the liabilities. The statute gives the items required in the treasurer's report. Deposits may be made but not by the same depositor in a sum exceeding $2,000; but this does not apply to deposits by widows, orphans, administrators, executors, guardians, charitable or religious institutions, or trust funds deposited by order of court. Books must be verified each five years by some person other than the treasurer or his clerk, and a list of all deposits not changing for ten years is to be returned to the inspector of finance and published by him in the newspapers of the State. Investments and loans: Banks are allowed to accept only first mortgages of unencumbered real estate not exceeding three-fifths of its cash value. One-sixth in value of all such mortgages shall be upon real estate in this State; and not more than 70 per cent of its assets shall be in mortgages; nor shall over 50 per cent of its assets be invested in mortgages outside the State. On unimproved or unproductive real estate banks may not loan over 50 per cent of its cash value. Loans on personal securities can not be made unless upon at least two approved names of persons, two at least residing within 50 miles of the institution making the investment. Investments may be made in public funds of the United States, in the bonds and notes of towns, counties, cities, villages, and school districts of the New England States, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, and Iowa; in the stocks of any national bank in the New England States, New York, and certain named cities. No bank can loan more than 5 per cent to any one person or corporation, etc. The law requires each savings bank to reserve from its net earnings during the six months preceding not less than one-eighth nor more than one-fourth of 1 per cent of its deposits as a surplus fund until it amounts to 5 per cent of the amount of deposits and other liabilities, "which fund shall be thereafter maintained and held to meet losses in its business, etc." The methods of winding up the affairs of an insolvent savings bank or trust company are substantially the same as heretofore given under the head of bank of deposits. In point of fact, until recently no savings bank in this State took deposits subject to check nor issued certificates of deposit, but recently several savings banks have done substantially a regular banking business.

VIRGINIA.

[Holmes Conrad, Solicitor General United States.]

1. Banks of discount and deposit, savings banks. These banks can be chartered by the circuit court of the county, or of the corporation, or by the hustings court of the corporation in which the principal office is located, or by the judge thereof in vacation. The courts and judges are prohibited from granting charters to banks of circulation, but the legislature can grant them. All the banks of circulation heretofore chartered have been wound up. None have been chartered, so far as I know, since the war.

2. Five or more persons apply to the court or judge in vacation for a charter, and the application must set forth, (a) name of company, (b) its purposes, (c) amount of capital stock, minimum and maximum can be stated, (d) its division into shares, (e) amount of real estate to be held, (f) place of principal office, (g) chief business to be transacted, (h) names and residences of the officers who are to manage it for the first year. When the proper judge or court grants the charter, it is recorded in the clerk's office of his court, and a copy filed in the office of the secretary of the Commonwealth, and when this is done it is a corporation.

3. There is no officer to determine when the conditions have been complied with. The certificate of the secretary of the Commonwealth that a copy of the charter has been lodged with him is all that is required.

4. (A) The minimum capital for any corporation (except cemetery or charitable institution) is $500, but no judge would grant a charter to a bank with $500 as the minimum capital, for in acting upon application for charter he has "a discretion to grant or refuse * * * upon the terms set forth." (B) Bank is managed by directors. (C) Shareholders are not liable for claims against the bank beyond their unpaid subscriptions to the capital stock. (D) Compelled to make reports to auditor of public accounts of the State, on forms similar to those made by national banks, and as often. These reports in condensed form are published in one or more newspapers. (E) No general provision for examination of banks, as in case of national banks, but there may be at any time an examination made by a committee of the legislature or of either house or by commissioners appointed by the governor, and on the application of stockholders representing one-fifth of the stock the auditor of public accounts shall appoint some one to make a special examination and report. (F) The funds (including deposits) can be used in discounting commercial paper and other evidences of debt, in loaning on real and personal security, and in purchase of stocks and bonds, etc., and in real estate for its banking purposes. Can buy real estate in order to save a debt. (G) No law as to amount of cash reserve required to be kept on hand. (H) No dividend in excess of 6 per cent per annum can be declared until the bank shall have a surplus of at least 5 per cent of its capital, nor can any dividend be made by which the surplus fund is reduced below 5 per cent of the capital.

5. Some banks allow interest on deposits. No special provision governing the receipt of deposits.

6. As far as I know, the State is not interested as a shareholder in any of the banks now in existence.

7. Under our general law governing chartered companies, banks could have branches, but I know of none.

8. Statements similar to statements of national banks are published. They are called for by the auditor of public accounts and published in condensed form whenever the Comptroller of the Currency calls for them from national banks.

9. No special taxes imposed. The capital stock is taxed like any personal property held by an individual and the assessment is according to its market value, and the bank pays it. There is a tax imposed upon every charter (whether of a bank or any other company) when granted.

10. No special provision for closing up the business of insolvent banks. In this respect they are like all other chartered companies.

11. There are no banks of circulation in the State, but they are authorized under chap. 850, acts of the general assembly, 1893-94.

12. WASHINGTON.

1. There are no statutory provisions restricting or limiting the departments or kinds of banking business that may be engaged in in this State. Corporations having capital stock are permitted to engage in a banking business. "Such banking corporations still have power to exercise, by its board of trustees, or duly authorized officers or agents, all such incidental powers as shall be necessary to carry on the business of banking by discounting and negotiating promissory notes, drafts, bills of exchange, and other evidences of debt; by receiving deposits, buying and selling, exchange, coin and bullion, by loaning money on real estate or personal security; to accept and execute all trusts, fiduciary or otherwise, as may be committed to said bank or corporation by any person, persons, or corporation, or by the order or direction of any court; and may do any other business pertaining to banking."

2. Banks are not classified in the statutory law of this State. Private banks are required to conform to no statutory regulations in order to transact business. All corporations are forbidden to commence business until the whole amount of their capital stock has been subscribed. "The amount of the capital stock of any bank incorporated under this act shall not be less than $25,000, to be divided into shares of $100 each, all of which shares shall be subscribed and three-fifths of said capital stock shall be paid in before the commencement of business, the remainder to be subject to the call of the trustees; and it shall be the duty of the directors of any such bank to file with their articles of incorporation their affidavit that three-fifths of the capital stock of such bank has been actually paid in."

3. The statutes of this State designate no officer to determine when this condition has been complied with.

4. There are no provisions of law on the subjects embraced in this inquiry except as set forth in answer No. 2 above.

5. "Any president, director, manager, cashier, or other officer of any banking institution who shall receive or assent to the reception of deposits after he shall have knowledge of the fact that such banking institution is insolvent or in failing circumstances shall be guilty of felony," and shall be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary for a period of not less than two nor more than twenty years. It is customary for banks to allow interest on deposits.

6. The State is not interested as shareholder in any bank.

7. Banks are not forbidden to conduct branch offices or banks.

8. "All such banking corporations shall file, on the first Monday in June, each year, with the State auditor, a report, sworn to by its president, vice-president, or cashier, of the resources and liabilities, stating the amount of deposits, the aggregate of loans and the amount upon each class of securities, the names and residence of the shareholders and number of their shares, the directors or officers for the time being, and any other matters affecting the safety of their deposits or the interest of their creditors." The State auditor, in his biennial report, publishes the statistical facts thus furnished in tabular form.

9. No special taxes or burdens are imposed upon banks in return for any banking privileges granted them. "All the shares of stock in banks, whether of issue or not, existing by authority of the United States or of the State, and located within the State, shall be assessed to the owners thereof in the cities or towns where such banks are located, and not elsewhere, in the assessment of all State, county, and municipal taxes imposed and levied in such place, whether such owner is a resident of said city or town or not."

10. There are no statutory provisions governing the winding up of insolvent banks.

11. Article 12, section 11, of the State constitution provides as follows: "No corporation, association, or individual shall issue or put in circulation as money anything but the lawful money of the United States." Section 1511 of volume 1 of Hill's General Statutes provides: "No corporation organized under this chapter shall, by any implication or construction, be deemed to possess the power of issuing bills, notes, or other evidence of debt for circulation as money."

12. There are no provisions of our statute law relating to savings banks.

WEST VIRGINIA.

[B. B. Harding, national-bank examiner.]

1. Excepting savings institutions, banks of deposit and discount are the only class authorized under our laws.

2. Any number of persons, not fewer than five, desiring to carry on a general banking business sign an agreement to that effect. At least two who sign such an agreement make oath to the matters set out therein, and that at least 10 per cent of the capital subscribed to has been paid in in good faith, etc. The same being presented to the secretary of state and the law having been complied with, the secretary issues a certificate of incorporation to such incorporators.

3. The secretary of state is the proper officer to determine when the legal requirements have been met to authorize the issuing of a certificate of incorporation, but the board of public works has control of the banks after their organization.

4. (A) Capital stock shall not be less than $25,000, nor more than $500,000, with 10 per cent to be paid in before certificate of incorporation is issued, and balance as called for by directors. (B) The management of the bank in the hands of a board of directors not fewer than five, and who must be stockholders. (C) Stockholders are liable for double the amount of shares subscribed for. (D) No reports of condi-

Examination of each bank must be made between April 1 and September 30 of each year, and each report made under oath to the auditor of the State prior to September 30. If any bank is found in an insolvent or unsound condition or so grossly mismanaged as to jeopardize the interest of stockholders and depositors therein the examiner shall report the same at once to the board of public works, who have power to inquire into and require such bank to correct all such irregularities at once, and for a failure to do so the board can revoke the bank's charter. The board can order a special examination of any bank at any time where it thinks the circumstances demand it. (F) No restrictions on loans by bank. The board of directors governs that. (G) No limitations or restrictions as regards cash reserve. (H) No legal requirements as to amount of surplus.

5. No legal provisions governing receipt of deposits by banks. It is the custom to allow 3 or 4 per cent on time deposits, but it is not the custom to allow any interest on commercial deposits.

6. The State is not interested to any extent as a shareholder in any of the banks.

7. No bank is permitted to conduct branch offices or banks. Each is a bank in itself.

Taxes are assessed on bank stock, etc., as upon other property real and personal.

10. The charter of all insolvent banks is revoked by board of public works, composed of governor, auditor, treasurer, superintendent of free schools, and attorney-general, after which the State releases all control over same and the business is closed up, as in case of other joint-stock companies.

11. There being no legislative act providing for banks of issue and circulation, there are consequently no legal provisions covering the issue of bank circulation.

12. Any number of persons, not less than thirteen, citizens of the State, whose responsibility and fitness for the proposed trust shall be certified by the judge, or judges, of the circuit court of the county where the proposed savings bank is to be located, may associate themselves together for the purpose of organizing such bank without being a joint-stock company. At least three-fourths of their number shall reside in such county. Each member of such association signs an agreement in which, among other things, he agrees to accept the responsibilities and faithfully discharge the duties of a trustee in said association. The agreement is acknowledged, and the requirements of the law otherwise having been conformed with and the secretary of state being satisfied with the responsibility, good character, and general fitness of the persons named in the agreement, shall issue his certificate to such persons similar to the certificate issued to other bank incorporators. Upon filing of such certificate in county clerk's office of the county in which such savings bank is to be located the same shall be a corporation for a period of fifty years. The business of the corporation shall be managed and directed by the board of trustees. No trustee shall receive any compensation for his services as trustee except as hereinafter provided; nor shall be liable for any loss, except such as may happen from his negligence or willful or corrupt misconduct. No trustee, officer, clerk, or servant thereof, shall directly or indirectly, for himself or as the agent or partner of others, borrow any of the funds of deposits of the corporation, or become an indorser of surety for any moneys loaned by such corporation. Second, in bonds or securities of the United States, State, county, district, city, town, or village in this State. Savings banks may deposit sums not to exceed 20 per cent of their deposits, on call, in such banks or banking associations, and may receive interest for the same. Fourth, in loans upon the personal notes of the depositors of the corporation, but not exceeding the amount of his deposit to a depositor; and in such cases the deposit and the book of the depositor shall be held by the corporation as collateral security for the payment of the loan. Fifth, if such deposits and income can not be conveniently invested in the modes, hereinbefore prescribed, not exceeding one-third part thereof may be invested in bonds and other personal securities, payable at a time not exceeding one year, with at least two sureties, if the principal and sureties are all citizens of this State and residents therein. Every such savings bank shall, at the time of making each semiannual dividend, reserve as a guaranty fund from the net profits which have accumulated during the six months then next preceding not less than one-eighth nor more than one-fourth of 1 per cent of the whole amount of deposits, which fund shall be thereafter maintained and held to meet losses in its business from depreciation of its securities or otherwise. It shall be the duty of the trustees of every such savings bank, by a committee of not less than three of their members, on or before the first day of January and July of each year, to thoroughly examine the books, vouchers, and assets of such savings bank, and to make a statement of its assets and liabilities, and to publish the same in a newspaper of general circulation in the county in which such bank is located at least twice before or on the first day of February and August in each year, which said statement shall be verified by the oath of a majority of the trustees making such examination. The circuit court of the county in which any such savings bank is located may, at any time, on the application, under oath, of any five or more officers, trustees, or depositors of any such corporation, and such depositors, representing deposits aggregating at least $2,000, setting forth their interests, and the reasons for making such examination, for reasons deemed sufficient by said court, appoint two or more persons to examine into the investments thereof and its affairs and business generally, etc.

ALASKA.

[Joseph Murray, Treasury agent.]

Certificates of deposit are issued, collections made, and commercial and time deposits received and gold dust bought. They have also made arrangements with their correspondents at Forty Mile, Youkon River, the North American Transportation and Trading Company, whereby safe facilities are afforded for the transportation of funds, and remittances can be made by Youkon miners to all cities of the United States, Canada, and Europe.

INDIAN TERRITORY.

[D. M. Browning, Indian Commissioner.]

There is no provision of law, so far as I am aware, under which corporations such as you mention would have a right to engage in business in the Indian country except under such conditions as other corporations or individuals would be permitted to engage in business. A State banking corporation desiring to operate a bank in the Indian Territory must comply with all the laws of the nation in which such bank is proposed to be located, and obtain a permit in accordance therewith, and must also obtain a license from this office as a trader with said nation.

The foregoing applies to the territory occupied by the Cherokee, Creek, Seminole, Choctaw, and Chickasaw nations of Indians in the Indian Territory, and commonly known as the Five Civilized Tribes.

LOUISIANA.

[M. J. Cunningham, attorney-general.]

1. The law in this State relative to banking gives the right to establish banks of circulation, discount, deposit, safe-deposit, savings, and trust banks.

2. Any number of persons more than five may organize a bank under our State laws. They must be organized by written articles of association, executed by notarial act and recorded in the office of the recorder of mortgages, or other officer exercising the functions of recorder of mortgages, at the place named in the act as the place of business or domicile of the corporation; a certified copy must be deposited in the office of the auditor of public accounts; it must be published once a week for four weeks in the official journal of the State, and if the official journal of the State should not be a newspaper in the city of New Orleans the act shall also be published for the same time in at least one daily newspaper of the city of New Orleans and also in a newspaper at the place named in the act as the place of business, if there be one published there. The act of corporation must contain and set forth, under the signatures of the subscribers and associates, the name assumed to distinguish such banking company, and to be used in its dealings; the place where the banking business of such association is to be carried on, designating the particular parish and city or village in the State; the amount of capital stock of the banking company, and the number of shares into which the same shall be divided; the names and places of residence of the shareholders, and the number of shares held by each of them respectively, and the time when and the manner in which the payments on stock subscribed shall be made; the period at which the association shall commence, and the period of its duration; the number of its directors and managers; the mode of election, and liquidation at the end of the term. All stock subscribed must be paid up in full in specie within twelve months after the company shall commence business.

3. The State treasurer or the secretary of state.

4. (A) The amount of capital stock required is $100,000, except that banks may be organized in any incorporated town the population of which does not exceed 2,000 inhabitants, with a cash capital of $10,000; where the population does not exceed 4,000 inhabitants, with a cash capital of $15,000; where the population does not exceed 6,000 inhabitants, with a cash capital of $20,000; where the population does not exceed 10,000 inhabitants, with a cash capital of $25,000; where the population does not exceed 15,000 inhabitants, with a cash capital of $30,000, and where the population does not exceed 25,000 inhabitants, with a cash capital of $50,000.

(B) The banks are managed by a board of directors. (C) No shareholder is liable for the debts of the bank beyond the amount of his stock. (D) Reports of the condition of the banks must be published every three months. (E) The supervision of the banks is delegated to the State treasurer and the secretary of state; whenever they deem it necessary they shall be furnished with a weekly statement showing the condition and affairs of the bank. (F, see G.) (G) Every bank is required to have on hand at all times, in specie, an amount equal to one-third of all their other cash and liabilities, and for the other two-thirds of said liabilities an equal amount in specie, specie funds, bills of exchange, or discounted paper, maturing within ninety days and not renewable. Should the specie, specie funds, and short paper fall below the proportions of the cash liabilities, and remain so for a period of ten days, it shall not be lawful to make any loan or discount whatever until the bank shall again have the reserve above required. (H) No accumulation of surplus is required.

5. There are no legal restrictions upon the receipt of deposits; on the contrary, the law is very liberal; minors and married women are allowed to deposit in savings banks without any authorization and upon their own order. Interest upon deposits is the exception rather than the rule.

6. The State is not a shareholder in any of the banks.

7, 8. All banks are required to make only quarterly statements of their condition, under oath, and publish the same in the daily journals of the city of New Orleans. Banks which are established in any incorporated town or city of the State shall publish a similar statement in a paper published in the town or city where the bank is organized.

9. A license tax is imposed upon banks, based upon their declared or nominal capital and surplus, the licenses ranging in amount from $150 to $4,500.

The capital stock of banks is assessed and taxed at their actual value as shown by the books of the bank, to the shareholders, who appear as such upon the books, regardless of any transfer not registered or entered upon the books. The president shall furnish the assessor a complete list of those who are borne upon the books as shareholders, and all taxes so assessed shall be paid by the bank, which shall be entitled to collect the amount from the shareholders or their transferees. All real estate owned by the bank shall be assessed directly to the bank, and the pro rata of such direct property taxed, proportioned to each share of capital stock, is to be deducted from the amount of taxes assessed to the shares. The book value of the shares is ascertained from a sworn statement by the president, cashier, or secretary, and chairman of finance committee, or, in the absence of such latter officer, by one of the directors.

10. Every banking company shall, on proof of any act of insolvency or noncompliance with any of the conditions imposed upon it, forfeit its corporate rights; and it shall be the duty of the district judge of the district in which such corporation is situated, at the instance of any creditor or of the auditor of public accounts, and on proof of the alleged facts, to decree such forfeiture and to appoint thereupon commissioners to effect the liquidation of the affairs of the corporation; to convert into cash, as speedily as may be, under the direction of the court, all the assets of the corporation, including the sum that may have remained unpaid by stockholders upon their respective shares of the capital stock; and, after providing for any unpaid balance which may be due to the bill holders, to distribute the same as in the insolvency of individuals.

11. The auditor of public accounts engraves and prints circulating notes, in blank, of the different denominations, not less than $5 each, which the incorporated banks are authorized to issue. The blank notes are countersigned, registered, and numbered by the auditor. All circulating notes must have stamped across their face "Secured by pledge of public stocks." The form and devices are optional with the banks using them. To obtain the circulating notes the banks requiring them must deposit with and legally assign to the auditor stocks, at their market value, equal to the amount of circulating notes withdrawn by them. Should the stocks at any time fall below the value at which they were deposited with the auditor, the banks shall make the difference good or surrender enough of the circulating notes to equalize the values. The securities left with the auditor shall be fully described, signed by the auditor and the parties, which description shall be filed and recorded in the office of the auditor and treasurer of the State. The banks receiving such circulating notes are authorized to execute and sign them in such manner as to make them obligatory in law as promissory notes, payable to bearer on demand, and without interest, at the place of business of the banker or banking companies. All circulating notes shall be signed by the banker and his cashier, or by the president and cashier of the banking company issuing them.

12. Savings banks are required to conform with nearly all of the duties imposed upon banks of discount, deposit, and circulation, except that they are required to have a cash capital of $50,000, of which at least $10,000 shall be subscribed before the bank shall begin business.

But the Comptroller may withhold from an association his certificate authorizing the commencement of business whenever he has reason to suppose that the shareholders have formed the same for any other than the legitimate objects contemplated by this title.

26. PUBLICATION OF CERTIFICATE OF AUTHORITY. (SEC. 5170.) The association shall cause the certificate issued under the preceding section to be published in some newspaper printed in the city or county where the association is located, for at least sixty days next after the issuing thereof; or, if no newspaper is published in such city or county, then in the newspaper published nearest thereto.

32. FAILURE TO HOLD ANNUAL ELECTION. (SEC. 5149.) If, from any cause, an election of directors is not made at the time appointed, the association shall not for that cause be dissolved, but an election may be held on any subsequent day, thirty days' notice thereof in all cases having been given in a newspaper published in the city, town, or county in which the association is located; and if no newspaper is published in such city, town, or county such notice shall be published in a newspaper published nearest thereto. If the articles of association do not fix the day on which the election shall be held, or if no election is held on the day fixed, the day for the election shall be designated by the board of directors in their by-laws, or otherwise; or if the directors fail to fix the day, shareholders representing two-thirds of the shares may do so.

When the Comptroller of the Currency has given to such association a certificate, under his hand and official seal, that the provisions of this Title have been complied with, and that it is authorized to commence the business of banking, the association shall have the same powers and privileges, and shall be subject to the same duties, responsibilities, and rules, in all respects, as are prescribed for other associations, originally organized as national banking associations, and shall be held and regarded as such an association. But no such association shall have a less capital than the amount prescribed for associations organized under this Title.

38. CAPITAL OF STATE BANKS. (SEC. 3410.) The capital of any State bank or banking association which has ceased or shall cease to exist, or which has been or shall be converted into a national bank, shall be assumed to be the capital as it existed immediately before such bank ceased to exist or was converted as aforesaid.

39. CONVERTED BANKS MAY RETAIN BRANCHES. (SEC. 5155.) It shall be lawful for any bank or banking association, organized under State laws and having branches, the capital being joint and assigned to and used by the mother bank and branches in definite proportions, to become a national banking association in conformity with existing laws and to retain and keep in operation its branches, or such one or more of them as it may elect to retain, the amount of the circulation redeemable at the mother bank and each branch to be regulated by the amount of capital assigned to and used by each.

40. PERSONAL LIABILITY OF SHAREHOLDERS. (SEC. 5151.) The shareholders of every national banking association shall be held individually responsible, equally and ratably, and not one for another, for all contracts, debts, and engagements of such association to the extent of the amount of their stock therein, at the par value thereof, in addition to the amount invested in such shares, except that shareholders of any banking association now existing under State laws having not less than five millions of dollars of capital actually paid in and a surplus of twenty per centum on hand, both to be determined by the Comptroller of the Currency, shall be liable only to the amount invested in their shares; and such surplus of twenty per centum shall be kept undiminished, and be in addition to the surplus provided for in this Title; and if at any time there is a deficiency in such surplus of twenty per centum such association shall not pay any dividends to its shareholders until the deficiency is made good; and in case of such deficiency the Comptroller of the Currency may compel the association to close its business and wind up its affairs under the provisions of chapter four of this Title.

41. EXCEPTION FOR TRUSTEES, ETC. (SEC. 5152.) Persons holding stock as executors, administrators, guardians, or trustees shall not be personally subject to any liabilities as stockholders; but the estates and funds in their hands shall be liable in like manner and to the same extent as the testator, intestate, ward, or person interested in such trust funds would be if living and competent to act and hold the stock in his own name.

42. AMENDMENT OF ARTICLES RESTRICTED.—Sec. 5139 provides that no change shall be made in the articles of association of a national bank by which the rights, remedies, or security of the existing creditors of the association shall be impaired.

43. INCREASE OF CAPITAL STOCK. (SEC. 5142.) Any association formed under this Title may, by its articles of association, provide for an increase of its capital from time to time, as may be deemed expedient, subject to the limitations of this Title. Sec. 1 of the act of May 1, 1886, provides that any national banking association may, with the approval of the Comptroller of the Currency, by the vote of shareholders owning two-thirds of the stock of such association, increase its capital stock, in accordance with existing laws, to any sum approved by the said Comptroller, notwithstanding the limit fixed in its original articles of association and determined by said Comptroller; and no increase of the capital stock of any national banking association either within or beyond the limit fixed in its original articles of association shall be made except in the manner herein provided.

45. REDUCTION OF CAPITAL STOCK. (SEC. 5143.) Any association formed under this Title may, by the vote of shareholders owning two-thirds of its capital stock, reduce its capital to any sum not below the amount required by this Title to authorize the formation of associations, but no such reduction shall be allowable which will reduce the capital of the association below the amount required for its outstanding circulation, nor shall any such reduction be made until the amount of the proposed reduction has been reported to the Comptroller of the Currency and his approval thereof obtained.

46. CHANGE OF TITLE AND LOCATION.—Secs. 2, 3, and 4 of the act of May 1, 1886, provide:

SEC. 2. A duly authenticated notice of the vote and of the new name or location selected shall be sent to the office of the Comptroller of the Currency, but no change of name or location shall be valid until the Comptroller shall have issued his certificate of approval of the same.

SEC. 3. That all debts, liabilities, rights, provisions, and powers of the association under its old name shall devolve upon and inure to the association under its new name.

SEC. 4. That nothing in this act contained shall be so construed as in any manner to release any national banking association under its old name or at its old location from any liability, or affect any action or proceeding in law in which said association may be or become a party or interested.

(NOTE.—As amended by sec. 4 of the act of June 20, 1874, and sec. 8 of the act of July 12, 1882.)

50. RELATION OF BOND DEPOSIT TO CAPITAL. (SEC. 5160.) The deposit of bonds made by each association shall be increased as its capital may be paid up or increased, so that every association shall at all times have on deposit with the Treasurer registered United States bonds to the amount required by law. And any association that may desire to reduce its capital or close up its business and dissolve its organization may take up its bonds upon returning to the Comptroller its circulating notes in the proportion hereinafter required, or may take up any excess of bonds beyond the amount required by law, and upon which no circulating notes have been delivered.

51. EXCHANGE OF BONDS. (SEC. 5161.) To facilitate a compliance with the two preceding sections, the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to receive from any association, and cancel, any United States coupon bonds, and to issue in lieu thereof registered bonds of like amount, bearing a like rate of interest, and having the same time to run.

52. BONDS HELD BY TREASURER. (SEC. 5162.) All transfers of United States bonds made by any association under the provisions of this Title shall be made to the Treasurer of the United States in trust for the association, with a memorandum written or printed on each bond, and signed by the cashier, or some other officer of the association making the deposit. A receipt shall be given to the association, by the Comptroller of the Currency, or by a clerk appointed by him for that purpose, stating that the bond is held in trust for the association on whose behalf the transfer is made, and as security for the redemption and payment of any circulating notes that have been or may be delivered to such association. No assignment or transfer of any such bond by the Treasurer shall be deemed valid unless countersigned by the Comptroller of the Currency.

53. RECORD OF BOND TRANSFERS. (SEC. 5163.) The Comptroller of the Currency shall keep in his office a book in which he shall cause to be entered, immediately upon countersigning it, every transfer or assignment by the Treasurer, of any bonds belonging to a national banking association, presented for his signature. He shall state in such entry the name of the association from whose account the transfer is made, the name of the party to whom it is made, and the par value of the bonds transferred.

54. NOTICE OF TRANSFER. (SEC. 5164.) The Comptroller of the Currency shall, immediately upon countersigning and entering any transfer or assignment by the Treasurer of any bonds belonging to a national banking association, advise by mail the association from whose accounts the transfer is made of the kind and numerical designation of the bonds and the amount thereof so transferred.

55. EXAMINATION OF BONDS AND RECORDS. (SEC. 5165.) The Comptroller of the Currency shall have at all times, during office hours, access to the books of the Treasurer of the United States for the purpose of ascertaining the correctness of any transfer or assignment of the bonds deposited by an association, presented to the Comptroller to countersign; and the Treasurer shall have the like access to the book mentioned in section fifty-one hundred and sixty-three, during office hours, to ascertain the correctness of the entries in the same; and the Comptroller shall also at all times have access to the bonds on deposit with the Treasurer to ascertain their amount and condition.

56. ANNUAL EXAMINATION OF BONDS. (SEC. 5166.) Every association having bonds deposited in the office of the Treasurer of the United States shall, once or oftener in each fiscal year, examine and compare the bonds pledged by the association with the books of the Comptroller of the Currency and with the accounts of the association, and, if they are found correct, to execute to the Treasurer a certificate setting forth the different kinds and the amounts thereof, and that the same are in the possession and custody of the Treasurer at the date of the certificate. Such examination shall be made at such time or times during the ordinary business hours as the Treasurer and the Comptroller, respectively, may select, and may be made by an officer or agent of such association, duly appointed in writing for that purpose; and his certificate before mentioned shall be of like force and validity as if executed by the president or cashier. A duplicate of such certificate, signed by the Treasurer, shall be retained by the association.

57. GENERAL PROVISIONS RESPECTING BONDS. (SEC. 5167.) The bonds transferred to and deposited with the Treasurer of the United States by any association for the security of its circulating notes shall be held exclusively for that purpose until such notes are redeemed, except as provided in this Title. The Comptroller of the Currency shall give to any such association powers of attorney to receive and appropriate to its own use the interest on the bonds which it has so transferred to the Treasurer; but such powers shall become inoperative whenever such association fails to redeem its circulating notes. Whenever the market or cash value of any bonds thus deposited with the Treasurer is reduced below the amount of the circulation issued for the same the Comptroller may demand and receive the amount of such depreciation in other United States bonds at cash value, or in money, from the association, to be deposited with the Treasurer as long as such depreciation continues. And the Comptroller, upon the terms prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury, may permit an exchange to be made of any of the bonds deposited with the Treasurer by any association for other bonds of the United States authorized to be received as security for circulating notes if he is of opinion that such an exchange can be made without prejudice to the United States; and he may direct the return of any bonds to the association which transferred the same, in sums of not less than one thousand dollars, upon the surrender to him and the cancellation of a proportionate amount of such circulating notes: Provided, That the remaining bonds which shall have been transferred by the association offering to surrender circulating notes are equal to the amount required for the circulating notes not surrendered by such association, and that the amount of bonds in the hands of the Treasurer is not diminished below the amount required to be kept on deposit with him, and that there has been no failure by the association to redeem its circulating notes, nor any other violation by it of the provisions of this Title, and that the market or cash value of the remaining bonds is not below the amount required for the circulation issued for the same.

58. AMOUNT OF CIRCULATION OBTAINABLE.—Sec. 10 of the act of July 12, 1882, provides that upon a deposit of bonds as described by sections fifty-one hundred and fifty-nine and fifty one hundred and sixty, the association making the same shall be entitled to receive from the Comptroller of the Currency circulating notes of different denominations, in blank, registered and countersigned as provided by law, equal in amount to ninety per centum of the current market value, not exceeding par, of the United States bonds so transferred and delivered, and at no time shall the total amount of such notes issued to any such association exceed ninety per centum of the amount at such time actually paid in of its capital stock.

59. PREPARATION OF BANK CIRCULATION. (SEC. 5172.) In order to furnish suitable notes for circulation, the Comptroller of the Currency shall, under the direction of the Secretary of the Treasury, cause plates and dies to be engraved, in the best manner to guard against counterfeiting and fraudulent alterations, and shall have printed therefrom, and numbered, such quantity of circulating notes, in blank, of the denominations of five dollars, ten dollars, twenty dollars, fifty dollars, one hundred dollars, five hundred dollars, and one thousand dollars, as may be required to supply the associations entitled to receive the same. Such notes shall express upon their face that they are secured by United States bonds, deposited with the Treasurer of the United States, by the written or engraved signatures of the Treasurer and Register, and by the imprint of the seal of the Treasury; and shall also express upon their face the promise of the association receiving the same to pay on demand, attested by the signatures of the president or vice-president and cashier; and shall bear such devices and such other statements, and shall be in such form, as the Secretary of the Treasury shall, by regulation, direct.

60. CIRCULATION SHALL BEAR CHARTER NUMBER.—Sec. 5 of the act of June 20, 1874, provides that the Comptroller of the Currency shall, under such rules and regulations as the Secretary of the Treasury may prescribe, cause the charter numbers of the associations to be printed upon all national-bank notes which may be hereafter issued by him.

61. CONTROL OF PLATES AND DIES. (SEC. 5173.) The plates and special dies to be procured by the Comptroller of the Currency for the printing of such circulating notes shall remain under his control and direction.

62. EXAMINATION OF PLATES AND DIES. (SEC. 5174.) The Comptroller of the Currency shall cause to be examined, each year, the plates, dies, but pieces [bed pieces], and other material from which the national-bank circulation is printed, in whole or in part, and file in his office annually a correct list of the same. Such material as shall have been used in the printing of the notes of associations which are in liquidation, or have closed business, shall be destroyed, under such regulations as shall be prescribed by the Comptroller of the Currency and approved by the Secretary of the Treasury. The expenses of any such examination or destruction shall be paid out of any appropriation made by Congress for the special examination of national banks and bank-note plates.

63. CIRCULATION, FOR WHAT RECEIVABLE. (SEC. 5182.) After any association receiving circulating notes under this Title has caused its promise to pay such notes on demand to be signed by the president or vice-president and cashier thereof, in such manner as to make them obligatory promissory notes, payable on demand at its place of business, such association may issue and circulate the same as money. And the same shall be received at par in all parts of the United States in payment of taxes, excises, public lands, and all other dues to the United States, except duties on imports; and also for all salaries and other debts and demands owing by the United States to individuals, corporations, and associations within the United States, except interest on the public debt, and in redemption of the national currency.

64. CIRCULATION OF GOLD BANKS. (SEC. 5185.) Associations may be organized in the manner prescribed by this Title for the purpose of issuing notes payable in gold; and upon the deposit of any United States bonds bearing interest payable in gold with the Treasurer of the United States, in the manner prescribed for other associations, it shall be lawful for the Comptroller of the Currency to issue to the association making the deposit circulating notes of different denominations, but none of them of less than five dollars, and not exceeding in amount eighty per centum of the par value of the bonds deposited, which shall express the promise of the association to pay them, upon presentation at the office at which they are issued, in gold coin of the United States, and shall be so redeemable.

65. WORN-OUT OR MUTILATED CIRCULATION. (SEC. 5184.) It shall be the duty of the Comptroller of the Currency to receive worn-out or mutilated circulating notes issued by any banking association, and also, on due proof of the destruction of any such circulating notes, to deliver in place thereof to the association other blank circulating notes to an equal amount. Such worn-out or mutilated notes, after a memorandum has been entered in the proper books, in accordance with such regulations as may be established by the Comptroller, as well as all circulating notes which shall have been paid or surrendered to be canceled, shall be macerated in presence of four persons, one to be appointed by the Secretary of the Treasury, one by the Comptroller of the Currency, one by the Treasurer of the United States, and one by the association, under such regulations as the Secretary of the Treasury may prescribe. A certificate of such maceration, signed by the parties so appointed, shall be made in the books of the Comptroller, and a duplicate thereof forwarded to the association whose notes are thus canceled.

66. PROVISIONS FOR REDEEMING CIRCULATION.—Sec. 3 of the act of June 20, 1874, provides that every association organized, or to be organized, under the provisions of the said act, and of the several acts amendatory thereof, shall at all times keep and have on deposit in the Treasury of the United States, in lawful money of the United States, a sum equal to five per centum of its circulation, to be held and used for the redemption of such circulation; which sum shall be counted as a part of its lawful reserve, as provided in section two of this act; and when the circulating notes of any such associations, assorted or unassorted, shall be presented for redemption, in sums of one thousand dollars or any multiple thereof, to the Treasurer of the United States, the same shall be redeemed in United States notes. All notes so redeemed shall be charged by the Treasurer of the United States to the respective associations issuing the same, and he shall notify them severally, on the first day of each month, or oftener, at his discretion, of the amount of such redemptions; and whenever such redemptions for any association shall amount to the sum of five hundred dollars, such association so notified shall forthwith deposit with the Treasurer of the United States a sum in United States notes equal to the amount of its circulating notes so redeemed. And all notes of national banks, worn, defaced, mutilated, or otherwise unfit for circulation, shall, when received by any assistant treasurer, or at any designated depository of the United States, be forwarded to the Treasurer of the United States for redemption as provided herein. And when such redemptions have been so reimbursed, the circulating notes so redeemed shall be forwarded to the respective associations by which they were issued; but if any of such notes are worn, mutilated, defaced, or rendered otherwise unfit for use, they shall be forwarded to the Comptroller of the Currency and destroyed, and replaced as now provided by law: Provided, That each of said associations shall reimburse to the Treasury the charges for transportation and the costs for assorting such notes; and the associations hereafter organized shall also severally reimburse to the Treasury the cost of engraving such plates as shall be ordered by each association respectively; and the amount assessed upon each association shall be in proportion to the circulation redeemed, and be charged to the fund on deposit with the Treasurer.

67. WITHDRAWING CIRCULATION.—Sec. 4 of the act of June 20, 1874, provides that any association organized under this act, or any of the acts of which this is an amendment, desiring to withdraw its circulating notes, in whole or in part, may, upon the deposit of lawful money with the Treasurer of the United States in sums of not less than nine thousand dollars, take up the bonds which said association has on deposit with the Treasurer for the security of such circulating notes, which bonds shall be assigned to the bank in the manner specified in the nineteenth section of the national-bank act; and the outstanding notes of said association, to an amount equal to the legal-tender notes deposited, shall be redeemed at the Treasury of the United States, and destroyed as now provided by law: Provided, That the amount of the bonds on deposit for circulation shall not be reduced below fifty thousand dollars.

68. GENERAL PROVISIONS FOR WITHDRAWING CIRCULATION.—Secs. 8 and 9 of the act of July 12, 1882, provide: (SEC. 8.) That the national banks which shall hereafter make deposits of lawful money for the retirement in full of their circulation shall, at the time of their deposit, be assessed for the cost of transporting and redeeming their notes then outstanding, a sum equal to the average cost of the redemption of national-bank notes during the preceding year, and shall thereupon pay such assessment; and all national banks which have heretofore made or shall hereafter make deposits of lawful money for the reduction of their circulation shall be assessed, and shall pay an assessment in the manner specified in section three of the act approved June twentieth, eighteen hundred and seventy-four, for the cost of transporting and redeeming their notes redeemed from such deposits subsequently to June thirtieth, eighteen hundred and eighty-one.

SEC. 9. That any national banking association now organized, or hereafter organized, desiring to withdraw its circulating notes, upon a deposit of lawful money with the Treasurer of the United States, as provided in section four of the act of June twentieth, eighteen hundred and seventy-four, or as provided in this act, is authorized to deposit lawful money and withdraw a proportionate amount of the bonds held as security for its circulating notes in the order of such deposits; and no national bank which makes any deposit of lawful money in order to withdraw its circulating notes shall be entitled to receive any increase of its circulation for the period of six months from the time it made such deposit of lawful money for the purpose aforesaid: Provided, That not more than three millions of dollars of lawful money shall be deposited during any calendar month for this purpose: And provided further, That the provisions of this section shall not apply to bonds called for redemption by the Secretary of the Treasury, nor to the withdrawal of circulating notes in consequence thereof.

69. CIRCULATION OF EXTENDED BANKS.—Sec. 6 of the act of July 12, 1882, provides that the circulating notes of any association so extending the period of its succession which shall have been issued to it prior to such extension shall be redeemed at the Treasury of the United States, as provided in section three of the act of June twentieth, eighteen hundred and seventy-four, entitled "An act fixing the amount of United States notes, providing for redistribution of national bank currency, and for other purposes," and such notes when redeemed shall be forwarded to the Comptroller of the Currency, and destroyed, as now provided by law; and at the end of three years from the date of the extension of the corporate existence of each bank the association so extended shall deposit lawful money with the Treasury of the United States sufficient to redeem the remainder of the circulation which was outstanding at the date of its extension, as provided in sections fifty-two hundred and twenty-two, fifty-two hundred and twenty-four, and fifty-two hundred and twenty-five of the Revised Statutes; and any gain that may arise from the failure to present such circulating notes for redemption shall inure to the benefit of the United States; and from time to time, as such notes are redeemed or lawful money deposited therefor as provided herein, new circulating notes shall be issued as provided for by this act, bearing such devices, to be approved by the Secretary of the Treasury, as shall make them readily distinguishable from the circulating notes heretofore issued: Provided, however, That each banking association which shall obtain the benefit of this act shall reimburse to the Treasury the cost of preparing the plate or plates for such new circulating notes as shall be issued to it.

70. CIRCULATION OF LIQUIDATING BANKS. (SEC. 5225.) Whenever the Treasurer has redeemed any of the notes of an association which has commenced to close its affairs, he shall cause the notes to be mutilated and charged to the redemption account of the association; and all notes so redeemed by the Treasurer shall, every three months, be certified to and destroyed in the manner prescribed in section fifty-one hundred and eighty-four.

71. CIRCULATION OF CLOSED BANKS.—Sec. 8 of the act of June 20, 1874, provides: And it shall be the duty of the Treasurer, assistant treasurers, designated depositaries, and national bank depositaries of the United States to assort and return to the Treasury for redemption the notes of such national banks as have failed, or gone into voluntary liquidation for the purpose of winding up their affairs, and of such as shall hereafter so fail or go into liquidation.

72. REGULATIONS FOR REDEMPTION RECORDS. (SEC. 5232.) The Secretary of the Treasury may, from time to time, make such regulations respecting the disposition to be made of circulating notes after presentation at the Treasury of the United States for payment, and respecting the perpetuation of the evidence of the payment thereof, as may seem to him proper.

73. REDEEMED NOTES TO BE CANCELED. (SEC. 5233.) All notes of national banking associations presented at the Treasury of the United States for payment shall, on being paid, be canceled.

74. REDEMPTION IN UNITED STATES NOTES.—Sec. 3 of the act approved June 20, 1874, provides that when the circulating notes of any such associations, assorted or unassorted, shall be presented for redemption, in sums of one thousand dollars or any multiple thereof, to the Treasurer of the United States, the same shall be redeemed in United States notes.

75. DISPOSITION OF REDEMPTION ACCOUNT.—Sec. 6 of the act of July 14, 1890, provides that upon the passage of this act the balances standing with the Treasurer of the United States to the respective credits of national banks for deposits made to redeem the circulating notes of such banks, and all deposits thereafter received for like purpose, shall be covered into the Treasury as a miscellaneous receipt, and the Treasury of the United States shall redeem from the general cash in the Treasury the circulating notes of said banks which may come into his possession subject to redemption; and upon the certificate of the Comptroller of the Currency that such notes have been received by him and that they have been destroyed and that no new notes will be issued in their place, reimbursement of their amount shall be made to the Treasurer, under such regulations as the Secretary of the Treasury may prescribe, from an appropriation hereby created, to be known as “national-bank notes, redemption account.” But the provisions of this act shall not apply to the deposits received under section three of the act of June twentieth, eighteen hundred and seventy-four, requiring every national bank to keep in lawful money with the Treasurer of the United States a sum equal to five per centum of its circulation, to be held and used for the redemption of its circulating notes; and the balance remaining of the deposits so covered shall, at the close of each month, be reported on the monthly public debt statement as debt of the United States bearing no interest.

76. REDEMPTION OF INCOMPLETE CIRCULATION.—The act of July 28, 1892, provides that the provisions of the Revised Statutes of the United States, providing for the redemption of national-bank notes, shall apply to all national bank notes that have been or may be issued to, or received by, any national bank, notwithstanding such notes may have been lost by or stolen from the bank and put in circulation without the signature or upon the forged signature of the president or vice-president and cashier.

77. BANKS TAKE CIRCULATION AT PAR. (SEC. 5196.) Every national banking association formed or existing under this Title shall take and receive at par, for any debt or liability to it, any and all notes or bills issued by any lawfully organized national banking association. But this provision shall not apply to any association organized for the purpose of issuing notes payable in gold.

78. ISSUE OF OTHER NOTES PROHIBITED. (SEC. 5183.) Nonational banking association shall issue post notes or any other notes to circulate as money than such as are authorized by the provisions of this Title.

79. FRAUDULENT NOTES TO BE MARKED.—Sec. 5 of the act of June 30, 1876, provides that all United States officers charged with the receipt or disbursement of public moneys, and all officers of national banks, shall stamp or write in plain letters the word “counterfeit,” “altered,” or “worthless” upon all fraudulent notes issued in the form of and intended to circulate as money which shall be presented at their places of business; and if such officer shall wrongfully stamp any genuine note of the United States, or of the national banks, they shall, upon presentation, redeem such notes at the face value thereof.

80. TAX ON CIRCULATION. (SEC. 5214.) In lieu of all existing taxes, every association shall pay to the Treasurer of the United States, in the months of January and July, a duty of one-half of one per centum each half year upon the average amount of its notes in circulation.

81. SEMIANNUAL RETURN OF CIRCULATION. (SEC. 5215.) In order to enable the Treasurer to assess the duties imposed by the preceding section, each association shall, within ten days from the first days of January and July of each year, make a return, under the oath of its president or cashier, to the Treasurer of the United States, in such form as the Treasurer may prescribe, of the average amount of its notes in circulation for the six months next preceding the most recent first day of January or July. Every association which fails so to make such return shall be liable to a penalty of two hundred dollars, to be collected either out of the interest as it may become due such association on the bonds deposited with the Treasurer, or, at his option, in the manner in which penalties are to be collected of other corporations under the laws of the United States.

82. PROCEEDINGS ON DEFAULT. (SEC. 5216.) Whenever any association fails to make the half-yearly return required by the preceding section, the duties to be paid by such association shall be assessed upon the amount of notes delivered to such association by the Comptroller of the Currency.

83. ENFORCING TAX ON CIRCULATION. (SEC. 5217.) Whenever an association fails to pay the duties imposed by the three preceding sections, the sums due may be collected in the manner provided for the collection of United States taxes from other corporations; or the Treasurer may reserve the amount out of the interest, as it may become due, on the bonds deposited with him by such defaulting association.

84. REFUNDING EXCESS TAX. (SEC. 5218.) In all cases where an association has paid or may pay in excess of what may be or has been found due from it, on account of the duty required to be paid to the Treasurer of the United States, the association may state an account therefor, which, on being certified by the Treasurer of the United States, and found correct by the Comptroller of the Treasury, shall be refunded in the ordinary manner by warrant on the Treasury.

85. CIRCULATION, WHEN EXEMPT FROM TAX. (SEC. 3411.) Whenever the outstanding circulation of any bank, association, corporation, company, or person is reduced to an amount not exceeding five per centum of the chartered or declared capital existing at the time the same was issued, said circulation shall be free from taxation; and whenever any bank which has ceased to issue notes for circulation deposits in the Treasury of the United States, in lawful money, the amount of its outstanding circulation, to be redeemed at par, under such regulations as the Secretary of the Treasury shall prescribe, it shall be exempt from any tax upon such circulation.

86. TAX ON UNAUTHORIZED CIRCULATION.—Secs. 19, 20, and 21 of the act of February 8, 1875, provide:

SEC. 19. That every person, firm, association, other than national-bank associations, and every corporation, State bank, or State banking association shall pay a tax of ten per centum on the amount of their own notes used for circulation and paid out by them.

SEC. 20. That every such person, firm, association, corporation, State bank, or State banking association, and also every national banking association, shall pay a like tax of ten per centum on the amount of notes of any person, firm, association, other than a national banking association, or of any corporation, State bank, or State banking association, or of any town, city, or municipal corporation, used for circulation and paid out by them.

SEC. 21. That the amount of such circulating notes, and of the tax due thereon, shall be returned, and the tax paid at the same time, and in the same manner, and with like penalties for failure to return and pay the same, as provided by law for the return and payment of taxes on deposits, capital, and circulation imposed by the existing provisions of internal-revenue law.

87. SEMIANNUAL RETURN OF TAXABLE CIRCULATION. (SEC. 3414.) A true and complete return of the monthly amount of circulation, as aforesaid, and of the monthly amount of notes of persons, town, city, or municipal corporation, State banks, or State banking associations paid out as aforesaid for the previous six months, shall be made and rendered in duplicate on the first day of December and the first day of June by each of such banks, associations, corporations, companies, or persons, with a declaration annexed thereto, under the oath of such person, or of the president or cashier of such bank, association, corporation, or company, in such form and manner as may be prescribed by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, that the same contains a true and faithful statement of the amounts subject to tax, as aforesaid; and one copy shall be transmitted to the collector of the district in which any such bank, association, corporation, or company is situated, or in which such person has his place of business, and one copy to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

88. FAILURE TO MAKE SUCH RETURN. (SEC. 3415.) In default of the returns provided in the preceding section the amount of circulation, and notes of persons, town, city, and municipal corporations, State banks, and State banking associations paid out, as aforesaid, shall be estimated by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, upon the best information he can obtain. And for any refusal or neglect to make return and payment any such bank, association, corporation, company, or person so in default shall pay a penalty of two hundred dollars, besides the additional penalty and forfeitures provided in other cases.

89. TAX ON CONVERTED BANK CIRCULATION. (SEC. 3416.) Whenever any State bank or banking association has been converted into a national banking association, and such national banking association has assumed the liabilities of such State bank or banking association, including the redemption of its bills, by any agreement or understanding whatever with the representatives of such State bank or banking association, such national banking association shall be held to make the required return and payment on the circulation outstanding, so long as such circulation shall exceed five per centum of the capital before such conversion of such State bank or banking association.

90. TAX PROVISIONS RESTRICTED. (SEC. 3417.) The provisions of this chapter relating to the tax on the circulation of banks and to their returns, except as contained in sections thirty-four hundred and eleven, thirty-four hundred and twelve, thirty-four hundred and thirteen, and thirty-four hundred and sixteen, and such parts of sections thirty-four hundred and fourteen and thirty-four hundred and fifteen as relate to the tax of ten per centum on certain notes, shall not apply to associations which are taxed under and by virtue of Title "NATIONAL BANKS."

91. TAXATION OF NOTES, ETC. (SEC. 3701.) All stocks, bonds, Treasury notes, and other obligations of the United States shall be exempt from taxation by or under State or municipal or local authority. The act of August 13, 1894, provides: (SEC. 1.) That circulating notes of national banking associations and United States legal-tender notes and other notes and certificates of the United States, payable on demand and circulating or intended to circulate as currency, and gold, silver, or other coin shall be subject to taxation as money on hand or on deposit under the laws of any State or Territory: Provided, That any such taxation shall be exercised in the same manner and at the same rate that any such State or Territory shall tax money or currency circulating as money within its jurisdiction.

Every national banking association in either of the following cities: Albany, Baltimore, Boston, Cincinnati, Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit, Louisville, Milwaukee, New Orleans, New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Saint Louis, San Francisco, and Washington, shall at all times have on hand, in lawful money of the United States, an amount equal to at least twenty-five per centum of the aggregate amount of its deposits; and every other association shall at all times have on hand, in lawful money of the United States, an amount equal to at least fifteen per centum of the aggregate amount of its deposits.

95. RESERVE NOT MAINTAINED. (SEC. 5191.) Whenever the lawful money of any association in any of the cities named shall be below the amount of twenty-five per centum of its deposits, and whenever the lawful money of any other association shall be below fifteen per centum of its deposits, such association shall not increase its liabilities by making any new loans or discounts otherwise than by discounting or purchasing bills of exchange payable at sight, nor make any dividend of its profits until the required proportion between the aggregate amount of its deposits and its lawful money of the United States has been restored. And the Comptroller of the Currency may notify any association, whose lawful-money reserve shall be below the amount above required to be kept on hand, to make good such reserve; and if such association shall fail for thirty days thereafter so to make good its reserve of lawful money, the Comptroller may, with the concurrence of the Secretary of the Treasury, appoint a receiver to wind up the business of the association, as provided in section fifty-two hundred and thirty-four.

96. RESERVE AGENTS' BALANCES COUNTED AS RESERVE. (SEC. 5192.) Three-fifths of the reserve of fifteen per centum required by the preceding section to be kept may consist of balances due to an association from associations approved by the Comptroller of the Currency, organized under the act of June three, eighteen hundred and sixty-four, or under this Title, and doing business in the cities of Albany, Baltimore, Boston, Charleston, Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Detroit, Louisville, Milwaukee, New Orleans, New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Richmond, Saint Louis, San Francisco, and Washington.

97. CLEARING-HOUSE CERTIFICATES COUNTED AS RESERVE.—Clearing-house certificates, representing specie or lawful money specially deposited for the purpose, of any clearing-house association shall also be deemed to be lawful money in the possession of any association belonging to such clearing house, holding and owning such certificate, within the preceding section.

98. REDEMPTION FUND COUNTED AS RESERVE.—Sec. 3 of the act of June 20, 1874, provides that the five per cent redemption fund, which shall at all times be kept on deposit with the Treasurer of the United States, shall be counted as a part of the lawful reserve.

99. UNITED STATES NOTE CERTIFICATES COUNTED AS RESERVE. (SEC. 5193.) The Secretary of the Treasury may receive United States notes on deposit, without interest, from any national banking associations, in sums of not less than ten thousand dollars, and issue certificates therefor in such form as he may prescribe, in denominations of not less than five thousand dollars, and payable on demand in United States notes at the place where the deposits were made. The notes so deposited shall not be counted as part of the lawful-money reserve of the association; but the certificates issued therefor may be counted as part of its lawful-money reserve, and may be accepted in the settlement of clearing-house balances at the places where the deposits therefor were made.

100. REDEMPTION OF SUCH CERTIFICATES. (SEC. 5194.) The power conferred on the Secretary of the Treasury, by the preceding section shall not be exercised so as to create any expansion or contraction of the currency; and United States notes for which certificates are issued under that section, or other United States notes of like amount, shall be held as special deposits in the Treasury and used only for redemption of such certificates.

101. UNITED STATES GOLD CERTIFICATES COUNTED AS RESERVE.—Sec. 12 of the act of July 12, 1882, provides that the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized and directed to receive deposits of gold coin with the Treasurer or assistant treasurers of the United States, in sums not less than twenty dollars, and to issue certificates therefor in denominations of not less than twenty dollars each, corresponding with the denominations of United States notes. The coin deposited for or representing the certificates of deposit shall be retained in the Treasury for the payment of the same on demand. Said certificates shall be receivable for customs, taxes, and all public dues, and when so received may be reissued; and such certificates, as also silver certificates, when held by any national banking association, shall be counted as part of its lawful reserve; and no national banking association shall be a member of any clearing house in which such certificates shall not be receivable in the settlement of clearing-house balances: Provided, That the Secretary of the Treasury shall suspend the issue of such gold certificates whenever the amount of gold coin and gold bullion in the Treasury reserved for the redemption of United States notes falls below one hundred millions of dollars; and the provisions of section fifty-two hundred and seven of the Revised Statutes shall be applicable to the certificates herein authorized and directed to be issued.

102. RESERVE REQUIREMENTS FOR GOLD BANKS. (SEC. 5186.) Every association organized for the purpose of issuing notes payable in gold shall at all times keep on hand not less than twenty-five per centum of its outstanding circulation, in gold or silver coin of the United States; and shall receive at par in the payment of debts the gold notes of every other such association which at the time of such payment is redeeming its circulating notes in gold coin of the United States, and shall be subject to all the provisions of this Title: Provided, That, in applying the same to associations organized for issuing gold notes, the terms "lawful money" and "lawful money of the United States" shall be construed to mean gold or silver coin of the United States; and the circulation of such association shall not be within the limitation of circulation mentioned in this Title.

103. RESERVE DEPOSIT IN CENTRAL RESERVE CITY. (SEC. 5195.) Each association organized in any of the cities named in section fifty-one hundred and ninety-one may keep one-half of its lawful-money reserve in cash deposits in the city of New York. But the foregoing provision shall not apply to associations organized and located in the city of San Francisco for the purpose of issuing notes payable in gold. This section shall not relieve any association from its liability to redeem its circulating notes at its own counter at par in lawful money on demand.

104. ADDITIONAL RESERVE CITIES.—Sec. 1 of the act of March 3, 1887, provides that whenever three-fourths in number of the national banks located in any city of the United States having a population of fifty thousand people shall make application to the Comptroller of the Currency, in writing, asking that the name of the city in which such banks are located shall be added to the cities named in sections fifty-one hundred and ninety-one and fifty-one hundred and ninety-two of the Revised Statutes, the Comptroller shall have authority to grant such request, and every bank located in such city shall at all times thereafter have on hand, in lawful money of the United States, an amount equal to at least twenty-five per centum of its deposits, as provided in sections fifty-one hundred and ninety-one and fifty-one hundred and ninety-five of the Revised Statutes.

105. ADDITIONAL CENTRAL RESERVE CITIES.—Sec. 2 of the act of March 3, 1887, provides that whenever three-fourths in number of the national banks located in any city of the United States having a population of two hundred thousand people shall make application to the Comptroller of the Currency, in writing, asking that such city may be a central reserve city, like the city of New York, in which one-half of the lawful-money reserve of the national banks located in other reserve cities may be deposited, as provided in section fifty-one hundred and ninety-five of the Revised Statutes, the Comptroller shall have authority, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, to grant such request, and every bank located in such city shall at all times thereafter have on hand, in lawful money of the United States, twenty-five per centum of its deposits, as provided in section fifty-one hundred and ninety-one of the Revised Statutes.

106. REAL ESTATE. (SEC. 5137.) A national banking association may purchase, hold, and convey real estate for the following purposes, and for no others:

First. Such as shall be necessary for its immediate accommodation in the transaction of its business.

Second. Such as shall be mortgaged to it in good faith by way of security for debts previously contracted.

Third. Such as shall be conveyed to it in satisfaction of debts previously contracted in the course of its dealings.

Fourth. Such as it shall purchase at sales under judgments, decrees, or mortgages held by the association, or shall purchase to secure debts due to it.

But no such association shall hold the possession of any real estate under mortgage, or the title and possession of any real estate purchased to secure any debts due to it, for a longer period than five years.

107. INTEREST. (SEC. 5197.) Any association may take, receive, reserve, and charge on any loan or discount made, or upon any note, bill of exchange, or other evidences of debt, interest at the rate allowed by the laws of the State, Territory, or District where the bank is located, and no more, except that where by the laws of any State a different rate is limited for banks of issue organized under State laws, the rate so limited shall be allowed for associations organized or existing in any such State under this Title. When no rate is fixed by the laws of the State, or Territory, or District, the bank may take, receive, reserve, or charge a rate not exceeding seven per centum, and such interest may be taken in advance, reckoning the days from which the note, bill, or other evidence of debt has to run. And the purchase, discount, or sale of a bona fide bill of exchange, payable at another place than the place of such purchase, discount, or sale, at not more than the current rate of exchange for sight drafts in addition to the interest, shall not be considered as taking or receiving a greater rate of interest.

108. PENALTY FOR UNLAWFUL INTEREST. (SEC. 5198.) The taking, receiving, reserving, or charging a rate of interest greater than is allowed by the preceding section, when knowingly done, shall be deemed a forfeiture of the entire interest which the note, bill, or other evidence of debt carries with it, or which has been agreed to be paid thereon. In case the greater rate of interest has been paid, the person by whom it has been paid, or his legal representatives, may recover back, in an action in the nature of an action of debt, twice the amount of the interest thus paid from the association taking or receiving the same, provided such action is commenced within two years from the time the usurious transaction occurred.

109. SURPLUS AND DIVIDENDS. (SEC. 5199.) The directors of any association may semiannually declare a dividend of so much of the net profits of the association as they shall judge expedient; but each association shall, before the declaration of a dividend, carry one-tenth part of its net profits of the preceding half year to its surplus fund until the same shall amount to twenty per centum of its capital stock.

110. RESTRICTION ON LOANS. (SEC. 5200.) The total liabilities to any association, of any person, or of any company, corporation, or firm for money borrowed, including in the liabilities of a company or firm the liabilities of the several members thereof, shall at no time exceed one-tenth part of the amount of the capital stock of such association actually paid in. But the discount of bills of exchange drawn in good faith against actually existing values, and the discount of commercial or business paper actually owned by the person negotiating the same shall not be considered as money borrowed.

111. ASSOCIATIONS MUST NOT HOLD THEIR OWN STOCK. (SEC. 5201.) No association shall make any loan or discount on the security of the shares of its own capital stock, nor be the purchaser or holder of any such shares, unless such security or purchase shall be necessary to prevent loss upon a debt previously contracted in good faith; and stock so purchased or acquired shall, within six months from the time of its purchase, be sold or disposed of at public or private sale; or, in default thereof, a receiver may be appointed to close up the business of the association, according to section fifty-two hundred and thirty-four.

112. RESTRICTION ON BANK'S LIABILITY. (SEC. 5202.) No association shall at any time be indebted, or in any way liable, to an amount exceeding the amount of its capital stock at such time actually paid in and remaining undiminished by losses or otherwise, except on account of demands of the nature following:

First. Notes of circulation.

Second. Moneys deposited with or collected by the association.

Third. Bills of exchange or drafts drawn against money actually on deposit to the credit of the association, or due thereto.

Fourth. Liabilities to the stockholders of the association for dividends and reserve profits.

113. IMPROPER USE OF BANK CIRCULATION. (SEC. 5203.) No association shall, either directly or indirectly, pledge or hypothecate any of its notes of circulation for the purpose of procuring money to be paid in on its capital stock, or to be used in its banking operations, or otherwise; nor shall any association use its circulating notes, or any part thereof, in any manner or form, to create or increase its capital stock.

114. UNEARNED DIVIDENDS PROHIBITED. (SEC. 5204.) No association, or any member thereof, shall, during the time it shall continue its banking operations, withdraw, or permit to be withdrawn, either in the form of dividends or otherwise, any portion of its capital. If losses have at any time been sustained by any such association equal to or exceeding its undivided profits then on hand, no dividend shall be made; and no dividend shall ever be made by any association, while it continues its banking operations, to an amount greater than its net profits then on hand, deducting therefrom its losses and bad debts. All debts due to any associations, on which interest is past due and unpaid for a period of six months, unless the same are well secured, and in process of collection, shall be considered bad debts within the meaning of this section. But nothing in this section shall prevent the reduction of the capital stock of the association under section fifty-one hundred and forty-three.

115. ASSESSMENT FOR IMPAIRMENT OF CAPITAL. (SEC. 5205.) Every association which shall have failed to pay up its capital stock, as required by law, and every association whose capital stock shall have become impaired by losses or otherwise, shall, within three months after receiving notice thereof from the Comptroller of the Currency, pay the deficiency in the capital stock, by assessment upon the shareholders pro rata for the amount of capital stock held by each; and the Treasurer of the United States shall withhold the interest upon all bonds held by him in trust for any such association, upon notification from the Comptroller of the Currency, until otherwise notified by him. If any such association shall fail to pay up its capital stock, and shall refuse to go into liquidation, as provided by law, for three months after receiving notice from the Comptroller, a receiver may be appointed to close up the business of the association, according to the provisions of section fifty-two hundred and thirty-four.

116. PROVISION FOR ENFORCEMENT OF ASSESSMENT.—Sec. 4 of the act of June 30, 1876, provides that if any shareholder or shareholders of a bank shall neglect or refuse, after three months' notice, to pay the assessment, as provided in this section, it shall be the duty of the board of directors to cause a sufficient amount of the capital stock of such shareholder or shareholders to be sold at public auction (after thirty days' notice shall be given by posting such notice of sale in the office of the bank and by publishing such notice in a newspaper of the city or town in which the bank is located, or in a newspaper published nearest thereto) to make good the deficiency; and the balance, if any, shall be returned to such delinquent shareholder or shareholders.

117. PROHIBITION AGAINST UNCURRENT NOTES. (SEC. 5206.) No association shall at any time pay out on loans or discounts, or in purchasing drafts or bills of exchange, or in payment of deposits, or in any other mode pay or put in circulation the notes of any bank or banking association which are not, at any such time, receivable, at par, on deposit, and in payment of debts by the association so paying out or circulating such notes; nor shall any association knowingly pay out or put in circulation any notes issued by any bank or banking association which at the time of such paying out or putting in circulation is not redeeming its circulating notes in lawful money of the United States.

118. LIST OF SHAREHOLDERS. (SEC. 5210.) The president and cashier of every national banking association shall cause to be kept at all times a full and correct list of the names and residences of all the shareholders in the association, and the number of shares held by each, in the office where its business is transacted. Such list shall be subject to the inspection of all the shareholders and creditors of the association, and the officers authorized to assess taxes under State authority, during business hours of each day in which business may be legally transacted. A copy of such list, on the first Monday of July of each year, verified by the oath of such president or cashier, shall be transmitted to the Comptroller of the Currency.

119. REPORTS OF CONDITION. (SEC. 5211.) Every association shall make to the Comptroller of the Currency not less than five reports during each year, according to the form which may be prescribed by him, verified by the oath or affirmation of the president or cashier of such association, and attested by the signature of at least three of the directors. Each such report shall exhibit, in detail and under appropriate heads, the resources and liabilities of the associations at the close of business on any past day by him specified, and shall be transmitted to the Comptroller within five days after the receipt of a request or requisition therefor from him, and in the same form in which it is made to the Comptroller shall be published in a newspaper published in the place where such association is established, or if there is no newspaper in the place, then in one published nearest thereto in the same county, at the expense of the association; and such proof of publication shall be furnished as may be required by the Comptroller. The Comptroller shall also have power to call for special reports from any particular association whenever in his judgment the same are necessary in order to a full and complete knowledge of its condition.

120. VERIFICATION OF SUCH REPORTS.—The act of February 26, 1881, provides that the oath or affirmation required by section fifty-two hundred and eleven of the Revised Statutes, verifying the returns made by national banks to the Comptroller of the Currency, when taken before a notary public properly authorized and commissioned by the State in which such notary resides and the bank is located, or any other officer having an official seal, authorized in such State to administer oaths, shall be a sufficient verification as contemplated by said section fifty-two hundred and eleven: Provided, That the officer administering the oath is not an officer of the bank.

121. REPORTS OF DIVIDENDS AND EARNINGS. (SEC. 5212.) In addition to the reports required by the preceding section, each association shall report to the Comptroller of the Currency, within ten days after declaring any dividend, the amount of such dividend and the amount of net earnings in excess of such dividend. Such reports shall be attested by the oath of the president or cashier of the association.

122. PENALTY FOR FAILURE TO REPORT. (SEC. 5213.) Every association which fails to make and transmit any report required under either of the two preceding sections shall be subject to a penalty of one hundred dollars for each day after the periods, respectively, therein mentioned, that it delays to make and transmit its report. Whenever any association delays or refuses to pay the penalty herein imposed, after it has been assessed by the Comptroller of the Currency, the amount thereof may be retained by the Treasurer of the United States, upon the order of the Comptroller of the Currency, out of the interest, as it may become due to the association, on the bonds deposited with him to secure circulation. All sums of money collected for penalties under this section shall be paid into the Treasury of the United States.

123. REPORTS OF OTHER BANKS.—Sec. 6 of the act of June 30, 1876, provides that all savings banks or savings and trust companies organized under authority of any act of Congress shall be, and are hereby, required to make, to the Comptroller of the Currency, and publish, all the reports which national banking associations are required to make and publish under the provisions of sections fifty-two hundred and eleven, fifty-two hundred and twelve, and fifty-two hundred and thirteen of the Revised Statutes, and shall be subject to the same penalties for failure to make or publish such reports as are therein provided; which penalties may be collected by suit before any court of the United States in the district in which said savings banks or savings and trust companies may be located. And all savings or other banks now organized, or which shall hereafter be organized in the District of Columbia, under any act of Congress, which shall have capital stock paid up in whole or in part, shall be subject to all the provisions of the Revised Statutes, and of all acts of Congress applicable to national banking associations, so far as the same may be applicable to such savings or other banks: Provided, That such savings banks now established shall not be required to have a paid-in capital exceeding one hundred thousand dollars.

124. STATE TAXATION OF NATIONAL BANKS. (SEC. 5219.) Nothing herein shall prevent all the shares in any association from being included in the valuation of the personal property of the owner or holder of such shares, in assessing taxes imposed by authority of the State within which the association is located; but the legislature of each State may determine and direct the manner and place of taxing all the shares of national banking associations located within the State, subject only to the two restrictions, that the taxation shall not be at a greater rate than is assessed upon other moneyed capital in the hands of individual citizens of such State, and that the shares of any national banking association owned by nonresidents of any State shall be taxed in the city or town where the bank is located, and not elsewhere. Nothing herein shall be construed to exempt the real property of associations from either State, county, or municipal taxes, to the same extent, according to its value, as other real property is taxed.

125. NATIONAL-BANK EXAMINERS. (SEC. 5240.) The Comptroller of the Currency, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, shall, as often as shall be deemed necessary or proper, appoint a suitable person or persons to make an examination of the affairs of every banking association, who shall have power to make a thorough examination into all the affairs of the association, and in doing so to examine any of the officers and agents thereof on oath; and shall make a full and detailed report of the condition of the association to the Comptroller.

126. QUALIFICATION FOR EXAMINER. (SEC. 5240.) But no person shall be appointed to examine the affairs of any banking association of which he is a director or other officer.

127. COMPENSATION OF EXAMINERS. (SEC. 5240.) All persons appointed to be examiners of national banks not located in the redemption cities specified in section five thousand one hundred and ninety-two of the Revised Statutes of the United States, or in any one of the States of Oregon, California, and Nevada, or in the Territories, shall receive compensation for such examination as follows: For examining national banks having a capital less than one hundred thousand dollars, twenty dollars; those having a capital of one hundred thousand dollars and less than three hundred thousand dollars, twenty-five dollars; those having a capital of three hundred thousand dollars and less than four hundred thousand dollars, thirty-five dollars; those having a capital of four hundred thousand dollars and less than five hundred thousand dollars, forty dollars; those having a capital of five hundred thousand dollars and less than six hundred thousand dollars, fifty dollars; those having a capital of six hundred thousand dollars and over, seventy-five dollars; which amounts shall be assessed by the Comptroller of the Currency upon, and paid by, the respective association so examined, and shall be in lieu of the compensation and mileage heretofore allowed for making said examinations; and persons appointed to make examinations of national banks in the cities named in section five thousand one hundred and ninety-two of the Revised Statutes of the United States, or in any one of the States of Oregon, California, and Nevada, or in the Territories, shall receive such compensation as may be fixed by the Secretary of the Treasury upon the recommendation of the Comptroller of the Currency; and the same shall be assessed and paid in the manner hereinbefore provided.

128. EXAMINATIONS IN DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA. (SEC. 332.) The Comptroller of the Currency, in addition to the powers conferred upon him by law for the examination of national banks, is further authorized, whenever he may deem it useful, to cause examination to be made into the condition of any bank in the District of Columbia organized under act of Congress. The Comptroller, at his discretion, may report to Congress the results of such examination. The expense necessarily incurred in any such examination shall be paid out of any appropriation made by Congress for special bank examinations.

129. LIMITATION OF VISITORIAL POWERS. (SEC. 5241.) No association shall be subject to any visitorial powers other than such as are authorized by this Title, or are vested in the courts of justice.

130. USE OF "NATIONAL" IN TITLES. (SEC. 5243.) All banks not organized and transacting business under the national currency laws, or under this Title, and all persons or corporations doing the business of bankers, brokers, or savings institutions, except savings banks authorized by Congress to use the word "national" as a part of their corporate name, are prohibited from using the word "national" as a portion of the name or title of such bank, corporation, firm, or partnership; and any violation of this prohibition committed after the third day of September, eighteen hundred and seventy-three, shall subject the party chargeable therewith to a penalty of fifty dollars for each day during which it is permitted or repeated.

CHAPTER SIX.

EXTENSION OF CORPORATE EXISTENCE.

131. Corporate existence may be extended.

132. Consent of two-thirds necessary.

133. Special examination of bank.

134. Status not changed by extension.

135. Dissenting shareholders may withdraw.

131. CORPORATE EXISTENCE MAY BE EXTENDED.—The act of July 12, 1882, provides: (SEC. 1) That any national banking association organized under the acts of February twenty-fifth, eighteen hundred and sixty-three, June third, eighteen hundred and sixty-four, and February fourteenth, eighteen hundred and eighty, or under sections fifty-one hundred and thirty-three, fifty-one hundred and thirty-four, fifty-one hundred and thirty-five, fifty-one hundred and thirty-six, and fifty-one hundred and thirty-four of the Revised Statutes of the United States, may, at any time within the two years next previous to the date of the expiration of its corporate existence under present law, and with the approval of the Comptroller of the Currency, to be granted as hereinafter provided, extend its period of succession by amending its articles of association for a term of not more than twenty years from the expiration of the period of succession named in said articles of association, and shall have succession for such extended period, unless sooner dissolved by the act of shareholders owning two-thirds of its stock, or unless its franchise becomes forfeited by some violation of law, or unless hereafter modified or repealed.

132. CONSENT OF TWO-THIRDS NECESSARY. (SEC. 2.) That such amendment of said articles of association shall be authorized by the consent in writing of shareholders owning not less than two-thirds of the capital stock of the association; and the board of directors shall cause such consent to be certified under the seal of the association, by its president or cashier, to the Comptroller of the Currency, accompanied by an application made by the president or cashier for the approval of the amended articles of association by the Comptroller; and such amended articles of association shall not be valid until the Comptroller shall give to such association a certificate under his hand and seal that the association has complied with all the provisions required to be complied with and is authorized to have succession for the extended period named in the amended articles of association.

133. SPECIAL EXAMINATION OF BANK. (SEC. 3.) That upon the receipt of the application and certificate of the association provided for in the preceding section, the Comptroller of the Currency shall cause a special examination to be made, at the expense of the association, to determine its condition; and if after such examination or otherwise it appears to him that said association is in a satisfactory condition, he shall grant his certificate of approval provided for in the preceding section, or if it appears that the condition of said association is not satisfactory, he shall withhold such certificate of approval.

134. STATUS NOT CHANGED BY EXTENSION. (SEC. 4.) That any association so extending the period of its succession shall continue to enjoy all the rights and privileges and immunities granted and shall continue to be subject to all the duties, liabilities, and restrictions imposed by the Revised Statutes of the United States and other acts having reference to national banking associations, and it shall continue to be in all respects the identical association it was before the extension of its period of succession.

135. DISSENTING SHAREHOLDERS MAY WITHDRAW. (SEC. 5.) That when any national banking association has amended its articles of association as provided in this act, and the Comptroller has granted his certificate of approval, any shareholder not assenting to such amendment may give notice in writing to the directors, within thirty days from the date of the certificate of approval, of his desire to withdraw from said association, in which case he shall be entitled to receive from said banking association the value of the shares so held by him, to be ascertained by an appraisal made by a committee of three persons, one to be selected by such shareholder, one by the directors, and the third by the first two; and in case the value so fixed shall not be satisfactory to any such shareholder, he may appeal to the Comptroller of the Currency, who shall cause a reappraisal to be made, which shall be final and binding; and if said reappraisal shall exceed the value fixed by said committee, the bank shall pay the expenses of said reappraisal, and otherwise the appellant shall pay said expenses; and the value so ascertained and determined shall be deemed to be a debt due, and be forthwith paid, to said shareholder, from said bank; and the shares so surrendered and appraised shall, after due notice, be sold at public sale, within thirty days after the final appraisal provided in this section: Provided, That in the organization of any banking association intended to replace any existing banking association, and retaining the name thereof, the holders of stock in the expiring association shall be entitled to preference in the allotment of the shares of the new association in proportion to the number of shares held by them respectively in the expiring association.

136. TWO-THIRDS VOTE REQUIRED FOR LIQUIDATION. (SEC. 5220.)

Any association may go into liquidation and be closed by the vote of its shareholders owning two-thirds of its stock.

137. NOTICE OF VOLUNTARY LIQUIDATION. (SEC. 5221.) Whenever a vote is taken to go into liquidation it shall be the duty of the board of directors to cause notice of this fact to be certified, under the seal of the association, by its president or cashier, to the Comptroller of the Currency, and the publication thereof to be made for a period of two months in a newspaper published in the city of New York, and also in a newspaper published in the city or town in which the association is located, or if no newspaper is there published, then in the newspaper published nearest thereto, that the association is closing up its affairs, and notifying the holders of its notes and other creditors to present the notes and other claims against the association for payment.

138. DEPOSIT OF LAWFUL MONEY. (SEC. 5222.) Within six months from the date of the vote to go into liquidation the association shall deposit with the Treasurer of the United States lawful money of the United States sufficient to redeem all its outstanding circulation. The Treasurer shall execute duplicate receipts for money thus deposited, and deliver one to the association and the other to the Comptroller of the Currency, stating the amount received by him, and the purpose for which it has been received; and the money shall be paid into the Treasury of the United States, and placed to the credit of such association upon redemption account.

139. NO DEPOSIT REQUIRED FOR CONSOLIDATION. (SEC. 5223.) An association which is in good faith winding up its business for the purpose of consolidating with another association shall not be required to deposit lawful money for its outstanding circulation; but its assets and liabilities shall be reported by the association with which it is in process of consolidation.

140. BONDS OF LIQUIDATING BANKS. (SEC. 5224.) Whenever a sufficient deposit of lawful money to redeem the outstanding circulation of an association proposing to close its business has been made, the bonds deposited by the association to secure payment of its notes shall be reassigned to it, in the manner prescribed by section fifty-one hundred and sixty-two. And thereafter the association and its shareholders shall stand discharged from all liabilities upon the circulating notes, and those notes shall be redeemed at the Treasury of the United States. And if any such bank shall fail to make the deposit and take up its bonds for thirty days after the expiration of the time specified, the Comptroller of the Currency shall have power to sell the bonds pledged for the circulation of said bank at public auction in New York City, and, after providing for the redemption and cancellation of said circulation, and the necessary expenses of the sale, to pay over any balance remaining to the bank or its legal representatives.

141. BANKS WHOSE EXISTENCE HAS EXPIRED.—Sec. 7 of the act of July 12, 1882, provides that national banking associations whose corporate existence has expired or shall hereafter expire, and which do not avail themselves of the provisions of this act, shall be required to comply with the provisions of sections fifty-two hundred and twenty-one and fifty-two hundred and twenty-two of the Revised Statutes in the same manner as if the shareholders had voted to go into liquidation, as provided in section fifty-two hundred and twenty of the Revised Statutes; and the provisions of sections fifty-two hundred and twenty-four and fifty-two hundred and twenty-five of the Revised Statutes shall also be applicable to such associations, except as modified by this act; and the franchise of such associations is hereby extended for the sole purpose of liquidating their affairs until such affairs are finally closed.

142. PROTEST OF BANK CIRCULATION. (SEC. 5226.) Whenever any national banking association fails to redeem in the lawful money of the United States any of its circulating notes, upon demand of payment duly made during the usual hours of business, at the office of such association, the holder may cause the same to be protested, in one package by a notary public, unless the president or cashier of the association whose notes are presented for payment offers to waive demand and notice of the protest, and, in pursuance of such offer, makes, signs, and delivers to the party making such demand an admission in writing, stating the time of the demand, the amount demanded, and the fact of the nonpayment thereof. The notary public, on making such protest, or upon receiving such admission, shall forthwith forward such admission or notice of protest to the Comptroller of the Currency, retaining a copy thereof. If, however, satisfactory proof is produced to the notary public that the payment of the notes demanded is restrained by order of any court of competent jurisdiction, he shall not protest the same. When the holder of any notes causes more than one note or package to be protested on the same day, he shall not receive pay for more than one protest.

143. BONDS FORFEITED IF CIRCULATION IS DISHONORED. (SEC. 5227.) On receiving notice that any national banking association has failed to redeem any of its circulating notes, as specified in the preceding section, the Comptroller of the Currency, with the concurrence of the Secretary of the Treasury, may appoint a special agent, of whose appointment immediate notice shall be given to such association, who shall immediately proceed to ascertain whether it has refused to pay its circulating notes in the lawful money of the United States, when demanded, and shall report to the Comptroller the fact so ascertained. If from such protest, and the report so made, the Comptroller is satisfied that such association has refused to pay its circulating notes and is in default, he shall, within thirty days after he has received notice of such failure, declare the bonds deposited by such association forfeited to the United States, and they shall thereupon be so forfeited.

144. BANK MAY ENJOIN FURTHER PROCEEDINGS. (SEC. 5237.) Whenever an association against which proceedings have been instituted, on account of any alleged refusal to redeem its circulating notes as aforesaid, denies having failed to do so, it may, at any time within ten days after it has been notified of the appointment of an agent, as provided in section fifty-two hundred and twenty-seven, apply to the nearest circuit, or district, or Territorial court of the United States to enjoin further proceedings in the premises; and such court, after citing the Comptroller of the Currency to show cause why further proceedings should not be enjoined, and after the decision of the court or finding of the jury that such association has not refused to redeem its circulating notes, when legally presented, in the lawful money of the United States, shall make an order enjoining the Comptroller, and any receiver acting under his direction, from all further proceedings on account of such alleged refusal.

145. WHERE PROCEEDINGS MUST BE BROUGHT. (SEC. 736.) All proceedings by any national banking association to enjoin the Comptroller of the Currency, under the provisions of any law relating to national banking associations, shall be had in the district where such association is located.

146. SUSPENSION OF BUSINESS AFTER DEFAULT. (SEC. 5228.) After a default on the part of an association to pay any of its circulating notes has been ascertained by the Comptroller, and notice thereof has been given by him to the association, it shall not be lawful for the association suffering the same to pay out any of its notes, discount any notes or bills, or otherwise prosecute the business of banking, except to receive and safely keep money belonging to it, and to deliver special deposits.

147. NOTICE TO PRESENT CIRCULATION FOR REDEMPTION. (SEC. 5229.) Immediately upon declaring the bonds of an association forfeited for nonpayment of its notes, the Comptroller shall give notice, in such manner as the Secretary of the Treasury shall, by general rules or otherwise direct, to the holders of the circulating notes of such association, to present them for payment at the Treasury of the United States; and the same shall be paid as presented in lawful money of the United States; whereupon the Comptroller may, in his discretion, cancel an amount of bonds pledged by such association equal at current market rates, not exceeding par, to the notes paid.

148. BONDS SOLD AT PUBLIC AUCTION. (SEC. 5230.) Whenever the Comptroller has become satisfied, by the protest or the waiver and admission specified in section fifty-two hundred and twenty-six, or by the report provided for in section fifty-two hundred and twenty-seven, that any association has refused to pay its circulating notes, he may, instead of canceling its bonds, cause so much of them as may be necessary to redeem its outstanding notes to be sold at public auction in the city of New York, after giving thirty days' notice of such sale to the association.

149. FIRST LIEN FOR REDEEMING CIRCULATION. (SEC. 5230.) For any deficiency in the proceeds of all the bonds of an association, when thus sold, to reimburse to the United States the amount expended in paying the circulating notes of the association, the United States shall have a paramount lien upon all its assets; and such deficiency shall be made good out of such assets in preference to any and all other claims whatsoever, except the necessary costs and expenses of administering the same.

150. BONDS SOLD AT PRIVATE SALE. (SEC. 5231.) The Comptroller may, if he deems it for the interest of the United States, sell at private sale any of the bonds of an association shown to have made default in paying its notes, and receive therefor either money or the circulating notes of the association. But no such bonds shall be sold by private sale for less than par, nor for less than the market value thereof at the time of sale; and no sales of any such bonds, either public or private, shall be complete until the transfer of the bonds shall have been made with the formalities prescribed by sections fifty-one hundred and sixty-two, fifty-one hundred and sixty-three, and fifty-one hundred and sixty-four.

151. APPOINTMENT AND DUTIES OF RECEIVER. (SEC. 5234.) On becoming satisfied, as specified in sections fifty-two hundred and twenty-six and fifty-two hundred and twenty-seven, that any association has refused to pay its circulating notes as therein mentioned, and is in default, the Comptroller of the Currency may forthwith appoint a receiver, and require of him such bond and security as he deems proper. Such receiver, under the direction of the Comptroller, shall take possession of the books, records, and assets of every description of such association, collect all debts, dues, and claims belonging to it, and, upon the order of a court of record of competent jurisdiction, may sell or compound all bad or doubtful debts, and, on a like order, may sell all the real and personal property of such association, on such terms as the court shall direct; and may, if necessary to pay the debts of such association, enforce the individual liability of the stockholders. Such receiver shall pay over all money so made to the Treasurer of the United States, subject to the order of the Comptroller, and also make report to the Comptroller of all his acts and proceedings.

152. WHEN RECEIVER MAY BE APPOINTED.—Sec. 1 of the act of June 30, 1876, provides that whenever any national banking association shall be dissolved, and its rights, privileges, and franchises declared forfeited, as prescribed in section fifty-two hundred and thirty-nine of the Revised Statutes of the United States, or whenever any creditor of any national banking association shall have obtained a judgment against it in any court of record, and made application, accompanied by a certificate from the clerk of the court stating that such judgment has been rendered and has remained unpaid for the space of thirty days, or whenever the Comptroller shall become satisfied of the insolvency of the national banking association, he may, after due examination of its affairs, in either case, appoint a receiver, who shall proceed to close up such association, and enforce the personal liability of the shareholders, as provided in section fifty-two hundred and thirty-four of said statutes.

A receiver may also be appointed, under the provisions of section fifty-two hundred and thirty-four of the Revised Statutes of the United States, for the following violations of law:

Where the capital stock of a national bank has not been fully paid in and it is thus reduced below the legal minimum and remains so for thirty days. (Sec. 5144, R. S.)

For failure to make good the lawful money reserve within thirty days after notice. (Sec. 5191, R. S.)

Where a bank purchases or acquires its own stock, other than to prevent loss upon a debt previously contracted in good faith, and the same is not sold or disposed of within six months from the time of its purchase. (Sec. 5201, R. S.)

Where an association fails to make good any impairment in its capital stock and refuses to go into liquidation within three months after receiving notice. (Sec. 5205, R. S.)

The act of any officer, clerk, or agent of any association in violation of the provisions relating to the false certification of checks shall subject such bank to the appointment of a receiver. (Sec. 5208, R. S.)

153. NOTICE TO CREDITORS OF INSOLVENT BANKS. (SEC. 5235.) The Comptroller shall, upon appointing a receiver, cause notice to be given, by advertisement in such newspapers as he may direct, for three consecutive months, calling on all persons who may have claims against such association to present the same and to make legal proof thereof.

154. DISTRIBUTION OF ASSETS OF INSOLVENT BANKS. (SEC. 5236.) From time to time, after full provision has been first made for refunding to the United States any deficiency in redeeming the notes of such association, the Comptroller shall make a ratable dividend of the money so paid over to him by such receiver on all such claims as may have been proved to his satisfaction or adjudicated in a court of competent jurisdiction, and, as the proceeds of the assets of such association are paid over to him, shall make further dividends on all claims previously proved or adjudicated; and the remainder of the proceeds, if any, shall be paid over to the shareholders of such association, or their legal representatives, in proportion to the stock by them respectively held.

155. EXPENSES OF RECEIVERSHIP—HOW PAID. (SEC. 5238.) All fees for protesting the notes issued by any national banking association shall be paid by the person procuring the protest to be made, and such association shall be liable therefor; but no part of the bonds deposited by such association shall be applied to the payment of such fees. All expenses of any preliminary or other examinations into the condition of any association shall be paid by such association. All expenses of any receivership shall be paid out of the assets of such association before distribution of the proceeds thereof.

156. FORFEITURE OF CHARTER. (SEC. 5239.) If the directors of any national banking association shall knowingly violate, or knowingly permit any of the officers, agents, or servants of the association to violate, any of the provisions of this Title, all the rights, privileges, and franchises of the association shall be thereby forfeited. Such violation shall, however, be determined and adjudged by a proper circuit, district, or Territorial court of the United States, in a suit brought for that purpose by the Comptroller of the Currency, in his own name, before the association shall be declared dissolved.

157. INDIVIDUAL LIABILITY OF DIRECTORS. (SEC. 5239.) And in cases of such violation every director who participated in or assented to the same shall be held liable in his personal and individual capacity for all damages which the association, its shareholders, or any other person shall have sustained in consequence of such violation.

158. RECEIVER MAY PURCHASE PROPERTY TO PROTECT HIS TRUST.—The act of March 29, 1886, provides: (SEC. 1.) That whenever the receiver of any national bank duly appointed by the Comptroller of the Currency, and who shall have duly qualified and entered upon the discharge of his trust, shall find it in his opinion necessary, in order to fully protect and benefit his said trust, to the extent of any and all equities that such trust may have in any property, real or personal, by reason of any bond, mortgage, assignment, or other proper legal claim attaching thereto, and which said property is to be sold under any execution, decree of foreclosure, or proper order of any court of jurisdiction, he may certify the facts in the case, together with his opinion as to the value of the property to be sold and the value of the equity his said trust may have in the same, to the Comptroller of the Currency, together with a request for the right and authority to use and employ so much of the money of said trust as may be necessary to purchase such property at such sale.

SEC. 2. That such request, if approved by the Comptroller of the Currency, shall be, together with the certificate of facts in the case and his recommendation as to the amount of money which in his judgment should be so used and employed, submitted to the Secretary of the Treasury, and if the same shall likewise be approved by him the request shall be by the Comptroller of the Currency allowed, and notice thereof, with copies of the request, certificate of facts, and indorsement of approvals, shall be filed with the Treasurer of the United States.

SEC. 3. That whenever any such request shall be allowed as hereinbefore provided, the said Comptroller of the Currency shall be, and is, empowered to draw upon and from such funds of any such trust as may be deposited with the Treasurer of the United States for the benefit of the bank in interest to the amount as may be recommended and allowed and for the purpose for which such allowance was made: Provided, however, That all payments to be made for or on account of the purchase of any such property and under any such allowance shall be made by the Comptroller of the Currency direct, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, for such purpose only and in such manner as he may determine and order.

159. TAXES ON INSOLVENT NATIONAL BANKS REMITTED.—The act of March 1, 1879, provides that whenever and after any bank has ceased to do business by reason of insolvency or bankruptcy no tax shall be assessed or collected, or paid into the Treasury of the United States, on account of such bank, which shall diminish the assets thereof necessary for the full payment of all its depositors; and such tax shall be abated from such national banks as are found by the Comptroller of the Currency to be insolvent; and the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, when the facts shall so appear to him, is authorized to remit so much of said tax against insolvent State and savings banks as shall be found to affect the claims of their depositors.

160. APPOINTMENT AND QUALIFICATION OF SHAREHOLDERS' AGENT.—Sec. 3 of the act of June 30, 1876, as amended by act of August 3, 1892, provides that whenever any association shall have been or shall be placed in the hands of a receiver, as provided in section fifty-two hundred and thirty-four and other sections of the Revised Statutes of the United States, and when, as provided in section fifty-two hundred and thirty-six thereof, the Comptroller of the Currency shall have paid to each and every creditor of such association, not including shareholders, who are creditors of such association, whose claim or claims as such creditor shall have been proved or allowed as therein prescribed, the full amount of such claims, and all expenses of the receivership and the redemption of the circulating notes of such association shall have been provided for by depositing lawful money of the United States with the Treasurer of the United States, the Comptroller of the Currency shall call a meeting of the shareholders of such association by giving notice thereof for thirty days in a newspaper published in the town, city, or county where the business of such association was carried on, or if no newspaper is there published, in the newspaper published nearest thereto. At such meeting the shareholders shall determine whether the receiver shall be continued and shall wind up the affairs of such association, or whether an agent shall be elected for that purpose, and in so determining the said shareholders shall vote by ballot in person or by proxy, each share of stock entitling the holder to one vote, and the majority of the stock in value and number of shares shall be necessary to determine whether the said receiver shall be continued or whether an agent shall be elected. In case such majority shall determine that the said receiver shall be continued, the said receiver shall thereupon proceed with the execution of his trust and shall sell, dispose of, or otherwise collect the assets of the said association and shall possess all the powers and authority, and be subject to all the duties and liabilities originally conferred or imposed upon him by his appointment as such receiver, so far as the same remain applicable. In case the said meeting shall by the vote of a majority of the stock in value and number of shares determine that an agent shall be elected, the said meeting shall thereupon proceed to elect an agent, voting by ballot, in person or by proxy, each share of stock entitling the holder to one vote, and the person who shall receive votes representing at least a majority of stock in value and number shall be declared the agent for the purposes hereinafter provided, and whenever any of the shareholders of the association shall, after the election of such agent, have executed and filed a bond to the satisfaction of the Comptroller of the Currency, conditioned for the payment and discharge in full of each and every claim that may thereafter be proved and allowed by and before a competent court, and for the faithful performance of all and singular the duties of such trust, the Comptroller and the receiver shall thereupon transfer and deliver to such agent all the undivided or uncollected or other assets of such association then remaining in the hands or subject to the order and control of said Comptroller and said receiver, or either of them; and for this purpose said Comptroller and said receiver are hereby severally empowered and directed to execute any deed, assignment, transfer, or other instrument in writing that may be necessary and proper, and upon the execution and delivery of such instrument to the said agent the said Comptroller and the said receiver shall by virtue of this act be discharged from any and all liabilities to such association, and to each and all the creditors and shareholders thereof.

161. DUTIES OF SHAREHOLDERS' AGENT.—Sec. 3 of the act of June 30, 1876, as amended by act of August 3, 1892, provides: Upon receiving such deed, assignment, transfer, or other instrument, the person elected such agent shall hold, control, and dispose of the assets and property of such association which he may receive under the terms hereof, for the benefit of the shareholders of such association, and he may in his own name, or in the name of such association, sue and be sued, and do all other lawful acts and things necessary to finally settle and distribute the assets and property in his hands, and may sell, compromise, or compound the debts due to such association, with the consent and approval of the circuit or district court of the United States for the district where the business of such association was carried on, and shall at the conclusion of his trust render to such district or circuit court a full account of all his proceedings, receipts, and expenditures as such agent, which court shall, upon due notice, settle and adjust such accounts and discharge said agent and the sureties upon said bond. At such meeting, held as hereinbefore provided, administrators or executors of deceased shareholders may act and sign as the decedent might have done if living, and guardians of minors and trustees of other persons may so act and sign for their ward or wards or cestui que trust. The proceeds of the assets or property of any such association which may be undistributed at the time of such meeting or may be subsequently received shall be distributed as follows:

“First. To pay the expenses of the execution of the trust to the date of such payment.

“Second. To repay any amount or amounts which have been paid in by any shareholder or shareholders of such association upon and by reason of any and all assessments made upon the stock of such association by the order of the Comptroller of the Currency in accordance with the provisions of the statutes of the United States; and “Third. The balance ratably among such stockholders in proportion to the number of shares held and owned by each. Such distribution shall be made, from time to time, as the proceeds shall be received and as shall be deemed advisable by the said Comptroller or said agent.”

162. ILLEGAL PREFERENCE OF CREDITORS. (SEC. 5242.) All transfers of the notes, bonds, bills of exchange, or other evidences of debt owing to any national banking association, or of deposits to its credit; all assignments of mortgages, sureties on real estate, or of judgments or decrees in its favor; all deposits of money, bullion, or other valuable thing for its use, or for the use of any of its shareholders or creditors; and all payments of money to either, made after the commission of an act of insolvency, or in contemplation thereof, made with a view to prevent the application of its assets in the manner prescribed by this chapter, or with a view to the preference of one creditor to another, except in payment of its circulating notes, shall be utterly null and void. No attachment, injunction, or execution shall be issued against such association or its property before final judgment in any suit, action, or proceeding in any State, county, or municipal court.

163. CREDITOR'S BILL AGAINST SHAREHOLDERS.—Sec. 2 of the act of June 30, 1876, provides that when any national banking association shall have gone into liquidation under the provisions of section five thousand two hundred and twenty of said statutes, the individual liability of the shareholders provided for by section fifty-one hundred and fifty-one of said statutes may be enforced by any creditor of such association, by bill in equity in the nature of a creditor's bill, brought by such creditor on behalf of himself and of all other creditors of the association, against the shareholders thereof, in any court of the United States having original jurisdiction in equity for the district in which such association may have been located or established.

Every officer who violates this section shall be deemed guilty of a high misdemeanor, and shall be fined not more than double the amount so countersigned and delivered, and imprisoned not less than one year and not more than fifteen years.

165. PENALTY FOR PLEDGING UNITED STATES NOTES OR BANK CIRCULATION. (SEC. 5207.) No association shall hereafter offer or receive United States notes or national-bank notes as security or as collateral security for any loan of money, or for a consideration agree to withhold the same from use, or offer or receive the custody or promise of custody of such notes as security, or as collateral security, or consideration for any loan of money. Any association offending against the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined not more than one thousand dollars and a further sum equal to one-third of the money so loaned. The officer or officers of any association who shall make any such loan shall be liable for a further sum equal to one-quarter of the money loaned; and any fine or penalty incurred by a violation of this section shall be recoverable for the benefit of the party bringing such suit. Sec. 12 of the act of July 12, 1882, provides that the provisions of this section shall apply to the United States certificates of gold and silver coin.

It shall not be lawful to design, engrave, print, or in any manner make or execute, or to utter, issue, distribute, circulate, or use any business or professional card, notice, placard, circular, handbill, or advertisement in the likeness or similitude of any circulating note or other obligation or security of any banking association organized or acting under the laws of the United States which has been or may be issued under this Title, or any act of Congress, or to write, print, or otherwise impress upon any such note, obligation, or security any business or professional card, notice, or advertisement, or any notice or advertisement of any matter or thing whatever. Every person who violates this section shall be liable to a penalty of one hundred dollars, recoverable one-half to the use of the informer.

167. PENALTY FOR MUTILATING CIRCULATION. (SEC. 5189.) Every person who mutilates, cuts, defaces, disfigures, or perforates with holes, or unites or cements together, or does any other thing to any bank bill, draft, note, or other evidence of debt, issued by any national banking association, or who causes or procures the same to be done, with intent to render such bank bill, draft, note, or other evidence of debt unfit to be reissued by said association, shall be liable to a penalty of fifty dollars, recoverable by the association.

168. PENALTY FOR COUNTERFEITING CIRCULATION. (SEC. 5415.) Every person who falsely makes, forges, or counterfeits, or causes or procures to be made, forged, or counterfeited, or willingly aids or assists in falsely making, forging, or counterfeiting, any note in imitation of, or purporting to be in imitation of, the circulating notes issued by any banking association now or hereafter authorized and acting under the laws of the United States; or who passes, utters, or publishes, or attempts to pass, utter, or publish, any false, forged, or counterfeited note purporting to be issued by any such association doing a banking business, knowing the same to be falsely made, forged, or counterfeited, or who falsely alters, or causes or procures to be falsely altered, or willingly aids or assists in falsely altering any such circulating notes, or passes, utters, or publishes, or attempts to pass, utter, or publish as true, any

169. WHAT ARE OBLIGATIONS OF THE UNITED STATES. (SEC. 5413.) The words "obligation or other security of the United States" shall be held to mean all bonds, certificates of indebtedness, national-bank currency, coupons, United States notes, Treasury notes, fractional notes, certificates of deposit, bills, checks, or drafts for money drawn by or upon authorized officers of the United States, stamps and other representatives of value, of whatever denomination, which have been or may [be] issued under any act of Congress.

170. PENALTY FOR ILLEGAL POSSESSION OR USE OF MATERIAL FOR CIRCULATION. (SEC. 5430.) Every person having control, custody, or possession of any plate, or any part thereof, from which has been printed, or which may be prepared by direction of the Secretary of the Treasury for the purpose of printing, any obligation or other security of the United States, who uses such plate, or knowingly suffers the same to be used for the purpose of printing any such or similar obligation, or other security, or any part thereof, except as may be printed for the use of the United States by order of the proper officer thereof; and every person who engraves, or causes or procures to be engraved, or assists in engraving, any plate in the likeness of any plate designed for the printing of such obligation or other security, or who sells any such plate, or who brings into the United States from any foreign place any such plate, except under the direction of the Secretary of the Treasury or other proper officer, or with any other intent, in either case, than that such plate be used for the printing of the obligations or other securities of the United States; or who has in his control, custody, or possession any metallic plate engraved after the similitude of any plate from which any such obligation or other security has been printed, with intent to use such plate, or suffer the same to be used in forging or counterfeiting any such obligation or other security, or any part thereof; or who has in his possession or custody, except under authority from the Secretary of the Treasury or other proper officer, any obligation or other security, engraved and printed after the similitude of any obligation or other security issued under the authority of the United States, with intent to sell or otherwise use the same; and every person who prints, photographs, or in any other manner makes or executes, or causes to be printed, photographed, made, or executed, or aids in printing, photographing, making, or executing any engraving, photograph, print, or impression in the likeness of any such obligation or other security, or any part thereof, or who sells any such engraving, photograph, print, or impression, except to the United States, or who brings into the United States from any foreign place any such engraving, photograph, print, or impression, except by direction of some proper officer of the United States, or who has or retains in his control or possession, after a distinctive paper has been adopted by the Secretary of the Treasury for the obligations and other securities of the United States, any similar paper adapted to the making of any such obligation or other security, except under the authority of the Secretary of the Treasury or some other proper officer of the United States, shall be punished by a fine of not more than five thousand dollars, or by imprisonment at hard labor not more than fifteen years, or by both.

And all laws and parts of laws of the United States inconsistent with this proviso be, and the same are hereby, repealed. The provisions of this section shall not be held to affect the jurisdiction of the courts of the United States in cases commenced by the United States or by direction of any officer thereof, or cases for winding up the affairs of any such bank.

181. SEALED CERTIFICATES OF COMPTROLLER ARE COMPETENT EVIDENCE. (SEC. 884.) 219. PROVISIONS FOR AMENDMENT. (SEC. 34.) That Congress may at any time alter, amend, or repeal this act, but any such amendment or repeal shall not, nor shall the dissolution of any company formed under this act, take away or impair any remedy given against such corporation, its stockholders or officers, for any liability or penalty which shall have been previously incurred: Provided, That the courts of the District of Columbia shall not have power to appoint any trustee, trustees, guardians, receivers, or other trustee of a fund or property located outside of the District of Columbia, or belonging to a corporation or person having a legal residence or location outside of said District.

|------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------|
| 220. Designation and duties of public depositaries. | 223. Penalty for misapplication of money-order funds. |
| 221. Deposit and withdrawal of public moneys. | 224. Penalty for unauthorized deposit of public money. |
| 222. Provisions for deposits by certain postmasters. | 225. Penalty for unauthorized receipt or use of public money. |

220. DESIGNATION AND DUTIES OF PUBLIC DEPOSITARIES. (SEC. 5153.) All national banking associations, designated for that purpose by the Secretary of the Treasury, shall be depositaries of public money, except receipts from customs, under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary; and they may also be employed as financial agents of the Government; and they shall perform all such reasonable duties, as depositaries of public moneys and financial agents of the Government, as may be required of them. The Secretary of the Treasury shall require the associations thus designated to give satisfactory security, by the deposit of United States bonds and otherwise, for the safe-keeping and prompt payment of the public money deposited with them, and for the faithful performance of their duties as financial agents of the Government. And every association so designated as receiver or depositary of the public money shall take and receive at par all of the national currency bills, by whatever association issued, which have been paid into the Government for internal revenue, or for loans or stocks.

221. DEPOSIT AND WITHDRAWAL OF PUBLIC MONEYS. (SEC. 3620.) It shall be the duty of every disbursing officer having any public money intrusted to him for disbursement to deposit the same with the Treasurer or some one of the assistant treasurers of the United States, and to draw for the same only as it may be required for payments to be made by him in pursuance of law; and draw from the same only in favor of the persons to whom payment is made, and all transfers from the Treasurer of the United States to a disbursing officer shall be by draft or warrant on the Treasurer or an assistant treasurer of the United States. In places, however, where there is no Treasurer or assistant treasurer, the Secretary of the Treasury may, when he deems it essential to the public interest, specially authorize in writing the deposit of such public money in any other public depository, or, in writing, authorize the same to be kept in any other manner and under such rules and regulations as he may deem most safe and effectual to facilitate the payments to public creditors.

222. PROVISIONS FOR DEPOSITS BY CERTAIN POSTMASTERS. (SEC. 3847.) Any postmaster, having public money belonging to the Government, at an office within a county where there are no designated depositaries, treasurers of mints, or Treasurer or assistant treasurers of the United States, may deposit the same, at his own risk and in his official capacity, in any national bank in the town, city, or county where the said postmaster resides; but no authority or permission is or shall be given for the demand or receipt by the postmaster, or any other person, of interest, directly or indirectly, on any deposit made as herein described; and every postmaster who makes any such deposit shall report quarterly to the Postmaster-General the name of the bank where such deposits have been made, and also state the amount which may stand at the time to his credit.

223. PENALTY FOR MISAPPLICATION OF MONEY-ORDER FUNDS. (SEC. 4046.) Every postmaster, assistant, clerk, or other person employed in or connected with the business or operations of any money-order office who converts to his own use, in any way whatever, or loans, or deposits in any bank, except as authorized by this Title, or exchanges for other funds, any portion of the money-order funds, shall be deemed guilty of embezzlement, and any such person, as well as every other person advising or participating therein, shall, for every such offense, be imprisoned for not less than six months nor more than ten years, and be fined in a sum equal to the amount embezzled; and any failure to pay over or produce any money-order funds intrusted to such person shall be taken to be prima facie evidence of embezzlement; and upon the trial of any indictment against any person for such embezzlement it shall be prima facie evidence of a balance against him to produce a transcript from the money-order account books of the Sixth Auditor. But nothing herein contained shall be construed to prohibit any postmaster depositing, under the direction of the Postmaster-General, in a national bank designated by the Secretary of the Treasury for that purpose, to his own credit as postmaster, any money-order or other funds in his charge, nor prevent his negotiating drafts or other evidences of debt through such bank, or through United States disbursing officer, or otherwise, when instructed or required to do so by the Postmaster-General for the purpose of remitting surplus money-order funds from one post-office to another, to be used in payment of money orders. Disbursing officers of the United States shall issue, under regulations to be prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury, duplicates of lost checks drawn by them in favor of any postmaster on account of money-order or other public funds received by them from some other postmaster.

224. PENALTY FOR UNAUTHORIZED DEPOSIT OF PUBLIC MONEY. (SEC. 5488.) Every disbursing officer of the United States who deposits any public money intrusted to him in any place or in any manner, except as authorized by law, or converts to his own use in any way whatever, or loans with or without interest, or for any purpose not prescribed by law withdraws from the Treasurer or any assistant treasurer, or any authorized depository, or for any purpose not prescribed by law transfers or applies any portion of the public money intrusted to him, is, in every such act, deemed guilty of an embezzlement of the money so deposited, converted, loaned, withdrawn, transferred, or applied; and shall be punished by imprisonment with hard labor for a term not less than one year nor more than ten years, or by a fine of not more than the amount embezzled or less than one thousand dollars, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

225. PENALTY FOR UNAUTHORIZED RECEIPT OR USE OF PUBLIC MONEY. (SEC. 5497.) Every banker, broker, or other person not an authorized depository of public moneys, who knowingly receives from any disbursing officer, or collector of internal revenue, or other agent of the United States, any public money on deposit, or by way of loan or accommodation, with or without interest, or otherwise than in payment of a debt against the United States, or who uses, transfers, converts, appropriates, or applies any portion of the public money for any purpose not prescribed by law, and every president, cashier, teller, director, or other officer of any bank or banking association, who violates any of the provisions of this section, is guilty of an act of embezzlement of the public money so deposited, loaned, transferred, used, converted, appropriated, or applied, and shall be punished as prescribed in section fifty-four hundred and eighty-eight.

That nothing in this act contained shall be so construed as in any manner to release the said bank from any liability or affect any action or proceeding in law in which the said bank may be a party or interested. And when such change shall have been determined upon, as aforesaid, notice thereof, and of such change, shall be published in two weekly papers in the city of Annapolis not less than four weeks.

SEC. 3. That whenever the location of said bank shall have been changed from the city of Annapolis to the city of Baltimore, in accordance with the first section of this act, its name shall be changed to The Traders' National Bank of Baltimore, if the board of directors of said bank shall accept the new name by resolution of the board, and cause a copy of such resolution, duly authenticated, to be filed with the Comptroller of the Currency.

SEC. 4. That all the debts, demands, liabilities, rights, privileges, and powers of The First National Bank of Annapolis shall devolve upon The Traders' National Bank of Baltimore whenever such change of name is effected.

SEC. 5. That this act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

ABATEMENT:

1. An action brought by the creditor of a national bank is abated by a decree of a district or circuit court dissolving the corporation and forfeiting its franchises. First National Bank of Selma v. Colby, 21 Wall., 609.
2. A creditor's bill was filed against a national bank before the passage of the act of Congress of June 30, 1876 (19 St. at L., 63), and a receiver was appointed, who took possession of the property of the bank. An amended bill was filed in the cause, after the passage of that act, to secure the benefits of the act, to which all the stockholders were made parties. Subsequently the Comptroller of the Currency appointed a receiver to wind up the affairs of the bank, and this suit was brought by him against one of the stockholders. Held, on demurrer to a plea in abatement, which set forth these facts, that the defendant is entitled to judgment on the ground that as the stockholder's liability can be completely enforced in the suit in equity, the general rule applies that a debtor shall not be vexed by two suits in the same jurisdiction for the same cause of action. Harvey, Receiver, etc., v. Lord, 10 Fed. Rep., 236.

ACCOMMODATION PAPER:

1. A national banking association can not guarantee the paper of a customer for his accommodation. Seligman v. Charlottesville National Bank, 3 Hughes, 647.
2. The accommodation paper of a national banking association is void in the hands of one who takes it with knowledge of its character. Johnson v. Charlottesville National Bank, 3 Hughes, 657.
3. A national bank can not become an accommodation indorser. National Bank of Commerce v. Atkinson, 55 Fed. Rep., 465.
4. A private corporation can not defend an action on its accommodation note on the ground of ultra vires, as against a bona fide holder. Florence Railroad and Improvement Company v. Chase National Bank (Ala.), 17 So., 720.
5. As against a holder for value, a maker of an accommodation note can defend only on the ground of actual payment. Philler v. Patterson (Pa. Sup.), 32 A., 26.
6. A director and stockholder of a national bank gave an accommodation note to the bank's president, on the latter's request and representation that the note was to be put in the hands of his personal creditor as security, and on condition that no money should be drawn on the note, and that the note should not be put in the bank. Without the knowledge of the maker, he being aged and infirm of sight, the note was made payable to the bank and placed therein, and a certificate of deposit for the amount thereof issued to the president, and by him deposited with his creditor, who held the same until the bank's failure. Held, that the maker was liable on the note to the bank's receiver. Linn County National Bank v. Crawford (C. C.), 69 Fed. Rep., 532.

ACTIONS: See Jurisdiction.

A. Solvent banks—

1. A national banking association is a foreign corporation within the meaning of a State statute requiring corporations created by the laws of any other State or country to give security for costs before prosecuting a suit in the courts of the State. National Park Bank v. Gunst, 1 Abb. N. C., 292.
2. As a national banking association can acquire no title to negotiable paper purchased by it, it can maintain no action thereon in a State where the person suing must be owner of the paper. First National Bank of Rochester v. Pierson, 24 Minn., 140.
3. A stockholder in a national bank can not maintain an action at law against the officers and directors thereof to recover damages for willful waste of the assets whereby the value of his shares was decreased and he became liable to an assessment thereon. His remedy must be sought in equity. Hirsh v. Jones et al., 56 Fed. Rep., 137.
4. The provision of the banking law, section 5198, Rev. St., which requires that actions brought against national banking associations in State courts shall be brought in the county or city in which the association is located, applies only to transitory actions. It was not intended to apply to actions local in their character. Casey v. Adams, 102 U. S., 66.
5. Under section 57 of act of 1864, suits may be brought by, as well as against, any association. Kennedy v. Gibson, 8 Wall., 498.
6. Actions local in their nature may be maintained in the proper State court in a county or city other than that where it is established. Casey v. Adams, 102 U. S., 66.
7. A national bank may be sued in any State, county, or municipal court in county or city where located. Bank of Bethel v. Pahquioque Bank, 14 Wall., 333.
8. Under the original act respecting national banks, and before the act of June 30, 1876, a court of equity had jurisdiction of suit to prevent or redress maladministration or fraud against creditors, in voluntary liquidation of such bank, whether contemplated or executed; and such suit by one creditor must be for all. Richmond v. Irons, 121 U. S., 27.

B. Insolvent banks—

9. Suit may be brought against a national banking association though it is in the hands of a receiver. Bank of Bethel v. Pahquioque Bank, 14 Wall., 333; Security National Bank v. National Bank of the Commonwealth, 2 Hun., 287; Green v. The Wallkill National Bank, 7 Hun., 63.
10. A shareholder of a national banking association can not maintain an action against the directors to recover damages sustained for neglect and mismanagement of the affairs of the association whereby it became insolvent and its stock was rendered worthless. Such an action can be brought only by the corporation itself. Conway v. Halsey, 15 Vroom., 462; Howe v. Barney, 45 Fed. Rep., 668.

12. And when the receiver is a director and one of the parties charged with misconduct and against whom a remedy is sought, the action may be brought by a shareholder on behalf of himself and the other shareholders. Brinckerhoff v. Bostwick, 88 N. Y., 52.
13. A receiver may sue either in his own name or the name of the bank. National Bank v. Kennedy, 17 Wall., 19.
14. Suits and proceedings under the act in which the United States or their officers or agents are parties, whether commenced before or after the appointment of a receiver, are to be conducted by the district attorney, under the direction of the Solicitor of the Treasury. Bank of Bethel v. Pakquoque Bank, 14 Wall., 383.
15. But section 380, Rev. St., is directory merely, and the employment of private counsel by the receiver can not be made a ground of defense to a suit brought by him. Ib.
16. Receivers may sue in the courts of the United States by virtue of the act, without reference to the locality of their personal citizenship. Ib.
17. The provisions of the codes that every action must be brought in the name of the real party in interest, except in the case of the trustee of an express trust or of a person authorized by a statute to sue, does not apply to the receiver of a national banking association suing in a Federal court held in a State which has adopted the code procedure; for the right of the receiver to sue is derived from the national banking law. Staunton v. Wilkeson, 8 Ben., 357.
18. Under section 1001, Rev. St., no bond for the prosecution of the suit, or to answer in damages or costs, is required on writs of error or appeals issuing from or brought to the Supreme Court of the United States by direction of the Comptroller of the Currency in suits by or against insolvent national banking associations or the receivers thereof. Pacific National Bank v. Mixer, 114 U. S., 463.
19. The State statute of limitations applies to a suit brought by the receiver of a national bank against a shareholder to recover an assessment upon his stock to pay the debts of the bank. Butler v. Poole, 44 Fed. Rep., 586.
20. Whether a suit against a director for negligent performance of his duties, as required by the statutes of the United States and the by-laws of the association, will survive against the executor or administrator depends upon State laws. Witters v. Foster, 26 Fed. Rep., 737.
21. Such action is not prescribed by the limitation of one year in Louisiana. Case v. Bank, 100 U. S., 446.
22. On a bill filed by receiver against stockholders under section 50, where bank fails to pay its notes, action by Comptroller must precede institution of suit by receiver, and be set forth therein. Kennedy v. Gibson, 8 Wall., 498.
23. Creditors of the bank are not proper parties to such bill. Ib.
24. A compromise of a suit by the receiver of a national bank and counsel for the United States will not be opened after a delay of seven years, no fraud being shown. Henderson v. Myers, 11 Phila., 616; 3 N. B. C., 759.
25. An action may be brought against a national bank, notwithstanding a receiver of it has been appointed. Security Bank of New York v. National Bank of the Commonwealth, 4 Thompson & Cook, 513; 1 N. B. C., 774. Green v. The Wallkill National Bank, 7 Hun., 63; 1 N. B. C., 736.

AGENT OF SHAREHOLDERS:

1. The Federal courts have the same jurisdiction of suits by and against the "agents" of national banks appointed under the national banking acts of Congress, when the "receivers" of an insolvent bank have been displaced by such "agents," as they have of suits by and against the "receivers" of such banks, each being in the same sense officers of the United States, and each representing in precisely the same relation the bank in its corporate capacity; and this jurisdiction attaches without regard to any diversity of citizenship of the parties or the amounts involved. McConville v. Gilmour et al., 36 Fed. Rep., 277.
2. When the receiver of an insolvent national bank has been displaced by an "agent" appointed under the acts of Congress in that behalf, it is proper practice to substitute, upon motion, the "agent" as the plaintiff on the record in place of the "receiver" in a suit already commenced by the latter. Ib.

ASSESSMENT: See Insolvent banks; Receiver; Shareholders; Transfer of stock.

1. Where national banking association is insolvent, order of Comptroller of Currency, declaring to what extent the individual liability of stockholders shall be enforced, is conclusive. Kennedy v. Gibson, 8 Wall., 498; Casey v. Galli, 94 U. S., 673; National Bank v. Case, 99 U. S., 628.
2. Payments of assessments by stockholder in national bank on increased stock can not be applied, in law or in equity, to discharge assessments by Comptroller in final liquidation of the bank. Pacific National Bank v. Eaton, 141 U. S., 227; Thayer v. Butler, Ib., 234; Butler v. Eaton, Ib., 240.
3. The assessments made by the Comptroller upon the shareholders of an insolvent association bear interest from the date of the order. Casey v. Galli, 94 U. S., 673.
4. Where shareholders have assessed themselves to the amount of the par value of the stock for the purpose of restoring impaired capital, the contributions made in pursuance of such assessment, though all used in paying the debts of the association, will not so operate as to discharge the shareholders from their individual liability. Delano v. Butler, 118 U. S., 634.
5. Where a married woman is by the State law capable of holding stock in a national bank in her own right she is liable to an assessment upon her shares, though the law of the State does not authorize married women to bind themselves by contracts for the payment of money. The law annexes her obligations by its own force; no act or capacity to act on her part is required. Witters v. Sowles, 32 Fed. Rep., 767; 35 Fed. Rep., 640.
6. Married women who are permitted by the laws of the State in which they reside to become shareholders in national banks are liable to assessments under the national banking laws. In re First National Bank of St. Albans, 49 Fed. Rep., 120.
7. The coverture of a married woman who is a shareholder in a national bank does not prevent the receiver of the bank from recovering judgment against her for the amount of an assessment levied upon the shareholders equally and ratably under the statute. Keyser v. Hitz, 133 U. S., 138.
8. It is not essential, in an action to enforce the individual liability of the shareholders of an insolvent national banking association, to aver and prove that the assessment was necessary, for the decision of the Comptroller on this point is conclusive. Strong v. Southworth, 8 Ben., 331; Kennedy v. Gibson, 8 Wall., 498; Casey v. Galli, 94 U. S., 673.
9. And the fact that the title to the stock of a deceased shareholder vests in his administrator does not relieve the estate from the burden of an assessment. Davis v. Weed, 44 Conn., 569.
10. Nor will the fact that the administration is complete, and all the assets have been distributed, defeat an action brought to recover the assessment. Ib.
11. The question whether there is a deficiency of assets, and when it is necessary to enforce the individual liability of shareholders, is for the Comptroller to determine; and his decision in this matter is final and conclusive. Kennedy v. Gibson, 8 Wall., 498; National Bank v. Case, 99 U. S., 628; Casey v. Galli, 94 U. S., 673.
12. The amount contributed by each shareholder should bear the same proportion to the whole amount of the deficit as his own stock bears to the whole amount of the capital stock at its par value. And the solvent shareholders can not be made to contribute more than their proportion to make good the deficiency caused by the insolvency of other shareholders. United States v. Knox, 102 U. S., 422.
13. Where, to discharge liabilities of an insolvent bank, Comptroller assessed against shareholders a sufficient per cent on par value of stock held by each, some being insolvent, he can not provide for deficiency by new assessment. Ib.
14. The estate of a deceased owner of national-bank stock is liable (Rev. St., sec. 5152) to an assessment levied against his executors in consequence of the failure of the bank after his death. Wickham v. Hull et al., 60 Fed. Rep., 326.
15. An action was brought against the executors of an estate to establish its liability for an assessment on certain shares of national-bank stock. The estate was at the time in possession of an Iowa probate court for purposes of administration, for which reason the Federal court could not enforce the liability, if adjudged to exist. Defendant set up the limitations contained in the Iowa statute (Code, sec. 2421) regulating the settlement of estates: Held, That the Federal court would not pass upon the question whether this provision debarred complainant from sharing in the estate, for, as the claim established in the Federal court must be presented for allowance in the probate proceedings, the better practice was to remit the question to the probate court. Ib.

16. Where a national bank issues certificates of its shares to a subsequent purchaser in lieu of the certificates of the prior owner, without observing its by-law in regard to a transfer on its books, so far as creditors of the bank are concerned a party taking and holding such shares of stock will be subject to the liabilities imposed by section 5151 of the national banking law. Laing v. Burley, 101 Ill., 591; 3 N. B. C., 369.
17. One to whom stock has been transferred in pledge or as collateral security for money loaned, and who appears on the books of the corporation as the owner of the stock, is liable as a stockholder for the benefit of creditors. Where the owner, holder, or pledgee of stock transfers it out and out for the purpose of escaping liability as a shareholder to one who is unable to meet such liability, or when the transfer is colorable and not absolute, the transfer is ineffective as to creditors, and the transferor will be still liable. Therefore, when the G. bank loaned money and took as collateral therefor shares of stock in the C. bank, which were duly transferred in the books of the C. bank, and afterward the G. bank transferred these shares to one of its clerks with an understanding that he should re-transfer on request, and the C. bank was then in failing condition. Held, that the G. bank was liable to contribute as a stockholder to the debts of the C. bank. Germania National Bank of New Orleans, v. Case, Receiver, 99 U. S., 628; 2 N. B. C., 25.
18. A letter addressed to the receiver, and signed by the Comptroller of the Currency, directing him to institute legal proceedings to enforce the individual liability of every stockholder, under the statute, is sufficient evidence that the Comptroller decided, before the suit, that it was necessary to enforce the personal liability of the stockholders. Bowden v. Johnson, 107 U. S., 251; 3 N. B. C., 55.
19. The liability of the stockholders bears interest from the date of said letter. Ib.
20. Under the national banking act the individual liability of the stockholder survives as against the personal representatives of a deceased stockholder. Richmond v. Irons, 121 U. S., 27; 3 N. B. C., 211.
21. A stockholder sold certain stock several months before the insolvency of the bank, but the transfer was not made on the books till the date of the bank's failure. Held, that the stockholder incurred the statutory liability. Ib.
22. Fifty shares of the stock of a national bank were transferred to F. on the books of the bank October 29. A certificate therefor was made out, but not delivered to him. He knew nothing of the transfer, and did not authorize it to be made. On October 30 he was appointed a director and vice-president. On November 21 he was authorized to act as cashier. He acted as vice-president and cashier from that day. On December 12 he bought and paid for 20 other shares. On January 2 following, while the bank was insolvent, a dividend on its stock was fraudulently made, and $1,750 therefor placed to the credit of F. on its books. He, learning on that day of the transfer of the 50 shares, ordered D., the president of the bank, who had directed the transfer of the 50 shares, to re-transfer it, and gave to D. his check to the order of D. individually for $1,250 of the $1,750. The bank failed January 22. In a suit by the receiver of the bank against F. to recover the amount of an assessment of 100 per cent by the Comptroller of the Currency in enforcement of the individual liability of the shareholders, and to recover the $1,750, Held, first, in view of provisions of sections 5146, 5147, and 5210, Rev. St., it must be presumed conclusively that F. knew, from November 21, that the books showed he held 50 shares; second, F. did not get rid of his liability for $1,250 by giving to D. his check for that sum in favor of D. individually. Finn v. Brown, 142 U. S., 56.
23. In winding up an insolvent national bank, the Comptroller of the Currency is vested with authority to determine when a deficiency of assets exists, so that the individual liability of the stockholders may be enforced, and no appeal lies from his decision. Bailey v. Sawyer, 1 N. B. C., 356; 4 Dill., 463.
24. The liability of a stockholder of a national bank is several, and is fixed by his taking stock in the corporation. Ib.
25. When an assessment upon the stockholders is ordered by the Comptroller, a suit at law is the proper remedy to enforce it. Ib.
26. A trustee holding shares in a national bank can not avail himself of his exemption from personal liability for debts of the bank, unless his trusteeship appears on the books of the bank. Davis v. Essex Baptist Society, 44 Conn., 582; 2 N. B. C., 110.

27. With a bequest of money a religious society purchased, and held in its own name, shares in a national bank. The society had other donations otherwise invested. Held, that the society was not a trustee, but an ordinary stockholder, and liable to assessment for debts of the insolvent bank. Ib.
28. One who procures a transfer to himself, on the books of a national bank, of stock in such bank, becomes liable for the engagements of the bank as prescribed in the national bank act, although such stock was pledged to him by the owner simply as security for a debt. Moore v. Jones, 3 Woods, 53; 2 N. B. C., 144.
29. One in whose name shares of the stock of a national bank stand on the bank books is subject to the individual liability of a shareholder, although his holding of the stock was originally as collateral security for a loan, and the loan has been repaid and the stock certificate surrendered with an executed power of attorney for transfer. Bowdell v. Farmers and Merchants' National Bank of Baltimore, 14 Bankers' Magazine, 387; 2 N. B. C., 146.
30. The determination of the Comptroller as to the necessity of an assessment on stockholders of an insolvent national bank for the payment of debts is conclusive, and in a suit to enforce such an assessment the necessity need not be alleged. Strong, Receiver, v. Southworth, 8 Ben., 331; 2 N. B. C., 172.
31. S. bought shares in a national bank and caused them to be transferred to E., who was in his employ, S. remaining the real owner. Held, that S. was liable as stockholder upon the failure of the bank. Davis, Receiver, v. Stevens, 20 Alb. L. J., 490; 2 N. B. C., 158.
32. In an action by the receiver of a national bank to enforce the liability of a shareholder, it appeared that the date of the defendant's subscription to the stock was prior to May, 1866, when the receiver was appointed; that the Comptroller of the Currency decided on the 28th of June, 1876, that the enforcement of this liability to its full extent was necessary, and instructed the receiver accordingly, and that this action was thereupon brought. Held, that although such decision and order of the Comptroller were necessary preliminaries to a suit against the shareholder, yet, having been delayed without sufficient apparent reason for more than six years from the date of the subscription, the statute of limitations was a bar to the action, the State courts having decided that an act necessarily preliminary to the commencement of a suit upon a contract must be done within six years, unless sufficient reason for the delay is shown. Price, Receiver, v. Yates, 19 Alb. L. J., 295; 2 N. B. C., 204.
33. Actions by the receiver of a national bank against stockholders for assessments on the stock are subject to State statutes of limitation. Butler v. Poole, 44 Fed. Rep., 586.
34. A court has no power, under sec. 5324, U. S. Rev. St., to order the receiver of a national bank to compound debts which are not "bad or doubtful;" and a composition under such an order of debts not "bad or doubtful," as the debt of a shareholder arising on his subscription to the stock, is ineffectual. Ib.
- . A stockholder of an insolvent national bank, who happens also to be one of its creditors, can not cancel or diminish the assessment to which the provisions of sec. 5151, Rev. St., make him liable by offsetting his individual claim against it. Hobart, Receiver, etc., v. Gould, 8 Fed. Rep., 57.
36. Section 5151, Rev. St., among other things, provides that the shareholders of every national banking association shall be held individually responsible for all contracts, etc., to the extent of the amount of their stock therein, at the par value thereof, in addition to the amount invested in such shares. Held, that upon the insolvency of such a bank a shareholder who happens to be one of its creditors can not cancel or diminish the assessment, to which the provisions of this section make him liable, by offsetting his individual claim against it. Ib.
37. The liability which shareholders in national banks incur under section 12 of the act of 1864, which provides for a liability "to the extent of the amount of their stock therein, at the par value thereof, in addition to the amount invested in such shares," is that of principals, not of sureties. Hobart, Receiver, etc., v. Johnson, 8 Fed. Rep., 493.
38. Such a liability is not one on a "promise to pay the debt, or answer for the default or liability, of any other person," within the meaning of the proviso to section 5 of the Revised Statutes of New Jersey of 1874, p. 469. Ib.
39. On the principle of estoppel, one can not take advantage of certain statutory provisions without incurring thereby the attendant liabilities. Ib.

40. Under sec. 5151, Rev. St., owners of stock in a national bank are liable for its debts, and persons who hold themselves out or allow themselves to be held out as owners of stock are also liable, whether they own stock or not. Case, Receiver, v. Small et al., 10 Fed. Rep., 722.
41. A married woman who owns stock in a national bank is not exempt on account of her coverture from the liability imposed by the national currency acts upon all stockholders in such banks. Anderson v. Line, 14 Fed. Rep., 405.
42. After a national bank has become insolvent and has closed its doors for business, its shareholders' liability to creditors is so far fixed that any transfer of their shares must be held fraudulent and inoperative as against the creditors of the bank. Irons et al. v. Manufacturers' National Bank of Chicago et al., 17 Fed. Rep., 308.
43. The Pacific National Bank of Boston was organized in October, 1877, with a capital of $250,000, with the right to increase it to $1,000,000. In November, 1879, its capital was raised to $500,000; September 13, 1881, the directors voted to increase the capital to $1,000,000. On November 18, 1881, the bank suspended. On December 13, 1881, the directors voted that as $38,700 of the increase of capital stock had not been paid in the capital be fixed at $961,300, and the Comptroller of Currency was notified to that effect, and he notified the bank, under Rev. St., sec. 5205, to pay a deficiency on its capital stock by an assessment of 100 per cent. At the annual meeting the assessment was voted, and on March 18, 1881, with consent of the Comptroller and the approval of the directors and the examiner, the bank resumed business, and continued until May 20, 1881, when it again suspended and was put in the hands of a receiver. Prior to May 20, 1882, $742,800 of the voluntary assessment had been paid in. Complainant was the owner of twenty-five shares of stock on September 13, 1881, and after the vote to increase the stock took twenty-five shares, for which he paid $2,500 on October 1, 1881, and received a certificate. He voted for the assessment at the annual meeting, and in February, 1882, paid the assessment on the old and new stock, and subsequently sought to enjoin the suit at law against him by the receiver to enforce his individual liability as a stockholder, under Rev. St., sec. 5151, on the ground that the increase of capital was illegal and void, and that the voluntary assessment, under Rev. St., sec. 5205, relieved the stockholders of individual liability. Held, that he was not entitled to relief, and the bill should be dismissed. Morrison v. Price, Receiver, 23 Fed. Rep., 217.
44. A discharge in bankruptcy releases a shareholder of a national bank from his statutory individual liability to creditors of the bank where, at the time of his discharge, the claims of such creditors were provable, not merely contingent. Irons et al. v. Manufacturers' National Bank et al., 27 Fed. Rep., 591.
45. When bank stock was sold, but not transferred on the books of the bank, and the bank afterwards failed, the executors of the person in whose name the stock stood on the books were held liable for assessment, although said stock had been paid for by a purchaser buying at the request of the president of the bank, who gave him a cashier's check for that purpose, placing the money so furnished to the credit of said purchaser on the books of the bank as a temporary loan, the intention being ultimately to transfer said shares to a third party as part of a larger proposed investment in stock, for which funds had been placed in the hands of the president of the bank. Price, Receiver, v. Whitney et al., 28 Fed. Rep., 297.
46. Defendant subscribed for new stock in the reorganization of a bank, and received a certificate on the basis of a total subscription of $500,000. The actual increase was $461,300. He protested against the same, and refused to vote on the stock, but retained his certificate until the bank went into the hands of a receiver several months later: Held, That he was liable to the receiver on his subscription, and it was too late to claim that the increase as to him was invalid. Butler, Receiver, v. Aspinwall, 33 Fed. Rep., 217.
47. A pledgee of shares of stock in a national bank, who does not appear by the books of the bank or otherwise to be the owner, is not liable for an assessment upon the shares on the insolvency of the bank, under Rev. St., sec. 5151, rendering shareholders liable for the debts of the association to the extent of the par value of their stock. Welles v. Larrabee et al., 36 Fed. Rep., 366.

49. In an action by the receiver of an insolvent national bank to recover of a stockholder an assessment on his shares, the defendant alleged as a counterclaim that the Comptroller of the Currency had directed the bank to restore the value of certain securities held by it which had been reported worthless by an examiner; that certain of the stockholders, including defendant, had raised a fund which was placed in the hands of trustees to apply so much as might be from time to time required by the Comptroller to retire such securities; that the fund was deposited with the bank with full notice of the purpose to which it was to be applied; that a portion had been used to retire the securities designated, and that when the bank failed the balance of the fund came into the hands of the receiver, and was now claimed by him as a part of the ordinary assets of the bank; that a certain portion of this balance belonged to defendant, which amount he asked to set off against plaintiff's demand: Held, That a general demurrer based on the ground that no set-off or counterclaim was available in such an action would be overruled, as the claim could be set off if it was of such a nature that the holder would be entitled to receive the full amount before distribution by the receiver to general creditors. Welles v. Stout, 33 Fed. Rep., 807.
50. Where a shareholder of a national bank makes a bona fide sale of his stock and goes with the purchaser to the bank, indorses the certificate, and delivers it to the cashier of the bank with directions to make the transfer on the books, he has done all that is incumbent upon him to discharge his liability, and he is not liable, though the cashier failed to make the transfer, upon the subsequent suspension of the bank for an assessment made by the Comptroller of the Currency, under Rev. St., sec. 5151, to pay the bank's debts. Hayes v. Shoemaker, 39 Fed. Rep., 319.
51. Defendant, for the purpose of helping a bank, of which complainant was a stockholder, in a financial crisis, loaned it certain securities belonging to complainant, and when complainant was informed of the fact she did not object. She was assured by the bank's officers that if the bank was saved the securities would be returned, and if it failed the avails would be credited on her assessment as a stockholder. The bank failed, and the securities were not returned: Held, That she was not entitled, as against other creditors, to set off the value of the securities against her assessment, but was, as to such value, on the same footing as any other creditor. Sowles v. Witters et al., 39 Fed. Rep., 403.
52. One who subscribes and pays for a specified number of shares of a "proposed increase" of the capital stock of a national bank, which increase is in fact never issued, and to whom the bank officials transfer, instead, old stock of the bank without his knowledge or consent, is not a "shareholder" within the meaning of Rev. St., sec. 5151, imposing individual liability on the shareholders for the debts of national banks. Stephens v. Follett et al., 43 Fed. Rep., 822.
53. The fact that the subscriber for the new shares received a dividend on the old shares so transferred to him does not estop him from denying his liability as a shareholder, where such dividend was received in the belief that it was paid to him by virtue of his subscription to the new stock. Ib.
54. A person who becomes a stockholder in a national bank thereby submits himself to the provisions of the national-bank act, and becomes liable to be assessed to the extent of his statutory liability for all debts of the bank existing while he holds his stock. Young v. Wempe et al., 46 Fed. Rep., 354.
55. In an action by the receiver of a national bank to enforce an assessment under Rev. St., sec. 5151, against one credited on the transfer books as a stockholder, it appeared that nearly a year before the failure he had sold his stock to a broker for an undisclosed principal; that he indorsed the same, and requested the broker to inform the cashier of the transaction, and to have the stock transferred; that the broker accordingly handed the stock to the cashier, gave him the necessary information, and requested him to make the transfer. This the cashier promised to do, but in fact the transfer was never made. The certificate recited that it was transferable on the books of the company "by indorsement hereon and surrender of this certificate:" Held, That in requesting the cashier to make the transfer the broker acted as the seller's agent, and that the latter did all that was required of him as a prudent business man, and could not be held liable as a stockholder. Young v. McKay, 50 Fed. Rep., 594.

56. A Federal court will not, even if it has the power under Rev. St., sec. 5234, grant an order authorizing a receiver of a national bank to compound the statutory liability of certain stockholders by accepting payment of a gross sum, less than is due, in satisfaction and discharge thereof, although more money would thus be realized than by proceedings to collect the same in the usual way, when it appears probable that such stockholders have fraudulently conveyed their property to avoid their legal obligations as stockholders, or to shield themselves from injury and exposure by litigation. In re Certain Shareholders of the California National Bank of San Diego, 53 Fed. Rep., 38.
57. A person who is entered on the books of a national bank as the owner of stock, but who is admitted to hold the stock in trust for the true owner, is not liable as a stockholder for the debts of the bank, when the true owner has been adjudged so liable, although nothing is realized upon the execution of such judgment. Yardley v. Wilgus, 56 Fed. Rep., 965.
58. When the full personal liability of shareholders is to be enforced the action must be at law. Kennedy v. Gibson, 8 Wall., 498; Casey v. Galli, 94 U. S., 673.
59. And it may be at law, though the assessment is not for the full value of the shares; for, since the sum each shareholder must contribute is a certain exact sum, there is no necessity for invoking the aid of a court of equity. Bailey v. Sawyer, 4 Dill., 463; 1 N. B. C., 356.
60. But the suit may be in equity. Kennedy v. Gibson, 8 Wall., 498.
61. It is no objection to a bill against stockholders within the jurisdiction of the court that other stockholders, not within such jurisdiction, are not codefendants. Ib.; Case v. Bank, 100 U. S., 446.
62. But a pledgee of shares of stock in a national bank who in good faith and with no fraudulent intent takes the security for his benefit in the name of an irresponsible trustee for the avowed purpose of avoiding individual liability as a shareholder, and who exercises none of the powers or rights of a stockholder, incurs no liability as such to creditors of the bank in case of its failure. Anderson, Receiver, v. Warehouse Company, 111 U. S., 479.
63. The individual liability of the shareholders of an insolvent association may be enforced for the purpose of paying all of its liabilities, and not merely for the purpose of paying its "debts," technically so called. Stanton v. Wilkeson, 8 Ben., 357.
64. The individual liability of the stockholders must be restricted in its meaning to such contracts, debts, and engagements of the association as have been duly contracted in the ordinary course of its business. And, therefore, creditors of an association who make settlements after the association is put into liquidation and receive from the president payment of their claims in paper of the association, or of the individual notes of the president himself, indorsed or guaranteed in the name of the association, are not to be considered as creditors of the association entitled to subject the stockholders to individual liability; for these are new contracts. Richmond v. Irons, 121 U. S., 27.
65. The individual liability of the stockholders is enforceable only in behalf of all the creditors, and any security given by a stockholder for his liability in this respect should likewise be for the benefit of all the creditors. Accordingly, a mortgage of all the individual property of a stockholder, made after the bank has closed its doors, for the purpose of securing a single depositor, is void as against a judgment obtained against such stockholder in an action by the receiver to recover the amount of his individual liability. Gatch v. Fitch, 34 Fed. Rep., 566.
66. Bill filed by receiver against transferrer and transferee to enforce such liability will lie where it is for discovery as well as relief, as the transfer would be good between the parties. Bowden v. Johnston, 107 U. S., 251.
67. A shareholder in a national bank, who is liable for its debts, is liable for interest thereon to the extent of the bank's liability, and not in excess of the maximum liability fixed by statute. Richmond v. Irons, 121 U. S., 27.
68. The creditors of an insolvent association must seek their remedy through the Comptroller, in the mode prescribed by the statute; they can not proceed directly in their own names against stockholders or the debtors of the bank. Kennedy v. Gibson, 8 Wall., 498.
69. Each shareholder of a national-banking association is individually liable for its debts to the extent of the amount of his stock at its par value, in addition to the amount invested in the shares held by him, and a receiver appointed to wind up the affairs of such an association that has become insolvent is authorized, under the direction of the Comptroller of the Currency, to enforce the liability of its stockholders, and to collect from each of them the necessary amount, up to the extent of his liability, for the payment of the creditors. King et al. v. Armstrong, Receiver; 34 N. E., 163; 50 Ohio St., 222.

70. Code N. C. sec. 1826, provides that no woman during coverture shall be capable of making any contract to effect her real and personal estate without the written consent of her husband: Held, That a purchase of stock by a married woman is not a "contract" within the terms of the statute, and that the wife is liable upon an assessment, although the stock was purchased without the written consent of her husband. Robinson v. Turrentine et al., 59 Fed. Rep., 554.
71. One in whose name stock of an insolvent national bank stood, paid an assessment thereon under a threat by the receiver to sue therefor, though he claimed that he had sold the stock. More funds were collected than were required to pay the creditors of the bank: Held, That such payment could not be recovered as having been made under a mistaken belief by the payor that the whole amount would be required to pay the creditors of the bank. Holt v. Thomas (Cal.), 38, P., 391.

1. The stock of a shareholder indebted to it may be attached by the association and sold on execution. Hagar v. Union National Bank, 63 Me., 509.
2. No State court can issue an attachment against the funds of a national bank. Although the provision forbidding attachments was evidently made to secure equality among the general creditors in the division of the proceeds of the property of an insolvent bank, its operation is by no means confined to cases of actual or contemplated insolvency; but the remedy is taken away altogether and can not be used under any circumstances. The effect of the provision in sec. 5242, Rev. St., is to write into all State attachment laws an exception in favor of national banks, and all such laws must be read as if they contained an exception in favor of national banks. Pacific National Bank v. Miater, 124 U. S., 721.
3. No attachment can issue from United States circuit court in an action against a national bank before final judgment in the cause, and a bond given on such attachment is illegal. Ib.
4. An attachment can issue against a national bank from a State court. Robinson v. National Bank of Newbern, 58 How. Pr., 306; 2 N. B. C., 309.
5. The provision of the national banking act that attachments, injunctions, etc., shall not be issued by State courts against national banks before final judgment, relates only to actions against banks where the action is brought, and not to cases where the action is against a nonresident corporation. Southwick v. The First National Bank of Memphis, 7 Hun., 96; 1 N. B. C., 789.
6. An attachment will not lie before final judgment against the property in this State of a national bank situated and doing business in another State. Rhorer v. National Bank of Allentown, Pa.; Palmer v. Same, 14 Hun., 126; 2 N. B. C., 331.

8. The provision of the national banking act prohibiting attachments in such cases is not repealed by the act of Congress of July 12, 1883, providing that the jurisdiction for suits thereafter brought against national banks shall be the same as for suits against State banks, and repealing laws inconsistent therewith. Raynor v. Pacific National Bank, 93 N. Y., 371; 3 N. B. C., 624.
9. An unrecorded transfer of national-bank stock will take precedence of a subsequent attachment in behalf of a creditor without notice. Continental National Bank v. Eliot National Bank et al., 7 Fed. Rep., 369.
10. The loss of interest occasioned by an attachment wrongfully laid is clearly an injury for which damages are recoverable against the wrongdoer. Jacobus v. Monongahela National Bank of Brownsville, 35 Fed. Rep., 395.
11. Where shares of corporation stock are attached, the subsequently declared dividends are as much bound by the attachment as the corpus of the stock itself is. Ib.
12. Counsel fees and other expenses (not taxable as costs) paid or incurred in defending against an attachment wrongfully laid are not recoverable as damages in an action upon a statutory recognizance given when the attachment was issued, conditioned for the payment to the party aggrieved of "such damages as the court may adjudge." Ib.

14. Sureties on attachment bond against national bank who have received assets of the bank to secure them from loss thereon, the obligation being illegal, will be discharged in equity and be compelled to transfer their collateral to the receiver of the bank. Pacific National Bank v. Mixer, 124 U. S., 721.
15. An attachment from a State court may not issue against an insolvent national bank of that State. National Shoe and Leather Bank of the City of New York v. Mechanics' National Bank of Newark, N. J.; Corn Exchange Bank v. Same; West Side Bank v. Same; 89 N. Y., 467; 3 N. B. C., 601.
16. An attachment issued against an insolvent national bank is invalid (U. S. R. S., sec. 5242) and is not made valid by the subsequent acquisition by the bank of further capital. Raynor v. Pacific National Bank, 93 N. Y., 371; 3 N. B. C., 624.
17. Although the bank, after the issuing of the attachment, paid a large amount of its debts in full, this does not estop it from questioning the validity of the attachment. Ib.
18. A receiver of a national bank situated in another State, though not a party, may move to vacate an attachment. People's Bank of the City of New York v. Mechanics' National Bank of Newark, 62 How. Pr., 422; 3 N. B. C., 670.
19. In an action against a national bank of another State, an attachment issued against its property in this State will be vacated upon proof of its insolvency. Ib.
20. The defendant, a national bank at Boston, Mass., on November 18, 1881, closed its doors and was put in charge of a Government bank examiner, and thus continued till March 14, 1882, when the Comptroller allowed it to resume. It transacted business till May 22, 1882, when it was placed in the hands of a receiver. An attachment was issued in this action November 19, 1881, against defendant's property in this State. At that time its assets would have paid its debts and liabilities exclusive of its capital, but it had refused to pay various legal obligations then due: Held, That defendant had committed acts of insolvency within U. S. Rev. St., sec. 5242, and the attachment should be vacated. Market National Bank of New York v. Pacific National Bank of Boston, 30 Hun., 50; 3 N. B. C., 672.
21. Bank property attached by individual creditor after bank is insolvent can not be sold to pay his demand against the claim of a receiver subsequently appointed. National Bank v. Colby, 21 Wall., 609.
22. Where service is made on a national bank only by attachment and publication or service out of the State, the attachment, being prohibited by Rev. St., sec. 5242, should be vacated and the service set aside. Garner v. Second National Bank (C. C.), 66 F., 369.

BONDS OF OFFICERS:

1. It is not necessary that national banking associations shall signify their approval of the official bonds of their officers by memoranda entered upon the journals or minutes of the directors. The acceptance is to be presumed from the retention of the bond, and from the fact that the officer is permitted to enter upon or continue in the discharge of his duties. Graves v. The Lebanon National Bank, 10 Bush., 23.
2. Where the sureties of an officer can reasonably be presumed to have been deceived by the statement of the condition of the bank published just prior to the execution of the bond, and to have been led to think that there was no deficit, whereas there had been a misapplication of a large part of the funds by the officer whose bondsmen they became, which fact would have been ascertained had the directors exercised ordinary diligence, the sureties are discharged from their liability. Ib.
3. A surety on the bond of a cashier of a national bank is not discharged by the fact that the cashier had, before the bond was given, committed frauds upon the bank, if such frauds were unknown to the officers of the bank, although they were guilty of gross negligence in not discovering them. Tapley v. Martin, 116 Mass., 275; 1 N. B. C., 611.
4. The engagement of a surety is a direct original agreement with the obligee that in the event his principal fails he will perform the original obligation, and whether it is entered into jointly with the principal or sepa-

- rately, the extent and character of the obligation are the same as to both, depending only upon the form in which it is expressed. La Rose et al. v. The Logansport National Bank et al., 102 Ind., 332.
5. The contract of obligors, whether entered into separately or jointly with the principal, if by its terms it appears that the principal is separately bound by an original, independent contract, to which the contract for security is collateral, and the obligors agree therein that the principal will pay or perform according to his original engagement, and that they will answer for his default in the event of failure, is a contract of guaranty. Ib.
 6. The contract of the sureties in the bond of a bank cashier, conditioned for the faithful discharge of his duties by such cashier, is a contract of guaranty. Ib.
 7. A failure to give notice to guarantors of the default of their principal, except in cases governed by commercial rules, is a matter of defence, and resulting damages must concur with such failure in order to work a discharge. Ib.
 8. Where by a by-law of a bank its cashier is made responsible for the funds and valuables of the bank, it can not be implied that his bond would not become operative until all the other officers and employes were denied access to such funds and valuables, nor that he is responsible for losses which may occur through the delinquencies of others. Ib.
 9. The bond of a bank cashier, executed and approved two weeks after he enters upon his duties, is upon sufficient consideration, and is operative, at least from the date of its approval. Ib.
 10. The knowledge by an employer of the misconduct of an employe whose conduct and fidelity have been guaranteed by another, which will, if concealed, release the guarantor, must relate to the service in which the employe is engaged, and must be something more than mere moral delinquency, unconnected with the subject-matter of the guaranty. Ib.
 11. A continuing contract, guaranteeing the fidelity of a bank cashier, may be revoked by the guarantors without cause, upon proper notice, but the right must be exercised reasonably. Ib.
 12. A bond of suretyship for an employe, which is to "embrace and cover only acts and defaults committed during its currency and within twelve months next before the date of discovery of the act or default upon which such claim is based," covers not only embezzlements made during the year actually preceding their discovery, but also earlier embezzlements which would have been discovered within a year but for the fact during the year preceding the actual discovery the employe had so falsified the books as to prevent such discovery. Consolidation National Bank v. Fidelity and Casualty Company of New York (C. C.), 67 F., 874.

BOOKS, INSPECTION OF:

1. Code of Alabama, 1886, sec. 1677, which provides that stockholders of all corporations have the right to have access to and inspection and examination of the books, records, and papers of the corporation at all reasonable and proper times, applies to national banks located within the State; and mandamus will lie against the officer having custody of the books to enforce the right. Winter v. Baldwin, 7 So., 734; 89 Ala., 483.
2. The rights of stockholders are not curtailed nor the statute in conflict with U. S. Rev. St., which provide that national banks shall not be subject to visitatorial powers other than those authorized by Congress or vested in the courts of justice. Ib.
3. The officers of a national bank can not be compelled to exhibit the books of the bank to State officers for the purpose of furnishing a basis for State taxation of the deposits as against the depositors. First National Bank of Youngstown v. Hughes et al.; Second National Bank v. Do., 2 N. B. C., 176.

BRANCH BANKS:

1. A national bank located in another State can not keep an office for discount and deposit in New York, and can not maintain an action upon a note discounted at such office. National Bank of Fairhaven v. The Phoenix Warehousing Co., 6 Hun., 71; 1 N. B. C., 784.
2. Under Rev. St., sec. 5190, providing that "the usual business of each national-banking association shall be transacted at an office or banking house located in the place specified in its organization certificate," a national bank can not make a valid contract for the cashing of checks upon it at a different place from that of its residence, through the agency of another bank. Armstrong v. National Bank of Springfield, 38 Fed. Rep., 883.

BROKER:

A national banking association is not authorized to act as a broker or agent in the purchase of bonds and stocks. First National Bank of Allentown v. Hoch, 39 Penn. St., 324; Weckler v. The First National Bank of Hagerstown, 42 Md., 581.

CAPITAL STOCK: See Shareholders; Transfer of stock.

A. In general—

1. A national bank can acquire an interest in its own stock only by purchase to prevent a loss upon a debt previously contracted in good faith; and a provision in certificates of stock in such bank that they shall not be transferred until all the liabilities of the stockholder to the bank are paid is void and of no effect. Conklin v. The Second National Bank, 45 N. Y., 655; 1 N. B. C., 693.
2. Where a national bank made a loan upon the pledge of its own shares and afterwards sold the shares to obtain payment of the loan which exceeded the amount realized from the shares: Held, That the owner of the shares could not, on the ground that the statute forbids a national bank to take its own shares as security, recover from the bank the amount realized upon the sale of the shares. First National Bank of Xenia v. Stewart, 107 U. S., 676; 3 N. B. C., 96.
3. The articles of association and the by-laws of a national bank prohibited the transfer of stock owned by any stockholder indebted to the bank until such indebtedness should be satisfied: Held, That the prohibition was invalid, under section 35 of the National Banking Act, and that the bank could not thus acquire a lien on the shares of the stockholders. Bullard v. Bank, 18 Wall., 589; 1 N. B. C., 93.

B. Increase—

4. National banks have no authority to increase their capital stock except as provided by Rev. St., sec. 5142, and act of Congress May 6, 1886; and where an increase is attempted to be made without obtaining the consent of two-thirds of the stock, the payment in full of the amount of such increase, and the certificate and approval of the Comptroller of the Currency, as required by those statutes, the proceedings are invalid, and preliminary subscriptions to such increase can not be enforced. Winters v. Armstrong; Armstrong v. Stange; Same v. Wood, 37 Fed. Rep., 508.
5. Such a subscription is impliedly conditioned on the subscription of the whole amount of the proposed increase and on the compliance by the corporation with all the requirements of the statute necessary to make the increase stock valid, and in case of noncompliance with such requirements there is a failure of consideration. Ib.
6. In an action by the receiver of a national bank to enforce subscriptions to a proposed increase of its capital stock, an allegation that the bank, subsequent to defendants' subscriptions, and with their knowledge, represented to the public by means of circulars, letter heads, etc., that its capital stock had been so increased and that defendants allowed their names to remain "upon the list of those subscribing for and entitled to such new or increase of stock," but without alleging that the public gave credit to the bank on the faith that the defendants were part owners of such increase of stock, or that they allowed themselves to be held out as actual stockholders, does not show that they are estopped to plead the failure of the bank to comply with the statutory requirements in perfecting such increase. Ib.
7. The receiver stands in the shoes of the bank, and can assert no rights against the subscribers which the bank could not have asserted. Ib.
8. A subscriber who has made payments on his subscription to the proposed increase, believing that the statutory requirements would be complied with, is entitled to have the amount thereof allowed as a claim against the assets of the bank in the receiver's hands. Ib.
9. Where one subscribes for shares in the increase of the capital of a national banking association in a certain amount, such subscription being paid in full and the entry made on the stock book of the bank, he becomes a shareholder, although no stock certificate is issued. Pacific N. B. v. Eaton, 141 U. S., 227.
10. And the certificate of the Comptroller of the Currency approving the amount of increase that has been paid in, which amount includes what was paid by the dissenting subscriber, will be conclusive upon such subscriber. Ib.
11. But if such subscriber has assented to or ratified the change he will be held a shareholder. Delano v. Butler, 118 U. S., 634.

B. Increase—Continued.

12. When the previous proceedings looking to an increase in the capital stock of a national bank have been regular and all that are requisite, and a stockholder subscribes to his proportionate part of the increase and pays his subscription, the law does not attach to the subscription a condition that it is to be void if the whole increase authorized be not subscribed, although there may be cases in which equity would interfere to protect him in case of a material deficiency. Aspinwall v. Butler, 133 U. S., 595.
13. The Comptroller of the Currency has power by law to assent to an increase in the capital stock of a national bank less than that originally voted by the directors, but equal to the amount actually subscribed and paid for by the shareholders under that vote. Ib.
14. Where one subscribes for shares in an increase of capital stock of a national bank and pays for the same without waiting to see whether the whole amount of the increase is taken, he is bound by such subscription and payment, though the amount of the increase is afterwards reduced by the bank and the Comptroller of the Currency. Butler v. Eaton, 141 U. S., 240.
15. The conditions imposed by Rev. St., sec. 5142, as to the validity of increase of national-bank capital were intended to secure actual cash payment of subscriptions and to prevent watering stock, not to invalidate bona fide subscriptions actually made and paid. Aspinwall v. Butler, 133 U. S., 595.
16. Stockholder in national bank who, with knowledge of its insolvent condition and of all material facts, subscribes for increased stock to same amount as his original stock, and amount of proposed increase is afterwards reduced, can not question validity of proceedings for such increase to annul such subscription and payment. Delano v. Butler, 118 U. S., 634; Pacific National Bank v. Eaton, 141 Ib., 227; Thayer v. Butler, Ib., 234; Butler v. Eaton, Ib., 240.
17. There can be no increase of the capital of a national bank until the Comptroller of the Currency approves thereof and issues his certificate, as provided by section 13 of the act of Congress providing for the organization of national banks. Charleston v. People's National Bank, 5 South Carolina, 103; 1 N. B. C., 398.

C. Reduction—

18. A national bank, reducing its capital, can not retain, as a surplus or for any other purpose, any portion of the money which it received for retired stock, and having refused to permit shares thus retired to be transferred on its books is liable for the value of the shares to the holder. Seeley v. New York National Exchange Bank, 78 N. Y., 608; 4 Abb. New Cases, 61; 2 N. B. C., 340.
19. The capital of a national bank having become impaired by the nonpayment of the interest on some paper among its assets, to the amount of $71,000, in order to avoid an assessment by the Comptroller, the stockholders reduced its capital stock, and carried the bills and notes to the account of suspended or "bad debts," which were not thereafter included as assets, although retained in its custody. Some years afterwards the bank realized $75,000 from collaterals pledged for the security of that paper. In a suit by a stockholder to recover his share of the amount realized, proportioned to the amount of stock surrendered: Held, That he could not recover. McCann v. First National Bank of Jeffersonville, 112 Ind., 354; 3 N. B. C., 431.
20. Under Comp. Laws, secs. 3589, 4515, relating to the rescission of contracts procured through fraud, one induced to purchase bank stock by fraudulent representations as to its value may rescind the purchase and recover his notes given therefor against a holder of the notes having notice of the fraud. Taylor v. National Bank (S. D.) 62 N. W., 99.
21. The State legislature may authorize the sale, under execution, of national-bank stock. In re Braden's estate (1 a. Sup.) 30 A. 746; Appeal of Wood, Id.

CASHIER: See Officers.

CERTIFICATE OF DEPOSIT:

1. National banking associations may issue certificates of deposit. Riddle v. First National Bank, 27 Fed. Rep., 503.
2. Certificates of deposit in the ordinary form, issued by a national bank to depositors, and payable to order, are not post-notes, within the prohibition of sec. 5183, Rev. St. Ib.
3. A certificate of deposit, payable to the order of the depositor on the return of the certificate, is not due or payable until demand made and return of the certificate. Ib.

4. Certain persons, directors of a savings and of a national bank, procured money from the former on notes made by a third person to them for the payment of stock of the national bank, issued in the name of such third person for their benefit. These persons were behind in their accounts with the national bank, and the savings bank allowed them to overdraw their accounts with it to a large amount, which was used in settling their accounts with the national bank. Thereafter the savings bank delivered the notes and the check to the national bank, which issued to it a certificate of deposit for an amount covering the whole amount represented by them: Held, That this certificate of deposit was without consideration and void, and any loss accruing to the savings bank by virtue of the transactions was due to the fraud or incompetency of its own officers. Murray v. Pauly, 56 Fed. Rep., 962.
5. A certificate of deposit is evidence of so high and satisfactory a character as to the sum deposited that to escape its effect the maker must overcome it by clear and satisfactory evidence. Where the testimony, aside from the certificate, is balanced as to the amount deposited, the certificate will turn the scale. The First National Bank of Lacon v. Myers, 83 Ill., 507.
6. A certificate of deposit issued by a national bank, payable to the order of the depositor, on return of the certificate properly indorsed, and understood between the bank and the depositor not to be payable until a future day agreed upon, is not in violation of the national banking act. Hunt, appellant, 141 Mass., 515; 3 N. B. C., 474.
7. Suit against a bank upon a stolen certificate of deposit given by the defendant to the plaintiff, reciting that he had deposited in said bank a certain number of dollars, payable to his order in current funds, on the return of the certificate properly indorsed: Held, That the instrument should be regarded as the promissory note of the bank, assignable under the statute, but that it was not negotiable as an inland bill of exchange, being made payable, not in money, but "in current funds." The National State Bank of Lafayette v. Ringel, 51 Ind., 393.
8. Held, therefore, that the payee could recover on said stolen certificate without giving a bond to indemnify the bank against a subsequent claim thereunder by another person. Ib.
9. A person depositing money in a bank accepted from the cashier a certificate of deposit, which made no mention of interest, but with a verbal agreement that interest should be paid. The cashier at the same time indorsed a memorandum of the rate of interest on the stub from which the certificate was taken. Held, That the stub should be read with the certificate, as evidence of the entire contract. Thomson v. Beal, 48 Fed. Rep., 614.

CERTIFICATION OF CHECKS: See Collections.

1. A national banking association may "certify" a check. Merchants' National Bank v. State National Bank, 10 Wall., 604.
2. The certification of a check by a bank is, in effect, merely an acceptance, and creates no trust in favor of the holder of the check and gives no lien on any particular portion of the assets of the bank. People v. St. Nicholas Bank, 28 N. Y. St., 407; 58 N. Y. St., 712.
3. A certified check has a distinctive character as a species of commercial paper, the certification constituting a new contract between the holder and the certifying bank. The funds of the drawer are, in legal contemplation, withdrawn from his credit and appropriated to the payment of the check, and the bank becomes the debtor of the holder as for money had and received. National Commercial Bank v. Miller & Co., 77 Ala., 163.
4. Where the defendant has a right of election, on account of a tort committed, either to sue for the tort, or, waiving the tort, to sue for money had and received, the relation of debtor and creditor does not exist until he elects to sue for the money; and his creditors can not defeat his election by garnishment against the wrongdoer. But this principle does not apply where the garnishees, having received a check from the defendant, with authority to collect for deposit and use, have had the check certified by the bank on which it is drawn, before the service of the garnishment; being authorized to have it certified, and the relation of the parties being thereby changed, they are liable to the defendant for the amount of the check, as for money had and received, and that liability may be reached by garnishment. Ib.
5. A broker received coupon railroad mortgage bonds to cover future margins of a customer and pledged them to a bank as collateral security for any indebtedness he might owe to it. Afterward the bank advanced money and certified checks on the faith of these bonds, when broker did not have money on deposit equal in amount to the checks: Held, under sec. 5298, that although the certifications were unlawful the checks certified were good and valid obligations against the bank. Thompson v. St. Nicholas National Bank, 146 U. S., 240.

6. In an action by a bona fide holder of a check drawn on defendant, a national bank, and certified by its cashier: Held, That the defendant was liable, although the drawer had no funds in the bank when the check was certified. Cooke v. The State National Bank of Boston, 53 N. Y., 96; 1 N. B. C., 698.
7. Where a postdated check is certified by the cashier of the bank on which it is drawn to be "good," by indorsement thereon before the day of its date, the instrument, upon its very face, communicates facts and information to persons receiving the same that the cashier, in making such certification, was not acting within the known limits of his power, and that he was clearly exceeding them. The Clarke National Bank v. The Bank of Albion, impleaded, etc., 52 Barb., 592.
8. It appearing, on the face of such paper, that it was certified by the cashier before its payment could have been legally demanded, and before it could be presumed that the drawer had made a deposit for its payment, this is, in the law, full notice to a purchaser. Ib.
9. To enable a holder of such check to recover of the bank upon it, it must appear that he became the owner and holder in good faith for a full and fair consideration in the usual course of business, and without notice of the cashier's want of power to make the certification. He must have parted with something of value upon the strength and in consideration of the transfer of the paper. Ib.
10. If he parted with nothing before the check was dishonored, he stands in privacy with his immediate indorsers, and is affected by all that will affect them. Ib.
11. Crediting the indorsers with the avails of the check on the books of the holder is in no sense a paying over. The holder, upon receiving notice of dishonor, has an undoubted right to erase such credit, and to restore it only at the special instance of the indorsers from whom he received the check. Ib.
12. The receipt of a certified check is not, of itself, payment. Such a check does not cease to be commercial paper and become money. Certifying a check to be "good" is nothing more than a promise by the bank upon which it is drawn to pay it when presented, as in the case of the acceptance of a bill of exchange. If an accepted bill be protested for nonpayment, and the drawer duly notified thereof, he is bound to pay the bill, with damages and costs. The same is the law with regard to a certified check. Bickford v. First National Bank of Chicago, 42 Ill., 238.
13. As the acceptance of a bill of exchange does not discharge the drawer, so neither should the acceptance of a check, manifested by the word "good" placed upon it by the bank, discharge the drawer. They rest on the same principles. In this respect there is no difference between an uncertified and a certified check; the dishonor of either must make the drawer liable. Ib.
14. There is this difference, however, between a certified and an uncertified check: In case of the former, the amount of the check is supposed to be at once charged up against the drawer, and thus placed beyond his control, while the holder of an uncertified check may be anticipated by another, who also holds a check on which he may draw the money. The certificate is an unconditional promise on the part of the bank to pay the check on demand. The object in certifying the check is to give it a currency value and to enable the holder to use it as money. Ib.
15. Although it be the fact that certified checks pass from hand to hand as cash, still they are not cash or currency, in the legal sense of those terms, and they do not lose, on that account, any of their characteristics as bills of exchange, and therefore, when dishonored, the holder has a right to look to the drawer for payment. Ib.
16. In this case a check was drawn and certified and deposited in a bank after 10 o'clock a. m. and before 3 o'clock p. m. on a certain day, where it remained until the next morning, when it was taken, in the usual course of business, to the bank on which it was drawn. The bank was closed and continued so. The check was protested for nonpayment and due notice given. This was sufficient diligence to hold the drawer. Ib.
17. The holder of a certified check has the right to hold the drawee and acceptor, as well as the drawer. So, where the acceptor has failed and made an assignment, the holder waives none of his rights against the drawer by giving notice to the assignee of the acceptor not to pay over any money to the drawer out of assets which might come to his hands in that capacity. Ib.

18. A certificate of a bank that a check is good is equivalent to an acceptance; it implies that a check is drawn upon sufficient funds in the hands of the drawee; that they have been set apart for its satisfaction, and that they shall be so applied whenever the check is presented for payment. Merchants' National Bank v. State National Bank, 10 Wall., 604; 1 N. B. C., 47.
19. National banks have the power to certify checks, and this power may be exercised by the cashier without special authorization. The directors may limit his exercise of this power as they deem proper, but such limitation will not affect a person ignorant thereof who deals with the cashier in relation to matters apparently within the scope of his power. Ib.
20. A bank, knowing that the county treasurer of the county had not sufficient county funds in his hands to balance his official accounts, consented to give him a fictitious credit in order to enable him to impose upon the county commissioners, who were about to examine his accounts. They accordingly gave him a "cashier's check" for $16,571.61, which he indorsed and took to the commissioners. They received it, but refused to discharge him or his bondsmen, and placed the check and such funds as he had in cash in a box and delivered them to his bondsmen. The latter deposited the money and the check in another bank in the same place, which bank brought suit against the bank which issued the check to recover upon it: Held, 1, That the circumstances under which the check was issued were a plain fraud upon the law, and also upon the county commissioners; 2, that their receipt of it and turning it over to the sureties was a single act, intended to assist the sureties in protecting themselves, and was inconsistent with the idea of releasing them from their obligation. Thompson v. Sioux Falls National Bank, 150 U. S., 231.
21. Though the drawer of a check, before delivering it, has it certified, he will not be relieved from liability thereon, the bank having failed before payment thereof, though presented in due season. Randolph National Bank v. Hornblower et al., 35 N. E., 850; 160 Mass., 401.
22. Where the drawer of a check, before delivering it to the payee, has it certified as good by the bank upon which it is drawn, and the payee presents it in good season for payment, and gives due notice to the drawer of its nonpayment, and the bank had failed at the time of presentment for payment, the drawer will not be discharged from liability on the check. Cincinnati Oyster and Fish Co. v. National Lafayette Bank, 36 N. E., 833.
23. As a general rule the certification of a check in the hands of the payee, the body of which is unaltered, releases the drawer from further liability, and creates a direct liability from the bank to the payee, while as between the bank and the drawer it operates as a payment, to that extent, on his account; and although prior to its being certified the check may be countermanded by the drawer, after its certification it has passed beyond his control, and he no longer has power to countermand its payment. Meridian National Bank of Indianapolis v. First National Bank of Shelbyville, 34 N. E., 608; 7 Ind. App., 322.
24. The indorsement of a check by the person to whom it was actually issued, and by whom the drawer intended the money should be received, is an effectual indorsement to pass title to the check to a bank cashing the same; and the indorsement is not, as to such bank, invalidated by reason of the payee acting under an assumed and fictitious name, when he was not impersonating any other individual. Ib.
25. A bank cashing, in good faith, a check so drawn and indorsed may collect the amount thereof of the bank which has certified the same. Ib.
26. The acceptance or certification of a bank check does not warrant the signatures of the indorsers to be genuine. First National Bank v. Northwestern National Bank (Ill.), 38 N. E., 739.

CHECKS: See Certification of checks; Collections.

1. A check is, substantially, an inland bill of exchange, and the rules applicable to such bills are alike applicable to checks. Bickford v. First National Bank of Chicago, 42 Ill., 238.
2. The check of a depositor upon his banker, delivered to another for value, transfers to that other the title to so much of the deposit as the check calls for, which may again be transferred by delivery, and when presented at the bank the banker becomes the holder of the money to the use of the owner of the check, and is bound to account to him for that amount, provided the drawer has funds to that amount on deposit, subject to his check, at the time it is presented. These checks are received and passed and deposited with bankers as cash, subject, of course, to be made good if not paid on presentation. This is the legal effect of an ordinary uncertified check. Ib.

3. In order to fix the liability of the drawer of an inland bill of exchange or check, in case of nonpayment, the holder should present the bill or check to the person or bank on which it is drawn, within business hours of the day next succeeding the receipt of the paper, and give notice of the dishonor to the drawer. Ib.
4. In the case of a deposit of a check drawn upon itself the bank becomes at once the debtor of the depositor, and the title to the deposit passes to the bank. Oddie et al. v. The National City Bank of New York, 45 N. Y., 735.
5. Where a depositor draws his check on his banker, who has funds to an equal or greater sum than his check, it operates to transfer the sum named to the payee, who may sue for and recover the amount from the bank, and a transfer of the check carries with it the title to the amount named in the check to each successive holder. The Union National Bank v. The Oceana County Bank, 80 Ill., 212.
6. After a check has passed into the hands of a bona fide holder it is not in the power of the drawer to countermand the order of payment. Ib.
7. An instrument drawn by a depositor on a bank, in the following form, after giving the date and the name of the bank, "Pay to A and B, for account of C & Co., ten hundred and eighteen 23-100 dollars," and signed by the depositor, is a valid bank check, and will operate to transfer to the payees an amount of the drawers' funds on deposit equal to the sum named on its face. The words "for account of C & Co." do not change its character as a check. A bill or note without at all affecting its character as such may state the transaction out of which it arose, or the consideration for which it was given. The Ridgely National Bank v. Patton & Hamilton, 109 Ill., 479.
8. A bank check, payable to attorneys on account of a debt due from the drawers to the clients of the attorneys, vests the legal title in the payee named, as trustees for the clients, and a suit thereon against the bank is properly brought in the names of the payees. Ib.
9. A debtor gave his check on a bank for the amount of his indebtedness, payable to the attorneys of the creditor, which the bank refused to pay, alleging an agreement of the debtor to apply his deposits on other indebtedness. It was held that the bringing of an action by the creditor against his debtor did not estop him from bringing an action on the check in the name of his attorneys, the payees, against the bank. Ib.
10. M, who kept an account with the M and M Bank of Troy, deposited with that bank a check given for value, drawn by defendant, payable to the order of M, and indorsed by him in blank. Said bank credited the amount of the check in M's bank pass book, which was returned to him, and on the same day it mailed the check to plaintiff, its correspondent in New York, and its creditor, to be credited on account, and it was so credited. M stopped payment of the check, and when plaintiff caused payment to be demanded of the drawee, it was refused. Notice of presentation and protest was given to defendant who subsequently paid the amount to M. In an action upon the check: Held, That upon the deposit the M and M Bank became the owner of the check, and as such, could and did give a perfect title to its transferee, and that plaintiff was entitled to recover. The Metropolitan National Bank of New York v. Lloyd, 90 N. Y., 530.
11. The implied contract between a bank and its depositors is that it will pay the deposits when and in such sums as are demanded, the depositor having the election to make the whole payable at one time by demanding the whole, or in installments by demanding portions; and whenever a demand is made by presentation of a genuine check in the hands of a person entitled to receive the amount thereof for a portion of the amount on deposit, and payment is refused, a cause of action immediately arises, and the statute of limitations begins to run as against the installment so due and payable. Viets v. The Union National Bank of Troy, 101 N. Y., 563.
12. While a check drawn by a depositor against a general bank account does not operate as an assignment of so much of the account, it authorizes the payee, or one to whom he has indorsed and delivered it, to make a demand, and a refusal of the bank to pay on presentation gives the drawer a right of action, in case he has funds in bank to meet the check, and the refusal was without his authority. Ib.
13. It is not enough to make an equitable assignment of money on deposit in bank that a check be drawn therefor; but where the money was deposited as the money of the holder of the check, though in the drawer's name, and that fact is communicated to the bank before any other right has accrued to the fund, the same becomes in equity the property of the holder of the

- check, and he may recover it from the bank. Van Allen v. The American National Bank, 3 Lans., 517.
14. The holder of a check on a bank can not sue the bank for refusal to pay it on presentation, though the drawer have sufficient on deposit to meet it. Creveling et al. v. Bloomsbury National Bank, 46 N. J., 255.
 15. The implied engagement on the part of a banker to pay the checks of his depositor does not inure to the benefit of the holder of a check so as to enable him to enforce payment thereon against the bank prior to acceptance, and in the absence of assent by the banker the giving of the check does not operate as a transfer or assignment of the debt created by the making of the deposit. First National Bank of Union Mills v. Clark, 134 N. Y., 368.
 16. Where it is shown to be out of a bank's course of business to receive for collection checks drawn on it by its depositors, and a check on it, drawn by one of its depositors in favor of another, is presented by the latter and the amount thereof is credited on his pass book as a deposit, and the check is placed on the file of paid and canceled checks, and afterwards the amount of the check is also entered to his credit and charged against the drawer on the books of the bank, these facts constitute a payment of the check, and the amount of it can not be withheld by the bank on discovering that the check was an unauthorized overdraft and the drawer was insolvent. City National Bank of Selma v. Burns, 68 Ala., 600.
 17. A charge is erroneous and properly refused which affirms, as matter of law, that, if the drawer and payee of a check are customers of the bank on which it is drawn, the presentation of the check by the payee to the bank and the noting or entry of it by the bank on his pass book as a deposit do not operate as a payment of the check, and that if within a reasonable time the bank ascertains that the check is an unauthorized overdraft and offers to return it there is no liability to the depositor. Ib.
 18. In such case no presumption arises that the bank received the check merely for collection and in the capacity of agent for the holder; but a presumption of payment of the check does arise and the onus of overcoming that presumption rests upon the bank, and it can only be removed by evidence that such was not the intention of the parties, derived from the course of business with the depositor or from contemporaneous acts or declarations. Ib.
 19. If a holder of a check, with full knowledge that the drawer is without funds in the bank to meet it, and has no just reason to believe that the check will be honored in the absence of funds, he is wanting in good faith if he demands and receives payment, especially if it is known to him that the drawer is insolvent and the bank is ignorant of the insolvency. Ib.
 20. In such case, fraud being imputed to the holder of the check, knowledge of the want of funds must be clearly traced to him. It can not be inferred from the relations existing between him and the drawer, however intimate, unless connected with inculpatory facts or circumstances. Ib.
 21. A check, drawn and delivered to the person to whose order it is payable, does not, without acceptance by the drawee, operate as an assignment of the sum in his hands for which it is given. It may be revoked by the drawer at any time before acceptance, and is revoked by his death; and there being no privity, expressed or implied, between the payee and the drawee, the former can maintain no action on it against the latter. National Commercial Bank v. Miller & Co., 77 Ala., 168.
 22. When a bank receives from a customer a check on another bank for the special purpose of collection, the title does not pass by the special indorsement for that purpose, nor does the receiving bank owe the amount until the check is collected. But where the customer has a deposit account with the bankers, on which he is accustomed to deposit checks payable to himself, which are entered on his pass book, and to draw against such deposits, an indorsement of the words "For deposit" on a check so deposited "is, in the absence of a different understanding, presumptive of more than a mere agency or authority to collect," it is a request and direction to deposit the sum to the credit of the customer, and gives to the bankers authority, not only to collect, but to use the check in such manner as, in their judgment and discretion, having reference to the conditions and necessities of their business, may make it most available to their protection, and they may have it certified by the bank on which it is drawn. Ib.
 23. When checks on another bank are handed by a depositor to the receiving teller of a bank and are by the teller credited on the depositor's pass book, they are only received for collection, and if not paid on presentation may be returned and the credit in the pass book canceled. National Gold Bank and Trust Company v. McDonald, 51 Cal., 64.

24. If a customer of a bank hands the receiving teller a check drawn by another person upon the same bank and at the same time hands him his pass book, and the teller receives the check and enters a credit for the amount in the pass book, but no entry is made on the books of the bank, and nothing else is said or done, and the drawer has no funds in the bank, the check may be returned to the depositor and the credit in the pass book canceled. Ib.
25. In such case a finding by the court that the check was received as a cash deposit is erroneous. Ib.
26. The fact that the cashier of a bank upon which a check is drawn takes the check and places it upon the "canceling fork" does not constitute such an acceptance as will prevent him from declining to pay and returning the same upon learning that the drawer has not sufficient funds, or if the check is not in proper form. The National Bank of Rockville v. The Second National Bank of Lafayette, 69 Ind., 479.
27. Where the larceny of a bank check is charged, the question of its value is for the jury, and it is error to instruct them that a check drawn on a bank where the maker has funds sufficient to meet it is presumptively of some value. Burrows v. State, 37 N. E., 271.
28. The act of Congress of March 3, 1869 (Rev. St., sec. 5208), making it unlawful for national banks to certify checks unless the drawer has at the time an amount of funds on deposit equal to the amount specified in the check, does not invalidate an oral acceptance of a check, or promise to pay a check, there being at the time sufficient funds of the drawer in possession to meet it. First National Bank v. Merchants' National Bank, 7 W. Va., 544; 1 N. B. C., 915.
29. A check drawn on a national bank was presented for acceptance, whereupon the bank promised to pay it as soon as it received information that a certain draft left with it for collection was paid. The draft was paid and the bank informed. Held, That the acceptance was good and binding on the bank. Ib.
30. The refusal of the bank to pay a check upon presentation gives the drawer a right of action in case he has funds in the bank to meet the check, and the refusal to pay was without authority. Brooke v. Tradesmen's National Bank, 23 N. Y. St., 633; 63 Hun., 129.
31. The measure of damages will be the amount of actual loss the party has sustained, which may fairly and reasonably be considered as naturally arising from the breach of the contract, according to the usual course of things. Ib.
32. The ordinary amount of damages in such case would be the amount of check, interest, and costs. Ib.
33. The immediate entering of a judgment against the drawer, and the seizure of his business by the sheriff, in consequence of the failure of the bank to pay the check, is not an injury for which the bank would be liable. Ib.
34. The term "protest," as applied to inland bills of exchange, includes only the steps essential to charge the drawer and indorser. Wood River Bank v. First National Bank of Omaha, 55 N. W., 239; 36 Neb., 744.
35. Bank checks in the country are regarded as inland bills of exchange, for the purpose of presentment and demand and notice of dishonor, and do not require a formal protest in order to charge the indorsers. Ib.
36. They are also due upon presentation and not entitled to days of grace. Ib.
37. A check operates as an equitable assignment pro tanto from the time it is drawn and delivered, as between the drawer and the payee or holder. Hulings v. Hulings Lumber Company et al., 18 S. E., 620; 33 W. Va., 351.
38. A general assignment for the benefit of creditors does not defeat the check holder, although the check be not presented to the bank for payment until after such assignment. Ib.
39. In the absence of proof to the contrary it will be presumed that the name of the payee appearing in a check was written in when the check was signed. Fifth National Bank v. Central National Bank (Sup.), 31 N. Y. St., 541.
40. Evidence of a custom of passing checks payable to a person "or bearer" by delivery only does not affect the operation of Code, sec. 1761, requiring such checks to be construed as payable to a person "or order." First National Bank v. Nelson (Ala.), 16 So., 707.
41. Where a person deposits in bank money held by him in a fiduciary capacity, mixing it with his own moneys, and afterwards draws checks against his account, such checks will be applied first to the moneys belonging to the drawer; and in such case the rule that checks will be applied to the deposits in the order in which the deposits were made does not apply. Heidelberg v. National Park Bank (Sup.), 33 N. Y. St., 794.

42. Where a bank, in consequence of an error, fails to pay a depositor's check when presented, but discovers the error and pays the check five days later, the depositor can recover only nominal damages against the bank. Eurroughs v. Tradesmen's National Bank (Sup.), 33 N. Y. S., 864.
43. A tender of bank checks payable in sixty and ninety days is not a tender of payment. Cady v. Case (Wash.), 39 P., 375.
44. A check, unless objected to, is a sufficient tender. Wright v. Robinson et al., 32 N. Y. S., 463.
45. The crediting by a bank of the amount of a check to the account of a depositor indebted to it does not make the bank a bona fide holder for value of the check. First National Bank v. Nelson (Ala.), 16 So., 707.
46. The indorser of an ordinary check is released from liability thereon where the indorsee might have presented the check for payment within twenty-four hours, but sent the same by a circuitous route, so that it was not presented until five days, when payment was refused. 55 N. W. 1064, 37 Neb. 500, affirmed; First National Bank v. Miller (Neb.), 62 N. W., 193.

CIRCULATION:

1. The circulating notes of a national banking association are valid though they do not bear the imprint of the seal of the Treasury. Such imprint was intended to be simply evidence of the contract, and forms no part of the contract itself. United States v. Bennett, 17 Blatch., 357.
2. The State can not tax the circulating notes of national banking associations. Horne v. Greene, 52 Miss., 452.
3. The State, until forbidden by Congress, has the power to tax national-bank bills. Lilly v. The Board of Commissioners of Cumberland County, 69 N. C., 300.
4. The circulating notes of national banks, known as "national currency," are not exempt from taxation by a State. Board of Commissioners of Montgomery County v. Elston, 32 Ind., 27; 1 N. B. C., 425.
5. The power of a State to tax the circulation of the national banks depends upon whether such circulation is for the use of the United States Government, or for private profit. Congress can protect the circulation of those banks, by forbidding the States to tax it. Until this is done, the States have a right to tax it. Ruffin v. Board of Commissioners, 69 N. C., 498; 1 N. B. C., 806.
6. The tax of 10 per cent imposed by the act of July 13, 1866 (14 Stat. at Large 146, sec. 9), on the circulation of State banks used for currency and paid out by the national or State banks is not repugnant to the Constitution, either on the ground that the tax is a direct tax, which must be apportioned, among the several States, or that the act impairs franchises granted by the State. Yeasie Bank v. Fenno, 8 Wall., 533; 1 N. B. C., 22.
7. Congress having undertaken, in the exercise of undisputed constitutional power, to provide a currency for the whole country, may constitutionally secure the benefit of it to the people by appropriate legislation, and to that end may restrain by suitable enactments the circulation of any notes not issued under its own authority. Ib.
8. The provision of section 3413 of the national bank act, that "every national banking association, State bank or banker, or association, shall pay a tax of 10 per cent on the amount of notes of any town, city, or municipal corporation paid out by them," is constitutional, even where its effect is to tax an instrumentality of a State. Merchants' National Bank of Little Rock v. United States, 101 U. S., 1; 2 N. B. C., 100.
9. The circulating notes of national banking associations are included in the phrase "United States currency" when used in a penal statute. State v. Gasting, 23 La. Ann., 1609.

COLLATERAL SECURITIES:

1. A national banking association may take stock of a corporation as collateral security for a loan. Shoemaker v. The National Mechanics' Bank, 2 Abb. U. S., 416; 1 N. B. C., 312.
2. And it may take for such purpose the stock of another national banking association. National Bank v. Case, 99 U. S., 628.
3. A national banking association may take a pledge of personal chattels as security for a loan. Pittsburg Locomotive and Car Works v. State National Bank of Keokuk, 2 Cent. L. J., 692; 1 N. B. C., 315.
4. A national banking association may take as collateral security for a loan a warehouse receipt for merchandise. Cleveland, Brown & Co. v. Shoeman, 40 Ohio St., 176.

COLLATERAL SECURITIES—Continued.

5. Where stockholder borrows money from bank and gives as security certificate of his shares of its stock, he is not entitled to recover when, on nonpayment of loan, the bank sold his stock and applied proceeds to his credit. National Bank of Xenia v. Stewart, 107 U. S., 676.
6. Creditor of insolvent bank has the right to prove and have dividends upon his entire claim, irrespective of collateral security he may hold. Peoples v. Remington, 121 N. Y., 328.
7. A pledgee of stock in a private corporation holding the certificates as collateral security, and having had the transfer duly entered on the books of the corporation, is liable to creditors as the owner thereof on the subsequent insolvency and dissolution of the corporation; and this liability is governed by the law in force when their debts were created (Rev. Code, 1867, sec. 1760), although it had been repealed or abrogated before the stock was transferred to him. National Commercial Bank v. McDonnell, 92 Ala., 387.
8. It is the duty of a receiver, if a secured debt is so reduced by dividends that the security will more than pay it, to redeem the security for the benefit of his trust. West v. Bank of Rutland, 19 Vt., 403; Miller's Estate, 32; Penn. St., 113; Bates v. Paddock, 7 W. Rep., 222.
9. A sale of shares of stock pledged as collateral security, without notice to the pledgor, is not a conversion, when it appears that the stock was knocked down to a nominal purchaser without his knowledge or consent, and that the certificates, though changed into his name, were never delivered to him, but were retained by the pledgee until after a subsequent sale pursuant to notice. Terry v. Birmingham National Bank, 93 Ala., 599.
10. For an unauthorized sale of stock pledged as collateral security, amounting to a conversion, the pledgor is entitled to recover, as damages, the market value of the stock at the time of the sale, with interest to the day of the trial; and the jury may, in their discretion, allow the highest market value at any time between the sale and the trial. Ib.
11. This suit was brought to recover the value of certain bonds, which, it is claimed, had been left at the bank as collateral security for money which the bank might, from time to time, advance the plaintiff. The plaintiff testified that on July 1, 1868, he went to the bank to obtain a loan upon this security; that the bonds could not be found, but that he received the money. The defendant requested the court to instruct the jury that, "if the bonds were not found by the bank when the note of July 1 was offered and were not afterward found, the jury are not authorized to find that they were taken and held as collateral security for the note of July 1." Held, That this instruction was properly refused. Dearborn v. The Union National Bank of Brunswick, 61 Me., 369.
12. A bank is bound to take only ordinary care of United States bonds pledged to it as collateral security for the payment of a note discounted by the bank. Jenkins v. National Village Bank of Bowdoinham, 58 Me., 275.
13. A writing, executed by the cashier, acknowledging the receipt by the bank, "to be returned to him on the payment of his note in four months, dated May 9, 1866," is not a contract which increases the common-law liability of the bank, even if the cashier had the authority to do so. Ib.
14. Sureties taken by sureties for their indemnity, inure to the benefit of the creditor. Thornton v. National Exchange Bank, 71 Mo., 221; 3 N. B. C., 513.
15. Creditors holding collateral security are liable for negligence in realizing thereon. National Bank of Jefferson v. Bruhn et al., 64 Tex., 571.
16. In an action by a pledgee upon the debt secured by the pledge he is not required to account for nonnegotiable securities pledged to him by defendant, in the absence of any allegation or proof that he has lost or misappropriated them. Marberry v. Farmers and Mechanics' National Bank, 26 S. W., 215.
17. The cashier of a bank has no authority to assign collaterals belonging to himself, which were given to secure a loan to another person for the cashier's benefit. Merchants' National Bank v. Demere, 19 S. E., 38.
18. One who borrows money from a bank for the cashier thereof, on collaterals belonging to the cashier, is not entitled to credit for amount of such collaterals after they have been wrongfully withdrawn and converted by the cashier. Ib.
19. When shares of stock in a private corporation are pledged as collateral security for a debt, and default is made in the payment of the debt at maturity, the pledgee may file a bill in equity to foreclose the pledge by a sale under the order of the court, or he may exercise the implied power to sell without resorting to judicial proceedings; but if he elects to pursue the latter remedy, the sale must be at public auction, in the absence

- of a special agreement, and reasonable notice must be given to the pledgor; and if he sells privately, without notice, becoming himself the purchaser, the relation between him and the pledgor is not thereby dissolved. Sharpe v. National Bank of Birmingham, 87 Ala., 644.
20. If the pledgor, when notified of the irregular or unauthorized sale, accepts its benefits, giving his note for the balance of his debt remaining unpaid, this is presumptively a ratification of the sale, and he can not afterward impeach it; but, if he acted in ignorance of the fact that the pledgee himself was the purchaser, and did not intend to make an absolute and unconditional ratification without regard to the facts attending the sale, he may disaffirm it within a reasonable time after discovering that the pledgee was the purchaser. Ib.
 21. If a part owner of certificates of stock pledges them, with the consent of the other owner, as collateral security for his own debt, and they are converted by the pledgee, the pledgor is entitled to recover as if he were the sole owner, the pledgee being estopped from denying his absolute ownership. Ib.
 22. Rev. St., sec. 5242, which declares all deposits, all transfers of deposits, and all payments of money made by a national bank after an act of insolvency, or in contemplation thereof, to be null and void, does not render illegal the retention of a balance standing to the credit of an insolvent national bank with a correspondent on the day of its failure which has been pledged for the purpose of securing loans made by the correspondent to the insolvent bank. Bell v. Hanover National Bank, 57 Fed. Rep., 321.
 23. Where a deposit with a correspondent has, long prior to the commission of the act of insolvency by a national bank, been pledged as collateral to secure the payment of loans made to the insolvent by its correspondent, neither the subsequent insolvency of the bank, nor the appointment of the receiver, destroys the lien of the correspondent, or its rights to dispose of the pledge to satisfy the debt secured. Ib.
 24. Creditors of an insolvent national bank can not be required, in proving their claims, to allow credit for any collections made after the date of the declared insolvency from collateral securities held by them. Chemical National Bank v. Armstrong, 59 Fed. Rep., 372.
 25. Rev. St. U. S., sec. 5242, which prohibits all transfers by any national banking association made after the commission of an act of insolvency, or in contemplation thereof, with a view to the preference of one creditor over another, is directed to a preference, not to the giving of security when a debt is created; and if the transaction be free from fraud in fact, and is intended merely to adequately protect a loan made at the time, the creditor can retain property transferred to secure such loan until the debt is paid, though the debtor is insolvent, and the creditor has reason at the time to believe that to be the fact. Armstrong v. Chemical National Bank, 41 Fed. Rep., 234.
 26. The plaintiff, a judgment creditor of the defendant, had the steamboat Kinta seized. The defendant had pledged it to the Third National Bank of New York, but remained in possession for his own account, and never completed the pledge by an actual delivery to the pledgee. The act of pledge was drawn up in the common-law form, and was intended to operate as a chattel mortgage. It contains, as to the form of the act, the essentials of an act of pledge. Citizens' Bank of Louisiana v. Janin (Third National Bank of New York, Intervener), 15 So., 471, 46 La. Ann.
 27. The Third National Bank, as pledgee, claimed the proceeds of the sale. The property, when it was seized, was in the possession of the subtenant. It is not proved that plaintiff colluded with the defendant, and thereby gained an improper advantage. Pledge is not made perfect by the consent of the parties. It requires absolute possession. The alleged pledgee never was in possession during the tenure of the defendant. Ib.
 28. It (the Third National) could not obtain possession through the agency of the sublessee, who held possession for his lessor, the defendant. Ib.
 29. A pledge can not be made perfect by the sublessee's delivery of possession without the consent of his lessor. Ib.
 30. The obligation of the lessor to account for the property, and whatever revenues were realized therefrom, binding between him and his creditor, the Third National Bank—the property not having been delivered—did not affect his other creditors, who could seize the property in his possession, or in that of his sublessee, who held possession for his lessor. Ib.
 31. In an action by a bank on a promissory note, it appeared that the defendant delivered as security the promissory note of S., to which was annexed, as

- collateral security, a certificate of corporate stock in the name of S.; that defendant, with the consent of S., agreed that the bank might sell the stock, and take in place of the note of S. the note of the purchaser, secured by the same stock reissued in the name of the purchaser; and that the bank sold the stock, and took in payment notes secured by the stock, payable to itself, with which notes defendant had no connection, and over which he had no control: Held, That as the bank had converted the stock to its own use, defendant's note must be credited with the value of the stock at the time of conversion. Pauly v. Wilson, 57 Fed. Rep., 548.
32. Plaintiff had in his possession collateral security for a debt due from a third party, who also owed the defendant: Held, That an agreement by the parties in interest that any sum received on such collateral security in addition to the indebtedness first secured thereby should be applied on the debt due from defendant operated as an equitable assignment to defendant of such surplus, if any there should be. Second National Bank v. Sproat, 56 N. W., 254.
 33. A clearing-house committee, created by the agreement of several banks, which receives deposits from such banks of securities, at a fixed ratio on their capital stock, and issues certificates therefor to be used in paying balances, becomes an owner, for value, of the securities. Philler v. Patterson (Pa. Sup.), 32 A., 26.
 34. The fact that a transfer of a bill of lading to a bank as security was after its doors were closed for the day for the purpose of deposit and check does not affect its right as against the vendor who stops the goods in transit, though, before its doors are again opened, it learns of the insolvency of the vendee. First National Bank v. Schmidt (Colo. App.), 40 P., 479.
 35. As against the right of a vendor to stop goods in transitu, a bank to which the vendee has transferred the bill of lading as security is a holder for value, even though the transfer was for a preexisting debt, and not for a loan made on the promise of such transfer. Ib.
 36. Where the debt for which a note was pledged is paid pending an action on the note by the pledgee, the latter may continue the action, subject to all equitable defenses, holding the proceeds as trustee for the pledgor. First National Bank v. Mann (Tenn.), 27 S. W., 1015.
 37. The transferee of a note before maturity as collateral security for a loan made in good faith is a bona fide holder to the extent of the loan. Pearce & Miller Engineering Company v. Brouer (City Ct. N. Y.), 31 N. Y. S., 195.

A. Solvent banks—

1. Where the holder of a bill of exchange, payable at a distant place, deposits it with a local bank for collection, he thereby assents to the course of business of banks to collect through correspondents, and the correspondent of the local bank to which the bill is forwarded becomes his agent and is responsible to him directly for negligence in failing to present the bill for payment within the proper time. Guelich v. The National State Bank of Burlington, 56 Iowa, 434.
2. The payee of a check deposited it for collection with bank A on the same day it was made. The bank presented it for payment the next day shortly before 11 o'clock, and the drawee's check on bank B, only a few blocks distant, was taken in payment. The drawee became bankrupt at 1 o'clock. Several checks given after this, one by the drawee on bank B, were paid before 1 o'clock. Before 3 o'clock bank A presented the check in question for payment, which was refused; whereupon it immediately went to the drawee, and, after recovering the original check, protested it: Held, That the drawer of the check was not liable thereon. Anderson v. Gill, 29 A., 527.
3. Where the payee of a check makes a demand on the drawee and receives something other than cash in payment, he can not, by making a second demand, though within the time allowed for presenting a check, undo the first, and render the drawer liable on the bankruptcy of the drawee. Ib.
4. Two bills of exchange, belonging to the plaintiff at Chicago, were indorsed for collection to a bank at Atchison, Kans., and by said Atchison bank to a bank at Kansas City, Mo., and by the latter to defendant, a bank at Hutchinson, Kans.: Held, That they remain the property of plaintiff, all the indorsements being restrictive. First National Bank of Chicago v. Reno County Bank, 1 McCrary, 491.
5. An indorsement on a bill of exchange directing the drawee to pay to another "on account of" the indorser, or "for collection," is a restrictive indorsement, the effect of which is to restrict the further negotiability of the

- bill, and to give notice that the indorser does not thereby give title to the bill or to its proceeds when collected. Ib.
6. Although there may be no privity between the owner of the bill and the last indorsee, yet, if the latter collects the bill, he is bound to pay the proceeds to the owner, and the latter may recover in assumpsit, on the ground that the defendant has property in his possession which belongs to the plaintiff and refuses to pay the same over. Ib.
 7. A bank receiving an indorsed note before maturity for collection is required to take the proper steps to fix the liability of the indorser. West v. St. Paul National Bank, 56 N. W., 54; 54 Minn., 466.
 8. In an action by the owner of the note for neglect of that duty, resulting in the discharge of the indorser, the question of the solvency of the maker is material as affecting the measure of damages. Ib.
 9. Insolvency may be shown prima facie by proof of general reputation. Proof of insolvency within a reasonable time after the maturity of the note held admissible. Ib.
 10. A bank receiving for collection, from a correspondent, checks drawn upon it by a customer, with instructions to protest in case of nonpayment, is required, in case payment is refused for want of funds, to give notice to the bank from which they were received not later than the next day after dishonor; and when they are held for two days in order to enable the drawer to provide funds for payment thereof a jury will be warranted in finding that the bank intended to accept them, and become liable thereon. Wood River Bank v. First National Bank of Omaha, 55 N. W., 239.
 11. The indorsement of a draft to a bank "for collection," accompanied by a credit of the amount to the indorser's account, does not transfer title to the bank, and correspondent of the bank who collects draft for it is responsible therefor to indorser. Tyson v. Western National Bank of Baltimore, 26 Atl. Rep., 520.

12. The Winters National Bank sent to the Fidelity Bank a note of $2,000 for collection, and indorsed "Pay Fidelity National Bank, Cincinnati, Ohio, or order, for collection for account of the Winters National Bank, Dayton, Ohio, J. C. Reber, cashier." The Fidelity Bank forwarded it to the Drovers and Mechanics' Bank, which received payment thereof at maturity. Before the Fidelity Bank received notice and remittance of the $2,000, it became insolvent, and went into the hands of a receiver, who took the $2,000 and credited the Winters Bank therewith: Held, That the Fidelity Bank did not own the note, and the Winters Bank was entitled to the full $2,000 as against the Fidelity Bank's receiver. In re Armstrong, 33 Fed. Rep., 405.
13. Plaintiff sent to F bank a draft indorsed "For collection," accompanied with instructions to "collect and credit proceeds." F bank sent the draft to the defendant and the latter collected it, received the proceeds, and credited them to the F bank, in accordance with the usual course of business between the F bank and the defendant, and notified the F bank of the credit. The F bank suspended business before crediting plaintiff with the proceeds, but after they had been collected and after it had received notice of the credit. After the suspension of the F bank the receiver appointed over its affairs credited plaintiff with the proceeds of the draft on the books of the bank: Held, That the indorsement "for collection" was notice to the defendant of the qualified title to the F bank, and defendant could not acquire any better title to the draft or the proceeds than that of the F bank, and could not, as against the plaintiff, apply the proceeds to an account owing the defendant from the F bank, and that the defendant could only defeat an action brought to recover the proceeds in its hands by showing that the draft or its proceeds belonged to the F bank. First National Bank of Circleville v. Bank of Monroe, 33 Fed. Rep., 408.
14. Held, further, That the relation of principal and agent continue between the plaintiff and the F bank so long as the latter did not assume the relation of primary debtor to the plaintiff for the proceeds of the draft; that the plaintiff not having been credited with the proceeds by the F bank, the relation between them remained that of principal and agent, and not debtor and creditor; and that the F bank, not having credited the plaintiff with the proceeds while it was a going concern, could not, by doing so subsequently, change the existing relation. Ib.

15. Held, In an action brought by the plaintiff against the defendant to recover the proceeds of the draft, the defendant, not having remitted the proceeds to the F bank, was liable to the plaintiff for the amount. Ib.
16. Plaintiff sent to a certain bank a bill of exchange indorsed to said bank for collection. At the time the bank received the bill of exchange it was insolvent to the knowledge of the managing officer, and on that day, or following morning, it failed. Prior to the failure it indorsed the bill of exchange to defendant bank, which collected it and kept the proceeds, crediting the insolvent bank, which was indebted to it, with the amount thereof: Held, That the first bank acquired no title because of its fraud in not disclosing its insolvency, and defendant had no better title, as plaintiffs' indorsement showed that the bank was merely plaintiffs' agent to collect the proceeds. Peck et al. v. First National Bank, 43 Fed. Rep., 356.
17. Plaintiff sent to defendant's bank paper indorsed "For collection and immediate return" to plaintiff, and the paper was collected and the proceeds mingled with other moneys of the bank, instead of forwarded to plaintiff. The bill contained an uncontroverted allegation that defendant's bank, at all times subsequent to the collection and at the time of defendant's appointment as receiver, had on hand cash to a greater amount than that due plaintiff. The bill asked to have the balance due plaintiff paid in full, on the ground that the bank by receiving the paper for collection and immediate return became a trustee, and that either its entire property or the money in its vaults became impressed with the trust: Held, That if the mingling of the funds was a breach of trust it was a conversion, and plaintiff became a simple contract creditor, with no preference at law. Philadelphia National Bank v. Dowd, 38 Fed. Rep., 172.
18. It was immaterial whether or not the bank stood in a fiduciary capacity to plaintiff, as the facts stated in the bill showed that the money collected could not be traced into any specific investment or fund, but had been indistinguishably mingled with the general assets. Ib.
19. By agreement and custom the Fidelity Bank received drafts from its correspondent bank at E, and credited them to it as cash, with the understanding that any draft which was unpaid should be charged back to the correspondent. The latter forwarded drafts, which were credited to it, but were not collected before the Fidelity Bank failed. The drafts were paid after the appointment of a receiver and the moneys actually came into his hands. The drafts were indorsed payable to the Fidelity Bank "for collection for the" bank at E: Held, That as the drafts were when received credited as cash to the bank at E, which had the right at once to draw against them, the indorsement for collection did not affect the result and the bank had only the rights of a general creditor. First National Bank of Elkhart v. Armstrong, 39 Fed. Rep., 231.
20. A draft sent to a bank specially indorsed for collection was paid by the drawee by check, which the bank collected through the clearing house. A memorandum was placed with the bank's cash, to indicate that the proceeds of the draft was the property of the sender. The bank was closed the next morning, and the receiver credited such proceeds to the sender of the draft on the books of the bank: Held, That the fund was not so mingled that it could not be traced and identified, and that the sender could recover the same. First National Bank of Montgomery v. Armstrong, 36 Fed. Rep., 59.
21. Checks and drafts sent from one bank to another were indorsed "for collection," and credited "subject to payment," according to the dealings between the banks. Part of them were paid to the receiver of the latter bank after its failure, and the balance were credited to it by the payors: Held, That the amount paid the receiver should be accounted for as a trust fund, but the balance as a general debt. First National Bank of Welston v. Armstrong, 42 Fed. Rep., 193.
22. The claimant bank sent to the F bank a sight draft, drawn on a third party, indorsed, "pay" F bank, or order, "for collection for" claimant bank. It was the practice of the F bank in its dealings with claimant to credit the latter on the day of receipt for all drafts, checks, etc., sent for collection that were payable at sight or on demand, and the balance thus created was subject to be drawn on; but if the paper was not paid it was charged back to claimant. On receipt of the draft the F notified claimant that it had been credited, "subject to payment;" but the credit was not drawn against nor were advances made on the faith of it. Claimant merely kept a memorandum of its transmission for collection. The F sent the draft to

- its reserve agent, indorsed, for collection, and the amount of it was counted as a part of the F's reserve fund, though this fact was not known to claimant: Held, That the indorsement being restrictive, the F acquired no title to it, and that upon the insolvency of the F, before notification of the collection of the draft, the claimant was entitled to the proceeds of it in the hands of the collecting agent. Fifth National Bank v. Armstrong, Farmers' National Bank et al., interpleaders, 40 Fed. Rep., 46.
23. A bank which had received a draft for collection sent it to its correspondent bank at the residence of the drawee, and the draft was paid to such correspondent. There were no mutual accounts between the two banks, but it was the custom of the correspondent to remit the proceeds of collections at stated periods: Held, That until this remittance was made, or the principal bank had given the original owner of the draft credit for the avails, the original owner of the draft, as the owner of the proceeds thereof, was entitled to recover them from the correspondent bank. National Exchange Bank of Dallas v. Beal, 50 Fed. Rep., 355.
 24. Though the correspondent was the agent of the first bank, and payment to it was to that extent a payment to the principal, yet until the proceeds were actually remitted to such principal and mingled with its general funds, or were so credited, the owner of the draft had the option to decline to consider it his debtor, and to claim the proceeds in the hands of the agent. Ib.
 25. Where the principal fails, and a receiver is appointed, he takes the proceeds of the draft, when remitted to him, subject to the same right of reclamation by the owner that the latter had as against the agent. Ib.
 26. Where, in such a case, there are mutual accounts between the two banks, the right of the agent to set off the amount of the collection against the principal's indebtedness to it can not be adjudicated in a suit in equity between the owner of the draft and the principal without making such agent a party. Ib.
 27. Checks deposited in a bank by its customers for collection do not at once become the property of the bank; the bank continues to be the agent of the customer until the collection of the check, which remains, in the meantime, the property of the depositor. Balbach et al. v. Frelinghuysen, Receiver, etc., 15 Fed. Rep., 675.
 28. The rule is different where such checks are deposited to make good an overdrawn account of the customer, or when the amount deposited by check is immediately drawn against; in that case the bank may hold the deposit until the overdraft is made good from other sources. Ib.
 29. The indorsement by the customer of a check, deposited for collection, is only intended to put the paper in such shape that the bank may collect it, and not to thereby pass the title to the bank. Ib.
 30. The practice which has grown up among banks to credit deposits of checks at once to the account of the depositor, and to allow him to draw against them before the collection, is a mere gratuitous privilege, which does not grow into a binding legal usage. Ib.
 31. A, who for several years had kept an account with the Marine National Bank of New York, on May 5, 1884, deposited a sight draft, dated that day, and drawn by him on a corporation of Boston, Mass., which was indebted to him in the amount of the draft. The bank was insolvent at the time, but the draft was forwarded to its collection agent at Boston, and paid May 7, after the bank had failed and closed its doors. On several previous occasions A had deposited similar drafts, and been credited therewith as cash, and they were treated by him as cash deposits. On the occasion in question the bank credited plaintiff with the draft as a cash item: Held, That the draft was not the property of A when paid by the drawee, and that he was not entitled to recover the amount thereof from the receiver. St. Louis & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Johnston, Receiver, etc., 27 Fed. Rep., 243.
 32. When a sight bill is credited by a bank to a customer as a cash item, with the latter's assent, the transaction is equivalent to a discount of the bill by the bank. Ib.
 33. Where a check of a depositor is accepted by a correspondent bank in payment of a draft for collection, which charges the same to the drawee and credits the drawer without separating the amount from its general funds, it holds the money as agent for the drawer, who, after insolvency, becomes a mere general creditor, notwithstanding the State constitution provides that "depositors who have not stipulated for interest shall for such deposits

- be entitled in case of insolvency to preference of payment over all other creditors." Anheuser-Busch Brewing Association v. Clayton, 56 Fed. Rep., 759.
34. A bank in Ohio contracted with a bank in Pennsylvania to collect for it at par, at all points west of Pennsylvania, and remit the 1st, 11th, and 21st of each month. In executing this agreement the Pennsylvania bank stamped upon the paper forwarded for collection, with a stamp prepared for it by the Ohio bank, an indorsement "Pay to" the Ohio bank, "or order, for collection for," the Pennsylvania bank. The Ohio bank failed, having in its hands or in the hands of other banks to which it had been sent for collection, proceeds of paper sent it by the Pennsylvania bank for collection. A receiver being appointed, the Pennsylvania bank brought this action to recover such proceeds: Held, First, that the relation between the banks as to uncollected paper was that of principal and agent, and that the mere fact that the subagent of the Ohio bank had collected the money due on such paper was not a commingling of those collections with the general funds of the Ohio bank, and did not operate to relieve them from the trust obligation created by the agency, or create any difficulty in specially tracing them. Commercial Bank of Pennsylvania v. Armstrong, 143 U. S., 50.
35. Second, that if the Ohio bank was indebted to its subagent, and the collections when made were entered in their books as a credit to such indebtedness, they were thereby reduced to possession and passed into the general funds of the Ohio bank. Ib.
36. Third, that by the terms of the agreement the relation of debtor and creditor was created when the collections were fully made, the funds being on general deposit with the Ohio bank, with the right in that bank to their use until the time of remittance should arrive. Ib.
37. A bank received two drafts indorsed to it for collection, on account of the drawers, against two of its depositors. After acceptance by the latter the bank charged to each depositor's account the amount of the draft accepted by him. Before remitting to the drawers the bank assigned, having on hand cash sufficient to pay such drafts: Held, That the drawers were not entitled to a preference as to the funds on hand at the time the bank failed, where the assignee holds nothing which he or such drawers can identify with the drafts, or trace as a payment of them. Freiberg v. Stoddart, 28 Atl. Rep., 1111.
38. A national bank collected a note for plaintiff by accepting a draft for the amount on another party, which it forwarded to its correspondent for collection, and at the same time sent plaintiff a draft on the same correspondent as a remittance of the proceeds of his note. The correspondent received the money on the draft sent it for collection, but before plaintiff's draft was paid by the correspondent the bank failed: Held, That the bank was only agent for plaintiff, and that the money derived from his note was a trust fund, which did not become a part of the bank's assets. Poster v. Rincker, 35 P., 470.
39. B forwarded to bank a draft for collection. On July 22, 1893, bank made collection, and the same day forwarded its draft on New York. On July 26 bank failed, and a receiver was appointed. Draft was presented after the failure, and payment refused. B brought suit to secure a preference in payment: Held, That when a draft is forwarded to a bank for collection, in the absence of instructions to the contrary, it is with the understanding that upon collection the title to the proceeds shall vest in the collecting bank, and that said bank shall remit to its correspondent the equivalent of such proceeds, by the system of exchanges established by the universal custom among banks, and when this has been done no preference can arise. Bowman et al. v. Clark et al., 38 P., 211.
40. Where one deposits a draft with a national bank, and the bank sends it to an agent for collection, who collects it, and the bank fails before receiving the avails, having been insolvent at the time of the deposit, the depositor may rescind the transaction for fraud and recover the avails from the agent. Craigie v. Smith, 14 Abb. N. C., 409; 3 N. B. C., 679.
41. Plaintiff sent a draft to a bank for collection. The bank collected it and then passed into the hands of a receiver without remitting. The bank had previously made similar collections for plaintiff, the proceeds of which were always remitted to him promptly, and never credited to him as a deposit: Held, That plaintiff was entitled to be paid the entire proceeds of the draft out of the bank assets in the receiver's hands, since the bank was his trustee, and not his debtor. Hunt v. Townsend, 26 S. W., 310.

42. Under an agreement between plaintiff bank and the H bank that the latter should collect notes and checks forwarded it by plaintiff for a commission, and remit daily, the relation of principal and agent as to any paper ceased on collection, and the relation of creditor and debtor as to cash immediately arose. First National Bank of Richmond v. Davis, 19 S. E., 280.
43. On failure of the H bank, it being shown that its cashier had no knowledge of its insolvency till the failure, it is not chargeable as for a conversion of funds of plaintiff which it has mingled with its own funds, since, in the absence of such knowledge on the cashier's part the contract, with its necessary implication as to the disposition to be made of plaintiff's money on collection, remained in force till the failure. Ib.
44. Where plaintiff and defendant banks for several years had acted as agents for each other in the collection of checks, notes, and drafts, and where plaintiff sent defendant a note "for collection and credit" which on maturity was paid by a check and credit was immediately given on the books, but defendant failed and the check passed into the hands of a receiver: Held, that in view of the course of dealing the two banks stood in the relation of debtor and creditor with respect to the amount of the check, and it became part of the assets of the bank. Franklin County National Bank v. Beal, 49 Fed. Rep., 606.
45. Whether the title to a check deposited with a bank passes to the bank before collection, so as to immediately create the relation of debtor and creditor between it and the depositor, is a question of fact, depending upon the circumstances and course of dealing in each particular case. City of Somerville v. Beal, 49 Fed. Rep., 790.
46. Where a bank in accordance with its custom credited checks deposited by a customer at the close of each day's business, retaining the right to subsequently charge off the same if returned unpaid from the clearing house, and the bank became insolvent on a succeeding day, title in the checks passed to the bank so as to create the relation of debtor and creditor. Ib.
47. Where a national bank collected all papers sent to it by complainant under an arrangement which constituted the bank the agent of complainant, the latter can recover, on the ground of a trust, from a receiver of the bank such portion only of the proceeds of its paper sent to the bank as it shows has passed into the receiver's hands, either in its original or some substituted form. Commercial National Bank v. Armstrong, 39 Fed. Rep., 684.
48. Where checks and drafts sent from one bank to another indorsed "for collection" and credited "subject to payment" according to the dealings between the banks, and part of them were paid to the receiver of the latter bank after its failure and the balances were credited to it by the payors, the amount paid the receiver should be accounted for as a trust fund, but the balance as a general debt. First National Bank v. Armstrong, 42 Fed. Rep., 193.
49. Negotiable paper with restrictive indorsement credited by agent on date of receipt "subject to payment," although account is subject to be drawn upon, title is not transferred, and upon the insolvency of the agent before receiving notice of the collection of the item, the owner is entitled to the proceeds in the hands of the collecting agent. Fifth National Bank v. Armstrong, 40 Fed. Rep., 46.
50. The drawers of a draft deposited with a bank for collection, and by it forwarded to a correspondent bank, are entitled to the amount as against the receiver of the forwarding bank, which was insolvent, and known to be so by its officers when it received the draft, and suspended payment before the proceeds were withdrawn from the collecting bank. Importers and Traders' National Bank v. Peters et al., 123 N. Y., 272.
51. When a bank which has received a draft for collection sends it to another bank for that purpose, and on being advised that the latter bank has collected the draft credits the depositor and then becomes insolvent without having received the money from the collecting bank, the depositor remains the owner of the draft, and is entitled to its proceeds from the collecting bank against the receiver and the creditors of the insolvent bank. Armstrong v. National Bank of Boyertown, 11 S. W., 411; Manufacturers' National Bank v. Continental Bank et al., 20 N. W., 193.
52. A bank which collects a draft sent to it by another bank for that purpose, with directions to remit the proceeds to a third bank for the owner's account, does not thereby become a trustee, so that the fund can be followed into the hands of a receiver, although it had become mixed with the other cash of the bank before his appointment; especially when it appears that

- the business was carried on, and money paid out, for several days after the collection was probably made. Merchants and Farmers' Bank v. Austin et al., 48 Fed. Rep., 25.
53. Where bank sends paper to another bank for collection and credit on general account, the custom being to enter credit only when paper is collected, the relation being that of principal and agent until collection and receipt of money by the second bank, and if latter sends to another bank, which collects, but does not remit until latter bank has failed, the former can recover the proceeds from the receiver thereof. Beal v. National Exchange Bank of Dallas, 55 Fed. Rep., 894.
 54. Whether the title to a check deposited with a bank passes to the bank before collection, so as to immediately create the relation of debtor and creditor between it and the depositor, is a question of fact, depending upon the circumstances and course of dealing in each particular case. City of Somerville v. Beal, Receiver, 49 Fed. Rep., 790.
 55. A bank which, upon a draft being deposited with it for collection, refuses to accept it as a deposit, but advances a small amount to the payee on her check, and charges her therewith on its books as an overdraft, and sends it for collection to its correspondent, and, upon receiving notice of its collection, credits the payee's account therewith, is the payee's agent, and the proceeds constitute a trust fund, which the payee is entitled to recover from the receiver. Henderson v. O'Connor (Cal.), 39 P., 786.
 56. Where a bank received a draft as agent for plaintiff, of which fact the indorsement was a notice to other banks, it did not thereby become indebted to plaintiff for the amount thereof till after collection and possession of the proceeds, either actually or by settlement with the parties; and defendant bank, to which the draft had been sent by the first bank for collection, could not escape liability to plaintiff by making payment to the first bank, or giving the credit to it on the account between the banks after the first bank had stopped payment. Old National Bank v. German American National Bank, 15 S. Ct., 221.

CONSTITUTIONALITY:

1. Congress has the constitutional power to incorporate banks. McCulloch v. Maryland, 4 Wheat., 316; Osborne v. Bank of the United States, 9 Wheat., 738.
2. Congress has power to clothe national banking associations, as to their contracts and dealings with the world, with any special immunities and privileges exempting them, in their trade and intercourse with others, from the laws and remedies applicable in like cases to other citizens. The Chesapeake Bank v. The First National Bank of Baltimore, 40 Md., 269.
3. Thus, the provision of the banking law that no attachment, injunction, or execution shall issue against a national banking association before final judgment in any suit, action, or proceeding in a State court is constitutional. Ib.
4. Congress having, in the exercise of undisputed constitutional powers, undertaken to provide a currency for the whole country, may secure the benefit of it to the people by appropriate legislation. Veazie Bank v. Fenno, 8 Wall., 533.
5. Congress has the power to divest the United States courts of their jurisdiction of suits by or against national banking associations. National Bank of Jefferson v. Fare et al., 25 Fed. Rep., 209.
6. National banking associations, being instruments designed to aid the Government in the administration of a branch of the public service, can not be controlled by the States, except in so far as Congress may see proper to permit. Farmers and Mechanics' Bank v. Dearing, 91 U. S., 29.
7. A State law prohibiting the establishment of banking companies in the State without the authority of the legislature was not intended to apply to banking corporations created by authority of Congress, since such corporations may be legally established in the State without the consent of the legislature. Stetson v. City of Bangor, 56 Me., 274.
8. National banking corporations, organized under the acts of Congress providing for their creation, are agencies or instruments of the General Government, designed to aid in the administration of an important branch of the public service, and are an appropriate constitutional means to that end. Pollard v. The State ex rel. Zuber, 65 Ala., 628.
9. The national banking act is an enabling act for associations organized under it, and one can not rightfully exercise any powers except those expressly granted, or such incidental powers as are necessary to carry on the business for which it was established. Logan County National Bank v. Townsend, 139 U. S., 67.

CONSTRUCTION OF LAW:

1. The Federal courts, when called upon to construe the general commercial law of Indiana in respect to a question which is a new one in the Federal courts, should give weight to the Indiana decisions, although they are not absolutely bound thereby. The Farmers' National Bank of Valparaiso, Ind., v. Sutton Mfg. Co., 52 Fed. Rep., 191.
2. The intention of the legislature, clearly expressed in a constitutional enactment, should not be defeated by too rigid adherence to the letter of the statute, or by technical rules of construction. Any construction should be disregarded which leads to absurd consequences. Oates v. First National Bank of Montgomery, 100 U. S., 239; 2 N. B. C., 35.
3. The Federal courts are not bound by decisions of State courts upon questions of general commercial law. Ib.
4. In a statute which contains invalid or unconstitutional provisions, that which is unaffected by those provisions, or which can stand without them, must remain. If the valid and invalid are capable of separation, only the latter are to be disregarded. Supervisors of Albany v. Stanley, 12 Fed. Rep., 82.
5. Where the State and Federal courts have concurrent jurisdiction, a State statute of limitation may be pleaded as effectively in a Federal court as it could be in a State court; and in such cases the Federal courts will follow the decisions of the local State tribunals and will administer the same justice which the State courts would administer between the same parties. Price, Receiver of Venango National Bank v. Yates, 19 Alb. L. J., 295; 2 N. B. C., 204.
6. Repeals by implication are not favored by the courts, and in the absence of express words of repeal it is the duty of the court to give effect to a prior statute, if it can be done, unless the repugnancy between the two is so absolute and palpable as to be recognized at once. United States v. Cooke Co. Nat. Bank, 25 Int. Rev. Record, 266; 2 N. B. C., 128.
7. It is the peculiar province of the supreme court of the State to determine the meaning of the statutes of such State, and with such determination courts of the United States will hesitate to place upon a State statute any construction which will bring such statute in conflict with a statute of the United States, and therefore render it void. Davenport National Bank v. Mittelbuscher, collector, et al., 15 Fed. Rep., 225.
8. The punctuation of a statute is not made to be relied on, and must be disregarded if it requires a construction which is repugnant to a sense of justice. United States v. Vorhees, 9 Fed. Rep., 143.
9. Where Congress has enacted a law covering a particular case, such law must prevail in the Federal courts, though it differs from the State law. Stephens v. Bernays, 42 Fed. Rep., 483.
10. Among the assets of an insolvent national bank were three mortgages, which were sought to be impeached by the assignees of the mortgagor as having been given in violation of the insolvency law of the State. Plaintiff, receiver of the bank, claimed that the State law was inoperative upon the assets of a national bank, and was ineffectual to divest him of the title acquired by the mortgages: Held, That the mortgages were governed by the State law, and the bank took them with all the limitations imposed by the laws of the State upon them. Winters, Receiver, etc. v. Soules et al., 32 Fed. Rep., 753.
11. As the Supreme Court of the United States has decided that it has authority to reexamine the judgment of a State court as to the power of national banks under the act of Congress, a State court should follow its decisions on the question. First National Bank of Aberdeen v. Andrews et al.; Young v. Same, 34 P., 913; 7 Wash., 261.

CONVERSION:

1. Where a State bank has been converted into a national banking association it may enforce all contracts made with it while a State corporation. City National Bank v. Phelps, 97 N. Y., 44.
2. And it is liable, after the conversion, for all the obligations of the old institution. Coffee v. The National Bank of Missouri, 46 Mo., 140; Kelsey v. The National Bank of Crawford, 69 Penn. St., 426.
3. A national banking association, organized as the successor of a State bank, may take and hold the assets of the bank whose place it takes, though there was not in form a conversion from a State to a national corporation but the organization of a new corporation. Bank v. McIntyre, 40 Ohio St., 528.
4. And such association will be liable to the depositors of the former bank. Eans v. Exchange Bank, 79 Mo., 132.

CONVERSION—Continued.

5. A State law authorizing national banking associations which have been converted from State banks to use the name of the original corporation for the purpose of prosecuting and defending suits is not in conflict with the national banking law, and therefore proceedings based upon a judgment obtained before the conversion may be instituted by such association in its former corporate name. Thomas v. Farmers' Bank of Maryland, 46 Md., 43.
6. The conversion of a State bank into a national bank, with a change of name, under the national-bank act does not affect its identity or its right to sue upon liabilities incurred to it by its former name. Michigan Insurance Bank v. Eldred, 143 U. S., 293.
7. No authority other than that conferred by act of Congress is necessary to enable any State bank to become a national banking association. Casey v. Galli, 94 U. S., 673.
8. When a State bank is converted into a national banking association all of the directors at the time will continue to be directors of the association until others are appointed or elected, though some of them may not have joined in the execution of the articles of association and organization certificate. Lockwood v. The American National Bank, 9 R. I., 305.
9. But even were the oath required, a majority of all who were directors at the time of the conversion, and not merely a majority of those who take the oath, are necessary to constitute a quorum. Ib.
10. A national bank, changed from a State bank, may maintain an action on a continuing guaranty for loans held by it before the change; for loans both before and after the change. City National Bank of Poughkeepsie v. Phelps, 97 N. Y., 44; 49 Am. Rep., 513; 3 N. B. C., 637.
11. A State bank paid its president money to reimburse him for money which he falsely represented he had paid to its creditor. The State bank was afterwards changed to a national bank, and the creditor recovered judgment against it for his debt: Held, That it could maintain an action against the president for money had and received, although the State statute provided that the State bank should be continued a body corporate for three years for the purpose of prosecuting and defending suits, closing its concerns, and conveying its property. Atlantic National Bank v. Harris, 118 Mass., 147; 2 N. B. C., 454.
12. The provisions in the statute in New York of April 11, 1859 (Laws of 1859, chap. 236), as to the redemption of circulating notes issued by a State bank, and the release of the bank if the notes should not be presented within six years, do not apply to a State bank converted into a national bank under the act of March 9, 1865, and not "closing the business of banking." Metropolitan National Bank v. Claggett, 141 U. S., 520.
13. The conversion of a State bank in New York into a national bank, under the act of the legislature of that State of March 9, 1865 (N. Y. Laws of 1865, chap. 97), did not destroy its identity or its corporate existence, nor discharge it as a national bank from its liability to holders of its outstanding circulation, issued in accordance with State laws. Ib.
14. No authority from a State is necessary to enable a State bank to become a national bank. Casey v. Galli, 94 U. S., 673; 1 N. B. C., 142.

CRIMINAL LAW: See False entries; Indictment.

1. The willful misapplication of the moneys and funds of a national banking association, made an offense by sec. 5209, Rev. St., must be for the use or benefit of the party charged, or of some person or company other than the association. United States v. Britton, 107 U. S., 655.
2. It is not necessary that the officer should personally misapply the funds of the association. He will be guilty as a principal offender though he merely procures or causes the misapplication. United States v. Fish, 24 Fed. Rep., 585.
3. A loan in bad faith, with intent to defraud the association, is a willful misapplication within the meaning of the statute. Ib.
4. It is no defense to a charge of embezzlement, abstraction, or misapplication of the funds of a national banking association that the funds were used with the knowledge and consent of the president and some of the directors. The intent to defraud is to be conclusively presumed from the commission of the offense. United States v. Taintor, 11 Blatch., 374.
5. If, with intent to defraud the association, an officer allows a firm in which he is a member to overdraw its account he will be guilty of misapplying the funds of the association. In the matter of Van Campen, 2 Ben., 419.

6. Allowing the withdrawal of the deposit of one indebted to the association can not be charged as a misapplication of the money of the association. United States v. Britton, 108 U. S., 193.
7. It is not a willful misapplication of the moneys of the association within the meaning of sec. 5209, Rev. St., for a president who is insolvent to procure the discounting by the association of his note not well secured. Ib.
8. To constitute the offense of a willful misapplication of the moneys, funds, or credits of the association within sec. 5209, Rev. St., it is not necessary that the person charged with the offense should have been previously in the actual possession of such moneys, funds, and credits under or by virtue of any trust, duty, or employment committed to him. Nor is it necessary to the commission of this offense that the officer making the willful misapplication should derive any personal benefit therefrom. When the funds or assets of the bank are unlawfully taken from its possession, and afterward willfully misapplied by converting them to the use of any person other than the bank, with intent to injure and defraud, the offense as described in the statute is committed. United States v. Harper, 33 Fed. Rep., 471.
9. This criminal act may be done directly and personally, or it may be done indirectly through the agency of another. If the officer charged with it has such control, direction, and power of management by virtue of his relation to the bank as to direct an application of its funds in such manner and under such circumstances as to constitute the offense of willful misapplication, and actually makes such direction or causes such misapplication to be made, he is equally as guilty as if it was done by his own hands. Ib.
10. The officers of a national banking association may be prosecuted under State statutes for fraudulent conversion of the property of individuals deposited with and in the custody of the association. Commonwealth v. Tenney, 97 Mass., 50; State v. Tuller, 34 Conn., 280.
11. As the national banking law makes the embezzlement, abstraction, or willful misapplication of the funds of a national banking association merely a misdemeanor, a person who procures such an offense to be committed can not be punished under a State statute which provides that a person who procures a felony to be committed may be indicted and convicted of a substantive felony. Commonwealth v. Felton, 101 Mass., 204.
12. It is not a conspiracy against United States, under sec. 5440, Rev. St., nor a willful misapplication of money of bank, under sec. 5209, for president and director of bank to cause shares of its stock to be purchased with its money and held on trust. United States v. Britton, 108 U. S., 192.
13. It is not a willful misapplication of bank money by the president, under sec. 5209, for him to procure the discount by bank for his own benefit of an unsecured note on which both maker and indorser are insolvent to his knowledge. Ib., 193.
14. Nor is president liable for a criminal violation of that section solely by reason of permitting a depositor who is largely indebted to bank to withdraw his deposits without first paying such indebtedness. Ib.
15. The procuring by two or more directors of the declaration of a dividend at a time when there are no net profits to pay it is not a willful misappropriation of money of bank within sec. 5204, Rev. St. Ib., 190.
16. Where the president, charged as a trustee with the administration of the funds of the bank in his hands, converts them to his own use without authority for so doing, he embezzles and abstracts them within the meaning of sec. 5209, Rev. St. In the matter of Van Campen, 2 Ben., 419.
17. To constitute the offense of willful abstraction by an officer, defined by the statute, it is necessary that the money or funds of the association should be withdrawn by the officer or by his direction; that such taking or withdrawing should be without the knowledge or consent of the bank, or of its board of directors; that the money or funds so taken or withdrawn should be converted to the officer's own use, or for the benefit and advantage of some person other than the association, and that this should be done with intent to injure and defraud the association. Ib.; United States v. Harper, 33 Fed. Rep., 471.
18. An officer of a national banking association can not be punished under State laws for embezzling the funds of the association. Commonwealth ex rel. Torrey v. Ketner, 92 Penn. St., 372; Commonwealth v. Felton, 101 Mass., 204.
19. But where the offense committed by an officer is properly a larceny of the funds, and not an embezzlement, he may be indicted under a State law. Commonwealth v. Barry, 116 Mass., 1.

20. The word "embezzle," as found in the United States Rev. St., is used to describe a crime which a person has an opportunity to commit by reason of some office or employment, and which may include some breach of confidence or trust. United States v. Conant, 9 Cent. L. J., 129; 2 N. B. C., 148.
21. Section 1025 of the Rev. St. provides: "No indictment * * * shall be deemed insufficient * * * in a matter of form only: Held, That anything that forms a part of the description of the crime is not a "matter of form." Ib.
22. Embezzlement, abstraction, and willful misapplication of the moneys, funds, etc., of a national bank, as described in Rev. St., sec. 5209, constitute three separate crimes or offenses, which, under Rev. St., sec. 1024, may be joined in one indictment, but must be stated in separate counts. United States v. Cadwallader, 59 Fed. Rep., 677.
23. The exercise of official discretion in good faith, without fraud, for the advantage or the supposed advantage of the association, is not punishable; but if official action be taken in bad faith, for personal advantage and with fraudulent intent, it is punishable. United States v. Fish, 24 Fed. Rep., 585.
24. It is competent for a State by penal enactments to protect its citizens in their dealings with national banking associations located within the State. State v. Fuller, 34 Conn., 280.
25. And an officer may be punished under State laws for making false entries in the books of the association with intent to defraud it. Lubery v. Commonwealth, 94 Penn. St., 85.
26. Purchase of stock in violation of sec. 5201, Rev. St., made with intent to defraud, and by officers named in sec. 5209, is not punishable under latter section. United States v. Britton, 107 U. S., 655.
27. Rev. St., sec. 5209, relating to national banks, provides that officers or agents thereof who willfully misapply any of its moneys, or who make any false entry or reports with intent to injure or defraud it, or to deceive any officer of a bank, or any agent appointed to examine its affairs, and "every person" who, with like intent, aids or abets any officer or agent in any violation of the section, shall be guilty, etc.: Held, That persons not officers or agents of a national bank may be aiders and abettors of the president of the bank in the violation of such statute. Coffin v. United States, 15 S. Ct., 394.
28. Acts eighteenth general assembly, chap. 153, secs. 1 and 2, making it a felony for "any officer" of a bank to receive deposits with knowledge that the bank is insolvent, apply to officers of national as well as other banks. State v. Fields (Iowa), 62 N. W., 653.
29. Acts eighteenth general assembly, chap. 153, secs. 1 and 2, making it a felony for "any officer" of a bank to receive deposits with knowledge that the bank is insolvent, are not void, in so far as they apply to national-bank officers, as an attempt to control and regulate the operations of national banks. Ib.
30. An indictment under Rev. St., sec. 5209, for willfully misapplying the moneys, funds, and credits of a national bank, of which defendant was president, as well as a director and agent, must supplement the allegation of willful misapplication by allegations showing how the misapplication was made, and that it was an unlawful one. Batchelor v. United States, 15 S. Ct., 446.

DEPOSITS:

1. The relation of banker and depositor is that of debtor and creditor. Deposits on general account belong to the bank and are part of its general fund. The bank becomes a debtor to the depositor to the amount thereof, and the debt can only be discharged by payment to the depositor, or pursuant to his order. The Etna National Bank v. The Fourth National Bank, 46 N. Y., 82.
2. The contract has none of the elements of a trust. For a breach on the part of the bank of the obligation resulting from the relations between the parties the depositor alone can sue. Ib.
3. General deposits in a commercial bank on account of the depositor, without being complicated by any other transaction than that of the depositing and withdrawing of the moneys, transfers the ownership of the money to the bank; and the relationship with reference thereto, as between the bank and the depositor, is simply that of debtor and creditor. Collins v. State, 15 So., 214.
4. A deposit made in the usual course of business vests in the bank, and can not be recovered by the depositor on the ground of fraud, though the bank was insolvent and failed on the next day, and though the deposit was made

- in reliance on representations of the president that the bank was all right, unless the officers of the bank knew of its insolvency at the time of the deposit. New York Breweries Co. v. Higgins, 29 N. Y. S., 416.
5. A trustee who deposits in a bank and causes to be credited to his private account money of the trust fund without giving any notice that it is not his private property or making any special agreement in regard to it, thereby converts it to his own use; so that the bank, in the absence of any notice that it is not his private property, may apply it as such. School District v. First National Bank, 102 Mass., 174.
 6. Where an agent deposits in a bank, to his own account, the proceeds of property sold by him for his principal under instructions thus to keep it, a trust is impressed upon the deposit in favor of the principal, and his right thereto is not affected by the fact that the agent at the same time deposits other moneys belonging to himself; nor is it affected by the fact that the agent, instead of depositing the identical moneys received by him on account of his principal, substitutes other moneys therefor. Van Allen v. The American National Bank, 52 N. Y., 1.
 7. Where an agent or trustee has deposited money belonging to his principal or beneficiary in a bank to which he is himself indebted, and the bank, without his authority and in ignorance of the true ownership of the fund, has applied it on the debt, the owner is not debarred from recovering it from the bank if it can be identified. Burtlett, adm'r v. The First National Bank, 38 Mich., 630.
 8. A bank is not chargeable with interest on sums deposited to the credit of customers to be drawn against by check, until payment be demanded, unless upon special contract. Parkersburg National Bank v. Als, 5 W. Va., 50.
 9. Unlike checks, cash deposited by customers with the bank ceases to be the property of the depositor, and becomes the property of the bank, creating at once the relationship of debtor and creditor. Balbach et al. v. Frelinghuysen, Receiver, etc., 15 Fed. Rep., 675.
 10. Plaintiff made a certain payment to defendant bank, and received in exchange a note signed by a firm composed of the officers of the bank, and the business of which was transacted in the bank's office. He subsequently gave a check to his wife, which was also exchanged at the bank office for a similar note. Plaintiff and his wife could both read and write, and had transacted considerable business with the banks. Plaintiff retained the notes for two years, and upon the failure of the firm, began suit to re-form the notes and change them into certificates of deposit of the bank on the ground that he intended to deposit his money with the bank: Held, That plaintiff was not entitled to a decree. Murphy v. First National Bank (Iowa), 63 N. W., 702.
 11. Where several deposits in bank have been made on the same account, and the title to one of the deposits is disputed, checks drawn on the account will be first applied to the deposits not in dispute. Hauptmann v. First National Bank (Sup.), 31 N. Y. S., 364.
 12. Testimony that the cashier of a bank failed to enter deposits on its books is not admissible as against the depositor to show that the deposits were made with the cashier in his individual capacity. L'Herbette v. Pittsfield National Bank (Mass.), 38 N. E., 368.
 13. An envelope, on which the sums paid into and drawn out of a bank by a depositor are entered by the cashier, is admissible against the bank to show the state of his account. Ib.

DEPUTY COMPTROLLER:

1. A certificate signed by the Deputy Comptroller of the Currency as "Acting Comptroller of the Currency," is a sufficient certificate by the Comptroller of the Currency within the requirements of Rev. St., par. 5154. Keyser v. Hitz, 133 U. S., 138.
2. The Deputy Comptroller of the Currency being authorized by law to act for the Comptroller in certain contingencies, the courts will presume, in the absence of any showing to the contrary, that the Deputy, in acting for the Comptroller in any particular instance, has acted lawfully. Young v. Wempe et al., 46 Fed. Rep., 354.

DIRECTORS: See Officers.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY:

1. For services performed by the district attorney in bringing a suit against a national bank, and obtaining a forfeiture of its charter, he is not entitled to more than $10, the fees prescribed by section 824, there being no other law in the United States giving a compensation to a district attorney for such services. Bashaw v. United States, 47 Fed. Rep., 40.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY—Continued.

2. The 56th (now 153d) section of the act providing that suits under it, in which officers of the United States are parties, shall be conducted by the district attorney of the district, is directory only. Kennedy v. Gibson, 8 Wall., 498.
3. District attorney can not recover compensation for services in conducting suit arising out of the provisions of the national banking law in which the United States or any of its agents or officers are parties. Gibson v. Peters, Receiver, 150 U. S., 342.

ESTOPPEL:

A. Solvent banks—

1. Where one sued by a national bank is accustomed to deal with it as such, and does so deal with it in respect to the matter in suit, he is estopped from denying its incorporation. National Bank of Fairhacen v. The Phoenix Warehousing Company, 6 Hun., 71.
2. A director is not, by reason of his position, estopped from setting up the defense of usury in an action brought against him by the association. Bank of Cadiz v. Slenons, 34 Ohio St., 142.
3. Where a national banking association has entered into a contract which it is not authorized to make, a party who has enjoyed the benefit of such contract can not question its validity. Casey v. La Société de Crédit Mobilier, 2 Woods, 77; German National Bank v. Meadowcroft, 95 Ill., 124.
4. Where officer of a bank guaranteed payment in name of bank and sold the note, the bank by retention and enjoyment of the proceeds is estopped to deny officer's act. People's Bank v. National Bank, 101 U. S., 181.
5. The organization of a national bank under the national banking act may be put in issue by a party who has not estopped himself. But a party who has accepted as payee a promissory note payable at a banking institution which the parties to the note style a national bank, and has sold and transferred the note to such banking institution, can not be allowed to raise that issue by merely averring want of knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to whether the institution is a body corporate, etc. Hufferaker v. National Bank of Monticello, 12 Bush, 237; 1 N. B. C., 504.
6. If, upon inquiry by the surety, the cashier, knowing that he is a surety, inform him that the note is paid, intending that he should rely upon his statement, and the surety does so, and in consequence changes his position by giving up securities, or indorsing other notes for the principal, or the like, the bank will be estopped to deny that such note is paid. Cocheo National Bank v. Haskell et al., 51 N. H., 116.
7. A stockholder of a private corporation, when sued by its creditors, is estopped from denying the legal existence of the corporation, or insisting that its charter has been forfeited by noncompliance with statutory provisions for which a forfeiture might be judicially declared. National Commercial Bank v. McDonnell, 22 Ala., 337.

B. Insolvent banks—

8. Where an officer of a bank loaned money for his individual benefit upon pretended collateral security of the bank: Held, That his bank was estopped to deny the loan and is liable therefor, as the lender dealt with him solely in his official capacity. Stewart v. Armstrong, 56 Fed. Rep., 167.
9. Vice-president of bank, also manager of a commercial house, substituted as collateral notes to order of his house, and indorsed by them without consideration: Held, That, as against holders of collateral, the house was estopped to deny that these notes were properly pledged as security for a loan to his bank. Ib.
10. The estoppel upon his bank exists only in favor of lender. Hence, his house has no remedy against it for any liability enforced by the lender on account of its indorsed notes so pledged. Ib.
11. A shareholder who has held himself out to the world as such is estopped to deny that the association was legally incorporated. Casey v. Galli, 94 U. S., 673; Wheelock v. Kost, 77 Ill., 296.
12. A person who received dividends on shares of stock standing in his name on the books of a national bank is estopped from denying his liability on the ground that he returned the same by check to an officer of the bank. He is presumed to be the owner of the stock when his name appears upon the books of the bank and the burden of proof is upon him to show that he is not in fact the owner. Finn v. Brown, 142 U. S., 56.

ESTOPPEL—Continued.

B. Insolvent banks—Continued.

13. A shareholder against whom suit is brought to recover the assessment made upon him by the Comptroller will not be permitted to deny the existence of the association, or that it was legally incorporated. Casey v. Galli, 94 U. S., 673.
14. In such suit stockholder is estopped to deny existence or validity of corporation. Ib.
15. The legality of the appointment of the receiver can not be questioned by the debtors of the bank when sued by him. The bank may move to have the appointment set aside, but the debtors can not. Cadle v. Baker, 20 Wall., 650; Platt v. Beebe, 57 N. Y., 339.
16. A corporation which received and used the proceeds of a discount of notes by its president is estopped to deny his authority to discount the paper. German National Bank v. Louisville Butchers' Hide and Tallow Co. (Ky.), 29 S. W., 882.
17. Where the cashier, intrusted by its directors with its entire management, has been accustomed in having paper rediscounted to guarantee its payment, the bank will be estopped from denying his authority to so guarantee it. First National Bank v. Stone (Mich.), 64 N. W., 487.
18. Where the president of a bank procures advancements to be made to a relative by the bank, promising to become liable therefor, and not to receive payment of any part of the amount which such relative owes him individually until the bank was paid, he is estopped to claim the benefit of a priority given his debt, in a mortgage executed by such relative over that due the bank, and whatever benefit accrues to him under such mortgage is subordinate to the claim of the bank. Brown v. Farmers and Merchants' National Bank (Tex. Civ. App.) 31 S. W., 216.

EVIDENCE:

1. The certificate of the Comptroller of the Currency that an association has complied with all the provisions required to be complied with before commencing the business of banking is admissible in evidence upon a plea of nul tiel corporation; and such certificate, together with proof that the association has been acting as a national banking association for a long time, is amply sufficient evidence to establish, at least prima facie, the existence of the corporation. Mix v. The National Bank of Bloomington, 91 Ill., 20; Merchants' National Bank of Bangor v. Glendon, 120 Mass., 97.
2. The certificate of the Comptroller of the Currency duly made is sufficient evidence of the appointment of the receiver in an action brought by him. Platt v. Beebe, 57 N. Y., 339; 1 N. B. C., 725.
3. And in a suit against the association or its shareholders such certificate of the Comptroller is conclusive as to the completeness of the organization. Casey v. Galli, 94 U. S., 673.
4. Under the national banking act, a copy of the certificate of organization of a United States national bank, which is certified by the Comptroller of the Currency and authenticated by his seal of office, is competent evidence in a State court. Tapley v. Martin, 116 Mass., 275; 1 N. B. C., 611.
5. In an action by "The West River National Bank of Jamaica, Vermont": Held, That the certificate of the Comptroller of the Currency of the existence of a corporation under the name of "The West River National Bank of Jamaica," described as located in the town of Jamaica, Vermont, was admissible under the general issue for the purpose of proving the plaintiff's corporate existence. Thatcher v. West River National Bank, 19 Mich., 196; 1 N. B. C., 622.
6. It is no objection to the admission in evidence of the certificate of the organization of a national bank, that the notary before whom it was acknowledged was one of the shareholders of the bank. The Comptroller's certificate of compliance with the act of Congress removes any objection which might otherwise have been made to the evidence on which he acted. Ib.
7. A certificate signed by the Deputy Comptroller of the Currency as "Acting Comptroller of the Currency" is a sufficient certificate by the Comptroller of the Currency within the requirements of Rev. St., sec. 5154. Aspinwall v. Butler, 133 U. S., 595.
8. A letter from the Comptroller directing the receiver to institute suit, if not objected to at the time, is sufficient evidence that the Comptroller has decided that the enforcement of the individual liability of the shareholders is necessary. Bowden v. Johnson, 107 U. S., 251.
9. In an action by a national bank, plaintiff may prove that it is a corporation de facto by parol evidence; that it is carrying on a general banking business as a national bank, authorized by the general laws of the United States, under the name by which it has sued, the court taking judicial notice of such laws. Yakima National Bank v. Knipe, 33 P., 834; 6 Wash., 348.

EXECUTION:

A judgment against a national bank in the hands of a receiver only establishes the validity of the claim; the plaintiff can have no execution on such judgment, but must wait pro rata distribution. Bank of Bethel v. Pahquioque Bank, 14 Wall., 383.

EXPIRATION OF CORPORATE EXISTENCE:

Under the act of Congress, July 12, 1882, extending for the purpose of liquidation the franchises of such national banking associations as do not extend the periods of their charters, and making applicable to them the statute relating to liquidation of banking associations, such an association may continue to elect officers and directors for the purpose of effecting liquidation. But after the expiration of the term of its charter the stock of such an association is not transferable so as to give the transferee the right to share in the election of directors, and such transferee, not being a stockholder, is ineligible as a director under Rev. St., sec. 5145. Richards v. Attleboro National Bank, 148 Mass., 187; 3 N. B. C., 495.

EXTENSION OF CORPORATE EXISTENCE:

The identity of a national bank is not affected by the extension of its term of existence. Trustees of First Presbyterian Church v. National State Bank, 29 A., 320.

FALSE ENTRIES:

1. The only remedy for the making of a false return to the auditor, by the cashier of a bank, of the resources and liabilities of the bank for the purposes of taxation is afforded by revised statutes of Ohio, section 2679, which provides that the auditor may examine the books of the bank, and any officer or agent of it under oath, and make out the statement; and any officer of the bank may be fined not exceeding $100 for failing to make the statement, or for willfully making a false one. Miller v. First National Bank, 21 N. E., 360.
2. Any entry on the books of the bank which is intentionally made to represent what is not true or what does not exist, with intent either to deceive its officers or defraud the association, is a false entry within the meaning of the statute. United States v. Harper, 33 Fed. Rep., 471.
3. It may be made personally or by direction. Ib.
4. The erasure of figures already written in the books of a national bank and the substitution of other figures which falsify the state of the account constitute a "false entry" within the meaning of sec. 5209, Rev. St., by which it is declared to be a misdemeanor to make any "false entry in any book, report, or statement of the association, with intent to injure or defraud," etc. United States v. Crecelius, 34 Fed. Rep., 30.
5. Where false entries are made by a clerk at the direction of the president, the latter is a principal. In the matter of Van Campen, 2 Ben., 419; United States v. Fish, 24 Fed. Rep., 585.
6. A report of condition of a national bank, whether called for by the Comptroller of the Currency or not, which is a report in the usual form made by an officer of the bank in his official capacity, if it contains a false entry made with intent to deceive, is within Rev. St., sec. 5209, which declares such false entries to be a misdemeanor. United States v. Hughitt, 45 Fed. Rep., 47.
7. Where false entries were made by a bookkeeper in a statement requested by a national-bank examiner purporting to give the balance due to depositors, which statement it was the duty of the examiner to make and not the bookkeeper, an indictment for making "false entries in a statement of the association" will not be sustained. United States v. Ege, 49 Fed. Rep., 852.
8. In an indictment of an officer of a national bank under sec. 5209, Rev. St., for making false entries in a report to the Comptroller of the Currency, it is no defense that such entries were made by a clerk and verified by the officer without actual knowledge of their truth, since it was his duty to inform himself. United States v. Allen, 47 Fed. Rep., 696.
9. A "false entry" in a report by a national-bank officer or a director to Comptroller of the Currency within the meaning of sec. 5209 is not merely an

- incorrect entry made through inadvertent negligence or mistake, but is an entry known to the maker to be untrue and incorrect and by him intentionally entered while so knowing its false and untrue character. United States v. Graves, 53 Fed. Rep., 634.
10. In determining whether a certain false entry, made by a national-bank officer in a report to the Comptroller, was made with intent to deceive or defraud, etc., within the meaning of the statute, the jury are authorized to infer the intent if the natural and legitimate result of such false entry would be to deceive any other officer or officers of the bank or any agent appointed to examine into its affairs. Ib.
 11. In determining whether defendant made a "false entry" within the meaning of the statute when he included in such report, as "Loans and discounts" of the bank, amounts which were being carried on the books of the bank as "overdrafts," the jury will not consider whether other national banks followed the same practice; but the jury, in determining whether such entry, if a "false entry," was made with intent to deceive and defraud, may consider whatever knowledge defendant is shown to have had as to practice of any other national bank in this respect. Ib.
 12. It is not necessary to complete the offense of making a "false entry" in a report to the Comptroller of the Currency of the condition of a national bank, with intent to deceive or defraud, that any person shall have been in fact actually deceived or defrauded; for the making of such a "false entry" with the intent to deceive or defraud is sufficient. Ib.
 13. Under sec. 5209 of the national-bank act it is an indictable offense to make a false entry in a report to the Comptroller of the Currency, or to aid and abet the making of such entry. United States v. French et al., 57 Fed. Rep., 382.
 14. It is not a "false entry" to enter under heading of "Loans and discounts" items which, on books of the bank, and for convenience of its officers, have been temporarily withdrawn from that heading, and which are, from day to day, carried on the books of the bank under heading of "Suspended loans" while awaiting action of directors as to same being withdrawn from character of loans and entered up as a loss on profit and loss account. United States v. Graves, 53 Fed. Rep., 634.
 15. The president and assistant cashier of a national bank are indictable as principals, under Rev. St., sec. 5209, for making a false entry in a report, although neither of them actually signed or attested the report. Cochran v. United States, 15 S. Ct., 628.
 16. The assistant cashier of a bank is indictable under Rev. St., sec. 5209, for making a false entry in a report to the Comptroller, although he is not one of the officers authorized by section 5211 to make such a report; for he may be regarded as within the category of "clerk or agent," within the terms of section 5209. Ib.
 17. An indictment under Rev. St., sec. 5209, for making a false entry in a report to the Comptroller, need not allege that such report was made by the banking association, or that it was actually verified by the oath or affirmation of the president or cashier, or attested by the directors, as required by section 5211; but it is sufficient to aver that defendant made such false entry "in a certain report of the condition of the First National Bank, * * * made to the Comptroller of the Currency in accordance with the provisions" of Rev. St., sec. 5211. Ib.
 18. The jury are warranted in finding that false entries were made with guilty intent from the testimony of defendant that the said entries were made under his direction, with the knowledge that they were not transactions of the day on which they were entered in the books of the bank. United States v. Folsom, 38 P., 70.

FORFEITURE OF CHARTER:

1. Forfeiture of the privileges and powers of a national bank must be determined by a suit brought by the Comptroller of the Currency and until determined it may do business, and no person, by a conspiracy to evade its regulations, may escape liability for borrowed money loaned by it, upon personal security in the manner authorized. Stephens v. Monongahela National Bank, 88 Penn. St., 157; 32 Am. Rep., 438; 2 N. B. C., 398.
2. Under Rev. St., sec. 5239, providing that if the directors of a national bank shall violate any of the provisions of the title relating to the organization and management of banks, the franchises of the bank shall be forfeited, such violation, however, to be determined by a proper court of the United States in a suit therefor by the Comptroller, and that in cases of such violation every director participating therein shall be personally liable for all damages which the bank, its shareholders, or any other person shall have sustained in consequence thereof, the Comptroller can not authorize the receiver to bring suit, under sec. 5234, to enforce such personal liability, until it has been adjudged by a proper court that such acts have been done as authorize a forfeiture of the charter. Welles v. Graves, 41 Fed. Rep., 459.

3. The forfeiture of the rights, privileges, and franchises of a bank authorized by Rev. St., sec. 5239, for violation by its directors of the provisions of the banking act, comes within sec. 1047, limiting suits for any penalty or forfeiture accruing under the laws of the United States to five years. Ib.
4. The right to maintain an action under Rev. St., sec. 5239, to recover from a bank director the damages sustained by his bank in consequence of excessive loans made by him while serving in the capacity of director, is not affected by the fact that the Comptroller has or has not procured a forfeiture of the bank's charter. Stephens v. Overstolz, 43 Fed. Rep., 771.
5. In an information charging that "the banking association and the directors thereof did knowingly permit," etc., the allegation that the association, aside from the directors, permitted the doing of the alleged acts, tenders an immaterial issue, and should be stricken out on motion. Trenholm, Comptroller v. Commercial National Bank, 38 Fed. Rep., 323.
6. As the section only refers to acts done by the directors, or by the executive officers with the knowledge of the directors, an information seeking a forfeiture, which charges that the association did the act, is insufficient. Ib.

FORGERIES:

1. A depositor owes a duty to the bank to make an examination of his pass book and vouchers within a reasonable time; and if loss would result to the bank from his failure to do so he cannot recover for forged checks paid by the bank and charged to his account. First National Bank v. Allen, 14 So., 335.
2. Where the examination is committed to a clerk or agent who has himself committed the forgeries, his concealment of such forgeries will not relieve the depositor from the consequences of the failure to discover the fraud and notify the bank. Ib.
3. But if the omission of the depositor to discharge such duty has resulted in no injury to the bank, the depositor may recover. Ib.
4. Where, however, forgeries by the same person are committed after the depositor is chargeable with knowledge of the fact, the failure of the depositor to give the bank notice may estop him to dispute the genuineness of such checks. Ib.
5. Plaintiff bank paid defendant bank money on a forged order, made payable at plaintiff bank, bearing the general indorsement of the payee and of defendant, the latter being "For collection." The person by whom the order purported to be drawn was a customer of plaintiff, and had directed it to pay orders drawn by him. The forgery was not discovered for four weeks: Held, That an answer alleging that at the time of the payment the payee had property from which the order could have been collected, but that before the discovery of the forgery the payee had departed with his property, was not sufficient to prevent recovery of the money paid defendant, as it did not show how long the payee and the property remained within reach, and therefore failed to show loss to defendant by unreasonable delay of plaintiff in discovering the forgery and notifying defendant. Indiana National Bank v. First National Bank, 36 N. E., 332.
6. In an action against a bank by a depositor to recover the amount of checks drawn by plaintiff, but alleged to have been paid by defendant on indorsements of the payees' names forged by plaintiff's cashier, part of whose duty was to fill in the body of checks for plaintiff to sign, pay bills, and keep the accounts, it appeared that the money on the checks in question had been obtained by plaintiff's cashier, but there was no evidence that any payees had been named in them, the canceled checks having been destroyed by the cashier: Held, That plaintiff could not recover, as it would not be presumed that the cashier committed forgery in addition to the embezzlement, when he could have avoided forgery by making the checks payable to "cash" or "bearer," in which event defendant would not be liable. National Board of Marine Underwriters v. National Bank of the Republic, 29 N. Y. S., 698.
7. Defendant bank received a check drawn on plaintiff for collection. After plaintiff had remitted to defendant and defendant had paid the holder of the check, it was discovered that the payee's name was forged: Held. That delay of plaintiff in notifying defendant of the forgery did not relieve defendant from liability, where the only evidence of injury from the delay was that of defendant's cashier, who said: "If more reasonable notice had been given the forger would have been arrested earlier, and more favorable results might have arisen." Third National Bank v. Merchants' National Bank, 27 N. Y. S., 1070.

8. In an action by a bank which has paid to another bank a check drawn on the former bank and transferred to the latter by a forged indorsement, it is immaterial whether the signature of the drawer of the check is genuine, since both parties are estopped to deny its genuineness. First National Bank v. Northwestern National Bank (Ill.), 38 N. E., 739.

GUARANTY:

A personal guaranty, given by stockholders and directors to another bank in consideration of loans, discounts, or other advances to be made, for the repayment of any indebtedness thus created, imposes a liability on the guarantors when acted on by the guarantee, though no notice of the acceptance of the guarantee was given, for the contract shows a personal interest of the guarantors in the advances constituting a consideration moving to them. Doud et al. v. National Park Bank, 54 Fed. Rep., 846.

INCREASE OF CAPITAL STOCK: See Capital stock.

INDICTMENT: See False entries.

1. An indictment under act of July 12, 1882, amending sec. 5208, making it a misdemeanor to "certify any check" drawn by a person not then having on deposit sufficient money to meet same need not allege delivery of check by bank after certification. United States v. Potter, 56 Fed. Rep., 83.
2. When indictment alleges certification as accomplished, authentication will not be presumed as an essential part thereof, and hence it is unnecessary to allege absence of required credit or deposit at time of authentication. Ib.
3. The indictment, in charging in the language of sec. 5208, that the drawer of the check had not on deposit, at the time it was certified, "an amount of money equal to that specified" in the check is sufficient. Ib.
4. The indictment does not charge two offenses in the same count because it alleges therein that the check was certified "before the amount thereof had been entered to the credit of the drawer on the books of the bank," and also at a time when the drawer did not "have on deposit an amount of money equal to" the amount of the check. Ib.
5. An indictment against the president for "aiding and abetting" cashier in certifying check under prohibition can not be sustained. Ib.
6. An indictment charging defendants with aiding and abetting a director in a willful misapplication of the money of an association must state facts to show that there has been such misapplication committed by the director. United States v. Warner, 26 Fed. Rep., 616.
7. An indictment against the president of a national bank alleging that he "unlawfully and willfully and with intent to injure and defraud the said association for the use, benefit, and advantage of himself, did misapply certain of the money and funds of the association which he * * * then and there, with the intent aforesaid, paid and caused to be paid" to certain persons named, was bad for failure to allege the fact that made such payment unlawful or criminal. United States v. Eno, 56 Fed. Rep., 218.
8. It is not essential that such indictment should allege that the acts charged were done without the knowledge and assent of the directors of the association. Ib.
9. In indictment under Rev. St., sec. 5209, for willfully misapplying the funds of a national bank, it is not necessary to charge that the funds had been previously intrusted to defendant, since such act may be done by an officer or agent of the association without his having previously received the funds into his manual possession. United States v. Northway, 129 U. S., 327.
10. In indictment charging president of a bank with aiding and abetting its cashier in the misapplication of its funds, it is not necessary to aver that he then and there knew that the person so aided and abetted was the cashier. Ib.
11. A form of indictment which sufficiently describes and identifies the crime of abstracting the funds of a national bank created by Rev. St., sec. 5209, sufficiently states the character and capacity of the bank. Ib.

12. An indictment for willfully misapplying funds of a national bank (Rev. St., sec. 5209), charging in general words fraudulent misapplication and intent to defraud the bank, and describing specifically funds misapplied and the manner of misapplication, need not negative every possible theory consistent with an honest purpose in the disposition of the funds specified. Evans v. United States, 14 S. Ct., 934; Ib., 939.
13. An indictment charging directors of a national banking association with making false entries in a report of condition to the Comptroller of the Currency can not be sustained under sec. 5209. United States v. Potter, 56 Fed. Rep., 83.
14. The use in an indictment, under sec. 5209, of the words, "then and there," in alleging that the defendant was president or director of such bank and made alleged false entries, is not uncertain or repugnant merely because in one place they may refer to the whole of a day and in another to only one instant of the day. Ib.
15. The omission of the signs for dollars and cents in the recital of alleged false entries in reports and misnomer of reports are immaterial where reports are set out by their tenor in the indictment. Ib.
16. It is not necessary to allege specifically in such indictment that the reports were transmitted to the Comptroller of the Currency, or that they were published. Ib.
17. Allegations that the false entries were made with intent to "injure and defraud the said association and certain persons to the grand jurors unknown" are sufficient. Ib.
18. An indictment against the president of a national bank, under sec. 5209, for making false entries in the books of the bank, charging that it was done "with intent to defraud said association and certain persons to the grand jurors unknown" is sufficient so far as concerns the allegations of intent. United States v. Potter, 56 Fed. Rep., 97.
19. When indictment alleges that the false entries indicated that there was then in the paying teller's department of the bank certain amount in gold, legal tenders, and gold certificates, when in fact such amount was not there, it is not necessary that it should further allege that such amount was not then in other departments of the bank. Ib.
20. In addition to the entries themselves, the indictment need set out the context only when it so modifies the entries as to be in presumption of law a part of them. Ib.
21. The fact that the note teller's and paying teller's books, in which the president is charged with making the false entries, are usually kept by those officers without interference by the president does not invalidate indictment thereon. Ib.
22. Counts charging false entries by the president in reports of condition of the bank, which allege that reports were made in conformity to the law and then set them out by their tenor are bad, for their failure to allege specifically that the reports were verified and attested by the cashier. Ib.
23. Where the entry whose tenor is set forth contains the words "See schedule," it is not a valid objection to the indictment that these words are not explained. United States v. French et al., 57 Fed. Rep., 352.
24. It is sufficient if the indictment allege the substance of the reports in question without setting them out in full. Ib.
25. An allegation in an indictment under sec. 5209 that defendant "did make a certain false entry in a certain report of the association" will not be construed to mean that the entry was made after the report was completed, and was, in fact, an alteration. Ib.
26. The preparation and completion of the report, the making of the false entry therein, its verification, attestation, and delivery to the Comptroller, may be considered as simultaneous, and there is no repugnance in failing to allege that any or all of these things occurred in consecutive order. Ib.
27. Though the counts in an indictment under this section for aiding and abetting the cashier in making such false entries described defendant as "being then and there a director" of the bank in question, it can not be held that they charge him in aiding and abetting in his official capacity. Ib.
28. Counts in such indictment, which charge defendant with procuring and counseling the false entry before the fact, are valid, for such acts are covered by the clause of the section extending the penalty to any one who "abets" an officer or agent in the acts prohibited. Ib.
29. Indictment against president for false entry on books held sufficient in form and averments. United States v. Britton, 107 U. S., 655.

30. Indictment against president for fraudulent purchase of stock of the bank is bad if it fails to state for whose use purchase was made, or if it states that it was for use of the bank, or if it does not aver that it was not made to prevent loss on previous debt. Ib.
31. Indictment for perjury against officer for false statement under sec. 5211, Rev. St., is bad if, prior to act of 1881, chapter 82, his oath verifying report was taken before notary appointed by a State. United States v. Curtis, 107 U. S., 671.
32. An indictment of persons for aiding and abetting a president of a national bank in misapplying its funds and making false entries in its books, with intent to defraud it, in violation of Rev. St., sec. 5209, need not specifically set out the act or acts by which the aiding and abetting were consummated. Coffin v. United States, 15 S. Ct., 394.
33. An indictment of H. and other persons for violation of Rev. St., sec. 5209, averred that "said H., then and there being president" of a certain national bank, "by virtue of his said office as president aforesaid," "misapplied the funds" with intent to defraud, etc., and that such other persons did unlawfully, feloniously, "knowingly," and with intent to defraud, aid and abet the "said H., as aforesaid:" Held, That the indictment averred that the aiders and abettors knew that H. was president of the bank at the time it is averred the acts were committed. Ib.
34. Such indictment charged that H. did misapply the moneys of the bank with intent to convert a certain sum to the use of a specified company by causing it to be paid out of the moneys of the bank on a check drawn on the bank by such company, which check was then and there cashed and paid out of the bank's funds, which sum, and no part thereof, was such company entitled to withdraw from the bank, because it had no funds therein, and that said company was then and there insolvent, as H. well knew, whereby said sum became lost to the bank: Held, That the indictment averred the actual conversion of the sum misapplied. Ib.
35. Where an indictment under Rev. St., sec. 5209, against a president of a national bank and others, for misapplying the funds of the bank, avers that such funds were misapplied with intent to convert the same to the use of a certain company, "and to other persons to the grand jury unknown," the Government need not prove want of knowledge in the grand jury as to such persons; and, in the absence of evidence on the subject, the verity of the averment will be presumed. Ib.

INJUNCTION:

1. Section 5242, Rev. St., providing that no injunctions shall issue from a State court against a national bank before final judgment, does not deprive the Federal court of power to issue such injunction or to continue after removal of the case an injunction previously granted by a State court. Hower v. Weiss Malting and Elevator Co. et. al., 55 Fed. Rep., 356.
2. State courts have no power to grant before final judgment an injunction prohibiting a national bank from disposing of securities in its possession. Freeman Manufacturing Company v. National Bank of Republic, 35 N. E., 865.
3. The provisions of the national-bank act, forbidding such injunctions, were not repealed by St. U. S., 1882, c. 290, sec. 4, or St. U. S., 1887, c. 373, sec. 4, or St. U. S., 1888, c. 866, sec. 4. Ib.

INSOLVENT BANKS: See Preferred claims; Receiver.

1. A return of nulla bona upon an execution issued against the property of a national bank is proof of its insolvency. Whealock v. Kost, 77 Ill., 296.
2. The creditors of an insolvent national banking association in the hands of a receiver are entitled to interest on their claims during the period of administration. National Bank of Commonwealth v. Mechanics' National Bank, 94 U. S., 437; White v. Knox, 111 U. S., 734.
3. A subscriber who has made payments on his subscription to the proposed increase, believing that the statutory requirements would be complied with, is entitled to have the amount thereof allowed as a claim against the assets of the bank in the receiver's hands. Armstrong v. Stange, 37 Fed. Rep., 568.
4. The directors of a national bank voted to increase the capital stock "to $1,000,000," and that the stockholders "have the right to take new stock at par to an equal amount to that then held by them." No subscription books were opened, and the plaintiff did not subscribe for any of the new stock, but paid the bank a sum equal to the amount of stock then held by her, taking a receipt therefor "on account of subscription to new stock." The new stock subscribed for and paid in did not amount to enough to

- make the capital stock $1,000,000, and the directors then voted that the capital stock be increased by the sum paid in. The Comptroller of the Currency was notified that the capital stock of the bank had been increased to that extent, and he issued a certificate authorizing the bank to carry on business with that amount of capital stock. The amount paid in, as above, was used by the bank in its general business, and lost within a month after the certificate was issued, the bank having suspended. The plaintiff demanded back the amount paid in by her: Held, That she was entitled to recover it, with interest from the date of her demand. Eaton v. Pacific National Bank, 144 Mass., 260; 3 N. B. C., 483.
5. A national bank determined to increase its capital stock from $300,000 to $500,000. The new stock subscriptions amounted to only $130,060. The bank advertised an increase to $430,060. This was never authorized by vote of the stockholders, nor certified to or approved by the Comptroller of the Currency. The plaintiff subscribed and paid $2,000 for so much of the originally proposed increase: Held, That plaintiff did not become a stockholder, and when the bank became insolvent was entitled to judgment against the receiver for the amount so paid. Schierenberg v. Stephens, 32 Mo. App., 314; 3 N. B. C., 528.
 6. Rev. St., secs. 5234 and 5239, prescribing the method of enforcing the liability of the directors of national banks for violation of the banking law, are exclusive of other remedies, and a creditor of an insolvent bank, for which a receiver has been appointed, can not sue its directors for the purpose of making them personally liable for the mismanagement of the bank. National Exchange Bank v. Peters et al., 44 Fed. Rep., 13.
 7. A national bank does not lose its corporate existence by mere default in paying its notes and the appointment of a receiver. Bank of Bethel v. Pahquoque Bank, 14 Wall., 383.
 8. Such associations may be sued, though a receiver has been appointed and is administering its concerns. Ib.
 9. A creditor of an insolvent national bank, who establishes his debt by suit and judgment after refusal of Comptroller to allow it, is entitled to share in dividends on debt and interest so established as of day of failure of bank, not for subsequent interest. White v. Knox, 111 U. S., 784.
 10. The personal property of an insolvent bank in hands of a receiver is exempt from State taxation. Rosenblatt v. Johnston, 104 U. S., 462.
 11. When a creditor of a national bank is entitled to interest on the amount of his dividend from the time it was declared by a receiver of the bank. Armstrong v. American Exchange National Bank, 133 U. S., 433.
 12. In estimating the dividends to be paid out of the assets of an insolvent association, the value of the claims at the time when the insolvency is declared is to be taken as the basis of distribution. White v. Knox, 111 U. S., 784.
 13. A creditor will not have a lien upon the funds of the association because checks given in settlement of balances were fraudulent, and were given at a time when the bank was hopelessly insolvent and its officers were contemplating flight. Citizens' National Bank v. Dowd, 35 Fed. Rep., 340.
 14. A suit against a national bank to enforce the collection of a demand is abated by a decree dissolving the corporation, and forfeiting its rights and franchises. National Bank v. Colby, 21 Wall., 609; 1 N. B. C., 109.
 15. The claims of depositors in a suspended national bank are, when proved to the satisfaction of the Comptroller of the Currency, on the same footing as if they were reduced to judgments. National Bank of Commonwealth v. Mechanics' National Bank, 94 U. S., 437; 1 N. B. C., 133.
 16. National banks are not subject to the bankrupt act, and bankruptcy courts have no jurisdiction as against such associations. If insolvent, they can be wound up only in the mode provided by the national banking act. In re Manufacturers' National Bank, 5 Bissell, 499; 1 N. B. C., 192.
 17. The plaintiff, a citizen of New York, claiming title by assignment to the bonds deposited with the Treasurer of the United States to secure the circulation of a national bank, filed a bill setting forth that the Comptroller of the Currency and the Treasurer refused to recognize his right to the bonds or their proceeds; that the Comptroller had appointed one K., a citizen of New York, receiver of the said bank, and intended to sell the said bonds and to pay the proceeds, after redeeming the circulation of the bank, to the general creditors of the bank, or to K. as such receiver, and that K. claimed as such receiver an interest adverse to the plaintiff in said bonds. The bill made the Comptroller, the Treasurer, and K. parties defendant, and prayed a decree establishing the plaintiff's title, and

- requiring the Comptroller and the Treasurer to deliver to the plaintiff the surplus of the bonds after redeeming the notes of the bank and annulling the appointment of K. as receiver. K. demurred to the bill for lack of equity: Held, That the demurrer must be sustained. Van Antwerp v. Hulburd, 3 Blatchford, 232; 1 N. B. C., 219.
18. Per Woodruff, J. (1) The plaintiff could not question the validity of K.'s appointment as receiver; (2) that, as the court could not grant the relief as to the Comptroller and Treasurer, it could not as to K.; (3) that, as under the national banking act the proceeds of the bonds could never come into the possession of K., he had no concern in the suit; (4) that the allegation that plaintiff was informed and believed that K. claimed an interest in the bonds adverse to the plaintiff was not sufficient to sustain the bill. Ib.
 19. Per Hall, J. The residuary interest of the bank in the bonds was a part of the assets of the bank, to which K., as receiver, was entitled, unless the plaintiff's claim thereto was good, and that therefore the bill presented a question of property between plaintiff and K., but that as plaintiff and K. were residents of the same State the circuit court had not jurisdiction. Ib.
 20. Where a national bank is declared in default by the Comptroller of the Currency, and a receiver is appointed, and a sufficient fund is realized from its assets to pay all claims against it and leave a surplus, the Comptroller should allow interest on the claims during the period of administration before appropriating the surplus to the stockholders of the bank. Chemical National Bank v. Bailey, 13 Blatchford, 430; 1 N. B. C., 260.
 21. An action of assumpsit to recover such interest will not lie against the Comptroller of the Currency or the receiver of the bank, but will lie against the bank. Ib.
 22. Where a bank has by reason of its own default been placed in the hands of a receiver, a demand of payment by a depositor is no longer a necessary condition precedent to a right of action for the deposit, and the deposit bears interest from the time of such default. Ib.
 23. The receiver of a national bank holds the same title to the assets of the bank that the bank itself held; and he has no greater rights in enforcing their recovery than the bank itself would have had. Casey v. La Société de Crédit Mobilier de Paris, 2 Woods, 77; 1 N. B. C., 285.
 24. Insolvent debtors of an insolvent national bank assign, giving preferences in favor of the bank. Quære, whether the debt preferred shall carry interest: Held, That where there is nothing in the language of the assignment, or in the circumstances under which the debt was created, to negative the presumption that the debt should bear interest, and nothing in the conduct of the receiver of the national bank to estop him from claiming interest, in such a case interest must be paid. Bain et al. v. Peters, 44 Fed. Rep., 307.
 25. The question whether a savings bank should be paid in full by an insolvent national bank, pursuant to the State law (Laws N. Y. 1882, chap. 409, sec. 282; Bank v. Davis, 26 *N. Y.  26. The receipt by a bank of the proceeds of a fraudulent sale of stock belonging to it, and the subsequent appointment of a receiver, give its creditors no such right in the proceeds as will prevent the purchaser from rescinding the sale and requiring restitution. Merrill v. Florida Land and Improvement Co., 60 Fed. Rep., 17.
 27. When a bank has become hopelessly insolvent, and its president knows that it is so, it is a fraud to receive deposits of checks from an innocent depositor, ignorant of its condition, and he can reclaim them or their proceeds; and the pleadings in this case are so framed as to give the plaintiff in error the benefit of this principle. St. Louis and San Francisco Railway Co. v. Johnston, 133 U. S., 566.
 28. Sureties on indebtedness of insolvent bank are not entitled to prove any claim against it by reason of the enforcement of their liability as such. Stewart v. Armstrong, 56 Fed. Rep., 167.
 29. Where an indorser pays a note to a bank and takes a receipt containing an order for a surrender of the note on return of the receipt, the relation between the bank and the indorser is not that of debtor and creditor, but is a fiduciary relation, entitling the indorser, on the bank becoming insolvent without applying the money on the note or procuring its surrender, to have the assets in the hands of its receiver applied in payment thereof. Massey v. Fisher, 62 Fed. Rep., 953.

30. The fact that the money was not marked, and by a mingling with other funds of the bank lost its identity, does not affect the right to recovery in full, if it can be traced to the vaults of the bank and it appears that a sum equivalent to it remained continuously therein until removed by the receiver. Ib.
31. The appointment of a receiver for an insolvent national bank under act of Congress of June 30, 1876, sec. 1, which authorizes the Comptroller, when satisfied of the insolvency of a banking association, to appoint a receiver, "who shall proceed to close up such association and enforce the personal liability of the shareholders," does not dissolve the corporation. Chemical National Bank v. Hartford Deposit Company (Ill. Sup.), 41 N. E., 225.
32. One induced to subscribe for certificates alleged to represent an increase of the capital stock of a national bank at a time when no increase had been authorized, on false representations of the cashier as to the bank's condition, it being in fact insolvent at the time, is entitled to a judgment against the bank and its receiver for the purchase money paid. Newbegin v. Newton National Bank (C. C. A.), 66 F., 701.
33. A contract between two national banks that the proceeds of paper, discounted by one for the other, should not be drawn on in advance of the maturity of such paper is not affected by the subsequent fraud of the bank obtaining the discount in reporting such proceeds to the Comptroller of the Currency as part of its cash reserve. Fisher v. Tradesmen's National Bank (C. C. A.), 64 F., 706.
34. A contract by which one bank pledges any of its property in the hands of another bank, as collateral to notes discounted for and guaranteed by it, authorizes the discounting bank to hold a deposit balance, standing to the credit of the borrowing bank at the time of its insolvency, as collateral to any liability, then or at maturity of the discounted notes, until the amount of the lien has been ascertained. Fisher v. Continental National Bank (C. C. A.), 64 F., 707.
35. A statement by the president of a bank, for the purpose of procuring from another bank a discount of paper, that such former bank is in good condition, when in fact it is hopelessly insolvent in consequence of the president's own malversation, is a fraud, and entitles the discounting bank to recover back the proceeds of the discount. Fisher v. United States National Bank (C. C. A.), 64 F., 710.
36. The fact that an insolvent national bank has gone into voluntary liquidation does not absolve it from liability to be garnished. Birmingham National Bank v. Mayer (Ala.), 16 So., 520.
37. Rev. Stat., sec. 5242, which invalidates all transfers of the notes, bonds, or bills of exchange of a national bank after the commission of an act of insolvency with a view to the preference of one creditor over another, does not prohibit a bank which has in good faith accepted the draft of a national bank the day before the latter's insolvency, and afterwards paid the same, from applying the proceeds of collections made by it on paper in its hands belonging to the insolvent bank, to the payment of the draft, since its lien on such collections runs from the date of the acceptance. In re Armstrong, 41 Fed. Rep., 381.
38. Sections 5151 and 5239, Revised Statutes, exclude banking associations from none of the remedies for the collection of debts, claims, and dues for the bank or its creditors provided by the general rules and principles of law and equity, but they impose upon shareholders and directors additional liabilities and subject them to proper remedies for their enforcement. Hayden v. Thompson (C. C. A.)
39. In the State of Nebraska a suit to recover from an innocent shareholder of an insolvent national bank an unearned dividend which he has received in good faith without notice of any fact that would lead a reasonably prudent man to learn that the dividend was not earned, is barred in four years from its receipt. Hayden v. Thompson (C. C. A.)

INTEREST: See Usury; Insolvent banks.

1. The provision in sec. 30 of the act of 1864 "that where, by the law of any State, a different rate is limited for banks of issue organized under State laws, the rate so limited shall be allowed for associations organized in any such State under the act," is enabling, and not restrictive; and, therefore, a national banking association in any State may stipulate for as high a rate of interest as by the laws of such State a natural person may, although State banks of issue are restricted to a less rate. Tiffany v. National Bank of the State of Missouri, 18 Wall., 409.

INTEREST: See Usury; Insolvent banks—Continued.

2. Bank may take the rate of interest allowed by the State to natural persons generally, and a higher rate where State banks of issue can take it. Ib.
3. But it is not to be inferred from Tiffany v. National Bank of Missouri that whatever by the laws of the State is lawful for natural persons in acquiring title to negotiable paper by discount is lawful for national banks. National Bank v. Johnson, 104 U. S., 271.
4. May charge rate of interest allowed to natural persons in the State or Territory where bank is located, but can not take more, even on discount of paper for third party, without it being usury. Ib.
5. The interest which a national banking association may charge is limited to the rate allowed to the banks of the State generally; and the fact that a few of the State banks are specially authorized to take a higher rate is not a warrant for a national banking association to do so. Duncan v. First National Bank of Mount Pleasant, 11 Bank Mag., 787; 1 N. B. C., 360; First National Bank v. Gruber, 87 Penn. St., 468.
6. Where the State law does not limit the rate of interest which may be charged on loans to corporations, a national banking association located in that State can not charge more than 7 per cent interest on such loans. In re Wild, 11 Blatch., 243.
7. Where by the statutes of the State parties are authorized to contract for any rate of interest, national banking associations in that State may likewise contract for any rate, and are not limited to 7 per cent. Hines v. Marmolejo, 60 Cal., 229.
8. Under Rev. St., sec. 5197, authorizing national banks to charge any rate of interest allowed by the law of the State wherein such bank is organized, and the statute fixing a legal rate of interest, a national bank in Colorado may charge interest at any agreed rate. Rockwell v. Farmers' National Bank, 36 P., 905.
9. As act 1873 (70 Ohio Laws, 178) repeals the statute fixing the rate of interest for banks of issue, a national bank may charge interest at 8 per cent under Rev. St., sec. 3181. La Dow v. First National Bank, 37 N. E., 11.
10. The decisions of the United States Supreme Court teach that the statute referred to is to be liberally construed in favor of national banks, and even when the language of the statute would restrict them to a less rate of interest than is allowed to individuals, the intendment of the law must be presumed to have been otherwise. Tiffany v. National Bank of Missouri held that the intent of the law was to put national banks on an equal footing with State banks; to allow the State banks to charge any amount of interest and national banks only 8 per cent would violate that intention; to say that national banks could only charge 7 per cent would be to say that the State had prescribed no rate of interest. National Bank of Jefferson v. Bruhn & Williams, 64 Tex., 571.
11. Where drafts are from time to time deposited in a bank, some of them being payable on demand and some on time, an agreement between the bank and the depositor that credit shall be given for such drafts on the day after their deposit, the depositor being charged the full legal rate for any overdraft, does not constitute usury when such agreement is made in good faith in order to save involved calculations. Timberlake et al. v. First National Bank, 43 Fed. Rep., 231.
12. Charging a depositor, by agreement, at the end of each month, with interest at the full legal rate on his overdraft, and adding such charge to the overdraft, does not constitute usury. Ib.
13. Under Code Miss., 1880, which only allows interest on the amount of money actually lent, a national bank in that State can not deduct interest in advance. Ib.
14. Under the national banking act, any national bank in Pennsylvania can charge and take the same rate of interest as any State bank of issue is authorized to charge. First National Bank of Mount Pleasant v. Trustman, 36 Legal Intelligence, 223; 2 N. B. C., 182.
15. Interest on dividends should not be allowed in favor of one who voluntarily delayed presenting his claim until long after the dividends were declared, although the delay was due to a mistaken belief that he had a right to pay his claim in full from collaterals in his hands. Chemical Nat'l Bank v. Armstrong, 59 Fed. Rep., 372.
16. The refusal of a creditor to accept the receiver's offer to allow part of a claim without prejudice to a suit for allowance of the remainder, or to the receiver's right to still further reduce the claim if the court should hold such reduction proper, bars the creditor's right to interest on subsequent dividends on the part offered to be allowed, although it is subsequently

- adjudged that the whole of his claim should have been allowed; but he is entitled to interest on the dividends on the part rejected. Ib.
17. In case of book accounts in favor of depositors, interest begins to run against an association in liquidation from the date of the suspension of business. Richmond v. Irons, 121 U. S., 27.
 18. There is an established rate of interest in Washington (10 per cent), and the fact that by special contracts different rates may be collected does not affect the question, and therefore a national bank may charge that rate. Yakima National Bank v. Knipe, 33 F., 334; 6 Wash., 348.
 19. The fact that there are several entries in the books of a bank and in the pass book of a depositor of allowance of interest on his account is not sufficient to prove a contract by the bank to pay interest while the deposit should remain, where it is proven that after the entries were made the officers of the bank, on several occasions, told the depositor that it was against their rules to pay interest, and that they would not pay it, and that he apparently acquiesced. McLoughlin v. National Mohawk Valley Bank, 139 N. Y. St., 514; 34 N. E., 1095.
 20. Rev. St. U. S., sec. 5197, authorizes national banks to take interest at the rate allowed in the State where the bank is located, and, when no rate is fixed by the laws of such State, they are authorized to take interest at a rate not exceeding 7 per cent: Held, That since 1 Hill's Code, sec. 2796, and Sess. Laws 1893, page 29, allow individuals and State banks to take any rate of interest agreed to in writing by the parties to the contract, national banks have the same privilege. Wolverton v. Exchange National Bank (Wash.), 39 p., 247.

JURISDICTION: See Actions.

A. Solvent banks—

1. In an action against a national bank in a circuit court of the United States, if all the parties are citizens of the district in which the bank is situated, and the action does not come under sec. 5209 or sec. 5239, Rev. St., the circuit court has no jurisdiction. Whittemore v. Amoskeag National Bank, 134 U. S., 527.
2. The Federal courts have jurisdiction of an action between a national bank located in one State and a citizen of another State. First National Bank v. Forest, 40 Fed. Rep., 705.

6. The words of restriction to the place where said association is situated apply to the county and municipal courts, and not to the State courts. In the State courts of general jurisdiction a national banking association can be sued whenever an individual can be for the same cause. Talmage v. Third National Bank, 27 Hun., 61.
7. A State court can entertain an action brought to recover of a national banking association the penalty for taking usury. Orday v. The Central National Bank, 47 Md., 217; Hade v. McVay, 31 Ohio St., 233; Bletz v. Columbia National Bank, 37 Penn St., 37.
8. State courts have no jurisdiction of the case of an embezzlement of the funds of the association by one of its officers. Commonwealth v. Felton, 101 Mass., 204; Commonwealth ex rel. Torrey v. Ketner, 92 Penn St., 372.

10. A national banking association is for jurisdictional purposes a citizen of the State in which it is located. Davis v. Cook, 9 Nev., 134.
11. The offense of making false entries in the books of a bank, for which an officer of the bank is liable to punishment, under sec. 5209, since it is not a crime of which the State courts have concurrent jurisdiction, under sec. 5328, is exclusively cognizable by the Federal courts. In re Eno, 54 Fed. Rep., 669.
12. Under the provisions of the act of August 13, 1888, national banks are deemed to be, for jurisdictional purposes, citizens of the State wherein they are located and they no longer possess the right of removal on the ground

13. An action for money against a national bank whose corporate existence is admitted is not a suit arising under the laws of the United States. Ulster County Savings Institution v. Fourth National Bank, 8 N. Y., 162.
 14. The provision that the Federal courts shall not have jurisdiction of an action on a promissory note or other chose in action by an assignee thereof, unless the action might have been maintained in such courts if no assignment or transfer had been made (act August 13, 1888), does not apply to the indorsement and transfer of the payee of notes which were made to him merely that he might as agent of the maker raise money for it by negotiating them with third persons. Wachusett National Bank v. Sioux City Store Works, 56 Fed. Rep., 321.
 15. A suit on the official bond of the cashier of a national bank, conditioned for a faithful performance of the duties thereof, "according to law and the by-laws" of the bank, involves a Federal question and is maintainable in a Federal court irrespective of the citizenship of the parties. Walker et al. v. Windsor National Bank, 56 Fed. Rep., 76.
 16. In a suit which is properly brought in a Federal court, because it involves a Federal question, the court has full jurisdiction of the defendant, who, though a resident of another district, waives his personal privilege of being sued in his district by voluntarily appearing. Ib.
 17. A citizen of New York brought suit in the circuit court of North Carolina against a citizen of North Carolina on promissory note to cashier of national bank, which was also located there. Note had been indorsed to plaintiff. After indorsement a receiver had been appointed for the bank: Held, That the receiver would have been an assignee of the note although the assignment was brought about by operation of law, and that as bank could not have sued in circuit court neither could the receiver nor the plaintiff, as the court had no jurisdiction. Ib.
 18. Under the above statute assignee can not maintain a suit on a promissory note unless the original payee could have prosecuted it. Ib.
 19. The exemption of national banks from suits in State courts in other than their own county or city, by act of February 18, 1875 (18 St., 316, chap. 89) was a personal privilege which could be waived by appearing to such suit and not claiming the immunity. First National Bank v. Morgan, 132 U. S., 141.
 20. The provision in act of July 12, 1882 (22 St., 163, chap. 290, sec. 4), respecting suits by or against national banks, refers only to suits brought after the passage of that act. Ib.

 23. State courts have no jurisdiction of actions to recover penalties imposed by the national banking act. Missouri River Telegraph Company v. First National Bank of Sioux City, 74 Ill., 217; 1 N. B. C., 401.
 24. When a State bank acting under a statute of the State calls in its circulation issued under State laws, and becomes a national bank under the laws of the United States, and a judgment is recovered in a court of a State against the national bank upon such outstanding circulation, the defense of the State statute of limitations having been set up, a Federal question arises which may give this court jurisdiction in error. Metropolitan National Bank v. Claggett, 141 U. S., 520.
 25. The act of Congress of July 12, 1882, repealing inconsistent acts and providing that the jurisdiction of suits in which a national bank should be a party should be the same as if it were a State bank at the same place, prevents the removal of a cause in which a national bank is a party from a State to a Federal court on the mere ground that it is a national bank. Leather Manufacturers' National Bank v. Cooper, jr., 120 U. S., 778; 3 N. B. C., 208.
 26. Under St. U. S., 1888, chap. 866, sec. 4, providing that in actions against national banks the Federal courts "shall not have jurisdiction other than such as they would have in cases between individual citizens of the same State," an action to compel the directors of a national bank to declare a

27. The object of this proviso was to deprive the United States courts of jurisdiction of suits by or against national banking associations in all cases where banks organized under State laws could not likewise sue or be sued in such courts. Ib.
28. But the proviso does not affect the right of the receiver of an insolvent association to sue in a Federal court. Hendee v. Connecticut and P. R. R. Co., 26 Fed. Rep., 677.
29. Nor would the act of July 12, 1882, take from the circuit court jurisdiction of a suit brought against a director for negligent performance of his duties; for, as such suits rest upon the requirements of the United States laws and by-laws made pursuant thereto, it is a case arising under the laws of the United States. Witers v. Foster, 28 Fed. Rep., 737.
30. An action between a receiver of an insolvent national bank and a depositor does not present a Federal question under Rev. St., sec. 5242, avoiding preferences to creditors of such an insolvent bank. Tehan v. First National Bank et al., 39 Fed. Rep., 577.
31. A receiver of an insolvent national bank is an officer of the United States within the meaning of sec. 563, Rev. St., which gives the district courts jurisdiction of "all suits at common law brought by the United States, or any officer thereof authorized by law to sue." Stephens v. Bernays, 41 Fed. Rep., 401.
32. The United States district court has jurisdiction of an action at law brought by the receiver of a national bank to recover an assessment made upon a stockholder, and the action may be maintained in such event against the executor of a deceased stockholder. Ib.
33. The State courts have jurisdiction of an action brought by a shareholder on behalf of himself and other shareholders to recover of the directors of an insolvent association damages for injuries resulting from their negligence and misconduct. Brinckerhoff v. Bostwick, 88 N. Y., 52.
34. A State court has no power to make an order directing the receiver of a national bank who has been appointed by the Comptroller of the Currency to pay a judgment obtained against the bank before the receiver was appointed. Ocean National Bank v. Carll, 7 Hun., 237.
35. Neither the Comptroller nor the receiver by putting in an appearance to a suit can subject the United States to the jurisdiction of a court. Case v. Terrell, 11 Wall., 199.
36. The Federal courts have jurisdiction of suits by receivers of national banks to collect the assets thereof without regard to the citizenship of the plaintiff. Fisher v. Yoder, 53 Fed. Rep., 565.
37. A Federal court is not deprived of jurisdiction otherwise vested in it of a suit against the executors of an estate by the fact that the estate is in the possession of a State probate court for purposes of administration, and the Federal court has jurisdiction to adjudge whether a liability exists, but can not issue execution to enforce the same. Wickham v. Hull et al., 60 Fed. Rep., 326.
38. A suit against the receiver of a national bank to compel him to pay out of the funds in his hands as receiver moneys claimed by the complainant is a suit arising under the laws of the United States, and can be removed into the Federal court. Hot Springs Independent School District, et c., v. First National Bank of Hot Springs, 61 Fed. Rep., 417.

LEASE:

1. Where a national bank takes a lease for a long term, its insolvency and dissolution soon afterwards, and the appointment of a receiver, who refuses to take possession of the leased premises, do not entitle the lessor to damages out of the assets, the rent having been paid for the time during which the bank was in possession. Fidelity Safe Deposit and Trust Co. v. Armstrong, 35 Fed. Rep., 567.

LEASE—Continued.

2. A national bank which, when a receiver is appointed for it, is in arrears for rent under an existing lease, may be afterwards sued for damages caused by its failure to carry out the provisions of the lease. Chemical National Bank v. Hartford Deposit Company (Ill.), 41 N. E., 225.
3. In a suit against a national bank in arrears for rent under an existing lease at the time a receiver was appointed for it, for damages for failure to carry out the lease, the receiver need not be made a party. Ib.

LIABILITY OF BANK:

1. Where a national banking association has taken collaterals to secure a loan, and, after the loan has been repaid, holds them to secure future advances, it is not a gratuitous bailee; and it is responsible for the loss of such collaterals occasioned by its lack of ordinary care and diligence, though at the time the bailor was not indebted to it. Third National Bank of Baltimore v. Boyd, 44 Md., 47.
2. A bank receiving a certificate of deposit for collection, and mailing it to the drawer with a request for a remittance, is guilty of negligence. First National Bank of Evansville v. Fourth National Bank of Louisville, 56 Fed. Rep., 967.
3. A bank is charged with notice of letters duly mailed to it and received by the general bookkeeper, whose duty it is to open and distribute mail matter, although he conceals such letters to hide certain irregularities in his office, and thereby prevents their coming into the hands of the other bank officers. Ib.
4. The E. bank, on May 8, 1888, mailed to the L. bank for collection a certificate of deposit issued by P. & Co., which, the next day, negligently mailed it to P. & Co. with request to remit. On June 1 the L. bank credited the E. bank with the item in account current for May, and wrote that nothing had been heard from P. & Co. On June 22 the L. bank wrote that repeated letters about the item had remained unanswered. The L. bank now charged the E. bank with the item. No further correspondence ensued. P. & Co. continued in good credit until after January 1, 1889, when they failed: Held, That the L. bank was not responsible for more than nominal damages. Ib.
5. Where bank acquires title to real estate by conveyance from its president who held same under deed reciting full payment of purchase money, and bank has no actual knowledge that purchase money was not in fact paid, it is an innocent purchaser without notice, and is not chargeable with constructive notice because of the knowledge of its president. First National Bank of Sheffield et al. v. Tompkins, 57 Fed. Rep., 20.
6. If a cashier, without authority to buy coin in behalf of his bank, does so buy it, and it goes into the funds of the bank, it is liable. Merchants' Bank v. State Bank, 10 Wall., 604.
7. Where a bank issues a certificate of deposit, payable on its return properly indorsed, it is liable thereon to a bona fide holder to whom it was transferred seven years after its issue, notwithstanding a payment thereof to the original holder. Such certificate is not dishonored until presented. National Bank of Fort Edward v. The Washington County National Bank, 5 Hun., 605.
8. Where a cashier, in payment of his individual indebtedness, gives his creditor a cashier's draft drawn by himself on his bank's correspondent, and the same is received in good faith by the creditor, with no knowledge or notice that the draft is drawn fraudently, and the same is paid by the correspondent to the creditor, the bank can not recover from the creditor the money so paid. Goshen National Bank v. State, 36 N. E., 316.
9. A bank is bound by the act of its cashier in drawing checks in its name, though with the intent of embezzling the proceeds, and payment of the checks by the drawee is binding on the bank. Phillips v. Mercantile National Bank of the City of New York, 35 N. E., 932.
10. Checks drawn by the cashier of a bank, payable to fictitious persons, whose names he endorses thereon, are in effect payable to bearer, and the payment of such checks by the drawee is binding on the bank, as, in transmitting them made and indorsed, the bank is so far concluded by his acts as to be estopped from denying their validity. Ib.
11. The fact that the payees in the checks, whose names were endorsed thereon, by the cashier, were customers of the bank, does not vary the rule applicable to fictitious payees, where the cashier did not intend to deliver the paper to the customers, as the fictitiousness of the maker's direction to pay

- does not depend upon the identification of the name of the payee with some existing person, but upon the intention underlying the act of the maker in inserting the name. Ib.
12. A settlement of a claim against a bank made by a director who had been specially delegated by the bank to take charge of the matter, and who acted under the direct advice of the president of the bank, is binding on the bank. Wacahachie National Bank v. Fickery, 26 S. W., 876.
 13. Where one pays a debt due by him to a bank upon the demand of an officer thereof, whom he finds employed in its business, to said officer, over its counter, without knowledge that the officer's authority is so limited that he is not authorized to receive the money, it is a payment to the bank, and the latter is bound thereby. The East River National Bank, v. Gove, 57 N. Y., 597.
 14. When a bill of exchange, payable at ———, was sent to a bank for collection, and the bank treating it as a bank check, and not entitled to days of grace, presented it for payment, and had it protested, etc., on the day of its maturity, without days of grace, by means of which the indorser was discharged, and it was in evidence that the bank was notified by the indorser at the time that he claimed the paper to have days grace: Held, That the bank was liable to the person who deposited the paper for collection for damages for its negligence in not presenting the check, as required by law, and causing notice of its nonpayment to be given to the indorser. The Georgia National Bank v. Henderson, 46 Ga., 487.

Dumond, 37 N. E., 863; Dumond v. Merchants' National Bank, Ib., 864.*
 17. The fact that the city bank deposited the money with another city bank, which was the correspondent of the country bank, does not exempt the former bank from such liability, where the depositor was unacquainted with the custom of the banks in making such deposits, and did not consent thereto. Ib.
 18. Nor will the city bank in which the money was finally deposited be liable therefor, at the suit of the depositor, where the money was left with it with instructions to credit it to the country bank generally, without any intimation that it was to be credited to that bank as the money of the depositor. Ib.

At the time of the acceptance the drawer had no funds in defendant's hands, but was indebted to it. LOANS:

1. Section 5200, Rev. St., which provides that the total liabilities to any association of any person, etc., shall not exceed one-tenth part of the capital stock paid in, was intended only for the guidance of the association, and, though its franchises may be liable to forfeiture for violation of the law, the association may recover of the borrower the full amount of the loan. Gold Mining Company v. Rocky Mountain National Bank, 96 U. S., 640; O'Hare v. Second National Bank of Titusville, 77 Penn. St., 96; Shoemaker v. The National Mechanics' Bank, 2 Abb., U. S., 416; *Stewart v. St., sec. 5200, that the total liabilities of any national bank to any person, company, corporation, or firm for money borrowed, including in them "the liabilities of the several members thereof shall at no time exceed one-tenth part" of the capital stock actually paid in, does not prevent a bank from recovering of a person to whom it has lent a sum greater than 10 per cent of its capital stock, the excess of the loan over such limit. Corcoran v. Batchelder, 147 Mass., 541; 3 N. B. C., 491.

4. And a court of equity will not enjoin an association, at the instance of the borrower, from transferring to innocent third persons notes and securities, on the ground that the notes represent part of a loan made in excess of 10 per cent of the capital of the association. Elder v. Citizens' Nat. Bank of Faribault, 29 Fed. Rep., 734.
9. Rev. St., sec. 5202, providing that national banks shall not contract liabilities in excess of their paid-up capital stock, except upon notes of circulation, accounts for deposits, etc., does not intend that such items of liability shall be excluded in determining whether the indebtedness of a bank exceeds its paid-up capital stock at the time it incurs a liability as guarantor. Weber et al. v. Spokane Nat. Bank, 50 Fed. Rep., 735.

3. The maker of a note can not assert as a defense thereto against the payee, a bank, that he signed the note at the request of the cashier and teller of the bank, who stated that they wished to use his name in stock speculations, for which purpose the notes would be discounted by the bank; that their names could not appear because of their official connection with the bank; and that he should not be charged with any of the notes given nor credited with anything received on the sale of the stock; and that the bank would take care of the notes as they became due, an agreement that a note given for a proper consideration shall not be collected being nugatory. Mead v. National Bank of Pawling (Sup.), 34 N. Y. S., 1054.

A purchaser of several notes for value and before maturity, without notice of any set-offs, who pays one-half of their aggregate face value and gives the indorsee credit for the balance, subject to his check, holds all the notes free from any right of set-off in favor of the maker, and the fact that he may have recovered on part of the notes does not deprive him of the character of a purchaser for value, so as to let in the right of set-off as to the others. United States National Bank v. McNair (N. C.), 21 S. E., 389.
6. That an indorsee who rediscounts notes may have paid less than their face value for them does not entitle the maker to any right of set-off to which he would not otherwise be entitled. Ib.
7. Where a note was altered after delivery by an agent of the payee, without the maker's knowledge, by an interlineation of the words "with interest at 6 per cent," which occupied only half a line and appeared to have been interlined, no recovery could be had thereon by a subsequent holder for value of either interest or principal alone. *Gettysburg National Bank v. 10. The amount of attorney's fees stipulated in a note to be paid in case suit is brought may be added to the amount of the judgment recovered on the note, under Code Proc., sec. 803, expressly authorizing the allowance of such fees. Exchange National Bank v. Wolverton (Wash.), 39 P., 248.
11. Laughlin (N. D.)*, 61 N. W., 473.
12. Where a person induces another to sign a paper containing no writing, and which is to be used merely as a means of identifying the signer, who does not intend to execute a note or contract of any kind, and then fills out the blanks so as to make the paper a note, the note will be void even in the hands of an innocent holder. First National Bank v. Zeims (Iowa), 61 N. W., 483.
13. The plaintiff received from defendants the following certificate: "B. has deposited in this bank $8,000 (eight thousand dollars), payable to the order of himself on the return of this certificate properly indorsed. Interest at 6 per cent if left 12 months for all future months. Interest to cease if not renewed at end of one year from date." Curtis*, 157 U. S., 671; 3 N. B. C., 91.

He had notice, as a member of the firm, of the fraud before the note was offered for discount, but did not communicate his knowledge to any of the officers of the bank: Held, That the knowledge of P. was not, constructively, notice to the bank. Ib.
6. The cashier of a bank was also the secretary of another corporation, and, while working in the interest of the latter, sold stock therein, taking the purchaser's note therefor, which note was afterward discounted by the bank: Held, That the bank was not affected with its cashier's knowledge as to the value of the stock sold, obtained through his connection with the other corporation. Benton v. German-American National Bank, 26 S. W., 275.

Tompkins, 57 Fed. Rep., 20.*
10. An indorsement upon negotiable paper, "For collection; pay to the order of A. B.," is notice to all purchasers that the indorser is entitled to the proceeds. Bank of the Metropolis v. First National Bank of Jersey City, 19 Fed. Rep., 301.

In pursuance of said agreement, M afterward produced a certificate of stock bearing the genuine signatures of the president and of himself as cashier, on the faith of which plaintiff loaned him the money. In fact, M had previously hypothecated and transferred to others all the stock of said bank which he had held, and the certificate was fraudulently issued, without any transfer of stock, and without any knowledge of any of the officers of the bank except himself, he having used for that purpose a certificate left with him for use as occasion might require, signed by the president in blank.  18. The fact that the discount was calculated by the officer offering the paper would not be material in such case. Ib.
 19. The president of plaintiff bank, without consideration, obtained defendant's note as a personal loan, and without disclosing the want of consideration procured its discount by plaintiff's cashier: Held, That, though the cashier was without authority to discount paper, his agency in discounting the note, not having been disavowed by plaintiff, it could recover on the note, as the president's knowledge of its infirmity could not be imputed to it. First National Bank of Grafton v. Babbidge et al., 36 N. E., 462; 100 Mass., 563.
 20. A bank cashier who was indebted to the bank and also to a firm of which its president was a member gave another creditor a mortgage on sheep, which provided that the mortgagor might sell part of the sheep, and that the proceeds should be applied on the debt secured. The cashier took part of the sheep to market, and sent a draft for the proceeds, in a letter, to the vice-president of the bank, who acted as cashier in his absence, in which he simply said, "Place to my credit." The vice-president applied part of the draft to the debt due the bank, and the balance on the debt due such firm: Held, That the knowledge of the cashier that the draft was the proceeds of the mortgaged sheep was not imputable to the bank, and it was not bound by his acts. Rock Springs National Bank v. Luman (Wyo.), 38 P., 678.
 21. The fact that notes offered for discount by a bank are payable to its president and bear his indorsement, followed by that of the bank affixed by him, does not give notice to the discounting bank that they are the property of such president, and the bank's indorsement is for accommodation, especially when the negotiations for the discount have been carried on by letters written in their official capacity by the president and cashier of the offering bank. United States National Bank v. First National Bank, 64 Fed. Rep., 985.
 22. Where there is a custom between brokers and bankers that on application of a broker a bank will certify as to whether it has any lien on certain of its stock by the holder thereof being indebted to it, a bank, by being asked by a broker to give such a certificate, is thereby put on inquiry and charged with notice that a loan for a certain amount had been made to the holder of the stock. Covington City National Bank v. Commercial Bank, 65 Fed. Rep., 547.

OATH OF DIRECTOR:

1. By the provisions of sec. 44 of the national banking act, upon conversion of a State to a national bank, all the directors of the former become those of the latter until an election or an appointment by the national bank. Semble that no oath is required from these ad interim directors, the oath prescribed by sec. 9 of the aforesaid act being designated for those regularly elected by the national bank; but assuming its necessity, a majority of those who were the directors of the State bank before its conversion is necessary to make a quorum of the board of the national bank. Lockwood v. The American National Bank, 9 R. I., 308; 1 N. B. C., 895.
2. In all cases where an act is to be done by a corporate body, or a part of a corporate body, and the number is definite, a majority of the whole number is necessary to constitute a legal meeting, although at a legal meeting where a quorum is present a majority of those present may act. Ib.
3. Hence, a by-law adopted at a meeting of six ad interim directors of a national bank which had twelve directors before its conversion is invalid, because not adopted by a majority or quorum of the board. Ib.
4. Prior to the act of February 26, 1881, a notary public holding his commission under a State had no authority to administer the oath required by sec. 5211, Rev. St.; and therefore a cashier who made oath before such notary to a false statement of the condition of his association was not guilty of perjury. United States v. Curtis, 107 U. S., 671.

OFFICERS:

A. In general—

1. Directors of national banking associations may remove the president, both under the law of Congress and the articles of association, where the latter so provide. The power exists, though the association has adopted no by-laws. Taylor v. Hutton, 43 Barb., 195.
2. The officers of a national banking association can hold their positions only by the tenure specified in sec. 5136, Rev. St., viz, the pleasure of the board of directors. Harrington v. First National Bank of Chittenango, 1 N. B. C., 760; 1 Thomp. & Cook, 361; Taylor v. Hutton, supra.
3. An officer may, in the ordinary course of business, borrow money of the association. Blair v. First National Bank of Mansfield, 10 Chicago Legal News, 84; 2 N. B. C., 173.
4. The law providing no particular mode by which a director is to resign from the board, an oral resignation would be as good as any. Movius v. Lee, 30 Fed. Rep., 298.
5. The president being the head of the board, a resignation to him is a resignation to the board. Ib.
6. A director is not prohibited from resigning during the year. The apparent purpose of the provision in regard to the term of office is to make it conform to the time of the new election, and not to absolutely require every director to serve the full term. Ib.
7. The borrowing of money by a bank, though not illegal, is so much out of the course of ordinary and legitimate banking business as to require those making the loan to see to it that the officer or agent acting for the bank had special authority to borrow money. Western National Bank v. Armstrong, 152 U. S., 346.
8. A national bank can not hire one of its officers for a specified time. Harrington v. First National Bank of Chittenango, supra.
9. Knowledge, without objection, by the directors of a bank that one is acting in its employ does not ratify the details of a contract for his employment by the president unless they know of such details. Ib.
10. Creditor of insolvent national bank can not sue to enforce personal liability of officers and directors for violation of national-bank laws. The receiver alone can maintain the action. Bailey v. Mosher, 63 Fed. Rep., 488.
11. Directors of a national bank are "officers," within the meaning of Rev. St., sec. 5209, which makes it a misdemeanor for bank officers to make false entries in any book, report, or statement of the bank, with intent to deceive any of its officers. United States v. Means et al., 42 Fed. Rep., 599.
12. The rule that where a bank officer is dealing with the bank on his own account his knowledge will not be imputed to the bank, does not apply where such officer is the sole representative of the bank in the transaction. First National Bank of Blaine v. Blake, 60 Fed. Rep., 78.

B. Cashier—

13. It is within scope of general authority of cashier to receive offers for purchase of securities held by the bank, and to state whether or not bank owns securities in its possession. Xenia Bank v. Stewart et al., 114 U. S., 224.
14. If a cashier, without authority from the directors so to do, makes a loan in excess of one-tenth of the capital of the association, he will be liable, in case of loss, for the amount of the excess. Second National Bank of Oswego v. Burt, 93 N. Y., 233.
15. Under sec. 5136 of the national-bank act, the cashier of a national bank has no power to bind it to pay the draft of a third person on one of its customers to be drawn at a future day, when it expects to have a deposit from him sufficient to cover it, and no action lies against the bank for its refusal to pay such a draft. Flannagan et al. v. California National Bank et al., 56 Fed. Rep., 953.
16. Ordinarily the cashier of a bank has no authority to discharge its debtors without payment, or to bind the bank by an agreement that a surety should not be called upon to pay a note he had signed, or that he would have no further trouble from it. Cochecho National Bank v. Haskell et al., 51 N. H., 116.
17. It is within the general authority of the cashier of a bank to sign, in its behalf, a blank transfer upon a certificate of stock in the name of the bank, held by it as collateral security for a loan, and deliver the certificate to the pledgor on payment of the loan. Matthews v. The Massachusetts National Bank, 1 Holmes, 396.
18. The cashier of an incorporated bank is the general executive officer to manage its concerns in all things not peculiarly committed to the directors; he is agent of the corporation, not of the directors. Bissell v. The First National Bank of Franklin, 69 Pa. St., 415.

OFFICERS—Continued.

B. Cashier—Continued.

19. The cashier or other executive officer of a national bank has not, in the absence of special authority from the directors, or of a usage or practice so to do, power to receive, on behalf of the bank, property for safe-keeping. First National Bank of Lyons v. Ocean National Bank, appellant, 60 N. Y., 278; 1 N. B. C., 728.
20. The cashier of a bank, as one of its financial officers, in its daily and ordinary business transactions, has authority to certify checks drawn on the bank by its customers in all cases where any officer could do the same and bind the bank. The Clarke National Bank v. The Bank of Albion, impicaded, etc., 52 Barb., 592.
21. This authority is regarded as general, growing out of a cashier's position in the bank; and persons dealing with the bank are not in any way affected or bound by the special restrictions and limitations imposed upon him by the corporation, whose agent he is. Ib.
22. A cashier has no power, however, to make the certification unless he has the funds of the drawer in hand to meet the check. This limitation on his general authority is, in the law, presumed to be known by all the bank's customers and others who act upon the statements and representations of its agent. Ib.
23. Neither has a cashier power, as the agent of the bank, to certify a check until on or after the day the same is made payable. Ib.
24. A bank may sue as payee on a note payable to its cashier, alleging either that the promise was made to the cashier for it, or that the cashier's name was used by adoption for that of the bank. Darby v. Berney National Bank, 11 So., 381; 97 Ala., 643.
25. The cashier of a bank kept an account with the defendants, who were brokers, and bought and sold stocks for him, and from time to time the defendants received checks of his bank upon another bank, its correspondent, drawn by him in his official capacity, and collected them from the bank upon which they were drawn, and applied the avails to the cashier's individual account. In an action brought by a receiver of the bank of the cashier to recover of defendants the amount of the checks received by them: Held, The checks being made payable to the order of the defendants, for the cashier's individual use, the defendants took them under an obligation to ascertain at their peril that the cashier had authority outside of his ordinary official authority to make the checks, and could not assume that he was acting within the scope of his official duties. A purchaser of commercial paper made by an agent can not acquire any title to it as against the principal, unless he can show that it was made by the agent upon due authorization; and when he knows that the agent has made it in the name of the principal for his own use he must be prepared to show that special authority in that behalf was delegated by the principal, and can not rely upon the implied or ostensible authority of the agent to make such paper in the ordinary business of the principal. Anderson v. Kissam et al., 35 Fed. Rep., 690.
26. It having been shown that the cashier had no authority to make the checks, and that the checks were paid by the bank upon which they were drawn, the defendants were prima facie liable in action of trover for the face amount of the checks. Ib.
27. The circumstance that the cashier clandestinely deposited funds with the bank upon which the checks were drawn to the credit of his own bank, which deposits were credited to his own bank, is not competent in mitigation of damages. When credited to the cashier's bank the deposits became the property of that bank as against the cashier and the defendants. The case for the plaintiff was complete when it appeared that the checks had been paid by the bank upon which they were drawn out of funds standing to the credit of the cashier's bank; the plaintiff was then entitled to recover the full amount, and it was then incumbent upon the defendants, if they sought to reduce the damages, to show that, notwithstanding the wrongful conversion of the paper, the cashier's bank did not suffer loss. Ib.
28. The fact that some of the moneys thus clandestinely deposited by the cashier were paid in by the defendants, at his request, does not affect the defendants' liability, or go in mitigation of damages. Ib.
29. Evidence of a usage that bankers and brokers regard payments made by means of such checks as ordinary payments of cash made by individuals for their own account is not admissible. Ib.
30. Where the cashier of a bank conceals the defalcation of another officer the statute of limitations will not begin to run in favor of such cashier or his

B. Cashier—Continued.

- estate until such defalcation is disclosed to the directors or stockholders. Vance v. Mottley, 21 S. W., 593; 92 Tenn., 310.
31. A cashier is bound to exercise reasonable skill, care, and diligence in the discharge of his duties, and if he fails so to do, and the bank suffer damage in consequence, he is liable therefor. Ib.
 32. He is liable for loss on loans made by him through want of care, diligence, and reasonable skill. Ib.
 33. Though the act of the cashier which occasions the loss is a tort, the tort may be waived and an action for value maintained against him or his estate. Ib.
 34. The power of a bank cashier to transfer notes and securities held by the bank can be questioned only by the bank or its representative. Haugan v. Sunwal (Minn.), 62 N. W., 398.
 35. A cashier of a bank has no implied authority to bind the bank by a pledge of its credit to secure a discount of his own notes for the benefit of a corporation in which he was a stockholder. State National Bank v. Newton National Bank, 66 Fed. Rep., 691.

C.—Directors—

36. The degree of care required of directors of corporations depends upon the subject to which it is to be applied, and each case is to be determined in view of all the circumstances. Briggs v. Spaulding, 141 U. S., 132.
37. Directors of a corporation are not insurers of the fidelity of the agents whom they appoint, who become by such appointment agents of the corporation; nor can they be held responsible for losses resulting from the wrongful acts of omissions of other directors or agents, unless the loss is a consequence of their own neglect of duty. Ib.
38. A director of a national bank is not precluded from resignation within the year by the provision in Rev. St., sec. 5145, that when elected he shall hold office for one year, and until his successor is elected. Ib.
39. Persons who are elected into a board of directors of a national bank, about which there is no reason to suppose anything wrong, but which becomes bankrupt in ninety days after their election, are not to be held personally responsible to the bank because they did not compel an investigation or personally conduct an examination. Ib.
40. Directors of a national bank must exercise ordinary care and prudence in the administration of the affairs of a bank, and this includes something more than officiating as figureheads. They are entitled under the law to commit the banking business, as defined, to their duly authorized officers; but this does not absolve them from the duty of reasonable supervision, nor ought they to be permitted to be shielded from liability because of want of knowledge of wrongdoing, if that ignorance is the result of gross inattention. Ib.
41. If a director of a national bank is seriously ill it is within the power of the other directors to give to him leave of absence for a term of one year instead of requiring him to resign, and if frauds are committed during his absence and without his knowledge, whereby the bank suffers loss, he is not responsible for them. Ib.
42. A notary of the city of Alexandria is authorized to administer the oath required by law to be taken by a director of the First National Bank of that city as to his ownership of the capital stock of such bank. United States v. Neale, 14 Fed. Rep., 767.
43. When the oath is taken and subscribed by the accused it is complete, so far as the accused can make it, and if the notary, in certifying the fact of the oath having been taken, erroneously used the term "county" instead of "city," and used the seal of said bank instead of his own official seal, such error did not affect the oath taken. Ib.
44. If accused took an oath in which he stated that he was the bona fide owner in his own right of the number of shares of stock then standing in his name on the books of the bank, and that the said shares were not hypothecated or in any way pledged as security for any loan or debt; and if he took it willfully, and not believing that he was stating the truth, it is perjury, if in point of fact he was not the owner of said stock or had pledged the same for a loan or debt. Ib.
45. An irrevocable power of attorney given by the accused, wherein he constituted and appointed a third party his attorney for the purposes therein set forth, being a general power covering any indebtedness of accused to said third party, is a pledge of the shares of stock owned by accused mentioned therein as long as there was any debt due by the accused to such third party. Ib.

OFFICERS—Continued.

46. Under the laws of Vermont an action against a director of a national bank for negligent performance of duty in not requiring a bond from the cashier, and otherwise mismanaging the affairs of the bank, abates by his death, and can not be revived against his administrator. Witters, receiver, etc., v. Foster, administrator, etc., 26 Fed. Rep., 737.
47. A bill brought to charge the directors of an insolvent national bank with the amount of losses caused by the bank's failure, alleged that one of the defendants sold and transferred his stock on the day named, but the evidence showed that defendant had not paid anything for the stock, but delivered it to a messenger of another one of the defendants, from whom he had agreed to purchase it, and that such defendant then sold and indorsed the stock to a third party, as it was agreed he might do if he so desired. Plaintiff moved to amend the bill to conform to the proofs, and make it allege that the transfer was merely formal. Held, Unnecessary. Movius, receiver, etc., v. Lee et al., 30 Fed. Rep., 298.
48. A receiver of an insolvent national bank, in his own name or in the name of the bank, may enforce against the directors, for the benefit of the stockholders, depositors, and other creditors of the bank, any right or claim resting upon the nonperformance or negligent performance of their duties that the bank itself could have enforced. Ib.
49. A director of a national bank who, before the expiration of his term, sells his stock, and orally resigns his office to the president, in his place of president at the bank, and afterwards receives the money for his stock, prior to the sustaining of losses by the bank, ceases to be a director, and can not be held liable for subsequent losses caused by the negligence of the directors. Ib.
50. The president of a national bank, being in failing health, was anxious to resign his position, but at a suggestion of a majority of the directors, consented to take a year's leave of absence, and during such absence, and without any fault on his own part, losses were sustained by the bank, and it became insolvent: Held, In a suit by the receiver to charge the directors with such losses, that he was not liable. Ib.
51. The directors of a national bank which has become insolvent by reason of losses caused by the discount, from time to time, of paper not properly secured, indorsed by a director who is a man of wealth, and the largest stockholder in the bank, and in whom the other directors have reason to place confidence, can not be held liable for the mere failure to discover the illegal transactions, and to prevent such director from continuing therein. Ib.
52. The officers of an insolvent national bank can not be held personally responsible to creditors for losses on loans and discounts made by them in good faith, and, as they thought at the time, for the best interests of the bank, merely because such loans and discounts appear to have been unwise and hazardous when looked back upon. Witters, receiver, etc., v. Sowles et al., 31 Fed. Rep., 1.
53. Under Rev. St., sec. 5200, directors of a national bank, who make or assent to the making of a loan to any one person of a sum exceeding one-tenth of the capital stock of the bank, become personally and individually liable for all loss sustained thereby; but where the borrower, in such a case, is also one of the directors, he is not so liable, but simply as a debtor to the bank. Ib.
54. Bank directors can not be held personally liable for money paid out for dividends "to a greater amount than net profits after deducting losses and bad debts" (Rev. St., sec. 5204), because there were debts bad in fact, but supposed to be good, when the dividends were declared and paid. Bad judgment on the part of the directors as to the condition of the assets, without bad faith, does not make them individually liable. Ib.
55. Directors of a national bank can not be held to the common-law liability for inattention to duty as directors in not preventing a hazardous, imprudent, and disastrous loan, if such loan was made by their associates, without their knowledge, connivance, or participation. Ib.
56. Directors or the managing committee of a national bank may, in the honest exercise of official discretion, make loans or discounts for the actual or supposed benefit of the association, and, although the transaction may be injudicious and actually result in loss or damage to the bank, there is no criminal liability, so long as their acts are not in bad faith, for the purpose of personal gain or private advantage of the officials. United States v. Harper, 33 Fed. Rep., 471.

OFFICERS—Continued.

57. A national bank was organized with a capital of $60,000. The promoter of the bank took 380 shares of stock in his own name and procured the defendants to be directors as well as a person to be elected cashier by them. The directors were not acquainted with the banking business. The proposed cashier was known to the directors, at least by reputation, and was supposed by them to be competent and trustworthy and of considerable experience in the business, and they had full confidence in his integrity and ability to take charge of the bank. The cashier acted as manager of the loan and discount business of the bank, and the directors merely as advisers, when applied to. The promoter of the bank knew, and the other stockholders were presumed to know, that the directors were wholly unversed in the banking business: Held, That the directors were not liable for the acts of the cashier in violation of the banking law done without their participation or knowledge. Clews et al. v. Bardon et al., 36 Fed. Rep., 617.
58. The cashier made loans, in excess of 10 per cent of the capital, to a manufacturing corporation supposed by him and by the public to be entirely solvent. None of the directors knew of the loans when made, but after a loan of $3,000 in excess of the lawful limit had been made the cashier informed one of them of such loan, and was by him advised to call it in when due; and thereafter such director's advice was asked as to a further discount to the same corporation, and he disapproved of it, and it was not made. Afterwards further loans or discounts were made to the same corporation without the knowledge or consent of any of the directors. About eight months after the bank commenced business one or more of the debtors of the bank failed, and the directors thereupon took the active management into their own hands: Held, That none of the directors had knowingly violated, or knowingly permitted to be violated, any of the provisions of the banking law, and were not liable for such violation by the cashier. Ib.
59. Under the banking law, the management of a national bank may be exercised either by the directors or by the cashier or other officers; therefore the directors are not liable for the illegal or negligent acts of the cashier or other officers by whom the bank is managed, if they have no knowledge of such acts, and do not connive at them, or willfully shut their eyes and permit them. Ib.
60. It seems that the liability of directors of a national bank is substantially the same under the banking law as at the common law. Ib.
61. The personal liability of directors of a national bank for violation of Rev. St., sec. 5204, by declaring dividends in excess of net profits, and of sec. 5200, for loaning to separate persons, firms, or corporations, amounts exceeding one-tenth of the capital stock, can not be enforced in an action at law. Welles v. Graves et al., 41 Fed. Rep., 459.
62. If the personal liability imposed by Rev. St., sec. 5239, upon directors for violation of the provisions of the banking act, in favor of any one injured thereby, can be enforced without reference to whether the charter has been forfeited or not, it is not a penalty within the meaning of sec. 1047, limiting actions for penalties to five years. Ib.
63. Directors of a national bank are "officers" within the meaning of Rev. St., sec. 5209, which makes it a misdemeanor for bank officers to make false entries in any book, report, or statement of the bank, with intent to deceive any of its officers. United States v. Means et al., 42 Fed. Rep., 599.
64. An act of Congress imposing a legal liability on the directors of a national bank for certain things, which they may do which shall result in an injury to the bank, its stockholders, or creditors, and making them liable for the amount of the damage, is a remedial and not a penal statute, and therefore an action under it survives against the estate of a director. Stephens v. Overstolz, 43 Fed. Rep., 465.
65. Where a bank director makes a wrongful loan of money from which loss occurs it is no defense to an action by the receiver of the bank against the director's estate that the insolvency of the person to whom the loan was made was not discovered until after the death of the director and the appointment of the receiver. Ib.
66. An action by a receiver of a bank whose charter has been forfeited under above statute against a director is properly brought at law, there being no necessity for invoking the aid of a court of chancery either because of the nature of the issues involved, or to avoid a multiplicity of actions. Ib., 771.

67. In such action plaintiff may state the aggregate amount of the excessive loans made to each party, and the damage resulting therefrom in each case, accompanying each allegation with an exhibit showing the dates and amounts of the several loans that go to make up the aggregate sum stated in the petition and is not compelled to declare in a separate count for each loan made. Ib.
68. Rev. St., secs. 5234 and 5239, prescribing the method of enforcing the liability of the directors of national banks for violation of the banking law, are exclusive of other remedies, and a creditor of an insolvent bank, for which a receiver has been appointed, can not sue its directors for the purpose of making them personally liable for the mismanagement of the bank. National Exchange Bank of Baltimore v. Peters et al., 44 Fed. Rep., 13.
69. A stockholder in an insolvent national bank for which a receiver has been appointed can not sue its directors to make them personally liable for the mismanagement of the bank, as the right of action is in the receiver and not in the individual stockholder. Howe v. Barney et al., 45 Fed. Rep., 668.
70. Defendants, as directors, during a run on their bank posted conspicuously in the bank a notice, signed by them and addressed to the general public representing the bank to be solvent. Plaintiff saw the notice, and, after a consultation with the directors, loaned the bank money, which was lost: Held, That the notice, not being addressed to plaintiff, could not entitle it to recover from the directors, under R. L. Vt., section 983, which provides that no action shall be brought to charge any person upon a representation concerning the credit of another, unless such representation is in writing, and signed by the party to be charged; and the fact that the notice was signed by defendants as directors would prevent a recovery from them individually, even if the notice were a sufficient representation in writing. First National Bank of Plattsburg v. Sowles et al., 46 Fed. Rep., 731.
71. The executive officers of an association can not bind it as a gratuitous bailee, unless they have a special authority from the board of directors so to do, or there exists a general custom or usage to that effect. First National Bank of Lyons v. Ocean National Bank, 60 N. Y., 278.
72. An action may be brought by a receiver of a national bank against its directors to recover damages sustained by their gross negligence. Brinckerhoff v. Bostwick, 88 N. Y., 52; 3 N. B. C., 591.
73. If the receiver is one of the directors, such action may be maintained by the stockholders, or, when they are numerous, by one or more in behalf of all. Ib.
74. It is not necessary to allege in the complaint a direction from the Comptroller, or a demand upon him and a refusal to direct the receiver to bring the action, or a refusal of the receiver to sue. Ib.
75. Such an action may be brought in a State court. Ib.
76. The bank, and the receiver, as such, are necessary parties defendant to such an action. Ib.
77. The board of directors of a bank is a body recognized by law, and to all purposes of dealing with others constitutes the corporation. Burrill v. President, Directors, etc., of the Nahant Bank, 2 Metcalf, 163.
78. A board of bank directors may delegate authority to a committee of its members to alienate or mortgage real estate; and such authority to convey real estate necessarily implies authority to execute proper instruments for that purpose, and to affix the corporate seal thereto. Ib.
79. Where a board of bank directors authorized a committee of its members "to sell and transfer any estate owned by the bank," and the committee gave mortgage of the real estate of the bank to a creditor who had recovered judgment against the bank on its bills, and took from him at the same time a bond conditioned that he would not put those bills in circulation, and the board of directors accepted said bond and acted on it, and the cashier paid the costs of the suit in which said judgment was recovered, according to the agreement made between said creditor and said committee, it was held that whether the committee had or had not authority to mortgage the estate, the mortgage had been ratified by the board of directors. Ib.
80. A stockholder in a national bank can not maintain an action against the president and directors for their neglect and mismanagement of the affairs of the bank, whereby insolvency ensued and the stock became worthless. Conway v. Halsey, 44 N. J. L., 462; 3 N. B. C., 571.

81. A judge who is a director of a national bank can not try a case to which it is a party, since, by Rev. St., sec. 5146, he must necessarily be interested as a stockholder. Williams v. City National Bank, 27 S. W., 147.
82. The election of an individual as a director does not constitute him an agent of the corporation with authority to act separately and independently of his fellow-members. It is the board duly convened and acting as a unit that is made the representative of the association. The assent or determination of the members of the board, acting separately and individually, is not the assent of the corporation. The law proceeds upon the theory that the directors shall meet and counsel with each other, and that any determination affecting the association shall be arrived at and expressed only after a consultation at a meeting of the board, attended by at least a majority of its members. National Bank v. Drake, 35 Kans., 564.
83. Stockholders have no standing in court to interfere for the protection of their company until the board of directors of the company have neglected or refused an application to take the proper steps to protect the interests of the company. Hobbs v. Western National Bank, 8 Weekly Notes of Cases, 131; 2 N. B. C., 187.
84. It is a mistake to suppose that the directors of national banks cease to be such, and that their duty to the bank lapses, when an examiner is put in charge of its funds, properties, and books by the Comptroller. Robinson v. Hall et al., 63 Fed. Rep., 222.
85. They were, still, as much the advisors of the bank examiner as they had been of the cashier, notwithstanding they were not invested by law with the control over him, which they were empowered to exercise over the cashier. Ib.
86. Their duty as directors does not cease until after the appointment of a receiver. Ib.
87. If directors were depositors, and knew two months or more before suspension that that event was inevitable, and that the bank could pay only a percentage of its deposits, and yet checked for the whole of their own balances, thereby diminishing the percentage to which other creditors would be entitled, they certainly defrauded to the extent of the diminution the creditors whose interest they were relied upon to protect, and should be held to strict accountability. Ib.
88. Directors of a national bank left its management for more than three years almost wholly to its cashier, who had but little property, and of whom they required no bond; and they knowingly permitted loans to be made to individuals and firms largely in excess of the amounts allowed by law. They failed to record mortgages given to secure large debts due the bank after they were aware of its insolvency, and erroneously advised an examiner who had taken charge of the bank that it was not necessary to record them: Held, That the directors were personally liable for the losses caused by such neglect and the fraud and defalcations of the cashier. Briggs v. Spaulding, 11 S. Ct., 924; 141 U. S., 132, distinguished, Ib.
89. A creditor of an insolvent national bank that is in the hands of a receiver can not sue to enforce against officers and directors who have violated the banking laws the personal liability imposed by Rev. St., sec. 5239, as such liability is an asset belonging equally to all creditors, and must be enforced by the receiver. Bailey v. Mosher, 63 Fed. Rep., 488.
90. The liability of directors of a national bank to a common-law action of deceit for false and fraudulent representations made by them in the pretended performance of duties imposed upon them by the national banking law is not precluded by the liability imposed in that law for violation of its provisions. Prescott v. Haughey, 65 Fed. Rep., 653.
91. Complaint alleging false and fraudulent representations by directors of a national bank in advertisements, statements, and reports as to its condition, whereby plaintiffs, relying thereon, were induced to deposit money with the bank, and were deceived and damaged: Held, To state a common-law cause of action for deceit, not removable as involving a Federal question. Ib.
92. Directors of a national bank, who on its suspension issue a circular declaring the solvency of the bank, and that they hope to reopen within 60 days, and authorize the bank officers to receive money on special deposit, and keep it in the vaults of the bank, subject only to the check of the depositor, and subsequently, on the appointment of a receiver for the bank, turn over to him deposits made pursuant to the circular, are personally liable to the depositors for the amount of such deposits. Miller v. Howard et al., 32 S. E., 305.

OFFICERS—Continued.

D. President—

93. The president of a national bank has no power inherent in his office to bind the bank on the execution of a note in its name; but power to do so may be conferred on him by the board of directors, either expressly by resolution to that effect, or by subsequent ratification, or by acquiescence in transactions of a similar nature of which the directors have notice. National Bank of Commerce v. Atkinson, 55 Fed. Rep., 465.
94. If a president of a bank exercised the functions of a cashier and was the sole managing officer of the bank, he had authority to borrow money for the use of the bank in the regular course of its business. Simons et al. v. Fisher, 55 Fed. Rep., 905.
95. The retention by a national bank of the proceeds of the sale and guaranty of notes owned by the bank is a ratification of the president's act in such selling, whether he was authorized to execute the guaranty or not. Thomas v. City National Bank, 58 N. W., 943.
96. The president of a banking corporation has the power to employ counsel and manage the litigation of a bank, in the absence of any order of the board of directors depriving him of such power. Citizens' National Bank of Kingman v. Berry et al., 37 P., 131.
97. The president of a national bank has no authority to subscribe money from the bank on condition that certain parties would erect a paper mill in the town. Robertson v. Buffalo County National Bank, 58 N. W., 715.
98. The authority of the president of a national bank to guaranty notes of third parties held and sold by the bank will be presumed in favor of a purchaser, without notice to the contrary. Thomas v. City National Bank, 58 N. W., 943.
99. It is doubtful whether a general authority in the president of a bank to make discounts could empower him to make an arrangement under which the bank would surrender securities on receiving others, which, it was at the same time agreed, should be mere nullities so far as the sureties were concerned. The First National Bank of Sturgis v. Bennett et al., 33 Mich., 520.
100. A guaranty against loss or liability for signing as sureties, given by a bank president in his own name and without authority from the directors, to those whom he had solicited thus to sign a note given to the bank to retire a prior note held by it against their principal, is held to be the individual contract of the president, and not binding upon the bank. Ib.
101. C., in order to obtain a credit in his personal account with a bank of which he was the president, procured the defendants, a banking firm, to discount his individual note, credit the amount to the bank, and notify the bank that he had deposited the amount with them to the credit of the bank. The bank had previously given C. credit for the amount, and after being notified by the defendants that the deposit had been actually made with them, allowed C. to overdraw his account. Thereafter, and while his account with the bank was withdrawn, C., in his official character, as president, authorized the defendants to charge the note to the account of the bank, and the defendants did so: Held, in a suit by the receiver of the bank to recover the deposit, That, unless expressly authorized to do so, the president of the bank could not use the funds of the bank to pay his personal obligation, and, there being no proof of such express authority, the authorization given by him to the defendants was not a defense to the claim. Chrystie et al. v. Foster, 61 Fed. Rep., 551.
102. The inherent powers of a president of a bank by virtue of his office are very limited, and it is difficult to say what powers he inherently possesses, if any other than the power to take charge of the litigation of the bank by employing counsel and otherwise. The First National Bank of Wellsburg v. Kimberlands, 16 W. Va., 555.
103. A president of a bank may be authorized by its directors to do any act which they are authorized by their charter to do, unless the act to be done can by the charter be done only by the directors themselves. Ib.
104. Such authority need not be proven by showing that it was expressly conferred by the board of directors, but may be proven by showing the existence of such facts as constitute clearly a public holding out that the particular act done or contract entered into was within the scope of his legitimate delegated authority. Ib.
105. The inference that such authority has been impliedly conferred may be legitimately drawn by proving that he was in the habit of doing acts or making contracts of the same general character as the particular act or contracts which he has done or made, and that these acts or contracts which he was in the habit of doing, though applied to different subjects,

OFFICERS—Continued.

D. President—Continued.

- involved the same general power, except when the acts and contracts which he was in the habit of doing or making were so very numerous and so variant in their character as clearly to justify the inference that he was authorized impliedly to do all acts and make all contracts which the directors had the power to do or to make, and to confer on the president the right to do or to make. Ib.
106. The directors of a bank may ratify any act done or contract made by the president without authority which they could have authorized him to do or to make. Ib.
107. The acceptance of the benefits of a contract made by the president for the bank is an implied ratification of such contract, and if money is received by its cashier for the bank under such contract, even when such receipt was unknown to the directors, it will be a confirmation of the contract, unless the money so received is returned, when its receipt becomes known to the directors. Ib.
108. Where the articles of association of a national bank, signed by all the original stockholders and giving express authority to the board of directors to remove the president, have been transmitted to the Comptroller of the Currency, who has, on receiving the same, issued circulating notes to the bank, he will be deemed to have approved the article, and the directors will have the power to remove the president, even though the bank has never legally adopted any by-laws. Taylor v. Hutton, 43 Barb., 195; 1 N. B. C., 755.
109. Where the president of a bank had agreed to answer to a bank for the overdrafts of another person, the fact that the bank, in accordance with its custom, which was well known to the president, required such person to give notes for his overdrafts at different times, which action was explained to the president, and not objected to by him, did not release him from liability for the amounts. Brown v. Farmers and Merchants' National Bank (Tex. Civ. App.), 31 S. W., 216.
110. The president of a bank, a large creditor or his minor nephew, who promised, when the bank advanced money to such minor, that it should be repaid before he would attempt to collect his debt, and thereby made himself liable to the bank for such advance, can not in equity assert a preference lien for his own claim, given him in a deed of trust by the insolvent minor, as against the claim of the bank. 31 S. W., 216, affirmed; Brown v. Farmers and Merchants' National Bank (Tex. Sup.), 31 S. W., 285.
111. The president of a national bank, who requests the cashier to make advances to a minor, verbally promising that he will see them repaid, is liable to the bank for any loss sustained by reason of said loans, as having been guilty of a breach of trust. Brown v. Farmers and Merchants' National Bank (Tex. Sup.), 31 S. W., 285.

E. Vice-president—

112. The vice-president and general executive officer of a national bank has no power to borrow so large a sum as $200,000 at four months' time for the bank in the absence of special authority from the board of directors, and persons dealing with him are presumed to know the extent of his powers in this regard. Western National Bank v. Armstrong, 14 S. Ct., 572; 152 U. S., 346.
113. Ratification of the unauthorized act of a national bank officer in borrowing $200,000 for the bank can only be made, if at all, by the board of directors, acting with knowledge of the material facts, and can not be inferred from the mere fact that by direction of the same officer the money was placed to the credit of the bank, when it appears that it was drawn out by him and the assistant cashier, and that no part of it came to the use or benefit of the bank. Ib.

OFFSET:

1. Against the proceeds of the bonds deposited to secure circulation the United States can set off no claim, except for money advanced to redeem notes. Cook Co. National Bank v. United States, 107 U. S., 445.
2. And upon the failure of any association its 5 per cent redemption fund can not be retained by the Treasurer to pay taxes due to the United States, but the fund passes to the Comptroller as an asset of the association. Jackson v. United States, 20 Ct. Cls., 298.
3. Acts of Congress in relation to the administration of the assets of insolvent banks authorize no other rules of set-off than those recognized by courts in the settlement of the affairs of other insolvent corporations. Yardley v. Clothier, 49 Fed. Rep., 337; Scott v. Armstrong, 146 U. S., 499.

OFFSET—Continued.

4. Set-off must be governed by the law of the place where, in case of controversy, suit must be brought to settle the rights of the parties. Savary v. Savary, 3 Clark, 271; Gibbs v. Howard, 2 N. H., 299; Vose v. Philbrook, 3 Story, 335; Ruggles v. Kuler, 3 Johns, 263.
5. A separate demand can not be set off against a joint one, or a joint debt against a separate one. Gray v. Rollo, 18 Wall., 629; Scammon v. Kimball, 93 U. S., 362.
6. Where, however, a note is signed by one as principal and others as sureties, the indebtedness of the bank to the principal may be set off. Andrews v. Varrell, 46 N. H., 17; Himrod v. Baugh, 85 Ill., 435.
7. An executor, administrator, or public officer is not entitled to set off against his liability as such any indebtedness from bank to himself individually, nor contra. Scammon v. Kimball, 92 U. S., 362; Benton v. Hoopes, executor, 1 A. K. Marsh, 19; Stowe v. Yarwood, 14 Ill., 424.
8. A judgment obtained in another than the attachment suit can not be set off against damages claimed for a wrongful attachment. Imperial Roller Milling Company v. First National Bank, 27 S. W. 49.
9. In an action against a bank commenced prior to the going into effect of the new code, by the personal representatives of a deceased customer, to recover a deposit which was due and payable to the deceased in his lifetime: Held, That the defendant could not, as matter of law, and in the absence of facts entitling it to equitable relief, set off a claim against the deceased which did not become due until after his death. Jordan, administratrix, etc., v. The National Shoe and Leather Bank of New York, 74 N. Y., 467.
10. A demand, to be set-off in such an action, must have been due and payable from the decedent in his lifetime. Ib.
11. The plaintiffs seek to offset the amount of their credit on the books of a defunct bank against the promissory notes received by the bank for discount before its failure: Held, That if the bank held the notes at the time of its failure and was entitled to receive the amounts due thereon when they matured, such offset might be made; but an offset of this kind can not be allowed where it appears that the notes were not the property of the bank at the time of its failure, but had been indorsed away for value. Balbach et al. v. Frelinghuysen, Receiver, etc., 15 Fed. Rep., 675.
12. An attorney's lien upon a judgment is subject to any existing right of set-off in the other party to the suit. National Bank of Winterset v. Eyre et al., 8 Fed. Rep., 733.
13. A person liable upon a note to an insolvent national bank may set off, against his indebtedness, the amount of his deposits with the bank. Platt v. Bentley, 1 N. B. C., 758; 11 Am. L. Reg., 171.
14. But a debtor can not set off the amount of a deposit assigned to him after the act of insolvency committed. Venango National Bank v. Taylor, 56 Penn. St., 14.
15. The ordinary equity rule of set-off in case of insolvency is that where the mutual obligations have grown out of the same transaction, insolvency on the one hand justifies the set off of the debt due on the other, and there is nothing in the statutes relating to national banks which prevents the application of that rule to the receiver of an insolvent national bank under circumstances like those in this case. Scott v. Armstrong, 146 U. S., 499.
16. A customer of a national bank who, in good faith, borrows money of the bank, gives his note therefor due at a future day, and deposits the amount borrowed to be drawn against, any balance to be applied to the payment of the note when due, has an equitable (but not a legal) right, in case of the insolvency and dissolution of the bank, and the appointment of a receiver before the maturity of the note, to have the balance to his credit at the time of the insolvency applied to the payment of his indebtedness on the note. Ib.
17. One indebted to bank can not set off a claim against bank acquired subsequent to its suspension. Scott v. Armstrong, 146 U. S., 499; Venango National Bank v. Taylor, 56 Penn. St., 14; Colt v. Brown, 12 Gray, 233.
18. Right of set-off is allowable whether the indebtedness sought to be set off had or had not matured at time of bank's suspension. Scott v. Armstrong, 146 U. S., 499; Skiles v. Houston, 110 Penn. St., 254; Drake v. Kolio, 3 Biss., 273.
19. While, as a general rule in the administration of the estate of an insolvent debtor, equality among creditors is equity, courts are not required to ignore the principle that only the balance, in case of mutual debts, is the real sum owing by or to the insolvent. Hughill v. Hayes, 136 N. Y., 163.

OFFSET—Continued.

20. Claims will be regarded by a court of equity as due, notwithstanding the absence of a technical demand, when equitable considerations require that they shall be applied each to the other. Ib.
21. In the application of cross demands to the satisfaction of each other, the insolvency of one of the parties is a material circumstance, and although the debt owing by the insolvent may not be due, the creditor may waive the credit, and a court of equity will then apply it upon the debt from the insolvent, if that has matured. Ib.
22. The First National Bank entered into an oral contract with plaintiff to sell him certain real estate for a price specified. Plaintiff took possession under the contract, and made large and valuable improvements, with the knowledge and consent of the bank, which had authorized its cashier to execute a conveyance pursuant to the contract. Plaintiff had a deposit account with the bank. Shortly before the failure he, for the third time, requested the cashier to execute the conveyance; this the latter promised to do without further delay. Thereafter plaintiff accumulated his deposits with intent to use the balance to his credit in paying for the land when the deed was delivered; this was known to the cashier. Plaintiff also, with the knowledge of the cashier, purchased a certificate of deposit issued by the bank with a view of applying it toward the payment. Plaintiff also did work and furnished materials for the bank, the account for which he rendered to it before the failure, and it was agreed that it should be adjusted on the final settlement for the purchase. Plaintiff, until the bank closed its doors, had no knowledge of its insolvency or of any fact affecting its credit. In an action against the receiver of the bank for a specific performance: Held, That plaintiff was entitled to the relief sought, and that he was entitled to be credited on the purchase price the balance due him on the deposit account, the amount of the certificate of deposit, and of the account for work and materials. Ib.
23. A claim for pay for services, due before a bank closes its doors, is a set-off to a liability on bills discounted. Davis v. Industrial Manuf'g Co., 19 S. E., 371.
24. When a bank closes its doors and commits an act of insolvency, its deposits, whether on account or certificate, at once become due without demand or notice, and are to be set off against a depositor's debt due the bank. Ib.
25. A certificate of deposit issued by a national bank is not a promissory note within the meaning of Gen. St., chap. 53, sec. 10; and in an action thereon by a person to whom it has been transferred by the depositor, the bank is not entitled to set off the amount due upon a promissory note given by the depositor to and discounted by the bank, the certificate being issued for the proceeds of such note. Shute v. Pacific National Bank, 136 Mass., 487.
26. A national bank having become insolvent, a depositor therein assigned his deposit to a debtor of the bank: Held, That the latter could not offset such deposit against his debt in an action thereon. The Venango National Bank v. Taylor, 56 Penn. St., 14; 1 N. B. C., 842.
27. On the failure of a national bank a depositor was indebted to it on eleven notes to the amount of $5,000, and had on deposit some $2,900. The receiver of the bank agreed that this sum should go as a set-off on the indebtedness, the depositor to pay the notes first coming due, and the deposit to be applied on the last-maturing notes. After paying the first two notes it was found that the others were in the hands of third parties, and the depositor was compelled to pay them, and filed a bill to authorize the receiver to refund the money paid under a mutual mistake. This bill was heard by the district judge of the western district of Tennessee, sitting in the circuit court of the southern district of Ohio. Held, That the deposit should properly be set-off against the claim of the bank, and the depositor should recover the sum paid by him; but as the district judge of the southern district of Ohio had held in an action between the same bank and a creditor, the circuit judge concurring therein, that the plea of set-off was not available, in order that there might not be different rules of set-off in the same court in the case of the same insolvent, and as the case can not be appealed, it will be remanded for reargument before the regular judges, who may, in their discretion, provide for a dissent of record, or do what may to them seem right in the premises. Snyders' Sons Co. v. Armstrong, 37 Fed. Rep., 18.
28. The indorser of a note discounted by a national bank and which matures after the bank becomes insolvent and a receiver is appointed is entitled to set off against the note the amount of his deposit in the bank at the time of its failure. Yardley v. Clothier, 51 Fed. Rep., 506.

29. Debts of a partner and his firm to a bank can not, in equity, be set off by a receiver of the bank against trust moneys which the partner, after the debts were contracted, mingled with the firm deposits, without the bank's knowledge, and the whole amount of which remained continuously in the bank until it failed. Fisher v. Knight, 61 Fed. Rep., 491.
30. A cross demand, to be available as a set-off at law, must be such as would support an independent action at law by the defendant, at the commencement of the suit; hence, a payment of his principal's debt by the surety, after the commencement of suit against him on a debt due to his principal, is not available as a set-off in the action. Goldthwaite v. National Bank, 67 Ala., 549.
31. As against the assignee or holder of promissory note, suing the maker, the doctrine of set-off has never been carried further than to put him in the place of the payee, or party having the beneficial interest; and a set-off in favor of the maker, against an intermediate holder, has been uniformly disallowed, in the absence of an agreement founded on new consideration, between the maker and such intermediate holder. Ib.
32. In the absence of all intervening equities, courts of equity put the same construction on statutes of set-off as do courts of law. Insolvency is recognized as a ground for the allowance of a set-off in equity, when it would not be allowed at law, but it is only the insolvency of the original creditor against whom the claim is asserted; and while the assignee of nonnegotiable paper takes it subject to all equities to which it was subject in the hands of the assignor, this means only the equities between the original parties, and does not include equities which may arise between other parties in the course of its transfer. Ib.
33. The receiver of an insolvent national bank sued A and B on their joint note given to the bank. They claimed to set off notes given by the bank, and C and D, who were also insolvent, as joint makers, to D alone, and maturing after the receiver's appointment, and growing out of a distinct transaction from the note in suit: Held, Not a proper set-off. Balch v. Wilson, 25 Minn., 299; 2 N. B. C., 274.
34. The voluntary payment by the maker of a promissory note, with a full knowledge of all the facts, operates as an abandonment and waiver of all right to set off cross demands or independent debts, and a bill disclosing such facts presents no case for equitable relief by way of equitable set-off. United States Bung Manuf'g Co., v. Armstrong, 34 Fed. Rep., 94.
35. A bank may lawfully set off indebtedness of a stockholder to the bank against dividends accruing on such stockholder's shares. First National Bank v. De Morse, 26 S. W., 417.
36. In an action by a receiver of an insolvent bank to charge the estate of a shareholder with an assessment on his shares, the executor claimed, by way of set-off, that property belonging to the estate had been delivered to the bank, upon the understanding that it should be applied on the assessment if the bank should fail: Held, Not a proper subject to set off, even though the bank examiner assented to the agreement. Witters, Receiver, etc., v. Sowles, Ex'r, 32 Fed. Rep., 130.
37. The indebtedness of the stockholders on their individual liability, together with the other assets of the insolvent bank, constitute a trust fund for the benefit of its creditors; and in equity such indebtedness of a stockholder who is insolvent may be set off against a dividend payable out of the trust fund, on a balance due him on his deposit account with the bank at the time of its failure. King et al v. Armstrong, Receiver, 34 N. E., 163; 50 O. St., 222.
38. An assignment by the stockholder of his claim against the bank, before the direction of the Comptroller to enforce his liability, but after the insolvency of the bank, does not affect the right to set off his liability against the dividend due on his claim, nor does the fact that the Comptroller, at the time of the assignment, had not determined the amount necessary to be collected from the stockholders for the payment of the creditors. It is sufficient that such direction has been given, and amount so determined when the set-off is made. Ib.
39. In an action at law by a receiver of an insolvent national bank the defendant may set off any debt due from the bank to him at the time of the failure. Adams v. Spokane Drug Company, 57 Fed. Rep., 888.
40. Where a promissory note was discounted by a national bank, and bills of exchange issued for a part of the proceeds, which were dishonored because of the subsequent failure of such bank, and part of the residue of the proceeds still remained to the credit of the maker of such note: Held,

OFFSET—Continued.

- That in an action on such note by the receiver of the bank the maker could set off the amount of the bills of exchange and the amount still standing to his credit on the books of the bank. Ib.
41. A bank on which a check is drawn, though not knowing that the drawer is insolvent, can not, as against the payee, set off against the deposit its indebtedness from the drawer not yet due. Merchants' National Bank v. Robinson (Ky.), 31 S. W., 136.
 42. A note deposited before maturity by a bank with a clearing-house committee, to secure payment of the bank's daily balances and other indebtedness due from the bank to other members of the clearing-house association, is not in the hands of the committee subject to set-off by the maker of any sum due him from the bank. Philler v. Jewett (Pa.), 31 Atl. Rep., 204.
 43. Rev. St. U. S., sec. 5242, which requires a pro rata distribution of the assets of an insolvent national bank, and forbids preferences, does not prevent a debtor of the bank from setting off against his indebtedness the amount of a claim he holds against the bank; and it is immaterial whether or not the debt due to the bank had matured at the time of its insolvency. Scott v. Armstrong, 13 S. Ct., 148 (146 U. S. 449, followed), Mercer v. Dyer (Mont.), 39 P., 314.
 44. Defendant bank discounted for W a draft which was subsequently paid by the drawee, and placed the proceeds to W's credit, not knowing that plaintiff was entitled thereto. Afterwards, and while part of the proceeds remained to W's credit, plaintiff notified defendant of his claim. Held, That defendant could not set off against plaintiff's claim to such balance a claim against W on paper discounted before the draft, but maturing after the notice of plaintiff's claim. Heidelbach v. National Park Bank (Sup.), 33 N. Y. S., 794.
 45. A bank has no right to retain the balance of a customer's deposit to apply to an indebtedness of the customer of the bank not yet matured, unless it is authorized to do so by contract. Ib.
 46. By agreement, a national bank, instead of the usual deposit of securities as collateral for payment of its daily balance at the clearing house, each day left with the clearing house all checks drawn on it, and other evidences of its indebtedness received from other banks, to be held until the balance due from it for the day was paid. While certain checks and other evidences of its indebtedness were so held the bank was closed. The clearing house collected the amount of the checks, etc., from the banks from which they had been received, and therefrom paid, besides the bank's balance for the day, due bills given by it for its balance for the preceding day, by their terms payable only through the clearing house the day after issue, and actually in the exchanges when the bank closed, and applied the remainder toward cancellation of clearing-house loan certificates issued to the bank under an agreement between the banks whereby any loss from failure of one to pay such certificates was chargeable on the others. Held, That the receiver of the bank, taking its assets subject to all equities and rights against it, had no equity, in a suit against the clearing house alone, to question the appropriation of the money paid by the other banks. Philler v. Yardley, 62 Fed. Rep., 645.
 47. Where an indorser pays a note to a bank, and takes a receipt containing an order for a surrender of the note on return of the receipt, the relation between the bank and the indorser is not that of debtor and creditor, but it is a fiduciary relation, entitling the indorser, on the bank becoming insolvent without applying the money on the note or procuring its surrender, to have the assets in the hands of its receiver applied in payment thereof. Massey v. Fisher, 62 Fed. Rep., 958.

PASS BOOK:

A pass book given by a bank to a depositor is not a written contract, but is a mere receipt for the amount deposited; and an action thereon is barred by the three-year limitation. Talcott v. First National Bank, 36 P., 1066.

PLACE OF BUSINESS:

1. The provisions requiring "the usual business" of the association to be transacted "at an office or banking house in the place specified in its organization certificate" must be construed reasonably, and a part of the legitimate business of the association which can not be transacted at the banking house may be done elsewhere. Merchants' Bank v. State Bank, 10 Wall., 604.

2. Although the general business of a national banking association is to be transacted at its place of business, yet, if the association is fully advised of the facts and does not object, and there is no fraud, its officers, when acting within the general scope of their authority, may bind it by acts done at another place. Barton v. Burley, 9 Biss., 253.
3. Under Rev. St., sec. 5190, providing that "the usual business of each national banking association shall be transacted at an office or banking house located in the place specified in its organization certificate," a national bank can not make a valid contract for the cashing of checks upon it at a different place from that of its residence through the agency of another bank. Armstrong v. Second Nat. Bank of Springfield, 38 Fed. Rep., 883.

at a fixed ratio on their capital stock, for which the committee should issue certificates to be used in paying balances against the several banks. Subsequently, the association, for the purpose of enabling the members to afford assistance to the mercantile and manufacturing community, and also to facilitate the daily interbank settlements, authorized the committee to receive from any member additional deposits of cash or securities, and issue certificates therefor in such amount and to such percentage as they deemed advisable, which certificates should be accepted in payment of daily balances, on condition that the deposits therefor should be held by the committee as a special deposit, pledged for the redemption of the certificates, and the committee were made the trustees for all the members of the association and authorized to collect such deposits. Held, That there was no violation of the laws relating to national banks. *Philler v. 1. If the officers of a national bank, at the time of pledging a note to secure a depositor who had been allowing the bank to use his money, and who was apprehensive of a loss thereof, saw that the bank was approaching failure and made the pledge to keep the note out of the assets to be distributed, such pledge would be void; but if they made it to prevent failure, and expecting to prevent failure, by retaining and using the deposit to pay other depositors, it would be good. Roberts v. Hill, 23 Fed. Rep., 311.
2. On examination of the circumstances of this case: Held, That the pledge should be sustained. Ib.
3. The word "insolvency," as used in sec. 52 of the act of 1864 (13 St. at Large, 115; Rev. St., sec. 5242), making void all transfers, assignments, payments, etc., "made after the commission of an act of insolvency or in contemplation thereof, is synonymous with the same word as used in the bankrupt act, and means a present inability to pay in the ordinary course of business. Case v. Citizens' Bank of Louisiana, 2 Woods, 23; 1, N. B. C., 276.
4. To make transfers, assignments, etc., void under sec. 52, it is only necessary that the insolvency should be in the contemplation of the bank making transfers; the party receiving the transfers need not know of or contemplate such insolvency. Ib.
5. A bank is in contemplation of insolvency when the fact becomes reasonably apparent to its officers that the concern will presently be unable to meet its obligations, and will be obliged to suspend its ordinary operations. Roberts, Receiver, etc., v. Hill, Adm'r, etc., 24 Fed. Rep., 571.
6. The intent to give a preference is presumed when a payment is made to a creditor by a bank whose officers know of its insolvency, and therefore that it can not pay all of its creditors in full. Ib.
7. Where property is transferred by a bank to a creditor to avoid paying him the amount due him, and thus postpone the failure of the bank, it is none the less fraudulent and void. Ib.
8. The Pacific National Bank of Boston suspended November 18, 1881, but after examination resumed March 18, 1882, with the consent of the Comptroller of the Currency, and continued to transact business until May 22, 1882, when it again failed. Between March 24, 1882, and April 28, 1882, certain creditors, whose claims had been disputed and placed in a suspense account, attached the property of the bank, whereupon the bank gave bond, with the president and a director as sureties, and the attachments were dissolved. The bank transferred to the sureties, March 22, 1882, a certificate of deposit for $100,000 on another bank, which, on April 13, 1882, was exchanged for other property: Held, That such transfer was not made after the commission of an act of insolvency by the bank or in contemplation thereof, and with a view to a preference or to prevent the application of the assets as prescribed by the banking act. Price, receiver, v. Coleman et al., 22 Fed. Rep., 694.
9. After a vote of the directors to close their bank and go into liquidation, any transfer of the assets of the bank to a creditor, whereby that creditor secures a preference, will be presumed to be made with a fraudulent intent. National Security Bank v. Price, receiver, 22 Fed. Rep., 697.
10. A bank, being in an embarrassed financial condition, received a loan of money from defendant upon depositing with a certain commercial firm a portion of its assets as security: Held, That the fact that one of the members of such firm was president of the bank did not render the transaction illegal, and that the bank could not escape liability for such loan on the ground that the president had no authority to effect it, where it appeared that it was

- effected with the knowledge of the directors and the money was received and used by the bank. Casey v. Credit Mobilier Society, 2 Woods, 77; 1 N. B. C., 285.
11. Section 2, act Congress June 30, 1876 (19 St. at Large, p. 63), provides that the individual liability of shareholders of an insolvent national bank, fixed by Rev. St., sec. 5151, "may be enforced by any creditor of such association by a bill in equity in the nature of a creditor's bill, brought by such creditor on behalf of himself and all other creditors." Held, That a mortgage of all his individual property executed by a cashier and stockholder of such bank, after it had closed its doors, to secure a depositor, amounted to a preference, and was void as against the judgment recovered against the cashier by the receiver under Rev. St., sec. 5151, either in the hands of the receiver or in those of a purchaser from him for value. Gatch v. Fitch et al.; Sanman v. Gatch et al., 34 Fed. Rep., 566.
 12. To render a transfer by a national bank made after an act of insolvency, or in contemplation of insolvency, void under sec. 52 of the act of 1864 (Rev. St., sec. 5242), it must have been made either with a view to prevent the application of the assets in the manner prescribed by the national-banking act, or with a view to the preference of one creditor to another. Casey v. La Societe de Credit Mobilier de Paris, 2 Woods, 77; 1 N. B. C., 285.
 13. The preference of one creditor to another mentioned in sec. 52 of the act of 1864 is a preference given to an existing creditor for a preexisting debt, and does not refer to a case where one makes a loan to a bank and receives a concurrent transfer of property as security therefor. Ib.
 14. Construction and application of Rev. St., sec. 5242, as to transfers by insolvent national banks. National Bank v. Butler, 129 U. S., 223.
 15. What motive is sufficient under Rev. St., sec. 5242, to invalidate a transfer by a national bank. Ib.
 16. The term "insolvency," as used in sec. 5242, Rev. St., forbidding transfer of the assets of national banking associations after or in contemplation of such insolvency, has the same meaning as it had in the bankrupt act; that is, it does not mean an absolute inability of a debtor to pay his debt at some future time upon a settlement and winding up of his affairs, but a present inability to pay in the ordinary course of business. Case v. Citizens' Bank of Louisiana, 2 Woods, 23; Market Bank v. Pacific National Bank, 30 Hun., 50.
 17. Notes given in renewal of other notes held by a national bank, the original notes not being returned to the maker, are not "evidence of debt" or "assets" within Rev. St., sec. 5242, declaring void all transfers of "evidence of debt" owing to any national bank made after insolvency, or in contemplation thereof, to prevent the application of the assets to the bank, as required by law, or with a view to prefer creditors. First National Bank of Decatur v. Johnston, 11 So., 690; 97 Ala., 655.
 18. The question whether a savings bank which was a depositor with a national bank which has become insolvent shall be paid in full pursuant to State statute is a question arising under the laws of the United States, and entitles the receiver of the bank when sued for such deposit to remove the case to the United States circuit court. Auburn Savings Bank v. Hayes, 61 Fed. Rep., 911.
 19. The Pacific Bank of Boston, not being a member of the clearing house, used to deposit with the Security Bank all checks received by it to be collected through the clearing house and was credited by the latter bank as a depositor. The directors of the Pacific Bank having one Saturday, after closing, determined to go into liquidation, dispatched a committee to Washington to confer with the Comptroller of the Currency as to the appointment of a receiver. The appointment was made about 10 a. m. on Monday. Monday morning the cashier of the Pacific Bank sent the checks and drafts received by mail to the Security Bank, and with them his check for the whole amount of the bank's deposits, for which he received a negotiable certificate of deposit of the Security Bank. The latter at the time held the Pacific Bank's negotiable certificate of deposit. The transaction occurred about 9.30 a. m., when no officer of the Security Bank knew or suspected that the Pacific Bank was insolvent; Held, That the cashier must have presumed that the Security Bank still held its certificate of deposit, and that in sending to it the checks and drafts he was making a transfer, which necessarily gave a preference, and was void under sec. 5242, Rev. St., and the Security Bank therefore could not set off the Pacific Bank's certificate of deposit against its own. National Security Bank v. Butler, 129 U. S., 223, 3 N. B. C., 320.

20. Revised St., sec. 5242, which prohibits all transfers by any national banking association made after the commission of an act of insolvency, or in contemplation thereof, with the view to a preference of one creditor over another, is directed to a preference, not to the giving of security when a debt is created; and if the transaction be free from fraud in fact, and is intended merely to adequately protect a loan made at the time, the creditor can retain property transferred to secure such a loan until the debt is paid, though the debtor is insolvent, and the creditor has reason at the time to believe that to be the fact. Armstrong v. Chemical National Bank, 41 Fed. Rep., 234.
21. Section 5242, Rev. St., does not prohibit a bank which has in good faith accepted the draft of a national bank the day before the latter's insolvency, and afterward paid the same, from applying the proceeds of collections made by it on paper in its hands belonging to the insolvent bank to the payment of the draft, since its lien on such collections runs from the date of the acceptance. In re Armstrong, 41 Fed. Rep., 381.
22. In an action by the receiver of a national bank to recover back payments alleged to have been made by the bank in violation of the provision of the national banking act (sec. 5242), declaring void all transfers of securities and payments made by a bank organized under it "after the commission of an act of insolvency, or in contemplation thereof, made with a view to prevent the application of its assets," as prescribed by the act, these facts were found: Defendant held three certificates of deposit issued by the bank, drawing 6 per cent interest; its cashier, for the reason alleged by him that the directors did not like his paying so large a rate of interest, voluntarily paid two of them, mostly by transferring to defendant negotiable paper. The third certificate was paid on presentation. The bank at the time of these payments was in fact insolvent and had been for years, but this was known only to the cashier; it was in good credit and had committed no act of insolvency, and paid all its obligations as they became due or were demanded for six weeks after the last of said payments was made: Held, That the complaint was properly dismissed, as plaintiff failed to show that the payments were made in contemplation of insolvency, or to prevent the application of the bank's assets as prescribed by the act. Hayes, receiver, v. Beardsley, 136 N. Y., 299.
23. The insolvency of the bank was so concealed by the cashier that none of its directors had any suspicion thereof, and it was not discovered by the bank examiner: Held, That under the circumstances the fact that defendant was a director did not as matter of law charge him with liability for the payments made to him; that, it having been found that he acted in good faith and in ignorance of any wrongdoing or of the bank's insolvency, payments made to him were to be tested under said provisions like payments made to other creditors. Ib.
24. Under Rev. St., sec. 5242, which forbids all preferences among the creditors of insolvent national banks, a county whose money has been deposited by the county treasurer in a national bank that has become insolvent has no superior right over other depositors in the assets of the bank where it is not shown that the identical funds deposited by the treasurer or the proceeds of such funds have come into the hands of the receiver. Spokane County v. Clark, 61 Fed. Rep., 538.
25. A county whose funds are deposited in a bank that fails has no preference over other depositors as to the bank assets, where the identity of the funds deposited by the county has been lost. San Diego County v. California National Bank, 52 Fed. Rep., 59, disapproved. Multnomah County et al. v. Oregon National Bank et al., 61 Fed. Rep., 912.
26. A depositor is entitled to a preference where the deposit was made when the bank was hopelessly insolvent, which fact was concealed by the bank; and an equal amount may be recovered from the receiver, who has received the specific money among the general mass of the bank's funds. Lake Erie and Western Railroad Company v. Indianapolis National Bank, 65 Fed. Rep., 690.
27. The fact that the money was not marked, and, by a mingling with other funds of the bank, lost its identity, does not affect the right to recover in full, if it can be traced to the vaults of the bank, and it appears that a sum equivalent to it remained continuously therein until removed by the receiver. Massey v. Fisher, 62 Fed. Rep., 958.
28. Where a bank receives a note for collection and remittance, and did not remit, and fails with cash on hand less than the amount of the collection, the lien for trust funds converted is limited to the amount on hand, and does not extend to their assets, where there was no proof that they were obtained with the money converted. Boone County National Bank v. Lattimer, 67 Fed. Rep., 27.

PREFERRED CLAIMS: See Liens; Special deposits.

1. Section 3466, which gives the United States a priority for all claims it has against insolvent debtors, does not apply to the case of an insolvent national-banking association. Cook County National Bank v. United States, 107 U. S., 445.
2. A banker's lien for the amount of the balance of its general account does not exist when the securities have been deposited with the bank for a special purpose or for the payment of a particular loan. Ib.
3. Where an insolvent association receives a deposit a short time before closing its doors, its officers knowing of the insolvency at the time, the receipt of such deposit is a fraud upon the depositor, and no title passes to the association, and therefore the depositor may reclaim the whole amount of the deposit; and as he claims under his original title, and not under a transfer from the association, such reclamation does not amount to a preference. Cragie et al. v. Hadley, 99 N. Y., 131.
4. A trust was not impressed upon funds deposited on day the bank closed its doors in the absence of proof that the deposit had not gone into the general funds of the bank and lost its identity before reaching the receiver. In re North River Bank, 14 N. Y., 261.
5. A draft given to a bank in the ordinary course of business does not constitute an equitable assignment of the fund, nor is it sufficient that draft be drawn by bank against its reserve fund in another city and given in exchange for clearing-house certificates upon the president's representation that it owes a heavy debt at the clearing house, which it is unable to meet, and his statement showing the amount of the reserve fund against which the draft was drawn. Fourth Street National Bank v. Yardley, Receiver, 55 Fed. Rep., 350.
6. In a package of miscellaneous bonds was the memorandum of the date, amount, and time when due, and also the words "$6,500 due Putnam:" Held, That these facts did not show an equitable assignment by the bank to the plaintiff of $6,500 worth of bonds. To constitute an equitable assignment of property, there must be an appropriation or separation, and the mere intent to appropriate is not sufficient. Putnam Savings Bank v. Beal, 54 Fed. Rep., 577.
7. Where the treasurer and tax collector of a county, without authority of law, deposit county money in a bank and receive certificates of deposit marked "special," the title to the moneys does not pass, although there is no agreement that the identical bills shall be returned and they are mixed with the bank's general funds, and the county is entitled to recover an equal amount from a receiver of the bank prior to the payment of the general depositors. San Diego County v. California National Bank et al., 52 Fed. Rep., 59. (See Multnomah County et al. v. Oregon National Bank et al., 61 Fed. Rep., 912.)
8. Certain checks marked "for deposit" were deposited in a bank at a quarter to 3 on Saturday, and credit was immediately given for the amount thereof on the pass book. The bank closed at 3, and the next day was declared insolvent with the checks still in its hands. It was the bank's custom, at the close of each day's business, to balance its books, crediting depositors with the amount of their checks, and if a check was subsequently returned unpaid from the clearing house, it was charged off to the depositors. The depositor in this instance did not know of this custom. He had made deposits with the bank for several years without any special arrangement, and had never drawn against uncollected checks, except by particular understanding: Held, That on these facts title had passed to the bank so as to create the relation of debtor and creditor. City of Somerville v. Beal, Receiver, 49 Fed. Rep., 790.
9. But where the foregoing facts were alleged in the bill, and connected with the further allegation that, at the time the checks were received, the bank was "irretrievably insolvent, and made so by the operations of the president and two others of the directors," and that the depositor then believed it to be solvent, and had no means of knowing of its insolvency, this was sufficient to show fraud, and to render the bank liable to return the checks or their proceeds. Ib.
10. It was not necessary for the bill to specifically allege that the officers of the bank had knowledge of its insolvency, since such knowledge would be

- implied from the allegation that the insolvency was caused by the president and two directors. Ib.
11. A city treasurer deposited checks in a bank, indorsed by him "for deposit," and the checks were immediately credited to him on his pass book, though not in pursuance of any agreement to that effect. He had been a depositor in the bank for some years, but had no agreement that his checks should be treated as cash, or that he should draw against them before collection. The bank became insolvent before the checks were collected, and their proceeds passed into the hands of a receiver: Held, That no title passed to the bank except as a bailee, and that the depositor was entitled to the proceeds. Beal, Receiver, v. City of Somerville, 50 Fed. Rep., 647.
 12. No knowledge by any of the officers of a bank, of its insolvency, is sufficient to avoid transactions between the bank and its customers, on the ground of fraud, unless the evidence clearly shows that the directors, who represent the corporation, also had such knowledge. Balbach et al. v. Frelinghuysen, Receiver, etc., 15 Fed. Rep., 675.
 13. When a bank has become hopelessly insolvent, and its president knows that it is so, it is a fraud to receive deposits of checks from an innocent depositor, ignorant of its condition, and he can reclaim them or their proceeds; and the pleadings in this case are so framed as to give the plaintiff in error the benefit of this principle. St. Louis and San Francisco Railway Company v. Johnston, 133 U. S., 566.
 14. Where complainant sent a draft to a bank for collection charged with a trust to pay the proceeds thereof when collected to complainant, the bank being insolvent at the time, and its officers knew of its insolvency and that the bank would be obliged to suspend within a day or two, and the bank received the draft of an agent of the owner to remit the proceeds thereof, when converted into a draft on another bank to the credit of complainant, but instead of so remitting the proceeds thereof it kept the same, and mingled the proceeds of such draft with its own funds: Held, That such conversion by the bank was fraudulent, but that in an action by complainant for the recovery of such proceeds, it is incumbent upon the complainant to trace the fund misappropriated into the hands of the receiver substantially appointed for the insolvent bank, before the latter can be charged with recognizing complainant's equitable title thereto. Illinois Trust and Savings Bank v. First National Bank and another, Receiver, etc., 15 Fed. Rep., 858.
 15. A cestui que trust can not follow his fund into the hands of an assignee in bankruptcy, or of an executor of such trustee, but must occupy the position of a general creditor of the estate, unless he can identify his fund. Ib.
 16. The right to follow a trust fund ceases when the means of ascertainment and identification fail, as where the subject-matter is turned into money and mixed and confounded in a general mass of property of the same description. Ib.
 17. The Comptroller having notified a national bank that its capital was impaired, it was agreed that it might continue business on the directors putting in $100,000 in cash, and retiring that amount of objectionable securities. That sum was contributed; the account being opened with trustees appointed by the directors to manage the fund, with full power, as far as the bank was concerned, and to account therefor to the contributors in such manner as to protect the equities of each individual and the bank, in relation to the bank and its legal rights. It was understood between the trustees and the examiner that the securities to be retired were to be designated by the Comptroller or examiner, but there was no such understanding with the Comptroller. The full amount of objectionable securities had not been selected and given to the trustees when the bank was closed, the receiver taking and proceeding to collect the whole assets: Held, That the receiver was not required to account for the balance of the $100,000 as a special trust fund, but merely as a debt. Booth et al. v. Welles, 42 Fed. Rep., 11.
 18. Where money and checks are unsuspectingly deposited in a bank, which is known by its managing officer to be hopelessly insolvent, a few minutes before closing hour on the last day on which it does business, and the checks are subsequently collected by the bank's clerk, the whole of the deposit is charged with a trust, and an equal amount may be recovered from the receiver, who retains the specific money among the general mass of the bank's funds. Wasson v. Hawkins, 59 Fed. Rep., 233.

- the teller, not knowing of the coming failure, after crediting the money in plaintiff's pass book, puts the money and deposit ticket one side, and before entry is made in the books of the bank, it closes its doors, and the money is, by order of the directors, placed apart, and in that condition delivered to the receiver, plaintiff can maintain replevin for the money so deposited. Furber v. Stephens, 35 Fed. Rep., 17.
20. A creditor of an insolvent national bank, whose demand grows out of a fraudulent transaction perpetrated by the officers of the bank in contemplation of the immediate wrecking of their corporation, does not thereby become entitled to a preference over the general creditors of the bank. Citizen's National Bank v. Dowd, 35 Fed. Rep., 340.
 21. On the 22d and 23d of March plaintiff, a bank in Raleigh, N. C., received in the ordinary course of business checks drawn on the State National Bank of that city, which, after deduction had been made of its checks received by the latter bank, amounted to $17,000. It paid the same by its checks on a bank in New York. The president of the State National Bank knew when he signed such checks that they would not be honored, and was making preparations to abscond with the assets of his bank: Held, That plaintiff is not entitled to any preference over other unsecured creditors. Ib.
 22. Plaintiffs deposited, in the usual course of business, certain drafts with a national bank, which were credited to them on the books of the bank and in their pass book. The bank was at the time irretrievably insolvent, and its drafts had gone to protest the day before; of this its president, to whom was intrusted its entire control and management, had full knowledge, and presumably its other officers and agents. The bank kept open until the usual hour of closing on the day of the deposit, but did not open its doors thereafter, and went into the hands of a receiver. In an action to recover the deposit: *Held, That in permitting plaintiffs to make it, in reliance upon the supposed solvency of the bank, a gross fraud was practiced upon the plaintiffs, and they were entitled to reclaim the drafts or their proceeds. Also, that the right of plaintiffs to make the reclamation was not precluded by the provisions of Rev. St., secs. 5234 and 5242, forbidding all preferential payments or transfers by an insolvent bank, and providing for a ratable distribution of its assets, as plaintiffs did not claim under a transfer from the bank, but under their original title, that their relation as creditors terminated when they elected to rescind the contract implied when the deposit was made, and they were seeking simply to reclaim their own property, and that neither the receiver nor any creditor of the bank had any equity to have such property applied in payment of its obligations. *Cragie et al. v. Hadley, Receiver, 99 N. Y., 131.
 23. Plaintiffs sent a draft to the defendant bank for collection. The bank collected it, and issued its own New York draft, payable to plaintiffs, for the amounts so collected, less exchange, and sent it to plaintiffs, who accepted it, and forwarded it for collection. The latter draft, however, was not paid, owing to the defendant bank's suspension. Held, That the bank was a debtor, and not a trustee, of plaintiffs. Bowman v. First National Bank (Wash.), 38 P., 211.
 24. The owner of property intrusted to another, by whom it was misapplied, is not entitled to a general lien on the assets of the trustee for the value of the property. Spokane County v. First National Bank, 68 Fed. Rep., 979.
 25. The owner of trust funds wrongfully invested by the trustee in securities which remain in his hands may follow the same and impress a trust on the securities. City of Spokane v. First National Bank, 68 Fed. Rep., 982.

REAL ESTATE:

1. Where a national banking association acquires real estate which it is not authorized to take, the conveyance to it is not void, but only voidable, and the title of the association to such real estate is good until assailed in a direct proceeding by the Government. National Bank v. Matthews, 98 U. S., 621; National Bank v. Whitney, 103 U. S., 99; Swope v. Leffingwell, 105 U. S., 3; Reynolds v. Crawfordsville Bank, 112 U. S., 405; Fortier v. New Orleans Bank, 112 U. S., 439.

3. Where the purpose is to secure a debt previously contracted, a national banking association may take a conveyance of real estate, worth more than the debt, and pay the difference between the debt and the value of the property. Libby v. Union National Bank, 99 Ill., 622.
4. A national banking association may take as security for a loan the stock of a corporation whose entire capital is invested in real estate. Such a loan does not amount to a lending upon mortgage. Baldwin v. Canfield, 26 Minn., 43.
5. A national banking association, having taken a mortgage on real estate to secure a debt previously contracted, may, in order to protect itself, pay off a prior lien on the said real estate; and the lien which it thus acquires it may enforce. Ornn v. Merchants' National Bank, 16 Kans., 341; Holmes v. Boyd, 90 Ind., 332.
6. The fact that bank, at judgment sale of land mortgaged to it, purchases the mortgaged property, and also other property which it was not authorized to acquire, does not invalidate its title as to the mortgaged property. Reynolds v. Craufordsville Bank, 112 U. S., 405.
7. A mortgage to a national bank to secure a present loan by the discount of commercial paper in the usual course of business is not void, but only voidable at the election of the Government. Graham v. National Bank of New York, 32 N. J., Eq., 804; 2 N. B. C., 293.

10. As security for a preexisting debt, a national bank may make an assignment of a note and a real mortgage contemporaneously executed to secure such note. Worcester National Bank v. Cheeney, 87 Ill., 603; 2 N. B. C., 227.
11. A national bank may purchase, at sheriff's sale, land mortgaged to it as security for a previous debt. Heath v. Second National Bank of Lafayette, 70 Ind., 106; 3 N. B. C., 406.

National Exchange Bank, 71 Mo., 221; 3 N. B. C., 513.*

17. But where such security has been taken no one but the Government can be heard to complain that the association has exceeded its powers. National Bank v. Matthews, supra; National Bank v. Whitney, 103 U. S., 99; Swope v. Leffingwell, 105 U. S., 3; Reynolds v. National Bank, 112 U. S., 405; Fortier v. National Bank, 112 U. S., 439.
18. Where a national banking association sells real estate it may take a mortgage thereon to secure the payment of the purchase money. New Orleans National Bank v. Raymond, 29 La. Ann., 355.
19. An agreement by a national banking association to the effect that, in case a note discounted by it shall not be paid, a mortgage given by the maker to his indorser shall inure to the benefit of the association, is not inhibited by the national-banking law. First National Bank v. Haire, 36 Iowa, 443; National Bank v. Matthews, supra.

21. A national bank that has loaned money on timber land may, to protect itself and collect the debt, purchase the land at foreclosure sale, and cut and sell the timber. Roebbing Sons' Co. v. First National Bank et al., 30 Fed. Rep., 744.
22. The objection that a national bank has loaned money on real estate in violation of the prohibition of the national-banking laws does not lie in the mouth of the delinquent debtor of such loan, and does not disable the bank from enforcing the same by foreclosing the mortgage. The United States alone can complain of such violation. State National Bank v. Flathers, 45 La. Ann., 75; 12 So., 243.
23. Andrews et al.*; Young v. Same, 34 F., 913; 7 Wash., 261.

RECEIVER: See Insolvent banks; Preferred claims; Collections.

1. Upon the appointment of a receiver all the assets of the association become, in his hands, a trust fund, which the statute of limitations does not touch or affect. Riddle v. First National Bank, 27 Fed. Rep., 503.
2. Claims arising out of the nonfeasance or malfeasance of the association should be paid ratably with the debts, technically so called. Turner v. First National Bank of Keokuk et al., 26 Iowa, 562.
3. A receiver, when appointed by the Comptroller, with the concurrence of the Secretary, is an officer of the United States. Stanton v. Wilkeson, 8 Ben., 357.
4. He represents the bank, its stockholders, and its creditors; but he does not in any sense represent the Government. Case v. Terrell, 11 Wall., 199.
5. The clause of sec. 50, act of 1864, which prescribes that the receiver shall be "under the direction of the Comptroller," means only that he shall be subject to the Comptroller's direction, not that he shall not act without orders. He may bring suit to collect assets without having been instructed to do so by the Comptroller. Bank v. Kennedy, 17 Wall., 19.
6. The receiver of a national bank is the instrument of the Comptroller and may be removed by him. Kennedy v. Gibson, 8 Wall., 505.
7. The power of the Comptroller to appoint a receiver is not exclusive; it does not oust the courts of equity of their authority in the matter, and therefore a court of competent jurisdiction may place the bank in the hands of a receiver in cases where, according to the rules of equity, it may pursue such a course with regard to insolvent corporations generally. Irons v. Manufacturers' National Bank, 6 Biss., 301; Wright v. Merchants' National Bank, 1 Flippin, 561.
8. Suits brought by a receiver can not be settled or compounded upon an order of the Comptroller; this can be done only with the authority of the court. Case v. Small, 2 Woods, 78.
9. The decision of a receiver rejecting a claim is not final. The claimant still has the right to sue. Bank of Bethel v. Pahquioque Bank, 14 Wall., 333.
10. The receiver can not sell the real or personal property of the bank without an order from a court of competent jurisdiction. Ellis v. Little, 27 Kans., 707.
11. Nor can he sell upon the terms in conflict with the order. Ib.
12. And under an order permitting him to sell the property of the bank, he can not exchange, trade, or barter it for other property. Ib.
13. A sale made by a receiver under order of a court is to all intents and purposes a judicial sale. In re Third National Bank, 9 Biss., 535.
14. As the power of a receiver of a national bank appointed by the Comptroller is limited, a person dealing with him in his official capacity is bound, as a matter of law, to have knowledge of his authority to act, and if contracts and agreements are entered into with the receiver in excess of his authority as conferred by law, the parties contract at their own peril, and the estate of the bank can not be charged for the default or inability of a receiver acting outside of his functions as receiver and beyond the duties which it involves. Ellis v. Little, 27 Kans., 707.

15. The receiver can not charge the estate of the bank by any executory contract, unless authorized so to do by the provisions of the national-banking law and the order of a court of competent jurisdiction obtained upon the terms of said law. Ib.
16. The closing of a national bank by order of the examiner, the appointment of a receiver, and its dissolution by decree of a circuit court necessarily transfer the assets of the bank to the receiver. Scott v. Armstrong, 146 U. S., 499.
17. The receiver in such case takes the assets in trust for creditors, and, in the absence of a statute to the contrary, subject to all claims and defenses that might have been interposed against the insolvent corporation. Ib.
18. Receiver of national bank may sue for demands in his name as receiver or in name of bank. Bank v. Kennedy, 17 Wall., 19.
19. Receiver of national bank appointed by Comptroller of the Currency is not accountable in equity to owner of real estate for rents thereof received by him and paid into United States Treasury, subject to disposition of Comptroller, under Rev. St., sec. 5234. Hitz v. Jenks, 123 U. S., 297; Briggs v. Spaulding, 141 U. S., 132.
20. The expenses of receivership of a national bank appointed in a creditor's suit, contesting a voluntary liquidation of the bank, can not be charged on stockholders as part of their statutory liability, but must come from the creditors at whose instance the receiver was appointed. Richmond v. Irons, 121 U. S., 27.
21. A State court can not order a receiver for a national bank, appointed by the Comptroller of the Currency, to pay a judgment recovered against the bank before the appointment of the receiver. Ocean National Bank v. Carll, 7 Hun., 237; 1 N. B. C., 792.
22. A party claiming title to property in the possession of a receiver of an insolvent national bank, which came to his possession with other property belonging to the bank, may, upon his refusal to deliver the same, maintain an action of replevin therefor. Corn Exchange Bank v. Blye, 101 N. Y., 303; 3 N. B. C., 634.
23. Such a proceeding is not prohibited by sec. 5242, Rev. St. Ib.
24. A court has no power, under sec. 5324, Rev. St., to order the receiver of a national bank to compound debts which are not "bad or doubtful;" and a composition under such an order of debts not "bad or doubtful," as the debt of a shareholder arising on his subscription to the stock, is ineffectual. Price, Receiver of Venango National Bank, v. Yates, 19 Alb. L. J., 295; 2 N. B. C., 204.
25. A district court of the United States may order the receiver of a national bank to compromise doubtful debts under sec. 50 of the national-banking act (13 St. at Large, 115), which authorizes receivers to compromise such debts "on the order of a court of record of competent jurisdiction." Petition of Platt, 1 Benedict, 534; 1 N. B. C., 181.
26. The receiver of a national bank appointed by the Comptroller of the Currency is an officer of the United States, and therefore the district court has jurisdiction of an action at common law to collect a claim due the bank at the time of the receiver's appointment. Platt v. Beach, 2 Benedict, 303; 1 N. B. C., 132.
27. The closing of a national bank by order of the examiner, the appointment of a receiver, and its dissolution by decree of a circuit court, necessarily transfer the assets of the bank to the receiver. Scott v. Armstrong, 146 U. S., 499.
28. The receiver in such case takes the assets in trust for creditors, and, in the absence of a statute to the contrary, subject to all claims and defenses that might have been interposed against the insolvent corporation. Ib.
29. A sale by a receiver of the property of a national bank, under an order of court, in accordance with the provisions of sec. 5234, Rev. St., constitutes a judicial sale. In re Third National Bank, 4 Fed. Rep., 775.
30. Although the rights of a purchaser at a judicial sale are subject to the action of the court, yet such action must depend upon the general principles and usages of law. Ib.
31. Held, therefore, where a receiver had sold the property of a national bank, under an order of court, in accordance with sec. 5234, Rev. St., that such sale would not thereafter be set aside before confirmation upon a subsequent offer of an advance bid of $5,000 or $6,000, where a former sale of the same property had been set aside for inadequate price. Ib.
32. The Comptroller of the Currency has no power to compound or settle claims of a national bank against its debtors; that requires the authority of the - court, under Rev. St., sec. 5234. Quære: Can he direct their discontinuance? Case, Receiver, v. Small et al., 10 Fed. Rep., 722.

33. Appointments of receivers of national banks, made by the Comptroller of the Currency as provided by law, are to be presumed to be made with the concurrence or approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, and are made by the head of a Department within the meaning of sec. 2 of article 2 of the Constitution of the United States. Price, Receiver, v. Abbott; Same v. Colson, 17 Fed. Rep., 506.
 34. Receiver's certificates are not commercial paper, and the holder takes them subject to all equities between the original parties, even though he acquired them for value and without notice. Central National Bank of Boston v. Hazard et al., 30 Fed. Rep., 484.
 35. When such certificates are negotiated at a discount, which the receiver is not authorized to allow, a subsequent bona fide holder will only be protected to the amount actually advanced by the first purchaser. Ib.
 36. The receiver stands in the shoes of the bank and can assert no rights against the subscribers which the bank could not have asserted. Winters v. Armstrong; Armstrong v. Stanage; Same v. Wood, 37 Fed. Rep., 508.
 37. It is not necessary that the facts upon which the Comptroller bases his action in appointing a receiver should be established by what is competent legal evidence; but he is left to be satisfied as best he can be, under the peculiar circumstances of each case, of the facts and the necessity for the exercise of his authority. Platt v. Beebe, 57 N. Y., 339.
 38. In an action to secure the application of part of the funds in the hands of a receiver of a national bank, appointed by the Comptroller of the Currency, in satisfaction of plaintiff's claim against the insolvent bank for money received by it as collecting agent, the bank is only a nominal party, for the receiver is the one to be held accountable for any unauthorized disposition of the money sued for. Grant v. Spokane Nat. Bank et al., 47 Fed. Rep., 673.
 39. The receiver of an insolvent bank may at any time dismiss an attorney employed by him, regularly or otherwise, to prosecute claims of the bank, and employ another in his place, whom the court will, by order, substitute in the place of the dismissed attorney, except as to such cases as the latter may have commenced and finished. In re Herman, 50 Fed. Rep., 517.
 40. A contract having been entered into between the receiver and the attorney that the latter should receive the attorney's fees provided for in the notes he was employed to collect, the court will not direct the substitution of another attorney in unfinished cases until the receiver deposits the amount of the attorney's fees reserved in the notes as a security to the dismissed attorney for such services as he may have rendered. Ib.
 41. Pub. St., Mass., ch. 13, secs. 8-10, provide that shares of stock in all banks, State and national, shall be taxed to the owners thereof, to be paid in the first instance by the bank itself, which, for reimbursement, shall have a lien on the shares and all the rights of the shareholders in the bank property: Held, That no suit for this tax can be maintained against the receiver of an insolvent national bank where the property represented by the shares has disappeared; for, there being nothing from which the receiver can be reimbursed, the tax will fall upon the assets of the bank, which belong to its creditors, and thereby violate the rule that a State can not tax the capital stock of a national bank. City of Boston v. Beal, 51 Fed. Rep., 306.
 42. Pub. St., Mass., ch. 13, secs. 8, 10, provide that shares of stock in all banks, State and national, shall be taxed to the owners thereof, to be paid in the first instance by the bank itself, which, for reimbursement, shall have a lien on the shares and all the rights of the shareholders in the bank property: Held, That no suit for this tax can be maintained against the receiver of an insolvent national bank where the property represented by the shares has disappeared. City of Boston v. Beal, 55 Fed. Rep., 26.
 43. The power vested in the Comptroller of the Currency by act June 30, 1876 (19 St., 63), authorizing him, whenever he becomes satisfied of the insolvency of a national bank, to appoint a receiver, is discretionary; and his decision as to such insolvency, for the purpose of such an appointment, is final, and not reviewable by the court. Washington National Bank v. Eckels et al., 57 Fed. Rep., 870.
 44. The right to put a national bank in voluntary liquidation, given to stockholders by Rev. St., sec. 5220, does not affect the right of the Comptroller to appoint a receiver under the act of June 30, 1876. Ib.
 45. Nor does the act of 1876, providing that, after the receiver has had charge of the bank long enough to pay all its debts, the stockholders may select an agent to take charge of such assets as remain, limit the power of the Comptroller to take action before the bank ceases to do a banking business. Ib.

46. Section 1 of the act of 1876, authorizing the appointment of a receiver by the Comptroller to "close up" a national-banking association, contemplates the liquidation and final winding up of the business of the bank, not the mere closing of the bank, and does not limit the power of the Comptroller to take action before the bank has closed its doors. Ib.
47. Rev. St. U. S., sec. 5234, relating to receivers of national banks, requires them to collect all debts, dues, and claims and, on the order of the court, to compound debts. Section 5242 declares void any application of the assets in preference of creditors after the commission of an act of insolvency, or in contemplation thereof: Held, That an act of a receiver of a national bank, in allowing a certificate of deposit issued by such bank as an offset to a note due the bank, signed by the holder of the certificate and another, was void, in the absence of an order of court authorizing it, where such certificate was transferred to such holder after the bank became insolvent. Beckham v. Shackelford (Tex.), 29 S. W., 200.
48. Such receiver was not estopped from collecting such note from a surety, who released security held by him on the faith of such offset, and the surrender of the note by the receiver, though the receiver knew he was a surety only, and that he held such security. Ib.
49. Where a bank, through its president, whose authority to act for it in such matters was shown, and who gave a receipt, signed by himself as president, stating that the note was for the use of and was to be paid by the bank, borrowed a note for its own use on a consideration which failed, which note was subsequently renewed by the makers, neither the bank nor its receiver are bona fide holders of the note as against the makers, though the "offering book" of the bank had an entry indicating that the original note had been discounted as on the offer of the makers, it also appearing that the president had ordered the proceeds of discount carried to his individual credit, but had withdrawn none of the money from the bank. Fisher v. Simons, 64 Fed. Rep., 311.
50. The receiver of an insolvent bank withdraws his offer to allow part of a claim by filing a pleading in the proceedings denying the liability of the bank on the claim, and the interest on dividends should be allowed the owner of claim as though no such offer had been made. Chemical National Bank v. Armstrong, 65 Fed. Rep., 573.

REDUCTION OF CAPITAL STOCK: See Capital stock.

REPORT: See False entry.

1. A national bank is not required to conform the headings of the various accounts on its books to any prescribed names, nor to the names stated in the form of report prescribed by the Comptroller, and therefore when a report is called for, if the person making it enters, under the headings in the prescribed form, a statement of the bank's condition which is true with respect to the headings in said form, he has fulfilled the demands of the law. United States v. Graves, 53 Fed. Rep., 634.
2. The entry of "loans and discounts" in reports to the Comptroller does not guarantee the solvency of the makers of the paper, but is a statement that in truth and fact, at the date named in the report, the bank actually held and owned loans and discounts to the aggregate so reported. Ib.
3. Where the form of report, as prescribed by the Comptroller, contains heading of "Loans and discounts," and also of "Overdrafts," it is the duty of the bank officer to make his entries in such report in such manner that each of these headings shall truthfully state the condition of his bank as to such heading. Ib.
4. A director of a bank is personally liable to the bank on paper made to it by a firm of which he is a member, and, in making a report of the condition of the bank to the Comptroller, the amount of such paper should be entered under the heading of "Liabilities of directors (individual and firm) as payers." Ib.
5. The "liabilities" of a national bank, which are required by Rev. St., sec. 5211, to be stated in the reports of the Comptroller of the Currency, include contingent as well as absolute liabilities; and hence an unmatured note, payment of which at maturity is guaranteed by the bank, should be included in the list of liabilities. Cochran v. United States, 15 S. Ct., 628.

RESIDENCE:

A national bank is a citizen of the State wherein it is located. Davis v. Cook, 9 Nevada, 134; 1 N. B. C., 656.

RESTRAINING ACTS:

National banking associations located outside of a State are subject to its restraining acts prohibiting all corporations, not authorized by the law of the State, from keeping therein offices for the purpose of discount and deposit. National Bank of Fairhaven v. The Phoenix Warehousing Company, 6 Hun., 71.

SAVINGS BANKS:

After the act of June 30, 1876 (19 St., 63), savings banks organized in the District of Columbia under an act of Congress, and having a capital stock paid up in whole or in part, were entitled to become national banking associations in the mode prescribed by Rev. St., sec. 5154. Keyser v. Hitz, 133 U. S., 138.

SHAREHOLDERS: See Assessment; Transfer of stock.

1. One who appears on the books of the association as the owner of shares of its stock is individually liable, though he hold the stock merely as collateral security. National Bank v. Case, 99 U. S., 628; Moore v. Jones, 3 Woods, 53; Bowdell v. Farmers and Merchants' National Bank of Baltimore, 2 N. B. C., 146; Hale v. Walker, 31 Iowa, 344; Whelock v. Kost, 77 Ill., 296.
2. And a subscription to stock of a national bank, and payment in full on the subscription and entry of the subscriber's name on the books as a stockholder, constitutes the subscriber a shareholder without taking out a certificate. Pacific National Bank v. Eaton, 141 U. S., 227.
3. If the trusteeship of one who holds stock in trust does not appear upon the books of the association he will be individually liable. Davis v. Essex Baptist Society, 44 Conn., 582.
4. The real owner of the stock is liable as a stockholder, though when he purchased the stock he had it transferred upon the books to another. Davis v. Stevens, 17 Blatch., 259.
5. While it is undoubtedly the rule as regards stockholders that one put upon the books as a stockholder without his consent can not be held for any liability in respect to such stock, yet where the person to whom the stock is transferred is a director of the bank, and is concerned in the management of its affairs, he must be presumed to have knowledge of the fact that the stock stood in his name, and if he has not repudiated the transfer to himself, is liable as the holder of such stock. Brown v. Finn, 34 Fed. Rep., 124.
6. A national bank, having so received stock of another national bank, was sued as a stockholder: Held, That loan by national bank on such security is not prohibited, and if it were, defendant could not avoid liability by its own illegal act. National Bank v. Case, 99 U. S., 628.
7. Where stockholder, knowing that bank is to fail, collusively transfers his shares to an irresponsible person to avoid liability, his liability is not affected by such fraud. Bowden v. Johnson, 107 U. S., 251.
8. A person who is entered on the books of a national bank as the owner of stock, but who is admitted to hold the stock in trust for the true owner, is not liable, as a stockholder, for the debts of the bank when the true owner has been adjudged so liable, although nothing is realized on the execution of such judgment. Yardley v. Wilgus, 56 Fed. Rep., 965.
9. Subscription to stock and payment in full and entry of name on books as a stockholder makes subscriber a shareholder without taking out a certificate. Pacific National Bank v. Eaton, 141 U. S., 227; Thayer v. Butler, Ib., 234; Butler v. Eaton, Ib., 240.
10. A pledgee of stock who in good faith takes the security for his benefit in name of an irresponsible trustee for the avowed purpose of avoiding individual liability as shareholder, incurs no liability as such. Anderson v. Phila. Warehouse Co., 111 U. S., 479.
11. The statutory liability of a shareholder in a national bank for the debts of the corporation survives against his personal representatives. Richmond v. Irons, 121 U. S., 27.
12. Shareholder in national bank continues liable for the company's debts until his stock is actually transferred or certificate surrendered for that purpose; a delivery to the president of the bank as vendee, and not as president, is insufficient to discharge the shareholder. Ib.
13. The pledgee of stock under a contract to sell on default of the payment of a note for which the stock is pledged, who, by judicial proceedings, has compelled the transfer, on the books, of the stock to himself, will be deemed, in the absence of complaint by the debtor, to have acquired the stock as owner. Succession of Lanaux (La.), 17 So., 200; Appeal of Hibernia National Bank, Ib.

SHAREHOLDERS: See Assessment; Transfer of stock—Continued.

14. A valid trust arises as against every one except the donor's creditors where an owner of the bank stock surrenders his certificate, and has it reissued to himself as trustee for the benefit of his children, and such trust remained unrevoked at his death. Mize v. Bates County National Bank, 1 Mo. App. Rep., 99.
15. A "shareholder" in a corporation, within Rev. St., secs. 5139, 5151, creating individual liability against shareholders of national banks, is one who has a proportionate interest in its assets, and is entitled to take part in and control and receive its dividends. Beal v. Essex Savings Bank, 67 Fed. Rep., 816.
16. Plaintiffs subscribed for certain shares in a bank to increase the capital, and, after paying installments thereon, consented that the bank be consolidated with a national bank, and that the capital of the latter be increased, and that their subscriptions should stand as subscriptions to the increased capital of the national bank, and paid installments on their subscriptions. Some preliminary steps were taken by the national bank to increase its stock, but the Comptroller of the Currency refused to consent to the full increase, and before the amount of increase allowed by him was paid in, and a certificate therefor issued by him, the national bank was placed in the hands of a receiver: Held, That plaintiffs never became stockholders in the national bank. McFarlin v. First National Bank, 68 Fed. Rep., 868.

SPECIAL DEPOSITS: See Preferred claims.

1. A national banking association may receive special deposits. The provision in sec. 5228, Rev. St., authorizing an association "to deliver special deposits," implies that it may receive them as a part of its legitimate business; and this implication is as effectual as an express declaration to the same effect would have been. National Bank v. Graham, 100 U. S., 699.
2. Section 5228, Rev. St., which provides that it shall be lawful for a national bank after its failure to "deliver special deposits," is an effectual recognition of its power to receive them. Ib.
3. National bank is liable for damages occasioned by the loss through gross negligence of a special deposit made in it with knowledge and acquiescence of its officers and directors. Ib.
4. The taking of special deposits, to keep merely for the accommodation of the depositor, is not within the authorized business of national banks, and the cashiers of such banks have no power to bind them on any express contract accompanying, or any implied contract arising out of, such taking. Wiley v. The First National Bank of Brattleboro, 47 Vermont, 546; 1 N. B. C., 905.
5. A national bank which habitually receives special deposits for safe-keeping as matter of accommodation is bound by the act of its cashier in receiving on special deposit a package of stocks and bonds. The bank, though acting without reward, becomes a bailee and is responsible for gross negligence. The Chattahoochee National Bank v. Schley, 53 Georgia, 369; 1 N. B. C., 379.
6. If a person withdraws from a bank a special deposit, in pursuance of authority conferred upon him by the depositor, the bank is discharged, though at the time its officers were not aware of his authority. Ib.
7. Written authority indorsed on a certificate of deposit of stocks and bonds to pay a certain person dividends or coupons is no authority for surrendering the stocks and bonds themselves. Ib.
8. The power to receive special deposits is incidental to the business of banking. Pattison v. The Syracuse National Bank, 80 N. Y., 82.
9. National banks, therefore, have power to receive special deposits gratuitously or otherwise; and, when received gratuitously, they are liable for their loss by gross negligence. Ib.
10. The term "special deposits" includes money, securities, and other valuables delivered to banks, to be specifically kept and delivered. It is not confined to securities held by the banks as collateral to loans. Ib.
11. The plaintiff delivered to the defendant bank $4,000 of United States bonds and received this writing: "Received of J. D. Whitney four thousand dollars, for safe-keeping as a special deposit. S. M. Waite, C." Held, That it was a naked deposit without reward; that the defendant would not be liable for the robbery or larceny of the bonds, unless there was complicity or bad faith; that it was answerable only for fraud or for gross negligence; that the law demands good faith and the same care of the plaintiff's bonds as defendant took of its own of like character. Whitney v. The First National Bank of Brattleboro, 55 Vt., 154.

12. An action against a bank for the conversion or the loss by gross negligence of valuable articles deposited with it as a bailee without hire can not be sustained on evidence from which the inference that the articles were stolen by servants of the bank, selected and continued in its employment without negligence, who in the proper course of business had access to them, is equally deducible with any other inference. Smith v. First National Bank of Westfield, 99 Mass., 605.
13. In an action of trover against a bank, after its reorganization as a national bank, for the value of certain special deposits in coin made prior thereto. Held, That the measure of damage was the value of the coin at the date of its conversion, with interest thereon. Coffey v. The National Bank of Missouri, 46 Mo., 140; 1 N. B. C., 644.
14. To recover against a bank for bonds left with the bank as a gratis bailment, something more is needed than the mere fact that they were stolen from the bank. Wylie v. Northampton National Bank, 15 Fed. Rep., 428.
15. And where an association receives United States bonds of one class for the purpose of having them converted into bonds of another class, it is not a mere mandatary, but is responsible for the failure to deliver the bonds on demand. Leach v. Hale, 31 Iowa, 69.
16. An insolvent was cashier of a bank, to which he was largely indebted, and put certain of his own securities in a package, and placed it with similar bundles left with the bank as special deposits for safe-keeping. It was insolvent's intention in this manner to pay certain drafts securing his indebtedness to the bank, and these drafts were entered on the books as paid, and the item of bonds of the bank was increased to the extent of the value of these securities. The securities were not indorsed by insolvent, and the other officers of the bank had no knowledge of the transactions. Held, That no property in the securities was transferred to the bank. Witters v. Sowles et al., 33 Fed. Rep., 542.
17. A national-bank president, against whom an indictment was pending for violating the banking laws, brought a bill against the receiver of the bank to obtain possession of a trunk alleged to contain private papers. To this proceeding the United States district attorney was made a party defendant on his own petition, for the purpose of claiming the papers, in order that they might be laid before the grand jury. After hearing, a decree was made appointing a special master to make a private examination of the trunk, with directions to turn over to the complainant any papers belonging to him, and to the receiver such papers as belonged to the bank and were not material to the prosecution against the president, and to reserve for further consideration such as concerned bank transactions, and were material to the prosecution. Held, That in so far as the decree directed papers to be turned over to the president and the receiver, it was final and appealable, since such papers might thus pass entirely beyond control of the other party claiming them. Potter v. Beal et al., 50 Fed. Rep., 860.
18. It was improper to make the district attorney a party defendant for the purpose of procuring the papers to be laid before the grand jury. The proper course was for him to obtain a subpoena duces tecum from the court in which the investigation was pending, and then to make summary application to the court which had impounded the papers. Ib.
19. Under the circumstances, the order made by the court for an examination of the papers by a special master was in violation of the fundamental and constitutional rights of the litigants as to the method of trial. Ib.
20. It appearing that before the bill was brought the trunk had been opened by consent of the president of the bank and the receiver, and certain papers taken out in the presence of third persons, one of whom thereby obtained some knowledge of its contents, it was in the power of the court to ascertain by private examination the nature of the evidence thus to be had, and if it proved prima facie admissible, to allow public testimony thereof to be given. Ib.
21. To constitute an equitable assignment of property, there must be an appropriation or separation, and the mere intent to appropriate is not sufficient. Putnam Savings Bank v. Beal, 54 Fed. Rep., 577.
22. Plaintiff bought of a bank $25,000 of five-year city of Duluth bonds and paid the $25,000. The bank, not having in its possession enough of the five-year bonds, proposed to set aside $17,000 five-year bonds and $8,000 one-year bonds, and to exchange the latter for five-year bonds as soon as received. A clerk was directed to make a package of such bonds, and mark it with plaintiff's name, and set it aside as his property, and the officers of the bank supposed this had been done. When defendant, as - receiver, took possession of the bank, there were found two packages of bonds. The first package contained $18,500 five-year bonds, with a slip of paper on which was written a memorandum, "Property of Putnam Ct. Sav. Bank; 6,500 more due them five-year bonds." The second package contained bonds amounting to $23,611.50, of which three, amounting to $10,255.90, had one year to run; six, amounting to $2,280.81, had five years to run; the remaining bonds running two, three, and four years. With this package was a slip of paper on which was written a memorandum of the date, amount of bonds, and the time when due, and also the words, "6,500 due Putnam." Held, That these facts did not show an equitable assignment by the bank to the plaintiff of the remaining $6,500 worth of bonds. Ib.

23. Where a national bank was broken into by burglars, and property belonging to it and to others was taken therefrom, the bank may take measures to recover its own; and it may lawfully undertake to act also for others thus jointly concerned with itself; and want of proper diligence, skill, and care in the performance of such an undertaking would render it liable to respond in damages for failure. Wylie v. Northampton National Bank, 119 U. S., 361; 3 N. B. C., 138.
 24. Gratuitous bailees of another's property are not responsible for its loss unless guilty of gross negligence in its keeping; and whether that negligence existed is a question of fact for the jury to determine or to be determined by the court where a jury is waived. Preston v. Prather, 137 U. S., 604.
 25. The reasonable care which a bailee of another's property intrusted to him for safe-keeping without reward must take varies with the nature, value, and situation of the property and the bearing of surrounding circumstances on its security. Ib.
 26. Persons depositing valuable articles with banks for safe-keeping without reward have a right to expect that such measures will be taken as will ordinarily secure them from burglars outside and from thieves within; that whenever ground for suspicion arises an examination will be made to see that they have not been abstracted or tampered with; that competent men, both as to ability and integrity, for the discharge of these duties will be employed, and that they will be removed whenever found wanting in either of these particulars. Ib.
 27. In this case persons engaged in business as bankers received for safe-keeping a parcel containing bonds, which was put in their vaults. They were notified that their assistant cashier, who had free access to the vaults where the bonds were deposited, and who was a person of scant means, was engaged in speculations in stocks. They made no examination as to the securities deposited with them, and did not remove the cashier. He stole the bonds so deposited: Held, That the bankers were guilty of gross negligence, and were liable to the owner of the bonds for their value at the time they were stolen. Ib.
 28. When bonds originally deposited with a bank for safe-keeping are by agreement of the bailor and bailee made a standing security for the payment of loans to be made by the bank to the owner of the bonds, the bailee becomes bound to give such care to them as a prudent owner would extend to his own property of a similar kind. Ib.
 29. Where the speculations in stocks and bonds on margins of a bank cashier of which the president had knowledge were such that such president must have known of the cashier's dishonesty, the bank is liable for bonds deposited with it as a gratuitous bailee, which the cashier converted to his own use. Merchants' National Bank v. Guilmartin (Ga.), 21 S. E., 55.
 30. In an action against a bank to recover the value of a special deposit embezzled by the cashier, diligence in the keeping of the deposit was not shown by evidence that under similar circumstances defendant intrusted its cashier with like property of its own. Merchants' National Bank v. Carhart (Ga.), 22 S. E., 628.

TAXATION:

1. A State can not tax the capital stock of a national bank as such. The tax must be assessed upon the shares of the different stockholders. Collins v. Chicago, 4 Biss., 472.
2. Under Rev. St., sec. 5219, which declares that nothing in the national banking act shall prevent all the shares of stock of a national bank from being included in the assessment of the personal property of the owners of such shares, an assessment of the entire stock of a national bank in solido against the bank itself is invalid. National Bank of Virginia v. City of Richmond et al., 42 Fed. Rep., 877.

TAXATION—Continued.

3. The assessment of the entire capital stock of a national bank in solido against the bank itself is invalid. The bank may pay the tax assessed upon the shares of its different stockholders, and it will have a lien thereon when it pays such tax until the same is satisfied; but if for any cause the tax levied upon the different stockholders is not paid by the bank, the property of the individual stockholders will be liable therefor. First National Bank of Leoti v. Fisher, 45 Kans., 726.
 4. The individual stockholders of a national bank are allowed the same deductions from the assessment against them upon their shares of stock as other taxpayers in the State owning moneyed capital are allowed. Ib.
 5. "Moneyed capital" in Rev. St., sec. 5219, embraces capital employed in national banks and that used by individuals in business for profit by use of it as money, but does not include that in the hands of a corporation, even if its business be such as to make its shares moneyed capital when in the hands of individuals, or if it invests its capital in securities payable in money. Mercantile Bank v. New York, 121 U. S., 133; Newark Bank Co. v. Newark, Ib., 163; Talbot v. Silverbow County, Montana, 139 U. S., 438.
 6. Laws, N. Y., 1880, ch. 596, sec. 3, which provides that the stockholders in banks and trust companies organized under the authority of the State or of the United States shall be assessed for the value of their shares of stock, but which omits to provide for the taxation of the shares of stock in other private corporations, does not contravene Rev. St., sec. 5219, which forbids the taxation of shares of national banks at a greater rate than is assessed on other "moneyed capital" in the hands of the individual citizen of the State. Palmer v. McMahon, 133 U. S., 660; Central National Bank v. United States, 137 U. S., 355.
 7. The shares of a national bank are taxable to the owners, and the bank is not liable, primarily or as the agent of the shareholders, under the act of Congress or of the various laws of the State or Territory, for the payment of a tax levied upon such shares; but if such bank, through its proper officers, voluntarily lists such shares as the property of the bank for taxation, and the taxing officers of the State or Territory, in pursuance of such erroneous listing, tax the same in the name of the bank, equity will not relieve the bank from the payment of such tax by enjoining its collection in the absence of proper application to all the statutory tribunals authorized to hear such matter and determine and grant the proper relief. Albuquerque National Bank v. Perea, 147 U. S., 87.
 8. The entire interests of the shareholders may be taxed without any deduction for that portion of the capital which is invested in United States securities. Van Allen v. The Assessors, 3 Wall., 573.
 9. New shares issued by a national banking association can not be taxed until the increase of capital has been approved by the Comptroller of the Currency. Charleston v. People's National Bank, 5 S. C., 103.
 10. The manifest intention of the law is to permit the State in which a national bank is located to tax, subject to the limitations prescribed, all the shares of its capital stock without regard to their ownership; and, therefore, a national bank may be taxed upon the shares which it holds in another national bank. Bank of Redemption v. Boston, 126 U. S., 60.
 11. The undivided surplus of a national banking association, unless invested in Federal securities, may be lawfully taxed by the State. North Ward National Bank of Newark v. City of Newark, 39 N. J., 380; First National Bank v. Peterborough, 56 N. H., 33.
 12. But, of course, if the surplus is taken into consideration in estimating the taxable value of the shares, it is not to be taxed separately. North Ward National Bank v. City of Newark, supra.
- NOTE.—But it has been held in Maryland that the stock of an association represents its whole property, and where a tax is assessed upon the shares a separate tax upon the real or personal estate amounts to double taxation; and, therefore, where the organic laws of the State prohibit double taxation, such a tax upon the property of an association is void. County Commissioners v. Farmers and Mechanics' National Bank, 48 Md., 117; National State Bank v. Young, 25 Iowa, 311, wherein it was held that the State could tax only the shares eo nomine and the real estate.
13. The surplus fund of a national banking association is not excluded in the valuation of its shares for taxation. Stafford National Bank v. Dover, 59 N. H., 316.
 14. Where shares of stock are assessed at their actual cash value, without any deduction for the real estate owned by the association, the real estate should not be taxed eo nomine. Commissioners of Rice County v. Citizens' National Bank of Faribault, 23 Minn., 280.

TAXATION—Continued.

15. Real estate owned by a bank constitutes part of its assets, within the meaning of Code of Mississippi providing that banks shall pay a privilege tax, whose amount varies with their "capital stock or assets," in lieu of all other taxes. Picksburg Bank v. Worrell, 7 So., 219.
16. The State can not tax the circulating notes of national banking associations. Horne v. Greene, 25 Miss., 452; contra, Board of Commissioners v. Elston, 32 Ind., 27; Ruffin v. Board of Commissioners, 69 N. C., 498; Lily v. The Commissioners, 69 N. C., 300.
17. Where the State banks are taxed upon the capital, no tax can be imposed upon the shares of national banking associations; for, as the capital of the State banks may consist of the bonds of the United States, which are exempt from State taxation, a tax on capital is not equivalent to a tax on shares. Van Allen v. The Assessors, 3 Wall., 573; Bradley v. The People, 4 Wall., 459.
18. But though the tax upon the State banks is not eo nomine a tax on shares, yet if it is equivalent to such a tax the shares in the national banking associations located in that State may be taxed. Frazer v. Seibern, 16 Ohio St., 614; Van Slyke v. State, 2 Wis., 655; Boynoll v. State, 25 Wis., 112.
19. Where by local legislation different rates are prescribed for different classes of moneyed capital, the rate imposed upon shares of national banks should approximate as closely as may be the rate imposed upon other moneyed capital of the same or similar class, viz, shares of State banks. City National Bank v. Paduach, 5 Cent. L. J., 347; 1 N. B. C., 300.
20. Congress meant no more than to require of the States, as a condition to the exercise of the power to tax the shares in national banks, that they should, as far as they had the capacity, tax in like manner the shares of banks of issue of their own creation. Lionberger v. Rouse, 9 Wall., 463.
21. Therefore, where a State has previously contracted with the banks which it has chartered that they shall not be taxed above a certain rate, a tax upon national-bank shares at a greater rate is not invalid, if this rate is not greater than that assessed upon all the moneyed capital within the State, except that of the State banks. Ib.
22. Any system of assessment of taxes which exacts from the owner of the shares of a national banking association a larger sum in proportion to the actual value of those shares than it does from other moneyed capital, valued in like manner, taxes the shares at a greater rate, notwithstanding that the percentage of tax on the valuation is the same as that applied to other moneyed capital. Pelton v. Commercial National Bank, 101 U. S., 143.
23. In estimating the value of the shares for the purpose of taxation, reference may be had to all the property and values of the bank. St. Louis National Bank v. Papin, 3 Cent. L. J., 663; 1 N. B. C., 326.
24. If no excessive valuation is complained of, and a correct result is arrived at, equity will not restrain the collection of a tax because the method of computation was erroneous. Ib.
25. The shares may be valued for taxation at an amount exceeding their face value, if this amount is not at a greater rate than the valuation set upon other moneyed capital in the State. Hepburn v. School Directors, 23 Wall., 480.
26. Under the statute of New York, shares in national banking associations should be taxed at their real or market value. People v. The Commissioners of Taxes and Assessments, 94 U. S., 415.
27. Where shares in national banking associations are purposely valued proportionately higher than the other moneyed capital in the State, the assessment is void. Pelton v. National Bank, 101 U. S., 143.
28. And the collection of what is in excess of the rate imposed on the other moneyed capital may be enjoined. Ib.
29. A State statute creating a system of taxation of banks which does not discriminate against national banks is not unconstitutional. Ib.; Davenport Bank v. Davenport, 123 U. S., 83.
30. Section 5219, Rev. St., does not require perfect equality between State and national banks, but only a system of taxation which shall work no discrimination between them. Ib.
31. The intention of Congress was that the rate of taxation of the shares should be the same as, or no greater than, the tax upon the moneyed capital of the individual citizen which is subject and liable to taxation. People v. The Commissioners, 4 Wall., 244.
32. The fact that by the statutes creating them, which statutes were passed prior to the national banking law, State banks are entirely exempt from taxation will not render a tax upon the shares of national banking associations void. City of Richmond v. Scott, 48 Ind., 568.

TAXATION—Continued.

33. And a State tax upon shares in national banking associations is not rendered invalid by an exemption of the shares of other corporations the capital of which consists of property required to be listed for taxation as such. McIver v. Robinson, 53 Ala., 456.
34. Merely a partial exemption of other moneyed capital will not invalidate a tax upon shares in national banking associations. Hepburn v. School Directors, 23 Wall., 480.
35. But though Congress did not contemplate that there should be an absolute equality (which in the nature of things is impossible), yet it did intend that there should be a substantial equality; and therefore if the exemptions in favor of other moneyed capital are so palpable as to show that there is a serious discrimination against capital invested in the shares of national-banking associations, the tax will be declared unlawful. Boyer v. Boyer, 113 U. S., 690.
36. A State law which does not permit a deduction to be made from the assessed value of bank shares for all debts due by the holder thereof, while authorizing such a deduction to be made from the assessed value or moneyed capital otherwise invested, is void. People ex rel. Williams v. Weaver, 100 U. S., 539, reversing S. C., 67, N. Y., 516, and overruling People v. Dolan, 36 N. Y., 59.
37. In the assessment and taxation of shares of national-bank stock, the owners thereof having no other credits or moneyed capital are entitled to deduct their bona fide debts from the value of such shares of stock. Wasson v. Bank, 8 N. E., 97.
38. Rev. St., sec. 5219, providing that shares of national-bank stock may be taxed as a part of the personalty of the owner and that each State may tax them in its own manner, except that the taxation shall not be at a greater rate than is imposed on other "moneyed capital" owned by citizens of the State, and that the shares of nonresidents shall only be taxed in the city wherein the bank is located, do not authorize the taxation of the stock of a bank in solido by the city in which it does business, but only the shares of individual owners residing in the city are taxable, and they must be taxed separately, in order that the owner may deduct from their value the amount of his personal indebtedness, where the State laws or municipal ordinances permit such deductions and require equality of taxation. First National Bank of Richmond v. City of Richmond et al., 39 Fed. Rep., 309; Whitbeck v. Mercantile Bank, 127 U. S., 193.
39. The main purpose of Congress in fixing limits to State taxation on investments in the shares of national banks was to render it impossible for the State in levying such a tax to create and foster an unequal and unfriendly competition by favoring institutions or individuals carrying on similar business and operations and investments of a like character; and the language of the law is to be read in the light of this policy. And therefore the exemption of shares of stock in corporations the business of which does not come into competition with that of the national bank (e. g., railroad companies, mining companies, manufacturing companies, and insurance companies) does not invalidate a tax upon national-bank shares. Capital thus employed is not "moneyed capital" within the meaning of the act of Congress. Mercantile Bank v. New York, 121 U. S., 138; Newark Bank Co. v. Newark, Ib., 163; Bank of Redemption v. Boston, 125 Ib., 60.
40. The bonds of municipal corporations are not within the reason of the rule established by Congress for the taxation of national banks. Central National Bank v. United States, 137 U. S., 355.
41. Although deposits in savings banks constitute moneyed capital in the hands of individuals within the terms of any definition which can be given of that phrase, yet they are not within the meaning of the act of Congress in such a sense as to require that, if they are exempted from taxation, shares of stock in national banks must thereby also be exempted from taxation; for it can not be supposed that savings banks come into any possible competition with national banks. Mercantile Bank v. New York, 121 U. S., 138; Newark Bank Co. v. Newark, Ib., 163; Bank of Redemption v. Boston, 125 Ib., 60.
42. Under act Louisiana, 1888, sec. 27, relating to taxation of national-bank shares, making no deduction for that part of the bank's property entering into their value which consists of nontaxable State and national securities, which deduction, may, under the act, be made by individuals, a tax on national-bank shares violates Rev. St., sec. 5219, prohibiting the assessment of such shares at a greater rate than moneyed capital in the hands of individual citizens; and it is immaterial that the same discrimination

- is made against other corporations. Whitney National Bank v. Parker, 41 Fed. Rep., 402.
43. The taxation of national-bank shares by the statute of Indiana without permitting the owner of them to deduct from their assessed value the amount of his bona fide indebtedness, as he may in the case of other investments of moneyed capital, is a discrimination forbidden by the act of Congress. Britton v. Evansville National Bank, 105 U. S., 322.
 44. Section 5219 prohibits an adverse discrimination by a local government in the valuation of national-bank stock for assessments as compared with an assessment by the same government for the same year of other moneyed capital invested so as to make a profit from the use thereof as money. Puget Sound National Bank of Seattle v. King County et al., 57 Fed. Rep., 433.
 45. The State has a right to resort to the bank as a garnishee for the collection of its claims against stockholders for taxes, and legislation may require assessment of stock to be made to the bank in solido. First National Bank of Aberdeen v. Chehatis Co. et al., 32 P., 1051.
 46. The nontaxation of credits of individuals, such as accounts, promissory notes, and mortgages, is not unlawful discrimination against national banks whose capital is taxed. Ib.
 47. A State tax upon shares is valid, though the tax is collected from the bank. National Bank v. Commonwealth, 9 Wall., 353.
 48. And the State may require the banks to pay a tax rightfully laid upon the shares. Ib.
 49. And where the tax on shares is payable by the association the collection of the tax may be enforced by distraint of its property. First National Bank v. Douglas County, 3 Dill., 330.
 50. But where the tax laws of the State make the bank the mere agent for paying the tax on shares, and direct it to retain so much of the dividends as will answer that purpose, other agents being required to pay taxes for their principals only when they have under their control the property, money, or credit of such principals, the bank can not be made liable unless it has the control of the property, etc., of its shareholders, or has dividends in its possession or has failed to retain them. Hershire v. First National Bank, 35 Iowa, 272.
 51. Act Louisiana, 1888, sec. 27, providing that shares in banks shall be assessed to shareholders, but requiring the bank to pay taxes so assessed and authorizing it to collect the same from the shareholders, imposes a tax, not upon the bank, but upon its shares, as permitted by act of Congress providing that a State may determine the manner of taxing the shares of national banks located in the State. Whitney National Bank v. Parker, 41 Fed. Rep., 402.
 52. National banking associations can not be subjected to a license or privilege tax. Mayor v. First National Bank of Macon, 59 Ga., 648.

 57. Such a tax is not a direct tax within the meaning of the clause of the Constitution which declares that "direct taxes shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers." *Veazie Bank v.  58. Where the tax on shares is collected from the association it may bring a suit to enjoin the collection of an illegal tax. Cummings v. National Bank, 101 U. S., 153; Pelton v. Commercial National Bank, 101 U. S., 143; Boyer v. Boyer, 113 U. S., 689.
 59. The imposition of a tax upon the shares of the bank according to the Louisiana statute, which requires the bank to pay the tax and then look to the dividends upon the shares and to the stockholders for reimbursement, is a tax upon the bank itself. Citizens' Bank of Louisiana v. Board of Assessors, 54 Fed. Rep., 73.

60. In 1856 the State of Tennessee granted to the Bank of Commerce a charter which provides that the bank "shall have a lien on the stock for debts due it by the stockholders and shall pay to the State an annual tax of one-half of one per cent on each share of capital stock, which shall be in lieu of all other taxes." Held, That this charter exempts from taxation the property of the bank as well as the individual property of the shareholders in the corporate stock and its shares, and such construction is not affected by the fact that the United States Supreme Court decided that the charter tax was a tax on the shareholder only, and an exemption therefore of the shareholder, since such decision does not exclude from the exemption the corporation and its property. State of Tennessee et al. v. Bank of Commerce et al., 53 Fed. Rep., 735.
61. When the statute requires property to be assessed for taxation as its cash value, a bill to enjoin the collection of a tax solely on the ground that the property of other persons is assessed below its cash value, can not be maintained by a person whose property is also assessed below that value. Albuquerque National Bank v. Perea, 147 U. S., 87.
62. Massachusetts laws for taxation of national banks do not deny them the equal protection of the laws guaranteed by the Constitution, nor impose an equal tax in violation of the constitution of that State. Bank of Redemption v. Boston, 125 U. S., 60.
63. If a bank by mistake declares a dividend or adds to its surplus when it is not in condition to do so, such dividend is subject to taxation and the mistake can not be corrected in action to recover the tax. Central National Bank v. United States, 137 U. S., 355.

67. Act of 1864, "to provide a national currency," etc., subjects shares of banks authorized by it to taxation by States, though part or whole of capital is invested in national securities exempt from State taxation, and is constitutional. Van Allen v. Assessors, 3 Wall., 573.
68. New York act of 1865, subjecting shares of national banks to taxation, but not providing that the tax should not exceed rate imposed on State banks, is void, as there was no tax on shares of State banks—only on the capital. Ib.
69. Shares of stock in national banks are personal property, and the law creating them could give them a citius of their own, apart from owners, for purpose of taxation. This was done by act of 1864, sec. 41. Tappan v. Merchants' National Bank, 19 Wall., 490.
70. State statutes taxing shares without permitting owner to deduct his indebtedness, as allowed to owners of other personal property, make a discrimination forbidden by acts of Congress. Supervisors v. Stanley, 105 U. S., 305; Evansville Bank v. Britton, Ib., 322.
71. State statute is not void which requires, for purposes of taxation, that the cashier of each national bank within the State transmits to clerks of several towns in State a true list of its stockholders residing there. Waite v. Dowley, 94 U. S., 527.
72. National-bank shares can not be subjected to State taxation where a large part relatively of other moneyed capital in hands of individual citizens in same taxing district is exempted. Boyer v. Boyer, 113 U. S., 689.

77. Section 1003 of chapter 53 of the fifth division of the revised statutes of Montana Territory, as amended by the act of February 22, 1881, Laws of 1881, page 67, is not in conflict with Rev. St., sec. 5219. Ib.

 79. A city has no power to exact a license fee from a national bank. City of Carthage v. First Bank of Carthage, 2 N. B. C., 279; 71 Mo., 503.
 80. It is no ground for annulling an assessment on shares of bank stock under acts 1890, No. 106, sec. 27, that the list of shareholders appears in a different part of the assessment book from where the amount is noted. Casles v. City of New Orleans, 15 So., 199.
 81. Where the State board of tax commissioners raised the assessment on plaintiff's property without an appeal from the county board of review, the action was void and the collection of the tax on the increased value should be enjoined. First National Bank v. Brodhecker, 37 N. E., 340.
 82. While a State bank is changing to a national bank, and before the requirements of the State statute are fully complied with, it is subject to State taxation. Commonwealth v. Manufacturers and Mechanics' Bank of Philadelphia, 2 Pearson's Decisions, 386; 2 N. B. C., 459.
 83. National banks are not liable to a privilege tax imposed by city ordinance on occupations and business transactions, although "banks and banking" are in terms included. National Bank of Chattanooga v. Mayor, 8 Heiskell, 814; 1 N. B. C., 903.
 84. An assessment upon national-bank stocks is not violative of a constitutional provision declaring that taxation shall be equal and uniform, though in such assessment the owners of such stocks are denied the right to deduct from the value of such shares the amount of capital invested by the bank in United States bonds and legal-tender notes, and such a deduction is given to private bankers. Adair, tax collector, v. Robinson et al., 25 S. W., 734.
 85. Nor is such an assessment for this reason in violation of the Federal statute. Ib.
 86. Two banks, against whose stock illegal taxes have alike been separately assessed, can not join in a suit to enjoin the collection. Jones v. Rushville National Bank, 37 N. E., 338; Conzman v. First National Bank, Ib., 392.
 87. Act March 6, 1891, p. 199, sec. 114, empowers the county board of review to equalize valuations and correct lists, fixing true cash values, and, after notice, equalizing values. Section 125 allows appeals to the State board of tax commissioners, who shall have all the powers conferred on county boards of review: Held, That the State board has not original jurisdiction to fix assessments other than its express power over railroad property. Ib.
 88. Banks may sue to enjoin collection of an illegal tax assessed against them on their stock. Ib.
 89. Where the tax laws of a State deny to the holders of national-bank stock the right to deduct from the value of their shares their bona fide indebtedness, while conferring this right upon other moneyed capital, an assessment upon national-bank stock will be void. Mercantile National Bank v. Shields, 59 Fed. Rep., 952.
 90. It is immaterial that such deductions are not allowed to the holder of stock in railroad, insurance, and manufacturing corporations, since such stock is not regarded as "moneyed capital." Ib.
 91. Nonresident stockholders are entitled to the same deductions as resident stockholders. Ib.
 92. The tax laws of Ohio do not authorize the deduction from the value of shares in a national bank, entered on the duplicate for taxation, of legal, bona fide debts owing by the holder of such shares of stock. Niles v. Shaw, 50 Ohio St., 370; 34 N. E., 162.
 93. A tax levied on the property of a national bank subsequent to its insolvency is subordinate to the rights of a receiver appointed after such levy. Woodward v. Ellsworth, 4 Colo., 580; 2 N. B. C., 216.
 94. No suit for the collection of a tax under State statutes imposed upon the shares of stock of a national bank can be maintained against the receiver of an insolvent national bank where the property represented by the shares has disappeared; for, there being nothing from which the receiver can be reimbursed, the tax will fall upon the assets of the bank, which belong to its creditors, and thereby violate the rule that a State can not tax the capital stock of a national bank. City of Boston v. Beal, 51 Fed. Rep., 306.

TAXATION—Continued.

95. No suit can be maintained against the receiver of an insolvent national bank where the property represented by the shares has disappeared, under a statute which provides that shares of stock in all banks, State and national, shall be taxed to the owners thereof, to be paid in the first instance by the bank itself, which for reimbursement shall have a lien upon the shares and all the rights of the shareholders in the bank property. City of Boston v. Deal, 55 Fed. Rep., 26.
96. The personal assets and personal property of an insolvent national bank in the hands of a receiver appointed by the Comptroller of the Currency, in accordance with the provision of sec. 5234, Rev. St., are exempt from taxation under State laws. Rosenblatt v. Johnston, 104 U. S., 462; 3 N. B. C., 32.
97. The following act of Congress relative to the taxation of currency was approved August 13, 1894:
- Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That* circulating notes of national banking associations and United States legal-tender notes and other notes and certificates of the United States, payable on demand and circulating or intended to circulate as currency, and gold, silver, or other coin shall be subject to taxation as money on hand or on deposit under the laws of any State or Territory: Provided, That any such taxation shall be exercised in the same manner and at the same rate that any such State or Territory shall tax money or currency circulating as money within its jurisdiction.
- SEC. 2. That the provisions of this act shall not be deemed or held to change existing laws in respect of the taxation of national banking associations.
98. The formal acceptance of the provisions of the Hewitt bill (Gen. St., chap. 92, art. 2), fixing a certain tax on bank stock and surplus, and exempting from further taxation those banks which should comply with the requirements of the act, constituted a contract, the consideration for which was the surrender by certain State banks, chartered prior to 1856, of their contract right to pay a less tax, and the surrender by national banks of their exemption from taxation on Federal securities, thereby equalizing the taxation on all banks, and the adoption of a new constitution providing (sections 174, 175) that corporate property should be taxed according to its value, and that the power to do so should not be suspended by any contract to which the Commonwealth shall be a party, as well as subsequent legislation (St., c. 108, subd. 2) imposing additional taxation, was, as to said banks, in conflict with Const. U. S., art. 1, sec. 10, prohibiting any State from passing a law impairing the obligation of contracts, and with the similar provision in the State constitution; therefore Gen. St., c. 68, sec. 8, which was incorporated in said Hewitt bill, providing that charters thereafter granted should be within the control of the legislature, but that no amendment or repeal should impair rights previously vested, did not apply after the provisions of said bill were accepted. Lewis, Paynter, and Guffy, JJs., dissenting. *Commonwealth v. 101. Under tax law, 1891 (Rev. St., 1894, sec. 8469), national banks are not required to make the statements therein provided for as a basis for valuation. Ib.
 102. Act of June 8, 1891 (P. L., 240), providing that banks paying a certain rate on their shares of capital stock into the State treasury shall be exempt from local taxation, and that banks failing to do so shall be assessed, both locally and by the State, at a lower and uniform rate upon the appraised value of their shares, is not repugnant to Const., art. 9, sec. 1, which provides that all taxes shall be uniform on the same class of subjects within the territorial limits of the authority levying the tax. Commonwealth v. Merchants and Manufacturers' National Bank (Pa.), 31 Atl. Rep., 1065.
 103. Where the assessor made an unauthorized assessment of the shares of bank stock to the bank, and the bank did not ask the board of equalization to correct such erroneous assessment, it could not enjoin the collection of the taxes, in the absence of a valid excuse for its failure to apply to such board. First National Bank v. Bailey (Mont.), 39 P., 53.
 104. Where bank stock is erroneously assessed to the bank instead of the stockholders the board of equalization may correct the assessment. Ib.
 105. A bank is not estopped from denying liability to pay a tax levied on its capital stock as the personal property of the bank by the fact that for several years it had paid taxes so levied. Farmers and Traders' National Bank v. Hoffmann (Iowa), 61 N. W., 418.
 106. Under Code, section 819, providing for the taxation of shares of bank stock, and requiring the officers to furnish the assessors "the name of each person owning shares, and the amount owned by each," an assessment on the capital stock as the personal property of the bank, without mention of the shareholders, is void. Ib.
 107. Under Code, section 819, providing that banks shall be liable for the tax on shares of capital stock as the agent of the shareholders, and that they "shall retain so much of any dividend belonging to any shareholder as shall be necessary to pay any taxes levied on his shares," a bank is not liable unless it has money or property belonging to the delinquent shareholder. Ib.
 108. Evidence that a bank had not declared a dividend for a year previous to the levy of an assessment on its capital stock, and that the surplus which it reported after the assessment was made was worthless, by reason of the shrinkage of the securities composing it, will sustain a finding that, after the assessment, the bank had no money of the shareholder with which to pay the tax. Ib.

TRANSFER OF STOCK: See Shareholders; Assessment.

1. The transfer of shares in national banking associations is not governed by different rules from those which are ordinarily applied to the transfer of shares in other corporate bodies. Johnson v. Lafin, 103 U. S., 800.
2. The entry of the transaction in the books of the association is required, not for the translation of the title, but for the protection of the parties, and others dealing with the association, and to enable it to know who are its stockholders. Ib.
3. A shareholder in a national bank, while it is a going concern, has the absolute right, in the absence of fraud, to make a bona fide and actual sale and transfer of his shares at any time to any person capable in law of purchasing and holding the same, and of assuming the transferor's liabilities in respect thereto; and this right is not in such cases subject to the control of the directors or other stockholders. Johnson v. Lafin, 5 Dill., 65.
4. Under the pretense of prescribing the manner thereof, an association can not clog the transfer with useless restrictions. Ib.
5. When a shareholder, acting in good faith, delivers his certificates of stock, with a blank power of attorney for making the transfer, and receives the purchase money, the sale is complete and the title passes. Ib.
6. A shareholder who disposes of his stock will continue to be liable thereon until the transfer is noted on the books of the association. Bowdell v. Farmers and Merchants' National Bank of Baltimore, 2 N. B. C., 146.
7. Where a national banking association purchases shares of its own stock, and divides them among its directors, to whom the shares are transferred upon the stock books, the transaction is void, and no title passes. Meyers v. Valley National Bank, 13 National Bankruptcy Register, 34; 2 N. B. C., 156.

8. A national banking association can not acquire a lien on the stock of a shareholder. And a by-law prohibiting a transfer until all liabilities of the shareholder to the association are discharged, or a provision to that effect in the certificates of stock, is void. Bullard v. National Bank, 18 Wall., 589; Bank v. Lanier, 11 Wall., 369; Conklin v. The Second National Bank, 45 N. Y., 655.
9. An intending purchaser of bank stock is entitled to rely upon a statement of its president as to the bank's condition without inquiring further. Merrill v. Florida Land and Improvement Company, 60 Fed. Rep., 17.
10. In an equitable action to enforce specific performance of an agreement to sell shares in a national bank, which the purchaser wished to obtain for the purpose of securing control of the bank: Held, That specific performance would not be decreed (1) because, generally, equity will not enforce specific execution of a contract relating to personal chattels, and (2) because a decree enforcing the agreement in question would be against public policy. Folt's Appeal, 21 Alb. L. J., 27; 2 N. B. C., 411.
11. Where a shareholder who has sold his stock has delivered to the bank the certificate of stock and a power of attorney, with the request that the transfer be made upon the books of the bank, and has had no reason to suppose that such transfer was not made, he will not, should the bank afterwards become insolvent, be held liable as a shareholder, although he still appears as such on the books of the bank. Whitney v. Butler, 118 U. S., 655.
12. But where the president of the bank is himself the purchaser of the stock, then the delivery of the certificates and power of attorney to him with the request to make the transfer upon the books of the bank would not be sufficient to discharge the seller from liability as a stockholder. Richmond v. Irons, 121 U. S., 27.
13. Where a shareholder of a national bank makes a bona fide sale of his stock and goes with the purchaser to the bank, indorses the certificate, and delivers it to the cashier of the bank, with directions to make the transfer on the books, he has done all that is incumbent upon him to discharge his liability, and he is not liable, though the cashier failed to make the transfer, upon the subsequent suspension of the bank, for an assessment made by the Comptroller of the Currency, under Rev. St., sec. 5151, to pay the bank's debts. Hayes v. Shoemaker, 39 Fed. Rep., 319.
14. A transfer of shares for the purpose of avoiding liability, though made "out and out," is void. National Bank v. Case, 99 U. S., 623; Bowden v. Santos, 1 Hughes, 158.
15. And where a shareholder, who has knowledge of the insolvent condition of the bank, transfers his shares without consideration to a person unable to respond to the assessment, the transfer may be set aside. Bowden v. Johnson, 107 U. S., 251.
16. Title to stock passes on delivery of certificates to purchaser with authority to have shares transferred on books of bank. Johnston v. Laflin, 103, U. S., 800.
17. Party who, as security for a loan, accepts stock which he causes to be transferred to him on the books, incurs liability as a stockholder and is not relieved by colorable transfer with understanding that he may have it back on request. National Bank v. Case, 99 U. S., 623.
18. Bank cashier refusing to transfer, on books of bank, shares of capital stock pledged and sold for debt of one of its stockholders, receiver of bank is liable for value of stock at that time if bank had no lien thereon to justify such refusal. Case v. Bank, 100 U. S., 446.
19. And where stock has been transferred as collateral security for a loan, with the understanding that in case of default in the payment of the loan the shares shall be sold, the transferee, upon default made, and before the bank closes its doors, may sell the stock for a nominal consideration, though his purpose be to avoid a personal liability; and such a transaction can not be set aside as a fraud upon the creditors of the association. Magruder v. Colton, 44 Md., 349.
20. After a national bank has become insolvent and has closed its doors for business, its shareholders' liability to creditors is so far fixed that any transfer of their shares must be held fraudulent and inoperative as against the creditors of the bank. Irons, ex'r, etc., et al. v. Manufacturers' National Bank et al., 17 Fed. Rep., 308.
21. The rules which regulate the transfer of the stock of national banks are to be found in the statutes of the United States. The national banking act prescribed no exclusive method of transfer, but authorizes every associa-

- tion to do so. The decisions of the courts of the State in which the bank may be located do not control it. Scott et al. v. Pequonock National Bank, 15 Fed. Rep., 494.
22. Precedence should be given to unrecorded transfers of shares of stock of a national bank, which had passed no by-law on the subject, located in a State whose courts leaned strongly against such transfers, but whose statutes gave the attaching creditor no peculiar rights, by delivery of certificates and a written assignment with power to transfer, both executed in blank, over subsequent attachment of a creditor of the original vendor in whose name the shares still stood on the books of the bank. Ib.
 23. Where no specified acts are by positive requirement made prerequisite to the vesting of a valid new title, creditors without notice take their debtor's property subject to all bona fide liens and equitable transfers. No registry being required, nonrecording was not evidence of fraud. The tendency is to regard State certificates, attached to an executed blank assignment and power to transfer, as approximating to negotiable securities and to favor attaching creditors less than when attachment and sale on execution alone could compel payment of a claim out of debtor's property. Federal courts have so decided. Ib.
 24. The courts of Connecticut and Massachusetts have quite rigidly maintained that where a statute or charter prescribes an exclusive manner of transfer of the stock of a corporation an unrecorded transfer shall not be valid against the attaching creditors of vendor; and the courts of the former have strongly leaned toward a construction of the charters of its corporations compelling record of such transfers. Ib.
 25. On December 30, 1875, A sold certain shares of bank stock to B, and assigned them by a transfer written on the back of the certificate. By the by-laws of the bank, stock was transferable only on the books of the company. On December 14, 1878, the shares were attached by a judgment creditor of A and sold and transferred to C. Neither the bank nor the creditor had knowledge of the transfer to B. In January, 1880, B presented his certificate and transfer to the officers of the bank and demanded a transfer of the stock, which was refused, whereupon he brought suit against the bank for such refusal: Held, That the bank was liable in damages for the refusal to transfer the shares. Hazard v. National Exchange Bank of Newport, 26 Fed. Rep., 94.
 26. The sale which sec. 5201, Rev. St., requires a national bank to make of its stock is real and not fictitious. And where the president and cashier of a national bank, which is the owner of some of its own stock, purchase such stock and execute their note to the bank for the purchase money, in a suit against them on the note by the receiver of such bank, they are estopped to set up as a defense that their purchase of the stock was unauthorized, or that their purchase was merely colorable, or to avoid a forfeiture of the bank's charter, or for any other deceptive or illegal purpose. Bundy v. Jackson, 24 Fed. Rep., 628.
 27. The sale by the president of a national bank to himself and the cashier of the stock of the bank owned by the bank may be ratified by the bank or its legal representative; but a sale by himself to the bank of its own stock, where he acts in the double capacity of seller and buyer, can not be ratified when the purchase of the stock by the bank is not necessary to prevent loss upon a debt previously contracted. In the one case the sale of the stock is enjoined by law, and its sale by the president may be ratified, however irregular it may have been in the first instance; but the purchase of its own stock by the bank is interdicted by law, and for this act there can be no authorization in advance and no ratification afterward. Ib.
 28. The by-laws of a national bank provided that no transfer of the stock should be made by any shareholder who was indebted to the bank, and this provision was also included in the certificates of stock: Held, Invalid, and that a transfer of stock by a shareholder while indebted to the bank was good. Evansville National Bank v. Metropolitan National Bank, 2 Bissell, 527; 1 N. B. C., 189.
 29. In the absence of any provision in the by-laws or articles of association of a national bank to the contrary, such a bank is bound under the laws of Pennsylvania to recognize a transfer of its stock by a foreign executor duly appointed in another State. Hobbs v. Western National Bank, 8 Weekly Notes of Cases, 131; 2 N. B. C., 187.
 30. S, the president and active manager of a bank, sold a number of shares of its capital stock to T under representation of fact relied upon by T and afterwards claimed by him to be fraudulent and false. The bank, by its - directors, had full and actual knowledge of such representations, and with such knowledge consented and arranged that T's notes given in partial payment for said stock should be made directly to the bank, and take the place of notes held by it against S and others: Held, That in an action by the bank against T on such notes he might make the same defense, founded on such alleged false and fraudulent representations, as he could have made if the notes had been given to S and the action brought by him. National Bank of Dakota v. Taylor, 58 N. W., 297.

31. In such purchase of stock T had the right to rely solely upon the representations of fact by S, and if S, conscious that T was so relying, knowingly deceived him, nothing would condone the wrong as between them or estop T from asserting it, but his acquiescence in it with knowledge of the facts. Ib.
 32. A party who thus deliberately deceives another to his prejudice can not complain that the sufferer has not been vigilant in finding it out. Ib.
 33. The right of such sufferer to rescind may be qualified by intervening interests of innocent parties; but so long as the question is between the original parties solely he may continue to rely on the representations upon which the contract was made and by which it was induced, and loses no rights, as against the wrongdoer himself, by failure to diligently discover the fraud. Ib.
 34. The fact that soon after such purchase T became, and for a number of months was, the cashier of the bank would not alone, and as a matter of law, make him chargeable with a knowledge of the condition of the bank, and so of the falsity of the representations under which he bought, as against evidence that he was for a considerable portion of the time absent from the bank and the city where it was located, and that during all his connection with the bank he, by direction of S, the president, and the person of whom he bought the stock, was engaged in routine work and had practically nothing to do with the bills receivable of the bank. Ib.
 35. The fact that as cashier he signed statements exhibiting the condition of the bank would not, in an action on such notes by the bank or by S, estop him from showing, as against them, that such statements, which he believed at the time were true, were in fact false. Ib.
 36. B, having duly sold stock of a national bank of Louisiana pledged to him by A, applied to the cashier to have it transferred on the bank books, but the cashier refused, on the ground that A was indebted to the bank. The bank having failed before the transfer could be enforced, B brought an action of damages against the receiver: Held, (1) That the action was not barred by the statute of limitations of one year; (2) the cashier having been intrusted by the directors with the duty of transferring the stock of the bank, his refusal was imputable to the bank; (3) the court below had power to order the receiver to pay the claim or certify it to the Comptroller. Case, Receiver, v. Citizens' Bank of Louisiana, 100 U. S., 446; 2 N. B. C., 47.

ULTRA VIRES:

1. A national banking association can not deal in stocks. The prohibition is to be implied from the failure to grant the power. First National Bank v. National Exchange Bank, 92 U. S., 122.
2. A national banking association can not purchase negotiable paper. *Lazar v. National Union Bank of Baltimore, 52 Md., 78; First National Bank of Rochester v. 3. Where the provisions of the national banking act prohibit certain acts by banks or their officers, without imposing any penalty or forfeiture applicable to particular transactions which had been executed, their validity can be questioned by the United States only and not by private parties. Thompson v. St. Nicholas National Bank, 146 U. S., 240.

11. That act does not give a national bank an absolute right to retain bonds coming into its possession by purchase under a contract which it was without legal authority to make. Although the bank is not bound to surrender possession of them until reimbursed the full amount due to it, and may hold them as security for the return of the consideration paid, yet when such amount is returned, or tendered back to it, and the return of the bonds demanded, its authority to retain them no longer exists; and from the time of such demand and its refusal to surrender the bonds to the vendor or owner it becomes liable for their value upon grounds of implied contract, apart from the original agreement under which it obtained them. It could not rightfully hold them under or by virtue of the contract, and at the same time refuse to comply with the terms of purchase. Logan County National Bank v. Townsend, 139 U. S., 67.
12. A national banking association is not authorized to act as a broker or agent in the purchase of bonds and stocks. First National Bank of Allentown v. Hoch, 89 Penn. St., 324; Weckler v. The First National Bank of Hagerstown, 42 Md., 581.

Muncie National Bank, 98 U. S., 555.*
11. Where a national banking association has discounted notes for another bank at a usurious rate of interest, the fact that the other bank has charged illegal interest on those notes to its customers will not affect its right to set up the defense of usury in an action by the association. Third National Bank of Philadelphia v. Miller, supra.
12. The amount which may be recovered from the association as a penalty is twice the amount of interest paid, and not simply twice the amount in excess of the legal rate. *Crocker v. A note dated and signed by the makers in Tennessee and payable in Chicago, Ill., and forwarded by them to the payees in Chicago, to be used by the latter in raising money with which to pay off a prior note made by the same parties, must be held an Illinois contract, and governed by the laws of Illinois relating to usury. Buchanan et al. v. Drivers' National Bank of Chicago, 55 Fed. Rep., 223.

25. Where a national bank has actually taken usurious interest, the party paying it may recover double the amount in an action therefor, but can not set off or counterclaim it in an action to recover the principal; and the action for such penalty must be brought within two years. Ellis v. First National Bank of Olney, 11 Bradw., 275; 3 N. B. C., 378.

Bollong, 24 Neb., 821; 3 N. B. C., 558.*

Henderson National Bank, 3 N. B. C., 452.*
31. An agreement to pay illegal interest in a mortgage given to secure the notes, after maturity forfeits both legal and illegal interest, though no interest is expressed in the notes themselves. Ib.
32. In an action by a national bank upon a note, the defendant is not entitled to any set-off for legal interest exacted by the bank upon the discount thereof, but the bank can recover only the principal of the note. Peterborough National Bank v. Childs, 133 Mass., 248; 43 Am. Rep., 509; 3 N. B. C., 469.

Merchants' National Bank of Memphis, 32 Ark., 346; 2 N. B. C., 209.*

43. The State courts will not enforce the penalties imposed by the national-banking act for exacting unlawful interest. Newell v. National Bank of Somerset, 12 Bush, 57; 1 N. B. C., 501.
44. Usurious interest paid a national bank on a note can not be offset against the principal sum due. Rockwell v. Farmers' National Bank, 36 P., 905.
45. Where the usurious interest is discounted from the face of the note the bank can only recover the face of the note, less the interest deducted. If the borrower pays the usurious interest in advance he may recover double the interest so paid. Schuyler National Bank v. Bollong, 24 Neb., 825; 3 N. B. C., 561.
46. In New York the rate of interest which a corporation may pay is not limited. A national bank, located in that State, loaned money to a corporation at a rate of interest exceeding 7 per cent per annum: Held, That the interest on the loan was forfeited under section 30 of the national-banking act (13 St. at Large, 108), which provided that when no rate of interest was fixed by the law of a State a national bank might charge a rate not exceeding 7 per cent per annum, and that if it charged more the entire interest should be forfeited. In re Wild, 11 Blatch., 243; 1 N. B. C., 246.
47. If a national bank discount a note at a usurious rate of interest, paying the borrower the proceeds less the interest, it can recover only the face of the note less the entire interest received. But if such note be renewed, the borrower paying the usurious interest out of his pocket, in advance, the defendant may recoup, or recover in an independent action, double the amount of the entire interest paid at the renewal. If, instead of paying the usurious interest at each renewal, it be added to the principal and included in the renewed notes, the bank can only recover the amount originally paid to the borrower, i. e., the amount of the last of the renewal notes less all interest included in it. National Bank of Madison v. Davis, 6 Cent. L. J., 106; 1 N. B. C., 350.
48. The national-currency act should be liberally construed to effect the ends for which it was passed, but a forfeiture under its provisions should not be declared unless the facts upon which it rests are clearly established. In case of a claim of forfeiture against a bank for taking unlawful interest upon the discount of bills of exchange payable at another place, it should appear affirmatively that the bank knowingly received or reserved an amount in excess of the statutory rate of interest and the current exchange for sight drafts. Accordingly, where it was not shown what the rate of exchange was, a charge of one-quarter of one per cent in addition to the statutory rate of interest would not be sufficient to authorize a forfeiture. Wheeler v. Union National Bank of Pittsburg, 96 U. S., 785; 2 N. B. C., 9.
49. The receipt by a national bank of an usurious rate of interest upon the discount of a note works a forfeiture of such interest as would otherwise have accrued after the maturity of the note. The First National Bank of Uniontown v. Stauffer, 1 Fed. Rep., 187.
50. Section 5073, Rev. St., relating to set-offs in bankruptcy proceedings, provides that "in all cases of mutual debts or mutual credits between the parties the account between shall be stated, and one debt set off against the other, and the balance only shall be allowed or paid; but no set-off shall be allowed in favor of any debtors to the bankrupt of a claim in its nature not provable against the estate, or of a claim purchased by or transferred to him after the filing of the petition: Held, That under this section a judgment obtained by an assignee in bankruptcy, for a penalty incurred by the violation of a State statute against usury, could not be set off against a claim of the judgment debtor against the bankrupt estate. Wilson, assignee, v. National Bank of Kolla, 3 Fed. Rep., 391.
51. Interest in excess of the legal rate received by a national bank, although taken in renewal of a series of notes, can not be applied by way of set off or payment in a suit upon the last of the series. Farmers and Mechanics' Bank v. Hoagland, 7 Fed. Rep., 159.
52. In such case, however, the bank can not recover the illegal interest, although such interest has been finally incorporated in notes bearing legal rates. Ib.
53. Neither can the bank recover any interest upon such renewal notes from the date the interest has been reduced to the legal rate. Ib.

USURY: See Interest—Continued.

54. A provision in a promissory note "to pay an attorney's fee of 10 per cent on the amount due if suit is brought to enforce payment, for use of the attorney bringing the suit," is a stipulation for a penalty or forfeiture, and tends to the oppression of the debtor; is a cover for usury, and is without consideration and contrary to public policy, and void. Merchants' Nat. Bank v. Sevier et al., 14 Fed. Rep., 662.
55. Such a stipulation in a note discounted by a national bank is void for the further reason that it is in excess of the powers of the bank, under its charter. Ib.
56. Section 5198, Rev. St., makes the receiving or charging "a rate of interest greater than is allowed," "a forfeiture of the entire interest." In case a greater rate of interest has been paid, the debtor may recover back "twice the amount of interest thus paid." Hill v. National Bank of Barre, 15 Fed. Rep., 432.
57. The amount of penalty recoverable in an action against banks under sec. 5198, Rev. St., is twice the whole amount of the interest paid, and not merely twice the amount paid in excess of the legal rate. Ib.
58. In an action against the First National Bank of Deadwood to recover illegal interest paid it, the court holds: A Territorial law in force in certain counties of the late Territory of Dakota, which provided that in those counties "it shall be lawful to take, receive, retain, and contract for any rate (of interest) agreed on between the parties," allowed and fixed the rate of interest by law in such counties or district, within the meaning of sec. 5197, Rev. St., which provides that "any association may take, receive, reserve, and charge on any loan * * * interest allowed by the laws of the State, Territory, or district where the bank is located." Guild v. First National Bank of Deadwood, 57 N. W., 499.
59. From February, 1881, when said Territorial law was enacted, until July 1, 1887, when the same was repealed, it was lawful for Territorial and private banks and individuals to take, receive, retain, and contract for any rate of interest agreed on between the parties, within the counties named in the act, when there was an express contract in writing fixing the rate. Therefore, it was lawful for a national bank in those counties to contract in writing for any rate of interest agreed on between the parties. Ib.
60. Under the general law relating to interest in force in the Territory after July 1, 1887, Territorial and private banks and individuals were allowed to take, receive, retain, and contract for interest at the rate of 12 per cent per annum, and national banks were, therefore, allowed to take, receive, and retain interest paid at the same rate; and it was not unlawful for such national banks, under the national-banking act, to take, receive, and retain interest paid at the rate of 12 per centum per annum, in the absence of an express contract in writing therefor. Ib.
61. A complaint that alleges that the defendant "knowingly and usuriously charged, took, received, and reserved from plaintiff, and that plaintiff paid to defendant, for interest, * * * being at the rate of 24 per cent per annum," giving time, amount, etc., states facts sufficient to constitute a good cause of action for the recovery of such alleged illegal interest under the national-banking act. Ib.
62. Under sec. 1851, Rev. St., one of the sections of the organic act of the Territory of Dakota, which provides "that the legislative power of the Territory shall extend to all rightful subjects of legislation, not inconsistent with the Constitution and laws of the United States, the Territorial legislature was vested with general legislative power, restricted only as prescribed in the act, and subject to the power of Congress to disapprove its acts. Ib.
63. The act of Congress, approved July 30, 1886, providing that "the legislatures of the Territories of the United States shall not pass special or local laws * * * regulating the interest on money," was not retroactive, but was applicable only to acts thereafter passed by a Territorial legislature, and did not have the effect to invalidate the then existing interest law in the counties mentioned in the provisions of the act of 1881. Ib.
64. The passage of the law of 1881 by the Territorial legislature, which provided for a different rate of interest in certain counties of the Territory from that allowed in other parts of the Territory, was a valid exercise of the legislative power, and was not in conflict with the organic act or the Constitution of the United States. Ib.
65. A law changing the rate of interest which can lawfully be taken, by reducing such rate, does not affect express contracts in writing for interest at the higher rate, made when the law allowing the higher rate was in force, when

- such contract specifically provides that the interest at the rate specified in the contract shall be payable from the date of the contract until the same is paid. Ib.
66. Under Rev. St., sec. 5198, which authorizes the person paying usurious interest to a national bank to recover twice the amount paid, one of the joint makers of a note on which illegal interest is charged can not recover the penalty from the bank where the illegal interest was paid by the other maker. First National Bank of Concordia v. Rowley, 34 P., 1049; 52 Kans., 394.
 67. Any payments made upon any of such notes will be applied to the principal. Ib.
 68. Parkhurst having, as maker of the notes to the bank representing the debt secured by the chattel mortgage, paid usurious interest thereon, and having recovered judgment against the bank for twice the interest thus paid under the Federal statute, he can not be allowed to apply the same interest in reduction of the debt secured by the chattel mortgages. Parkhurst v. First National Bank of Clyde, 35 P., 1116.
 69. The limitation of two years, within which suit may be brought against a national bank, under sec. 5198, Rev. St., for taking usurious interest, begins to run from the time when the usurious interest is paid. First National Bank of Dorchester v. Smith, 57 N. W., 996.
 70. A national bank succeeding to the business of a private bank inherits the usury penalties incurred by the latter in attempting to enforce a transfer note and mortgage. State usury penalty is applicable to transaction previous to debtor's knowledge that debt was transferred to national bank. Exeter National Bank v. Orchard, 58 N. W., 144.
 71. The payment of usurious interest to a national bank can not be pleaded as a set-off or counterclaim against the principal of the note so sued on. Huggins et al. v. Citizens' National Bank of Kansas City, 24 S. W., 926.
 72. Where a national bank loans money at a usurious rate, which is included in the note, in an action to enforce the contract the interest is forfeited. McGhee v. First National Bank of Tobias, 58 N. W., 537.
 73. A promissory note, given for already accrued interest, in part usurious, was without consideration, and suspension of the right of collection between its date and maturity in no way operated to supply this essential element, otherwise lacking. Ib.
 74. The limitation under Rev. St. U. S., sec. 5198, of actions for the recovery from a national bank of a penalty for usury, dates from the payment of such interest, and not from the reservation of it from the original loan by way of discount. Smith v. First National Bank (Neb.), 60 N. W., 866; Lanham v. Same, Ib., 1041.
 75. A State law imposing a penalty on banks exacting usurious discounts does not apply to national banks, the penalty imposed on such banks by Federal laws in regard to usurious discounts being exclusive. Florence Railroad and Improvement Company v. Chase National Bank (Ala.), 17 So., 720.
 76. Act of Congress June 3, 1864, section 30, relative to the taking of usury by national banks, does not apply to the discounting by the bank for the payee of a note given in payment of an article, and stipulating for legal interest, and, if it did, would not avail the maker. Second National Bank of Clarion v. Morgan (Pa.), 30 A., 957.
 77. The payment of a usurious loan made by a national bank is not a condition precedent to the right of the borrower to maintain an action against such bank to recover double the amount of usurious interest paid on such loan. Exeter National Bank v. Orchard (Neb.), 61 N. W., 833.

NOTE 1.—Specie payments were suspended from January 1, 1862, to January 1, 1879. During the greater part of that period gold and silver coins were not in circulation except on the Pacific Coast, where, it is estimated, the specie circulation was generally about $25,000,000. This estimated amount is the only coin included in the above statement from 1862 to 1875, inclusive.

NOTE 2.—In 1876 subsidiary silver again came into use, and is included in this statement, beginning with that year.

NOTE 3.—The coinage of standard silver dollars began in 1878 under the act of February 28, 1878.

NOTE 4.—Specie payments were resumed January 1, 1879, and all gold and silver coins, as well as gold and silver bullion in the Treasury, are included in this statement from and after that date.

REPORTS ON FOREIGN BANKING SYSTEMS RECEIVED TOO LATE TO APPEAR WITH

ARGENTINA.

[William I. Buchanan, United States minister.]

1. The different classes of banks existing or provided for by the laws of this Republic, are: (A) The Banco de la Nacion. (B) Provincial, i. e., "State" banks provided for by the guaranteed banking act of November 3, 1887. (All the banks that were organized under this law are in liquidation.) (C) Joint stock banks. These are subject to the general commercial law of October 5, 1889. This law applies to all forms of joint stock companies. (D) Private banks. (None, however, are in existence.) (E) Branches of European banking houses. (These comprise almost all the banking interest centered here.)

2. (A) Banking companies having limited liability are organized under and subject to the requirements of the general law applying to all joint stock companies. (See C, above.) This law requires that before any joint stock company commences business it must have 20 per cent of its capital stock subscribed and 10 per cent of its subscribed capital paid in. (B) Private banks are only required to conform with the general law applying to all mercantile firms. This provides that their articles of partnership or incorporation must be submitted to and approved by the commercial court. There is no limitation as to liability of such a bank. (C) The special legislation affecting the Banco de la Nacion and the provincial banks that were organized under the guaranteed banking act of November 3, 1887, is most interesting. In the years 1886 and 1887 the development of this country had reached such proportions that great need was felt by the people of more satisfactory banking facilities than then existed in the different provinces. An increase in the volume of currency in circulation was also deemed necessary. With a view of providing a remedy for both of these wants, the Argentine Congress enacted, on November 3, 1887, the guaranteed banking act. This law authorized, among other things, the issuance of money by any provincial bank that had complied with the provision of said law requiring such an issue to be secured by an equivalent amount of Government bonds. For the purpose of furnishing the banks with the class of securities these required, the Argentine Congress authorized, in a section of the same law, the special emission of a large issue of national 4½ per cent gold bonds. In order to secure the gold required to buy these national bonds, each of the provinces that desired to have a provincial bank authorized sold abroad a special issue of its own gold bonds. The gold realized by the province from such bond sale was paid into the treasury of the National Government. Upon the receipt of this money the National Government authorized the bank of said province to issue an amount of paper money equal to the sum of gold received by the National Government from the sale of the bonds of said province. In addition to this the National Government, in lieu of the gold it had thus received, placed to the credit of the province an amount of the 4½ per cent national gold bonds authorized as above described to secure the paper money to be issued by the provincial banks equal to the sum of gold so received. Thus it happened that the capital of the provincial banks was entirely borrowed. In addition to this bonded debt, which was a gold obligation, and by many believed to be secondarily an obligation of the National Government, as quasi indorser of the plan, the province became responsible for the issue of paper money made by its bank. This paper issue, as will be readily seen, had nothing in reality behind it as security other than the good faith of the province and of the nation, because the borrowed gold dollar, which was, theoretically, to be the security for the paper dollar, was never in the bank's possession, it having been received and held by the National Government. This law is believed to have been the direct cause of the crisis of 1891. During that year, as a result of the excessive inflation of the currency thus caused and the fictitious value given by this inflation of property on which loans were afterwards made by the bank, all of the provincial banks organized under this act, together with the Banco de la Nacion, failed, and the premium on gold reached 370. This law is at present inoperative, except as it applies to the liquidation of the broken banks that sprung up under its provisions. (D) The Banco de la Nacion was originally created as a State bank by act of Congress, November 5, 1872; by the provision of this law the nation became a shareholder with private parties; the Government subscribed $2,000,000 to the capital stock of the bank and private parties $3,000,000. This bank enjoyed one special privilege and one not given to any other, except the old bank of the Province of Buenos Ayres; this was the grant of fiscal privileges to its credits; that is, the obligations given to it by its customers became by this law mortgages, in fact, or prior liens on the property. On the passage of the national guaranteed banking act in 1887, this bank, together with the old bank of the Province of Buenos Ayres, was reorganized under the provisions of said law, and thus lost the special privilege I have just mentioned. Both failed in the crisis of 1891, as before mentioned. Following the failures of the provincial and Government banks in 1891, the present Banco de la Nacion was built up on the ruins of the suspended provincial banks, in order to maintain banking connections, in some degree, with and for the different provinces of the Republic. It is well to remember, in this connection, that at that time there was not a solvent bank in this Republic outside this city (Buenos Ayres) and Rosario. Thus rehabilitated the Banco de la Nacion was empowered by Congress to reorganize and establish branches throughout the Republic. Its capital was fixed at $50,000,000. It was to have its main office in this city; it was to be a joint stock concern, with the nation as a stockholder, or not, as the subscribers to its stock might elect. Stock subscription books were opened, and pending their being filled up the bank started on a loan of $50,000,000, of treasury money advanced by the National Government. This was to be repaid by the money received on subscription to its capital stock; the stock, however, was not subscribed for, although the books were twice reopened for subscriptions. Afterwards efforts were made by the Government, without success, to negotiate the sale of the bank's charter, with its concession, to foreign capitalists. The bank continues in existence as a bank of issue owned by and wholly under Government control. The loan of currency that became its capital is to be repaid to the national treasury by a yearly payment equal to the bank's net profits during such year.

3. In the first instance a special bureau in the ministry of justice, known as the "Cuerpo de inspectores de sociedades anonimas," and finally the minister of justice, who approves the statutes of the company.

4. The law applying to guaranteed banks and the Banco de la Nacion having been suspended by the failure of the banks organized thereunder in 1891, new banks would not be permitted to begin business under its provisions, consequently no answer can be given with reference to banks included in answers A and B to interrogatory 1. (A) For banks organized under the general law governing joint stock companies 20 per cent of the authorized capital stock must be subscribed and 10 per cent of the subscribed capital paid in (see A, interrogatory 2). For private banks no legal provision is made regarding capital. As heretofore mentioned, such a bank would have unlimited liability (see B, interrogatory 2). (B) No regulation exists applying specifically to banks. (C) In all joint stock companies the liability of shareholders is limited to the face value of their shares. Shares can not be transferred that are not fully paid up. (D) The bureau of inspection, alluded to in the answer to interrogatory 3, is authorized to examine all joint stock companies, but can not make its report public except through the minister of justice. Joint stock banks having their sole office and legal domicile in this country are required to publish reports of their condition every three months. This is not done, however, in every instance, the requirement, seemingly, not being deemed of much importance by the public; the form usually adopted is similar to that attached hereto marked Exhibit A. Foreign banks whose legal domiciles are outside this Republic publish no report beyond the yearly report of their home office. Four-fifths of the banks in this country are branches of foreign banking companies, and being foreign corporations do not come within the jurisdiction of the bureau of inspection, except when they request the bureau to make an inspection of their business. Their reports being made up only to their home office, their depositors never see a statement of their condition. (E) Answered under D above. (F) No limitation provided by law, with the exception that no joint stock company can loan money on its own stock. The bank's articles of incorporation may fix such a limitation, otherwise it is a matter of discretion left with the bank's officials. (G and H) Answered in F above. (I and J) The only bank of emission, for which the nation is responsible, being the Banco de la Nacion, there are no laws or regulations applying to these questions; they are discretionary subjects left with the management of the bank.

5. No governmental regulations exist. The following are the current rates of interest usually allowed by a large proportion of the banks in this city:

| | National money (paper). | Gold. |
|---------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------|-----------|
| | Per cent. | Per cent. |
| On current accounts | 1 | 2 |
| On deposits at seven days' notice up to $20,000..... | 3 | 3 |
| On deposits at thirty days' notice up to $20,000..... | 4 | 4 |
| On deposits at three months fixed..... | 5½ | 4 |
| On deposits at one hundred and twenty days' notice..... | 6 | 4½ |
| On deposits at six months fixed..... | 6 | 5 |

6. Only to the extent of being the entire owner of the Banco de la Nacion.

7. Any bank organized under the law regulating joint stock companies, or as a private bank, can have as many branches as it desires.

8. See answer to D, interrogatory 4, above. The reports made by the banks therein described are published in one or more of the daily papers of this city.

9. (A) Banks are classified, for the purposes of taxation, according to their capital, business, etc. There are eight classifications; beginning with the lowest, the tax, or "patente" as it is called, is $1,500 gold per annum; the tax ascends in amount, through the different classifications, reaching $8,000 gold per annum for banks coming within the provisions of the regulations providing for one of the highest class. (B) In lieu of some taxes heretofore existing, all banks pay, this year, an additional special tax of 50 per cent of their "patente." (This can be changed at will by Congress for the next, and for other years). (C) Two per mil (2.0/00) per annum, payable half-yearly on all deposits, except current accounts. (D) One-quarter per mil (¼.0/00) on all drafts and letters of credit. This tax is payable quarterly on sworn statements. (E) An internal-revenue stamp of 5 cents paper, say 1½ cents gold, must be attached to each check paid by a bank. (F) Discounted bills are subject to an internal stamp tax of 10 cents paper, say 3 cents gold, on each $100. This stamp must be renewed every ninety days. The last two items are, of course, paid by the depositor, or borrower, but are inserted here to complete the list of taxes.

10. No special banking law being in existence in this Republic, except the national guaranteed banking act heretofore mentioned, the procedure in cases of insolvency would be the same for a joint stock bank as for any other joint stock company—that is, a commercial judge would appoint a receiver, a meeting of creditors would be called, and the usual proceedings held. Depositors would have no special claim against such an insolvent bank.

11. With the exception of the Banco de la Nacion, no bank of emission exists here. All the banks opened under the guaranteed banking act are in liquidation and are things of the past. Under the country's present inconvertible currency system no bank, other than the Banco de la Nacion, would be allowed to issue money, and, even were specie payment to be resumed, it would require a new banking law to permit the founding of a bank of issue.

12. Answered in No. 11.

13. The banking system of this country has a peculiar history. Up to the year 1863 there was but one bank in the Republic, the Bank of the Province of Buenos Ayres. Founded originally as a private bank in 1822, the institution was changed to a State bank on the proceeds of an English loan in 1826, the province becoming a shareholder. As a State bank it was authorized to issue paper money, which at the time of issue had a value equivalent to the silver currency then in circulation in the country. In 1868 this paper issue had depreciated to 4 cents gold per dollar, at which rate it was converted, by national law, into a new issue. Notwithstanding this, the bank enjoyed a high credit in England between the years 1870 and 1889, and was recognized abroad as one of the great banks of the world. It was of the highest benefit to the country during that period, loaning, as it did, to breeders and agriculturists at a fair rate of interest, with an amortization of the loan at a rate as low as 15 per cent per annum. This historic bank took advantage of the guaranteed banking act (mentioned herein), and is now in liquidation.

Few banking institutions here loan money on real estate, the usual course being to loan on short-time bills at 7 and 8 per cent. The current rate of interest, outside this capital, is higher than the above, while on real estate the rate in the country and in this city varies from 15 to 18 per cent. The constant fluctuations in the daily price of gold is a large source of revenue to the banks of this city. It is customary for the banks to lend gold against paper money, with a wide margin, and then by loaning at regular interest the paper money held as such security they make interest on both loans, which, of course, yields a large profit. Each bank is a constant buyer and seller of gold on the Bolsa, and, if all were to act in harmony, they could at any time depress or raise the current quotations at their will.

Incident to this brief sketch, I desire to call your attention to the following table, which I have prepared with the purpose of showing the relative position occupied here by different countries in regard to commerce and banking. The illogical and unsatisfactory position in which the commerce of the United States is placed by the absence of proper banking facilities can thus be more clearly seen.

| Country. | Number of banks. | Imports from country named. | Exports to country named. |

*The trade of Canada is charged to us by the Argentine statistician.

It will be seen that the United States is the only country doing, or attempting to do, any business with this country that is not represented here by some banking interest. The consequent result is that the whole business done between the United States and this country is obliged to pay tribute to English or German banks. The injury done to our trade by reason of this condition is marked. An American coming here with drafts on the most solvent bank in the United States can not obtain cash for them nor use them in any way other than to have them forwarded for collection via England. The total absence in this city of direct American banking facilities makes the transaction of business with the United States unsatisfactory, slow, and unpleasant, and is, I believe, partly responsible for our commercial backsliding here. This condition makes it practically an impossibility for our merchants to keep in touch with this market or to investigate credits and conduct their business operations as they are accustomed to do at home. Such a condition of affairs is a standing menace and drawback to any considerable extension of our trade with this country, and equally a reflection on our ability as a people to successfully carry on a foreign trade worthy of any mention in competition with other countries. This city offers a splendid field for American banking capital, and I am satisfied that an American bank, conducted as our banks are, would command great favor here and find many advantages and facilities extended to it. I am equally certain that it would be the means of extending and enlarging our commerce with this country.

ITALY.

1, 2. There are in the Kingdom banks of credit with power to issue money, banks of ordinary credit, and banks of popular credit. Only the first are under the supervision of the ministry of the treasury, and these alone are here described. Before the law of August 10, 1893, six banks were authorized to issue notes, four of which issued stock—the National Bank of the Kingdom, National Bank of Tuscany, Tuscan Bank of Credit, and the Roman Bank—and two public establishments of credit with no shareholders, viz, Bank of Sicily and the Bank of Naples. Under the above-mentioned law three of the four existing banks issuing shares, viz, National Bank of the Kingdom, National Bank of Tuscany, and the Tuscan Bank of Credit, were authorized to merge into one single bank with shares, namely, the Bank of Italy, which began business on the 1st of January, 1894. The Roman Bank was compelled to liquidate, while the two southern banks of Naples and Sicily remained unchanged. There are no fixed requisites or special conditions by which a bank of ordinary credit can obtain the power of issuing money. This privilege is specially granted to the bank mentioned in a banking act, and therefore only obtained by special legislation. The law of 1893, giving right of emission only to the Bank of Italy and the two southern banks, has tacitly limited the operations they are authorized to transact.

3. There is, in the ministry of the treasury, a central office of inspection of circulation and the banks of emission intrusted with the duty of requiring exact observance of the law by these banks and that they comply with the conditions under which they are granted the power of emitting money and of carrying on the above-mentioned operations.

4. The law of the 10th of August, 1893, prescribes for the Bank of Italy a capital of 300,000,000 lire divided into 300,000 nominal shares of 1,000 lire each. However, by the convention of October 30, 1894, approved by royal decree December 10, 1894, referred to by the law of August 8, 1895, the said capital was reduced by 30,000,000 to 270,000,000, divided into 300,000 nominal shares of 900 lire each. The capital of the banks of Naples and Sicily is not determined by law. Their capital has accumulated through the adding of annual net profits, as there are no shareholders to whom these profits would have to be returned. The Bank of Italy is administered according to its own statutes; the principal agents of administration are, the general assembly of shareholders, the superior council, and the board of general directors. The statutes are approved by the Government, which also approves the nomination of the director general of the bank. The management of the banks of Naples and Sicily is also subordinate in its fundamental lines, to their respective statutes, approved by Government, and which are at this present moment being elaborately revised to make them conform to the law of August 8, 1895. The principal agents of their administration are the general council composed of delegates, communal, provincial, and commercial, of the districts in which they operate; the council of administration, composed of delegates from the general council and from the Government, and the board of general directors. The Bank of Italy, however, is based on shares. The responsibility of its shareholders is limited to the shares belonging to each. On the 10th and 20th and last day of each month, the banks must transmit to the ministry of the treasury a statement of their operations up to date. Such statements, compiled according to forms approved by the Government, contain the most important data concerning their profits and losses. They must also transmit their annual balances and returns. The said office of inspection, organized under the ministry of the treasury, to which is conceded the most ample powers in the matter, is intrusted with the verification of these returns and statements; besides this, delegates of this office attend all the meetings of the shareholders and of the superior council of the Bank of Italy, and all the meetings of the general councils and councils of administration of the southern banks, with the right to suspend proceedings if contrary to the laws or to the statutes. The banks of emission can: (1) Discount at the rate of exchange for not more than four months with signatures of at least two parties, unquestionably solvent; on the ordinary bonds of the treasury; on secured notes emitted by societies of wholesale trades legally constituted and having unincumbered deposits; on the grant of titles on which the bank can draw advances. (2) Make advances, for not more than six months—(a) on state bonds, for four-fifths of the current quotation value, including those of long maturity; (b) on ordinary bonds of the treasury, for the entire value; (c) on titles guaranteed by the state; on bills of funded banks of credit; on titles payable in gold emitted or guaranteed by foreign states, for three-fourths of the stock exchange value, but not beyond the par value; (d) on valuations of gold and silver, national as well as foreign, at legal exchange, and on bars of gold; (e) on silks, raw and worked, in gauzes and in the wool, or on silver bars, at less than the two-thirds of their value; (f) on pledges of unincumbered deposits from wholesale warehouses legally authorized; and on orders for manufactured articles or sulphur for not more than half the value they represent;

(g) on certificates of deposits of spirits and cognac in warehouses authorized by the laws of August 29, 1889, and of December 24, 1891, for not more than half the value of the alcohol or cognac deposited. The operations by which Nos. 1 and 2 can be effected to any amount, are on condition that the amount of notes issued, by means of which they are transacted, does not exceed the maximum of the limit established for the circulation of each bank—that is, 800,000,000 lire for the Bank of Italy, 242,000,000 for the Bank of Naples, and 55,000,000 for the Bank of Sicily; in all, 1,097,000,000. This circulation, which is allowed in the interest of commerce, remains distinct from that allowed for advances to the treasury, which can amount to as much as 135,000,000 lire. The security for negotiable loans depends upon the solvency of the signatures covering the goods accepted on discount, and the security for loans on titles, upon the quality; they must be state titles exclusively and guaranteed by the state. The metallic reserve for circulation made available by these loans is fixed at 40 per cent, of which three-fourths must be in gold. The annual profits of the Bank of Italy are, first, to constitute an extraordinary reserve fund to meet losses caused either by the liquidating of the Roman Bank or by the closing up of its own real-estate operations or transactions contrary to law. Of the balance, an annual dividend of not over 40 lire can be paid to the shareholders; the surplus profits go to increase the ordinary reserve fund of the bank. The profits of the southern banks are applied to possible losses in the liquidation of their real-estate transactions, to protect some unimportant charitable payments, and to increase their respective capitals.

5. Banks of emission can receive, without any limit, deposits on noninterest bearing current accounts. By virtue of article 12 of the law of August 10, 1893, and of article 34 of the law of August 8, 1895, they can also receive deposits on current accounts bearing interest, with the condition, however, not to exceed for the Bank of Italy 130,000,000 lire, Bank of Naples 50,000,000 lire, Bank of Sicily 15,000,000 lire, and the further condition that the interest shall not, in any case, exceed one-half of the amount of the discount for three years from the enforcing of the above-mentioned law, and the third of that amount during the following years.

6. The State has no interest as a shareholder in the banks of emission. However, it may consider itself the owner of the capital of the two southern banks, which have no shareholders, and in which no one else can claim rights of ownership.

7. In the past the banks of emission were authorized to negotiate real-estate loans. The law of August 10, 1893, has, however, prohibited them from undertaking such operations, and the branches transacting real-estate business are now in liquidation. The banks of emission can receive the provincial customs. The Bank of Naples has, since its origin, conducted the business of the national pawn offices; and has also a savings bank branch which has no shareholders. The Bank of Italy, since February 1, 1895, has been intrusted with the provincial business of the treasury on account of the Government. All the banks of emission are required to allow the public, in exchange for notes with the addition of the exchange according to the rate of the preceding day, certificates for the payment of charges for entry which otherwise would have to be paid in metallic value, and to keep the corresponding sums in coin, at the disposal of the foreign branch of the treasury, for its needs.

8. The banks are required to transmit to the ministry of the treasury every ten days the condition of their transactions. These statements are published in the Official Gazette of the Kingdom, by the bureau of inspection. The law provides for both ordinary and extraordinary examinations of the banks. An annual report on their operations and the report of the extraordinary examinations, which occur biennially, are submitted to Parliament. The statements and annual balances of the banks are made public. The correspondence with the State relative to their management and their accounts are audited and certified to by the central office of inspection.

9. On the circulation on account of trade, after having deducted the amount of the metallic reserve, a tax of 1 per cent per year is assessed for the first two biennial periods following the enforcement of the law of August 10, 1893. At the end of the second biennial period, when the liquidation of the real-estate transactions of the banks, certified to by the Government, proceeds regularly according to law, the tax on circulation shall be reduced to a fifth of the average rate of discount, in the six months to which the taxed circulation belongs, on condition that the tax itself does not exceed the proportion of 1 per cent. Whenever the circulation exceeds the normal limits, and when the excess is guaranteed by a special metallic reserve of 40 per cent and not beyond—45,000,000 lire for the Bank of Italy, 14,000,000 lire for the Bank of Naples, and 3,500,000 lire for the Bank of Sicily—the surplus circulation is subject to an extraordinary tax, equal (including the normal tax) to two-thirds of the sum of the discount. However, the part of the circulation exceeding these limits, when it is entirely covered by the metallic reserve is not subject to this extraordinary tax. Beyond these limits, and to double the sums above mentioned, the surplus circulation is subject to an extraordinary tax equivalent (including the normal tax) to the entire amount of the discount. If the circulation exceeds double the above-mentioned sum, or the prescribed reserve is not maintained, it would be liable to an exceptional tax corresponding to double the amount of the discount. The banks of emission are required to make advances to the treasury to the amount of 100,000,000 lire for the Bank of Italy, 28,000,000 lire for the Bank of Naples, and 7,000,000 lire for the Bank of Sicily. In consideration of the advances made, the banks have the privilege of issuing their own notes (circulation on account of the State), with a condition, however, to maintain a metallic reserve of not less than a third of the amount. Such circulation is not taxed. The treasury returns an interest on the sums advanced, which has been fixed by the law of August 8, 1895, at $1\frac{1}{2}$ per cent, clear of any tax. Another burden imposed on the three banks of emission is that of investing in real estate, when required to do so, 200,000,000 lire in gold, to be held at the disposal of the treasury, which will give them as compensation 200,000,000 lire in bonds of the State, with the privilege of including them, up to the amount of the sum thus invested in land, in their profits reserved for emission and for debts at sight. The 200,000,000 lire are thus divided: Bank of Italy 145,000,000, Bank of Naples 45,000,000, and Bank of Sicily 10,000,000. The treasury, if it is benefited by such transactions, shall, upon a deposit of bonds of the State, return to the banks an equal amount of gold.

10. The Italian banking legislation contains no special provision relating to the affairs of insolvent banks of emission, hence they would be subject to common law proceedings. At their liquidation provision would have to be made by ordinary methods, reserving to decide if the bearers of the bonds had preferred rights over the other creditors, at least on the metallic reserve applied as security for those same bonds, the right of issue not being recognized by the banking law of 1893.

11. The extreme limit of the banking circulation for five years is fixed at the sum of 1,097,000,000 lire, thus divided: Bank of Italy, 800,000,000 lire; Bank of Naples, 242,000,000 lire, and Bank of Sicily, 55,000,000 lire. At the end of the five years each bank must begin and continue successively to reduce its circulation biennially by a proportionate annual quota in such manner that after fifteen years from the enforcement of the law of 1893 the circulation shall be within the following limits: Bank of Italy, 630,000,000 lire; Bank of Naples, 190,000,000 lire; Bank of Sicily, 44,000,000 lire; total, 864,000,000 lire. The bank that at the end of fifteen years does not possess the capital or assets corresponding to the third of the circulation allowed it shall have to diminish it proportionately within three months; the diminished circulation of a bank shall be allowed to those who have or shall pay in the corresponding capital and profits to secure the additional circulation. The issue of each bank can exceed these limits when the respective bonds are entirely represented by legal values or by gold in bars in the banks. The circulation corresponding to advances made to the State are also excluded from these limits. The circulation is guaranteed by a 40 per cent metallic reserve. Thirty-three per cent of such reserve must be exclusively in gold or silver in the proportion of three-fourths gold and one-fourth silver, and the remaining 7 per cent may be bills of exchange payable abroad in gold or in values equivalent to the requirements of the Latin Monetary Union, or by certificates of deposit on foreign accounts current and payable in gold or in equivalent values of the union itself in account with the banks of emission, or with the bankers and the corresponding banks of the treasury.

12. The obligation to exchange the bank notes for metallic value and on sight is, as a principle, unlimited. Such an obligation remains unaffected by law, at least for banks that refuse to effect investments in real estate of the above-mentioned 200,000,000 in gold, at the disposal of the treasury of the State. All having consented to make such real-estate investments, the exchange of the notes is now being requested, for bonds of the State as well as specie, in which case the banks have the right to claim from the bearer the cost of the exchange at the day's rate.

PERSIA.

[Alex. McDonald, United States minister.]

1. There are only three banks in Persia—the Imperial Bank of Persia, a British institution, founded in 1889 under royal charter (British) and a special Persian firman; the Banque de Perts de Perse, a Russian establishment, which has, it is said, been taken over by the Russian Government, and a branch of the International Bank of Moscow.

2. A permission or firman of the Shah, which is a matter of private negotiation.

3. Once a bank established, rules are so elastic and Persian superintendence so lax that it requires only little management to evade regulations.

4. With regard to the Imperial Bank of Persia, the capital, originally £1,000,000, has been reduced to £650,000 through fall of silver, in 100,000 [£10 (£6 10s.)] shares fully paid up, with a reserve liability in case of liquidation of £10 per share. (B) A board of directors in London undertakes the administration of the bank and appoints a chief manager in Persia and local managers in various towns of Persia, also in Bombay. In London there is only a secretary under the control of the board. (C) Reserve liability of £10 on liquidation. (D) Reports published yearly in London. (E) A Government official certifies the existence in Teheran of a reserve of 33 per cent in specie (gold or silver) against the issue of bank notes, of which the Imperial Bank has the monopoly. (F, G, H) Conditions fixed by the board from time to time, but loans on real property require Persian Government approval. (I) See E. (J) At discretion of board. Banque de Prets, capital 3,000,000 francs, say, £120,000; no issue of notes; board in St. Petersburg; little or no Persian Government control; business almost exclusively loans on jewelry or any objects—in fact, pawnbroking. International Bank of Moscow; banking principally connected with raw produce; board in Moscow; no issue of notes; practically no Persian control.

5. The Imperial Bank of Persia allows an interest on (silver) deposits of 4 per cent per annum for six months, or 6 per cent per annum for one or more years. No interest on deposits at call. The Banque de Prets and the International Bank of Moscow allow the same, but give 3 per cent on deposits at call.

6. Not at all, but in the Imperial Bank of Persia it has a royalty of 6 per cent, minimum £4,000, on net profits.

7. The Imperial Bank of Persia has branches at Tabriz, Resht, Meshed, Isfahan, Yezd, Shiraz, Bushire. The other banks have no branches.

8. By annual reports published in London for the Imperial Bank of Persia and in Russia for the other two banks.

9. See 6 for the Imperial Bank of Persia; 10 per cent of profits of the Banque de Prets (no profits have been made). We think no stipulation for the International Bank of Moscow.

10. The New Oriental Bank Corporation had branches in Persia, which were bought up by the Imperial Bank of Persia before the insolvency of the former. No other case to report.

11. The Imperial Bank of Persia issues notes against 33 per cent reserve under Government control to an amount equal to the extent of its capital.

12. Notes are paid on demand and reissued.

13. The paper of the chief manager of the Imperial Bank transmitted and the annexed report give all information obtainable. There are a number of private bankers in Persia, but it is impossible to obtain any information concerning them.
