Sec. 2. That the courts of bankruptcy as herein before defined, viz.: the district courts of the United States in the several States, the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, the district courts of the several Territories, and the United States courts in the Indian Territory and the District of Alaska, are hereby made courts of bankruptcy, and are hereby invested, within their respective territorial limits as now established, or as they may be hereafter changed, with such jurisdiction at law and in equity as will enable them to exercise original jurisdiction in bankruptcy proceedings, in vacation in chambers and during their respective terms, as they are now or may be hereafter held, to (1) adjudge persons bankrupt who have had their principal place of business, resided, or had their domicile within their respective territorial jurisdictions for the preceding six months, or the greater portion thereof, or who do not have their principal place of business, reside or have their domicile within the United States, but have property within their jurisdiction, or who have been adjudged bankrupts by courts of competent jurisdiction without the United States and have property within their jurisdiction; (2) allow claims, disallow claims, reconsider allowed or disallowed claims, and allow or disallow them against bankrupt estates; (3) appoint receivers or the marshals upon application of parties in interest in case the courts shall find it absolutely necessary, for the preservation of estates, to take charge of the property of bankrupts after the filing of the petition and until it is dismissed or the trustee is qualified; (4) arraign, try, and punish bankrupts, officers, and other persons, and the agents, officers, members of the board of directors or trustees or other similar controlling bodies of corporations for violation of this act, in accordance with the laws of procedure of the United States now in force, or such as may be hereafter enacted, regulating trials for the alleged violation of laws of the United States; (5) authorize

Nothing in this section contained shall be construed to deprive a court of bankruptcy of any power it would possess were certain specified powers not herein enumerated.

CHAPTER III.—BANKRUPTS.

Sec. 3. Acts of Bankrupts.—a. Acts of bankruptcy by a person shall consist of his having (1) conveyed, transferred, concealed or removed, any part of his property with intent to hinder, delay, or defraud his creditors, or any of them; or (2) transferred, while insolvent, any portion of his property to one or more of his creditors with intent to prefer such creditors over his other creditors; or (3) suffered or permitted, while insolvent, any creditor to obtain a preference through legal proceedings, and not having at least five days before a sale or final disposition of any property affected by such preference vacated or discharged such preference; or (4) made a general assignment for the benefit of his creditors; or (5) admitted in writing his inability to pay his debts and his willingness to be adjudged a bankrupt on that ground.

b. A petition may be filed against a person who is insolvent and who has committed an act of bankruptcy within four months after the commission of such act. Such time shall not expire until four months after (1) the date of recording or registering of the transfer or assignment when the act consists in having made a transfer of any of his property with intent to hinder, delay or defraud his creditors, or for the purpose of giving a preference as hereinafter provided, or a general assignment for the benefit of his creditors, if by law such recording or registering is required or permitted, or, if it is not, from the date when the beneficiary takes notorious, exclusive or continuous possession of the property unless the petition creditors have received actual notice of such transfer or assignment.

c. It shall be a complete defense to any proceedings in bankruptcy instituted under the first subdivision of this section to allege and prove that the party proceeded against was not insolvent as defined in this act at the time of the filing the petition against him, and if solvency at such date is proved by the alleged bankrupt the proceedings shall be dismissed, and under said subdivision one the burden of proving solvency shall be on the alleged bankrupt.

d. Whenever a person against whom a petition has been filed, as hereinbefore provided under the second and third subdivisions of this section, takes issue with and denies the allegation of this insolvency, it shall be his duty to appear in court on the hearing, with his books, papers, and accounts, and submit to an examination, and give testimony as to all matters tending to establish solvency or insolvency, and in case of his failure to so attend and submit to examination, the burden of proving his solvency shall rest upon him.

e. Whenever a petition is filed by any person for the purpose of having another adjudged a bankrupt, and an application is made to take charge of and hold the property of the alleged bankrupt, or any part of the same, prior to the adjudication and pending a hearing on the petition, the petitioner or applicant shall file in the same court a bond with at least two good and sufficient sureties, who shall reside within the jurisdiction of said court, to be approved by the court or a judge thereof, in such sum as the court shall direct, conditioned for the payment, in case such petition is dismissed, to the respondent, his or her personal representatives, all costs, expenses, and damages occasioned by such seizure, taking, and detention of the property of the alleged bankrupt.

If such petition be dismissed by the court or withdrawn by the petitioner, the respondent or respondents shall be allowed all costs, counsel fees, expenses, and damages occasioned by such seizure, taking, or detention of such property. Counsel fees, costs, expenses, and damages shall be fixed and allowed by the court, and paid by the obligors in such bond.

Sec. 4. Who May Become Bankrupts.—a. Any person who owes debts, except a corporation, shall be entitled to the benefits of this act as a voluntary bankrupt.

b. Any natural person, except a wage-earner or a person engaged chiefly in farming or the tillage of the soil, any unincorporated company, and any corporation engaged principally in manufacturing, trading, printing, publishing, or mercantile pursuits, owing debts to the amount of one thousand dollars or over, may be adjudged an involuntary bankrupt upon default or an impartial trial, and shall be subject to the provisions and entitled to the benefits of this act. Private bankers, but not national banks or banks incorporated under State or Territorial laws, may be adjudged involuntary bankrupts.

Sec. 5. Partners.—a. A partnership, during the continuation of the partnership business, or after its dissolution and before the final settlement thereof, may be adjudged a bankrupt.

b. The creditors of the partnership shall appoint the trustee; in other respects so far as possible the estate shall be administered as herein provided for other estates.

c. The court of bankruptcy which has jurisdiction of one of the partners may have jurisdiction of all the partners and of the administration of the partnership and individual property.

d. The trustee shall keep separate accounts of the partnership property belonging to the individual partners.

e. The expenses shall be paid from the partnership property and the individual property in such proportions as the court shall determine.

f. The net proceeds of the partnership property shall be appropriated to the payment of the partnership debts, and the net proceeds of the individual estate of each partner to the payment of his individual debts. Should any surplus remain of the property of any partner after paying his individual debts, such surplus shall be added to the partnership assets and be applied to the payment of the partnership debts. Should any surplus of the partnership property remain after paying the partnership debts, such surplus shall be added to the assets of the individual partners in the proportion of their respective interests in the partnership.

g. The court may permit the proof of the claim of the partnership estate against the individual estates, and vice versa, and may marshal the assets of the partnership estate and individual estates so as to prevent preferences and secure the equitable distribution of the property of the several estates.

h. In the event of one or more but not all of the members of a partnership being adjudged bankrupt, the partnership property shall not be administered in bankruptcy, unless by consent of the partner or partners not adjudged bankrupt; but such partner or partners not adjudged bankrupt shall settle the partnership business as expeditiously as its nature will permit, and account for the interest of the partner or partners adjudged bankrupt.

Sec. 6. Exemptions of Bankrupts.—a. This act shall not affect the allowance to bankrupts of the exemptions which are prescribed by the State laws in force at the time of the filing of the petition in the State wherein they have had their domicile for the six months or the greater portion thereof immediately preceding the filing of the petition.

Sec. 7. Duties of Bankrupts.—a. The bankrupt shall (1) attend the first meeting of his creditors, if directed by the court or judge thereof to do so, and the hearing upon his application for a discharge, if filed; (2) comply with all lawful orders of the court; (3) examine the correctness of all proofs of claims filed against his estate; (4) execute and deliver such papers as shall be ordered by the court; (5) execute to his trustee transfers of all his property in foreign countries; (6) immediately inform his trustee of any attempt by his creditors or other persons, to evade the provisions of this act, coming to his knowledge; (7) in case of any person having to his knowledge proved a false claim against his estate, disclose that fact immediately to his trustee; (8) prepare, make oath to, and file in court within ten days, unless further time is granted, after the adjudication, if an involuntary bankrupt, and with the petition if a voluntary bankrupt, a schedule of his property, showing the amount and kind of property, the location thereof, its money value in detail, and a list of his creditors, showing their residences, if known, if unknown that fact to be stated, the amounts due each of them, the consideration thereof, the security held by them, if any, and a claim for such exemptions as he may be entitled to, all in triplicate, one copy of each for the clerk, one for the referee, and one for the trustee; and (9) when present at the first meeting of his creditors, and at such other times as the court shall order, submit to an examination concerning the conducting of his business, the cause of his bankruptcy, his dealings with his creditors and other persons, the amount, kind and whereabouts of his property, and, in addition, all matters which may affect the administration and settlement of his estate; but no testimony given by him shall be offered in evidence against him in any criminal proceeding.

Provided, however, That he shall not be required to attend a meeting of his creditors, or at or for an examination at a place more than one hundred and fifty miles distant from his home or principal place of business, or to examine claims except when presented to him, unless ordered by the court, or a judge thereof, for cause shown, and the bankrupt shall be paid his actual expenses from the estate when examined or required to attend at any place other than the city, town, or village of his residence.

Sec. 8. Death or Insanity of Bankrupts.—a. The death or insanity of a bankrupt shall not abate the proceedings, but the same shall be conducted and concluded in the same manner, so far as possible, as though he had not died or become insane: Provided, That in case of death the widow and children shall be entitled to all rights of dower and allowance fixed by the laws of the State of the bankrupt's residence.

Sec. 9. Protection and Detention of Bankrupts.—a. A bankrupt shall be exempt from arrest upon civil process except in the following cases: (1) When issued from a court of bankruptcy for contempt or disobedience of its lawful orders; (2) when issued from a State court having jurisdiction, and served within such State, upon a debt or claim from which his discharge in bankruptcy would not be a release, and in such case he shall be exempt from such arrest when in attendance upon a court of bankruptcy or engaged in the performance of a duty imposed by this act.

b. The judge may, at any time after the filing of a petition by or against a person, and before the expiration of one month after the qualification of the trustee, upon satisfactory proof by affidavits of at least two persons that such bankrupt is about to leave the district in which he resides or has his principal place of business to avoid examination, and that his departure will defeat the proceedings in bankruptcy, issue a warrant to the marshal, directing him to bring such bankrupt forthwith before the court for examination. If upon hearing the evidence of the parties it shall appear to the court or a judge thereof that the allegations are true and that it is necessary, he shall order such marshal to keep such bankrupt in custody not exceeding ten days, but not imprison him, until he shall be examined and released or give bail conditioned for his appearance for examination, from time to time, not exceeding in all ten days, as required by the court, and for his obedience to all lawful orders made in reference thereto.

Sec. 10. Extradition of Bankrupts.—a. Whenever a warrant for the apprehension of a bankrupt shall have been issued, and he shall have been found within the jurisdiction of a court other than the one issuing the warrant, he may be extradited in the same manner in which persons under indictment from one district within which a district court has jurisdiction to another.

Sec. 11. Suits By and Against Bankrupts.—a. A suit which is founded upon a claim from which a discharge would be a release, and which is pending against a person at the time of the filing of a petition against him, shall be stayed until after an adjudication or the dismissal of the petition; if such person is adjudged a bankrupt, such action may be further stayed until twelve months after the date of such adjudication, or, if within that time such person applies for a discharge, then until the question of such discharge is determined.

b. The court may order the trustee to enter his appearance and defend any pending suit against the bankrupt.

c. A trustee may, with the approval of the court, be permitted to prosecute as trustee any suit commenced by the bankrupt prior to the adjudication, with like force and effect as though it had been commenced by him.

d. Suit shall not be brought by or against a trustee of a bankrupt estate subsequent to two years after the estate has been closed.

Sec. 12. Compositions, When Confirmed.—a. A bankrupt may offer terms of composition to his creditors after, but not before, he has been examined in open court or at a meeting of his creditors and filed in court the schedule of his property and list of his creditors, required to be filed by bankrupts.

b. An application for the confirmation of a composition may be filed in the court of bankruptcy after, but not before, it has been accepted in writing by a majority in number of all creditors whose claims have been allowed, which number must represent a majority in amount of such claims, and the consideration to be paid by the bankrupt to his creditors, and the money necessary to pay all debts which have priority and the cost of the proceedings, have been deposited in such place as shall be designated by and subject to the order of the judge.

c. A date and place, with reference to the convenience of the parties in interest, shall be fixed for the hearing upon each application for the confirmation of a composition, and such objections as may be made to its confirmation.

d. The judge shall confirm a composition if satisfied that (1) it is for the best interests of the creditors; (2) the bankrupt has not been guilty of any of the acts or failed to perform any of the duties which would be a bar to his discharge; and (3) the offer and its acceptance are in good faith and have not been made or procured except as herein provided, or by any means, promises, or acts herein forbidden.

e. Upon the confirmation of a composition, the consideration shall be distributed as the judge shall direct, and the case dismissed. Whenever a composition is not confirmed, the estate shall be administered in bankruptcy as herein provided.

Sec. 13. Compositions, When Set Aside.—a. The judge may, upon the application of parties in interest filed at any time within six months after a composition has been confirmed, set the same aside and reinstate the case if it shall be made to appear upon a trial that fraud was practiced in the procuring of such composition, and that the knowledge thereof has come to the petitioners since the confirmation of such composition.

Sec. 14. Discharges, When Granted.—a. Any person may, after the expiration of one month and within the next twelve months subsequent to being adjudged a bankrupt, file an application for a discharge in the court of bankruptcy in which the proceedings are pending; if it shall be made to appear to the judge that the bankrupt was unavoidably prevented from filing it within such time, it may be filed within but not after the expiration of the next six months.

b. The judge shall hear the application for a discharge, and such proofs and pleas as may be made in opposition thereto by parties in interest, at such time as will give parties in interest a reasonable opportunity to be fully heard, and investigate the merits of the application and discharge the applicant unless he has (1) committed an offence punishable by imprisonment as herein provided; or (2) with fraudulent intent to conceal his true financial condition, and in contemplation of bankruptcy, destroyed, concealed, or failed to keep books of account or records from which his true condition might be ascertained.

c. The confirmation of a composition shall discharge the bankrupt from his debts, other than those agreed to be paid by the terms of the composition and those not affected by a discharge.

Sec. 15. Discharges, When Revoked.—a. The judge may, upon the application of parties in interest who have not been guilty of undue laches, filed at any time within one year after a discharge shall have been granted, revoke it upon a trial if it shall be made to appear that it was obtained through the fraud of the bankrupt, and that the knowledge of the fraud has come to the petitioners since the granting of the discharge, and that the actual facts did not warrant the discharge.

Sec. 16. Co-Debtors of Bankrupts.—a. The liability of a person who is a co-debter with, or guarantor or in any manner a surety for, a bankrupt shall not be altered by the discharge of such bankrupt.

Sec. 17. Debts Not Affected by a Discharge.—a. A discharge in bankruptcy shall release a bankrupt from all of his provable debts, except such as (1) are due as a tax levied by the United States, the State, county, district, or municipality in which he resides; (2) are judgments in actions for frauds, or obtaining property by false pretenses or false representations, or for willful and malicious injuries to the person or property of another; (3) have not been duly scheduled in time for proof and allowance, with the name of the creditor if known to the bankrupt, unless such creditor had notice or actual knowledge of the proceedings in bankruptcy; or (4) were created by his fraud, embezzlement, misappropriation, or defalcation while acting as an officer or in any fiduciary capacity.

CHAPTER IV.—Courts and Procedure Therein.

Sec. 18. Process, Pleadings, and Adjudications.—a. Upon the filing of a petition for involuntary bankruptcy, service thereof, with a writ of subpœna, shall be made upon the person therein named as defendant in the same manner that service of such process is now had upon the commencement of a suit in equity in the courts of the United States, except that it shall be returnable within fifteen days, unless the judge shall for cause fix a longer time; but in case personal service can not be made, then notice shall be given by publication in the same manner and for the same time as provided by law for notice by publication in suits in equity in courts of the United States.

b. The bankrupt, or any creditor, may appear and plead to the petition within ten days after the return day, or within such further time as the court may allow.

c. All pleadings setting up matters of fact shall be verified under oath.

d. If the bankrupt or any of his creditors shall appear within the time limited and controvert the facts alleged in the petition, the judge shall determine, as soon as may be, the issues presented by the pleadings, without the intervention of a jury, except in cases where a jury trial is given by this act, and makes the adjudication or dismiss the petition.

e. If on the last day within which pleadings may be filed none are filed by the bankrupt or any of his creditors, the judge shall on the next day, if present, or as soon thereafter as practicable, make the adjudication or dismiss the petition.

f. If the judge is absent from the district, or the divison of the district in which the petition is pending, on the next day after the last day on which pleadings may be filed, and none have been filed by the bankrupt or any of his creditors, the clerk shall forthwith refer the case to the referee.

g. Upon the filing of a voluntary petition the judge shall hear the petition and make the adjudication or dismiss the petition. If the judge is absent from the district, or the division of the district in which the petition is filed at the time of the filing, the clerk shall forthwith refer the case to the referee.

Sec. 19. Jury Trials.—a. A person against whom an involuntary petition has been filed shall be entitled to have a trial by jury, in respect to the question of his solvency, except as herein otherwise provided, and any act of bankruptcy alleged in such petition to have been committed, upon filing a written application therefor at or before the time within which an answer may be filed. If such application is not filed within such time, a trial by jury shall be deemed to have been waived.

b. If a jury is not in attendance upon the court, one may be specially summoned for the trial, or the case may be postponed, or, if the case is pending in one of the district courts within the jurisdiction of a circuit court of the United States, it may be certified for trial to the circuit court sitting at the same place, or by consent of parties when sitting at any other place in the same district, if such circuit court has or is to have a jury first in attendance.

c. The right to submit matters in controversy, or an alleged offence under this act, to a jury shall be determined and enjoyed, except as provided by this act, according to the United States laws now in force or such as may be hereafter enacted in relation to trials by jury.

Sec. 20. Oaths, Affirmations.—a. Oaths required by this act, except upon hearings in court, may be administered by (1) referees; (2) officers authorized to administer oaths in proceedings before the courts of the United States, or under the laws of the State where the same are to be taken; and (3) diplomatic or consular officers of the United States in any foreign country.

b. Any person conscientiously opposed to taking an oath may, in lieu thereof, affirm. Any person who shall affirm falsely shall be punished as for the making of a false oath.

Sec. 21. Evidence.—a. A court of bankruptcy may, upon application of any officer, bankrupt, or creditor, by order require any designated person, including the bankrupt, who is a competent witness under the laws of the State in which the proceedings are pending, to appear in court or before a referee or the judge of any State court, to be examined concerning the acts, conduct, or property of a bankrupt whose estate is in process of administration under this act.

b. The right to take depositions in proceedings under this act shall be determined and enjoyed according to the United States laws now in force, or such as may be hereafter enacted relating to the taking of depositions, except as herein provided.

c. Notice of the taking of dispositions shall be filed with the referee in every case. When depositions are to be taken in opposition to the allowance of a claim, notice shall also be served upon the claimant, and when in opposition to a discharge, notice shall also be served upon the bankrupt.

d. Certified copies of proceedings before a referee, or of papers, when issued by the clerk or referee, shall be admitted as evidence with like force and effect as certified copies of the records of district courts of the United States are now or may hereafter be admitted as evidence.

e. A certified copy of the order approving the bond of a trustee shall constitute conclusive evidence of the vesting in him of the title to the property of the bankrupt, and if recorded shall impart the same notice that a deed from the bankrupt to the trustee if recorded would have imparted had not bankruptcy proceedings intervened.

f. A certified copy of an order confirming or setting aside a composition, or granting or setting aside a discharge, not revoked, shall be evidence of the jurisdiction of the court, the regularity of the proceedings, and of the fact that the order was made.

g. A certified copy of an order confirming a composition shall constitute evidence of the revesting of the title of his property in the bankrupt, and if recorded shall impart the same notice that a deed from the trustee to the bankrupt if recorded would impart.

Sec. 22. Reference of Cases After Adjudication.—a. After a person has been adjudged a bankrupt the judge may cause the trustee to proceed with the administration of the estate, or refer it (1) generally to the referee or specially with only limited authority to act in the premises or to consider and report upon specified issues; or (2) to any referee within the territorial jurisdiction of the court, if the convenience of parties in interest will be served thereby, or for cause, or if the bankrupt does not do business, reside, or have his domicile in the district.

b. The judge may at any time, for the convenience of parties or for cause, transfer a case from one referee to another.

Sec. 23. Jurisdiction of United States and State Courts.—a. The United States circuit courts shall have jurisdiction of all controversies at law and in equity, as distinguished from proceedings in bankruptcy, between trustees as such and adverse claimants concerning the property acquired or claimed by the trustees, in the same manner and to the same extent only as though bankruptcy proceedings had not been instituted and such controversies had been between the bankrupts and such adverse claimants.

b. Suits by the trustee shall only be brought or prosecuted in the courts where the bankrupt, whose estate is being administered by such trustee, might have brought or prosecuted them if proceedings in bankruptcy had not been instituted, unless by consent of the proposed defendant.

c. The United States circuit courts shall have concurrent jurisdiction with the courts of bankruptcy, within their respective territorial limits, of the offenses enumerated in this act.

Sec. 24. Jurisdiction of Appellate Courts.—a. The Supreme Court of the United States, the circuit courts of appeals of the United States, and the supreme courts of the Territories, in vacation in chambers and during their respective terms, as now or as they may be hereafter held, are hereby invested with appellate jurisdiction of controversies arising in bankruptcy proceedings from the courts of bankruptcy from which they have appellate jurisdiction in other cases. The Supreme Court of the United States shall exercise a like jurisdiction from courts of bankruptcy not within any organized circuit of the United States and from the supreme court of the District of Columbia.

b. The several circuit courts of appeal shall have jurisdiction in equity, either interlocutory or final, to superintend and revise in matter of law the proceedings of the several inferior courts of bankruptcy within their jurisdiction. Such power shall be exercised on due notice and petition by any party aggrieved.

Sec. 25. Appeals and Writs of Error.—a. That appeals, as in equity cases, may be taken in bankruptcy proceeding from the courts of bankruptcy to the circuit court of appeals of the United States, and to the supreme court of the Territories, in the following cases, to wit, (1) from a judgment adjudging or refusing to adjudge the defendant a bankrupt; (2) from a judgment granting or denying a discharge; and (3) from a judgment allowing or rejecting a debt or claim of five hundred dollars or over. Such appeal shall be taken within ten days after the judgment appealed from has been rendered, and may be heard and determined by the appellate court in term or vacation, as the case may be.

b. From any final decision of a court of appeals, allowing or rejecting a claim under this act, an appeal may be had under such rules and within such time as may be prescribed by the Supreme Court of the United States, in the following cases and no other:

1. Where the amount in controversy exceeds the sum of two thousand dollars, and the question involved is one which might have been taken on appeal or writ of error from the highest court of a State to the Supreme Court of the United States; or

2. Where some Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States shall certify that in his opinion the determination of the question or questions involved in the allowance or rejection of such claim is essential to a uniform construction of this act throughout the United States.

c. Trustees shall not be required to give bond when they take appeals or sue out writs of error.

d. Controversies may be certified to the Supreme Court of the United States from other courts of the United States, and the former may exercise jurisdiction thereof and issue writs of certiorari pursuant to the provisions of the United States laws now in force or such as may be hereafter enacted.

Sec. 26. Arbitration of Controversies.—a. The trustee may, pursuant to the direction of the court, submit to arbitration any controversy arising in the settlement of the estate.

b. Three arbitrators shall be chosen by mutual consent, or one by the trustee, one by the other party to the controversy, and the third by the two so chosen, or if they fail to agree in five days after their appointment the court shall appoint the third arbitrator.

c. The written finding of the arbitrators, or a majority of them, as to the issues presented, may be filed in court and shall have like force and effect as the verdict of a jury.

Sec. 27. Compromises.—a. The trustee may, with the approval of the court, compromise any controversy arising in the administration of the estate upon such terms as he may deem for the best interests of the estate.

Sec 28. Designation of Newspapers.—a. Courts of bankruptcy shall by order designate a newspaper published within their respective territorial districts, and in the county in which the bankrupt resides or the major part of his property is situated, in which notices required to be published by this act and orders which the court may direct to be published shall be inserted. Any court may in a particular case, for the convenience of parties in interest, designate some additional newspaper in which notices and orders in such case shall be published.

Sec. 29. Offenses.—a. A person shall be punished, by imprisonment for a period not to exceed five years, upon conviction of the offense of having knowingly and fraudulently appropriated to his own use, embezzled, spent, or unlawfully transferred any property or secreted or destroyed any document belonging to the bankrupt estate which came into his charge as trustee.

b. A person shall be punished by imprisonment for a period not to exceed two years, upon conviction of the offense of having knowingly and fraudulently (1) concealed, while a bankrupt, or after his discharge, from his trustee any of the property belonging to his estate in bankruptcy; or (2) made a false oath or account in, or in relation to, any proceedings in bankruptcy; (3) presented under oath any false claim for proof against the estate of a bankrupt, or used any such claim in composition personally or by agent, proxy, or attorney; or (4) received any material amount of property from a bankrupt after the filing of the petition, with intent to defeat this act; or (5) extorted or attempted to extort any money or property from any person as a consideration for acting or forbearing to act in bankruptcy proceedings.

c. A person shall be punished by fine, not to exceed five hundred dollars, and forfeit his office, and the same shall thereupon become vacant, upon conviction of the offense of having knowingly (1) acted as a referee in a case in which he is directly or indirectly interested; or (2) purchased, while a referee, directly or indirectly, any property or the estate in bankruptcy of which he is referee; or (3) refused, while a referee or trustee, to permit a reasonable opportunity for the inspection of the accounts relating to the affairs of, and the papers and records of, estates in his charge by parties in interest when directed by the court so to do.

d. A person shall not be prosecuted for any offense arising under this act unless the indictment is found or the information is filed in court within one year after the commission of the offense.

Sec. 30. Rules, Forms and Orders.—a. All necessary rules, forms and orders as to procedure and for carrying this act into force and effect shall be prescribed, and may be amended from time to time, by the Supreme Court of the United States.

Sec. 31. Computation of Time.—a. Whenever time is enumerated by days in this act, or in any proceeding in bankruptcy, the number of days shall be computed by excluding the first and including the last, unless the last fall on a Sunday or holiday, in which event the day last included shall be the next day thereafter which is not a Sunday or a legal holiday.

Sec. 32. Transfer of Cases.—a. In the event petitions are filed against the same person, or against different members of a partnership, in different courts of bankruptcy each of which has jurisdiction, the cases shall be transferred, by order of the courts relinquishing jurisdiction, to and be consolidated by the one of such courts which can proceed with the same for the greatest convenience of parties in interest.

CHAPTER V.—Officers, Their Duties and Compensation.

Sec. 33. Creation of Two Offices.—a. The offices of referee and trustee are hereby created.

Sec. 34. Appointment, Removal, and Districts of Referees.—a. Courts of bankruptcy shall, within the territorial limits of which they respectively have jurisdiction, (1) appoint referees, each for a term of two years, and may, in their discretion, remove them because their services are not needed or for other cause; and (2) designate and from time to time change, the limits of the districts of referees, so that each county, where the services of a referee are needed, may constitute at least one district.

Sec. 37. Number of Referees.—a. Such number of referees shall be appointed as may be necessary to assist in expeditiously transacting the bankruptcy business pending in the various courts of bankruptcy.

Sec. 38. Jurisdiction of Referees.—a. Referees respectively are hereby invested, subject always to a review by the judge, within the limits of their districts as established from time to time, with jurisdiction to (1) consider all petitions referred to them by the clerks and make the adjudications or dismiss the petitions; (2) exercise the powers vested in courts of bankruptcy for the administering of oaths to and the examination of persons as witnesses and for requiring the production of documents in proceedings before them, except the power of commitment; (3) exercise the powers of the judge for the taking possession and releasing of the property of the bankrupt in the event of the issuance by the clerk of a certificate showing the absence of a judge from the judicial district, or the division of the district, or his sickness, or inability to act; (4) perform such part of the duties, except as to questions arising out of the applications of bankrupts for compositions or discharges, as are by this act conferred on courts of bankruptcy and as shall be prescribed by rules or orders of the courts of bankruptcy of their respective districts, except as herein otherwise provided; and (5) upon the application of the trustee during the examination of the bankrupts, or other proceedings, authorize the employment of stenographers at the expense of the estates at a compensation not to exceed ten cents per folio for reporting and transcribing the proceedings.

Sec. 39. Duties of Referees.—a. Referees shall (1) declare dividends and prepare and deliver to trustees dividend sheets showing the dividends declared and to whom payable; (2) examine all schedules of property and lists of creditors filed by bankrupts and cause such as are incomplete or defective to be amended; (3) furnish such information concerning the estates in process of administration before them as may be requested by the parties in interest; (4) give notice to creditors as herein provided; (5) make up records embodying the evidence, or the substance thereof, as agreed upon by the parties in all contested matters arising before them, whenever requested to do so by either of the parties thereto, together with their findings therein, and transmit them to the judges; (6) prepare and file the schedules of property and lists of creditors required to be filed by the bankrupts, or cause the same to be done when the bankrupts fail, refuse, or neglect to do so; (7) safely keep, perfect, and transmit to the clerks the records herein required to be kept by them, when the cases are concluded; (8) transmit to the clerks such papers as may be on file before them whenever the same are needed in any proceedings in courts, and in like manner secure the return of such papers after they have been used, or if it be impracticable to transmit the original papers, transmit certified copies thereof by mail; (9) upon application of any party in interest, preserve the evidence taken or the substance thereof as agreed upon by the parties before them when a stenographer is not in attendance; and (10) whenever their respective offices are in the same cities or towns where the courts of bankruptcy convene, call upon and receive from the clerks all papers filed in courts of bankruptcy which have been referred to them.

b. Referees shall not (1) act in cases in which they are directly or indirectly interested; (2) practice as attorneys and counselors at law in any bankruptcy proceedings; or (3) purchase, directly or indirectly, any property of an estate in bankruptcy.

Sec. 40. Compensation of Referees.—a. Referees shall receive as full compensation for their services payable after they are rendered, a fee of ten dollars deposited with the clerk at the time the petition is filed in each case, except when a fee is not required from a voluntary bankrupt, and from estates which have been administered before them one per centum commissions on sums to be paid as dividends and commissions, or one-half of one per centum on the amount to be paid to creditors upon the confirmation of a composition.

b. Whenever a case is transferred from one referee to another the judge shall determine the proportion in which the fee and commissions therefor shall be divided between the referees.

c. In the event of the reference of a case being revoked before it is concluded, and when the case is specially referred, the judge shall determine what part of the fee and commissions shall be paid to the referee.

Sec. 41. Contempts Before Referees.—a. A person shall not, in proceedings before a referee, (1) disobey or resist any lawful order, process, or writ; (2) misbehave during a hearing or so near the place thereof as to obstruct the same; (3) neglect to produce, after having been ordered to do so, any pertinent document; or (4) refuse to appear after having been subpœnaed, or, upon appearing, refuse to take the oath as a witness, or, after having taken the oath, refuse to be examined according to law: Provided, that no person shall be required to attend as a witness before a referee at a place outside of the State of his residence, and more than one hundred miles from such place of residence, and only in case his lawful mileage and fee for one day's attendance shall be first paid or tendered to him.

b. The referee shall certify the facts to the judge, if any person shall do any of the things forbidden in this section. The judge shall thereupon, in a summary manner, hear the evidence as to the acts complained of, and, if it is such as to warrant him in so doing, punish such person in the same manner and to the same extent as for a contempt committed before the court of bankruptcy, or commit such person upon the same conditions as if the doing of the forbidden act had occurred with reference to the process of, or in the presence of the court.

Sec. 42. Records of Referees.—a. The records of all proceedings in each case before a referee shall be kept as nearly as may be in the same manner as records are now kept in equity cases in circuit courts of the United States.

b. A record of the proceedings in each case shall be kept in a separate book or books, and shall, together with the papers on file, constitute the records of the case.

c. The book or books containing a record of the proceedings shall, when the case is concluded before the referee, be certified to by him, and, together with such papers as are on file before him, be transmitted to the court of bankruptcy and shall there remain as a part of the records of the court.

Sec. 43. Referee's Absence or Disability.—a. Whenever the office of a referee is vacant, or its occupant is absent or disqualified to act, the judge may act, or may appoint another referee, or another referee holding an appointment under the same court may, by order of the judge, temporarily fill the vacancy.

Sec. 44. Appointment of Trustees.—a. The creditors of a bankrupt estate shall, at their first meeting after the adjudication or after a vacancy has occurred in the office of trustee, or after an estate has been reopened, or after a composition has been set aside or a discharge revoked, or if there is a vacancy in the office of trustee, appoint one trustee or three trustees of such estate. If the creditors do not appoint a trustee or trustees as herein provided, the court shall do so.

Sec. 45. Qualifications of Trustees.—a. Trustees may be (1) individuals who are respectively competent to perform the duties of that office, and reside or have an office in the judicial district within which they are appointed, or (2) corporations authorized by their charters or by law to act in such capacity and having an office in the judicial district within which they are appointed.

Sec. 46. Death or Removal of Trustees.—a. The death or removal of a trustee shall not abate any suit or proceeding which he is prosecuting or defending at the time of his death or removal, but the same may be proceeded with or defended by his joint trustee or successor in the same manner as though the same had been commenced or was being defended by such joint trustee alone or by such successor.

Sec. 47. Duties of Trustees.—a. Trustees shall respectively (1) account for and pay over to the estates under their control all interest received by them upon property of such estates; (2) collect and reduce to money the property of the estates for which they are trustees, under the direction of the court, and close up the estate as expeditiously as is compatible with the best interests of the parties in interest; (3) deposit all

b. Whenever three trustees have been appointed for an estate, the concurrence of at least two of them shall be necessary to the validity of their every act concerning the administration of the estate.

Sec. 48. Compensation of Trustees.—a. Trustees shall receive as full compensation for their services, payable after they are rendered, a fee of five dollars, deposited with the clerk at the time the petition is filed, in each case, except when a fee is not required from a voluntary bankrupt, and from estates which they have administered, such commissions on sums to be paid as dividends and commissions as may be allowed by the courts, not to exceed three per centum on the first five thousand dollars or less, two per centum on the second five thousand dollars or part thereof, and one per centum on such sums in excess of ten thousand dollars.

b. In the event of an estate being administered by three trustees instead of one trustee or by successive trustees, the court shall apportion the fees and commissions between them according to the services actually rendered, so that there shall not be paid to trustees for the administering of any estate a greater amount than one trustee would be entitled to.

c. The court may, in its discretion, withhold all compensation from any trustee who has been removed for cause.

Sec. 49. Accounts and Papers of Trustees.—a. The accounts and papers of trustees shall be open to the inspection of officers and all parties in interest.

Sec. 50. Bonds of Referees and Trustees.—a. Referees, before assuming the duties of their offices, and within such time as the district courts of the United States having jurisdiction shall prescribe, shall respectively qualify by entering into bond to the United States in such sum as shall be fixed by such courts, not to exceed five thousand dollars, with such sureties as shall be approved by such courts, conditioned for the faithful performance of their official duties.

b. Trustees, before entering upon the performance of their official duties, and within ten days after their appointment, or within such further time, not to exceed five days, as the court may permit, shall respectively qualify by entering into bond to the United States, with such sureties as shall be approved by the courts, conditioned for the faithful performance of their official duties.

c. The creditors of a bankrupt estate, at their first meeting after the adjudication, or after a vacancy has occurred in the office of trustee, or after an estate has been reopened, or after a composition has been set aside or a discharge revoked, if there is a vacancy in the office of trustee, shall fix the amount of the bond of the trustee; they may at any time increase the amount of the bond. If the creditors do not fix the amount of the bond of the trustee as herein provided the court shall do so.

d. The court shall require evidence as to the actual value of the property of sureties.

e. There shall be at least two sureties upon each bond.

f. The actual value of the property of the sureties, over and above their liabilities and exemptions, on each bond shall equal at least the amount of such bond.

g.* Corporations organized for the purpose of becoming sureties upon bonds, or authorized by law to do so, may be accepted as sureties upon the bonds of referees and trustees whenever the courts are satisfied that the rights of all parties in interest will be thereby amply protected.

h. Bonds of referees, trustees, and designated depositors shall be filed of record in the office of the clerk of the court and may be sued upon in the name of the United States for the use of any person injured by a breach of their conditions.

i. Trustees shall not be liable, personally or on their bonds, to the United States, for any penalties or forfeitures incurred by the bankrupts under this act, of whose estates they are respectively trustees.

j. Joint trustees may give joint or several bonds.

k. If any referee or trustee shall fail to give bond, as herein provided and within the time limited, he shall be deemed to have declined his appointment, and such failure shall create a vacancy in his office.

l. Suits upon referees' bonds shall not be brought subsequent to two years after the alleged breach of the bond.

m. Suits upon trustees' bonds shall not be brought subsequent to two years after the estate has been closed.

Sec. 51. Duties of Clerks.—a. Clerks shall respectively (1) account for, as for other fees received by them, the clerk's fee paid in each case and such other fees as may be received for certified copies of records which may be prepared for persons other than officers; (2) collect the fees of the clerk, referee, and trustee in each case instituted before filing the petition, except the petition of a proposed voluntary bankrupt which is accompanied by an affidavit stating that the petitioner is without and cannot obtain the money with which to pay such fees; (3) deliver to the referees upon application all papers which may be referred to them, or, if the officers of such referees are not in the same cities or towns as the offices of such clerks, transmit such papers by mail, and in like manner return papers which were received from such referees after they have been used; (4) and within ten days after each case has been closed pay to the referee, if the case was referred, the fee collected for him, and to the trustee the fee collected for him at the time of filing the petition.

Sec. 52. Compensation of Clerks and Marshals.—a. Clerks shall respectively receive as full compensation for their service to each estate a filing fee of ten dollars, except when a fee is not required from a voluntary bankrupt.

b. Marshals shall respectively receive from the estate where an adjudication in bankruptcy is made, except as herein otherwise provided, for the performance of their service in proceedings in bankruptcy, the same fees, and account for them in the same way, as they are entitled to receive for the performance of the same or similar services in other cases in accordance with laws now in force, or such as may be hereafter enacted, fixing the compensation of marshals.

Sec. 53. Duties of Attorney General.—a. The Attorney General shall annually lay before Congress statistical tables showing for the whole country, and by States, the number of cases during the year of voluntary and involuntary bankruptcy; the amount of the property of the estates; the dividends paid and the expenses of administering such estates; and such other like information as he may deem important.

Sec. 54. Statistics of Bankruptcy Proceedings.—a. Officers shall furnish in writing and transmit by mail such information as is within their knowledge, and as may be shown by the records and papers in their possession, to the Attorney General, for statistical purposes, within ten days after being requested by him to do so.

CHAPTER VI.—CREDITORS.

Sec. 55. Meetings of Creditors.—a. The court shall cause the first meeting of the creditors of a bankrupt to be held, not less than ten nor more than thirty days after the adjudication, at the county seat of the county in which the bankrupt has had his principal place of business, resided, or had his domicile; or if that place would be manifestly inconvenient as a place of meeting for the parties in interest, or if the bankrupt is one who does not do business, reside, or have his domicile within the United States, the court shall fix a place for the meeting which is the most convenient for parties in interest. If such meeting should by any mischance not be held within such time, the court shall fix the date, as soon as may be thereafter, when it shall be held.

b. At the first meeting of the creditors the judge or referee shall preside, and, before proceeding with the other business, may allow or disallow the claims of creditors there presented, and publicly examine the bankrupt or cause him to be examined at the instance of any creditor.

c. The creditors shall at each meeting take such steps as may be pertinent and necessary for the promotion of the best interests of the estate and the enforcement of this act.

d. A meeting of creditors subsequent to the first one may be held at any time and place when all of the creditors who have secured the allowance of their claims sign a written consent to hold a meeting at such time and place.

e. The court shall call a meeting of creditors whenever one-fourth or more in number of those who have proven their claims shall file a written request to that effect; if such request is signed by a majority of such creditors, which number represents a majority in amount of such claims, and contains a request for such meeting to be held at a designated place, the court shall call such meeting at such place within thirty days after the date of the filing of the request.

f. Whenever the affairs of the estate are ready to be closed a final meeting of creditors shall be ordered.

Sec. 56. Voters at Meetings of Creditors.—a. Creditors shall pass upon matters submitted to them at their meetings by a majority vote in number and amount of claims of all creditors whose claims have been allowed and are present, except as herein otherwise provided.

b. Creditors holding claims which are secured or have priority shall not, in respect to such claims, be entitled to vote at creditors' meetings, nor shall such claims be counted in computing either the number of creditors or the amount of their claims, unless the amounts of such claims exceed the values of such securities or priorities, and then only for such excess.

Sec. 57. Proof and Allowance of Claims.—a. Proof of claims shall consist of a statement under oath, in writing, signed by a creditor setting forth the claim, the consideration therefor, and whether any, and if so what securities are held therefor, and whether any, and if so what payments have been made thereon, and that the sum claimed is justly owing from the bankrupt to the creditor.

b. Whenever a claim is founded upon an instrument of writing, such instrument, unless lost or destroyed, shall be filed with the proof of claim. If such instrument is lost or destroyed, a statement of such fact and of the circumstances of such loss or destruction shall be filed under oath with the claim. After the claim is allowed or disallowed, such instrument may be withdrawn by permission of the court, upon leaving a copy thereof on file with the claim.

c. Claims after being proved may, for the purpose of allowance, be filed by the claimants in the court where the proceedings are pending, or before the referee if the case has been referred.

d. Claims which have been duly proved shall be allowed, upon receipt by or upon presentation to the court, unless objection to their allowance shall be made by parties in interest, or their consideration be continued for cause by the court upon its own motion.

e. Claims of secured creditors and those who have priority may be allowed to enable such creditors to participate in the proceedings at creditors' meetings held prior to the determination of the value of their securities or priorities, but shall be allowed for such sums only as to the courts seem to be owing over and above the value of their securities or priorities.

f. Objections to claims shall be heard and determined as soon as the convenience of the court and the best interests of the estates and the claimants will permit.

g. The claims of creditors who have received preferences shall not be allowed unless such creditors shall surrender their preferences.

h. The value of securities held by secured creditors shall be determined by converting the same into money according to the terms of the agreement pursuant to which such securities were delivered to such creditors or by such creditors and the trustee, by agreement, arbitration, compromise, or litigation, as the court may direct, and the amount of such value shall be credited upon such claims, and a dividend shall be paid only on the unpaid balance.

i. Whenever a creditor, whose claim against a bankrupt estate is secured by the individual undertaking of any person, fails to prove such claim, such person may do so in the creditor's name, and if he discharge such undertaking in whole or in part he shall be subrogated to that extent to the rights of the creditor.

j. Debts owing to the United States, a State, a county, a district, or a municipality as a penalty or forfeiture shall not be allowed, except for the amount of the pecuniary loss sustained by the act, transaction, or proceeding out of which the penalty or forfeiture arose, with reasonable and actual costs occasioned thereby and such interest as may have accrued thereon according to law.

k. Claims which have been allowed may be reconsidered for cause and reallowed or rejected in whole or in part, according to the equities of the case, before but not after the estate has been closed.

l. Whenever a claim shall have been reconsidered and rejected, in whole or in part, upon which a dividend has been paid, the trustee may recover from the creditor the amount of the dividend received upon the claim if rejected in whole, or the proportional part thereof if rejected only in part.

m. The claim of any estate which is being administered in bankruptcy against any like estate may be proved by the trustee and allowed by the court in the same manner and upon like terms as the claims of other creditors.

n. Claims shall not be proved against a bankrupt estate subsequent to one year after the adjudication; or if they are liquidated by litigation and the final judgment therein is rendered within thirty days before or after the expiration of such time, then within sixty days after the rendition of such judgment: Provided, That the right of infants and insane persons without guardians, without notice of the proceedings, may continue six months longer.

Sec. 58. Notices to Creditors.—a. Creditors shall have at least ten days' notice by mail, to their respective addresses as they appear in the list of creditors of the bankrupt, or as afterwards filed with papers in the case by the creditors, unless they waive notice in writing, of (1) all examinations of the bankrupt; (2) all hearings upon applications for the conformation of compositions or the discharge of bankrupts; (3) all meetings of creditors; (4) all proposed sales of property; (5) the declaration and time of payment of dividends; (6) the filing of the final accounts of the trustee, and the time when and the place where they will be examined and passed upon; (7) the proposed compromise of any controversy, and (8) the proposed dismissal of the proceedings.

b. Notice to creditors of the first meeting shall be published at least once and may be published such number of additional times as the court may direct; the last publication shall be at least one week prior to the date fixed for the meeting. Other notices may be published as the court shall direct.

c All notices shall be given by the referee, unless otherwise ordered by the judge.

Sec. 59. Who May File and Dismiss Petitions.—a. Any qualified person may file a petition to be adjudged a voluntary bankrupt.

b Three or more creditors who have provable claims against any person which amount in the aggregate, in excess of the value of securities held by them, if any, to five hundred dollars or over; or if all of the creditors of such person are less than twelve in number, then one of such creditors whose claim equals such amount may file a petition to have him adjudged a bankrupt.

c. Petitions shall be filed in duplicate, one copy for the clerk and one for service on the bankrupt.

d. If it be averred in the petition that the creditors of the bankrupt are less than twelve in number, and less than three creditors have joined as petitioners therein, and the answer avers the existence of a larger number of creditors, there shall be filed with the answer a list under oath of all the creditors, with their addresses, and thereupon the court shall cause all such creditors to be notified of the pendency of such petition and shall delay the hearing upon such petition for a reasonable time, to the end that parties in interest shall have an opportunity to be heard; if upon such hearing it shall appear that a sufficient number have joined in such petition, or if prior to or during such hearing a sufficient number shall join therein, the case may be proceeded with, but otherwise it shall be dismissed.

e. In computing the number of creditors of a bankrupt for the purpose of determining how many creditors must join in the petition, such creditors as were employed by him at the time of the filing of the petition or are related to him by consanguinity or affinity within the third degree, as determined by the common law, and have not joined in the petition, shall not be counted.

f. Creditors other than original petitioners may at any time enter their appearance and join in the petition, or file an answer and be heard in opposition to the prayer of the petition.

g. A voluntary or involuntary petition shall not be dismissed by the petitioner or petitioners or for want of prosecution or by consent of parties until after notice to the creditors.

Sec. 60. Preferred Creditors.—a. A person shall be deemed to have given a preference if, being insolvent, he has procured or suffered a judgment to be entered against himself in favor of any person, or made a transfer of any of his property, and the effect of the enforcement of such judgment or transfer will be to enable any one of his creditors to obtain a greater percentage of his debt than any other of such creditors of the same class.

b. If a bankrupt shall have given a preference within four months before the filing of a petition, or after the filing of the petition and before the adjudication, and the person receiving it, or to be benefitted thereby, or his agent acting therein, shall have had reasonable cause to believe that it was intended thereby to give a preference, it shall be voidable by the trustee, and he may recover the property or its value from such person.

c. If a creditor has been preferred, and afterwards in good faith gives the debtor further credit without security of any kind for property which becomes a part of the debtor's estates, the amount of such new credit remaining unpaid at the time of the adjudication in bankruptcy may be set off against the amount which would otherwise be recoverable from him.

d. If a debtor shall, directly or indirectly, in contemplation of the filing of a petition by or against him, pay money or transfer property to an attorney and counselor at law, solicitor in equity, or proctor in admiralty for services to be rendered, the transaction shall be re-examined by the court on petition of the trustee or any creditor and shall only be held valid to the extent of a reasonable amount to be determined by the court, and the excess may be recovered by the trustee for the benefit of the estate.

CHAPTER VII.—ESTATES.

Sec. 61. Depositories for Money.—a. Courts of bankruptcy shall designate, by order, banking institutions as depositories for the money of bankrupt estates, as convenient as may be to the residences of trustees, and shall require bonds to the United States, subject to their approval, to be given by such banking institutions, and may from time to time as occasion may require, by like order, increase the number of depositories or the amount of any bond or change such depositories.

Sec. 62. Expenses of Administering Estates.—a. The actual and necessary expenses incurred by officers in the administration of estates shall, except where other provisions are made for their payment, be reported in detail, under oath, and examined and approved or disapproved by the court. If approved, they shall be paid or allowed out of the estates in which they were incurred.

Sec. 63. Debts Which May Be Proved.—a. Debts of the bankrupt may be proved and allowed against his estate which are (1) a fixed liability, as evidenced by a judgment or an instrument in writing, absolutely owing at the time of the filing of the petition against him, whether then payable or not, with any interest thereon which would have been recoverable at that date or with a rebate of interest upon such as were not then payable and did not bear interest; (2) due as costs taxable against an involuntary bankrupt who was at the time of the filing of the petition against him plaintiff in a cause of action which would pass to the trustee and which the trustee declines to prosecute after notice; (3) founded upon a claim for taxable costs incurred in good faith by a creditor before the filing of the petition in an action to recover a provable debt; (4) founded upon an open account, or upon a contract express or implied; and (5) founded upon provable debts reduced to judgments after the filing of the petition and before the consideration of the bankrupt's application for a discharge, less costs incurred and interest accrued after the filing of the petition and up to the time of the entry of such judgments.

b. Unliquidated claims against the bankrupt may, pursuant to application to the court, be liquidated in such manner as it shall direct, and may thereafter be proved and allowed against his estate.

Sec. 64. Debts Which Have Priority.—a. The court shall order the trustee to pay all taxes legally due and owing by the bankrupt to the United States, State, county, district, or municipality in advance of the payment of dividends to creditors, and upon filing the receipts of the proper public officers for such payment he shall be credited with the amount thereof, and in case any question arises as to the amount or legality of any such tax the same shall be heard and determined by the court.

b. The debts to have priority, except as herein provided, and to be paid in full out of bankrupt estates, and the order of payment shall be (1) the actual and necessary cost of preserving the estate subsequent to filing the petition; (2) the filing fees paid by creditors in voluntary cases; (3) the cost of administration including the fees and mileage payable to witnesses as now or hereafter provided by the laws of the United States, and one reasonable attorney's fee, for the professional services actually rendered, irrespective of the number of attorneys employed, to the petitioning creditors in involuntary cases, to the bankrupt in involuntary cases, while performing the duties herein prescribed, and to the bankrupt in voluntary cases, as the court may allow; (4) wages due to workmen, clerk, or servants which have been earned within three months before the date of the commencement of proceedings, not to exceed three hundred dollars to each claimant; and (5) debts owing to any person who by the laws of the States or the United States is entitled to priority.

c. In the event of the confirmation of a composition being set aside, or a discharge revoked, the property acquired by the bankrupt in addition to his estate at the time the composition was confirmed or the adjudication was made shall be applied to the payment in full of the claims of creditors for property sold to him on credit, in good faith, while such composition or discharge was in force, and the residue, if any, shall be applied to the payment of the debts which were owing at the time of the adjudication.

Sec. 65. Declaration and Payment of Dividends.—a. Dividends of an equal per centum shall be declared and paid on all allowed claims, except such as have priority or are secured.

b. The first dividend shall be declared within thirty days after the adjudication, if the money of the estate in excess of the amount necessary to pay the debts which have priority and such claims as have not been, but probably will be, allowed equals five per centum or more of such allowed claims. Dividends subsequent to the first shall be declared upon like terms as the first and as often as the amount shall equal ten per centum or more, and upon closing the estate. Dividends may be declared oftener and in smaller proportions if the judge shall so order.

c. The rights of creditors who have received dividends, or in whose favor final dividends have been declared, shall not be affected by the proof and allowance of claims subsequent to the date of such payment or declarations of dividends; but the creditors proving and securing the allowance of such claims shall be paid dividends equal in amount to those already received by the other creditors if the estate equals so much before such other creditors are paid any further dividends.

d. Whenever a person shall have been adjudged a bankrupt by a court without the United States and also by a court of bankruptcy, creditors residing within the United States shall first be paid a dividend equal to that received in the court without the United States by other creditors before creditors who have received a dividend in such court shall be paid any amounts.

e. A claimant shall not be entitled to collect from a bankrupt estate any greater amount than shall accrue pursuant to the provisions of this act.

Sec. 66. Unclaimed Dividends.—a. Dividends which remain unclaimed for six months after the final dividend has been declared shall be paid by the trustee into court.

b. Dividends remaining unclaimed for one year, shall, under the direction of the court, be distributed to the creditors whose claims have been allowed but not paid in full, and after such claims have been paid in full the balance shall be paid to the bankrupt: Provided, That in case unclaimed dividends belong to minors such minors may have one year after arriving at majority to claim such dividends.

Sec. 67. Liens.—a. Claims which for want of record or for other reasons would not have been valid liens as against the claims of the creditors of the bankrupt shall not be liens against his estate.

b. Whenever a creditor is prevented from enforcing his rights as against a lien created, or attempted to be created, by his debtor, who afterwards becomes a bankrupt the trustee of the estate of such bankrupt shall be subrogated to and may enforce such rights of such creditor for the benefit of the estate.

c. A lien created by or obtained in or pursuant to any suit or proceeding at law or in equity, including an attachment upon mesne process or a judgment by confession, which was begun against a person within four months before the filing of a petition in bankruptcy by or against such person shall be dissolved by the adjudication of such person to be a bankrupt if (1) it appears that said lien was obtained and permitted while the defendant was insolvent and that its existence and enforcement will work a preference, or (2) the party or parties to be benefited thereby had reasonable cause to believe the defendant was insolvent and in contemplation of bankruptcy, or (3) that such lien was sought and permitted in fraud of the provisions of this act; or if the dissolution of such lien would militate against the best interests of the estate of such person the same shall not be dissolved, but the trustee of the estate of such person, for the benefit of the estate shall be subrogated to the rights of the holder of such lien and empowered to perfect and enforce the same in his name as trustee with like force and effect as such holder might have done had not bankruptcy proceedings intervened.

d. Liens given and accepted in good faith and not in contemplation of or in fraud upon this act, and for a present consideration, which have been recorded according to law, if record thereof was necessary in order to impart notice, shall not be affected by this act.

e. That all conveyances, transfers, assignments, or incumbrances of his property, or any part thereof, made or given by a person adjudged a bankrupt under the provisions of this act subsequent to the passage of this act and within four months prior to the filing of the petition, with the intent and purpose on his part to hinder, delay, or defraud his creditors, or any of them, shall be null and void as against the creditors of such debtor, except as to purchasers in good faith and for a present fair consideration; and all property of the debtor conveyed, transferred, assigned, or incumbered as aforesaid shall, if he be adjudged a bankrupt, and the same is not exempt from execution and liability for debts by the law of his domicile, be and remain a part of the assets and estate of the bankrupt, and shall pass to his said trustee, whose duty it shall be to recover and reclaim the same by legal proceedings or otherwise for the benefit of the creditors. And all conveyances, transfers, or incumbrances of his property made by a debtor at any time within four months prior to the filing of the petition against him, and while insolvent, which are held null and void as against the creditors of such debtor by the laws of the State, Territory, or District in which such property is situate, shall be deemed null and void under this act against the creditors of such debtor if he be adjudged a bankrupt, and such property shall pass to the assignee and be by him reclaimed and recovered for the benefit of the creditors of the bankrupt.

f. That all levies, judgments, attachments, or other liens, obtained through legal proceedings against a person who is insolvent, at any time within four months prior to the filing of a petition in bankruptcy against him, shall be deemed null and void in case he is adjudged a bankrupt, and the property affected by the levy, judgment, attachment, or other lien shall be deemed wholly discharged and released from the same, and shall pass to the trustee as a part of the estate of the bankrupt, unless the court shall, on due notice, order that the right under such levy, judgment, attachment, or other lien shall be preserved for the benefit of the estate; and thereupon the same may pass to and shall be preserved by the trustee for the benefit of the estate as aforesaid. And the court may order such conveyance as shall be necessary to carry the purposes of this section into effect: Provided, That nothing herein contained shall have the power to destroy or impair the title obtained by such levy, judgment, attachment, or other lien, of a bona fide purchaser for value, who shall have acquired the same without notice or reasonable cause for inquiry.

Sec. 68. Set-Offs and Counter Claims.—a. In all cases of mutual debts or mutual credits between the estate of a bankrupt and a creditor the account shall be stated and one debt shall be set off against the other and the balance only shall be allowed or paid.

b. A set-off or counter claim shall not be allowed in favor of any debtor of the bankrupt which (1) is not provable against the estate; or (2) was purchased by or transferred to him after the filing of the petition, or within four months before such filing, with a view to such use and with knowledge or notice that such bankrupt was insolvent, or had committed an act of bankruptcy.

Sec. 69. Possession of Property.—a. A judge may, upon satisfactory proof, by affidavit, that a bankrupt against whom an involuntary petition has been filed and is pending has committed an act of bankruptcy, or has neglected or is neglecting, or is about to so neglect his property that it has thereby deteriorated or is thereby deteriorating or is about thereby to deteriorate in value, issue a warrant to the marshal, seize and hold it subject to further orders. Before such warrant is issued the petitioner applying therefor shall enter in a bond in such an amount as the judge shall fix, with such sureties as he shall approve, conditioned to indemnify such bankrupt for such damages as he shall sustain in the event such seizure shall prove to have been wrongfully obtained. Such property shall be released, if such bankrupt shall give bond in a sum which shall be fixed by the judge, with such sureties as he shall approve, conditioned to turn over such property or pay the value thereof in money to the trustee, in the event he is adjudged a bankrupt pursuant to such petition.

Sec. 70. Title to Property.—a. The trustee of the estate of a bankrupt, upon his appointment and qualification, and his successor or successors, if he shall have one or more, upon his or their appointment and qualification, shall in turn be vested by operation of law with the title of the bankrupt, as of the date he was adjudged a bankrupt, except in so far as it is to property which is exempt, to all (1) documents relating to his property; (2) interest in patents, patent rights, copyrights and trademarks; (3) powers which he might have exercised for his own benefit, but not those which he might have exercised for some other person; (4) property transferred by him in fraud of his creditors; (5) property which prior to the filing of the petition he could by any means have transferred or which might have been levied upon and sold under judicial process against him; Provided: That when any bankrupt shall have any insurance policy which has a cash surrender value payable to himself, his estate, or personal representatives, he may, within thirty days after the cash surrender value has been ascertained and stated to the trustee by the company issuing the same, pay or secure to the trustee the sum so ascertained and stated, and continue to hold, own, and carry such policy free from the claims of the creditors participating in the distribution of his estate under the bankruptcy proceedings, otherwise the policy shall pass to the trustee as assets; and (6) rights of action arising upon contracts or from the unlawful taking or detention of, or injury to, his property.

b. All real and personal property belonging to bankrupt estates shall be appraised by three disinterested appraisers; they shall be appointed by and report to, the court. Real and personal property shall, when practicable, be sold subject to the approval of the court; it shall not be sold otherwise than subject to the approval of the court for less than seventy-five per centum of its appraised value.

c. The title to property of a bankrupt estate which has been sold, as herein provided, shall be conveyed to the purchaser by the trustee.

d. Whenever a composition shall be set aside or discharge revoked, the trustee shall, upon his appointment and qualification, be vested as herein provided with the title to all of the property of the bankrupt as of the date of the final decree setting aside the composition or revoking the discharge.

e. The trustee may avoid any transfer by the bankrupt of his property which any creditor of such bankrupt might have avoided, and may recover the property so transferred, or its value, from the person to whom it was transferred, unless he was a bona fide holder for value prior to the date of the adjudication. Such property may be recovered or its value collected from whoever may have received it, except a bona fide holder for value.

f. Upon the confirmation of a composition offered by a bankrupt, the title to his property shall thereupon revest in him.

The Time when this Act shall go into Effect.

a. This act shall go into full force and effect upon its passage: Provided, however, that no petition for voluntary bankruptcy shall be filed within one month of the passage thereof, and no petition for involuntary bankruptcy shall be filed within four months of the passage thereof.

b. Proceedings commenced under State insolvency laws before the passage of this act shall not be affected by it.

Approved July 1, 1898.

BANKING AND COMMERCIAL LAWS.

COMPILED EXPRESSLY FOR THE BANKERS' DIRECTORY.

SYNOPSIS OF THE LAWS OF ALABAMA

RELATING TO

BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES.

Prepared and Revised by Messrs. GRAHAM & STEINER, Attorneys at Law, Montgomery. (See Card in Attorneys' List.)

Accounts. In all suits on accounts an itemized statement of the account, verified by affidavit of a competent witness, is prima facie evidence of the correctness of the account, if a statement to that effect is endorsed on the summons.

Acknowledgments and proofs of conveyances may be taken by judges of the supreme and circuit courts and their clerks, chancellors, and registers in chancery, judges of probate courts, justices of the peace, and notaries. In other States they may be taken by judges and clerks of any federal court, judges of any court of record, notaries public and commissioners appointed by the governor of this State. If out of the United States, by the judge of any court of record, mayor or chief magistrate of any city, town, borough or county, notaries public, or any diplomatic or consular or commercial agent of the United States.

Actions. All suits at law are commenced by suing out a summons, which must be accompanied by a complaint, stating the cause of action. All suits on moneyed demands, except commercial paper, must be brought in the name of the party really interested, whether he have the legal title or not. Suits against non-residents may be commenced by attachment and publication. Every householder or freeholder must be sued in the county of his residence. For recovery of land the regular action of ejectment may be brought or the statutory action for the recovery of land. Personal property is recovered by an action of detinue. All actions survive to the heir or administrator according to their respective right. Non-resident plaintiffs are required to give security for costs or make deposit with clerk before commencing suit.

Administration of Estates. Letters testamentary or of administration are issued out of the probate court upon the estates of all persons dying in the State, or elsewhere, and leaving property in the State. Executors, unless exempted by will, and administrators are required to give bond and to make annual settlements. They must give notice of their appointment by publication. All claims against the estates of deceased persons must be presented within twelve months after the grant of letters or after the accrual of the claim and must be verified by affidavit. No suit can be commenced against an administrator or executor until six months after his appointment, and no judgment rendered until twelve months thereafter. The statute of limitations is suspended when a claim is duly presented. But personal representative may give written notice to a claimant that such claim is disputed, and require suit to be brought thereon within six months. Judgments against an administrator in chief may be revived against the administrator de bonis non when the administrator has died, resigned, or been removed. The court must appoint three appraisers in each county in which the decedent left property, who must make a separate inventory for property in that county. If an estate is insolvent it must be so declared by the administrator and adjudged by the probate court. Claims against such estate must be verified by affidavit, and filed within six months after a declaration of insolvency.

Affidavits. Within this State affidavits may be taken before every judge or clerk of any court, justices of the peace and notaries public, or any other person by law invested with judicial functions. Outside of the State and within the United States may be taken before any judge or clerk of any federal court, judge of any court of record in any State, notaries public and commissioners appointed by the governor.

Aliens. "Foreigners shall enjoy the same rights in respect to possession, enjoyment and inheritance of property as native-born citizens."

Arbitration. The laws of this State encourage arbitration, and courts are compelled by statute to make an order submitting cases to arbitration when moved for by the parties. The code provides a system of arbitration, and when this is followed the award of the arbitrators may be entered up as the judgment of the proper court, whether made in a pending suit or not. Every arbitration which was good at common law is good in this State and has the effect of a common-law award, but can not be entered as the judgment of the court.

Arrest. There can be no arrest on civil process except for contempt.

Assignments and Insolvency. Every general assignment made by debtor, or a conveyance by a debtor of substantially all of his property in payment of a prior debt, by which a preference or priority of payment is given to one or more creditors, shall enure to the benefit of all the creditors equally, but this section shall not apply to mortgages given to secure a debt contracted contemporaneously with the execution of the mortgage. All assignments by a debtor made with intent to hinder, delay, or defraud creditors, are void. All deeds of assignment for the benefit of creditors shall, as soon as executed, be filed and recorded in the office of the Judge of Probate of the county in which the property is situated. Every judgment confessed, attachment procured by the debtor, or other disposition of property by which a debtor conveys all, or substantially all, of his property which is subject to execution in payment or as security for a debt, shall be deemed a general assignment.

Attachment process will issue upon affidavit by the creditor or his agent of the amount due and that the debtor absconds, or resides out of the State, or secretes himself so that process can not be served upon him, or is about to remove out of the State, or has or is about to fraudulently dispose of his property, or fraudulently withholds money, chattels or effects which are liable to the satisfaction of his debts; plaintiff must give bond in double the amount claimed. Garnishment process will issue in aid of attachment in all such cases. Garnishment may be dissolved by giving bond. Code, 1896, Secs. 2183, 2184. In all cases of attachments sued out solely upon the ground that the defendant is a non-resident, the attachment may issue without giving bond, but if defendant appears and pleads, bond must be given or the attachment dismissed.

Banks. The national bank system is in force in this State uncontrolled in any way by State laws, except that the shares are subject to taxation as other personal property, but the bank is required to pay the tax.

There is no provision of law for the establishment of banks of issue in this State. Banks of discount and deposit may be established under the general incorporation laws, but must be wound up at the end of twenty years. Depositors not claiming interest are preferred creditors in case of insolvency.

Statutory provisions for banks of discount and deposit: 1. Any number of persons (not less than three stockholders) may associate themselves together to establish a bank of deposit and discount; their capital stock to be not less than $50,000, of which not less than 20 per cent, and in no case less than $25,000, must be actually paid by the subscribers for stock before the filing of the declaration of incorporation. 2. Such persons must make a declaration in writing under oath, setting forth: (a) The name of the association; (b) place of business; (c) the number of shares of capital stock, and total amount; (d) names and residences of stockholders, and number of shares held by each; (e) time when the business of the association is to commence and to end. 3. Which declaration must be recorded in the probate court of the county where the bank is established. 4. A transcript of the declaration of incorporation may also be filed in the office of the secretary of State, who issues to the incorporators a certificate of incorporation. 5. A stockholder is liable for the debts of the bank only to the extent of unpaid stock owned by him.

Any banker who discounts a bill or note at a greater rate than 8 per cent can not enforce the collection of same except as to the principal, and if any interest has been paid it must be deducted from the principal.

Bills of Lading. False bills of lading and receipts are forbidden. No warehouseman, common carrier, or wharfinger, or other person engaged in the business of storage, carriage, or keeping for shipment, or of forwarding things or property shall issue any bill of lading or document for any property, by which it shall appear that such property has been shipped on any vessel or delivered at any railroad warehouse, unless same is actually delivered; provided, railroad may, in certain cases, issue bill of lading upon delivery of cotton to compress.

Bills of Exchange. Promissory notes and bonds payable in money at a bank or private banking house, or a certain place of payment therein designated, and bills of exchange are governed by the commercial law. All other instruments payable at a bank, or other designated place of payment, are governed by the commercial law as to days of grace, protest and notice. Three days of grace allowed on commercial paper. Grace allowed on sight bills. No acceptance valid unless in writing. Damages on protest for nonacceptance or nonpayment 5 per cent. This covers all charges except interest.

Chattel Mortgages. (See Mortgages.)

Collaterals. Personal property or securities, whether negotiable or not, pledged or deposited as collateral security, may, in default of payment, be sold by the creditor at public auction, at place at which sales at public outcry are usual. Creditor must give to pledgor written notice of his intention to sell, and of time and place of sale, two days before sale, and must advertise sale for five days in newspaper published in county where it is to be made. Name of pledgor not to be published without his consent. Parties may make such other contracts as they may see fit for the sale of pledges, not in conflict with laws of the State. Pledgee can not assign or transfer pledged property to any other than pledgor or his assignee, except with original debt. Violation of this provision operates a discharge of the pledge, and reinstatement of pledgor's original ownership thereof, but does not affect debt. Pledged property may be assigned with original debt, assignee taking rights of original pledgee. Collaterals held by pawnbrokers must be entered in a book that is open to inspection, and can be sold only at public auction after five days' advertisement.

Contracts. Contracts for the conditional sale of personal property by the terms of which the vendor retains the legal title until paid for, must be in writing and recorded in sixty days, else they are void as against creditors and purchasers without notice. Contracts for the sale of land, or any interest therein (except leases for not longer than one year), or contracts not to be performed in a year, or to answer for the debt of another, or upon consideration of marriage, after marriage rite; every special promise by an executor or administrator to answer damages out of his own estate, are void unless in writing, subscribed by the party to be charged.

Conveyances. All persons of the age of twenty-one years, not laboring under some legal disability, may convey their real estate or any interest therein by instrument in writing signed by the grantor, or his agent duly authorized in writing, and attested by one witness, or if the grantor can not write, by two witnesses who are able to write, and who sign their names as witnesses. If the grantor is not able to sign his name it must be written for him and the words "his mark" written over or against it. The person writing his name must sign as a witness. A parol lease for less than one year is valid. A married woman over eighteen years of age may convey dower in her husband's lands, but not her separate estate. The husband must join in any conveyance of the wife's separate estate. Conveyances to operate as notice must be acknowledged and recorded. (See Acknowledgment.) If this is done within twelve months after their execution they may be used as evidence without further proof of execution.

Corporations. Every company, corporation, or association, not organized under the laws of Alabama, shall, before engaging in any business in this State, file in the office of the secretary of State, at the capitol in Montgomery, an instrument in writing, under the seal of such company, corporation, or association, and signed officially by the president and secretary thereof, designating at least one known place of business in this State, and an authorized agent residing thereat. If such corporation is engaged in any business of insurance, the statement must be filed in the office of the auditor. If the agent is changed, a new paper must be filed. Held not to apply to corporations selling goods by traveling agent or sample. Foreign corporations transacting business in this State without complying with above provisions, for each offense forfeit to the State $1,000, and any person acting as agent for foreign corporation that has not so complied, forfeits for each offense $500. All foreign corporations doing business in this State are required to pay license fees ranging from $25 to $250, according to capital. Foreign corporations can do no business until fees are paid, and all contracts before then are void. (Code 1896, 1321-1324.) All corporations engaged in the business of lending money must pay an annual license of $100. Corporations operating pig-iron storage yards must pay an annual license of $50. All corporations which are not specifically required to pay an annual license must pay an annual license ranging from $10 to $500, according to amount of paid-up capital stock.

Courts. Terms and Jurisdiction. The supreme court has only appellate jurisdiction and cases are tried on the record sent up. Circuit courts have unlimited common law jurisdiction and exclusive jurisdiction of libel, slander, assault and battery, and ejectment. The courts of chancery have exclusive equity jurisdiction. Regular terms of both twice a year in nearly every county. Chancery courts have full equity powers. Justices of the peace have jurisdiction of all civil causes where the amount in controversy does not exceed $100 in value, except in cases of libel, slander, assault and battery, and ejectment. Names of all parties plaintiff and individual names of copartners must be given in writs. Partnership may be sued in courts of law in firm name, without setting forth names of copartners. The writ may be served upon any one of the partners; the judgment reaches the partnership property alone. Any one partner, or his personal representative, may be sued alone on a partnership obligation. Non-residents must give security for costs when suit is commenced or within such time thereafter as the court may direct. Money may be deposited with the clerk instead of sureties.

Days of Grace. All commercial paper is entitled to grace. If the last day of grace falls on a holiday the paper is due the next day. Holidays are Sundays, Christmas day, 1st January, 22d February, 26th April, 4th July, Thanksgiving day, Good Friday, and Mardi Gras.

Depositions. In cases at law depositions may be taken of witnesses who can not be present at the trial in the following cases: When the witness is a female; when the witness is too sick to attend court; when the witness resides more than 100 miles from the place of trial or is absent from the State; when the witness is about to leave the State and not return in time for the trial; when the witness is the sole witness of the facts; when the witness is one of the officers designated in Code § 1833. Affidavit must be made of one of the above facts, and of the materiality of the witness. May be taken on interrogations or oral examination. Must in either case be by commissioner appointed by the court for that purpose. The commissioner may be any suitable person, need not be an officer.

Descent and Distribution. The real estate of persons dying intestate, in this State, descends, subject to the payment of debts and the widow's dower, as follows: First to the children of the intestate or their descendants per stirpes in equal parts. Next to the parents, if they survive, in equal parts. If only one parent survives then one-half to such parent and one-half to the brothers and sisters of the deceased or their descendants, and if there be no brothers and sisters and their descendants then the whole estate shall go to the surviving parent. If there are no children or their descendants, and no father or mother, then to the brothers and sisters of the intestate, or their descendants, in equal parts. If there are none of the above to take, then the whole to the husband or wife of the intestate, and if there be no husband or wife and none of the foregoing living then to the next of kin in equal degree in equal parts. If there are no next of kin it escheats to the State. The personal estate is distributed the same as the real estate, except that if there are no children the widow is entitled to all of the personal estate. If but one child she takes one-half. If not more than four children to a child's part, and if more than four to one-fifth. Posthumous children take as others. Illegitimate children inherit from their mother. The husband upon the death of the wife is entitled to half of her personal estate absolutely and to the use of all of her real estate for life, unless he has been divested of all control over her estate by a decree of the chancery court.

Divorce. The chancery court has exclusive jurisdiction of divorce and all matters pertaining thereto, and may be for the following causes: To either party for adultery, for voluntary abandonment for two years, for imprisonment in the penitentiary for two years, when the sentence is for seven years or longer, for commission of the crime against nature, and for becoming addicted to habitual drunkenness after marriage. May be granted to the husband when the wife was pregnant at the time of marriage without his knowledge or agency. May be granted to the wife when the husband has committed actual violence on her person attended with danger to life or health, or from his conduct there is reason to apprehend such violence. The plaintiff must have been a bona fide resident at least twelve months, and when the ground of divorce is abandonment must allege and prove that he has been a bona fide resident of the State for three years next before the filing of the bill. Pending a suit for divorce the court must make an allowance for the support of the wife out of the estate of the husband, and alimony is allowed after divorce according to the circumstances of the case. Divorce for adultery bars dower. A divorce deprives the husband of all control over the wife's separate estate.

Dower. Unless the wife has relinquished her right of dower in the manner provided by statute she is, upon the death of the husband, entitled to dower in all lands of which the husband was seized in fee during the marriage, or of which another was seized to his use or to which he had a perfect equity, having paid all the purchase money therefor. The dower interest is one-half when the husband leaves no lineal descendants, and one-third when the estate is insolvent or the husband leaves children or their descendants. If the wife has at the death of the husband a separate estate equal in value to her dower interest she shall not have dower, and if of less value is only entitled to such amount as with her estate will make the full value of the dower.

Executions. Writ of fieri facias is a lien only within the county in which it is received by the officer, on lands and personalty of defendant subject to levy and sale, from the time only that the writ is received by such officer and continues as long as writ is regularly delivered to the sheriff without the lapse of an entire term. A statement of a judgment certified by the clerk of the court may be filed in the office of the judge of probate, which makes the judgment a lien within the county in which it is filed for ten years thereafter. Execution may be issued on such judgment at any time. Executions issued by justices are liens on the property of the defendant, on which they are levied from the time of the levy. An order must be obtained from the circuit court for the sale of lands levied on under execution from a justice court. No stay of execution in circuit court except by appeal, and supersedeas bond which delays collection until affirmance by supreme court, and entails 10 per cent damages, with legal interest and costs. In justice's courts stay is granted on good security; below $20, thirty days; over $20, sixty days.

Exemptions. The homestead, not exceeding 160 acres in area, and not exceeding $2,000 in value, or, in a city, town or village, the lot with dwelling, etc., not exceeding $2,000 in value, owned and occupied by any resident. Exemption of homestead may be waived, but wife must join in the waiver and it must be acknowledged. Any person may, by stipulation in writing, waive whole or any specific part of exemption of personalty, without the consent of wife. Personal property to value of $1,000 selected by debtor, and wages to $25 per month, are also exempt. Widow's exemption includes also wearing apparel, family books and pictures, and provisions for twelve months. On the death of any married woman leaving an estate and a minor child, or children, there shall be exempt from administration of her estate in favor of such minor such property, real and personal, as is now exempt by law to the widow and minor children upon the death of the father. No property owned by partners as partnership property, or purchased with partnership funds for partnership purposes, shall be subject of homestead or other exemption as against copartners or partnership creditors. Proceeds of life insurance exempt from creditors of the assured or beneficiary.

Fraud. Obtaining money or goods on credit under false color or pretense of carrying on business, or under false representation of pecuniary condition, with intent to defraud, or bringing into the State money or goods so obtained, punished as larceny.

Garnishment may issue in any case after suit commenced upon affidavit of necessity and bond as in attachment cases.

Guaranty Companies. Guaranty companies may become surety on bonds in all proceedings in any court of this State upon the following conditions: All such companies, if incorporated under the laws of Alabama, must have a capital stock paid in of at least $100,000, which must be invested either in United States bonds, or bonds of the State of Alabama, or other first-class bonds or stocks, which must be worth more than par, and must deposit with the State treasurer $25,000 worth of such securities. The debts of such company must not exceed its available assets and a premium reserve equal to 50 per cent of the annual premiums on all outstanding risks, and such companies must furnish semi-annual statements of their financial condition, and pay a license of $100 per annum. If such company is not organized under the laws of Alabama, it must have a paid-up capital of $250,000, which must be invested as above stated, or in the bonds of the State under whose laws it is organized, and must deposit with the State treasurer $50,000 of such securities; and the same rule as to debts and license above stated applies to them, and the auditor has power to revoke the license of such company when it is shown to be in an insolvent condition, or has violated any of the provisions of this Act; and when so revoked all bonds executed by such company shall be cancelled, unless additional security be given. (Code 3093, 3094.)

Holidays. (See Days of Grace.)

Husband and Wife. (See Married Women.)

Insolvency. There are no insolvent laws in this State. Estates of dead men may be declared insolvent and the creditors paid pro rata. Claims against such estates must be filed within six months after adjudication of insolvency, verified by affidavit.

Insurance Companies. By an act of the legislature, insurance companies and agents are prevented from entering into or forming any combination or association for the purpose of fixing any schedule or tariff of insurance rates, and in all actions on insurance policies, if it is shown that the defendant company or its agent belonged to any tariff association or other organization of like character, the plaintiff shall be entitled to recover, in addition to his actual damage, 25 per cent of such actual damage as a penalty.

Interest. Legal rate is 8 per cent, and same is allowed on all open accounts, judgments, and decrees. Usury forfeits all interest. Usurious interest paid may be recovered back within twelve months after completed payment. (Code 2630.)

Judgments of courts of record are proved by a certified transcript. Judgment not a lien. Execution received by sheriff during life of defendant may be levied after his decease, or alias execution issued and levied if there has not been lapse of entire term so as to destroy lien originally created. Above applies to executions from circuit and chancery courts. An execution issued by a justice of the peace is a lien only from time of its levy. Mechanics' Lien. Mechanics and material men have a lien on houses built and the ground on which they stand upon complying with the law. (Code 2723-2752.)

Lien for Rent. Landlords of storehouses, dwelling houses and other buildings, have a lien for rent on such goods, furniture and fixtures therein as may belong to the tenant, superior to all other liens, except for taxes.

Limitations. Notes and stated accounts, six years; open accounts, three years; sealed instruments, real actions, and motions against officers, ten years; judgments, twenty years; actions on the case, one year. Bar created by statute can only be removed by a partial payment, made on the contract before the bar is complete, or by an unconditional promise in writing. Those under legal disability have three years after its removal in which to begin suit; but no action can be commenced after twenty years. Statutes of limitation apply to married women's separate estates. Actions founded on a promise in writing not under seal, or for trespass to person or property, must be brought within six years. Statutes of limitation are made applicable to equitable as well as legal demands, but do not run against direct trusts. Any agreement or stipulation to shorten the period prescribed by law for the bringing of any action is void.

Married Women. The wife has full legal capacity to contract as if she were sole, except that she can not alienate or encumber her real estate without the husband joining in the conveyance unless the husband be insane or has abandoned her, or is a non-resident, or has been a convict in the penitentiary for two years under a sentence for seven years, in which cases the wife may convey it as if she were sole.

Husband and wife may contract with each other, but the wife can not be surety for the husband. All of the property and the earnings of the wife, are her separate estate and are not liable for the debts of the husband. The wife must sue and be sued alone for all matters relating to her separate estate or contracts, and for all torts to her person or property. The chancery court has power to relieve of any or all disabilities of coverture.

Mortgages are executed and acknowledged in the same manner as deeds. May be foreclosed by bill in equity, or, if there be a provision to that effect, by sale under power, upon such default as authorizes a sale. All mortgages are void against creditors or purchasers without notice, unless recorded. Homestead realty can not be mortgaged or otherwise allened without signature and assent of wife, evidenced by acknowledgment, upon private examination separate and apart from the husband, and certified. All mortgages must be in writing, signed by the mortgagor. Payment of mortgage debt, made before or after maturity of debt, revests in the mortgagor, or his assigns, the title to the real or personal property mortgaged, if made in the lifetime of the mortgagor; if made after his death, such payment revests title to personal property in the personal representative, and title to realty in the heirs, devisees or legatees of the mortgagor. Chattel mortgages must be in writing. When the mortgagor is sued by the mortgagee for possession of the mortgaged property he may defend by showing payment of the debt, or part payment and a tender of the balance, or may pay it after judgment.

Notes and Bills of Exchange. Promissory notes and bonds payable in money at a bank or private banking house, or a certain place of payment therein designated, and bills of exchange, are governed by commercial law and are negotiable instruments. All other instruments payable in money at a bank or private banking house, or a certain place of payment therein designated, are governed by the commercial law as to days of grace, protest and notice. All bonds, contracts, and writings, for payment of money or any other thing, or the performance of any act or duty, are assignable by indorsement so as to authorize an action thereon by each successive indorsee. Acceptances of bills of exchange must be in writing, but an unconditional written promise to accept a bill before it is drawn is an actual acceptance, and any person upon whom a bill is drawn and to whom the same is delivered for acceptance, who refuses to return it within twenty-four hours after such delivery, or within such other period as the holder may allow to return the bill accepted or non-accepted, is deemed to have accepted it.

Powers of Attorney. Powers of attorney or other instruments conferring authority to convey property may be proved or acknowledged in the same manner and must be received as evidence to the same extent as conveyances (see Conveyances), and must be executed as conveyances. A power of attorney to relinquish dower must be executed by husband and wife jointly. Her signature must be attested by two witnesses, who are able to write or acknowledge as required for conveyances of land.

Probate Law. A court of probate, consisting of one judge is established for each county in the State. This court has jurisdiction of the probate of wills, of granting letters testamentary and of administration, and the repeal or revocation of the same, of the settlements of account of executors and administrators, of the sale and disposition of the real and personal property belonging to, and the distribution of intestates, estates. Also of the appointment, removal and settlements of guardians for minors and persons of unsound mind, the binding out of apprentices, the allotment of dower, and the partition of land belonging to joint owners. A court of probate must be held at the court house of each county on the second Monday of each month, and the judge may hold special or adjourned terms whenever necessary, but such court must at all times be considered open except on Sundays.

Protest. Indorsers of bills of exchange or notes payable in money at a bank or private banking house are charged by the general rules of commercial law. To charge the indorser of paper, not commercial, suit must be brought against the maker to first court. Damages on bills of exchange, whether foreign or inland, protested for non-acceptance or non-payment, are 5 per cent on the sum drawn for. But the holder may recover costs of protest incurred previous to and at the time of giving notice of non-payment and legal interest upon the aggregate amount of the principal sum specified in such bill and of the damages thereon.

Replevin. The common law action of replevin is not used in this State, but a similar action called detinue is.

Suits. Every action, except upon bills of exchange, negotiable instruments, etc., as above, founded on express or implied contract for the payment of money, must be brought in the name of the person really interested, whether he have the legal title or not. (See Courts.) Security for costs of suit is required of non-residents of the State, and may be given by acknowledgment signed by security, indorsed on the complaint or writ, approved by the officer issuing the same; or by deposit of money with clerk of court in which suit is brought, the amount to be determined by the court or officer taking the security, and same to be increased from time to time as necessary to cover costs. Upon failure to give such security required by the court, upon motion therefor, suit dismissed at cost of the attorney directing process to be issued.

Taxes become delinquent on the 31st of December of the year for which they were levied, and the lands may be sold by certain proceedings in the probate court commenced in the month of March following. The purchaser of lands sold for delinquent taxes receives from the collector a certificate of purchase containing a description of the property, the date and amount of assessement, taxes, costs, fees, etc., which after the expiration of two years from the date of the sale is exchangeable for a deed from the probate judge—which is prima facie evidence of title. Lands sold for taxes may be redeemed within two years by the owner, mortgagee or any person having a beneficial interest therein, by depositing with the probate judge of the county in which the lands were sold, the amount of purchase money, with interest at 15 per cent per annum, and all taxes which have accrued subsequent to the sale, and interest thereon at 8 per cent per annum; also all costs and charges. Whenever land is sold for State or county taxes, and from any cause such sale is invalid to pass title to purchaser, sale operates as transfer to purchaser of lien of State or county, or the property for payment of taxes for which sold. All cotton factories or cotton mills which shall be constructed in this State within five years shall be exempt from taxation for a period of ten years, provided such mills represent an investment of $50,000.

Wills. All wills of real or personal property must be in writing signed by the testator in presence of two witnesses. Unwritten will of personal property valid only when the property does not exceed $500 in value, and must be made during last sickness at his home. Persons present must be called on to witness that it is testator's will and must be reduced to writing by one of the witnesses within six days. Minor over eighteen may make a will of personal property. No will effective until probated. May be contested in probate or chancery court.

Every claim when presented to the administrator for allowance must be supported by the affidavit of the claimant, or some one in his behalf, that the amount is justly due, that no payments have been made thereon which are not credited, and that there are no offsets to the same to the knowledge of affiant. The officer shall certify that the answers of the witness were signed and sworn to before him, and shall seal them up in an envelope, together with the commission and interrogatories and cross-interrogatories, if any, and shall write his name across the seal and indorse on the envelope the names of the parties to the suit, and of the witnesses, and shall direct the package to the clerk of the court or justice of the peace, as the case may be. Depositions may be returned to the court either by mail or by hand. If sent by mail, the postmaster or his deputy shall indorse thereon that he received them from the hands of the officer before whom they were taken.

Descent and Distribution. (See SavingsBanks). The law of community property prevails. The separate estate of an intestate, when he or she shall die leaving surviving no husband or wife, shall descend as follows: 1. To his or her children and their descendants. 2. If there be no children nor their descendants, then to his or her father and mother in equal portions. But if only the father or mother survive the intestate, then his estate shall be divided into two equal portions, one of which shall pass to such survivor and the other half shall pass to the brothers and sisters of the intestate, and to their descendants. But if there be none such, then the whole estate shall go to the surviving father or mother. 3 If there be neither surviving father nor mother, then the whole of the estate goes to the brothers and sisters and their descendants. 4. If there be none of the foregoing kindred, then a moiety of the estate goes to the paternal and a moiety to the maternal kindred. When an intestate leaves surviving a wife or husband the estate descends as follows: 1. If the intestate has a child or children or their descendants the surviving wife or husband takes one-third absolutely of the personal property and a life estate in one-third of the real estate, with remainder to their children or their descendants. The residue of the personal property and real estate goes to the children or their descendants. 2. If the intestate leaves no children, the surviving spouse takes all the personal property and one-half of the real estate in fee. The other half of the real estate goes according to the rules of descent first above set out. If, however, the intestate leave surviving neither father nor mother, then the whole estate goes to the surviving spouse. Children of the intestate's brothers, sisters, uncles and aunts, etc., take per capita. All property belonging to the community estate of the husband and wife shall go to the survivor, if the deceased spouse have no child or children; if the deceased have a child or children, his or her surviving spouse will take one half, and the other half goes to such child or children. The community property always passes charged with the debts against it. Intermarriage between man and woman to whom a child or children had before been born, and recognition by the father of such child or children legitimizes the child or children. Bastards inherit from the mother and transmit estates as if legitimate. The statute provides for the adoption of heirs. (See Dower, Husband and Wife, Homestead.)

Divorce. Decree may be granted dissolving marriage when the cause alleged shall be natural or incurable impotency of the body at the time of entering into the marriage contract, or any other impediment that renders such contract void. Divorce by the separation from the bonds of matrimony may be decreed: 1. When the husband or wife is guilty of excesses, cruel treatment, or outrages toward the other. 2. In favor of the husband, when the wife shall have been taken in adultery or where she shall have voluntarily left his bed and board for the space of six months, with the intention of abandoning him. 3. In favor of the wife for abandonment by the husband for six months, habitual intemperance, failure to provide the necessities of life by reason of idleness, profligacy or dissipation, or for adultery. 4. In favor of either when the other shall have been convicted of a felony and imprisoned in a penitentiary, provided six months have first elapsed after conviction, and provided further that the conviction was not had on the testimony of the party applying. Every sale made by a vendor of goods or chattels in his possession or under his control, unless accompanied by immediate delivery and be followed by actual and continued charge of possession, shall be prima facie evidence of fraud as against creditors or subsequent purchasers in good faith. No contract for loan or lease of goods orchattels for period of three months, shall be valid as against persons not parties, or those having notice, unless in writing and filed as chattel mortgages are required to be. Upon judgment, when affiant makes affidavit that the defendant has not, within his knowledge, property in his possession within this Territory sufficient to satisfy said judgment. Proceedings under subdivision 2 requires a bond in double the amount of the debt, conditioned that plaintiff will prosecute the suit to effect, and pay all damages and costs that may be adjudged against him for wrongfully suing out the garnishment. SYNOPSIS OF THE LAWS OF ARKANSAS

BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES.

Prepared and Revised by Messrs. Rose, Hemingway & Rose, Attorneys at Law, Little Rock. (See Card in Attorneys' List.)

Accounts verified by the plaintiff as just and correct prove themselves in suits thereon unless denied under oath.

Acknowledgments may be taken within the State before the supreme or circuit court, or a judge thereof, or clerk of any court of record, or a justice of the peace or notary public; elsewhere in the United States before any court having a seal, or clerk of such court, notary public, mayor having a seal, or commissioner of Arkansas; without the United States before any court having a seal, mayor of a city having a seal, United States consul, or any officer authorized by the laws of such country to probate conveyances of real estate, provided he has a seal.

Actions. Suits are prosecuted under a reformed code of civil procedure differing from the New York code chiefly in maintaining the distinction between law and equity.

Administration of Estates. Executors and administrators must be residents of the State and must give bond in double the value of the property. Foreign executors and administrators can maintain actions in our courts. Claims are paid in the following order: First, funeral expenses; second, expenses of last illness; third, judgments which are liens on the lands of the deceased; fourth, demands presented within one year; fifth, demands presented within two years. All demands not presented in two years are barred. Demands must be authenticated by an affidavit to the effect that nothing has been paid or delivered toward their satisfaction except what is credited thereon, and that the sum demanded, naming it, is justly due. Demands must first be presented to the executor or administrator, and if disallowed by him may be presented to the probate court, or sued upon in any court of competent jurisdiction.

Affidavits in this State are made before a judge, justice of the peace, notary public, or clerk of the court; without the State before a judge, mayor, notary public, justice of the peace or commissioner for this State.

Aliens may hold and transmit property in all respects as residents.

Appeals may be taken from a justice of the peace to the circuit court in thirty days; from the probate court to the circuit court in one year; from the county court to the circuit court in six months; and from the circuit or chancery courts to the supreme court in one year, and may be prosecuted with or without supersedeas, which is granted on filing bond.

Arbitration. Controversies may be submitted to arbitration, and the award of the arbitrators is filed in court, and is subject to review on equitable principles only, and not for matters of form. When not set aside they are entered of record and become the judgment or decree of the court.

Arrest. Defendants may be arrested for debt only when the plaintiff files an affidavit charging that the debt was fraudulently contracted; that it is just, giving its amount, and that he believes that the defendant is about to depart from the State, and, with intent to defraud his creditors, has concealed or removed from the State his property or so much thereof that the process of the court after judgment can not be executed; or that the defendant has money or securities in the possession of himself or of others for his use, and is about to depart from the State not leaving sufficient property therein to satisfy the plaintiff's claim. Bond must be given conditioned to pay the defendant all damages that he may sustain if wrongfully arrested.

Assignments for the Benefit of Creditors may be general or partial, with or without preferences, and where all the debtor's property is conveyed, may exact releases as a condition of preference. The assignee, must file an inventory of the property assigned and give a bond conditioned that he will execute the trust confided to him, sell the property to the best advantage and pay the proceeds to the creditors mentioned in the assignment according to its terms, and faithfully perform his duties according to law. He must sell within 120 days all property except the choses in action, which he is required to collect, the sale to be at public auction after thirty days' notice. Assignments are vitiated by the fraud of the assignor alone, or by any provision varying from the requirements of the statute. Attacks upon them are made by proceedings in equity, and, if they are set aside, the proceeds are distributed equally among all the creditors. Assignees close up their accounts under the direction of the chancery courts. Corporations can not prefer creditors.

Attachments may be sued out where the defendant is a foreign corporation or non resident, or has been absent from the State four months, or has left the State with intent to defraud his creditors, or has left the county of his residence to avoid the service of summons, or conceals himself so that summons can not be served on him, or is about to remove or has removed a material part of his property out of the State, not leaving enough to satisfy his creditors, or has sold, conveyed or otherwise disposed of his property, or suffered it to be sold with the fraudulent intent to cheat, hinder or delay his creditors, or is about so to do. They are obtained by filing an affadavit stating the nature of the plaintiff's claim, that it is just, its amount and the existence of the ground, and by giving bond conditioned to pay all damages the defendant may sustain if the attachment is wrongfully sued out. The defendant is allowed to traverse the attachment, and the affidavit and traverse then stand as pleadings upon which the issue is tried. If the attachment is dissolved, the defendant may have an assessment of damages upon the bond in the same suit. Persons claiming the attached property may interplead in the same action. Attachments may be sued out before the debt is due where the defendant has sold, conveyed, or otherwise disposed of his property, or permitted it to be sold with the fraudulent intent to cheat, hinder or delay his creditors, or is about so to do, or is about to remove his property, or a material part thereof, out of the State with the intent of cheating, hindering or delaying his creditors.

Banks. Banking may be carried on by individuals or by corporations organized under the general incorporation law of the State, or by national banks. The State laws prescribe no special regulations for banking.

Bills of Exchange and Promissory Notes. No person can be charged as an acceptor of any bill of exchange unless his acceptance shall be in writing. If the acceptance is written on another paper than the bill, it shall not bind the acceptor except in favor of the person to whom such acceptance shall have been shown, and who, on the faith thereof, shall have received the bill for a valuable consideration. Every holder of a bill presenting it for acceptance may require an acceptance on the bill; otherwise the bill can be protested for non-acceptance. Notwithstanding the above provisions any one promising to accept a bill is liable to any person to whom a promise to accept it may have been made; and who, on the faith of the promise, has drawn and negotiated the bill. Any person on whom a bill is drawn, and to whom the same may be delivered for acceptance, who shall destroy it or refuse within twenty-four hours or such time as the holder may allow to return the bill accepted or not accepted to the holder, shall be deemed to have accepted the same. The following are the holidays: Sunday, Christmas, Fourth day of July, Washington's Birthday, and Thanksgiving day. When the bills become due on any of these days, they are payable the next day preceding. But the holders need not give the notice of dishonor until the next day after such holiday. The following damages are allowed where a bill is protested for non-acceptance or non-payment: If the bill is drawn on any place in this State, two per cent; if payable in the States of Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee, Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, or Missouri, or any point on the Ohio River, 4 per cent; if drawn on any other place in the United States, 5 per cent; if beyond the limits of the United States, 10 per cent. If the bill be drawn by any person at any place within this State, at the rate of 2 per cent; if drawn by any person at any place without this State, but within the limits of the United States, 6 per cent; if drawn by any person without the limits of the United States, 10 per cent. The holder of any bill protested for non-payment or non-acceptance is entitled to costs of protest and interest at the rate of 10 per cent per annum on the amount of the bill from date of protest. The term Bill of Exchange includes all drafts or orders drawn by one person on another for the payment of a sum of money specified therein. Bills and notes given for patented machines, implements, substance, or instruments of any kind, given to any citizen of this State, are not commercial paper, unless executed on a printed form, and showing for what consideration they were executed. This applies to patent rights and rights to use any patented thing of any kind. But this provision does not apply to merchants and dealers who sell patented things in the usual course of business. All blank assignments are taken to have been made on such day as shall be most to the advantage of the defendant. In other respects the general rules of commercial law apply.

Bills of Lading and Warehouse Receipts are not allowed to be issued until the property is actually received, and are negotiable by written endorsement as bills and notes, unless the words "not negotiable" are plainly written or stamped on their face.

Chattel Mortgages may be acknowledged and filed as other mortgages, or they may be endorsed "This instrument is to be filed but not recorded," signed by the mortgagee, and may then be filed in the recorder's office with the same effect as though recorded. Mortgages of personal property reserving in the mortgagor the power of disposition are fraudulent. (See Mortgages.)

Collaterals are governed by the law merchant.

Contracts touching commercial matters are governed by the law merchant.

Conveyances may be either witnessed by two witnesses or acknowledged. (See Acknowledgments.) If witnessed they are proved by the oath of a witness, and are then entitled to record as though acknowledged. Dower can be relinquished only by the wife joining the husband. The wife may convey property acquired since October 30, 1874, by deed as a single person without her husband joining her, or by joining with him in the form above. The wife may convey by power of attorney and make executory contracts of sale. Deeds which have been recorded and are properly acknowledged prove themselves. Any substantial departure from the form of acknowledgments prescribed by the statute, such as the omission of the words "consideration" or "purposes," makes the acknowledgment and record void; but statutes have been passed from time to time curing defective acknowledgments previously made.

Corporations are organized only under general incorporation laws. Business corporations must consist of not less than three persons who shall elect a board of directors. The president and secretary are to be elected by the board and the president must be a member of it. The secretary and treasurer must reside and keep the books of the company within the State. The articles of association must be signed by the president and a majority of the directors, and must be accompanied by a certificate signed in a like manner and sworn to by the president and a majority of the directors, setting forth the purpose of the corporation, the amount of its capital stock, the amount actually paid in, the names of its stockholders and the number of shares held by each respectively, and the articles and certificate must be filed in the office of the secretary of State, and a duplicate with the clerk of the county in which the corporation is to transact business. The stock can be transferred only upon the company's books, and a record of the transfer has to be deposited with the county clerk in order to be valid as against creditors of the transferor. The corporation has a lien on its stock for debts due from the stockholders. The president and secretary are required to file with the county clerk an annual statement of its financial condition, and in case of a failure to do so become liable for its debts. If the directors declare a dividend when the corporation is insolvent they become liable for all the corporate debts. Any corporation which is insolvent or has ceased to do business may be wound up on the suit of any creditor or stockholder by a decree of the chancery court. Preferences by insolvent corporations are forbidden. Shares of stock are in denominations of $25 or $100. Foreign corporations before doing business in the State must file with the Secretary of State a certified copy of their articles and a certificate appointing an agent for service and naming a place of business within its limits.

Courts. The supreme court is held at Little Rock and has jurisdiction of appeals from the circuit and chancery courts. In some counties separate courts of chancery have been established, but in the greater number the circuit courts exercise common law and chancery jurisdiction. The estates of deceased persons are entrusted exclusively to the probate courts, with right of appeal to the circuit and thence to the supreme court. Claims against counties are heard by the county court, as also matters touching paupers and the like. The justices' courts have jurisdiction of matters of contract not exceeding $300, and matters of tort not exceeding $100. Two terms of the circuit and chancery court and four of the county and probate courts are held in each county per year.

Days of Grace are controlled by the law merchant.

Depositions may be taken in the State before any judge or clerk of a court of record, justice of the peace, mayor, or notary public; out of the State before a commissioner for this State, judge, justice of the peace, mayor, notary public or person commissioned by the court or by consent of parties.

Descents and Distributions. Property descends to children and their descendants in equal parts; if no children, then to father, then to mother, then to brothers and sisters and their descendants in equal parts, and in default of such to the nearest lineal ancestor or his descendants in equal parts per stirpes. In default of heirs the whole property goes to husband or wife, and in their default to the State. If the estate is ancestral it goes to the blood of the ancestor from whom it was derived. Relations of the half blood inherit equally. Heirs take as tenants in common.

Divorces are granted for, first, impotency; second, desertion for one year without cause; third, another wife or husband living at the time of the marriage; fourth, conviction of felony or other infamous crime; fifth, habitual drunkenness for one year; cruel and barbarous treatment, or such indignities as render the plaintiff's condition intolerable; sixth, adultery. Proceedings must be had in the county where the plaintiff resides and the plaintiff must have resided in the State one year before the commencement of the action, and must show that the cause of divorce occurred in this State or was a ground for divorce in the State where it occurred, unless plaintiff was then a resident of this State, and that the cause of divorce occurred within five years before the beginning of the suit. Claims for alimony may be asserted either in the suit for divorce or by a separate action. Upon a divorce each party is required to surrender to the other all property acquired from the other, and if the wife procures the divorce she takes one-third of the husband's real and personal property.

Dower. Where there are children the wife takes one-third of the husband's personal estate absolutely and one-third of the real estate of which he was seized at any time during the marriage, for life. Where there are no children she takes in a new acquisition one-half of the real and personal estate absolutely as against heirs, or one-third absolutely as against creditors. If it is an ancestral estate she takes one-half for life against heirs and one-third for life against creditors.

Executions from the circuit court are returnable in sixty days; those from justices' courts within thirty. They may be stayed for six months by giving bond. They are a lien on the property of the defendant in the county from the time they come to the officer's hands. The officer before levying on personal property, the title to which is doubtful, may require the plaintiff to give him an indemnifying bond, and then suit must be brought by the claimant upon the bond. The defendant and other judgment creditors have one year in which to redeem from the sale of real estate. In case the writ is returned nulla bona the plaintiff may proceed by bill of discovery against the defendant and examine him on oath, and enforce a surrender of concealed property by imprisonment.

Exemptions. Unmarried persons are entitled to $200 and married persons and heads of families to $500 in selected articles of personal property as exempt against debts by contract. Persons who are married or heads of families are entitled to a homestead as against all debts, except the purchase-money, specific liens, laborers' and mechanics' liens, taxes and claims for trust funds converted. The homestead in the country is not to exceed 160 acres, and in town not to exceed one acre, nor to be worth more than $2,500, but the country homestead is not to be reduced to less than 80 acres nor the town homestead to less than one-fourth of an acre, regardless of value. The homestead goes to the widow and minor children, after the husband's death. The homestead can only be conveyed by deed in which the wife joins and which is acknowledged by her, and if the husband neglects to claim the homestead the wife may do so.

Fraud. The English statute of fraudulent conveyances has been re-enacted in this State.

Garnishments may be sued out pending suit upon giving bond in double the amount garnished, or after judgment without bond.

Holidays. (See Bills of Exchange and Promissory Notes.)

Husband and Wife. (See Married Women.)

Insolvency. Any insolvent debtor may apply to the chancery court for the appointment of a receiver, who may have all attachments dissolved, take possession of all the debtor's assets, and pay the proceeds, first, to laborers and employees whose claims may have accrued within three months; second, to all creditors who will execute a release; and third, to the creditors generally.

Interest. The legal rate of interest is 6 per cent, but parties may contract in writing for not exceeding 10 per cent. Interest exacted in excess of 10 per cent forfeits the debt. In computing the interest commissions paid to the agent of the lender are counted as interest. Where usury is charged the borrower may go into equity and have the debt and securities cancelled without tendering the amount lawfully due. Judgments bear the same rate of interest as the obligation sued on. Judgments against counties bear no interest.

Judgments (see Interest) are liens upon the real estate of the debtor in the county where rendered for three years. The lien may be renewed and continued for three years by scire facias. Judgments of the United States and other courts can be made liens on lands in counties other than that where they are rendered by filing a certified copy in the office of the circuit clerk.

Limitations. Suits for the possession of real estate must be brought within seven years, saving to minors, married women, and lunatics three years after their disabilities are removed. Actions for recovery of lands sold at judicial sales must be brought within five years, saving to minors and lunatics three years after removal of disabilities. Actions for the recovery of lands held under tax title must be brought in two years. Actions for forcible entry and detainer, on contracts not in writing, for trespass and for libel, within three years. Actions for criminal conversation, assault and battery, false imprisonment, and slander, within one year. Actions on written instruments, within five years; on judgments, within ten years; on bonds of executors and administrators, within eight years. In all cases, except actions for the recovery of lands, minors and lunatics have, after removal of their disability, the statutory period in which to sue. Verbal promises or acknowledgments do not take a claim out of the statute. One year is allowed after dismissal of a suit in which to begin a new action. No person can avail himself of a disability which did not exist at the time the right of action accrued. No endorsement of payment made by the payee or on his behalf is sufficient proof to take the case out of the statute.

Married Women. The property, real and personal, of married women remains their separate estate as long as they choose, and may be devised or conveyed without the husband's assent, and is not subject to his debts. If she dies without making any disposition of her real estate, he is entitled to curtesy. She may carry on any business or perform any services on her own account, and her earnings are hers, and she may sue alone in respect of her separate property. She can bind herself by contract only in reference to her separate estate or business. She can not enter into partnership with her husband. If she does not file a schedule of her personal property, the burden of proof is on her to show that it is hers.

Mortgages are not liens as against any one, though such person has actual notice of their existence, until they are acknowledged in the form prescribed and filed for record. Mortgages of real estate are recorded in the county where the land lies, and mortgages of personal property in the county of the mortgagor's residence. If the mortgagor of personalty is a non-resident the mortgage is recorded in the county where the property is situate. Sales under mortgages and deeds of trust can be made only after appraisement, and the property must bring two-thirds of the appraised value. In case it is offered and fails to bring the required amount real estate may be offered again after one year and personal property after sixty days, and is then sold for what it will bring. The mortgagor of real estate has one year from the date of sale in which to redeem.

Notes and Bills of Exchange. (See Bills of Exchange and Promissory Notes.)

Powers of Attorney. Lands may be conveyed by power of attorney, which is acknowledged as deeds and recorded in the county where the lands lie.

Probate Law. (See Administration of Estates.)

Protests. (See Bills of Exchange and Promissory Notes.)

Replevin. The plaintiff in replevin may file an affidavit describing the property, stating its value and the amount of damages he expects to recover, his title, that the property is wrongfully detained by the defendant, that it has not been taken for a tax or under process against plaintiff, and that his cause of action has accrued within three years, and upon giving bond in double its value, the property shall be taken from the defendant and given to the plaintiff pending the suit, unless the defendant within two days after it is taken gives a cross-bond.

Taxes are a lien between vendor and purchaser from the first Monday in December. They are payable between the first Monday in January and the 10th of April. In case of non-payment a penalty of 25 per cent is added. Lands may be redeemed within two years by paying taxes, penalty, and costs, with 10 per cent interest. Minors, lunatics, and persons in confinement may redeem within two years after their disability is removed.

Wills. A will must be subscribed by the testator or by some person for him at his request in the presence of two attesting witnesses, or he must acknowledge it to be his will to each of them. He must declare at the time of his subscription or acknowledgment to the witnesses that the instrument is his will and testament. The witnesses must sign their names at the end of the will as witnesses at the request of the testator. If, however, the entire will is in the hand-writing of the testator, it need not be attested, but may be proved by three witnesses familiar with the hand-writing. Such will, however, can not be pleaded in bar of an attested will. Wills are revoked by marriage and birth of issue, unless provision for such issue is made by settlement, or is provided for in the will. The will of an unmarried woman is revoked by her marriage. After-born children, not mentioned in the will, take their regular distributive share. If the testator fails to mention in his will any child, or its legal representatives, living at the time of executing the will, he shall, as to such child, or its representatives, be deemed to have died intestate, and such child, or its representatives, is entitled to its regular share.

SYNOPSIS OF THE LAWS OF CALIFORNIA

RELATING TO

BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES.

Prepared and Revised by Messrs. DORN & DORN, Attorneys and Counselors at Law, San Francisco. (See Card in Attorneys' List.)

Accounts. An account is assignable, and the assignee may maintain an action thereon, although the account is assigned merely for collection. No action or proceeding thereon abates by the transfer of any interest therein, but may be continued in the name of the original party, or the court may allow the person to whom the transfer is made to be substituted. Actions upon an account are barred within two years, and each item of the account becomes outlawed two years after its respective date. Where, however, the action is brought to recover a balance due upon a mutual account, the cause of action is deemed to have accrued from the last item proved in the account on either side. An account consisting of debits on the one hand, and payments on the other, is not such a mutual account. (See Actions.)

Acknowledgments. Before an instrument can be recorded, its execution must be acknowledged by the person executing it, or if executed by a corporation, by its president or secretary, or proved by a subscribing witness. The proof or acknowledgment of an instrument may be made in this State within the city, county or district for which the officer was elected or appointed, before either: (1) A judge or clerk of a court of record; or (2) a county recorder; or (3) a court commissioner; or (4) a notary public; or (5) a justice of the peace. If taken without this State, but within the United States, and within the jurisdiction of the officer, before either: (1) A justice, judge, or clerk of any court of record of the United States; or (2) a justice, judge, or clerk of any court of record of any State; or (3) a commissioner appointed by the governor of this State for that purpose; or (4) a notary public; or (5) any other officer of the State where the acknowledgment is made, authorized by its laws to take such proof or acknowledgment. Acknowledgments may be taken without the United States, before either: (1) A minister, commissioner, or charge d'affaires of the United States, resident and accredited in the country where the proof or acknowledgment is made; or (2) a consul, vice-consul, or consular agent of the United States, resident in the country where the proof or acknowledgment is made; or (3) a judge of a court of record of the country where the proof or acknowledgment is made; or (4) commissioners appointed for such purposes by the governor of the State, pursuant to special statutes; or (5) a notary public. Officers taking and certifying acknowledgments, or proof of instruments for record, must authenticate their certificates by affixing thereto their signatures, followed by the name of their office, also their seals of office, if, by the laws of the State or country where the acknowledgment or proof is taken, or by authority of which they are acting, they are required to have official seals. If acknowledged before a justice of the peace, to be used in any other county than the one in which the justice resides, it must be accompanied by a certificate of the clerk of the county showing that at that time the justice was authorized to take the same, and that the clerk is acquainted with his handwriting, and that the signature is genuine. An officer taking proof of the execution of any instrument must, in his certificate endorsed thereon, or attached thereto, set forth all the matters required by law, to be done or known by him, or proved before him on the proceeding, together with the names of all the witnesses examined before him, their places of residence respectively, and the substance of their testimony.

Actions. (See Attachment and Arrest.) All civil actions, except cases of which the supreme court has original jurisdiction, are commenced by filing a complaint, upon which a summons must, within one year, be issued. A copy of the summons and complaint must be served upon each defendant. If the defendant is served in the county where the action is brought, he has ten days within which to plead to the complaint; if served out of the county and within the State, he has thirty days. In all actions in rem, and in all actions where the defendant is a foreign corporation, having no managing or business agent, cashier, or secretary within the State, or in actions which relate to, or the subject of which is real or personal property in this State, in which a person defendant has or claims a lien or interest, actual or contingent, or in which the relief demanded consists wholly or in part in excluding such person from any interest therein, the defendants may be served by publication of the summons, in case they reside out of the State or can not be found therein. The summons must be published at least once a week for two months in a newspaper of the county before the service is complete. An action must be dismissed unless the summons has been served and return made thereon within three years after the commencement of the action.

Administration of Estates. All the property, real and personal, of a decedent dying intestate, passes to the heirs of the intestate subject to the control of the probate court and to the possession of any administrator appointed by that court for the purposes of administration. Every estate and interest in real or personal property to which heirs, husband, widow, or next of kin might succeed, may be disposed of by will. Upon the admission of a will to probate, letters testamentary are granted by the superior court to the executor named in the will, or in case the person named is dead or incapable or unwilling to act, letters testamentary are issued to an administrator with the will annexed, appointed by said court. The person to whom letters testamentary are issued must execute the trust as provided for in the will, under the supervision and control of the court. Bonds are required of such person for the faithful performance of his duty, unless waived by the will. In cases of persons dying intestate, letters of administration are issued to the person entitled thereto, in the following order: 1. To surviving husband or wife, or some person named by either. 2. To the children. 3. To the father or mother. 4. To the brothers. 5. Sisters. 6. Grandchildren. 7. Next of kin entitled to share in the distribution of the estate. 8. The public administrator. 9. Creditors. 10. Any person legally competent. If any person entitled to administration is a minor or an incompetent person, letters must be granted to his or her guardian, or to any other persons entitled to letters of administration in the discretion of the court. Administrators are required to give security, and must, from time to time as directed by the court, render accounts to the court of their proceedings. Notice must be given by the administrator by publication to all the creditors to come in and prove their claims. The creditor failing to present his claim within the time limited is forever barred. The administrator must pay the debts of the decedent, and if sufficient funds do not come into his hands for that purpose, he may, under the direction of the court, sell the personal property, or if that be insufficient, then the real property for that purpose. Provision may be made for the support of the family during the pendency of the proceedings. The executor, under a will, must pay the legacies resorting to the property in like manner as for debts.

Affidavits. An affidavit may be used to verify a pleading or a paper in a special proceeding, to prove the service of a summons, notice, or other paper in an action or special proceeding; to obtain a provisional remedy, the examination of a witness or a stay of proceedings, and for certain other statutory purposes. "Affidavits may be sworn to before the same officers enumerated in the paragraph on 'Acknowledgments,' but if taken before a judge of the court of another State or in a foreign country the genuineness of the signature of the judge and the existence of the court, and the fact that such a judge is a member thereof must be certified to by the clerk of the court under the seal thereof."

Aliens eligible to become citizens of the United States, while bona-fide residents of this State shall have the same rights in respect to the acquisition, possession, enjoyment, transmission, and inheritance of all property other than real estate as native born citizens, provided that the legislature may, by statute, provide for the disposition of real estate which shall hereafter be acquired by such aliens by descent or devise.

Appeals. The right of appeal exists from any judgment or final order after judgment made by the superior court to the supreme court. Writs of injunction, review, habeas corpus, and mandate are issued by the courts of record of the State. The appeal must be taken within six months after judgment, if the appeal is taken upon the judgment roll and from the judgment; if upon a bill of exceptions, must be taken within sixty days after final judgment; if upon a statement upon motion for a new trial, within sixty days after the order granting or refusing a new trial; An appeal may be taken from the judgment of a justice's or police court to the superior court of the county within thirty days after the rendition of the judgment, and is taken by filing a notice with the judge and serving the same on the adverse party. If the appeal is upon questions of law alone, a statement of the case must be filed within ten days and thereafter settled. If the appeal is on questions of fact, or on questions of both law and fact, no statement is necessary, but the action is tried anew in the superior court.

Arbitration. Persons capable of contracting may submit to arbitration any controversy that might be the subject of suit between them, except a question of title to real property. This qualification, however, does not include questions relating merely to the partition or boundaries of real estate. The submission to arbitration must be in writing, and it may stipulate that it be entered as an order of the superior court, for which purpose it must be filed by the clerk. When so entered the submission cannot be revoked except by mutual consent. If the submission is not made an order of the court, it may be revoked at any time before the award. The arbitrators have power to appoint a time and place for hearing, to adjourn from time to time, to administer oaths, and to make an award. All the arbitrators must meet and act together, but when met a majority governs. They must be duly sworn to perform their duty. Their award must be in writing, and when the submission is made by an order of the court, must be filed by the clerk who ente s the same, after the expiration of five days, in the judgment book, and thereupon it has the effect of a judgment. The award may be vacated for fraud, misconduct, or excess of power on the part of the arbitrators, and under certain circumstances the court may modify the award.

Arrest. In an action for the recovery of money upon a contract, express or implied, when the defendant is about to depart from the State with the intent to defraud his creditors, he may be arrested; also in an action for a fine or penalty, or for money or other property embezzled or fraudulently misapplied by a public officer, officer of a corporation, or an attorney, factor, broker, agent, or clerk in the course of his employment, or by any person in a fiduciary capacity; also in cases of misconduct, neglect in office, or any professional employment, or willful violation of duties; also in actions to recover the possession of personal property where it has been concealed or removed or disposed of to prevent its being found; also in cases where the defendant has been guilty of a fraud in contracting the debt or obligation for which action is brought; or in concealing or disposing of property; also when he has removed or disposed of his property or is about to do so with intent to defraud creditors. The order of arrest is made by the judge of the court when it appears that a cause exists therefor, by affidavit of plaintiff or some other person. The judge must require a written undertaking, with sufficient sureties in a sum not less than $500, to the effect that plaintiff will pay all costs and damages if the arrest be wrongful. Persons may be arrested also in proceedings as for contempt to enforce civil remedies. Administrators, executors, and guardians of the estates of minors may be required to give a strict account of property or money in their hands, held by them in that capacity, and in case of refusal may be arrested and imprisoned, where property or money has been embezzled or fraudulently converted by them.

Assignments for the Benefit of Creditors. The Civil Code and the Code of Civil Procedure contain provisions providing for assignments for the benefit of creditors, and for insolvency proceedings. Employes have a preferred claim for a limited amount of their wages or salaries. Assignments for the benefit of creditors must be made to the sheriff of the county where the insolvent resides, or, if a non-resident, where he has property. At any time, or from time to time, after the expiration of thirty days from the first publication of notice to creditors, the assignee may, at his discretion, declare and pay dividends to all creditors whose claims have been presented and allowed.

Attachments may be issued at the time of issuing the summons, or at any time thereafter. All property not exempt from execution may be attached in an action upon a contract, express or implied, for the direct payment of money, where the contract is made or payable in this State, and is not secured by any mortgage or lien upon real or personal property; or if originally secured, the security becomes valueless without any act of plaintiff. Also in an action upon a contract, express or implied, against a non-resident. The attachment is issued upon filing an undertaking, in a sum not to exceed the amount of the claim and not less than $200, to pay all damages in case no judgment is obtained, or the issuance of the attachment was wrongful. There must be an affidavit by or on behalf of the plaintiff, showing the amount defendant is indebted to plaintiff over and above all legal setoffs and counterclaims, and that the contract is one upon which attachment can issue, and that there is no security held, or if held it has become worthless without fault of the plaintiff, and that the attachment is not sought or action prosecuted to hinder, delay, or defraud any creditor of defendant. This showing must be made before an attachment can issue. The attachment may be discharged by the defendant by executing an undertaking, with sureties, to the effect that in case plaintiff recovers judgment, the property attached will be redelivered to the sheriff, or that the plaintiff will pay the value of the property released.

Bank Commissioners. No corporation can use the money or transact the business of a savings bank, or bank, or banking corporation, without first procuring from the bank commissioners a license until the first day of July next thereafter. It is the duty of the bank commissioners to personally make a full examination at least once in each year of each bank, or similar institution, for the purpose of ascertaining its condition and solvency; and if they find that such institution is violating its charter or is conducting business in an unsafe manner, they should communicate with the attorney-general, who shall immediately commence suit to enjoin and prohibit it from transacting any further business. The commissioners must examine, under oath, any of the officers, agents or servants of the corporation relative to its affairs and condition, and whoever shall neglect or refuse shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor. Any bank or banking corporation, including banks in liquidation or insolvency, shall, whenever required by the board of bank commissioners, make a report in writing to the commissioners, verified by the oath of its president and secretary or cashier, or its two principal officers. Said report shall show the actual financial condition of the corporation. The affairs of every bank or banking corporation which is hereafter forced into liquidation under the provisions of this act, or otherwise goes into liquidation, shall be closed and the business thereof settled within four years from the time it shall enter liquidation, unless at the expiration of such time it shall obtain a written consent from the majority of the board of bank commissioners. Private banks are included in the terms "banks or banking corporations," and they must report in like manner to the bank commissioners. For liabilities of stockholders, see Corporations.

Banks. The business of banking may be carried on by any corporation, organized for that purpose, under the general laws of the State, or by any individual or copartnership, except it be a special copartnership. A banker has a lien dependent upon possession of all property in his hands belonging to a customer for the balance due to him from such customer in the course of the business. There is no limitation upon the right to maintain an action for the recovery of money or other property deposited with any bank, banker, trust company, or savings and loan society.

Banks, Savings. Savings banks can only invest their funds in United States bonds, those of the State of California and those of the counties, cities or towns of California, unless they have the capital stock paid in, or a reserved fund of not less than $300,000, but they may loan money on adequate real or personal property for any period less than six years. The surviving husband or wife of any deceased person, or the next of kin of such decedent, may, without procuring letters of administration, collect of any savings bank any sum which said deceased may have left on deposit in such bank, provided the said deposit shall not exceed the sum of $300.

Bills and Notes. Negotiable Instruments. A negotiable instrument is a written promise or request for the payment of a certain sum of money to order or bearer. It must be made payable in money only, and without any condition not certain of fulfillment. The person to whom it is made payable must be ascertainable at the time the instrument is made; it may give the payee an option between the payment of the sum specified and the performance of any other act, but as to the latter the instrument is not within the provisions of this title. It may be with or without date, and with or without the designation of the time or place of payment. It may contain a pledge of collateral security, with authority to dispose thereof. A negotiable instrument must not contain any other contract than as above specified. Bills of exchange, promissory notes, bank notes, checks, bonds, and certificates of deposit are negotiable instruments. Any date may be inserted by the maker of a negotiable instrument, whether past, present, or future; and the instrument is not invalidated by his death or incapacity at the time of the nominal date. Days of grace are not allowed. Acceptances must be in writing by the drawee or by an acceptor for honor, and may be made by the acceptor writing his name across the face of the bill with or without other words. The acceptance of a bill of exchange by a separate instrument binds the acceptor to one who, upon the faith thereof, has the bill for value or other good consideration. The holder of a bill of exchange, if entitled to an acceptance thereof, may treat the bill as dishonored if the drawee refuses to write across its face an unqualified acceptance. An unconditional promise in writing to accept a bill of exchange is a sufficient acceptance thereof in favor of every person who, upon the faith thereof, has taken the bill for value or other good consideration. The protest of a notary, under his hand and official seal, is prima facie evidence of the facts contained therein. A bill of exchange, if accepted with the consent of the owner by a person other than the drawee, or an acceptor for honor, becomes, in effect, the promissory note of such person, and all prior parties thereto are exonerated. If a promissory note, payable on demand or at sight, without interest, is not duly presented for payment within six months from its date, the indorsers thereof are exonerated, unless such presentation is excused.

Bills of Lading. A carrier must subscribe and deliver to the consignor, on demand, any reasonable number of bills of lading of the same tenor. A bill of lading is an instrument in writing signed by a carrier, or his agent, describing the freight so as to identify it, stating the name of the consignor, the terms of the contract for carriage, and agreeing or directing that the freight be delivered to the order or assigns of a specified person at a specified place. Bills of lading are negotiable, and all the title to the freight which the first holder had when he received it passes to every subsequent indorsee thereof in good faith, and for value in the ordinary course of business with a like effect and in like manner as in the case of a bill of exchange. When a bill of lading is made to "bearer," the simple transfer thereof by delivery conveys the same title as an indorsement. A carrier is exonerated from liability by delivery of the freight in good faith to any holder of a bill of lading therefor, properly indorsed or made in favor of the bearer. When a carrier has given a bill of lading he may require a surrender or a reasonable indemnity against claims thereon before delivering the freight.

Chattel Mortgages may be made upon the following personal property, and none other: Locomotives, engines, and other rolling stock of a railroad; steamboat machinery; the machinery used by machinists, foundrymen, and mechanics; steam engines and boilers; mining machinery; printing presses and material; professional libraries; instruments of surveyors, physicians, or dentists; upholstery, furniture, and household goods; oil paintings, pictures, and works of art; all growing crops, including grapes and fruit; vessels of more than five tons burden; instruments, negatives, furniture and fixtures of a photograph gallery; the machinery, casks, pipes, tubes, and utensils used in the manufacture or storage of wine, fruit-brandy, fruit-syrups, or sugar; also wines, fruit-brandy, fruit-syrup, or sugar, with the cooperage in which the same are contained; pianos and organs; iron and steel safes; neat cattle, horses, mules, swine, sheep, and goats, and the increase thereof; harvesters, threshing outfits, hay presses, wagons, and farming implements; the equipments of a livery stable, including buggies, carriages, harness, and robes; abstract systems, books, maps, papers, and slips of searchers of records; raisins and dried fruits, cured or in process of being cured; also all boxes, fruit graders, drying-trays, and fruit ladders.

Claims Against Estate of Deceased Persons. Immediately upon the appointment of an executor or administrator he must publish in some newspaper of the county—if there be one, if not then in some newspaper designated by the court—a notice to the creditors of the decedent, requiring all persons having claims against the estate to exhibit them, with the necessary vouchers, to the executor or administrator at the place of his residence or business, to be specified in the notice. Such notice must be published as often as the court shall direct, but not less than once a week for four weeks. The time expressed in the notice must be ten months after its first publication when the estate exceeds in value the sum of $10,000, and four months when it does not. All claims arising upon contracts, whether the same be due or not due or contingent, must be presented within the time specified in the notice, and any claim not so presented is barred forever, provided that when it is made to appear by the affidavit of the claimant to the satisfaction of the court that the claimant had no notice as provided, by reason of being out of the State, it may be presented at any time before a decree of distribution is entered. Every claim must be supported by affidavit, showing that the amount is justly due and that no payments have been made which are not credited, and that there are no offsets to the same, but if the claim be not due when presented, or be contingent, the particulars of such claim must be stated. The executor or administrator may, in addition to the affidavit, require satisfactory vouchers or proofs to be produced in support of the claim. Every claim properly presented for allowance must be indorsed by the executor or administrator, showing his allowance or rejection. If allowed it must be presented to the judge of the superior court for his approval, and he must indorse upon it his allowance or rejection. Every claim so allowed and approved, or a copy thereof, must, within thirty days thereafter, be filed with the court and be ranked among the acknowledged debts of the estate, to be paid in due course of administration. When, however, a claim is rejected, either by the executor or administrator or the judge, the holder must bring suit in the appropriate court thereon, within three months after the date of its rejection, if it be then due, or within two months after it becomes due, otherwise the claim is forever barred. Judgment rendered against the decedent in his lifetime, or after his decree, on verdict prior to his decease, must be presented as in any other claim. No claim can be allowed which is barred by the statute of limitations. Claims against the estate are paid in the following order: 1. Funeral expenses. 2. The expense of last sickness. 3. Debts having preference by the laws of the United States. 4. Judgments rendered against the decedent in his lifetime and mortgages in the order of their date. 5. All other demands against the estate.

Collaterals are governed by the law relating to pledges of personal property. A pledge is a deposit of personal property by way of security for the performance of any act. Delivery of the thing pledged is essential to the validity of the bailment. Where the debtor has obtained credit or an extension of time by a fraudulent misrepresentation of the value of the property pledged by or for him, the creditor may demand a further pledge to correspond with the value represented; and in default thereof may recover his debt immediately, though it be not actually due. When the performance of the act for which the pledge is given is due in whole or in part, the pledge may collect what is due to him by the sale of the property pledged. But before the property can be sold the pledgee must demand performance thereof from the debtor, if he can be found, and must give actual notice to the pledgor of the time and place at which the property pledged will be sold, at such a reasonable time before the sale as will enable the pledgor to attend, but notice of the sale may be waived by the pledgor at any time. The sale must be by public auction and must be for the highest obtainable price. After the sale the pledgee may deduct from the proceeds the amount due and the necessary expenses of sale and collection, and must pay the surplus to the pledgor. The pledgee, or a pledge-holder, may purchase the property pledged when the same is sold at public auction. A pledgee can not sell any evidence of debt (collateral) pledged to him, except the obligations of governments, states, or corporations; but he may collect the same when due. In all cases, instead of selling property pledged, the pledgee may foreclose the right of redemption by a judicial sale under the direction of a competent court, and in that case may be authorized by the court to purchase at the sale.

Contracts. No estate in land will pass other than leases not to exceed one year, unless in writing. An agreement not to be performed within a year from making it must be in writing; also a promise to answer for the debt, default, or miscarriage of another; also agreements made in consideration of marriage other than a mutual promise to marry. An agreement for the sale of goods and chattels or things in action at a price not less than $200, unless the buyer accept and receive part of the same, or any part of the purchase money. No evidence is admissible to charge a person upon representations as to the credit of another unless the representations be in writing.

Conveyances. An estate in real property, other than an estate at will, or for a term not exceeding one year, can be transferred only by operation of law, or by an instrument in writing, subscribed by the party disposing of the same, or by his agent thereunto authorized in writing. A fee simple title is presumed to be intended to pass by a grant of real property, unless it appears from the face of the grant that a lesser estate was intended. A grant of real property may be made in the following form: "I, A. B., grant to C. D. all that real property situated in (insert name of county) county, State of California, bounded (or described) as follows: (Here insert description, or if the land sought to be conveyed has a descriptive name, it may be described by the name, as for instance: 'The Norris Ranch.') Witness my hand this (insert) day of (insert month), 18—. A. B." The use of the word "grant" implies the following covenants: 1. That previous to the time of the conveyance the grantor had not conveyed the same estate, or any right, title, or interest therein to any person other than the grantee. 2. That such estate is at the time of the execution of the conveyance free from incumbrances, done, made, or suffered by the grantor. Subsequently acquired title passes by operation of law to the grantee, or his successors. Instruments entitled to be recorded must be recorded by the county recorder of the county in which the real property affected thereby is situated. Every conveyance of real property, acknowledged or proved and certified and recorded as prescribed by law, from the time it is filed with the recorder for record, is constructive notice of the contents thereof to subsequent purchasers and mortgagees, and every conveyance of real property other than a lease for a term not exceeding one year is void as against any subsequent purchaser or mortgagee of the same property, or any part thereof, in good faith and for a valuable consideration, whose conveyance is first duly recorded.

Corporations. Private corporations may be formed by the voluntary association of any five or more persons, in the manner prescribed by statute. A majority of such persons must be residents of this State. Private corporations may be formed for any purpose for which individuals may lawfully associate themselves. Before the secretary of State issues to any railroad, wagon-road, or telegraph corporation, a certificate of the filing of articles of incorporation, there must be filed in his office an affidavit of the president, secretary, or treasurer named in the articles, that the required amount of the capital stock thereof has been actually subscribed, and 10 per cent. thereof actually paid to a treasurer for the benefit of the corporation. Upon filing the articles of incorporation in the office of the county clerk of the county in which the principal business of the company is to be transacted, and a copy thereof, certified by the county clerk, with the secretary of State, and the affidavit above mentioned where such affidavit is required, the secretary of State must issue to the corporation over the great seal of the State a certificate that a copy of the articles containing the required statement of facts has been filed in his office, and thereupon the persons signing the articles, and their associates and successors, shall be a body politic and corporate by the name stated in the certificate, and for a term of fifty years, unless it is in the articles of incorporation otherwise stated, or in the code otherwise specially provided. A copy of any articles of incorporation filed in pursuance of this chapter, and certified by the secretary of State, must be received in all the courts, and other places as prima facie evidence of the facts therein stated.

Liability of Stockholders. Each stockholder of a corporation is individually and personally liable for such proportion of its debt and liabilities as the amount of stock or shares owned by him bears to the whole of the subscribed capital stock or shares of the corporation, and for a like proportion only of each debt or claim against the corporation. Any creditor of the corporation may institute joint or several actions against any of its stockholders for the proportion of this claim, payable by each, and in such action the court must ascertain the proportion of the claim or debt for which each defendant is liable, and a several judgment must be rendered against each in conformity therewith. If any stockholder pays his proportion of any debt due from the corporation incurred while he was such stockholder, he is relieved from any further personal liabilities for such debt; and if an action has been brought against him for such debt, it shall be dismissed as to him upon his paying the costs, or such proportion thereof as may be properly chargeable against him. The liability of each stockholder is determined by the amount of stock or shares owned by him at the time the debt or liability was incurred, and such liability is not released by any subsequent transfer of stock. The term "stockholder," as used in this section, shall apply not only to such persons as appear by the books of the corporation to be such, but also to every equitable owner of stock, although the same appears on the books in the name of another, and also to every person who has advanced the installments or purchase money of stock in the name of a minor, so long as the latter remains a minor; and also to every guardian or other trustee who voluntarily invests any trust funds in the stock. Trust funds in the hands of a guardian or trustee shall not be liable under the provisions of this section by reason of any such investment, nor shall the person for whose benefit the investment is made be responsible in respect to the stock, until he becomes competent and able to control the same; but the responsibility of the guardian or trustee making the investment shall continue until that period. Stock held as collateral security, or by a trustee, or in any other representative capacity, does not make the holder thereof a stockholder within the meaning of this section, except in the case above mentioned, so as to charge him with any proportion of the debts or liabilities of the corporation; but the pledgor, or person, or estate represented is to be deemed the stockholder as respects such liabilities. In corporations having no capital stock, each member is individually and personally liable for his proportion of its debts and liabilities, and similar actions may be brought against him, either alone or jointly with other members, to enforce such liabilities as by this section may be brought against one or more stockholders, and simi ar judgments may be rendered. The liability of each stockholder of a corporation formed under the laws of any other State or Territory of the United States, or of any foreign country, and doing business within this State, shall be the same as the liability of a stockholder of a corporation created under the constitution and laws of this State.

Costs. In all ordinary actions, costs are allowed, as of course, to the prevailing party, and in actions to foreclose liens, including mortgages, and in actions for divorce, and special proceedings, attorneys' fees are also allowed to the prevailing party. Non-resident plaintiffs may, by order of the court, be required to give a security for costs. Costs may be awarded in an equity proceeding, to either party, or may be divided between the parties, at the discretion of the court.

Courts. Terms and Jurisdiction. Justices' courts have civil jurisdiction: 1. In actions arising on contracts for the recovery of money, only if the sum claimed, exclusive of interest, does not amount to $300, and the jurisdiction of a justice of the peace in all cases where money judgment is recoverable is limited to $300. 2. In actions for damages for injury to the person, or for taking, detaining, or injuring personal property, or for injury to real property, where no issue is raised by the verified answer of the defendant involving the title to or possession of the same, if the damages claimed do not amount to $300 3. In actions to recover the possession of personal property, if the value of such property does not amount to $300. 4. In actions for a fine, penalty, or forfeiture not amounting to $300 given by statute, or the ordinance of an incorporated city or town, where no issue is raised by the answer involving the legality of any tax, impost, assessment, toll, or municipal fine. 5. In actions upon bonds or undertakings conditioned for the payment of money, if the sum claimed does not amount to $300, though the penalty may exceed that sum. 6. To take and enter judgment for the recovery of money on the confession of a defendant, when the amount confessed, exclusive of interest, does not amount to $300. 7. Also concurrent jurisdiction with the superior courts, within their respective townships. In actions of forcible entry and detainer, where the rental value of the property entered upon or unlawfully detained does not exceed $25 per month, and the whole amount of damages claimed does not exceed $200. Also in actions to enforce and foreclose liens on personal property, where neither the amount of the liens nor the value of the property amounts to $300.

Superior Court. The jurisdiction of the superior court is of two kinds: 1. Original. 2. Appellate. The superior court has original jurisdiction in all cases in equity; in all civil actions in which the subject of litigation is not capable of pecuniary estimation; in all cases at law which involve the title or possession of real property, or the legality of any tax, etc., and in all other cases in which the demand, exclusive of interest or the value of the property in controversy, amounts to $300; of actions of forcible entry and detainer, of proceedings in insolvency; of actions to prevent or abate a nuisance; of all matters of probate, of divorce and for annullment of marriage; and of all such special cases and proceedings as are not otherwise provided for. They also have power to issue writs of mandamus, certiorari, prohibition, quo warranto, and of habeas corpus on petition by or on behalf of any person in actual custody in their respective counties. Injunctions and writs of prohibition may be issued and served on legal holidays and non-judicial days.

Supreme Court. Has original and appellate jurisdiction. In the exercise of original jurisdiction it shall have power to issue writs of mandamus, certiorari, prohibition, and habeas corpus; it shall also have power to issue all other writs necessary and proper for the complete exercise of its appellate jurisdiction. There are no terms of court, in the strict sense, in this State. The courts of this State are presumed to be always open for the transaction of business. The supreme court holds six sessions annually. At Sacramento, in May and November; at San Francisco, in January and July; at Los Angeles, in April and October.

Days of Grace. Days of grace are not allowed.

Depositions. The deposition of a witness out of this State may be taken upon a commission issued from the court under the seal of the court, upon an order of the court, or a judge or justice thereof, on the application of either party, upon five days' previous notice to the other. If the court be a justice's court, the commission shall have attached to it a certificate under seal by the county clerk of said county to the effect that the person issuing the same was an acting justice of the peace at the date of the commission. If issued to any place within the United States, it may be directed to a person agreed upon by the parties, or if they do not agree, to any judge or justice of the peace or commissioner selected by the court, or judge, or justice issuing it. If issued to any country out of the United States, it may be directed to a minister, ambassador, consul, vice-consul, or consular agent of the United States in such country, or to any person agreed upon by the parties. The testimony of a witness out of the State may be taken by deposition in an action, at any time after the service of the summons or the appearance of the defendant; in a special proceeding, at any time after a question of fact has arisen therein. Depositions must be taken in the form of question and answer, and the words of the witness must be written down unless the parties agree to a different mode.

Depositions in this State. The testimony of the witness in this State may be taken by deposition in an action at any time after the service of summons or the appearance of defendant, and in a special proceeding after a question of fact has arisen therein, in certain enumerated cases.

Depositions for Use out of the State. Any party to an action or special proceeding in a court or before a judge of a sister State, may obtain the testimony of a witness residing in this State, to be used in such action or proceeding, in the cases mentioned following: If a commission to take such testimony has been issued from the court, or a judge thereof, befo e which such action or proceeding is pending, on producing the commission to a judge of the superior court with an affidavit satisfactory to him of the materiality of the testimony, he may issue a subpœna to the witness, requiring him to appear and testify before the commissioner named in the commission, at a specified time and place. If a commission has not been issued and it appear to a judge of the superior court, or a justice of the peace, by affidavit satisfactory to him: 1. That the testimony of the witness is material to either party. 2. That a commission to take testimony of such witness has not been issued. 3. That according to the law of the State where the action or special proceeding is pending, the deposition of a witness taken under such circumstances, and before such judge or justice, will be received in the action or proceeding, he must issue a subpœna requiring the witness to appear and testify before him at a specified time and place. Upon the appearance of the witness, the judge or justice must cause his testimony to be taken in writing, and must certify and transmit the same to the court or judge before whom the action or proceeding is pending, in such manner as the law of that State requires.

Descent and Distribution of Property. Property, both real and personal, of an intestate passes to his heirs. A surviving wife succeeds to one-half of the community property, i. e., all property acquired by husband or wife during the marriage, which does not include property acquired by either husband or wife by gift, bequest, devise or descent, which is separate property. Dower interest does not exist. The separate estate is distributed as follows: If the decedent leaves a surviving husband or wife and only one child, or the lawful issue of one child, in equal shares to the surviving husband or wife and child or issue of such child. If a surviving husband or wife and more than one child, or one child living and the lawful issue of one or more deceased children, one-third to the surviving husband or wife, and the remainder in equal shares to the children and to the lawful issue of any deceased child by right of representation. But if there be no child living, the remainder goes to all the lineal descendants, and if they are in the same degree of kindred to the decedent they share equally, otherwise by right of representation. If the decedent leaves no surviving husband or wife, the whole estate goes to the issue—the issue of children taking by right of representation. If there is no issue the estate goes one-half to the surviving husband or wife and the other half to the father and mother in equal shares, or, if one be dead, to the survivor; if there be no father or mother, then their one-half goes in equal shares to the brothers and sisters or to their representatives. If there is no issue, or husband or wife, the estate goes to the father and mother, or the survivor, or, if both be dead, then in equal shares to the brothers and sisters, and to the children of any deceased brother or sister by right of representation. If the decedent leave a surviving husband or wife, and neither issue, father, mother, brother, nor sister, the whole estate goes to the surviving husband or wife. If the decedent leaves neither issue, husband, wife, father, mother, brother, nor sister, the estate must go to the next of kin in equal degree. These are the principal provisions of the law of succession. Tenancy by the courtesy is not known to our law. If the person dies testate, all property passes as directed by the will.

Distress for Rent is not known, but judgment for rent and damages for unlawful detainer may be had, and property not exempt from execution may be levied upon to satisfy the judgment.

Divorce. A vinculo matrimonii may be decreed by the superior court for adultery, extreme cruelty, willful desertion, willful neglect, habitual intemperance, or conviction of felony. A marriage may be annulled: 1. If the party seeking the annullment was under the age of legal consent, and the marriage was contracted without the consent of parents or guardian. 2. If the former husband or wife of either party was living and such marriage was in force. 3. If either party was of unsound mind. 4. If the consent of either party was obtained by fraud. 5. If consent was obtained by force. 6. If either party was physically incapable of entering the marriage state. The marriage of a divorced party is void, unless one year has elapsed since the divorce was rendered and made.

Dower. (See Husband and Wife.)

Evidence. The testimony of witnesses is taken in three modes: 1. By affidavits. 2. By deposition. 3. By oral examination. The written words control when an instrument consists partly of written words and partly of printed form. (See also Depositions.)

Executions may issue immediately upon the entry of judgment. No right of stay exists except by order of the court in its discretion. There is no right of redemption of personal property. An execution may be issued at any time within five years after the entry of the judgment, and after the lapse of five years the judgment may be enforced or carried into execution by leave of court upon motion, or by judgment for that purpose, founded upon supplemental proceedings. Execution may issue against the property of a judgment debtor after his death, if the judgment be for recovery of real or personal property, or the enforcement of liens thereon.

Exemptions. The following property is exempt from execution: 1. Chairs, tables, desks, and books, to the value of $200. 2. Necessary household, table and kitchen furniture belonging to the judgment debtor, including one sewing machine, stoves, stove-pipes and furniture, wearing apparel, beds, bedding and bedstead, hanging pictures, oil paintings and drawings drawn or painted by any member of the family, and family portraits, and their necessary frames, provisions actually provided for individual or family use sufficient for three months, and three cows and their sucking calves, four hogs with their sucking pigs, and food for such cows and hogs for one month; one piano, one shotgun, and one rifle. 3. The cabin or dwelling of a miner not exceeding in value the sum of $500; also his sluices, pipes, hose, windlass, derrick, cars, pumps, tools, implements, and appliances necessary for carrying on any mining operations, not exceeding in value the aggregate sum of $500; and two horses, mules, or oxen, with their harness, and food for same for one month, when necessary to be used in any whim, windlass, derrick, car, pump, or hoisting gear, and also his mining claim, actually worked by him, not exceeding in value the sum of $1,000. 6. Two horses, two oxen, or two mules, and their harness, and one cart or wagon, one dray or truck, one coupe, one hack or carriage for one or two horses, by the use of which a cartman, truckman, huckster, peddler, hackman, teamster, or other laborer habitually earns his living, and one horse with vehicle and harness, or other equipments used by a physician, surgeon, constable, or minister of the gospel in the legitimate practice of his profession or business, with food for such oxen, horses, or mules for one month. 7. One fishing boat and net, not exceeding the total value $500, the property of any fisherman by the lawful use of which he earns a livelihood. 8. Poultry, not exceeding in value $25. Seamen's and seagoing fishermen's wages and earnings not exceeding $100. 9. The earnings of the judgment debtor for his personal services rendered at any time within thirty days next preceding the levy of execution or attachment, where it appears by the debtor's affidavit or otherwise, that such earnings are necessary for the use of his family residing in this State, supported in whole or in part by his labor; but where debts are incurred by any such person, or his wife or family for the common necessaries of life, or have been incurred at a time when the debtor had no family residing in this State, supported in whole or in part by his labor, the one-half of such earnings above mentioned are nevertheless subject to execution, garnishment, or attachment to satisfy debts so incurred. 10. The shares held by a member of a homestead association duly incorporated, not exceeding in value $1,000, if the person holding the shares is not the owner of a homestead under the laws of this State. All the nautical instruments and wearing apparel of any master, officer, or seaman of any steamer or other vessel. 11. All moneys, benefits, privileges, or immunities accruing, or in any manner growing out of any life insurance on the life of the debtor, if the annual premiums paid do not exceed $500. 12. No article, however, or species of property mentioned in this section, is exempt from execution issued upon a judgment recovered for its price or upon a judgment of foreclosure of a mortgage thereon.

Fraud. (For Fraudulent Debtors, see Arrest.) Any contract obtained through fraud is voidable. Consent is deemed to have been obtained through fraud only when it would not have been given had such cause not existed. Actual fraud consists in the suggestion as a fact of that which is not true, the positive assertion of that which is not true in a manner not warranted by the information of the person making it, the suppression of that which is true by one having knowledge of it, and promises made without any intention of performing, or any other act fitted to deceive. Constructive fraud consists of any breach of duty, which without an actual fraudulent intent, gains an advantage of the person in fault by misleading another to his prejudice. Actual fraud is always a question of fact.

Garnishment. Upon receiving instruction in writing from the plaintiff or his attorney that any person has in his possession, or under his control, any credits or other personal property belonging to the defendant or is owing any debt to the defendant, the sheriff must serve upon such person a copy of the writ and a notice that such credits, or other property or debts, as the case may be, are attached in pursuance of such writ. All persons having any such property at the time of serving of such writ, unless it is delivered up or transferred or paid to the sheriff, shall be liable to the amount of such credits, property, or debts, until the attachment be discharged, or any judgment by him recovered be satisfied. The garnishee may be cited to appear before the court or judge and be examined on oath respecting such property.

Holidays are every Sunday, the 1st day of January, the 22d day of February, the 30th day of May, the 4th day of July, the 1st Monday of September, the 9th day of September, the 25th day of December, every day on which an election is held throughout the State, and every day appointed by the President of the United States or by the governor for a public fast, thanksgiving, or holiday. If the 1st day of January, the 22d day of February, the 30th day of May, the 4th day of July, the 9th day of September, or the 25th day of December, fall upon a Sunday, the Monday following is a holiday.

Homestead. The homestead consists of the dwelling house in which the claimant resides, and the land on which the same is situated. If the claimant be married, the homestead may be selected from the community property, or the separate property of the husband, or with the consent of the wife from her separate property. When the claimant is not married, but is the head of a family, the homestead may be selected from any of his or her property. The homestead can not be selected from the separate property of the wife without her consent, shown by her making or joining in making the declaration of homestead. The homestead is exempt from execution or forced sale, except in satisfaction of judgments obtained: 1. Before the declaration of homestead was filed for record, and which constitutes liens upon the premises. 2. On debts secured by mechanics', contractors', sub-contractors, artisans', architects', builders', laborers' of every class, materialmen's or vendors' liens upon the premises. 3. On debts secured by mortgages on the premises, executed and acknowledged by the husband and wife or by an unmarried claimant. 4. On debts secured by mortgages on the premises, executed and recorded before the declaration of homestead was filed for record. The homestead of a married person can not be conveyed or encumbered unless the instrument by which it is conveyed or encumbered is executed and acknowledged by both husband and wife. Homesteads may be selected and claimed: 1. If not exceeding $5,000 in value, by any head of a family. 2. If not exceeding $1,000 in value, by another person.

Husband and Wife. The husband is the head of the family. He may choose any reasonable place or mode of living, and the wife must conform thereto. In other respects their interests are separate. Neither husband or wife has any interest in the property of the other, and either may enter into any engagement with the other, or with any other person, respecting property which either might if unmarried. All property of either, owned by him or her before marriage, and that acquired afterward by gift, bequest, devise or descent, is the separate property of such person. All other property acquired after marriage by either husband or wife or both, is community property; but whenever any property is conveyed to a married woman by an instrument in writing, the presumption is that the title is thereby vested in her as her separate property. The husband has the management and control of the community property, with absolute power of disposal other than testamentary, provided that he cannot make a gift of the same or convey the same without valuable consideration, unless the wife consents in writing. The community property is not liable for the contracts of the wife made after marriage, unless secured by a pledge or mortgage thereof. The separate property of the husband is not liable for the debts of the wife contracted before marriage, and the separate property of the wife is not liable for the debts of her husband, but is liable for her own debts contracted before or after marriage.

Interest. Unless there is a contract fixing a different rate, interest is payable on all moneys at the rate of 7 per cent per annum after they become due on an instrument in writing, and on moneys due or lent on any settlement of accounts from the day on which the balance is ascertained. A judgment bears 7 per cent per annum after rendition. Parties may agree in writing upon any rate of interest, and may agree that if the interest is not punctually paid that it shall become a part of the principal and bear the same rate.

Judgments (see Actions) are liens upon real estate of the judgment debtors for five years, situated in the county where the judgment is entered, or two years in the county where a transcript of the original docket, certified by the clerk, may be filed with the recorder. A judgment is not a lien upon personal property, but such property may be seized by execution thereon. A judgment may be revived, but it is barred by the statute of limitations within five years, unless revived by leave of court upon motion. It may also be revived by an action upon the judgment.

Liens. Mechanics, material-men, contractors, sub-contractors, artisans, architects, and laborers of every class performing labor upon or furnishing material to be used in the construction, alteration, or repair of any mining claim, building, wharf, bridge, ditch, flume, aqueduct, tunnel, fence, machinery, railroad, wagon road, or other structure, have liens upon the property upon which they have worked or furnished material, and any person performing labor in a mining claim has a lien upon the same, and the works owned and used by the owners for reducing the ores from such mining claim, for the work or labor done. In case of a contract for the work between the owner and his contractor, the owner of the property can not be charged with any greater liability for the liens than may be owing by him to the original contractor under the terms of the contract. Whenever the contract price exceeds $1,000 in amount, it must be in writing, subscribed by the parties, and filed in the office of the county recorder before the work is commenced; otherwise it is void and the property of the owner is liable to a lien for the value of all the labor done and materials furnished. Of this contract price, at least 25 per cent must be made payable not less than thirty-five days after the final completion of the work or contract. The liens that may be claimed rank in the following order, viz: 1, laborers; 2, material-men; 3, sub-contractors; 4, contractors; and must be satisfied out of the proceeds of the sale in the same order. The lien-holders in each class share pro rata if the proceeds are insufficient for that class. A claim of lien must be filed in the office of the county recorder within sixty days after notice of the completion of the structure, if by the original contractor, or if by a sub-contractor or material-man, within thirty days. Suit must be brought in the superior court within ninety days after filing the claim of lien. An attorney's fee for foreclosing is allowed by the court, and made part of the costs of suit. [C. C. P. 1183–1187.] Bailors, etc., have the usual common law liens upon personal property, dependent upon possession. (See Chattel Mortgages and Deeds of Trust, Mortgages, Judgments, Executions.)

Limitations. If real estate is held adversely for five years, such adverse possession ripens into title, except against infants and persons under disability. The periods prescribed for the commencement of actions other than for the recovery of real property, are as follows: Within five years: (1) An action upon a judgment or decree of any court of the United States, or of any State within the United States. (2) An action for mesne profits of real property. Within four years: An action upon any contract, obligation or liability founded upon an instrument in writing, executed in this State. Within three years: (1) An action upon a liability created by statute, other than a penalty or forfeiture. (2) An action for trespass upon real property. (3) An action for taking, detaining or injuring any goods or chattels, including actions for the specific recovery of personal property. (4) An action for relief on the ground of fraud or mistake; the cause of action in such case not to be deemed to have accrued until the discovery by the aggrieved party of the facts constituting fraud or mistake. Within two years: (1) An action upon a contract, obligation or liability not founded upon an instrument of writing, or founded upon an instrument of writing executed out of the State. (2) An action against a sheriff, coroner, or constable, upon a liability incurred by the doing of an act in his official capacity, and in virtue of his office, or by the omission of an official duty, including the non-payment of money collected upon an execution; but this subdivision does not apply to an action for an escape. (3) An action to recover damages for the death of one caused by the wrongful act or neglect of another. Within one year: (1) An action upon a statute for a penalty or forfeiture, when the action is given to an individual or to an individual and the State, except when the statute imposing it prescribes a different limitation. (2) An action upon a statute, or upon an undertaking in a criminal action, for a forfeiture or penalty to the people of this State. (3) An action for libel, slander, assault, battery, false imprisonment, or seduction. (4) An action against a sheriff, or other officer, for the escape of a prisoner arrested or imprisoned on civil process. (5) An action against a municipal corporation for damages or injuries to property caused by a mob or riot. Within six months: (1) An action to recover property seized by tax collector. (2) To recover corporation stock sold for delinquent assessment. To actions brought to recover money or other property deposited with any bank, banker, trust company, or savings and loan society, there is no limitation. If when the cause of action accrues against a person, he is out of the State, the action may be commenced within the term herein limited, after his return to the State; and if, after the cause of action accrues, he departs from the State, the time of his absence is not part of the time limited for the commencement of the action. And if the person entitled to bring the action, be at the time the action accrued, either a minor, insane, imprisoned for a term less than life, or a married woman, and her husband is a necessary party with her in commencing such action, the time of such disability is not a part of the time limited for the commencement of the action. No acknowledgment or promise is sufficient to take a case out of the operation of the statute of limitations, unless the same is in writing, signed by the party to be charged. Part payment will not take the case out of the statute of limitations. Where a cause of action has arisen in another State, and would be barred by the statute of limitations of that State, an action cannot be maintained here.

Married Women. A married woman may become a sole trader by the judgment of the superior court of the county in which she has resided for six months next preceding the application. The husband of the sole trader is not liable for any debts contracted by her in the course of her sole trader's business unless contracted upon his written consent. A married woman may convey without consent of her husband, and is not liable for the debts of her husband, but is liable for her own debts contracted before or after her marriage. She may contract as a femme sole so as to bind her separate property. The wife may make a will of her separate property. The earnings of the wife are not liable for the debts of her husband. If the husband fail to make provision for the support of the wife, a person furnishing her with necessary articles for her support may recover the value from the husband. Married women may hold and transfer stock in corporations without the consent of her husband. A married woman may make, execute, and revoke powers of attorney for the sale, conveyance, or incumbrance of her real or personal estate, which shall have the same effect as if she were unmarried, and may be acknowledged in the same manner as a grant of real property. A grant or conveyance of real property made by a married woman may be made, executed, and acknowledged in the same manner and to the same effect as if she were unmarried.

Mechanics' Liens. (See Liens.)

Mortgages. Any interest in real property which is capable of being transferred may be mortgaged. A mortgage can be created, renewed, or extended only by writing executed with the formalities required in the case of a grant of real property. Every transfer of an interest in real property, other than in trust made only as the security for the performance of any act, is to be deemed a mortgage, and the fact that the transfer was made subject to defeasance on a condition may, for the purpose of showing such transfer to be a mortgage, be proved (except as against the subsequent purchaser or encumbrancer for value and without notice) although the fact does not appear by the terms of the instrument. A mortgage is a lien upon everything that passes by a grant of the property. A mortgage does not entitle the mortgagee to the possession of the property. A mortgage does not bind the mortgagor personally to perform the act for the performance of which it is a security, unless there is an express covenant therein to that effect. The assignment of a debt secured by a mortgage carries with it the security. When a mortgage is satisfied or the mortgage indebtedness paid, the mortgagee must satisfy the mortgage of record under penalty. A mortgagee may foreclose the right of redemption of the mortgagor.

Notes and Bills of Exchange. (See Bills and Notes.)

Partnerships. (See Special or Limited Partnerships.) Partnerships may be formed for the transaction of any lawful business by two or more persons, and the partnership property, also the property of members of the firm, is liable for all debts contracted by the firm in their business.

Pledge. (See Collaterals.)

Powers of Attorney. An attorney in fact may be appointed for any purpose for which an agency can lawfully be created. Powers of attorney can only be conferred by an instrument in writing subscribed by the principal which must particularly specify the powers conferred. If the instrument contains a power to convey or execute instruments affecting real property, it must be duly acknowledged and must be recorded in the county within which the real property to be conveyed or affected is situate. No such instrument which has been so recorded is revoked by any act of the party by whom it was executed, unless the instrument containing such revocation is also acknowledged or proved, certified, and recorded in the same office in which the instrument containing the power was recorded. When an attorney in fact executes an instrument transferring an estate in real property, he must subscribe the name of his principal to it, and his own name as attorney in fact. The certificate of acknowledgment by an attorney in fact must be substantially in the following form:

State of..... } ss.
County of.... }

On this ..... day of....., in the year ....., before me (here insert the name and quality of the officer), personally appeared ....., known to me (or proved to me on the oath of .....) to be the person whose name is subscribed to the within instrument as the attorney in fact of ....., and acknowledged that he subscribed the name of ..... thereto as principal, and his own name as attorney in fact.

Probate Law. (See Administration of Estates, Claims against Estates of deceased persons, Descent and Distribution.) The superior court has jurisdiction of proceedings in probate, and such proceedings must be instituted (1) In the county of which the decedent was a resident; (2) in the county of which he may have died leaving estate therein, he not being a resident of the State; (3) in the county in which any part of the estate may be, if the decedent died out of the State and was not a resident. Letters testamentary or of administration, may be revoked for misconduct or disobedience of the order of the court. Special administrators may be appointed pending the appointment of a regular administrator or executor when there is a delay of granting letters or a vacancy. An inventory and appraisement is required of the executor or administrator within three months. Upon the return of the inventory the court may set apart for use of the surviving husband or wife, or of the minor children, all the property exempt from execution including any homestead selected, providing the same was selected from the common property or from the separate property of the person selecting or joining in the selection of the same. If none has been selected, the court must select, designate and set apart and cause to be recorded a homestead for the use of the surviving husband or wife, or of the minor children, or if there be no surviving husband or wife, then for the use of the minor children out of the common property, or if there be no common property, then out of the real estate belonging to the decedent. Property so set apart is not subject to further administration. If upon the return of the inventory it appears that the value of the whole estate does not exceed $1,500, the court may set apart the whole of the estate for the use and support of the family of the deceased. The provisions of law relating to new trials and appeals, also apply to probate proceedings.

Protest. (See Bills and Notes.)

Redemption. The right of redemption exists in cases of sale of real estate upon execution. The defendant may redeem within one year by payment of the amount of the judgment and interest at 1 per cent per month. Any other redemptioner may redeem within sixty days after the last redemption, and so on, by paying the amount of the previous redemption with 2 per cent addition thereon, together with any assessment or taxes which the last redemptioner may have paid, with interest on the same.

Replevin. The plaintiff in an action to recover the possession of personal property, may at the time of issuing the summons, or at any time before answer, claim the delivery of such property. An affidavit must be made by the plaintiff or by some one in his behalf showing that the plaintiff is the owner of the property, or entitled to its possession, that the property is wrongfully detained by the defendant, the alleged cause of detention thereof, and that it has not been taken for a tax, assessment or fine, or seized under an execution or attachment, or if so seized that it is exempt; also the actual value of the property. Plaintiff must also give a bond in double the value of the property. The defendant may give to the sheriff a written undertaking in double the value of the property, and retain the same, but in case he fails so to do the property is delivered to the plaintiff. The judgment in such action is in the alternative for a return of the property or for its value in case a delivery can not be had.

Rescission. A party to a contract may rescind the same in the following cases only. (1) If his consent was obtained by a mistake, duress, menace, fraud or undue influence. (2) If through the fault of the party as to whom he rescinds, the consideration fails. (3) If such consideration becomes entirely void from any cause. (4) If such consideration, before it is rendered to him, fails in a material respect. (5) By consent of all the parties. The party rescinding must do so promptly upon discovering the facts which entitle him to rescind, and must restore to the other party everything of value which he has received from him under the contract; or must offer to restore the same upon condition that such party shall do likewise.

Special or Limited Partnerships. May be formed by two or more persons for the transaction of any business, except banking or insurance. It may consist of one or more persons called general partners, and one or more called special partners. A certificate must be signed showing nature of business, which are general and which are special partners, and the amount of capital stock each has contributed. The certificate must be acknowledged as in case of deed; must be filed in clerk's office and recorded in county recorder's office. An affidavit must be filed in same office with original certificate, stating the sum contributed. The certificate must be published in a newspaper once a week for four weeks. The general partners are liable as such. The contribution of the special partner is liable, but not otherwise, unless he has willfully committed some act in violence of the provisions named or interfered with the business of the firm, in which cases and some others, he may be held as a general partner.

Statute of Frauds. A will must be in writing, except a nuncupative will. (See Wills.) No estate in land will pass other than leases not to exceed one year, unless in writing. An agreement not to be performed within a year from making it must be in writing; also a promise to answer for the debt, defraud, or miscarriage of another; also agreements made in consideration of marriage, other than a mutual promise to marry. An agreement for the sale of goods and chattels or things in action at a price not less than $200, unless the buyer accept and receive part of the same, or any part of the purchase money. No evidence is admissible to charge a person upon representations as to the credit of another, unless the representations be in writing.

Summons. (See Actions.)

Supplementary Proceedings. When an execution is returned unsatisfied, the judgment creditor can obtain an order requiring the judgment debtor to appear and answer concerning his property before the judge or referee appointed by him; also, in case after the issuing of an execution, upon proof by affidavit that the judgment debtor has property which he unjustly refuses to apply toward the satisfaction of the judgment, the judge may make the order, and instead thereof, if it appear that the debtor is about to abscond, he may, by order of the judge, be arrested and required by him to give security for the judgment, or that he will attend from time to time during the pendency of the proceedings, and that he will not in the meantime dispose of any portion of his property, and in default of security he may be committed to prison.

Taxes. On the last Monday of November of each year taxes become delinquent, except the last installment of the real property taxes, and thereafter 15 per cent is added for delinquency; provided, that if they be not paid before the last Monday in April next succeeding, 5 per cent is added for delinquency. On the last Monday of April of each year all the unpaid portion of the remaining one-half of the taxes on all real property is delinquent, and thereafter 5 per cent is added for delinquency; provided, that in counties containing a population of over 250,000 inhabitants, on the last Monday in November of each year all of the unpaid portion of the personal property taxes, and the unpaid portion of one-half the taxes on all real property, are delinquent, and thereafter 5 per cent is added for delinquency; provided, that if they be not paid before the last Monday in February next succeeding, 5 per cent is added for delinquency. On the last Monday of each year, all the unpaid portion of the remaining one-half of the taxes on all real property is delinquent, and thereafter 5 per cent is added for delinquency; and provided further, that the entire tax on any real property may be paid at the time the first installment as above provided is due and payable; and provided further, that the taxes on all personal property, unsecured by real property, shall be due and payable immediately after the assessment of said personal property is made.

Transfer of Corporation Stock. Whenever capital stock of a corporation is divided into shares, and certificates therefor are issued, such shares of stock are personal property, and may be transferred by indorsement by the signature of the proprietor, or his attorney or legal representative, and delivery of the certificate, but such transfer is not valid, except between the parties, until the same is so entered upon the books of the corporation as to show the names of the parties by and to whom transferred, the number or designation of the shares, and the date of the transfer. Shares of stock may be held, owned, or transferred by a married woman as a femme sole. When the stock is owned by a non-resident, the officers of the corporation may require of the person presenting the same for transfer satisfactory evidence that the owner was alive at the date of the purported transfer, or in lieu thereof an indemnity bond, and may decline to record the transfer until such requirement is complied with.

Trust Deeds may be used instead of mortgages, but are not often used except with some savings and loan banks or societies.

Wills. Every person over the age of eighteen years, of sound mind, may, by last will, dispose of all his estate, real and personal. A married woman may dispose of all her separate estate by will without the consent of her husband, and may alter or revoke the will in like manner as if she were single. Her will must be executed and proved in like manner as other wills. Every will other than a nuncupative will must be in writing, and every will other than an olographic will and a nuncupative will, must be executed and attested as follows: 1. It must be subscribed at the end thereof by the testator himself, or some person in his presence, and by his direction must subscribe his name thereto. 2. The subscription must be made in the presence of the attesting witnesses, or acknowledged by the testator to them to have been made by him or by his authority. 3. The testator must, at the time of subscribing or acknowledging the same, declare to the attesting witnesses that the instrument is his will; and. 4. There must be two attesting witnesses, each of whom must sign his name as a witness at the end of the will, at the testator's request, and in his presence and in the presence of each other. An holographic will is one that is entirely written, dated, and signed by the hand of the testator himself. It is subject to no other form, and may be made in or out of this State, and need not be witnessed. A witness to a will should always write his name and residence. All devises or gifts to a subscribing witness are void unless there are two other competent subscribing witnesses. No will made out of this State is valid as a will in this State, unless executed according to the provisions of the code.

SYNOPSIS OF THE LAWS OF COLORADO

RELATING TO

BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES.

When executed out of the United States, before any court of record of any foreign Republic, Kingdom, Empire, State, Principality, or Province having a seal, the acknowledgment being certified by the judge or justice of such court to have been made before such court, and attested by the seal of such court; before the mayor or other chief officer of any city or town, having a seal, certified under such seal; before any consul or consuls of the United States within such foreign country, under the seal of his consulate. Witnesses and seals are unnecessary. Where a homestead is mortgaged or conveyed wife must acknowledge the instrument apart from her husband.

Actions. The distinction between actions at law and suits in equity is abolished. All actions must be prosecuted by the party in interest. Suit is begun by filing a complaint or issuing summons. Summons may be issued by the clerk of the court, or by plaintiff's attorney. Where defendant is a non-resident, service of summons may be made by publication where the proceeding is one in rem.

Administration of Estates. All demands not exhibited in one year are barred, unless such creditor can find other estate of the deceased not inventoried, saving, however, to femmes covert, persons of unsound minds, imprisoned or beyond the seas, the term of one year after their disability has been removed to exhibit their claims. Creditors having liens on the property of the decedent can not foreclose for one year unless permitted by the court and in no event until the claim has been allowed.

Agent. Any person doing business as manager, trustee, etc., or under the words "and company," or otherwise than under the personal names of all the constituent members associated, is required to file with the clerk and recorder of the county, in which such business is carried on, an affidavit setting forth the full christian and surnames and addresses of all the parties represented; and further affidavit is required upon any change or changes by withdrawal, addition, or otherwise. Persons so in default are guilty of a misdemeanor and are barred from prosecuting any suit for the collection of their debts. This does not apply to corporations whose articles are duly recorded.

Aliens. No restrictions as to aliens.

Arbitration. Differences may be submitted to arbitration by consent of the parties in the form prescribed by statute, and a judgment may be entered by the clerk of the district court upon the finding of the arbitrators.

Arrest. Imprisonment for debt, except in cases where one refuses to deliver up his estate for the benefit of his creditors, or in cases of tort or where there is a strong presumption of fraud, is abolished. In cases of debt founded upon tort, execution may issue against the body of the defendant, but not where the defendant shall have been convicted in a criminal proceeding for the same wrong. Imprisonment shall not exceed one year, and the prisoner is released upon payment of the debt. The writ of ne exeat is granted under proper circumstances. (See Fraudulent Purchasers.)

Assignments. An assignment to be valid must be for the benefit of all creditors without preference. The deed must be recorded where assignor resides, or if a non-resident where his principal business is carried on. The consent of creditors is presumed. Assignor must within four days render to the assignee an inventory of his assets, and a list of creditors with their residences and post-office addresses, and the amount of their respective claims. Assignee, within six days from the date of filing the deed, must file with the clerk of the court an inventory and valuation of the property of assignor under oath, and give bonds in double the amount of the inventory or valuation. Where real estate is assigned, assignee must file notice with the clerk and recorder of each county where the same is situated. This shall be constructive notice. Notice of assignment must be published. Assignee must send to each creditor a statement of the aggregate assets and liabilities, and notice to present his claim within three months. Claims filed within three months have priority over those filed thereafter, unless creditor can show he did not receive notice. At the end of three months, assignee shall file a full list of all creditors who have filed their claims, their residences, the amounts claimed, and amount and value of security held. Also a statement of all his proceedings. Any person interested may appear and file exceptions to any claim. Notice must be given to creditor, and he must file his reply within the time allowed to answer in a civil action. The court shall designate a time for hearing on the exception. If no exception be filed, or if the claim be allowed, the court shall enter judgment in favor of the creditor against assignor, and order assignee to make dividends in proportion to the claims of the creditors. Assignee is an officer of court and any interference with him or bringing suit against him without permission of the court is deemed contempt. The assignor is subject to order of court and may be compelled to file reports of all conveyances of real estate and sales of personal property not in the usual course of business and such sales shall not be valid until approved by the judge. The court may remove assignee and appoint another if he neglects to file bond and inventory, or upon petition of the majority in number and value of creditors unless it appear that such removal will not be for the best interest of the estate. Assignee has all the powers of assignor necessary to execute the trust, and right to sue for all property belonging to the estate. Assignee must file additional inventory for all additional property coming into his hands. The court may compel the appearance of a debtor or other witnesses. They may compel the debtor to deliver to the assignee any property embraced in the assignment. No assignment shall be invalid because of any misappropriation of property by the debtor, but assignee may recover such property; but debtor, until assignment, may convey and mortgage property in good faith. Majority of the number and value of creditors may, in writing, appoint an attorney to represent the estate and the court may allow him reasonable compensation. The assignor, creditors, and assignee may agree in writing to waive proceedings before the court and make such arrangements as may seem proper to them. Before assignee shall be discharged he shall file report and send written notice to all creditors at least ten days before hearing. Assignee must close his trust within one year unless the court extend the time. Valid claims of servants and employees of the assignor for wages earned during six months next preceding the date of the assignment not exceeding $50 unpaid and held by the person who earned the same and all taxes assessed under the laws of the State or of the United States are preferred claims. Any creditor may maintain action on bond of assignee for damages sustained by reason of his misfeasance. No mortgage or deed of trust or security shall be foreclosed within one year after the making of such assignment except under order of court and shall not be foreclosed otherwise than by suit in court before it has first been approved and allowed. And when such claim shall be approved, the court may order foreclosure within one year. The lien shall not be impaired by the suspension of the remedy.

Discharge of Debtor. Every person who shall hereafter make a general assignment, or shall have an assignment still pending, may be discharged from his debts upon compliance with this act. Such assignor desiring a discharge shall after three months and within one year after filing his assignment, or if the deed be filed prior to the passage of this act, then within one year after the passage of this act, file with the clerk of the court his application for such discharge, in which he shall state the name and address of the assignee and creditors and the amounts of their respective claims, together with an inventory of all his property. Such assignee shall annex an affidavit stating that the statements in the inventory are true, and that at no time during the insolvency has he disposed of property for the benefit of himself and family in defraud of his creditors, and has never created or acknowledged a debt for more than honestly due, nor fraudulently contracted any debt now due and not secured, and has not paid, secured, or compounded with any of his creditors with the view of fraudulently obtaining the discharge, and has not used any portion of his property within two months prior to the date in giving preference to any creditors. The court shall thereupon make and order requiring creditors to show cause why such assignor should not be discharged, fixing the day for hearing and to require a copy to be published for at least four weeks prior to the hearing, and that a copy be sent within five days to each of the creditors whose address is given and who have filed their claims. The application shall be regarded as a complaint, and any creditor may file at least ten days prior to the hearing his answer, duly verified, setting forth the ground of his objection to such discharge, which answer must controvert one or more material allegations of the affidavit. Allegations not controverted are taken as true. All issues so formed shall be tried together, and upon demand of the assignor or creditor, the case shall be tried by jury, otherwise by the court. The verdict is to be recorded as in other cases, and costs taxed against the unsuccessful party. When the jury can not agree the merits are to be tried by the court. The assignor may be examined on oath at the instance of the creditor, and such creditor may contradict or impeach him. Every creditor residing without the State who shall make proofs of his claim, or shall accept any dividend, or shall in any way participate in the proceedings, shall be deemed a party to such proceedings for the discharge of the assignor. The order discharging the assignor from his debts shall be final and binding upon all such resident creditors and all creditors residing without the State, subject to right of appeal. If it shall appear upon hearing that assignor has in all respects complied with the law, the court shall grant him a discharge from all debts prior to the making of such assignment, but such assignor will not be discharged from a debt shown to be fraudulently contracted. Or if a creditor has a lien, such creditor may enforce his lien. Where the assignor has given a preference in violation of this act without any intention to defraud his creditors, he shall be entitled to his discharge, if, within three months from the date of such finding, he causes such property to be conveyed to the assignee or pays to the assignee the amount of such indebtedness. The assignor, however, may pay necessary household expenses. The assignor shall not be discharged from any debt created in consequence of any defalcation as a public officer, or in a fiduciary capacity, nor for any debt of any person who has paid such fiduciary debt. Upon granting such discharge judgment shall be entered against the debtor in favor of such of his creditors as have appeared for the sum allowed and also a discharge thereof upon the docket. In any subsequent action brought against the assignor, such discharge may be pleaded as a bar to a recovery for indebtedness or liability found due in such proceedings and included in such judgment. Appeals may be taken by such assignor or by any creditor from such judgment within the time and in the same manner as appeals in ordinary civil actions; provided the appeal bond shall be conditioned to pay the cost of the appeal only. An appeal by some creditors shall not suspend the discharge from the debt of creditors not appealing. Discharge of any debtor shall not affect the liability of any surety, indorser, guarantor, joint-maker, or obligor of such assignor, or any other person liable for the same indebtedness. Property acquired or liability incurred subsequent to the petition for discharge are not affected. The County Court has concurrent jurisdiction with the District Court in matters of assignment, where the amount involved does not exceed $2,000, and no appeals are allowed to the District Court. Whenever such proceedings are pending in the County Court, and it shall be found the amount involved exceeds the sum of $2,000, the entire proceedings shall be transferred to the District Court. The provisions of the code apply to all proceedings under this act, except as otherwise provided. (In effect August 4, 1891.)

Attachments. In actions on contracts, the plaintiff may have the defendant's property attached, upon filing a bond with sufficient sureties in a sum not less than double the amount sued for; also an affidavit made by the plaintiff, his agent, or attorney, setting forth the amount and nature of the debt claimed, and one or more of the following grounds of attachment: 1. Non-residence of defendant. 2. That defendant is a foreign corporation. 3. That defendant is a corporation whose chief office or place of business is out of this State. 4. That defendant is evading service of process or has been absent from State for four months, during all which time the debt has been overdue. 5. That defendant is about to remove his property, or a material part thereof, out of this State. 6. That defendant has fraudulently conveyed or transferred, or assigned his property. 7. That defendant has fraudulently concealed, or removed or disposed of his property. 8. That defendant is about to fraudulently convey or transfer, or assign his property. 9. That defendant is about to fraudulently conceal or remove, or dispose of his property, or has departed or is about to depart from this State, with the intention of having his effects removed from this State. 10. That defendant has failed or refused to pay the price or value of any article delivered to him, which he should have paid for upon delivery. 11. That defendant has failed or refused to pay the price or value of any work or labor performed, or for any service rendered by the plaintiff, at the instance of the defendant, and which should have been paid at the completion of such work or services. 12. That the defendant fraudulently contracted the debt, or by any fraudulent conduct, procured money or property of the plaintiff. Garnishee process will issue in aid of attachment when property of the debtor is found in the possession of third persons. After an attachment suit has been commenced, other creditors, upon filing complaint, affidavit, and bond before judgment in first suit, may be made co-plaintiffs with first attaching creditor and prorate in the attached property. If sufficient property is attached to render the debtor insolvent, other creditors whose debts are not due may have an attachment and share in the proceeds. A dismissal of the suit of first attaching creditor does not affect subsequent attachments. Where it appears necessary by affidavit filed, the writ may be executed on Sunday. In all cases of attachment any person other than the defendant, claiming any of the property attached or any interest therein, may intervene without giving bond, but the property shall not thereby be released.

Banks, Savings. Savings banks shall have a capital of not less than $25,000, which shall be paid in cash. The board of directors or trustees may invest one-half of the deposits made with them upon personal security or in bonds or stock of this State or of the United States, or in the bonds of any county, State, or school district of this State, legally authorized to issue such bonds, or loan the sum upon bonds secured by mortgage upon unincumbered real estate worth at least double the amount loaned.

Banks, State. Any number of persons, not less than three, may establish a bank of discount and deposit; the capital stock must not be less than $30,000; 50 per cent to be paid in before the opening of the bank, and a certificate to that effect under the oath of the president and cashier, to be filed in the office of the secretary of State, and in the office of the recorder of deeds in the county where such bank is located; and no bank to continue to transact business beyond the period of one year unless the capital stock shall have been fully paid up in cash and a like certificate filed as before stated. Shareholders in banks, savings banks, trust deposit and security associations shall be held individually responsible for debts, contracts, and engagements of said association in double the amount of the par value of the stock owned by them respectively. Any banker, bank officer, or employe who receives money or property after he shall have had knowledge of the insolvency of said bank, shall be deemed guilty of larceny, and, on conviction, punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary for not less than one year nor more than ten years, and in addition shall be individually responsible for the property received. Loans to any individual or corporation are limited to 25 per cent of the paid-up stock of the bank. Loans to an officer or director of the bank are limited to 90 per cent of the stock held by such officer or director.

Bills of Lading and Promissory Notes. (See Commercial Paper.)

Chattel Mortgages are good for two years where sum secured does not exceed $2,500; for five years, when sum does not exceed $20,000, and not exceeding ten years where sum secured exceeds $20,000; but if the sum secured be greater than $2,500 mortgagee must annually record statement stating that the mortgage secures a bona fide indebtedness, the portion which has been paid, and the amount still due. Mortgages of merchandise invalid unless possession delivered to mortgagee. Disposing of mortgaged property is larceny. Chattel mortgagee, his agent or attorney, now allowed thirty days after maturity of debt in which to take possession of mortgaged chattels, and during said thirty days, or until possession is taken by mortgagee, his agent or attorney, the mortgagor shall have the right to pay said debt and have mortgage discharged as if debt had been paid at maturity.

Collaterals. Persons holding stocks in corporations as collateral security not personally liable as a stockholder for corporate debts. A pledgee of stock may nevertheless represent same at corporate meetings.

Commercial Paper. To be negotiable, an instrument must contain an unconditional order or promise to pay to bearer, or order, a certain sum of money on demand, or at a fixed or determinable time. The sum payable may be in a particular kind of current money; with interest; with exchange; by stated installments; with provision that upon default of payment of any instrument or of interest, the whole shall become due. The instrument may authorize in case of non-payment the sale of collateral securities, or confession of judgment, or waive benefit of any law intended for the advantage of the obligor. An instrument payable on contingency is not negotiable. The date expressed is prima facie the true date. One in possession of an incomplete instrument has prima facie authority to fill in the blanks, but authority must be strictly pursued. An incomplete instrument not delivered is not enforceable. Holder may treat an ambiguous instrument, either as a bill or a note. Where capacity of person signing is not clear he is deemed an indorser. A person adding to his signature words indicating that he signs on behalf of a principal, or in a representative capacity, is not liable if duly authorized; but mere words of description without disclosing his principal does not exempt him. A signature by "Procuration" gives notice that agent's authority is limited. Consideration is prima facie presumed. A pre-existing debt is a valuable consideration. A holder having a lien on the instrument is a holder for value to the extent of his lien. An accommodation party is liable to a holder for value with notice. Indorsement must be written on the instrument itself or upon a paper attached. It may be restrictive—prohibiting further negotiation, or vesting title for the use of another; qualified—amounting merely to an assignment, or conditional. Two or more payees, unless partners, must all indorse unless one has authority for all. An instrument payable to a person as cashier or other fiscal officer of a bank or corporation is deemed prima facie payable to the bank or corporation, and may be indorsed by the corporation or by the officer. For one to be a holder in due course the instrument must be complete and regular, and taken in good faith for value before overdue, and without notice of any infirmity in the instrument or defect in title. To constitute notice of an infirmity or defect, the person must have had actual knowledge or knowledge of such facts that taking it amounted to bad faith. Holder is deemed prima facie holder in due course; but when the title of a person who has negotiated it is shown to be defective, the burden is upon the holder to prove himself a holder in due course. A drawer may insert an express stipulation negativing or limiting his liability. A qualified indorser warrants the genuineness of the instrument; that he has a good title, and that he has no knowledge of any invalidity. An unqualified indorser warrants the instrument valid and subsisting. One indorsing an instrument before delivery is liable as indorser. Joint payees or indorsees who indorse are deemed to indorse jointly and severally. Except when excused, presentment for payment, or acceptance on the day when due is necessary to charge drawer or indorser of an instrument. Presentment must be made to all parties personally liable unless one has authority for all. Every negotiable instrument is payable at the time fixed without grace. When the day falls on Sunday or a holiday the instrument must be presented on the next succeeding business day. An instrument payable at a bank is equivalent to an order to the bank to pay the same for the account of the principal debtor. Except when excused, notice of non-acceptance or non-payment must be given to the drawer and to each indorser, or his agent, otherwise they are discharged. Notice may be given by holder or by anyone in his behalf, and may be in writing or oral, personal or through the mails, in any terms sufficient to apprise the parties. Notice must be given to all parties unless they are partners or one is authorized to accept for all. Notice must be given on the next business day after dishonor, or if parties reside in different places, mailed on such day. Waiver of protest is deemed a waiver of formal protest, presentment, and notice of dishonor. Protest is required only in case of dishonored bills appearing on their face to be foreign. It is optional in case of other negotiable instruments. Bills drawn and payable within this State are inland; others are foreign. Protest may be made by notary public or by any responsible resident of the place where the bill is dishonored, in the presence of two witnesses. Parties secondarily liable are discharged by extension of time of payment. Payment by a party secondarily liable, unless an accommodation party does not discharge the instrument, but he may again negotiate it. Renunciation of holder's rights against a party must be in writing, unless the instrument be delivered up. Material alteration voids an instrument, except as against those assenting; but holder in due course, not a party to the alteration, may enforce the instrument according to its origin al tenor. A bill does not operate as an assignment of funds, and drawee is not liable until he accepts. The drawee or indorser may insert the name of the person called referee in case of need, to whom holder will resort if he see fit. Acceptance must be in writing. If written on a paper other than a bill, whether before or after the bill is drawn, it does not bind acceptor except in favor of a person taking the bill for value on the faith thereof. A qualified acceptance discharges drawer and indorser unless they assent. Assent is presumed unless they dissent. Holder can refuse to receive a qualified acceptance. No presentment for payment is necessary after non-acceptance. A protested bill not overdue may be accepted supra-protest for honor of any party liable. Maturity is calculated from the date of noting non-acceptance, not from date of acceptance for honor. Bill protested for non-payment may be paid supra protest for the honor of any person liable, for one for whose account it was drawn. A note drawn to maker's order is not complete until indorsed by him. A check must be presented within a reasonable time or drawer will be discharged to the extent of the loss caused by the delay. The bank is not liable to the holder until it accepts or certifies the check. When not otherwise provided by this Act, the Law Merchant prevails. This Act applies only to instruments executed on or after July 20, 1897.

Contracts. The following must be in writing: Contracts for leasing of land for period longer than one year or for the sale of lands; every agreement which by its terms is not to be performed within one year; every special promise to answer for the debt, default or miscarriage of another; every agreement, promise, or undertaking made upon consideration of marriage, except mutual promise to marry, and every contract for the sale of any goods, chattels, or things in action, for the price of $50 or more. A creditor of joint debtors may release one or more of such debtors and such release shall operate as a full discharge of such debtor or debtors so released, but such release shall not release or discharge or affect the liability of the remaining debtor or debtors. Such release shall be taken and held to be a payment of the indebtedness of the full proportionate share of the debtor or debtors so released. In case one or more joint debtors are released, no one of the remaining debtors shall be liable for more than his proportionate share of the indebtedness unless he is the principal debtor and the debtor released is his surety; in which case such principal debtor or debtors shall be liable for the whole of the remainder of the indebtedness. Nothing herein shall affect or change the right of a surety who has paid his proportionate share of indebtedness from recovering the same from his principal debtor.

Conveyances. No joint tenancy unless expressly declared in the deed. Unless so declared grantees shall be deemed tenants in common. Lands not in possession may be conveyed. Not necessary for wife to join in deed except in a conveyance of or a mortgage of a homestead. Seals are unnecessary. Unacknowledged deeds are deemed notice from the date of filing but they can not be read in evidence unless subsequently acknowledged or proved. (See Acknowledgments.)

Corporations. Three or more persons may form a corporation by filing a certificate in the proper offices, stating the name, objects for which organized, amount of capital stock, number of shares, term of existence (not to exceed twenty years, except in particular cases), number of directors, and names of those to manage the corporation for the first year, the place where principal office is to be kept, and counties in which its business is to be carried on. They may sue and be sued the same as individuals, may borrow money and pledge their franchises and property to secure the same. But the directors of a mining or manufacturing corporation cannot encumber the mines or plant of such corporation until the question has been submitted to the stockholders and a majority vote of all the shares of stock has been made in favor of such proposition; and such mortgage or encumbrance without such consent is absolutely void. Articles of incorporation may be amended in any respect except as to the objects of incorporation. Directors shall be not less than three nor more than thirteen, and must be stockholders. Notice of annual meeting, must be published for ten days in a newspaper published nearest the principal office of the company and also by delivering personally or depositing in the postoffice, at least thirty days before the meeting, a notice addressed to each stockholder. Shareholders may be represented by proxy, and in case a quorum is not present, annual meeting may be adjourned for a period not exceeding thirty days. Cumulative method of balloting for directors is permitted. The omission of annual meeting does not dissolve the corporation, but such annual meeting may be held at such time as the board of directors may direct. Stockholders are liable for corporate debts to the amount unpaid upon the stock. When the stock becomes fully paid up, a certificate to that effect should be filed in the office of the secretary of State, and in the county wherein the corporation is doing business. In case the stock is not fully paid up and a certificate filed, the directors are required annually, and within sixty days from January 1st, to file a report stating the amount of the capital stock, the proportion actually paid in, and the amount of existing debts. A failure to file such report makes all the directors or trustees of the company jointly and severally liable for all the debts of the company contracted during the year next preceding the time when such report should have been filed. No meetings of the board of directors can be held outside the State unless so provided by the articles of incorporation. Corporations may be dissolved by a two-thirds vote of the entire stock, but no dissolution will impair remedies against the corporation for liabilities previously incurred, nor will it take effect until all the corporate debts have been paid. Foreign corporations are not permitted to do business in this State until they have filed with the secretary of State a copy of their charter, and a copy of the incorporation act of the State under which they are organized. They must also designate by a certificate filed in the office of the secretary of State, an agent residing at the principal place of business of the company in this State, upon whom process can be served. Such foreign corporations are subject to all the liabilities and duties imposed upon domestic corporations. They can not effect a reconstruction by liquidation or otherwise, so as to effect a citizen of this State, unless all his rights and interests are protected. No foreign corporation can hold real estate except as provided by statute: can not mortgage, pledge, or otherwise encumber real or personal property to the injury of citizens of Colorado. Fee for filing Articles of Incorporation, whether foreign or domestic, is $10; and 15 cents on each thousand shares in excess of $50,000. A corporation under the laws of Colorado, not administered upon as an expired corporation or gone into liquidation or settled its affairs, may extend its charter by special meeting of the stockholders called by 10 per cent of the entire capital stock, and notice of such meeting, stating time, place, and purpose, published four consecutive weeks in a newspaper printed nearest its principal office, notice also to be mailed to each stockholder at least thirty days prior to the meeting; vote taken by ballot; if majority vote in favor of same, president and secretary, under seal of the company, shall certify the fact and file certificate in office of Recorder of Deeds in each county where the company does business and one in the office of the Secretary of State. Corporate life shall be renewed for entire term, not exceeding twenty years. Corporation shall pay to Secretary of State same fee now provided by law for filing corporation papers. Term of existence shall not be extended after the period of one year from and after the expiration of its corporate existence. Such extension shall not renew corporate franchises granted by municipalities. Provided that corporations still in active operation shall have the right to extend their corporate existence even though their charter has expired more than one year.

Courts. Justices of the peace have jurisdiction in matters involving less than $300, county courts in matters involving less than $2,000, except in the administration of estates. The district court is the court of general jurisdiction. The court of appeals has final jurisdiction in appealed cases involving less than $2,500 where the controversy does not involve a freehold or franchise, or the construction of a statute. The supreme court is the court of final appeal, and also has some original jurisdiction, as in cases of habeas corpus, mandamus and other remedial writs.

Days of Grace. (See Commercial Paper.)

Depositions. The deposition of a witness out of the State shall be taken upon commission issued by the clerk of the court where the suit is pending, on the application of either party, on five days' previous notice to the other, which notice shall be accompanied by a copy of the interrogatories to be attached to the commission. It may be issued to a person agreed upon by the parties or to any judge or justice of the peace, or to a commissioner appointed by the governor of the State to take affidavits and depositions in other States and Territories, or to a notary public. The adverse party may file and have attached to the commission such cross-interrogatories as he may desire. Parties may agree by written stipulation to take the deposition orally.

Descents and Distributions. The estate of an intestate descends, one-half to the surviving husband or wife, and the residue to the surviving children and descendants of children; if such intestate leave no child, nor descendants of any children, then the whole of the estate descends to such surviving husband or wife. Except as enumerated the estate of every intestate descends: 1. To his children surviving, and the descendants of his children who are dead. 2. If there be no children nor their descendants, then to his father; and if there be no father, then to his mother; and if there be no mother, then to the brothers and sisters, and to the descendants of the brothers and sisters who are dead, the descendants, collectively, taking the share of their immediate ancestors in equal parts. 3. If there be no children, nor their descendants, nor father, mother, brothers, sisters, nor descendants of deceased brothers or sisters, nor husband nor wife living, then to the grandfather, grandmother, uncles, aunts, and their descendants, the descendants taking collectively the share of their immediate ancestors in equal parts. 4. If none of the relatives above enumerated be living, then to the nearest lineal ancestor and their descendants, the descendants collectively taking the share of their immediate ancestors in equal parts.

Divorce. Causes for divorce are: 1. Impotency. 2. A husband or wife living. 3. Adultery. 4. Desertion for one year. 5. Cruelty. 6. Failure to support for one year. 7. Habitual drunkenness for one year. 8. Conviction of felony. Personal service of summons must be made if defendant within the State. Plaintiff must be present, and in case defendant defaults, the court appoints an attorney to defend the action. Except in cases of adultery or extreme cruelty, plaintiff must have been a bona fide resident of the State for one year.

Dower. Dower and courtesy are abolished.

Executions. Executions may be issued immediately where no appeal is taken, and when placed in the hands of an officer become a lien upon all personal property of the debtor not exempt, in the county to which it is issued, and it may be directed to the sheriff of any county in the State. Executions may issue upon judgments at any time within twenty years from the date of entry, but from and after ten years from the entry of judgment, it is considered satisfied unless revived as provided by law. Executions are returnable in ninety days in courts of record, and thirty days in justice's courts. Debtor or legal representative has six months to redeem land from sale under execution. Judgment creditor has nine months.

Exemptions. Homestead, consisting of house and lot or lots in any town or city, or of a farm of any number of acres, so that the value does not exceed $2,000, when such homestead has been entered of record as such, and is occupied by a householder the head of a family. Personal property exempt includes all wearing apparel of the debtor and his family, pictures, school books and library, beds and bedding, stoves, cooking utensils, and household furniture, not exceeding $100; provisions for six months, tools, implements, or stock in trade, up to $200; one cow and calf, ten sheep and necessary food for six months; working animals, up to $200; the library and implements of a professional man up to $300; one bicycle and one sewing machine. Persons not the heads of families are entitled to tools, working animals, and stock in trade, not exceeding $300 in value. All money received as a pension, whether pensioner is head of family or not. When debtor dies or absconds the money thus exempted is exempt to his wife or children.

Fraud. Any person or persons who shall be a party to any fraudulent conveyance or sale of any lands, tenements or hereditaments, goods or chattels, or any right or interest issuing out of the same, or who shall conceal, secrete, remove, or dispose of any goods or chattels, or shall be a party to any bond, suit, judgment or execution, contract or conveyance had, made, or contrived with intent on the part of said parties, in either case, to deceive and defraud, or defeat, hinder, or delay the creditor or creditors, of such person or persons aforesaid in the collection of their just debts, damages, or demands, such person or persons shall, on conviction of either or all of said offenses, be punished by confining in the penitentiary for a term not exceeding three years.

Fraudulent Purchasers on Credit. One who purchases goods on credit under an assumed or fictitious name with intent to defraud the seller; or having purchased goods on credit shall, with intent to defraud the seller, sell, hypothecate, or otherwise dispose of them out of the usual course of business; or secrete himself, or abscond, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Garnishment. (See Attachments.)

Holidays. The first day of January, the twenty-second day of February, the thirtieth day of May, the fourth day of July, the first Monday in September (Labor Day), any day appointed by the governor or president as a day of thanksgiving, the twenty-fifth day of December, and Saturday afternoons during the months of June, July and August of each year are legal holidays. When holidays fall on Sunday, the Monday following shall be considered as the holiday. Notes maturing on Sunday or holidays are deemed payable on the day following.

Husband and Wife retain their separate property, real and personal, owned at marriage, or acquired thereafter by gift, and the rents, issues, profits, and proceeds thereof, and any real, personal or mixed property which shall come to them by descent, devise, or bequest, or the gift of any person, including presents from the husband — for their own separate use, and not liable for their husbands' debts. Wife may carry on trade or business, sue and be sued, contract debts, and execute promissory notes, bonds, bills of exchange, and other instruments precisely as if sole, and may convey real estate without the husband joining in the deed. A married woman may make a will, but can not bequeath more than half her property away from her husband without his consent in writing. The husband can not by will deprive his wife of over one-half of his property. In all marriages hereafter contracted, the husband shall be liable for the debts and the liabilities of the wife contracted before marriage, to the extent of the real and personal property he may receive with or through her, or derive from the sale or rent of her lands, and no further. The expenses of the family and the education of the children are chargeable from the property of both husband and wife, or either of them, and in relation thereto they may be sued jointly or severally.

Interest. The legal rate is 8 per cent and the same is allowed on overdue bonds, bills, promissory notes, judgments, county, town, and city warrants, and other like evidences or certificates of municipal indebtedness. There are no usury laws.

Judgments. A transcript of judgment may be filed in the office of the county clerk and recorder of any county in the State, and thereupon such judgment becomes a lien upon all real property owned by the judgment debtor in that county. The lien holds for six years from the entry of judgment. A judgment should be revived every ten years. (See Executions.)

Limitations. Actions of debt founded upon contract, express or implied; upon judgments of courts not courts of record; for arrears of rent; of assumpsit on a case founded on any contract; for waste and trespass on land and for replevin, must be begun within six years after the cause of action accrues. Actions against sheriffs and coroners, for liability incurred by them in their official capacity, shall be brought within one year after the cause of action accrues. Bills of relief on the ground of fraud must be filed within three years after the discovery of the fraud by the aggrieved party; in case of a trust not cognizable by the courts of common law within five years. In actions accruing out of the State upon contract, express or implied, or upon any sealed instrument in writing, or judgment or decree of any court, more than six years before the commencement of the action, the statute of limitations may be pleaded in bar of recovery. If a judgment has been rendered without this State more than three months before suit in this State, and is based on a cause of action more than six years old, such cause of action can be pleaded in bar of the judgment. Persons under the age of twenty-one years, married women, persons insane, imprisoned, or absent from the United States, may bring any of the foregoing actions within the time in this chapter respectively limited after the disability shall be removed. If any person entitled to bring any of the foregoing actions shall die before the expiration of the time limited therefor, and if the cause of action does by law survive, the action may be commenced by the executor or administrator of the deceased person at any time within one year after the grant of letters testamentary or of administration, and not afterwards, if barred by the provisions of this chapter. Payment by one co-obligor will not take the case out of the statute as to the others.

Married Women. (See Husband and Wife.)

Mortgages. The old form of trust deed has been practically abolished. A public trustee is now appointed in each county, and where it is desired to use the old form of trust deed, the public trustee must be named as trustee. In case any person not the public trustee is named as trustee, the instrument is deemed a mortgage, and must be foreclosed the same as a mortgage. In case the public trustee is named, the property is sold by him as provided in the deed, after advertisement in a newspaper designated in the trust deed, and such advertisement shall not be less than four weeks. Upon a sale by the public trustee, a certificate of sale is issued. A subsequent incumbrancer may redeem by paying the amount bid, and the sum so paid shall be added to the amount of the subsequent incumbrance. The grantor in the trust deed, or his assigns may redeem from sale within six months. After six months, and within nine months, a judgment creditor may redeem. After the expiration of the period of redemption, the public trustee executes a deed to the property to the holder of the certificate of sale, which is assignable. Redemption from sales of mortgaged property the same as other sales under executions.

Notes and Bills of Exchange. (See Commercial Papers.)

Powers of Attorney. Powers of attorney for the conveyance of lands must be acknowledged in the same manner as deeds, and must be recorded in the same county wherein the real property to be conveyed is situate.

Protest. (See Commercial Paper.)

Replevin. A writ of replevin may issue in any suit to recover possession of personal property upon filing a bond in double the value of the property, together with an affidavit stating that plaintiff is the owner of the property in controversy or is lawfully entitled to the possession thereof; that it is wrongfully detained by the defendant; that the same has not been taken for a tax, assessment, or fine, or under execution, or attachment issued against the property of the plaintiff, or if seized, that it is exempt; and the real value of the property. At any time within forty-eight hours from the service of the writ, the defendant may have the property redelivered to him by executing a bond in double the value of the property, with two or more sureties. The sheriff acting under such writ, after publicly demanding the delivery of the property, may break open a building, if delivery is refused.

Taxes are a perpetual lien on real estate until paid. Taxes may be paid in two semi-annual installments; the first half on or before the last day of January, and the residue on or before the last day of July of the year following the one in which they are assessed. Real estate sold for taxes redeemed any time within three years. All mines and mining property of the class heretofore exempted by the constitution of the State shall be assessed and taxed, and the taxes levied and enforced by sale of the property taxed in default of payment, as is provided by law in the case of other classes of taxable real properties. Delinquent taxes carry interest at the rate of 24 per cent per annum for first six months, 18 per cent for the following six months, and 12 per cent thereafter.

Wills. Males of the age of twenty-one years, and females of the age of eighteen years, may dispose of their property by will, but personal property may be disposed of by will by any person of the age of seventeen years. Wills devising real estate shall be in writing signed by the testator or some one for him in his presence and at his direction, and attested in his presence by two or more credible witnesses. Personal property may be devised by a nuncupative will if made in the presence of two credible witnesses and by them reduced to writing within a reasonable time afterwards. Unless otherwise expressed in the will, an after-born child will share in the property. (See Husband and Wife.)

SYNOPSIS OF THE LAWS OF CONNECTICUT

RELATING TO

BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES.

Prepared and Revised by MESSRS. TYLER, INGERSOLL & MORAN, Attorneys at Law, New Haven. (See Card in Attorneys' List.)

Accounts. In all actions for a book debt, the entries of the parties in their respective books shall be admissible in evidence. (For limitation of actions on accounts, see Limitation to Suits.)

Acknowledgments. (See Conveyances.)

Actions. There is but one form of civil action. Mesne process in civil actions consists of a writ of summons or attachment, describing the parties, the court to which it is returnable, and the time and place of appearance, and embodies the plaintiff's complaint. All such writs shall be signed by a justice of the peace, commissioner of the superior court, or judge or clerk of the court to which it is returnable. The complaint should contain a concise statement of the facts constituting the cause of action and a demand for relief; and legal and equitable relief may be demanded in the same action, except in actions before justices of the peace, who have no equity jurisdiction. Process returnable to a justice of the peace must be served on the defendant at least six days before the return day. If returnable to the superior court, or court of common pleas, it must be served at least twelve days before the return day, except in actions returnable to the court of common pleas for New Haven County, service of which may be made six days inclusive before the return day if the defendant resides in the town of New Haven. Garnishees must be served at least twelve days before the return day in any court.

Administration of Estates. The probate court has jurisdiction of deceased estates. Administration on intestate estates is granted to the husband or wife, or next of kin or to both. On their refusal or incapacity, or upon objection by any creditor or heir to such appointment, then to any other person whom the court deems proper. Bonds, which must be furnished by the administrators or executors, are usually made double the estimated value of the personal property. Bonds of surety companies authorized to do business in the State may be accepted. Where the will waives the bond a nominal bond is required, usually in double the amount of the debts of the testator. Deceased estates may be settled as solvent or insolvent. Not less than six months are limited for the presentation of claims against deceased estates, whether solvent or insolvent. Such claims are presented to the administrator or executor if the estate is solvent, or to commissioners appointed by the probate court if the estate is insolvent. Suit must be brought within four months from the time of receiving written notice from the administrator or executor of a solvent estate of the disallowance of a claim. Twelve months is the usual time allowed for the settlement of deceased estates.

Affidavits. Civil actions do not ordinarily have to be supported by affidavits. Affidavits have little weight as evidence, and are rarely admitted as such except in ex parte matters, such as uncontested divorce cases, and the like, where they are sometimes received.

Aliens. Any alien resident of any of the United States, and any citizen of France, so long as France shall accord the same right to citizens of the United States, may purchase, hold, inherit, or transfer real estate in this State in as full a manner as native-born citizens. Real estate may be acquired and held by any non-resident alien for mining and quarrying purposes, but shall be forfeited if not used for such purposes for ten consecutive years.

Appeals. Appeals may be taken from the judgments of justices of the peace, except that no such appeal can be taken in actions of summary process. Appeals may be taken from city courts and the Waterbury district court to the superior court where the matter in demand is of sufficient amount. Appeals may be taken from the orders or decrees of the probate court to the superior court, also from the decision of the superior court, court of common pleas, Waterbury district court, or any city court, on questions of law, to the supreme court of errors.

Arbitration. When the parties to any action, pending in court, desire to refer it to arbitration, each may choose one arbitrator and the court may appoint a third, and the award of such arbitrators, returned to and accepted by the court, shall be final, and the judgment shall be rendered pursuant thereto, and execution granted thereon, with costs.

Arrest. The body is exempt in ordinary actions for debts, except for money received by one acting in a fiduciary capacity, or where there is fraud in contracting the debt or in concealing attachable property so that it may not be reached by civil process. In actions generally, no attachment shall be granted against the body unless each cause of action in the complaint be such that execution may be issued against the body of the defendant upon the judgment founded thereon. Debtors may be arrested in actions for fraud or torts, and can give bail to the officer making the arrest for their appearance before the court to which the writ upon which the arrest is made is returnable. A debtor committed to jail on civil process can be released on taking poor debtors' oath. The debtor will not be released if his oath is overcome by rebutting evidence.

Assignments and Insolvency. Voluntary assignments in insolvency can be made by any debtor to a trustee of his own selection, subject to the substitution of another by the probate court, if deemed proper. Assigning debtor must lodge with court of probate, within five days after assignment, a list verified under oath of his creditors, with their residences and the amounts severally due them, and a schedule of his property. A creditor for over $100, having brought suit and finding no property to attach, may apply to the probate court for the appointment of a trustee in insolvency of the debtor's estate. Trustee takes all debtor's estate not exempt; and all incomplete levies or attachments on mesne process commenced within sixty days previous, are dissolved. Three to six months are allowed to prove claims. The debtor may receive an allowance for his support and that of his family; and if the estate pays 70 per cent of all claims proved, he obtains a full discharge, and his property is exempt for two years from all legal process as against any claim that might have been proved against his estate. Upon payment of 50 per cent the court, if requested by the debtor, may order the trustee to pay the debtor 25 per cent of the residue of such estate to be exempt from attachment, provided such payment does not exceed $1,000. All debts due any laborer or mechanic for personal wages for labor performed within three months next preceding the assignment are to be paid in full to the amount of $10), before the general liabilities of the debtor are paid.

Attachments. Attachment may be made upon the original process, and is served by attaching the goods or lands of the defendant, or, if sufficient goods be not found, the person in tort actions. Attachments may be granted upon all complaints containing a money demand. Supplemental attachment may be ordered by the court upon application at any time during the pendency of the action. If the plaintiff be a non-resident, he is required to furnish a bond for prosecution. An attachment lien expires unless execution is levied within sixty days after final judgment upon the attached personal property, or within four months upon the attached real estate.

Banks and Banking. Banks are organized only upon special enactment of the Legislature; they cannot be organized under the general joint-stock act. Every bank and trust company shall always keep in its banking office, gold and silver coin, bullion, bonds, legal tender notes of the United States, or National bank currency to an amount not less than one-tenth of all its liabilities, except its capital stock, but the bonds of the United States so included in its reserve fund shall never exceed one-twentieth of said liabilities. No trust company or banking corporation shall declare any dividend except from its net earnings, after deducting all losses, over drafts and obligations suspended or over due, nor make any loan or discount on a pledge of its own stock; nor establish any branch office or agency thereof, or employ any agent or person to make loans or discounts at any other place than the banking house. No bank or trust company shall give credit to any party who shall thereby become liable to it for more than 15 per cent of its capital stock actually paid in, together with the surplus, and every bank or trust company which shall violate the provisions of this section shall pay to the State not less than $1,000. No bank shall discount any paper made, accepted, or indorsed by its cashier, or any of its clerks, or by any partnership of which either is a member. When the loans and discounts of any bank to parties in this State shall in the aggregate amount to its capital stock, it may loan to parties out of this State any excess or surplus over the amount of its capital stock, and not otherwise. The stockholders of any bank, at the annual meeting, or at any special meeting which any five stockholders owning not less in all than one hundred shares of stock are authorized to call for that purpose, may examine the books, accounts, securities, and expenditures of the bank. No stock in any bank shall be voted on at any meeting of the stockholders which is not transferable, or which has been transferred, hypothecated, or pledged to any bank, or to any person in trust for any bank; and when the number of shares to be held by any party is limited, no stock held in trust for such party shall be voted on beyond what, with that standing in his name shall equal the amount so limited; and any person who shall vote upon any shares of stock in any bank in violation of this section, shall be disqualified from holding any office in such bank for one year thereafter. No person shall vote at any meeting of the stockholders of any bank as the attorney of another without a power of attorney; and when at any meeting the right of any person to vote on any stock is denied, he shall not be permitted to vote until he has lodged with the presiding officer of said meeting his affidavit, stating his interest in said stock, and also the character and amount of the interest, if any, owned by any other person therein. No person not a resident of this State shall act as a director of any bank in this State, and no director of any bank in this State shall act as a director in any other bank. No director in any bank shall be obligated to such bank to an amount exceeding 5 per cent of its capital actually paid in together with the surplus, and no bank shall permit its directors to become obligated to it to an amount at any one time exceeding in the whole the sum of 20 per cent on its capital stock actually paid in, together with the surplus. Any bank which shall violate the provisions of this section shall forfeit to this State not less than $500 nor more than $1,000. If any director of any bank shall receive any compensation for indorsing any paper discounted by such bank, he shall forfeit to the State the full amount of such paper. No bank shall declare any dividend except from its earnings remaining after deducting all losses, all sums due for expenses, all overdue and unsecured debts, and an allowance for depreciation of securities and investments; and the directors voting for any dividend not in conformity with the provisions of this section shall be subject jointly and severally to a fine of $500. Any reduction of capital stock must be reported to, and approved by the Legislature before the same become valid. Cashiers must give bonds with surities in the sum of not less than $10,000, and if any cashier neglects for the period of thirty days to give bond, his office becomes vacant. Cashiers must file quarterly statements, under oath, with the bank commissioners each year, showing the resources and liabilities of their banks, and also publish the same in a newspaper published in the county where the bank is located. Cashiers must publish the names of stockholders whose dividends remain unclaimed for one year. Stock of non-residents in National banking association is taxed 1½ per centum of its value, the duty of paying the tax being on the Cashier of the bank. Persons may do a general banking business, either as individuals or co-partners. The law does not impose any restraints nor assume any control in such cases. Most of the banking of the State is done by National banks, and their State charters, where they exist, and State regulations are suspended during the continuance of such banks under the National bank act. Savings banks may invest, not exceeding 20 per centum of their deposits and surplus, in notes secured by pledge of dividend-paying stocks or interest-bearing bonds as collateral security; not exceeding 25 per centum thereof, in notes secured by indorsement, guaranty, or joint and several obligation of two or more parties, residents of this State; and may invest also in the purchase of the authorized bonds of the United States; in the authorized bonds or interest-bearing obligations of any of the New England States, and in those of certain other specified States and municipal corporations.

Chattel Mortgages. (See Mortgages and Conditional Sales.)

Collateral Inheritance or Succession Tax. (See Taxes.)

Conditional Sales. All contracts for the sale of personal property, except household furniture, musical instruments, bicycles, and such property as is by law exempt from attachment and execution, conditioned that the title thereto shall remain in the vendor after delivery, must be in writing, describing the property and all conditions of sale, and acknowledged before proper authority, and recorded in town where vendee resides. If not made as required, they are held to be absolute sales, except as between the vendor and vendee or their personal representatives. A crime to conceal or convey personal property held on such conditional sale.

Conveyances. All conveyances of land must be in writing, signed, sealed, and acknowledged by the grantor, and attested by two subscribing witnesses. The word "seal" or the letters (L. S) may be used for a seal. The acknowledgment is made by the grantor before a judge of a court of record of this State or of the United States, a clerk of the superior court, court of common pleas, or district court, justice of the peace, commissioner of the school fund, commissioner of the superior court, notary public, town clerk, or assistant town clerk, if in this State, and if in any other State or Territory of the United States, then before a commissioner appointed by the governor of this State, or any officer authorized to take the acknowledgment of deeds in such State or Territory, and if in a foreign country, before any consul of the United States, or notary public, or justice of the peace in such foreign country. Conveyances of real estate situated in this State, executed and acknowledged in any other State or Territory, in conformity with the laws of such State or Territory, are valid. If the land conveyed belongs to the wife, the husband should join in the conveyance, if married before April 20, 1877. If the land conveyed belongs to the husband, the wife need not join in the conveyance. No separate examination of married women is required in taking her acknowledgment. Conveyances, including leases for more than one year, to be effectual against any other person than the grantor and his heirs must be recorded on the town records of the town in which the land lies.

Corporations. Joint stock corporations may be formed by any three or more persons, who shall associate by written articles which shall express their agreement to constitute a corporation, the name by which it shall be known, the purpose for which it is constituted, the town in this State in which it is to be located, the amount of its capital stock, and the number of shares each person is to take, which shares shall each be of the par value of $100, $50, or $25, as may be prescribed. The name of such a corporation must commence with "The" and end with "Company" or "Corporation," which name is not then in use by any existing corporation in this State. The business must not be either trust, insurance, buying and selling real estate, banking, or trading in bonds, notes, or other evidence of indebtedness, or trafficking in letters patent or patent rights. All the capital stock must be subscribed for by bona fide subscribers, and at least 20 per cent paid for in cash. May issue preferred stock of different classes of preferences. Provision is made for winding up the affairs of the corporation and for its dissolution by the superior court. Three or more persons may associate for any lawful purpose, where no capital stock is created, and when so associated and its articles of association duly attested have been lodged with the secretary of State and the town clerk, such association shall be a body politic and corporate, and may hold property, the annual income of which shall not exceed $5,000. The name of every private corporation must indicate that it is a corporation.

Courts. Terms and Jurisdiction. Superior court holds one term per year in each county for the trial of civil causes, and has jurisdiction in all law and equity cases exceeding $500, and exceeding $100 in those counties where there are no courts of common pleas. Court of common pleas in Hartford, Fairfield, New London and New Haven counties, has exclusive law and equity jurisdiction above $100 and below $500, and concurrent jurisdiction with the superior court above $500 and up to $1,000, and in Litchfield County has exclusive jurisdiction up to $1,000. Not less than four terms each year are held in each of the counties named, and there are city courts in many of the cities, and a district court at Waterbury, with limited civil jurisdiction. Probate courts have jurisdiction of the settlement of the estates of deceased, insolvent, and incompetent persons, and are established in a large number of probate districts—one for each district. Justices of the peace have civil jurisdiction up to $100.

Days of Grace. (See Notes and Bills of Exchange.)

Deeds. (See Conveyances.)

Depositions may be taken in a civil action by a judge or clerk of any court, justice of the peace, notary public, or commissioner of the superior court, when witness lives out of the State, or more than twenty miles from place of trial, is over sixty years of age and unable to attend the trial, is going to sea, or out of the State, or by age and infirmity is unable to travel to court, or is confined in jail. Reasonable notice must be given to adverse party. Deponents must be cautioned to speak the whole truth, and carefully examined. They must subscribe their depositions, and make oath before the authority taking the same. Depositions may be taken in any other State or country by a notary public, commissioner appointed by the governor of this State, or by any magistrate having power to administer oaths, and they may also be taken before a foreign minister, secretary of legation, consul, or vice-consul appointed by the United States, if taken out of the United States. A judge of the superior, common pleas, or district court can issue a "commission" to take the deposition of a person residing out of this State, to be used in a cause pending before such court. The superior court, upon petition, may allow depositions to be taken to perpetuate testimony concerning that which may thereafter be the subject of a suit. The person taking depositions may compel attendance of witnesses by subpœna and capias.

Descent and Distribution of Property. (As to the share of a surviving husband or wife, see the title Husband and Wife.) After the share of the surviving husband or wife, the residue of the real or personal estate is distributed in equal proportions among the children and the legal representatives of any of them who may be dead (children who have received estate by advancement of the intestate in his life-time being charged with the same in the distribution). Children born before marriage, whose parents afterward intermarry and recognize them as their own, shall be deemed legitimate and inherit equally with other children. If there be no children or legal representatives thereof, such residue shall be distributed equally to the brothers and sisters of the intestate of the whole blood, and those who legally represent them; and if there be no such kindred, then to the parent or parents; and if none, then equally to the brothers and sisters of the half blood and those who legally represent them: and if none, then equally to the next of kin in equal degree, kindred of the whole blood to take in preference to kindred of the half blood, in equal degree, and no representatives to be admitted among collaterals after the representatives of brothers and sisters.

Divorce. Divorces are granted by the superior court exclusively, and for the following causes, viz.: Adultery, fraudulent contract, willful desertion for three years, with total neglect of duty; seven years' absence, during all which period the absent party has not been heard from; habitual intemperance; intolerable cruelty; sentence to imprisonment for life, or any infamous crime involving a violation of conjugal duty, and punishable by imprisonment in the State prison. Uncontested divorce cases cannot be heard until ninety days from the return day. The plaintiff must have continuously resided in the State three years next before date of the complaint, unless the cause arose subsequently to removal into this State, or unless defendant has resided in the State and has been personally served with the process, or unless the alleged cause is habitual intemperance or intolerable cruelty, and the plaintiff was domiciled in this State at the time of the marriage, and before bringing the complaint has returned to this State with the intention of permanently remaining. Custody of the children may be assigned by the court to either party, and alimony, not exceeding one-third the husband's estate, may be assigned to the wife, and the court has power to order alimony pendente lite, to be paid to the wife upon such terms and conditions as it may find advisable. Marriages void for any cause may be declared void and a nullity by the superior court.

Dower. (See Husband and Wife.)

Executions issue on final judgment, and are returnable within sixty days. No execution issued in an action founded on contract merely can be levied on the body of the debtor except for breach of promise of marriage, misconduct or neglect in office or professional employment, or breach of trust. Any judgment debtor, an execution against whom shall have been returned unsatisfied in whole or in part, may be examined on oath touching his property and means of paying such judgment, and may be committed for contempt.

Exemptions. Homestead, to the value of $1,000, if declaration to hold it as such is recorded. Of the property of any one person, his necessary apparel and bedding and household furniture necessary for supporting life; any pension moneys received from the United States while in the hands of the pensioner (which has been construed to cover also such pension money when deposited in a savings bank); implements of the debtor's trade, his library not exceeding $500 in value; sundry domestic animals not exceeding $150 in value; so much of any debt which has accrued by reason of the personal services of the debtor as shall not exceed $50, including wages due for the personal services of any minor child (but there shall be no exemption of any debt accrued by reason of the personal services of the defendant against the claim for the defendant's personal board); and all benefits allowed by any association of persons in this State toward the support of its members, incapacitated by sickness or infirmity, shall be exempted from foreign attachment or execution.

Foreign Attachments. Goods concealed in the hands of agents or debts due the defendant are reached by foreign attachment which takes the place of garnishment. No assignment of future earnings will prevent their attachment when earned unless made to secure a bona fide debt, due at the date of such assignment, the amount of which shall be stated therein as nearly as possible, nor unless the term for which they are assigned shall be definitely limited in the assignment, nor unless recorded before such attachment in the town clerk's office in the town where the assignor resides, or if he resides without the State, in the town where the employer resides, and a copy left with the employer. (See also Exemptions.)

Fraud. All fraudulent conveyances, suits, judgments, executions, or contracts, made or contrived with intent to avoid any debt or duty belonging to others, shall, notwithstanding any pretended consideration therefor, be void against those persons only, their heirs, executors, administrators, or assigns, to whom such debt or duty belongs.

Garnishment. (See Foreign Attachments.)

Holidays. (See Notes and Bills of Exchange.)

Husband and Wife. Wife married subsequent to April 20, 1877, may hold and convey real estate separate from her husband. Separate earnings of the wife are her sole property. On the death of the husband or wife, the survivor shall be entitled to the use for life of one-third in value of all the property, real or personal, owned by the other at the time of his or her decease, after the payment of all debts and charges allowed against the estate. The right to such third can not be defeated by will. Where there is no will the survivor shall take such third absolutely, and if there are no children, shall take all of the estate of the decedent absolutely to the extent of $2,000, and one-half absolutely of the remainder of said estate. Husband and wife married prior to April 20, 1877, may file acceptance of provisions of act of 1877. In marriages contracted prior to April 20, 1877, the husband must join wife in all conveyances of her estate. Dower exists only in real estate of which the husband was seized at his death. The wife is also entitled absolutely to one-third (or if the deceased left no children or legal representatives thereof, one-half) of the personal property of a deceased husband who dies intestate. The husband acquires a right to the use of all the land of his wife during her life, and if he has a child by her, and survives her, then during his own life as tenant by curtesy.

Interest. Legal rate, in absence of express agreement, 6 per cent; no more than 6 per cent can be recovered in either case after debt becomes payable; no usury laws.

Judgments carry 6 per cent interest, but are not liens, and execution may be had at any time during the life of both parties. Judgment by default may be obtained within the first three days of term to which suit is brought, unless debtor makes reasonable defense. Certificate of judgment may be recorded by judgment creditor or his assignee in town clerk's office, and such judgment from the time of filing such certificate shall constitute a lien upon the real estate described in such certificate, and if such lien be placed upon real estate attached in the suit upon which such judgment was predicated and within four months after such judgment was rendered, it shall hold from the date of such attachment. Such lien may be foreclosed or redeemed in the same manner as mortgages upon the same estate, and may also be foreclosed by decree of sale.

Liens. (Mechanics' Liens.) Mechanics' liens for labor or materials furnished in the construction or repair of any building may be filed by original contractor within sixty days after completion of work; but subcontractor must serve owner of building with notice of his intention to claim a lien within sixty days after he shall have commenced to furnish materials or render services. Mechanics' liens are foreclosed same as real estate mortgages. Unless foreclosure is instituted, liens expire two years after filing. (For Judgment Liens, see Judgments.)

Limitations to Suits. Open accounts and contracts not under seal, six years; contracts under seal and promissory notes not negotiable, seventeen years; executory contracts, not in writing, to recover unliquidated damages, three years. Usual exceptions in favor of married women, minors, lunatics, and those imprisoned. The time during which the party against whom there may be such cause of action shall be without the State shall be excluded from the computation. Title to real estate by adverse possession may be gained in fifteen years.

Married Women. (See Husband and Wife.)

Mortgages of real estate are executed, acknowledged, and recorded in the same manner as deeds, and are foreclosed by strict foreclosure or by a decree of sale. The equity of redemption exists for a limited time fixed by the court (usually from two to six months). Chattel mortgages to be good against third parties, where the mortgagor retains possession, must be executed, acknowledged, and recorded as mortgages of land, and can only be made of the following described personal property—with or without the real estate in which the same is situated or used—namely: machinery, engines, or implements situated and used in any manufacturing or mechanical establishment; machinery, engines, implements, cases, types, cuts, or plates situated and used in any printing, publishing, or engraving establishment; household furniture in a dwelling house used by the owner therein in housekeeping; hay and tobacco in the leaf in any building. Piano, organ, melodeon, and any musical instrument used by an orchestra or band. Brick, burned or unburned, in any kiln or brick yard. Hotel keepers may mortgage the furniture, fixtures, and other personal chattels contained and used in the hotels occupied by them or employed in connection therewith. Chattel mortgages are foreclosed by sale under order of court.

Notes and Bills of Exchange. Promissory notes made payable to order or bearer for the payment of money only, are negotiable. The laws of this State make no distinction between commercial and negotiable paper, and do not require that negotiable notes be made payable at a bank or any fixed place in the State, unless so stipulated in the note. No days of grace on any paper dated on or after July 1, 1895, unless specified. A negotiable promissory note payable on demand is regarded as dishonored if unpaid four months after date, but where a note is payable at a stated time after demand, the four months do not begin to run until an actual demand has been made. Demand and reasonable notice are necessary to bind indorsers. Notes or bills falling due upon any holiday, to wit, 1st of January, February 12th (Lincoln Day), 22d of February, 30th of May, 4th of July, December 25th, 1st Monday of September (known as Labor Day), Thanksgiving, or fast days, or on the Monday next following such day, when such day occurs on Sunday, are presentable for payment or acceptance on the secular day next preceding such holiday. On Saturday of each week, banking hours end at 12 o'clock noon; and Saturday shall for the acceptance and maturity of paper above referred to, and only for such purpose, be treated as a holiday, and any and all of the evidence of indebtedness above enumerated or referred to, shall, for every purpose be considered due on the next following business day, except that this does not apply to checks or demand drafts on banks or bankers presented before 12 o'clock noon on Saturday. Damages for protested bills, foreign, are from 2 to 8 per cent, according to location of State where protested. Protests of inland bills of exchange and promissory notes, protested without this State, shall be prima facie evidence of the facts therein stated.

Powers of Attorney. Where a deed is executed by a power of attorney it is recorded with the deed. Powers of attorney to convey real estate must be executed and acknowledged in the manner required for the execution and acknowledgment of the conveyance itself.

Probate Law. (See Administration of Estates, Appeals, Assignments and Insolvency, Collateral Inheritance Tax, Courts, Descent and Distribution of Property, Husband and Wife, and Wills.)

Protest. (See Notes and Bills of Exchange.)

Replevy. Replevin lies for goods wrongfully detained, in which the plaintiff has a general or special property with right to immediate possession. A writ of replevin can not issue except upon an affidavit in which the affiant states the true value of the goods to be replevied, and that he believes that the plaintiff is entitled to the immediate possession of the same, nor until the plaintiff furnishes a bond with sufficient surety in a sum double the value of the property.

Suits. (See Actions.)

Taxes. Land may be sold for delinquent taxes after due advertising, only so much being sold as is necessary to pay taxes and costs. Owner has one year in which to redeem, by paying the purchase money, with 12 per cent interest. Bonds, notes, or other choses in action, except bonds and notes secured by mortgage on real estate situated in this State, may be exempted from all local taxation by paying to the State a tax of 1 per cent on the face amount thereof for five years, or at the option of the holder thereof for a greater or less number of years at a proportionate rate. All property, in excess of ten thousand dollars in value, within the jurisdiction of this State, whether belonging to inhabitants of this State or not, which shall pass by will or by the intestate laws of this State, or by deed, grant, sale, or gift made or intended to take effect in possession or enjoyment after the death of the grantor, shall be subject to a succession tax, as follows: Property passing to the parent or parents, husband, wife, or lineal descendants, or legally adopted child of the deceased person, shall be liable to a tax of one-half of 1 per centum of its value for the use of the State, and any such estate or interest therein, which shall pass to collateral kindred or to strangers to the blood, or to any corporation, voluntary association or society, shall be liable to a tax of 3 per centum of its value.

Transfer of Corporation Stocks. (See Corporations.)

Wills. All persons of the age of eighteen years, and of sound mind, may dispose of their estate (real or personal) by will. No devise, except for public and charitable uses, or for the care of cemeteries or graves, shall be made to any persons but such as are at the time of the death of the testator in being, or to their immediate issue or descendants. Wills must be in writing, subscribed by the testator, and attested by three witnesses, each of them subscribing in his presence, but they will be effectual here if executed according to the laws of the State or country where executed. If, after the making of a will, the testator shall marry, or if a child is born to the testator, and no provision is made in the will for such contingency, such marriage or birth shall operate as a revocation of such will. A will or codicil is otherwise revoked by burning, cancelling, tearing, or obliterating it by the testator, or some person in his presence by his direction, or by a later will or codicil. A devise or bequest to a subscribing witness, or to the husband or wife of a subscribing witness, is void, unless the will is otherwise legally attested, or unless the devisee or legatee be an heir to the testator. Wills are proved and estates settled in the probate court in the district where the deceased resided.

SYNOPSIS OF THE LAWS OF DELAWARE

RELATING TO

BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES.

Prepared and Revised by ROBERT H. VAN DYKE, ESQ., Attorney at Law, Dover. (See Card in Attorneys' List.)

Acknowledgment. (See Conveyances.)

Actions. Suit may be commenced by capias, summons, and (where defendant is non-resident) by attachment of property. Summons in justice's court may be issued returnable in four days from date of service, or may be made returnable forthwith, if the justice be satisfied there is danger of the plaintiff losing the benefit of his process by delay. In superior court the summons must be served personally on debtor before court sits, or by leaving a copy of the summons at his usual place of abode, in presence of some white adult person, six days before court sits. Service by publication allowed in the court of chancery only.

Affidavits may be administered in the State by the chancellor, any judge, justice of the peace, or notary public; and out of the State by any official duly authorized to take acknowledgments of deeds, etc.; but before a notary public is preferable. The affiant must sign the affidavit.

Assignments and Insolvency. There is a domestic insolvent law, providing for a full surrender and equal distribution of all property, but it is very seldom used, and there is no provision in the act for the discharge of the debtor upon his making an assignment. The assignee must file a schedule of property assigned within thirty days, and two appraisers are then appointed by the chancellor. Assignments must be for the benefit of all creditors alike.

Attachments. Domestic attachment may be issued against an inhabitant of this State, after a return to a summons or capias issued ten days before the return thereof, of non est inventus, and proof of cause of action; or upon the filing of an affidavit "that the defendant is justly indebted to the plaintiff in a sum exceeding $50, and has absconded from the place of his usual abode, or gone out of the State with intent to defraud his creditors, or to elude process, as is believed." The writ directs the attachment of property and summons of garnishees. Attachment may be dissolved on entering security to satisfy any judgment to the extent of the property attached that may be recovered against the defendant. On return of attachment the court appoints three persons as auditors of the claims of creditors; the creditor attaching is allowed a double share for his diligence, not to exceed full amount of debt. Any creditor not duly presenting his claim receives no share in the distribution. Plaintiff is not required to give security. Wages are exempt from attachment in New Castle County except for board or lodging. Foreign attachment may be issued against any person not an inhabitant of the State after a return of non est as in domestic attachment, or upon affidavit being made "that the defendant resides out of the State, and is justly indebted to the plaintiff in a sum exceeding $50." Foreign attachment may also issue against a foreign corporation, but in this case the amount of the real debt must be particularly specified in the affidavit, and must exceed fifty dollars. Unlike domestic attachments the plaintiff in foreign attachment has the benefit of his own discovery and does not share with other creditors. It is similar to domestic attachment in all respects except as to appointment of auditors and distribution among creditors. The court or any judge upon petition may investigate any allegation in affidavit, except as to the amount of the debt, and dissolve the attachment if sufficient ground be not shown. Foreign attachment is otherwise dissolved by entering special bail.

Banks. There is no general banking act and but one State bank, which was chartered by the legislature in 1807. There are no official examinations and the bank is merely required to make a yearly report of its condition to the governor of the State. Banking companies can not be formed at present, as there has been no statutory provision for so doing. The holders of stock are taxed at the rate of one-fourth of one per centum on the cash value of each share of capital stock.

Bills and Notes. Acceptance should be in writing on the bill. All checks, notes, drafts, or bills, foreign or inland, payable without time or at sight, are due on presentment without grace.

Chattel Mortgages must be accompanied with an affidavit that the mortgage is made for the bona fide purpose of securing a debt, and not to defraud creditors, and if recorded within ten days from the acknowledgment thereof, is a valid lien for three years on personal property, the possession of which may remain in the mortgagor.

Claims Against Estates of Deceased Persons are paid in the following order: 1. Funeral expenses. 2. Bills for medicine, medical attendance, nursing, and necessaries for last sickness of the deceased. 3. Not more than one year's wages of servants in house and laborer on a farm. 4. Rent for not more than one year, either growing due or in arrears. 5. Judgments and decrees in equity against deceased. 6. Recognizances, mortgages, and other obligations of record. 7. Obligations and contracts under seal. 8. Contracts under hand for the payment of money, delivery of goods, wares, or merchandise. 9. Other demands. Administration is granted: 1. To the person entitled to the residue. 2. To one or more of the creditors. 3. To any suitable person, resident or non-resident. Bond must be given for an amount double the value of the estate. Notice must be given of claims against the deceased within six months from granting of letters (except claims of record), or executor or administrator is protected in paying debts of a lower grade. One year is allowed for settling the estate, and until the expiration of that time, he need not make distribution, nor is he chargeable with interest on the assets in hand. He may be removed upon sufficient cause. Letters granted in other States and produced under the seal of the officer or court granting the same, is competent authority for him to act in this State.

Contracts are joint and several, unless otherwise expressed.

Conveyances of Real Estate must be under seal (a scroll is sufficient), and should be executed before one witness at least. Deed may be acknowledged out of the State before any consul-general, consul, or commercial agent of the United States, duly appointed in any foreign country at the places of their respective official residence; before the judge of any district or circuit court of the United States, or the chancellor or any judge of a court of record of any State, Territory, or country, or the mayor or chief officer of any city or borough, and certified under the hand of such chancellor, judge, mayor, or officer, and the seal of his office, court, city, or borough, by certificate endorsed upon or annexed to the deed; or such acknowledgment or proof may be taken in any such court and certified under the hand of the clerk or other officer of said court, and the seal of said court in like manner. In case of such certificate by a judge, the seal of his court may be affixed to his certificate, or to a certificate of attestation of the clerk or keeper of the seal. Such acknowledgment may also be taken by any commissioner of deeds for this State, or by a notary public of any State or Territory. Wife must join in deed to bar dower, and husband to bar courtesy. A deed by a corporation may be executed and acknowledged by the president or other presiding officer duly authorized by resolution of the directors, trustees, or other managers, or by the legally constituted attorney of such corporation. Deeds must be recorded within three months after sealing and delivery, to avail against creditors, mortgagee, or bona fide purchasers, without notice.

Corporations. General Corporation Act for all purposes other than banking. Each stockholder is individually liable for the amount of capital stock not paid in in proportion to the amount subscribed by him. Corporations of other States may be sued in this State, and the property of the same found here may be seized by attachment. All foreign corporations must file with the Secretary of State, statement of assets and liabilities, and the name of its authorized agent upon whom process may be served; must pay a State tax of $50, and fees of Secretary of State (this State tax is paid but once) must file with the prothonotary of each county the name of authorized agent upon whom process may be served.

Costs. Non-resident plaintiffs may be required to give security for costs.

The superior court in New Castle County meets with the court of general sessions, etc., in February and September, and one week later in May and November. Oyer and terminer meets on call of judges. Jurisdiction —The superior court has jurisdiction in all civil cases, but if suit be brought for less than $50, costs will not be recovered. Justice's jurisdiction, $200.

Depositions. In any suit pending, the prothonotary, on application, enters a rule commission on the part of the applicant to any commissioner of the State or other person. The commission issues on ten days' notice of interrogatories filed. Exceptions to interrogatories must be filed before the commission issues, and are heard before a judge at chambers. Exceptions to the execution must be filed within two days after publication. If the commissioner employ a clerk, add "The clerk by me employed in taking, writing, transcribing, and engrossing the said depositions, having first duly taken the oath assigned to the said commission according to the tenor thereof."

Divorce. The superior court has sole cognizance for the following causes: 1. A divorce from the bonds of matrimony shall be decreed for adultery, desertion for three years, habitual drunkenness, impotency of either party at the time of marriage, extreme cruelty, or conviction, either in or out of this state, after marriage, of a crime by the laws of this State deemed felony, whether such crime shall be perpetrated before or after such marriage. 2. A divorce from the bonds of matrimony, or from bed and board at the discretion of the court shall be decreed for procurement of the marriage by fraud for want of age, the husband being under the age of eighteen years or the wife being under the age of sixteen years at the time of the marriage and such marriage not being after those ages voluntarily ratified; or for willful neglect on the part of the husband for three years to provide for his wife the necessaries of life suitable to her condition. The same court can decree marriages null and void which are prohibited by law for consanguinity or affinity; or between a white person and a negro or mulatto; or where either of the parties had, at the time of the marriage, another husband or wife living; or where either of the parties was at that time insane. No divorce from the bonds of matrimony shall be decreed by the court when the cause assigned therefor in the petition occurred out of this State, and the petitioner was a non-resident thereof at the time of its occurrence unless for the same or like cause such divorce would be allowed by the laws of the State or country in which it is alleged to have occurred.

Executions are a lien upon personalty from the time the sheriff received the writ, if actual levy be made within sixty days thereafter. Priority of lien remains in force three years. Execution may be issued within five years after date of judgment. An execution from a justice is a lien from time writ is received, if levy be made within thirty days, and priority of writ remains for two years. Execution can not issue after three years without revival. Goods and chattels of a tenant are liable to one year's rent in preference to the execution. There is no redemption on property sold under execution or mortgage. In New Castle County wages for a month of employés of corporations are preferred to the execution. Stay of six months is granted in courts of record upon judgments recorded for want of affidavit of defense, provided security be given within twenty days after judgment. In justice's courts defendant may have six months' stay, upon pleading his freehold; nine months' stay upon giving security.

Exemptions. No homestead law. Family pictures, Bible, and library; lot in burial-ground and pew in church; all wearing apparel, sewing machines in private families; tools of trade not to exceed $50 in Kent, or $75 in New Castle County; and to the head of a family in New Castle County $200 of personal property and in Kent County $150, consisting of household goods only. No additional exemption in Sussex. The provisions of the exemption law extend and apply to a person dying and leaving a widow, giving and securing to such widow the same benefit of exemption that her husband would have had if living. Wages are exempt from execution attachment in New Castle County except for board or lodging.

Frauds. Sale of goods void as to third parties, unless for a valuable consideration and the possession thereof be actually delivered to the vendee. A promise to pay the debt, default, or miscarriage of another to the extent of five dollars is binding if proved by the oath of the promisee; for an amount between five and twenty-five dollars must be proved by one credible witness or some memorandum in writing signed by the person to be charged therewith; for an amount exceeding twenty-five dollars there must be some memorandum or promise in writing signed by the party to be charged therewith.

Garnishment. All persons except public officers, attorneys, etc., are subject to summons as garnishees. Wages are not subject to garnishment in New Castle County except for board or lodging.

Holidays, Legal. January 1st, February 22d, May 30th, July 4th, first Monday in September, Thanksgiving Day and Christmas, and Saturday afternoon in New Castle County, excepting St. Georges Hundred. If legal holiday falls on Sunday the next day is observed. Negotiable paper falling due on legal holiday is due and payable on the next preceding secular day; if falling due on Saturday half-holiday, if not presented for payment before noon, is not due till the next succeeding secular day.

Homestead. There is no homestead law in Delaware.

Interest. Legal rate is 6 per cent. Any person who takes more for the use or the loan of money shall forfeit and pay to any one suing for the same a sum equal to the money loaned, one-half for the use of the State, and the other for the party suing.

Judgments of courts of record are liens upon all real estate of the debtor in the county where judgment is entered from their date, but the lien may be extended into either or both the other counties. Judgments can only be obtained in this State upon judgments in other States by suit, upon a certified copy of the record of said judgment authenticated under the Act of Congress passed May 26, 1790. Transcripts of judgments recovered before justices of the peace may be entered in the superior court and thus be made liens on real estate. Satisfaction must be entered within sixty days after payment.

Limitations. Contracts not under hand and book accounts three years, bills and notes under hand six years. Judgments and specialties are merely presumed to have been paid after the lapse of twenty years, but this presumption may be overcome by proof to the contrary. The statute does not begin to run in favor of non-resident debtor until he come into the State, in such manner that he may be served with process, and if a debtor remove after the cause of action has accrued, the time of his absence is not computed. On recognizances of sheriff, administrators' or executors' bonds, within six years from date. Bond of guardian within three years from the determination of guardianship.

Married Women retain their real and personal property owned at marriage or received from any person other than the husband. May receive wages for their personal labor, and prosecute and defend suits for preservation and protection of their own property, as if unmarried, and the rents, issues, and profits of their separate estate are not controllable by the husband. Dower. The widow is entitled to one-third part of all the lands and tenements whereof her husband was seized at any time during her marriage, unless she shall have relinquished such right, for and during the term of her natural life. If her husband die without issue or the children of issue, she takes a moiety instead of a third part of the real estate. A married woman of the age of twenty-one years and upward may dispose of her property, both real and personal, by will, without the written consent of her husband, but subject to his right of courtesy. Two or more witnesses are necessary for a will. Husband and wife may testify in all civil actions in which either or both are or may be parties to the suit.

Mortgages of Real Property are executed and acknowledged like other deeds. They become a lien from the time they are lodged with the Recorder. Upon foreclosure of same there is no redemption of property. A purchase money mortgage should be recorded within thirty days to avail against a subsequent innocent holder.

Proof of Claims. The full individual names of plaintiffs and defendants, together with style of doing business, must be stated; or if a corporation, the laws of what State under which incorporated. One of the plaintiffs, if a partnership, or the treasurer or cashier of a corporation, must make the affidavit to the amount claimed, giving an itemized copy of the cause of action attached thereto. It is advisable to have the affidavit made before a Notary Public, though it may be made before others. (See affidavit.)

Protest. (See Bills and Notes.)

Replevin. The writ issues out of the superior court to obtain possession of goods unlawfully taken or unlawfully detained. No affidavit is required, but before the officer to whom it is directed can execute it, the plaintiff or some substantial person for him must enter into bond to such officer in a penalty of double the value of the goods to be replevined, conditioned to prosecute the suit with effect, etc. Defendant may give counter bond and retain the goods.

Summons may be served on the defendant by stating the substance of it to him personally at any time before the return of the writ, or by leaving a copy of it at his usual place of abode, in the presence of some adult person six days before the return thereof. Against a corporation may be served on the president or head officer, if residing in the State, and if not, on any officer, director, or manager of the corporation. In chancery service may be had by publication under order of the chancellor. From a Justice service must be personal if forthwith, otherwise four days must intervene before hearing.

Taxes laid and imposed by the levy court of a county or by the State for its own purposes, are a lien upon all the real estate of the taxable upon whom they are imposed, for two years, and such lien has preference to all other liens against him. General assessments are made every four years.

Wills. Any person of the age of twenty-one years or upward, of sound mind, may make a will as well of real as personal estate. Every will must be in writing and signed by the testator, or by some person subscribing the testator's name in his presence and by his express direction, and attested and subscribed in his presence by two or more credible witnesses, or it shall be void. A will shall be proved before the register of the county in which the testator resided at the time of his death. A nuncupative will of personal estate not amounting to over $200 and pronounced by the testator in his last illness in the presence of two or more witnesses is valid if reduced to writing and attested by said witnesses within three days after. Children born after the date of the will of the parent are entitled to the same share of the parent's estate as if such parent had died intestate.

SYNOPSIS OF THE LAWS OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

RELATING TO

BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES.

Prepared and Revised by JOHN B. LARNER, Esq., Attorney at Law, Washington. (See Card in Attorneys' List.)

Accounts. In all cases of suits upon open accounts duplicate itemized copies of the account must be furnished as particulars of demand. One copy for the defendant and one to be filed.

Acknowledgment of deeds may be made before any judge of a court of record, chancellor, justice of the peace, notary public, or any commissioner of the circuit court of the District appointed for that purpose. The certificate of the clerk of court as to official character of the justice of the peace or notary should be annexed. Deeds made in any foreign country may be executed and acknowledged before any judge, chancellor, notary public, or any secretary of legation, or consular officer of the United States.

Actions. Justices of the peace have exclusive original jurisdiction where the amount claimed to be due, or the value of the property (in cases of replevin), does not exceed $100, and concurrent with the supreme court of the District of Columbia where the amount claimed, or the value of the property, does not exceed $300, and where amount exceeds $20 either party may have a jury trial, and no appeal unless amount exceeds $5. All costs of court are payable in advance, and non-residents are required to give bond on motion of defendant.

Administration. The Orphans Court, a special term of the supreme court of the District of Columbia, has exclusive jurisdiction of the settlement of estates. A written petition stating the facts in the case must be filed with the register of wills. This petition is acted upon by a justice of the supreme court of the District, who sits on Friday of each week, and as often in addition as may be necessary. All executors and administrators are required to give bond with two sureties owning real estate in the District of Columbia. A guardian is only required to have one bondsman. The testator may waive the giving of bond, but the court always requires a bond sufficient to cover the debts of the deceased. By act of Congress, certain trust companies incorporated thereunder may act as executor or administrator without bond, and corporations having power under their charters may act as sureties in all cases where individuals can. Creditors may be barred in thirteen months provided the required notice is properly published. Orphans Court may order sale of real estate to pay debts, in case personal assets are insufficient.

Affidavits. Affidavits for use in the District of Columbia should be taken before a justice of the peace, notary public, judge of any court of record, or a United States commissioner.

Aliens. Aliens may hold personal property in the District of Columbia, and may acquire real estate by descent. Alien corporations, by act of Congress, are prohibited from acquiring real estate.

Appeals. Appeals will lie from justices of the peace to the supreme court of the District of Columbia where more than $5 is involved. Appeals may be taken from the supreme court of the District of Columbia to the court of appeals of the District of Columbia in all cases where the supreme court has original jurisdiction. Appeals may be taken from the court of appeals to the supreme court of the United States in all cases involving more than $5,000, or where a constitutional question or some treaty with a foreign power is involved.

Arbitration. Parties may submit any matter in dispute to arbitration, and if the ordinary rules of law relating to such matters are observed, the award will be sustained by the courts.

Arrest. There is no imprisonment for debt in the District of Columbia. The court has the power to imprison for non-payment of alimony in divorce cases.

Assignments must be accompanied by inventory under oath, of all assignor's property, a list of creditors, with their residences and amount of their claims. Assignee must be resident of the District. Preferences prohibited. Assignment may be attacked before judgment obtained against assignor by bill in equity. Assignments are practically superseded by "Insolvency Act."

Attachments may issue at institution of suit or subsequently, upon affidavit of plaintiff or his agent, supported by that of one or more witnesses, showing right to recover, and that defendant is a non-resident, or evades service of process, or is about to remove, assign, dispose of, or secrete property with intent to hinder, delay, and defraud creditors. Creditor must give bond, with approved surety or sureties, for costs and damages if attachment wrongfully sued out.

Banks. All banks organized in the District of Columbia, except purely private banks, are subject to, and governed by, the acts of Congress applicable to national bank associations. (See Revised Statutes of the United States, Title LXII, Section 5133-5243.) Private banks are partnerships.

Bills and Notes. The common law of England relative to bills and notes, except where changed by statute, governs all cases in which they are involved. A law similar to the New York Negotiable Instruments Law is now in force in this District. Legal holidays are January 1st, February 22d, May 30th, July 4th, first Monday in September (Labor Day), December 25th, or the following day when any of these dates fall on Sunday, and such day as may be appointed by the President of the United States for fasting and prayer. Every Saturday is a legal half-holiday, and notes falling due on that date are not protested until Monday.

Chattel Mortgages. Chattel mortgages and chattel trusts must be recorded within twenty days from date of execution, otherwise they are voidable as against third persons.

Corporations for manufacturing, agricultural, mining, mechanical, insurance, mercantile, transportation, market and savings-bank purposes, may be formed by any three or more persons by executing and recording certificate stating corporate name and object, term of existence (not exceeding twenty years, except where object is life insurance), the amount of capital stock, the number of shares, the number and names of trustees or managers for the first year, and the name of the place in the District in which the operations of the company are to be carried on. Nothing but money can be considered as payment of any part of the capital stock, and each shareholder is individually liable to creditors to an amount equal to the stock held by him. One-half of the capital stock must be paid within one year, and the other half within two years, from incorporation. Foreign corporations doing business in the district are subject to service of process on their agents, or persons conducting such business, or by leaving copy at principal place of business therein.

Courts in session continuously throughout the year. Suits on contracts, accompanied by sufficient affidavit of right to recover, result in judgment in twenty days, exclusive of Sundays and legal holidays, after day of service on defendant, unless defendant files an affidavit setting forth facts which, if true, would in law constitute a valid defense.

Days of Grace has been abolished.

Descent and Distribution. The ordinary rules of descent may be stated as follows: 1. If an intestate leaves a child or children, or descendant of such child or children, his property descends to such child or children, or their descendants, subject only to the dower right of the widow, if there be one. 2. If the intestate leaves no child or descendant of such child, his property will descend to his brothers and sisters, if any, and their representatives, subject only to the widow's dower. 3. If the intestate leaves no children or their issue, and has no brother or sister, or descendant of such brother or sister, then his property, subject to the widow's dower, ascends to his father or mother, as the case may be, and their respective heirs. Personal property of an intestate is distributed as follows: 1. Where he leaves a widow but no children or next kin the widow takes all. 2. If he leaves a widow and children the former takes one-third and the latter two-thirds. 3. If he leaves a widow and next of kin but no children, the widow takes one-half and the next of kin the balance. 4. If he leaves children but no widow, the children take all. 5. The husband on death of the wife is entitled to all her personal property in possession without administration, but administration is usually resorted to for protection of parties dealing with the husband. 6. On failure of relations to the fifth degree the surplus belongs to the United States.

Divorce. Absolute divorces may be obtained in the District of Columbia for the following reasons: Where a former wife or husband is living. Where the marriage was contracted during the lunacy of either party. Where either party is matrimonially incapacitated at the time of the marriage. Adultery by either party. Habitual drunkenness for three years. Cruelty endangering life or health. Willful desertion for two years. Divorces mensa et thora may be obtained for habitual cruelty, or upon proof to the satisfaction of the court of a reasonable ground for fearing bodily harm.

Dower. A wife is entitled to dower in all real estate owned by the husband at the time of his death.

Executions may issue immediately upon rendition of judgment but liable to be superseded by appeal, accompanied by approved bond for payment, filed within twenty days after judgment, exclusive of Sundays.

Exemptions. In addition to wearing apparel, etc., household furniture to the value of $200, implements of debtor's trade or business to the value of $200, stock for carrying on business to amount of $200, one horse, harness and cart, wagon or dray, and earnings of married men or heads of families, not to exceed $100 per month.

Garnishments. Credits may be attached before judgment in case of non-residents, and after judgment in other cases. Money can not be attached in hands of the Government of the United States or the District of Columbia.

Interest 6 per cent, except that, by contract in writing, parties may stipulate for interest not to exceed 10 per centum. Oral contract for more than 6, or written contract for more than 10, per cent forfeits all interest, and entitles the debtor to sue for all interest paid under such contract, if suit brought within one year from time of payment.

Judgments lien on unincumbered real estate from rendition, and on personalty from delivery of execution to marshal. Incumbered real estate not affected by judgment until creditor's bill filed. Judgments valid for twelve years from date of last step taken to enforce same. In order to keep a judgment alive so far as execution against personal property is concerned for twelve years, a fi fa must be issued each year, but judgment may be revived by sci fa—on failure to comply with this rule. Real estate unaffected by judgments of justice of the peace, unless filed in supreme court. Judgments do not affect incumbered real estate until judgment creditor's bill is filed, but when such bill is filed it becomes a lien and is enforceable by sale of the property.

Limitations. Three years on simple contract debts, and twelve years on specialties, with usual exceptions in favor of persons under disability, other than non-residents. Part payment or a new promise will take the debt out of the statute.

Married Women have separate estate in all property owned at time of marriage, or acquired during marriage otherwise than by gift or conveyance from husband. May contract, sue and be sued in all matters having relation to such sole and separate estate; but the contract must be in a matter having relation to such estate.

Mortgages. Almost entirely supplanted by deeds of trust, requiring no court proceedings to foreclose. Joinder of wife necessary to bar dower where property is subject to no prior incumbrance. Chattel trusts voidable unless recorded in twenty days after date of execution, and invalid as to property exempt from execution, unless signed by wife. The mortgage can be used if desired.

Protest. Inland bills of exchange and promissory notes, as well as foreign bills of exchange, may be protested by notaries public, whose original protest, stating presentment, non-acceptance, or non-payment, and service of notice on any of the parties, specifying the mode of giving such notice, the reputed place of residence of the party notified, and the post office nearest thereto, is prima facie evidence of the facts contained therein.

Suits. Court costs are $10, and $1 additional for each defendant sued Marshal's fee for service of writ. For additional particulars, see Courts. Costs of judgment before justice of the peace are about $1.60.

Taxes. One and one-half per centum upon assessed value of property, real and personal. Penalty of 1 per cent per month for default in payment. Taxes are payable in two installments each year, one-half in May and the other half in November. New assessments are made every three years, by a permanent Board of Assessors. Under recent Act of Congress the taxes for 1901 are payable in one installment in May, 1901. The Act only applies to that year's tax.

Transfer of Corporation Stock. Stock in corporations may be transferred by endorsement in blank unless by express restriction. Forms of such transfers are always printed on back of stock.

Wills. To pass real estate, three witnesses required; valid as to personalty without witnesses. Wills pass only real estate owned by testator at time of execution, unless contrary intent expressly declared in instrument. Administrators appointed and duly qualified in any of the States may administer upon assets in the District without ancillary administration therein.

SYNOPSIS OF THE LAWS OF FLORIDA

RELATING TO

BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES.

Prepared and Revised by Messrs. BLOUNT & BLOUNT, Attorneys at Law, Pensacola. (See Card in Attorneys' List.)

Accounts. Accounts for the purpose of limiting actions are divided into open accounts and store accounts. Store accounts cover any article sold by merchants and include both internal retail trade, and wholesale trade between resident and foreign merchants; open accounts include all other sales of goods, wares, and merchandise. Open accounts are barred in two years and store accounts in four.

Acknowledgments must in every instance be under official seal. If made in the State of Florida, may be made before any judge, justice of the peace, clerk or deputy clerk of a court of record, or notary public; if made out of the State, and within the United States, before any judge, clerk of court of record, or notary public, or justice of the peace, or a commissioner of deeds for Florida; if made out of the United States, before any commissioner of deeds appointed by the governor of the State to reside in such country, or any notary public of such foreign country, or before any minister charge d'affaires, consul-general, consul, vice-consul, commercial agent, or vice-commercial agent of the United States appointed to reside in such country. Conveyances of dower and powers of attorney for the execution of deeds to real estate must be executed in like manner as conveyances of real estate. A wife's acknowledgment must be taken separate and apart from her husband's. Officers must certify that the grantors are known to him. The following is the usual form adopted, viz:

State of Florida, }
County of ..... }

Before the subscriber personally appeared ....and .....known to me to be the individuals described, who acknowledged that they executed the foregoing conveyance for the uses and purposes therein expressed; and the said..... .....wife of the said ..... .acknowledged and declared that she executed the same freely and voluntarily, and without fear, apprehension, compulsion, or constraint of, or from, her said husband, and for the purpose of renouncing and relinquishing all her right, of whatsoever kind, in and to said property.

Given under my hand and seal official this .....day of.....19....

Actions. Suits shall be begun only in the county (or, if less than $100 in justice district) where the defendant resides, or where the cause of action accrued, or where the property in litigation is. If brought in any county where defendant does not reside, the plaintiff, or some person in his behalf, shall file with the precipe or bill in chancery, an affidavit that the suit is brought in good faith and with no intention to annoy the defendant. This latter provision does not apply to suits against non-residents. Where there are joint defendants, suit may be brought in any court (or justice district) where any one of the defendants reside. Corporations (domestic) can only be sued in a county where they keep an office. Foreign corporations may be sued in any county where they have an agent.

Administration of Estates. Upon the death of a person intestate or having made a will but appointing no executor, the probate court appoints an administrator, preferring first the next of kin; but if none such apply, then, upon notice given by publication, any creditor or suitable person. No minor can be appointed. If no one applies for letters of administration within sixty days after death, the probate court may order the sheriff to act. The administrator appointed by the court must give bond in amount to be fixed by the probate judge, respect being had to the value of the estate. The sheriff when acting as administrator is liable upon his official bond. Claims against an estate are barred after two years from date of notice given by administrator to present same. Debts against the estate are payable in the following order: 1. Necessary funeral expenses. 2. Debts due for board and lodging during last sickness. 3. Physicians, nurse, and druggist during last sickness. 4. Judgments recovered during lifetime of deceased, and all debts due the State. 5. All other debts, without distinction of rank. Debts due more than five years prior to death are barred, saving to married women, minors, and persons non compos mentis, imprisoned, or out of State, three years after removal of disabilities. Land is assets in the hands of the administrator or executor to pay debts; but he must first show exhaustion of personal property and obtain leave of the court. The compensation of the administrator is determined by the court and, in addition to compensation for his ordinary duties, not to exceed 6 per cent of money received for sales made of personal and real property. Administrators must make annual settlements before the first day of June each year or forfeit commissions.

Affidavits may be made before any judge, clerk of the circuit and supreme courts, justice of the peace, or notary public.

Aliens. No distinction between and citizens, except that they are not allowed to vote.

Appeals. Appellate proceedings for the common law side are by writ of error, which must be sued out within six months from the date of the judgment. Writs of error operate as a supersedeas as a matter of course, if sued out within thirty days after the session of the court at which the judgment was rendered, provided bond is given, if plaintiff is appellant, sufficient to cover costs in lower and appellate courts, and if defendant is appellant, sufficient to cover the amount of the judgment and costs of both courts. Unless sued out within the time prescribed, writs of error only operate as a supersedeas by special order of the court and upon giving the bond above mentioned. The record must be filed in appellate court on or before the return day of the writ, under penalty of dismissal. Questions of fact can only be taken up by bill of exceptions, which must be presented within the term of the court unless by special order the time is extended. Recording the writ of error in the minute book by the clerk within ten days of its issuance or receipt by clerk gives appellate court jurisdiction of person of appellee. Appeals in chancery may be taken within two years, and the law governing writs of error as far as it relates to filing of transcripts of records and proceedings thereon and filing assignment of errors, the duty of appellate court in giving judgment, in causing execution of its decrees and quashing writs of error, are applicable to appeals in chancery. Notice of appeal in chancery must be filed with clerk and recorded in minutes. This gives appellate court jurisdiction.

Arbitration. Parties to the controversy may make a rule of court of any arbitration to which they may desire to submit by filing a statement of agreement of the matters they desire to arbitrate in writing with the court having jurisdiction, which statement shall include the names of the arbitrators and the umpire. An award upon such arbitration can only be set aside for fraud, gross negligence, or misbehavior of one or more of the arbitrators or umpire, or evident mistake acknowledged by the arbitrators or umpire, who made and signed the award.

Arrest. No arrest for non-payment of money unless it be for non-payment of a fine lawfully imposed.

Assignments and Insolvency. Assignments by insolvents are provided for by law. Preferences are not allowed. All property, except that which is exempt, must be surrendered to the assignee. Assignee gives bond and winds up estate. The assignment does not release debtor from debts not satisfied by it.

Attachment process may issue upon affidavit made, setting forth that amount is actually due; that plaintiff has reason to believe defendant will fraudulently part with his property before judgment can be recovered, or is actually removing his property, or is about to remove it out of the State, or reside beyond the limits thereof, or is actually removing out of the State, or absconds or conceals himself, or is secreting property or fraudulently disposing of same, or actually removing, or is about to remove, beyond the judicial circuit in which he, she, or they reside. Attachment may also issue for a debt not due, but which will become due within nine months, upon affidavit stating that the debt is actually existing, and that the defendant is actually removing his property beyond the limits of the State, and is fraudulently disposing of his property for the purpose of avoiding the payment of his just debts or demands. Proof must, also, be exhibited to the officer by affidavit other than that of the plaintiff, of the existence of the special ground. The making of the affidavit causes all debts to mature for the purposes of the suit. Plaintiff must give bond, with two securities, in at least double the debt or sum demanded. No arrest allowed in civil actions. Writ of garnishment may be issued at commencement of suit or at any time afterward, provided the plaintiff, his agent or attorney, will make affidavit that he does not believe the defendant will have in his possession, within the State and county, visible property on which a levy could be made, sufficient to satisfy such execution as he believes he shall be able to obtain, and that affiant expects to obtain a judgment for (a specified amount).

Banks. There may be established, by five or more persons, in any incorporated town or city having 3,000 or more inhabitants, a banking association or institution, with corporate powers or privileges, with a capital of not less than $50,000. In towns of not more than 3,000 inhabitants the capital may, with the comptroller's approval, be not less than $15,000. Savings banks may have not less than $20,000 capital. Banks are formed as other corporations are, and can not begin business until authorized by the comptroller. The comptroller of the State may inspect and supervise the business of the bank, and inspect and examine its books, papers, documents, minutes, and everything pertaining to the acts of the bank. Banks are required to make a semi-annual return to the State comptroller of resources and liabilities, and advertise in January of each year amount of stock, property, and contractual indebtedness. Before organization 50 per cent of the capital stock must be paid in cash; 10 per cent each month thereafter. Stockholders are individually liable to the extent of their stock at the par value thereof, in addition to the amount invested in said shares. Directors must be citizens of the United States, and own ten shares of stock of $100 per share. The comptroller, with the aid of the courts, winds up the affairs of insolvent banks.

Bills of Lading. Bills of lading are evidence against the carrier of the direction by which freights are to be received, carried, and delivered—and the officers, agents, and employes of the carrier are required to comply with the terms of the bill of lading under penalty of criminal prosecution.

Chattel Mortgages and Deeds of Trust. All conveyances intended to secure the payment of money are mortgages. Chattel-mortgages must be recorded or the property delivered to mortgagee to make them effectual against bona fide creditors and purchasers for value. Injunction will be granted against the removal of mortgaged personalty from the State; can only be foreclosed by bill in chancery unless under $100, and upon personal property, when a common law action may be brought in justice of the peace court, and mortgage filed with precipe. The form and effect of trust deeds have not been disturbed by statute.

Collateral Security. It is a misdemeanor to sell, pledge, loan, or in any way dispose of collateral security without the consent of pledgor. A written agreement may be made at the time of making the pledge for the sale of the collateral in such manner and upon such terms as the parties may desire.

Contracts. In order to bind an administrator personally, or one for the debt or default of another, or one upon an agreement made in consideration of marriage; or upon contracts for the sale lands, tenements, or hereditaments or any uncertain interest therein, or for any lease thereof for a period longer than one year; or upon an agreement not to be performed within one year, there must be an agreement, note, or memorandum thereof in writing signed by the party to be charged, or some one lawfully authorized by him. Contracts for the sale of personal property must be in writing, or the property must be delivered or earnest money paid. Newspapers must either be subscribed for or ordered in writing.

Conveyances. (See Acknowledgments.) All conveyances of real estate, or any interest therein for a term of years of more than two years, must be by deed in writing, signed, sealed and delivered in the presence of at least two subscribing witnesses; and in order to be effectual against subsequent grantees or incumbrances, must be recorded. The wife's separate estate can be conveyed only by the joint deed of herself and husband, and confirmed by her acknowledgment, taken separate and apart from her husband.

Corporations may be organized for any lawful business under a general law. Stockholder liable only for amount unpaid upon subscription. Charter fee of $2 for every $1,000 of capital stock, payable to the State, but no fee is less than $5 and none over $250.

Courts. Circuit courts hold two terms a year in each county, and have original jurisdiction in all equity cases, also in all cases at law not cognizable by inferior courts. County courts have jurisdiction of amounts not exceeding $500. County judges, at all times open for probate business, have full probate powers, have also civil jurisdiction to extent of $100. Justice's jurisdiction, $100.

Days of Grace are abolished.

SYNOPSIS OF THE LAWS OF GEORGIA

RELATING TO

BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES.

Prepared and Revised by WILLIAM D. ELLIS, Attorney at Law, Atlanta.
(See Card in Attorneys' List.)

Accounts. Accounts bear interest from the date they become due at 7 per cent per annum, and may be proved by the affidavit of plaintiffs, but when sued and denied, testimony to establish them must be produced orally or by answers to written interrogatories, or by depositions taken upon notice; but the latter method will not do for witnesses examined outside of the county where suit is pending.

Acknowledgments. (See Deeds.)

Actions. All distinction between suits at law and in equity is abolished. All suits must be brought by petition, to which process is annexed by the clerk bearing test in the name of the court where suit is brought. Petitions must be filed twenty days before the term of the court, to which they are returnable, commences. Equitable relief can be had in superior courts of law. All suits stand for trial at the second term, except in courts of special jurisdiction, which are organized in some counties, and where by special statute trials may be had at the first term, such as the city court of Atlanta. The general rule is varied, however, in cases of suits or distress for rent. In all suits on unconditional contracts in writing judgment will be rendered by the court without a jury, unless the defendant tenders issue by filing a defense under oath at the first term. In suits on open account where there is personal service, and no defense filed, verdicts may be rendered without proof. Suits in justice courts are brought by summons issued fifteen days before the meeting of the court at each monthly session.

Administration of Estates. Letters of administration issue in the line of preference, first to the husband or wife, second to the next of kin, relations by consanguinity are preferred to those by affinity. If there are several next of kin in the same degree, preference is given to that one selected in writing by those most interested in the estate. If no preference is expressed the ordinary exercises his discretion. If no application is made by next of kin a creditor may be appointed, and if no application is made the ordinary will vest the administration in a county administrator, an officer authorized by statute for that purpose. Administrators must give bond in double the value of the estate. Application for administration must be published once a week for four weeks, and administrators must advertise their appointments and give notice to debtors and creditors. They are exempt from suit for twelve months, to give them time to collect in the assets. They are required to make annual returns, to-wit, in July of each year. Out of the estate of each deceased person, the first charge, after funeral expenses, is a year's support for the family, to be laid off by commissioners according to the condition and standing of the family. Debts are to be paid in the following order: 1. Funeral expenses, including physician's bills, and other expenses of the last sickness. 2. The costs of administration and the twelve months' support. 3. Taxes and debts due the State and the United States. 4. Debts due by the deceased as administrator, guardian, or trustee. 5. Judgments, mortgages, and other liens created by deceased in his lifetime. 6. Debts due for rent. 7. All liquidated demands, including foreign judgments, bonds, and other obligations in writing. 8. Open accounts. Executors and administrators are authorized to compromise doubtful claims, or to submit them to arbitration. Foreign administrators may act in this State on giving bond, in a sum equal to double the value of the estate, to the ordinary where they qualify. The bondsmen must be residents of this State. A citizen of any other State may act as executor of the will of a deceased citizen of this State when he has the same interest and will give the same bond as in the case of foreign administrators. Administrators of other States may sue in this State by filing in the office of the clerk of the court, to which suit is brought, a properly authenticated copy of his letters of administration.

Affidavits. Pleas and defenses in the courts of this State which are required to be under oath, may be made before any official of the State or county where the oath is made, who is authorized by the laws of such State or county to administer oaths. Prima facie the official attestation of the officer is evidence that he was authorized to act. Any non-resident complainant or defendant seeking equitable relief, when called on to verify proceedings, should be sworn before a commissioner of this State, or a judge of a court of record where the oath is made, with the attestation of the clerk of such court that the signature of the judge is genuine, and that the court over which he presides is a court of record.

Aliens. The subjects of governments at peace with the United States and this State are entitled to the rights of citizens of other States, resident here, in so far as they accord to them the privilege of purchasing, holding, and conveying real estate.

Appeals. (See Courts.)

Arbitration. Under the law of Georgia disputes and controversies relating to rights, or property, may be submitted to arbitration. Three arbitrators shall be selected, and their award must be made the judgment of the superior court to be binding on the parties. Submission to arbitration must be in writing and contain an accurate statement of matters in controversy, and shall be signed by the parties or their agents, and delivered to one of the arbitrators. Arbitrators are selected one by each of the contesting parties, and the two thus chosen shall choose a third, and the three thus chosen shall constitute a board of arbitration. The board shall be sworn and have the power of a court in the production of witnesses, and hearing testimony. When awards are returned to the superior court they may be attacked by suggestion under oath that they were the result of accident, or mistake, or fraud, and on such suggestion the court shall cause the issue to be submitted and tried by a jury.

Arrest. The constitution of Georgia declares that there shall be no imprisonment for debt. But in an action to recover personal property, where affidavit is made by the plaintiff that he has reason to apprehend that such property will be eloigned or moved away, or will not be forthcoming to answer the judgment or decree, the defendant will be arrested by the officer to whom process is directed, and will be committed to jail unless he shall give bond and good security, or deliver up the property, or show to the satisfaction of the court that it is without his power to produce it. Imprisonment as for contempt may be inflicted in the administration of equity powers, but the defendant or party adjudged in contempt may demand a jury trial on matters of fact. Attorneys, sheriffs, and other officers of court, may be imprisoned on attachment for failure to pay over money under order of the court.

Assignments. Assignments for the benefit of creditors are permitted and an insolvent debtor may prefer one creditor to another, and for that purpose may execute conveyances by deed, or may create liens by mortgage, or sell out in payment of the debt, but a corporation which makes an assignment is denied the right to make a preference. Assignments must be executed in writing and with all the formalities of a deed, and must be recorded as deeds are. They must include all property and give the description thereof, and must also include all real and personal property and give a description thereof, and must also include all notes, bills and books of account. They must be verified by the affidavit of the party making such assignment. Within fifteen days after the making of an assignment, a list of the property verified by affidavit must be filed therewith. No property in this State shall pass by assignment of foreign corporations unless such assignment shall comply with the requirements of Georgia laws. Assignees must give bond upon request of three creditors. Preferred debts are not to be paid until sixty days after filing the deed of assignment. Assignments can only be set aside by direct application for that purpose and the assignee and assignor are necessary parties. On attack for fraud it shall not be necessary to prove fraud in the assignee. No creditor is required to reduce his claim to judgment before seeking equitable relief against assignee or assignor, or both. Creditors must be notified within thirty days of making an assignment, and when there is an attack made on the assignment, creditors shall also be notified. Accidental or innocent mistakes may be cured by amendment. Fraud in the debtor will make the assignment void though no fraud be found in the assignee. Assignments, or transfers, by a debtor, insolvent at the time, of real or personal property, either in trust or in behalf of creditors, where any benefit is reserved to the assignor, or any person for him, will be held fraudulent as to creditors, and as to them null and void. All conveyances or transfer of real estate, whether in writing or otherwise, and all obligations, or contracts of all descriptions had or made with intention to delay or defraud creditors, and such intention known to the party taking, shall be void as to creditors. Voluntary conveyances made by an insolvent debtor are void.

Attachments. A summary process of attachment will lie in the following cases: 1. Where the debtor resides out of the State. 2. Where he is actually removing, or about to remove, without the limits of the county. 3. When he absconds. 4. When he resists a legal arrest. 5. Where he is attempting to remove his property beyond the limits of this State. 6. Where he has disposed of, or threatens to conceal, his property, liable for the payment of his debts, or shall make a fraudulent lien thereon to avoid paying his debts. Attachment will lie to recover the purchase money of an article sold when the debtor is still in the possession of the property. Attachments may issue upon affidavit by the plaintiff, his agent or attorney, who must swear that one of the state of facts exist which authorize an attachment, and also as to the amount of the claim. Bond and security, in double the amount sworn to, must accompany the affidavit, and the officers require personal security. The condition of attachment bonds is to pay the defendant all damages he may sustain in consequence of suing out the attachment. Judges of courts of records, justices of the peace, and notaries public, who are ex-officio justices of the peace, can issue attachments. Non-resident corporations are liable to attachment, and one non-resident may attach the property of another non resident in this State. Attachments, being issued, may be levied on the property of the defendant or they may be served by issuing process of garnishment Property attached may be replevied, and garnishments may be dissolved, by giving bond with security, in the first instance to produce the property, in the second instance to pay the debt in the event that the fund reached by garnishment shall be held subject thereto. The liens of attachment as between themselves shall take rank according to priority of levy, and the lien on such attachments will be superior to ordinary judgments rendered, in suits filed after the attachment, but final judgments on attachments, and ordinary judgments rendered at the same term, will be of equal dignity. Attachments may be dismissed if party seeking the process fails to strengthen a bond which may be required by the court on a preliminary hearing.

Banks Any number of persons, not less than three, may form a corporation for the purpose of carrying on the business of banking, by filing in the office of the secretary of the State a declaration in writing signed by each of them, stating their names and residence, the name and style of the proposed corporation, the location and principal place of business thereof, the amount of capital stock, and the number of shares into which it is divided, the purpose and nature of the business of the proposed corporation, with any other matters they may deem it desirable to state. When the declaration is filed the secretary of State, upon application, shall certify and deliver to such subscriber a copy of such declaration and affidavit, and the subscriber shall publish it in the official organ of the county in which it is proposed to do business once a week for four weeks. When said declaration and affidavit shall have been published any subscriber may apply to the ordinary to certify the fact of such publication, and upon said certificate being filed in the office of the secretary of State he shall issue to the subscribers, their associates and successors, a certificate of incorporation under the seal of the State. All corporations doing a banking business in this State shall make to the State bank examiner, under oath, statements showing the resources of the bank or corporation, at the close of business on any day specified by the bank examiner. No bank shall loan to its officers any money without good collateral. No bank or corporation doing banking business shall reduce its cash in hand, including amount due by banks and bankers, and the value of all stocks and bonds actually owned and held, below 25 per cent of demand deposits. No bank or corporation doing a banking business shall loan to any one person, unless such loan is amply secured by good collateral security, more than 10 per cent of its capital stock and surplus. Whenever the capital of a bank is impaired the shrinkage shall be charged on the books of the bank to account of profit and loss. In case of impaired capital the bank examiner shall require such bank to make good its capital so impaired or reduced by transfer from its surplus, or undivided profits, to the capital stock, of a sum to make good such impairment, and if there is no surplus or undivided profits then by assessment upon the stockholders. In the absence of a contract, expressed or implied, to the contrary, the bank taking paper for collection is liable for the defaults of its agents and correspondents to whom the paper has been entrusted for collection. If any insolvent bank or banker, with notice of such insolvency, shall receive money or general deposit, and fail to pay the depositor within three days after demand, such banker or officer in charge of the bank receiving the deposit shall be punished as prescribed in the penal code. Suits may be brought against a bank for the acts of its agents in any county where said bank may now have, or may hereafter establish an agency.

Savings Banks. These are subject to the same rights, privileges, and immunities as other banks, and are liable to the same pains and penalties. Such institutions when they receive deposits, not subject to check, and pay interest thereon, may lend money at the legal rates of interest, and may add principal and interest together for a term of years, and divide the amount into monthly payments, and such transactions are held not to violate the usury law.

Bills of Lading and Promissory Notes. A bona fide assignee of a bill of lading of goods for a valuable consideration, without notice that the same were not paid for, and the purchaser insolvent, will be protected in his title against the seller's right of stoppage in transitu. Bills of exchange and promissory notes made for the purpose of negotiation, or intended to be negotiated at any chartered bank, and which are not paid at maturity, must be protested in order to bind the endorser. Notice of non-payment and of protest, for non-payment, or non-acceptance, must be given to the endorser within a reasonable time, either personally, or by post. It will not be necessary to protest in order to bind the endorser, except in the following cases: 1. Where the paper is made payable on its face, at a bank, or banker's office. 2. Where it is discounted at a bank, or a banker's office. 3. Where it is left at a bank or banker's office for collection. In all such cases, days of grace must be allowed, and the last day of grace is the day of maturity. Accommodation endorsers, sureties, and endorsers, may be sued in the same county and in the same action with the maker, drawer, or acceptor. Bills of exchange must be accepted in writing to bind acceptor. In this State, a contract to pay attorneys' fees, cannot be collected unless a defense is filed and not sustained. A waiver of homestead in a promissory note is a bar to such a claim as against the collection of such note And such waivers are almost universally required in notes taken in this State. Promissory notes and contracts containing reservation of title to personal property, must be executed before a notary public, justice of the peace or clerk of a court of record, and must be recorded to hold such property as against third parties or innocent purchasers. (See Notes and Bills of Exchange.)

Chattel Mortgages and Deeds of Trust. Chattel mortgages must be in writing, and the execution thereof attested by a notary public, justice of the peace, or clerk of a court of record, and to be a lien as against the rights of any person without notice they must be recorded in the office of the clerk of the superior court, in the county where the mortgagor resides, and if the property is located in a county other than that in which the mortgagor resides, the mortgage should be recorded in that county also. No particular form is required for a chattel mortgage. Deeds of trust are authorized, and when they cover only personal property they should be executed with the same formality as chattel mortgages. But when they cover real estate they should be executed with the same formality as deeds to real estate. (See Deeds.) Chattel mortgages may include and cover stocks of goods changing to specifics, and may be executed so as to cover future purchases by the mortgagor. (See Mortgages.)

Collaterals. Collaterals are exempt from process of garnishment in the hands of the creditor. The holder of a note as collateral security for a debt stands upon the same footing as the purchaser. Holders of collateral securities may maintain suit thereon for their own benefit. The receiver in a pledge or pawn note is held to be such a bona fide holder as will protect him, under the same circumstances, as a purchaser, from the equities between the parties, but not from the true owner if fraudulently transferred. Property left in pledge or pawn may be sold at public sale to the highest bidder, upon thirty days' notice. A different method may be adopted by contract.

Contracts. All parties in this State may make contracts, but generally the contracts of married women, infants, insane persons, and drunkards, are void. The general rules in respect to these classes prevail. Gaming contracts are void, and evidences of such a debt are void in the hands of any person. Contracts for dealing in "futures," have been held by the supreme court of this State to be gaming contracts, and void. There is no particular form prescribed for contracts, and they may be made in writing, or by parol, except where required by the statute of frauds to be in writing.

Conveyances. (See Deeds and Chattel Mortgages.)

Corporations. Power to create corporations in this State is vested in the general assembly and the superior courts. Said courts may grant charters to all corporations except banking, insurance, canal, navigation, express, and telegraph companies and railroads. The general assembly may grant charters for the corporations above enumerated, but can not grant charters for other purposes, they being exclusively delegated, by the constitution, to the superior courts as stated The legislature, pursuant to a constitutional provision, have passed uniform laws authorizing charters for railroads and banks to be granted by the secretary of State, upon filing petitions therefor, setting forth the objects and purposes of the corporation, its place of doing business, and the capital to be employed. A charter for a private corporation is obtained by petition to the superior court, setting forth the object of the corporation, the particular business it proposes to engage in, the corporate name, the amount of capital to be employed, the place of doing business, and the time for which incorporation is desired, not exceeding twenty years—a renewal for a like period is provided for. The petition thus filed must be published once a week for thirty days, in a newspaper of general circulation, in the county in which the court sits. The petition, and the order of court granting the same, constitute the charter. In such corporations, the liability of the stockholder is measured by the amount of stock which he holds, and for any unpaid subscription due by him; in other words, there is no personal liability. In the charters of many banks now organized, the rule of personal liability varies, and in some banks stockholders are liable as partners: in others liability exists as under the general rule, viz.: to the extent of twice the amount of stock held, and in some banks, liability exists only to the extent of the stock and unpaid subscriptions thereon. The payment of 10 per cent of the capital stock is necessary before commencing business. Charter privileges expire, if no organization is had thereunder for the space of two years. General powers of corporations are conferred on all corporations organized in this State. Charters may be forfeited by wilful violation of any of the conditions on which they are granted, or by a misuser or a nonuser of their franchises.

Courts. The judicial system of this State consists of justice courts, courts of ordinary, superior courts, and such other courts of special organization and jurisdiction as the legislature may provide, and a supreme court. In the principal cities of this State, viz.: Athens, Augusta, Atlanta, Columbus, Macon, Rome, and Savannah, there are city courts and in some other towns these courts exist. In counties where there are no city courts, as a general rule, county courts exist. The terms, jurisdiction, etc., of these several courts, are as follows: Justice Courts hold monthly sessions and have civil jurisdiction up to $100. In criminal matters they are only committing courts. Suits are brought fifteen days before the beginning of each term, and stand for trial at the first term. Appeals lie in justice courts in cases where the amount involved is $50 or less to a jury in the same court, and if the amount of the claim is more than $50, either party may, as a matter of right, appeal to the superior court. Courts of Ordinary hold their sessions monthly, and have jurisdiction over wills, and the administration of estates, of the conduct of administrators, executors, and guardians. Appeals lie from this court to the superior court. (See Administration of Estates.) County Courts are monthly and quarterly sessions. Their jurisdiction is limited to controversies not exceeding $300. Certiorari lies from these courts to the superior court. City Courts hold four sessions per annum, but the city court of Atlanta has six terms, beginning with the January term. The jurisdiction of city courts is unlimited, except in matters of divorce, matters involving titles to land, and administration of equitable relief under the equity powers of courts. (See Superior Courts.) Review of decisions made by city courts can only be had in the supreme court, and the method of review in these courts is the same as is provided for review of proceedings in the superior courts. Superior Courts—The State is divided into judicial circuits and superior courts are the highest courts of original jurisdiction. They have jurisdiction of all suits and controversies, and have exclusive jurisdiction in equity powers, divorce cases, and suits involving titles to lands, and on the criminal side, exclusive jurisdiction of all cases involving life, or imprisonment in the penitentiary. Superior courts have two terms each year. In all of these courts, except justice courts, and courts of ordinary, cases stand for trial at the second term. Decisions of the superior courts are reviewed by bills of exception to supreme court.

Days of Grace. (See Bills of Lading and Promissory Notes.)

Deeds. Deeds to real estate in Georgia must be in writing, and should be executed in the presence of two witnesses, one of whom shall be an officer authorized for that purpose. They should be recorded in the office of the clerk of the superior court of the county where the land lies, and all deeds, mortgages, and other liens, should be recorded immediately to be available against third parties and innocent purchasers. To authorize the record of a deed to realty, it must be attested by or acknowledged before, if executed out of this State, a commissioner of deeds for the State of Georgia, notary public, clerk of a court of record, or a consul, or vice-consul of the United States (the certificates of these officers under their seals being evidence of the fact). When the deed is executed out of this State before a notary public, the certificate of a clerk of a court of record, under seal of the court, shall be attached, showing that said notary is regularly commissioned and authorized by law to attest deeds. If the notary is appointed by the governor, such certificate shall be made by the secretary of State. In case of acknowledgment it is better, as a matter of precaution, always to have two witnesses, besides the officer who takes the acknowledgment. If executed in this State, it must be attested by a judge of a court of record of this State, or a justice of the peace, or notary public, or clerk of the superior court, in the county in which the three last mentioned officers respectively hold their appointment, or if subsequent to its execution the deed is acknowledged in the presence of either of the named officers, that fact, certified on the deed by such officer, shall entitle it to be recorded. [Act of 1893.] Deeds to secure loans are in more common use than mortgages because they have been held to pass the absolute title and protect against year's support and dower, the equity of redemption remaining in the maker, can not be levied upon until the debt to secure which the deed has been made has been paid off. Usury will, however, void such a conveyance.

Depositions. Testimony is taken in this State by written interrogatories where the witness is a female, or where the witness does not reside in the county where the suit is pending, or by reason of disability is unable to attend court. In counties within this State, having a population of over 20,000, depositions may be taken upon five days' notice to the other party of the time and place at which the witness is to be examined. This process cannot be used for taking testimony outside of the State. In taking answers to interrogatories, which must be authorized by a commission issued for such purpose by the court here, two commissioners must act. Commissioners must be disinterested and not related to either party, or connected with the case; attorneys of the parties are incompetent. None of the parties to the case, nor their agents or attorneys, can be present when the commission is executed. The witness can only write his answer in the presence of the commissioners. It is usual, and the better practice, for one of the commissioners to write the answers of the witness as they are given. Depositions may be written with the typewriter, and commissioners may adjourn their sittings from day to day. The following instructions for taking testimony are important: Instructions for taking answers to interrogatories: 1. Insert the commissioners' names in the commission; any two respectable citizens will do. 2. State the case as you find it. Then comes the caption, thus:

State of..... } ss. (Here insert the county and State where County of..... } the commission is executed.)

By virtue of a commission from the ..... court of ..... county, we have caused the person in said commission named to come before us, who being duly sworn true answers to make to certain interrogatories thereto annexed, deposeth and answereth as follows: (Here insert answers of the witnesses to each interrogatory in order.) 3. Let the witness sign the answers; then say: "Answered, sworn to, and subscribed before us, this ..... day of ....., 18..." Then sign your own names, adding the words "Commissioner (L. S.)" after each name. 4. Seal all up together, using two wafers, each commissioner writing his name with "Commissioner" across a wafer or seal. 5. State the case on the package, and address it to the clerk of the court issuing the commission. 6. If it is to go by mail, get the postmaster to receipt on the package, "Received from one of the commissioners (giving his name) the within interrogatories, to be forwarded by due course of mail," naming his post-office. Testimony thus taken must be sent by mail, or by some person specially authorized by the commissioner to carry it to the court.

Descent and Distribution of Property. The husband is the sole heir to his intestate wife, unless she leave children, and in that event the husband and children shall inherit per capita, but the descendants of children shall take per stirpe. If a man die without children, or the descendants of children, leaving a wife, the wife is his sole heir. If there are children, or those representing deceased children, the wife shall take a child's part, unless the shares exceed five in number, in which case the wife shall have one-fifth part of the estate. If the wife elects to take her dower, she has no further interest in the estate. Children stand in the first degree to the intestate, and inherit equally. Posthumous children stand upon the same footing with other children. Lineal descendants of children stand in the place of their deceased parents, and take per stirpe, and not per capita. Brothers and sisters stand in the second degree and inherit if there be no widow or children, or representatives of children. The half-blood on the paternal side inherit equally with the whole blood. The father, if living, inherits equally with brothers and sisters, and stands in the same degree. If there be no father, and the mother is alive, she shall inherit in the same manner as the father would. Real estate descends direct to the heirs, and personal estate to the administrator. But real estate is subject to administration for the purpose of paying debts, and if necessary for distribution.

Divorces. Total or partial divorces may be granted in this State. Suits can only be brought in the superior courts, and must be commenced by petition. Such suits stand for trial at the second term, and there must be two verdicts by separate juries, rendered at different terms, to authorize a total divorce. Divorce cases shall be brought and tried in the county where the defendant resides, if a resident of Georgia, and if the defendant is a non-resident, suit must be brought and tried in the county where the plaintiff resides. If the defendant is a non-resident, service may be perfected by publication in a newspaper in which the sheriff's advertisements are published, twice a month for two months. The jury rendering a final verdict will fix the status of the parties under the direction of the court. Total divorces may be granted on the following grounds: 1. For marriage by persons within prohibited degrees of consanguinity or affinity. 2. For mental incapacity at time of marriage. 3. Impotency at time of marriage. 4. Force, menaces, duress, and fraud in obtaining the marriage. 5. Pregnancy of the wife at time of marriage, unknown to the husband. 6. Adultery in either party after marriage. 7. Willful and continued desertion for three years by either party. 8. Conviction of either party for an offense involving moral turpitude, under which he or she is sentenced to a term in the penitentiary for a term of two years or longer. 9. Cruel treatment or habitual intoxication by either party. In cases under this ninth division a jury may grant a total or partial divorce, in their discretion. A residence of twelve months in this State is necessary to entitle a party to maintain a suit for divorce.

Dower. In this State the wife is entitled to an estate for life in all lands of which the husband dies seized or possessed at the time of his death, or to which the husband obtained title in right of his wife. There is no necessity for renunciation of dower in this State, and a married woman, on that question, need not join with her husband in conveying land, except in cases where, before 1866, he obtained real estate belonging to his wife, by virtue of the marital relation. Dower may be barred by a provision made prior to marriage and accepted by the wife, by deed or will expressed in lieu of dower and accepted by the wife, or by election of the widow to take a child's part in lieu of dower, by failure to apply for dower, within seven years after the husband's death, by joining in a deed with the husband to lands, the title of which came through her.

Executions must follow the judgments or decrees from which they issue. They are good for seven years, and may be renewed for any like period by an entry of nulla bona. To affect property in counties other than that where the defendant resides they must be entered of record in the office of the clerk of the superior court in such counties.

Exemptions and Homesteads. Under the constitution and laws of Georgia, each head of a family, or guardian, or trustee of a family of minor children, or of aged or infirm person, or a person having care and support of dependent females of any age, who is not the head of a family, shall have exemption on realty, or personalty, or both, to the aggregate of of $1,600. The homestead, to be available, must be set aside by the ordinary of the county in which the debtor resides, upon written application, or petition therefor, and upon notice to creditors. This exemption of homestead, together with improvements made thereon after the setting aside of the same as a homestead, is exempt from levy and sale, except for taxes, for the purchase money of the same, for labor done thereon, for material furnished therefor, or for removal of encumbrances thereon. The debtor shall have power to waive, or renounce, in writing, his right to the benefit of exemption above stated, except as to wearing apparel and not exceeding $300 worth of household and kitchen furniture, and provisions. The homestead or exemption may be sold by the debtor and his wife, if any, with the sanction of the judge of the superior court of the county where the debtor resides, or the land is situated. The proceeds to be re-invested upon the same uses. A general waiver, in writing, of the homestead, or exemption, is good.

Fraud. Contracts, awards, marriages, judgments, sales, and wills are void when they are brought about and procured by fraud. Promissory notes when procured by fraud are void in the hands of the holder, who so procures them. The statute of frauds, as of force in Georgia, requires the following obligations to be in writing, signed by the party, or his authorized agent, to be binding: 1. A promise by an executor, administrator, guardian, or trustee, to answer in damages out of his own estate. 2. A promise to answer for the debt, default, or miscarriage of another. 3. An agreement made upon consideration of marriage, except marriage articles as otherwise provided. 4. Any contract for the sale of lands, or any interest in or concerning them. 5. Any agreement that is not to be performed in a year. 6. A promise to revive a debt barred by statute of limitations. 7. Any contract for the sale of goods, wares, and merchandise, in existence or not in esse, to the amount of $50 or more, except the buyer shall accept part of the goods sold and actually receive the same or give something in earnest to bind the bargain or in part payment. 8. An acceptance of a bill of exchange.

Garnishment. This process may be invoked in any case. After an attachment has issued, or after a suit has been filed, or judgment obtained, the plaintiff, his agent, or attorney, may make affidavit that he has reason to apprehend the loss of his debt, and upon giving bond in double the sum claimed to be due, conditioned to answer any damages the defendant may sustain in case he shall fail to recover, or in case the funds were not subject to garnishment, the process will issue. The bond having been given any number of summons may issue. Garnishment may be dissolved by giving bond, and a third party may claim a fund held up under garnishment and may release the fund by giving bond. Wages of day laborers, journeymen, and mechanics are exempt from process of garnishment.

Holidays. (See Bills of Lading and Promissory Notes.)

Husband and Wife. (See Divorces, Married Women, Exemption, Dower, and Administration of Estates.)

Insolvent Traders, Persons and Corporations.—Any insolvent traders, persons or corporations, engaged in business, who are insolvent, and who have failed or refused to pay unsecured claims on demand, may, on the petition of one or more creditors holding claims in amount equal to one-third of all unsecured claims, have a receiver appointed, and the assets administered under a creditors' bill.

Interest. The legal rate of interest in Georgia is 7 per cent, but 8 is legal when contracted for in writing. Parties charging usury forfeit the excess if usury is set up. And usury will render a deed void, and will in a contract or mortgage render a waiver of homestead, or contract to pay attorneys' fees, void.

Judgments create liens from their rendition upon the real or personal property of the defendant; all judgments at the same term rank equally, and property sold by a debtor after judgment is obtained against him is only discharged from the lien of such judgment, if real estate, after four years' possession by the vendee, and in cases of personal property, after two years'. Judgments, whether in the United States court, or in any State court, obtained in any other county than that in which the defendant resides have no lien on the property of the defendant in any other county, unless the execution thereon is recorded within thirty days, in the county where the property lies. (See Actions.)

Limitations. Suits on open accounts are barred after four years, on promissory notes and bills after six years, on instruments under seal after twenty years, on suits for personal injury after two years. Seven years' adverse possession of real estate under color of title, and twenty years' and verse possession without color of title, will bar the claims of all persons not laboring under disability. Infants have seven years to assert their rights, after becoming twenty-one years of age.

Married Women. The wife may contract and sue and be sued in her own name in respect to her separate estate as a femme sole, except that she can not bind her separate estate by suretyship for her husband, and any promise to pay her husband's debt is void. She cannot sell to her husband or trustee for any purpose, except by order of the superior court. A wife or her heirs may sue and recover from any person money or property used by her husband to pay his debt where the creditor takes with notice. All the property of the wife at the time of marriage, and all she may acquire by gift, inheritance, or purchase, shall vest in and belong to her, and shall not be liable for the debt, default, or contract of her husband. The wife with her children, if any, is entitled to twelve months' support out of the estate of her deceased husband. The husband is bound to support and maintain the wife, and his consent is presumed to her agency in the purchase of necessaries. The wife's separate property is not liable for debts contracted by her as agent of her husband in the ordinary support of herself and children, but by special contract in her own capacity, and not as agent for her husband, she could bind her separate estate, for that purpose. A married woman can dispose of her property by will.

Mortgages. Mortgages pass no title, and are only security for debts. They may embrace real or personal property in the mortgagor's possession, or to which he has a right of possession. They may cover a stock of goods in bulk, but changing in specifics, and by the act of December, 1869, may cover after acquired property. No particular form is necessary to constitute a mortgage, whether on real or personal property, but it must be clear that the instrument indicates a lien, describes the property upon which it is to operate, and specifies the debt it secures. Mortgages on land are not good against dower, and a wife cannot waive her dower as against this lien. Mortgages must be executed and attested in the same manner as deeds, except that in mortgages on personal property, only the official witness is necessary. Mortgages with powers of sale are valid in Georgia. Chattel mortgages are foreclosed by affidavit, and execution will issue at once, by the clerk of the superior courts. An affidavit to foreclose a mortgage must have the original mortgage, or a copy thereof, annexed thereto, and the affidavit must state the amount of principal, and interest due, and that the mortgagor resides in the county where foreclosed, if residing in this State, or if not, then in the county where he resided at the date of the mortgage. Where the debt does not exceed $100 affidavit may be made and execution may be issued by a justice of the peace. Mortgages upon realty are foreclosed in superior courts of the county where the land lies upon a rule nisi directing the principal, interest, and cost, to be paid into the court on, or before, the first day of the next term. This rule is published once a month for four months, or served on the mortgagee, or his agent, or attorney, three months previous to said first day of the next term. If no valid defense is set up the rule is then made absolute and judgment rendered. The property must be sold by the sheriff at public sale after advertisement once a week, for four weeks. Homestead and exemption may be waived in the mortgage, otherwise a homestead may be taken out of the proceeds of such a sale. Personal property may be sold, and title retained in the seller, until the purchase price is paid. But to be valid as against third parties the contract must be in writing, executed, and attested and recorded in the same manner as chattel mortgages. All mortgages on personal property or real estate must be recorded in the office of the clerk of the superior court to be good against third parties, and bona fide purchasers without notice. No time is named for recording mortgages or deeds, but they should be recorded at once to be good, except as between the parties.

Notes and Bills of Exchange. (See Bills of Lading and Promissory Notes.) Promissory notes are negotiable by endorsement of payee, or holder, notes payable to bearer are transferable by delivery only. Bonds, specialties, contracts, bills of lading, and warehouse receipts, are negotiable by endorsement or written assignment in the same manner as bills of exchange and promissory notes. Endorsements may be limited by express restrictions. Acceptances of bills must be in writing. Transferers of negotiable instruments warrant that they are the lawful holders, have the right to sell, and that the instrument is genuine. Bona fide purchasers of negotiable paper taking the same for value before due, and without notice, are protected against any defense, except: 1. Non est factum. 2. Gambling, or immoral or illegal consideration. 3. Fraud in its procurement by the holder. Maturity gives notice of dishonor. No days of grace are allowed on sight papers, all others are entitled thereto.

Protests. (See Bills of Lading and Promissory Notes.)

Replevy. All property seized under attachment, distress, or other similar process, may be replevied. Property seized under process and claimed by the third party may be delivered over upon bond and security for its forthcoming to answer final judgment of decree.

Taxes. Taxes are a lien upon all the property of the debtor, real or personal, and its lien is preferred as stated in section hereon relating to distribution of the estates. Sales of property for taxes are conducted in the same manner as other judicial sales. One year in which to redeem is allowed.

Usury. (See Deeds, Mortgages, and Interest.)

Wills. All persons of full age and sound and disposing memory, including married women, may make wills, and dispose of their estates. Wills must be executed in the presence of three witnesses, all of whom shall be present, must be called by the testator as witnesses, and must sign, and shall certify that they signed, in the presence of the testator, and in the presence of each other. Wills must be in writing, except nuncupative wills. Wills of citizens of other States, where executed according to the laws of the State, and probated in solemn form in such State, which dispose of real or personal property in Georgia, may be admitted to probate in this State, when an authenticated copy of the will is presented, accompanied by a certificate of the governor of such State, under the seal of the State, that the official of the court where such probate was made, had original jurisdiction of the subject-matter. Wills are probated in the court of ordinary in the county where the testator resides at the date of his death. All wills executed out of this state by citizens of this state are foreign wills, and to dispose of property in Georgia must be executed according to our law.

SYNOPSIS OF THE LAWS OF IDAHO

RELATING TO

BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES.

Prepared and Revised by J. H. Richards, Esq., Attorney at Law, Boise City. (See Card in Attorneys' List.)

Accounts. No proof of account required in the first instance in order to commence suit. On trial the claim must be sustained by the testimony of competent witnesses given orally, or by deposition taken under statutory regulation. Upon default verified account will support judgment.

Acknowledgments. All conveyances and other instruments required to be acknowledged in this State must be acknowledged, if within the State, before a judge or clerk of a court of record, a county recorder, a notary public, or a justice of the peace. If without the State, but within the United States, they must be acknowledged before any such officer, or a commissioner of deeds for this State, or before any officer authorized by the laws of this State or Territory to take such acknowledgment. If without the United States, they must be acknowledged before a minister or charge d'affairs of the United States, resident and accredited in the country where the acknowledgment is taken, before a consul or vice-consul, a judge of a court of record, a duly appointed commissioner, or a notary public. The certificate of acknowledgment, if made before a justice of the peace, when used in any county other than that in which he resides, must be accompanied by a certificate, under the hand and seal of the recorder of the county in which the justice resides, setting forth that such justice, at the time of taking such acknowledgment, was authorized to take the same, and that the recorder is acquainted with his handwriting, and believes that the signature is genuine. Proof of the execution of an instrument may be made though it has not been acknowledged.

Administration of Decedent's Estate. Wills must be proved and letters testamentary or of administration granted: In county where decedent was resident at the time of his death; in county in which decedent may have died, leaving estate therein, he not being a resident of State; in county in which any part of estate may be, decedent having died out of State and not resident thereof at the time of his death; in county in which any part of estate may be, decedent not being resident of State and not leaving estate in county in which he died; in all other cases, in county where application for letters is first made. Letters to administration upon estate of an intestate are granted in following order: To surviving husband, or wife, or some other competent person whom he or she may appoint; children; father or mother; brothers; sisters. grand children; next of kin entitled to share in distribution of estate; any kin; public administrator; creditors; any person legally competent. Before letters of administration are granted, administrator must execute a bond to State, with two or more sufficient sureties, approved by probate judge, in double value of personal property and annual rents and profits of real estate, conditioned for faithful discharge of his duties. An inventory and appraisal of estate shall be made and filed by executor, or administrator, after valued by appraisers appointed by court. Executors and administrators, immediately after appointment, must publish notice for claims in newspapers designated by court. Time expressed in notice must be ten months from its first publication, when estate exceeds $1,500; four months when it does not. Claims arising upon a contract, whether same be due, not due, or contingent, must be presented in time limited in notice, and claim not so presented is barred forever, provided, that when it appears to satisfaction of court claimant had not notice, it may be represented at any time before decree of distribution entered. All claims must be sworn to and must be allowed or rejected by executor or administrator. When claim is rejected, either by executor, administrator, or probate judge, suit must be brought within three months after date of its rejection, or within two months after it becomes due, otherwise claim forever barred. Executor or administrator may refer doubtful claims to some disinterested person approved by probate judge. At third term of court after his appointment, and thereafter at any time when required by court, executor or administrator shall account. Debts of intestate must be paid in following order: 1. Funeral expenses. 2. Expenses of last sickness. 3. Debts having preference by laws of United States. 4. Judgments rendered against decedent in his lifetime, and mortgages in order of their date. Property of estate succeeds as follows, in absence of will and after debts are paid: 1. If decedent leaves surviving husband or wife, and one child or its issue, in equal shares to wife or husband and child, or its issue. If husband and wife and more than one child living, or one child living and lawful issue of one or more, one-third to husband and wife and remainder in equal shares to children. Issue of children take their share. If no husband or wife survive, whole estate goes to issue. 2. If there be no issue, estate goes one-half to husband or wife and one-half to father or mother, survivor taking share of other. If there be no father or mother, one-half then goes to brother or sister and to their children, if either be dead, by right of representation. If there be no issue, husband, or wife, estate goes to father and mother equally or to survivor. 3. If there be no issue, husband, wife, father, or mother, then estate goes to brothers and sisters equally or to their issue. 4. If there be husband or wife, but no issue, father, mother, brother, or sister, whole estate goes to husband or wife. 5. If there be neither issue, husband, wife, father, mother, brother, or sister, estate goes to next of kin.

Affidavits are used only to verify pleadings, to prove service of summons, notice, or other paper, to obtain provisional remedy.

Aliens can not take, hold, or acquire real property, except mineral lands, except in the enforcement of a lien or by inheritance.

Assignments and Insolvency. An insolvent debtor may be discharged of his debts by executing an assignment of all his property, real and personal, which, with a sworn inventory of property and schedule of creditors, must be filed in the district court. At a creditors' meeting, held after thirty days' notice given, one or more assignees, not exceeding three, are appointed, and claims proved. Court will set aside property exempt, and issue order for direct payment of money, where no mortgage or pledge had been given, or where such security, if given, has been rendered negatory by act of defendant. Plaintiff must furnish bond, with two sufficient sureties.

Attachments. The plaintiff at the time of issuing the summons, or at any time afterwards, may have the property of the defendant attached as security for the satisfaction of any judgment that may be recorded, unless the defendant give security to pay such judgment, in the following cases: 1. In an action upon a judgment, or upon contract, express or implied, for the direct payment of money, where the contract is not secured by any mortgage or lien upon real or personal property, or any pledge of personal property. 2. In an action upon a judgment, or upon contract, express or implied, against a defendant not residing in this State. Debt must be due to support attachment. Garnishment process may issue in aid of attachment or execution and the garnishee must make answer under oath. Defendant in a civil action for recovery of money or damages, under a contract, express or implied, may be arrested, when about to depart from the Territory with intent to defraud, or when the debt or obligation was fraudulently contracted. Before issuing the writ the clerk must require a written undertaking, on the part of the plaintiff, in a sum not less than two hundred dollars, and not exceeding the amount claimed by the plaintiff, with sufficient sureties, to the effect that if the defendant recover judgment, or if the attachment be wrongfully issued, the plaintiff will pay all costs that may be awarded to the defendant, and all damages which he may sustain by reason of the attachment, not exceeding the sum specified in the undertaking; and two days after issuing such writ, and delivering it to the proper officer, the clerk must post at the front door of the court house and cause to be published in some newspaper published in the county, if there be one, a notice setting out the title of the cause and the fact that an attachment has been issued against the property of the defendant. Such notice shall be kept posted at least ten days, and shall be published, if a weekly paper, in three issues thereof, and if any other than a weekly paper in at least six issues. Any creditor of the defendant, who within sixty days after the first posting and publication of such notice, shall commence and prosecute to final judgment his action for his claim against the defendant shall share pro rata with the attaching creditor in the proceeds of the defendant's property where there is not sufficient to pay all judgments in full against him.

Banks. There is no State banking law. Any person, corporation, or association can engage in banking, and their liability is not affected by reason of the business being that of banking.

Bills of Lading. No statutory provisions governing the same.

Collaterals. No statutory regulation.

Contracts. All persons are capable of contracting except minors, persons of unsound mind, and persons deprived of civil rights. A written instrument is presumptive evidence of a consideration. All contracts may be oral, except such as are specially required by statute to be in writing. All distinctions between sealed and unsealed instruments are abolished. Where a contract is partly written and partly printed, the written part controls the printed part.

Conveyances. Real estate is conveyed by instrument in writing, signed by the party or his authorized agent in writing. Real estate of a married person, or community property, occupied as a residence, can be conveyed by both husband and wife joining in the execution, and acknowledged by the wife upon an examination separate and apart from her husband. Separate property of wife can only be conveyed by instrument in writing, signed by both husband and wife, and acknowledged as above stated. Separate property of husband, and community property, other than above stated, can be conveyed by instrument in writing, signed by husband. If husband has not been bona fide resident of the State, within one year preceding conveyance, married woman may convey separate real property by instrument in writing, executed by her and acknowledged in manner above stated. Power of Attorney of a married woman, authorizing transfer of her separate real property has no validity for that purpose, until acknowledged by her in the manner above stated, and her husband, if a resident of the State, joined in the execution. An instrument purporting to grant real property to take effect upon conditions precedent, does not pass the estate upon the performance of the condition; such instrument is merely an executory contract.

Corporations. All foreign corporations must, within three months after beginning operations, file with the secretary of State, also with the clerk of the district court, in the county where the principal office is located, a designation of some agent upon whom process can be served. Penalty. The denial to the corporation of the benefit of the statutes, limiting the time of the commencement of civil actions. Private corporation may be formed by five or more persons, one of whom must be a bona fide resident of this State. Such corporation is formed by executing articles of incorporation, containing the name of the corporation; the purposes for which formed; the place where its principal place of business is to be located; the term for which it is to exist (not exceeding fifty years); the number of its directors; the names and residents of those appointed for the first year; the amount of capital stock, and the number of shares into which it is divided, and the amount actually subscribed and by whom. Railroad, wagon road, and telegraph corporations must also state in articles, the kind of road or telegraph intended to be constructed; the place from and to which it is intended to be run, with all intermediate branches; the latter corporation must have subscribed before filing articles, $1,000 per mile for railroads; $100 per mile for telegraph lines, and $300 per mile for wagon roads; which articles must be verified by affidavit of president, secretary, or treasurer, named in articles, that such capital has been subscribed; articles to be filed in office of county recorder in which principal place of business is located, a copy thereof, certified by recorder, filed with the Secretary of State.

Courts. Terms and Jurisdiction. The judge of the district court of each of the judicial districts of the State must annually fix the time for holding the district court in the several counties of his district by an order filed and entered by the clerk in each county of his district and said order must be published two consecutive weeks in a newspaper published in his district; and he may hold such special terms as he deems proper and necessary, by an order published in the newspaper in the county where he is to hold such special term, two consecutive weeks, and have original jurisdiction in all civil cases involving over $100. Probate courts are held in each county once a month, and have concurrent jurisdiction up to $500, and concurrent jurisdiction with justice's courts in all cases. Justice's Jurisdiction, $300.

Days of Grace. Abolished by the statute.

In addition to actions which survive by the Common Law, the following also survive: Actions of replevin; action to recover for injury to the person (except slander and libel); to recover damages for injury to real or personal property; for the detention or conversion of personalty; and action against officers for misfeasance, malfeasance, or nonfeasance, and all actions for fraud or deceit. Process must be served ten days before the commencement of return term. In justices' courts summons is returnable in not less than five, nor more than fifteen days, and must be served at least three days before the time of trial.

Administration of Estates is had in the county courts, except in some of the larger counties where probate courts are established. Administration shall be granted, first, to the surviving husband or wife or next of kin. After sixty days it may be granted to the public administrator of the proper county, or to any creditor. After the lapse of seventy-five days, it may be granted to any person who the county court may think will best manage the estate; but in counties having a population of 200,000 inhabitants or over, the administration of said estate shall be committed to the public administrator of the proper county. In the meantime, if necessary, an administrator to collect may be appointed. Six weeks' notice must be given for proof of claims. Claims not presented within two years from the date of letters, shall be forever barred, unless the creditor shall find other estate not inventoried or accounted for within that time; saving, however, to infants, persons of unsound mind, persons without the United States in the employment of the United States or of this State, the term of two years to exhibit claims after disabilities removed.

Affidavits may be taken or oaths administered by any judge, master in chancery, clerk of court, justice, police magistrate, or notary public. Any oath authorized or required to be made out of the State, may be administered by any officer authorized by the law of the State where it is administered, and if such officer have a seal, his certificate under his official seal shall be received as prima facie evidence of his authority to administer oaths.

Aliens. By statute of July 1, 1897, all aliens may acquire and hold, and convey, or devise, or otherwise alienate real property, subject to certain provisions and restrictions. If said alien be twenty-one years of age or upwards at the time of acquiring title to lands in this State, he may hold title thereto for six years; but if he be under twenty-one years at the time of acquiring said title, he may hold title for six years from and after the time he becomes twenty-one years of age, and if at the end of the time above limited such lands shall not have been conveyed to bona fide purchasers for value, or such alien shall not have become a citizen of the United States, the State's attorney shall compel a sale of said lands, such sale, however, to be made subject to all incumbrances of judgment, mortgage or otherwise existing against said land. The money and securities for the unpaid balance, if any, of the purchase price bid for said land shall, after deducting costs, be delivered to the State treasurer, who shall hold the same as the property of the State of Illinois.

Appeals. Appeals may be taken from justice courts to the circuit, superior, or county courts. Appeal bond must be double amount of judgment. Appeals from probate court to circuit court may be taken upon bond, such as probate court may approve. Such appeals are tried de novo in circuit, superior, or county courts. Appellate courts exercise appellate jurisdiction only. If the sum amounts to $1,000 the case may be taken from the appellate to the supreme court on appeal or writ of error. Any case, however, may be taken from the appellate to the supreme court if the appellate court shall certify that questions of law are of sufficient importance to justify doing so.

Arbitration. The parties to any suit pending in any court of record may agree to arbitrate, whereupon an order to that effect will be entered submitting the matter to three arbitrators, each party choosing one, and a third if they can agree; if not, the court will name the third. The arbitrators are sworn to properly hear and decide the cause, may have witnesses subpœnaed, issue attachments, administer oaths, and punish for contempt. The award shall be in writing, signed by them or a majority, and a copy given to each party. Either party may, within one year, by giving four days' notice, have final judgment thereon. The right to submit controversies to arbitration, as at common law, is not affected.

Arrest. One about commencing suit upon any specialty, bill, note, judgment, obligation, or contract may, on affidavit stating facts showing that debt was fraudulently incurred or that debtor has fraudulently concealed or disposed of property, have capias issued for his arrest. In actions for damages merely, affidavit shall state that judgment will be in danger of loss unless debtor be held to bail. Plaintiff must give bond in double the amount sued for, and debtor must give bond as fixed by court, or go to jail. He may be discharged if the affidavit be insufficient or untrue. Debtor may schedule out if malice is not the gist of the action. If it is, he may remain in jail, the creditor paying his board, at $4.50 per week, and the debt is satisfied by imprisonment, at the rate of $1.50 per day.

Assignments. The county court has jurisdiction in cases of voluntary assignment for the benefit of creditors, which assignments must be duly acknowledged, filed in the office of the clerk of the county court, and recorded in the county where the assignor resides, or where the business has been carried on, and in the county or counties where land embraced in the assignment is situate. Assignee must file bond and inventory, and send notice by mail to creditors to present claims under oath within three months from publication of notice. Claims not so presented do not participate in dividends until after the payment in full of all claims properly allowed. Assignee is required to make equal dividends among creditors at first term of court after the three months' notice, and to render a final account within one year. If any creditor shall fail to receive his distributive share for a period of six months after final order of distribution, the assignee shall, upon order of court, pay to the county treasurer the total of such undistributed amounts. The creditor who shall not have received his share may, at any time within six months from the time of such payment, receive the same from the treasurer. Should such creditor not procure the same from the treasurer within said six months the debtor may receive of the treasurer whatever sum shall then remain in his hands unpaid to creditors. Preferences are void. Wages of laborer or servant earned within three months must be paid in full. Proceedings may be dismissed out of court by consent of debtor and a majority of creditors, in number and amount, but debtor remains liable for his indebtedness.

Attachment. The writ may issue out of courts of record on claims exceeding $20, when the debtor is non-resident; conceals himself, or stands in defiance, so that process can not be served on him; or has departed from this State with the intention of removing his effects therefrom, or if about to do so; or has, within two years, fraudulently conveyed, assigned, concealed, or disposed of his property, or a part thereof, so as to hinder or delay creditors; or is about fraudulently to conceal, assign, or otherwise dispose of his property or effects, so as to hinder or delay creditors; or the debt was fraudulently contracted by statements in writing. Before writ can issue, plaintiff, his agent, or attorney, must make affidavit to one or more of these facts, and give bond, in double the amount of claim. Writs may issue out of justice's courts, on the same grounds, on claims not exceeding $200. Garnishment process may issue in cases of attachment, or on return of execution unsatisfied, but the wages of any person who is the head of a family and resides with the same, to the amount of $8 per week, are exempt. (See Garnishment.)

Banks. There is nothing special in the statutes about National banks, except that shares of stock in such as may be located in this State are listed and taxed as shares in State banks and as other personal property, even though the owner be non-resident. Each bank is required to keep a list of names and residences of its stockholders.

Banking associations may be formed to do general banking, except issuing bills as money; may make loans on personal and real estate security and accept and execute trusts. Capital required is graded: Cities of 5,000 or less, $25,000; up to 10,000, $50,000; up to 50,000, $100,000, and 50,000 or more, $200,000. The State Auditor issues certificate of organization, which must be recorded in proper county. Any impairment of capital must be made good on notice from him.

June 4, 1897, the statute was amended, as follows: "The total liabilities to any association, of any person, or of any company or firm, for money borrowed, including in the liabilities of a company or firm, the liabilities of the several members thereof, shall at no time exceed one-tenth part of the amount of capital of such association actually paid in. But the discount of bills of exchange drawn in good faith against actually existing values, and the discount of commercial or business papers actually owned by the person negotiating the same, shall not be considered as money borrowed. Every such loan made in violation of the provisions hereof, shall be due and payable according to its terms, and the remedy for the recovery of any money loaned in violation to the provisions hereof, or for the enforcement of any agreement, collateral or otherwise, made in connection with any such loan, shall not be held to be impaired, affected, or prohibited by reason of such violation, but such remedy shall exist notwithstanding the same. But every director of any such association who shall violate, or participate in, or assent to such violation, or who shall permit any of the officers, agents, or servants of the association to violate the provisions hereof, shall be held liable in his personal and individual capacity for all damages which the association, its shareholders, or any other person shall have sustained in consequence of such violation."

Collaterals. There is no special provision relating to them.

Conveyances. A person may convey title to lands, although not in possession, and although the same be in adverse possession. No estate in joint tenancy, except to executors and trustees, is created by deed unless it be expressly so declared, otherwise it will be a tenancy in common. The words "conveys and warrants" are sufficient to convey title in fee simple and to warrant that the grantor was lawfully seized with full right to convey; that the land was free from incumbrance, and that grantee have quiet and peaceable possession, and that grantor shall defend title. The words "conveys and quit claims" are sufficient to convey all the grantor's interest. The words "mortgage and warrant" are sufficient to mortgage the fee with full covenants of general warranty. The homestead right is not waived except apt words be used. A married woman above eighteen joining with husband in any deed, mortgage, power of attorney or other writing, shall be bound in respect to her title the same as if she were single. No covenant or warranty is broken by the existence of a highway upon the land conveyed. (See Acknowledgment.)

Corporations. Corporations may be formed under the general incorporation act for any lawful purpose except banking, insurance, real estate, brokerage, railroads, and loaning money; separate acts provide for these. At all meetings of stockholders, each share is entitled to one vote, in person or by proxy. Cumulative voting is allowed. Final certificate of incorporation must be recorded in company's own county. A corporation may hold only real estate necessary for its business. Its business is controlled by directors—not less than three, nor more than eleven—who shall be liable for corporate debts in excess of amount of capital stock, if assented to by them. Shares may be not less than $10 nor more than $100. No stock liability exists, except for unpaid balances due thereon. A purchaser of stock is liable same as original holder. Stockholder has a right, at all reasonable times, to examine records and books. Certificates may be assigned in blank and passed by delivery. Stock is personalty, and may be taken and sold on execution if certificate has not been sold or pledged in good faith. One holding stock as collateral, or as executor, administrator, conservator, guardian, or trustee, is not personally liable as a stockholder. Every corporation, except building and loan, railroad, banking, and insurance, must report on oath annually between August 15th and September 1st to the Secretary of State the exact location of its principal office and character of business, names of officers and directors, the exact residence of each, and when his term expires. The Secretary of State shall annually furnish to the Recorder of each county a list of above facts, to be filed for public reference. Foreign corporations must file with Secretary of State copy of charter or authenticated certificate, and furnish sworn statement showing the proportion of the capital stock of such corporation which is represented by the property located and business transacted here, and pay such fees and costs as are required of domestic corporations; must maintain a public office or place to transact its business, and keep certain books; must designate some person on whom legal service may be had; be liable to same restrictions as domestic corporations, and have no other or greater powers. It can not pledge or incumber its property in this State to the injury of a resident or citizen creditor. No mortgage by any foreign corporation, except railroad and telegraph companies, given to secure any debt created in another State, shall take effect as against a resident creditor whose debt existed when such mortgage was recorded. Such corporation must report on oath promptly to Secretary of State any change in name and address of its representative, any increase and decrease of capital stock, or the proportion thereof represented in this State by its property and business therein. This law does not apply to railroad or telegraph companies with lines already built in this State, nor to insurance, banking, or loaning companies.

Courts. Terms and Jurisdiction. Circuit courts have original jurisdiction in all cases in law and equity, and hold two or more terms in each year, in each county. County courts have probate jurisdiction (except in counties where probate courts are established), and have also a limited civil ($1,000) and criminal jurisdiction. Provision is made for city courts of special civil and criminal jurisdiction. Justices of the peace have jurisdiction limited to $300. Appellate courts and a supreme court exercise appellate jurisdiction. Cook county has a special superior court of jurisdiction concurrent with that of circuit courts, and has also a special criminal court, each with monthly terms.

Commission may issue to any judge, master in chancery, notary or justice, or to any competent or disinterested person as commissioner. If there be widow or surviving husband and no kindred, estate descends to widow or surviving husband; 7. If will makes provision in lieu of dower, the dower will be barred in other lands unless the survivor shall renounce the benefit of such devise within one year after letters in probate are issued. No judgment or decree, nor laches, default, covin, forfeiture or crime of either, nor conveyance without the consent of the other shall bar dower.

Shares may be not less than $10 nor more than $100. No stock liability exists, except for unpaid balances due thereon. A purchaser of stock is liable same as original holder. Stockholder has a right, at all reasonable times, to examine records and books. Certificates may be assigned in blank and passed by delivery. Stock is personalty, and may be taken and sold on execution if certificate has not been sold or pledged in good faith. One holding stock as collateral, or as executor, administrator, conservator, guardian, or trustee, is not personally liable as a stockholder. Every corporation, except building and loan, railroad, banking, and insurance, must report on oath annually between August 15th and September 1st to the Secretary of State the exact location of its principal office and character of business, names of officers and directors, the exact residence of each, and when his term expires. The Secretary of State shall annually furnish to the Recorder of each county a list of above facts, to be filed for public reference. Foreign corporations must file with Secretary of State copy of charter or authenticated certificate, and furnish sworn statement showing the proportion of the capital stock of such corporation which is represented by the property located and business transacted here, and pay such fees and costs as are required of domestic corporations; must maintain a public office or place to transact its business, and keep certain books; must designate some person on whom legal service may be had; be liable to same restrictions as domestic corporations, and have no other or greater powers. Such corporation must report on oath promptly to Secretary of State any change in name and address of its representative, any increase and decrease of capital stock, or the proportion thereof represented in this State by its property and business therein. This law does not apply to railroad or telegraph companies with lines already built in this State, nor to insurance, banking, or loaning companies.

Courts. Terms and Jurisdiction. Circuit courts have original jurisdiction in all cases in law and equity, and hold two or more terms in each year, in each county. County courts have probate jurisdiction (except in counties where probate courts are established), and have also a limited civil ($1,000) and criminal jurisdiction. Provision is made for city courts of special civil and criminal jurisdiction. Justices of the peace have jurisdiction limited to $300. Appellate courts and a supreme court exercise appellate jurisdiction. Cook county has a special superior court of jurisdiction concurrent with that of circuit courts, and has also a special criminal court, each with monthly terms.

Days of Grace are abolished by statute in force July 1, 1895.

Depositions. The testimony of any witness residing within this State more than 100 miles from the court, or not residing in this State, may be taken by the party desiring to use the same, under a commission, upon written interrogatories. The deposition of a non-resident witness may be taken on oral interrogatories, upon giving ten days' notice, and one day for every 100 miles traveled from the court to place of taking same. When the notice has been served for taking the deposition of a non-resident witness on written interrogatories, the adverse party may, upon giving three days' notice, have a deposition issued to take the deposition upon oral interrogatories. Commission may issue to any judge, master in chancery, notary or justice, or to any competent or disinterested person as commissioner. Where deposition is taken on written interrogatories, neither party, his attorney, nor other person interested, is allowed to be present, nor to dictate or write any deposition. If no child, nor descendant of child, and no widow or surviving husband, then to parents, brothers, and sisters; 3. If there is a widow or surviving husband and no child, or descendants of child, then one-half of the realty and all the personalty to the widow or surviving husband, and the other half as in other cases where there is no child or descendant of such; 4. Where there is a widow or surviving husband, and also a child or descendant of such, the widow or surviving husband shall have one-third of all personalty; 5. If there is no child or descendant of such and no parent, brother, or sister, or descendant of such, and no widow or surviving husband, estate shall descend to next of kin, by the civil law; no representations among collaterals excepting with the descendants of brothers and sisters, and no distinction between kindred of whole and half blood; 6. If there be widow or surviving husband and no kindred, estate descends to widow or surviving husband; 7. If no kindred and no widow or husband surviving, the estate shall escheat to the county where estate or the greater portion thereof is situated. An illegitimate child is heir to its mother and any maternal ancestor and any person from whom its mother could inherit, and the lawful issue of an illegitimate takes its estate. An illegitimate person's estate shall descend to the widow or surviving husband and children as the estate of other persons in like cases. On the death of an illegitimate intestate, leaving no child or descendant of such, the estate shall descend to widow or surviving husband. If no widow or husband and no child or descendant, such estate shall vest in the mother, and her children and their descendants; one-half to the mother. If no heir as above, the estate shall vest in the next of kin to the mother as by the civil law. If no heirs or kindred, the estate shall escheat to the State. An illegitimate child becomes legitimate if the parents inter-marry.

No confession of the defendant shall be evidence unless it was made without fraud or collusion. The court may, pending the cause, prohibit husband from interfering with personal liberty of wife and may make such order concerning the custody and care of minor children as may be for their benefit. Husband may be ordered to pay alimony, pending the suit. Permanent alimony may be decreed to support the wife, which may be altered or modified from time to time. In case the wife obtain a divorce she may have her maiden name restored.

Equitable estates and lands contracted for in lifetime, the title of which may be completed after death, are subject to dower. No dower as against mortgage for purchase money, nor mortgage made before marriage, except as to the surplus remaining after payment of incumbrance. If will makes provision in lieu of dower, the dower will be barred in other lands unless the survivor shall renounce the benefit of such devise within one year after letters in probate are issued. No judgment or decree, nor laches, default, covin, forfeiture or crime of either, nor conveyance without the consent of the other shall bar dower.

Evidence. Parties to actions and interested persons may testify. Persons convicted of crime may testify, but the conviction may be shown to affect credibility. A party shall not testify on his own behalf when the adverse party is trustee, conservator, executor, administrator, heir, legatee, devisee, guardian or trustee, except as to facts occurring after death of deceased person, or after ward, legatee or devisee shall have attained majority, or where agent of deceased person shall testify to conversations or transactions between the parties, or where other witness shall testify to conversation or admission occurring before death in the absence of deceased persons, or where deposition of deceased person, taken in lifetime, shall be read in evidence. Where claim or defence is made on a book account, a party interested may testify that his account book was a book of original entries, that the entries were made by himself, are true and just, or were made by a deceased, disinterested or nonresident person in the usual course of business, and thereupon such account book shall be admitted in evidence. Husband or wife may not testify for or against each other as to any transaction or conversation occurring during marriage, except in cases where the wife would, if unmarried, be plaintiff or defendant, or where the cause of action grows out of a personal wrong or injury done by one to the other, or out of the neglect of the husband to support the wife, or where the litigation be concerning her separate property, or in suits for divorce, or as to amount and value of property in actions against insurance companies and carriers, or in matters where the transaction was had or conducted by the husband as her agent.

Execution may issue immediately after rendition of judgment, and to any county. Executions are liens on personal property from date of delivery of writ to officer. They do not issue on justices' judgments until twenty days, unless oath be made that debt is in danger of being lost; thereafter execution may issue at any time within seven years. Real estate is sold on execution, without appraisement, to the highest bidder; and, if the debtor so elect, his real estate must be exhausted. No stay law. Defendant may redeem within twelve months after the sale. If he fail to redeem, any decree or judgment creditor may redeem during next three months.

Exemptions. To every householder having family, a homestead, value $1,000 is exempt; and such exemption continues to the survivor, after the death of the husband or wife, so long as he or she occupies it, and to the children until the youngest is twenty-one. In addition, is allowed to every person necessary wearing apparel, Bibles, school books, family pictures, and $100 worth of other property selected by debtor. If debtor is the head of a family, and resides with the same, he is allowed $300 worth in addition, to be selected by him. Selection can not be made from money or wages due. Money due from sale of exempt personal property shall be exempt. Of wages there is $8 per week exempt from garnishment to any one who is the head of a family residing with the same. The party bringing suit shall first make demand in writing for the excess of wages above the exemption. No exemption is allowed when the debt is for the wages of laborer or servant. Wages to amount of $50, are preferred in case debtor is closed by legal proceedings.

Fraud. It is criminal fraud to attempt to obtain insurance money wrongfully; to issue, sell, transfer or pledge any false, fraudulent or simulated stock certificate or evidence of shares of any corporation, or for any officer to sign any such certificate; to sell any land after having once sold or agreed in writing to sell the same to another; to convey any real or personal property with intent to defraud and deceive others or to hinder or delay creditors; to willfully certify any false acknowledgment with intent to defraud; to issue any false warehouse receipt or to wrongfully remove or dispose of any property for which a warehouse receipt has been issued; for the mortgagor to dispose in any manner of any property covered by chattel mortgage. Any negotiable instrument procured by fraud or circumvention to be executed is void even in hands of innocent holder.

Frauds and Perjuries. No executor or administrator is liable upon any promise to pay any debt or damage out of his own estate, and no person is liable upon any agreement to answer for the debt, default, or miscarriage of another, or any agreement upon consideration of marriage or any agreement that is not to be performed in one year, unless the agreement is in writing signed by him or by some one authorized. No contract for the sale of lands or any interest therein for a longer term than one year is binding, unless in writing signed by the party or some one authorized by him, in writing, to sign for him. Any gift, conveyance, or transfer of, or charge upon any real or personal estate made with intent to delay or defraud creditors or other persons, and any evidence of debt given, suit commenced, decree or judgment entered, with like intent, shall be void as against such creditors, purchasers, and other persons. All declarations of trust in lands shall be in writing, except resulting trusts or trusts created by implication or operation of law.

Garnishment. Process may issue upon judgment, and in attachment, to hold whatever a third party may owe, or have belonging to debtor. Garnishee can not be held as the maker or endorser of negotiable paper unless same is past due and in debtor's hands at time of service or judgment. Executors and administrators are subject to garnishment, but no judgment can be taken against them until after order of distribution in probate. One having a claim against a resident debtor shall not transfer or send it beyond this State to collect by garnishment out of debtor's wages to deprive him of his exemption, when the garnishee can be served in this State. Non-resident debtors are protected from like proceedings in our courts.

Husband and Wife. If sued together she may defend for her own right, and if either neglect to defend, the other may defend for both. If he desert his family, she may prosecute or defend in his name, and he has the same right if she desert. Neither is liable for debts of the other before or after marriage, nor shall the earnings or property of either, nor the income thereof, be so liable. Neither shall be entitled to recover compensation for labor or services rendered for the other. If either unlawfully retains control of the other's property, before or after marriage, the owner may maintain action therefor the same as if unmarried. If either abandons the other and leaves the State for one year without providing for support of the family, or is imprisoned in the penitentiary, the court, where the remaining one resides, may authorize him or her to manage, control, sell, and encumber the property of the other for the support of the family and to pay the other's debts, or to pay debts for the family's support. Either may constitute the other an attorney in fact to dispose of property. Expenses of family and children's education are chargeable upon property of both or either, and they may be sued separately or jointly. If she be deserted or live separate from him without her fault she may sue in equity for separate maintenance. It is a misdemeanor for him to abandon his wife and neglect to provide for her, or abandon his child or children under twelve years of age and willfully neglect or refuse to provide for them; punishment by fine not less than $100 and not more than $500, or imprisonment not less than one or more than twelve months, or both.

Interest. Legal rate, 6 per cent, but agreement in writing may be made for 7 per cent or less. Forfeiture of all interest is penalty for usury. Legal rate is collectible on moneys due on all instruments in writing; on money lent or advanced for use of another; on money due on settlement of account from day of ascertaining balance; on money received to use of another and retained without owner's knowledge; on money withheld by unreasonable and vexatious delay, and on judgments. In computations of time, interest, and discounts upon negotiable instruments, a month is construed to mean a calendar month, and a year to consist of twelve calendar months; and for any number of days less than a month a day is considered a thirtieth part of a month.

Judgments of courts of record are a lien on real estate situated in the county, for seven years, and may be made a lien on real estate in any other county, by filing a transcript thereof in that county. When execution is not issued within one year, it thereafter is no lien; but execution may issue within any time within seven years, and shall become a lien from its delivery to the proper officer. Judgments rendered at the same term or on the same day in vacation are of concurrent lien. Judgment of court of record may be revived by scire facias at any time within twenty years. A judgment of a justice of the peace may be made a lien on real estate in any county by filing a transcript thereof in the circuit court. The term "real estate" when used in this statute includes all rights in lands, including estates for life, and for years, and leasehold estates when the unexpired term exceeds five years.

Liens. Mechanics, material men, architects, or superintendents have a lien for work and materials furnished in building, altering, repairing, or ornamenting any building. A sub-contractor has lien. Hotels and boarding houses have a lien upon "baggage and other valuables" of guests or boarders for "accommodations, board, and lodgings, and such extras as are furnished at their request." Stable keepers and persons have a lien upon horses, carriages, and harness for proper charges for keeping. Agisters and persons keeping or pasturing domestic animals have a lien for proper charges.

Limitation of Suits. Action for slander or libel, one year. Damages for injury to person, false imprisonment, malicious prosecution, statutory penalty, abduction, seduction, criminal conversation, two years. Unwritten contracts, express or implied, awards of arbitration, injury to real or personal property to recover personal property, or damages for detention, or conversion thereof, and all civil actions not otherwise provided for, including actions on foreign judgments, five years. Bonds, notes, bills, written leases, and contracts, or other evidences of indebtedness in writing, ten years. If any payment or new promise shall be in writing on any bond, bill, note, lease or contract within or after said period ten years, then limitation extended ten years longer. If cause of action arises out of this State, and by the laws of that State action can not be maintained, no action can be maintained here. Judgment of court of record in this State, and actions for the recovery of lands are barred after twenty years, and the latter in seven years in some cases. If one fraudulently conceals a cause of action against himself, he may be sued within five years after discovery of the fraud. If action is stayed by injunction, such time shall be deducted from the running of the statute.

Limited Partnership. May consist of one or more general partners and one or more special. Special shall contribute specific amount of capital or property at cash value, and be not liable for debts beyond that amount. General partners must transact the business. Certificate must be signed by all, stating name of firm, nature of business, names of partners, amount of special capital contributed, and when firm begins and ends; certificate to be acknowledged and recorded in all counties where firm does business. If certificate is false, all become general partners. Terms must be published in newspaper six weeks. Can not be dissolved except by operation of law, before end of term unless notice of dissolution is recorded and published. Special partners named must not appear in firm name, and suits by or against firm shall be only in name of general partner or partners. Special partner shall not withdraw money, but may receive lawful interest or actual profits accrued if it do not reduce his original amount. He may examine business and advise as to management. Such firm can not, in contemplation of insolvency, confess judgment or otherwise refer any creditor.

Married Women. A married woman may sue, be sued, possess her own earnings, contract, incur liabilities, purchase, sell and hold personalty, and own real estate to some extent, as if unmarried. Husband not liable for her debts or torts, unless where he would be jointly liable if not married. She can not enter partnership without husband's consent unless he has abandoned her, or be incapable of consenting. No transfer of chattels from one to other is valid as against third parties, unless in writing, acknowledged and recorded. Both are liable for family expenses.

Mortgages on real estate are executed same as deeds. Husband and wife must join to bar dower or homestead, except to secure purchase money. Trust deeds and mortgages with power of sale must nevertheless be foreclosed in chancery. No sale allowed under such a power. Chattel Mortgages are invalid as to third parties, if given for longer than two years, but may be extended for a further term. Invalid as to third parties if property allowed to remain in possession of mortgagor unless mortgage expressly so provides. On default, mortgagee must take possession at once. As between parties, it is good though not acknowledged or recorded. Both husband and wife must join if property be household goods. Mortgage on necessary household goods, wearing apparel, or mechanics' tools must be foreclosed in court.

Negotiable Instruments. Days of grace are abolished. January 1, February 12 and 22, May 30, July 4, first Monday in September (Labor Day), December 25, and Thanksgiving, are legal holidays, and are treated as Sundays in presenting for payment or acceptance, maturity, protest, and notice. When either day is Sunday then Monday is the holiday. Paper maturing Sunday or holiday, or if two such days come together, matures the following day. If a bill drawn or indorsed in this State, and payable outside the United States, is dishonored and duly protested, the drawer or indorser is liable for interest and 10 per cent damages; if payable (in money) outside the State and within United States, then for interest, and if suit be brought 5 per cent damages.

"SECTION 3. All promissory notes, bonds, due bills, and other instruments in writing, made or to be made, by any person, body politic or corporate, whereby such person promises, or agrees to pay any sum of money or articles of personal property, or acknowledges any sum of money or article of personal property to be due to any other person, shall be taken to be due and payable, and the sum of money or article of personal property therein mentioned, shall by virtue thereof, be due and payable as therein expressed." Such instrument is assignable by endorsement thereon, under the hand of the payee, as bills of exchange are.

"The rights of the lawful holders of promissory notes, payable in money, and the liability of all parties to or upon said notes, shall be the same as that of like parties to inland bills of exchange, according to the custom of merchants. Every assignor of every other note, bill, or other instrument in writing mentioned in Section 3 (above quoted) of this act, shall be liable to the action of the assignee or lawful owner thereof, if such assignee or lawful holder shall have used due diligence by the institution and prosecution of a suit against the maker thereof, for the recovery of the money or property due thereon, or damages in lieu thereof. But if the institution of such a suit would have been unavailing, or the maker had absconded, or resided without, or had left the State when such instrument became due, such assignee or holder may recover against the assignor as if due diligence by suit had been used."

The legal title can be assigned only by indorsement thereon. Suit must be brought in name of holder of legal title. On bills or notes payable in money, suit may be brought against any or all who are severally liable. If only one or more, but not all, are served, judgment may be entered in form against all, but so far only as that it may be enforced against joint property of all, and separate property of those served. Failure or partial failure, or total want of consideration, may be set up in defense to any such instrument not in the hands of a bona fide assignee before maturity. "Fraud or circumvention," in obtaining the making thereof, renders it uncollectible even by innocent holder. In computations of time a month is a calendar month, but for less time a day is the thirtieth part of a month.

Power of Attorney. Almost any act which a party may perform may be performed by an attorney in fact. A non-resident corporation may authorize by power of attorney in fact. A non-resident corporation may authorize by power of attorney, any business done here which it could do if resident, and such authority need not be under seal. A scroll by the agent will be treated as the corporate seal of the company. This does not apply to railroad corporations. If land is to be conveyed by an attorney in fact the power of attorney should be under seal.

Probate Law. (See Administration of Estates.)

Protest. (See Notes and Bills of Exchange.)

Replevin. Goods or chattels wrongfully taken or detained may be replevied by owner or person entitled to possession. In justice court value of property must not exceed $200. Affidavit may be made by the plaintiff or agent, and must state that property has not been taken for any tax, assessment, or fine, nor under any execution or attachment against property of plaintiff, nor on writ of replevin against him. Replevin bond must be double the value of property to be replevied. Property replevied is delivered by officer to plaintiff or his agent. Plaintiff may declare in replevin for property found and in trover for that not found. As to property not found, he shall be entitled to judgment for its value with interest. Plaintiff is entitled to damages for wrongful detention of property. If suit dismissed without trial, suit may be brought on the bond, in which suit merits may be tried.

Taxes for the year are payable after December 1st, and the delinquent list is delivered to county collector about March 10th, following. Delinquent taxes bear interest at 1 per cent per month after May 1st, following. At tax sales, the entire tract is sold to the person "offering to pay the amount due on each tract or lot for the least percentage thereon as penalty." No bid for penalty shall exceed 25 per cent of amount of taxes. Redemption. To redeem, there must be paid, if within six months, the amount of tax and penalty; during second six months, the tax and twice the penalty; during third six months, the tax and three times the penalty, and during fourth six months, the tax and four times the penalty. Must also pay all taxes and assessments accruing after sale, and 7 per cent thereon. If not redeemed within two years, purchaser is entitled to tax deed which is sometimes good.

Wills. Last wills may be made by males of twenty-one and females of eighteen. Must be signed personally or by direction of testator in his presence, and attested by at least two witnesses. At probate, two must testify that they saw it signed, or that it was acknowledged by the testator and that he was of sound mind and memory. If witness has removed to parts unknown, be insane, or has died, his hand-writing may be proven. Probating a will is not conclusive, and bill in chancery may be filed within three years to set it aside. Foreign wills admitted to probate in county where testator may have owned lands. Wills made in one state, or copies duly proven from the record may be recorded here. A nuncupative will is good if reduced to writing within twenty days after making thereof, and ten days after testator's death. It requires two witnesses who heard testator pronounce the words, and two others must testify that will was written within said ten days. No letters on such will granted until after sixty days from testator's death.

SYNOPSIS OF THE LAWS OF INDIANA

RELATING TO

BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES.

Prepared and Revised by Messrs. CHAMBERS, PICKENS & MOORES, Attorneys at Law, Indianapolis. (See Card in Attorneys' List.)

Accounts. Where an itemized bill of particulars, duly sworn to by or on behalf of the plaintiff, is filed with the complaint in an action on account, the correctness of the account will be taken to be admitted, if defendant fail to appear, and judgment rendered without further evidence.

Acknowledgments. All conveyances of real estate, except leases for less than three years, must be in writing, and acknowledged and recorded within forty-five days from their execution. Within the State acknowledgments may be taken before a judge or clerk of a court of record, justice of the peace, auditor, recorder, notary public, or mayor of a city, and in other States and Territories before the like officers, or a commissioner of deeds for Indiana. In any foreign country, before a minister, charge d'affaires or consul of the United States. If such acknowledgment or proof is in some other than the English language, or is not attested by such official seal, it must be accompanied by the certificate of an officer of the United States to the effect that it is duly executed according to the laws of such foreign country, and that the officer has legal authority to certify to the proof or acknowledgment and the meaning of his certificate, if made in a foreign language. Wife must join in deeds to husband's lands in order to carry her inchoate one-third interest in husband's lands. No separate acknowledgment of wife necessary in order to convey her inchoate interest in husband's lands, although she must acknowledge.

Actions. The distinctions between law and equity abolished. The statute provides but one form of action. In this, either legal or equitable relief may be had. Upon the filing of a complaint in the office of the clerk of the court, or of a justice of the peace, a summons is issued requiring the defendant to appear and answer to the complaint. Defaults cannot be taken in the higher courts unless the summons shall have been served at least ten days before the day on which it is returnable, while judgment may be taken on default in three days after service before a justice of the peace. The clerk will make summons returnable at next term, provided at least ten days intervene, or at any date fixed by indorsement on the complaint more than ten days from the date of filing. Non-resident plaintiff may be required to give bond for costs. In actions in court for money demands on contracts the losing party must pay the costs, unless the plaintiff recover less than $50, and in such case plaintiff must pay the costs unless his recovery has been reduced below $50 by set-off or counter claim. In all actions for damages solely, not arising out of contract, if plaintiff do not recover $5 damages he shall recover no more costs than damages, except in actions for injuries to character and false imprisonment, and when the title to real estate comes in question.

Administration of Estates. The circuit court has exclusive original jurisdiction in probate matters, and all procedure is prescribed by statute. In cases of intestacy letters are granted in following order: 1. To widow or widower. 2. To the next of kin. 3. To the largest creditor applying and residing in the State. No person applying within twenty days after the death of the intestate, the court or clerk shall issue letters to a competent inhabitant of the county. Letters of administration shall be granted in the county: 1. Where intestate was inhabitant at time of death. 2. Where not being inhabitant of the State he leaves assets or whereto assets shall afterward come. Where an intestate, not being an inhabitant, shall die out of the State, leaving assets in several counties, or assets of such intestate shall, after his death, come into several counties, letters may be granted in any one of the counties in which such assets may be at time of death; and the administration first lawfully granted shall extend to all of the estate of intestate. Letters cannot issue to a married woman without her husband's consent in writing, filed with the clerk. The effect of such consent is to make husband jointly liable with wife. Preference is given to foreign executor of a decedent not an inhabitant of State, if, before letters are granted in this State, it appears that proper letters have been granted in another State, except there be resident creditors, legatees and heirs entitled to distribution, who are inhabitants of the State. No action shall be brought by complaint and summons against any executor or administrator of an estate for the recovery of any claim against the decedent; but the holder thereof, whether the claim be due or not, shall file a succinct and definite statement thereof in the office of the clerk of the court. If claim be founded upon a written instrument the original or a copy must be filed therewith, setting forth all credits to which the estate is entitled, and accompanied by the affidavits of the claimant, his agent, or attorney, that the claim is just and wholly unpaid. If claim be secured by a lien, the lien shall be particularly set forth in such statement and a reference as to where such lien will be found if of record. The claim must be filed within one year from the giving of notice of the administrator's appointment, otherwise the claimant will have to pay all costs; and if not filed at least thirty days before the final settlement of the estate, it shall be barred, except that heirs, devisees and distributees shall be liable to the extent of the property received by them, to any unpaid creditor who six months prior to the final settlement was insane, an infant, or out of the State,—suit to be brought within one year of removal of disability, and if upon claim of non-resident creditor, within two years of the settlement of the estate. If claimant fail to appear and prosecute claim same shall be dismissed and subsequent prosecution of the claim shall be at claimant's costs, unless good cause for such failure be shown.

Affidavits to be used in this State may be taken before a notary public or any other resident officer in this State authorized to administer oaths; or before an ambassador, minister, consul, vice-consul or consular's agent of the United States in a foreign country; or before the judge of a court of record having a seal in such foreign country, the genuineness of his signature, existence of the court, and fact that he is a member thereof, being certified by its clerk under its seal; or in another State before some officer whom the clerk of the circuit or district court, or court of common pleas of the county where such officer exercises the duties of his office shall, under his hand and the seal of his court, certify as duly impowered by the laws of such, to administer oaths and affirmations, and take affidavits—and so certify as a part of the affidavit.

Aliens. Resident aliens who have declared their intention to become citizens, may acquire, hold, and enjoy real estate, and may convey, devise, mortgage, or otherwise encumber the same, in like manner and with the same effect as citizens of this State; others may acquire by descent or devise but must convey within five years or their lands will escheat.

Appeals. Except in a case originating before a justice of the peace, or mayor, or police judge of a city, and not involving the validity of an ordinance passed by an incorporated town or city, and where the amount in controversy, exclusive of interest and costs, is less than $50, an appeal from any final judgment or order of a circuit or superior court may be taken within one year after the rendition thereof either to the supreme or the appellate court, according as the matter falls within the jurisdiction of the one or the other court. From the judgment of a justice of the peace or mayor of a city an appeal may be taken to the circuit or superior court of the county, within thirty days, where the action will be tried anew. (See Courts.)

Arbitration. All persons not under disability, may, by agreement in writing, arbitrate any difference between them which might be subject of a lawsuit, except the claim to any estate in fee or for life to any real estate. The parties shall execute bond conditioned to abide and faithfully perform the award, and they must agree to make the submission a rule of court. Ten days' notice in writing must be given to opposite party of time and place for arbitrators to meet. Witnesses may be required to attend. Award of the majority must be in writing. If either party refuse to abide such award, opposite party may file the same, together with agreement of submission, in the court named in such submission. Upon such submission being proved by an attesting witness, and proof of award by the arbitrators or any of them, and upon proof of service of copy of award upon party refusing to abide, the court shall cause entry of submission and award to be made, and grant a rule against adverse party to show cause why judgment shall not be rendered.

Arrest for Debt. Defendant in a civil action may be arrested and held to bail in the amount claimed, at any time before judgment, on affidavit that he is about to leave the State, taking with him property subject to execution, with intent to delay or defraud the plaintiff. Bond is required of plaintiff.

Assignments and Insolvency. Any debtor may make a general assignment of all property in trust for benefit of all bona fide creditors. To be valid this must be by indenture duly signed and acknowledged, and filed with the recorder of the county in which assignor resides within ten days after its execution. Indenture should contain full description of real estate and be accompanied by schedule of personal property, and attested by the assignor's oath that the indenture and schedule contain a full statement of all his property, etc. Trustee makes oath and files bond in circuit court, and files copy of assignment, etc., in office of clerk of that court within fifteen days after execution of indenture. Trustee named failing to act, the circuit court may appoint a substitute upon petition. Trustee named by the debtor may be removed by the court on the petition of creditors representing in amount one-half the liabilities of the debtor. The court may, upon petition of any creditor, or the trustee, order an examination of the assignor or any person to whom any part of his property has been transferred within six months previous to the assignment. The trustee to make under oath complete inventory of all property coming to his hands, and file in court within thirty days after entering upon his trust; also, cause same to be appraised by two reputable householders; set off to the assignor, if a resident householder, such property as he may select to the value of $600 and proceed to collect the rights and credits, and to sell the property, after giving thirty days' notice of time and place, at public auction, or at private sale, for cash, or upon credit, not exceeding two years, subject to approval of the court as to such sales. The court in its discretion may continue the business. Dividends are declared pro rata upon all claims allowed by trustee or the court. Trustee's compensation fixed by the court. Debtor is not discharged from his liabilities.

Attachment may issue against the property of a non-resident or foreign corporation, and against any who may have disposed of, or be about to dispose of, property, to cheat, hinder or delay creditors, or against a creditor who conceals himself so that summons can not be served upon him. An affidavit is required, which may be made by the creditor or some one on his behalf, and a bond to answer damages if the proceedings are wrongful or oppressive. Creditors who file under the original attachment, before final judgment, are required to furnish a like affidavit and bond, and all share pro rata in the proceeds of the attached property. The wages of a resident householder, not exceeding one month's wages at any one time, are exempt from garnishment or proceedings supplemental to execution, so long as such person remains in such employment. It is a misdemeanor to send claims out of the State to be collected by proceedings in attachment, garnishment, or the like, when creditor, debtor, and person owing for earnings intended to be reached are all within the jurisdiction of the courts of this State and the collection of claims so sent may be enjoined. Courts are prohibited from taking jurisdiction of such proceedings to reach wages, when plaintiff and principal defendant are non-residents.

Banks, Savings. The investment of deposits in savings banks in this State is limited by law to: 1. Stocks, or bonds or treasury notes of the United States. 2. Stocks or bonds of this State. 3. Orders or bonds of any county, city or town in this State issued pursuant to the authority of law. 4. Stocks or bonds of any State in the Union that has, for ten years previous to such investment being made, regularly paid the interest on its legal bonded debt in lawful money of the United States. 5. Bonds or notes secured by mortgage on unincumbered real estate, situate in the county where the bank is located or an adjoining county, or in any other county in the State of Indiana, worth, exclusive of perishable improvements, at least twice the amount loaned thereon. 6. Promissory notes or bills of exchange, before their maturity, payable at some chartered bank within the State, and having not to exceed twelve months to run from the date of the loan or purchase, made or indorsed by two or more responsible freeholders of the State; but no such note or bill to exceed $10,000; no more than $10,000 to be loaned upon the same security; every such note or bill to be made or indorsed by at least one freeholder of the county in which the bank is located, by dealing in exchange, by purchasing and selling sight or time drafts payable out of the State; no draft to be purchased unless made or indorsed by one or more responsible freeholders of the county in which the bank is located, or an adjoining county, and unless for a sum not in excess of $10,000, and maturing within sixty days or less time, when payable out of the State; not more than one draft to be held by bank at any one time, which is secured by the same, or any of the same indorsers, but not to exceed 60 per cent of the whole amount of deposit shall be so loaned on interest.

A separate statute provides for the organization and regulation of savings banks. Any number of persons from seven to twenty-one, each of whom shall have been resident citizens of the county for at least five years preceding the organization, and owners of unincumbered real estate of the value of $5,000, exclusive of improvements, may organize by the execution of a certificate setting forth the name of the association, place of its operations, the name, residence, occupation and post office address of each member, and a declaration that each member will accept the responsibility and faithfully discharge the duties of a trustee thereof. The certificate must be duly acknowledged before the judge of the circuit court, and the judge must examine and hear proof of the qualifications of the persons executing the certificate, and satisfy himself that they are in all respects suitable to be entrusted with the management of a savings bank, and certify these facts, which certificate shall thereupon be filed in the office of the recorder of the county and the auditor of state. The statute goes into the minutest details in the regulation of the affairs of banks organized under its provisions. It requires bonds from all officers and agents, and forbids accepting perquisites of any kind, regulates the method of acceptance and repayment of deposits, and provides particularly the nature of investments which shall be made. Savings banks may purchase, hold, and convey real estate for the following purposes, and none other: For the location of banking house; real estate mortgaged to it in good faith for money loaned, or upon which it shall have purchased a mortgage; real estate taken upon judgments and decrees on behalf of the bank, or purchased to prevent loss on claims held by the bank.

Banks, State. The general assembly has enacted a general banking law, governing the organization and operation of State banks. The auditor of the State, with the approbation of the governor, as often as shall be deemed necessary or proper, must appoint a State bank examiner who shall not be a director or other officer of the bank, and shall have power to make a thorough examination into all the affairs of the bank, and, in doing so, to examine any of the officers and agents thereof on oath. The examiner shall make a detailed report of the condition of the bank to the auditor, and the association shall be subject to no other visitorial powers than such as are vested in the several courts of the State. The State banks must make to the auditor of the State not less than five reports each year, according to the form which may be prescribed by him, verified by oath or affirmation of the president, cashier, or other managing agent, which reports must exhibit, in detail, and under appropriate heads, the resources and liabilities at the close of business on any past day to be by him specified, and must transmit such report to the auditor within five days after the receipt of a request or requisition therefor from him. The report so required, in the same form in which it is made to the auditor, must be published in a newspaper published in the place where the bank is established, or, if there is no newspaper in the place, then in one published nearest thereto in the same county or an adjoining county, at the expense of the bank. The auditor has power to call for special reports from any particular bank, whenever, in his judgment, it shall be necessary in order to a full knowledge of its condition. Any bank failing to make and transmit any such report shall be subject to a penalty of $100 for each day, after five days, that it delays to make and transmit the same.

Bills of Exchange and Promissory Notes. Grace is allowed on all bills of exchange payable within the State, whether sight or time bills, except demand bills. Damages for protest on bills upon any person at any place out of this State, but within the United States, 5 per cent; on bills drawn upon any person at any place without the United States, 10 per cent. Promissory notes payable at a bank in this State, and bills of exchange, are governed by the law merchant. Promissory notes not payable at a bank within the state are subject to any setoff maker may have against payee, or any subsequent holder, accruing before notice of assignment. On these, maker must be exhausted before indorser can be sued. Protest is not necessary to hold indorsers of such notes, but to hold them maker must be sued at first term of court after maturity, unless it can be shown that he was insolvent at the time of such maturity. For all purposes of presenting for payment or acceptance, for the maturity and protest, and giving notice for the dishonor of bills of exchange, bank checks, promissory notes, or other negotiable or commercial paper, the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday; January 1st, commonly called New Year's day; July 4th; December 25th, commonly called Christmas day; and any day appointed or recommended by the President of the United States or the Governor of the State of Indiana as a day of public fast or thanksgiving; February 22d, commonly called Washington's birthday, and May 30th, commonly called Memorial day, the first Monday in September, called Labor day, and the day of any general election, are made holidays by statute; and all commercial paper, falling due on either of said holidays, shall be deemed as having matured on the day previous, and when any of said holidays comes on Monday they shall be deemed as having matured on the Saturday previous, and when the legal holiday comes on Sunday the day following shall be the holiday.

Chattel Mortgages. Chattel mortgage on personal property left in the hands of the mortgagor with power to sell must stipulate that the money received by the sale be applied to the payment of the mortgage debt, and should be drawn in the form of an absolute bill of sale; must be acknowledged in the same manner as prescribed for the acknowledgment of deeds, and recorded within ten days from execution, and in the county where the mortgagor resides. An assignment of goods, by way of mortgage, where such goods are not delivered to the mortgagee, shall not be valid against any other person than the parties thereto, unless such mortgage shall be acknowledged, and recorded within ten days after the execution thereof. Where delivery of the chattels to the mortgagee occurs at the time, record is unnecessary. A mortgagee of household goods can not sell mortgaged property except under a judicial proceeding in the circuit or superior court.

Collaterals. No material statutory provisions in regard to collaterals.

Contracts. Contracts made by telegraph between two or more persons are declared to be contracts in writing.

Conveyances. Lands in this State may be taken, held, conveyed, devised, or passed by descent, by or from any citizen of the United States; or by or from any alien who shall be at the time a bona fide resident of the United States, an Indian, a negro, or a mulatto or other person of mixed blood; with some provided exceptions as to descent or devise. Lands which may have come by descent or purchase to the wife of an alien, may be held, conveyed, devised and passed by descent by and from her, notwithstanding the fact of her residence with her husband in a foreign State or country. Insane persons and infants may not convey real estate. Except bona fide leases for a term not exceeding three years, conveyance of lands, or of any interest therein, must be by deed, subscribed, sealed and acknowledged by the grantor or by his attorney duly qualified; that is, by an instrument in writing, subscribed, sealed and acknowledged by his principal in like manner as conveyance is required to be. The joint deed of a husband and wife is sufficient to pass the lands of the wife. Except in cases of mortgages, conveyances in trust, conveyances to husband and wife, and cases of estates vested in executors or trustees, as such, and so held by them in joint tenancy, all conveyances and devises of lands, or of any interest therein, made to two or more persons, shall be construed to create estates in common, and not in joint tenancy, unless it shall be expressed therein that the grantees or devisees shall hold the same in joint tenancy, and to the survivor of them, or it shall manifestly appear from tenor of instrument, that it was intended to create an estate in joint tenancy. A deed of release or quit-claim shall pass all the estate which the grantor could convey by a deed of bargain and sale. The use of the word "heirs" is not necessary to create an estate of inheritance. If it be the intention of the grantor to convey any lesser estate, it must be so expressed in the deed. Liability on lineal and collateral warranties is expressly abolished; a covenant or agreement of any person leaves heirs and devisees answerable theron only to the extent of property descended or devised to them. Any conveyance of land worded—"A. B. conveys and warrants to C. D. (here describe the premises) for the sum of (here insert the consideration)," or "A. B. quit-claims to C. D. (here describe the premises) for the sum of (here insert the consideration),"—the same being dated, and duly signed and acknowledged by the grantor,—shall, in the one case, be deemed and held to be a conveyance in fee simple to the grantee, his heirs and assigns, with covenant from the grantor for himself and his heirs and personal representatives that he is lawfully seized of the premises, has good right to convey the same, and guarantees the quiet possession thereof, that the same are free from all incumbrances, and that he will warrant and defend the title of the same against all lawful claims; and shall, in the other case, be deemed to be a good and sufficient conveyance in quit-claim to the grantee, his heirs and assigns. Any mortgage of lands worded—"A. B. mortgages and warrants to C. D. (here describe the premises) to secure the repayment of (here recite the sum for which the mortgage is granted or the note or other evidences of debt, or a description thereof, sought to be secured, also the date of the repayment)"—the same being dated and duly signed and acknowledged by the grantor—is a sufficient mortgage to the grantee, his heirs, assigns, executors and administrators, with warranty from the grantor and his legal representatives of title perfect and unincumbered in the grantor. When a deed purports to convey absolutely any estate in lands, but is made, or intended to be made, defeasible by force of a deed of defeasance, bond or other instrument for that purpose, the original conveyance shall not thereby be defeated or affected as against any person other than the maker of the defeasance, or his heirs or devisees, or persons having actual notice thereof, unless the instrument of defeasance shall have been recorded, according to law, within ninety days after the date of said deed. Every conveyance or mortgage of lands, or of any interest therein, and every lease for more than three years, shall be deemed fraudulent and void as against any subsequent purchaser lessee or mortgagee in good faith and for a valuable consideration, unless recorded in the recorder's office of the county where such lands are situated, in forty-five days from its execution. (See Acknowledgments, Married Women.)

Corporations. Domestic Corporations. Corporations are created only under general statutes. This is done by means of articles of association, executed by the required number of persons, and filed with the secretary of State, recorder or clerk of the county, as provided by statute. The statutory requirements having been complied with, a statement thereof may be filed with the clerk of the circuit court, which at the next term, upon proof of such organization, shall enter of record a declaration thereof, and such order is conclusive of the fact of such existence. The liability of stockholders varies according to the nature of the corporation in question and the law under which it was organized. In the corporations which were in existence November 1, 1851, and accepted the terms of the act of March 6, 1883, stockholders are liable, in case of insolvency, for a sum at least equal to amount of stock held at time the debt was contracted. In most corporations, stockholders who have paid for their stock are not liable for debts of the company. However, there is liability in some cases for labor and services of employes. Shares of capital stock in a private corporation are subject to attachment.

Foreign Corporations. Agents of foreign corporations before entering upon the duties of their agency in this State, shall deposit in the clerk's office of the county where they propose doing business, the power of attorney, commission or appointment, under which they act as agents. Before commencing their duties as such they shall also file a duly authenticated order, resolution or other sufficient authority of the board of directors or managers of such corporations, authorizing citizens or residents of this State having a claim or demand against such corporation arising out of any transaction in this State with such agents to sue for and maintain an action in respect to the same in any court of this State of competent jurisdiction, and further authorizing service of process in such action on such agent to be valid service on such corporation, and that such service shall authorize judgment and all other proceedings against such corporation. Contracts made by such agents shall not be enforced in any court of this State until there has been a compliance by such agents with the above provisions. Failure of a foreign corporation to comply with these provisions will not bar—but will abate—its action. Any person who shall, directly or indirectly, receive or transmit money or property to or for such corporation, or make any contract, or transact any business for or on account of any such corporation, shall be deemed agent. This provision does not apply, however, to persons acting as agents for a special or temporary purpose or for purposes not within the ordinary business, nor does it apply to attorneys at law. Any person acting as agent of a foreign corporation, who shall neglect or refuse to comply with the foregoing provisions, is liable to a fine in any sum not less than $50. In 1879 it was enacted that: Every foreign corporation now doing or transacting, or that shall hereafter do or transact, any business in this State, or acquire any right, title or interest in or lien upon real estate in this State, that shall transfer or cause to be transferred from any court of this State to any court of the United States, save by regular course of appeal after trial in the State courts, any action commenced by or against such corporation in any court of this State by or against any citizen or resident thereof: or that shall commence in any court of the United States in this State, on any contract made in this State, or liability accrued therein, any suit or action against any citizen or resident of the State of Indiana, shall thereby forfeit all right and authority to do or transact business in this State, or hold real property or liens thereon, and all contracts between such corporations and citizens and residents of this State made after the passage of this act shall be rendered void, as in favor of such corporations, but enforceable by such citizen at his election. The provisions of the foregoing section are made conditions upon which such corporations may be authorized to do business, or hold titles to, or liens on, real estate in this State.

Courts. Terms and Jurisdiction. The circuit court is the only court of original general civil jurisdiction in the State, it has full probate powers. From three to four terms are held annually in each county.

Superior courts have been established in Marion, Tippecanoe, Allen, Vigo, Madison, Lake, Porter, La Porte, Howard, Grant, and Vanderburg counties, and hold from four to ten terms each year. The jurisdiction of Marion superior court is concurrent with that of the circuit court in all civil cases except probate matters and bastardy, slander and libel; of Tippecanoe superior court is concurrent with the circuit court in all civil cases and in all actions by or against executors and administrators; of Vigo superior court is concurrent with the circuit court in all causes, including actions by or against guardians, executors and administrators, but no jurisdiction in probate matters and in the settlement of decedents' estates. Other superior courts have concurrent jurisdiction with the circuit court except in probate matters, the settlement of decedents' estates, and in actions for slander and libel. Justice's jurisdiction, $200. Party may confess judgment for $300. When a written obligation for money binds more than one party the justice of the peace may issue process to constable of any county in the State where party resides. The supreme court has no original jurisdiction. It is the sole court of last resort in all cases. It sits at Indianapolis.

Days of Grace. (See Bills of Exchange and Promissory Notes.)

Depositions. Depositions may be taken anywhere in the United States without a commission, before any judge, justice of the peace, notary public, mayor, or recorder of a city, clerk of a court of record, or commissioner appointed by the court to take depositions. Person taking deposition must not be of kin to either part or interested in the action. When taken outside of the United States they shall be taken pursuant to an order of the court, under a commission, with such reasonable notice of the time and place of taking the same as the court shall require, and they shall be certified and returned by the commissioner in such manner as the court shall direct. Notice of the taking of the deposition should be served upon the adverse party or his attorney, specifying the cause, the court or tribunal of trial, the time and place of taking, and the names of the witnesses. Reasonable time shall be allowed for the attorney so served to communicate with the client, and for travel to the place of taking, excluding the day of service, of the taking, and of intervening Sundays. The deponent shall be first sworn to testify to the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, relating to the cause for which the deposition is taken. He shall then be examined by the party producing him, and then by the adverse party, and then by the officer, if he see cause. The deposition shall be written down by the officer, by the deponent, or by some disinterested person, in the presence and under the direction of the officer, and after the same has been carefully read to or by the deponent, it shall be subscribed by him. The following facts shall be stated in a certificate to be annexed by the officer: 1. That the deponent was sworn according to law. 2. By whom the deposition was written, and if written by deponent or some disinterested person, that it was written in the presence and under the direction of the officer. 3. Whether or not the adverse party attended. 4. The time and place of taking, and the hours between which it was taken. And the officer shall sign and attest the certificate, and seal the same, if he have a seal of office. If he have no seal, his certificate shall be authenticated by the certificate and seal of the clerk or prothonotary of any court of record of the county in which the officer exercises the duties of his office. The officer taking the deposition shall seal the same in a sufficient envelope and himself post, or express, or deliver the same to the clerk of the court in which the action is pending, endorsing on the envelope the names of the parties and of the witnesses whose depositions are enclosed. Adjournments may be had from day to day after the deposition has been begun, and for longer periods, upon written consent of the parties, which written consent must be attached to the deposition. Adjournments should be noted at the place in the deposition when they occur. A narrative form of deposition may be used. A witness identifying a written instrument should attach it to his deposition, making it a part of his answer.

Divorce. Petitioner must have been a bona fide resident of the State for two years previous to filing the complaint, and of the county for six months, and this must be proved by two resident freeholders and householders of the State. An affidavit of the petitioner must accompany the petition stating the length of his residence in the State, the place of such residence, and his occupation. Divorces are granted for the following causes: Adultery, except where petitioner has connived at the offense or condoned it, or has given defendant the same cause for divorce; impotency, existing at time of marriage; abandonment for two years; cruel and inhuman treatment; habitual drunkenness; failure of husband to provide for his family for two years; conviction of an infamous crime subsequent to marriage. Divorce may be granted for a cause arising outside the State. If it appear by affidavit of a disinterested person that the defendant is a non-resident, the plaintiff must make and file his affidavit stating the residence of the defendant, if known, and if unknown, that must be stated. Notice is given to non-residents by publication for three successive weeks in a newspaper published in the county, and if the residence of the defendant is known the clerk shall mail to such defendant a marked copy of newspaper containing such notice. There must be proof in every case or no decree can be rendered. The court makes all provisions for the wife's support and attorney's fees pending the proceedings — also all orders respecting alimony, custody and support of children. Divorces granted on notice of publication merely may be opened at any time as to the care and custody of children, and opened and defended at any time within two years as to the divorce, or alimony, or disposition of property. Persons obtaining a divorce on publication are forbidden to remarry within two years.

Dower. (See Married Women.)

Executions may issue at any time within ten years after judgment rendered, and are returnable in 180 days. From a court of record may issue to any county in the State. Are a lien on personal property within the county from the time they are placed in hands of officer. The liens upon personal property attach in the order in which the officer receives them. When levy is upon real estate the dates of the judgments control the right to participate in the proceeds, and they must be applied according to their priority. Personal property taken in execution may be left with execution defendant by the giving to the officer of a delivery bond with sufficient surety. After judgment is rendered, the debtor may, by giving sufficient freehold sureties, have a stay of execution on any sum exceeding $100, for six months. Where the sum is less than $100, the stay is not so long, varying with amount of judgment. Lands sold under execution may be redeemed within one year by the owner, mortgagee or person having a lien thereon, the owner retaining possession during the redemption year and being liable for reasonable rents and profits in case of failure to redeem.

Exemptions. There is no homestead law. Real or personal property up to $600 is exempt where debtor is a resident householder. Resident householder is entitled to exemption as well when in transit with his family and property as when permanently settled. The debtor must file a schedule of all of his property, and select the property claimed, which is then appraised. Contract waiving exemption is void. Pension money in transit to pensioner is exempt, but when received by him and invested in any other property is no more so than any other property. One month's wages also exempt if the debtor is still employed.

Fraud. Assignments, in writing or otherwise, of any estate in lands, or of goods, or things in action, charges upon lands, goods, or things in action, and all bonds, contracts, evidences of debt, judgments, decrees, made or suffered with intent to hinder, delay, or defraud creditors or other persons of their lawful damages, forfeitures, debts, or demands, are void as to the persons sought to be defrauded. The question of fraudulent intent is a question of fact.

Frauds—Statute of. The following contracts, if enforceable in court, must be in writing and signed by the party to be charged therewith, or by some person thereunto by him lawfully authorized: 1. To charge an executor or administrator, upon any special promise, to answer damages out of his own estate. 2. To charge any person, upon any special promise, to answer for the debt, default, or miscarriage of another. 3. To charge any person, upon any agreement or promise, made in consideration of marriage. 4. Upon any contract for the sale of land (except loan not exceeding the term of three years). 5. Upon any agreement not to be performed within one year from the making thereof.

Garnishment. (See Attachment.) Garnishment is a remedy in aid of attachment. Upon any personal action arising out of contract any person may be summoned as a garnishee defendant upon an affidavit made by plaintiff or some one in his behalf that he has good reason to believe that any person named has property of the defendant in his possession or under his control, or that he is indebted to the defendant, or has control or agency of money, property, credits, or effects; that he has any share or interest in the stock of any association or corporation, and all money or property in the hands of the garnishee defendant is bound from the time the summons is served upon him. Resident householders are entitled to an exemption of $600 in garnishment proceedings, as in all other cases. Wages of non-residents, by the latest decision of the Supreme Court, to the amount of $25, and of resident householders to the extent of one month's wages, are exempt from execution so long as the defendant remains in the employ of the garnishee. Indiana claims can not legally be sent or taken out of the State for prosecution, and suits instituted elsewhere in violation of this prohibition may be enjoined and the intervenor be criminally prosecuted.

Holidays. (See Bills of Exchange and Promissory Notes.)

Husband and Wife. (See Married Women.)

Interest. The legal rate is 6 per cent, but interest may be taken in advance. No agreement to pay a higher rate is valid unless the same be in writing, and in such case it is not lawful to contract for more than 8 per cent per annum. When a greater rate is contracted for, the contract is void as to the usurious interest, and in an action on a contract affected by such usury, whether it be directly or indirectly charged, all excess over 6 per cent is usurious and illegal, and the excess may be recouped by the debtor whenever it has been reserved or paid before the bringing of the suit. Interest on judgments rendered after March 10, 1879, runs from the date of the verdict or finding, at the rate specified in the original contract, not exceeding 6 per cent, and if no contract has been made 6 per cent is allowed. The act applies to all contracts made within the State, although they are to be performed without it, and where contracts made out of this State provide for a higher rate of interest, and are secured by mortgage upon lands within it, such lands are not liable for a higher rate than is allowed by the laws of Indiana.

Judgments of courts of record are a lien upon all real estate of defendant within the county for ten years. Judgment may be obtained at the first term of the court, after process has been served on debtor ten days prior to the first day thereof. Judgment in justice court becomes a lien on real estate of judgment defendant from time of filing a transcript in office of the clerk of circuit court. Judgment taken by default, before justice of the peace, may be set aside upon the filing of an affidavit by the defendant, showing good defense, provided defendant pay all the costs of previous suit. Act of 1893 provides for filing in office of clerk of any circuit court a certified copy of any judgment rendered by the district or circuit court of the United States for district of Indiana.

Limitations to Suits. Actions for injury to person and character, and for statutory penalty or forfeiture, two years; against public officers relating to their official duties, five years; open accounts and contracts not in writing, for use, rents and profits of real estate, injuries to and detention of property, recovery of personal property and relief against frauds, six years; upon promissory notes, bills of exchange and other written contracts for payment of money, ten years; actions not limited by statute, fifteen years; other written contracts, judgments of courts of record and real actions, twenty years. Revivor: part payment or new promise in writing. Except in favor of sureties, the statute of limitation does not run against the State.

Married Women control their real and personal property, however acquired. The husband is liable for the debts of his wife contracted before marriage to the extent of the personal property he may receive from or through her, or derive from sale or rent of her lands, and no further, and her lands are liable for such indebtedness. A married woman may devise her separate estate; may sell and transfer her separate personal property; carry on any business, labor, or service, and receive the earnings accruing therefrom; enter into any contract in regard to her separate personal estate business, labor, or service, and her separate estate, real and personal, be liable therefor, the same as a femme sole; and her husband is not liable for such debts, nor for indebtedness created by the wife for improvement of her separate real estate. She can make leases of real estate for terms of three years or less, and execute mortgages to secure purchase money, without husband joining. She is bound by covenants of title in conveyances of her separate real estate. Her deed conveying her real estate, her husband not joining, is absolutely void. She may sue as a femme sole for any damage to her person or character. She is bound in like manner as principal on her official bond. She can not enter into any contract of suretyship, whether as indorser, guarantor, or in any other manner, and such contract, as to her, is wholly void; and therefore a mortgage on her separate property for a debt for which she is mere surety, indorser, or guarantor, is void; but if, as an inducement to her contract, she makes a sworn statement that contract or mortgage is for her own benefit, in respect to her separate estate, she is estopped from alleging her suretyship as against any one having no knowledge that the contract is one of suretyship. She is entitled to hold as exempt from execution her wearing apparel, articles of personal adornment purchased by herself to the amount of $200 in value, all jewelry, ornaments, books, etc., which may have been given her as presents; and other property to the amount of $800, except as against indebtedness for the purchase money therefor. No tenancy by the curtesy or dower. A widow takes one-third of her deceased husband's real estate in fee, and free from all demands of creditors, where the estate does not exceed $10,000; one-fourth, if under $20,000, and one-fifth, if above that amount. She also takes a child's interest in the personalty where the number of children does not exceed two, and where there are more than two her interest shall not be less than one-third of the whole of personalty after payment of debts, and in all cases takes $500 without accounting, and may occupy the dwelling and forty acres of her husband's land for a year, rent free. But the one-third of her real estate which the widow takes in fee, can not, upon her marrying again, be effectively conveyed or mortgaged by her, if there be a child or children, or their descendants, alive by the previous marriage. Real estate which husband and wife hold by title made to them as husband and wife, is held as an estate by entirety; it can not be taken for the debt of either; is not subject to the lien of a judgment against either, except in case of the death of either or upon divorce granted, when the estate is destroyed and becomes subject to levy and sale; and a mortgage thereof by them both for a debt of the husband has no legal validity.

Mortgages. (See Conveyances.)

Partition of Land. All costs and necessary expenses, including reasonable counsel fees for plaintiff's counsel, the amount to be determined by the court, awarded and enforced in favor of those entitled to partition against the partitioners, and in such proportions against each and according to equity as the court may determine, having regard to their relative interests in the land or proceeds apportioned.

Power of Attorney must be executed and acknowledged, and (if for the conveyance of real estate, or to affect real estate) recorded, in the same manner that deeds are made.

Probate Law. (See Administration of Estates.)

Protest. It is the custom of merchants to fix the liability of any drawer or indorser of a bill of exchange, or indorser of a promissory note, by procuring such bill or note to be regularly protested by a notary public for non-acceptance or non-payment. The statutory damages on such protest are 5 per cent on the principal of a bill of exchange, if drawn or negotiated within this State, upon any person, at any place out of this State, but within the United States, and 10 per cent if upon any person, at any place without the United States.

Replevin. When any personal property is wrongfully taken or unlawfully detained, or, if taken on execution or attachment, is claimed by a third party, the owner or claimant may bring an action for possession thereof. He may claim immediate delivery upon affidavit therefor, whereupon the sheriff takes possession of the property, and if a delivery bond is given on behalf of the defendant within twenty-four hours, the property is returned to him, otherwise the plaintiff may give bond and take the property; failing to do so it is returned to the defendant. The plaintiff has twenty-four hours in which to file bond. Justices of the peace have jurisdiction in replevin suits involving property not worth over $200. Procedure is same before justice of the peace, except that the plaintiff must file bond in all cases.

Suits. (See Actions.)

Taxes. State, county, township, municipal, school, and road taxes attach as a lien on real estate on April 1st of each year, and penalties attach on third Monday of same month in the next year. One-half of all taxes may be paid without penalty, if paid before first Monday of May; other half, if paid before first Monday of November. Sales of real estate for taxes are held on the second Monday of February, and all lands on which taxes are delinquent for two years are offered. Owner has two years in which to redeem, by paying the amount set forth in the certificate of purchase, with all subsequent taxes paid, and 10 to 25 per cent upon the whole sum, with legal interest from the date of purchase or payment. Lands are sold for one year's delinquency, but the following year's tax (not yet delinquent) is embraced in the amount of the sale.

Transfer of Corporation Stocks. Shares in any corporations existing under laws of this State entitle the holder to a certificate, under the corporate seal, signed by the treasurer, certifying his property in such shares. A book must be kept by the corporation at its office or principal place of business, containing the names of stockholders, alphabetically arranged, showing where they reside, the number of shares each holds, and the time the ownership begins. This book is presumptive evidence in favor of the plaintiff of the facts it states in any suit against the corporation or a stockholder therein.

Wills. Nuncupative wills, where property of more than the value of $100 is bequeathed, are not valid, except as to the personal property and wages of soldiers and sailors in actual service. A nuncupative will must be reduced to writing within fifteen days after it shall have been declared and proved by two competent witnesses who shall have heard the testator request some of those present to bear witness thereto. No will in writing shall affect an estate, unless it be signed in the presence of witnesses by the testator, or by some one for him in his presence, with his consent, and attested and subscribed by two or more witnesses at his request, and in his presence and that of each other.

SYNOPSIS OF THE LAWS OF INDIAN TERRITORY

RELATING TO

BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES.

Accounts. In suits upon accounts, the affidavit of the plaintiff, or his agent, that the same is just and correct, shall be sufficient to establish the same unless denied.

Acknowledgments may be taken within the Territory before the judge or clerk of the United States court, United States commissioners, and notaries public. Without the Territory, but within the United States, to be used in said Territory, they may be taken before the judge of any court of the United States, or of any State or Territorial court having a seal, or before the clerk of such court, or before any notary public.

Actions. In actions at law summons should be served ten days before the first day of the term, and in equity defendant has twenty days from service of summons in which to answer. Actions must be commenced in the judicial district in which at least one of the defendants resides, and at the place of holding court nearest the residence of the defendant. (See Courts.)

Administration. Claims must be authenticated and presented to the administrator or executor within one year from the date of letters, or they may be precluded from any benefit. Claims not presented to the administrator or executor within two years are forever barred. Priority of claims against estates are as follows: 1. Funeral expenses. 2. Expenses of last sickness, wages of servants, medicines, and medical attendance during last sickness. 3. Judgments which are liens on lands possessed by deceased. 4. All demands without regard to quality, which shall be exhibited within one year after the granting of letters. 5. All demands not exhibited within one year, but within two years. Foreign administrators may sue with like effect as if appointed here.

Appeals may be taken from the United States commissioners within thirty days from the rendition of the judgment to the United States court in the Indian Territory, and are tried de novo, provided the judgment is for $20 or over, exclusive of costs. No appeal lies when the judgment does not exceed the sum of $20. Appeals may be taken from the United States court in the Indian Territory to the court of appeals for the Indian Territory, and from thence to the United States circuit court of appeals for the eighth circuit, established by the act of congress, approved March 3, 1891, in the manner therein described and set forth, and also to the supreme court of the United States.

Assignments for the Benefit of Creditors can be made of all the property, or a part thereof. Any creditor or creditors may be preferred. Before any assignee of property for the benefit of creditors is entitled to take possession, sell, or in any way manage or control it, he must file in the office of the clerk of the United States court for the judicial division in which the property is located, a full and complete inventory and description of the property assigned, and execute a bond to the United States in double the estimated value of the property with good security, to be approved by the clerk. But title to the property vests in the assignee upon the execution and delivery of the deed by the assignor, and can not be defeated by an execution coming to the hands of an officer after delivery of the deed, but before the filing of the schedule and bond. The assignee must file annual accounts current within the court. He must sell the property at public auction, within 120 days after execution of the bond, giving thirty days' notice of the time and place of sale, and persons injured can sue on the assignee's bond.

Attachments. The plaintiff in an action may, at or after the commencement thereof, have an attachment against the property of the defendant in the following cases: Where the action is for the recovery of money, whether the sum is liquidated or unliquidated; where defendant, or some of defendants, is a foreign corporation or non-resident of the Territory, or has been absent therefrom four months; or has departed from the Territory with intent to defraud his creditors; or has left the judicial division of his residence to avoid the service of summons; or so conceals himself that a summons can not be served upon him; or is about to remove or has removed his property, or a material part thereof, out of the Territory, not leaving enough therein to satisfy the plaintiff's claim, or the claim of defendant's creditors; or has sold or otherwise disposed of his property, or suffered or permitted it to be sold, with the fraudulent intent to cheat, hinder, or delay his creditors, or is about to so sell with such intent; and in an action for the possession of personal property where it has been ordered to be delivered to plaintiff, and where the property, or a part thereof, has been disposed of, concealed, or removed, so that the order can not be executed. But an attachment shall not be granted on the ground that defendant, or any of them, is a foreign corporation or non-resident of the Territory, for any claim, other than a demand or debt arising upon contract. Where only a part of the parties, defendant in an action, are included in an affidavit for attachment setting forth any one of the above causes, the process is issued only against the estate or interest of such defendants as are so embraced, and the action proceeds against the other defendants as a personal action in the ordinary form. Plaintiff must file a bond, with one or more sureties. The lien of an attachment is complete when the officer executes it. The order of attachment binds the defendant's property in the judicial division, which might be seized under an execution against him, from the time of the delivery of the order to the marshal or other officer, and can not be defeated by a subsequent sale or general assignment. Action by attachment may be brought in any judicial division in which defendant's attachable property or credits may be found, and several writs may be issued upon the same complaint and affidavit to different judicial divisions. An attachment may be ordered by the judge or clerk upon a debt not due, where the complaint, verified by oath, shows that defendant has sold or otherwise disposed of his property, or permitted it to be done, with fraudulent intent to cheat or defraud his creditors, or hinder or delay them in the collection of his debts, or is about to make such fraudulent sale, conveyance, or disposition of his property with such intent, or is about to remove his property or a material part thereof out of the Territory, with the intent or the effect of cheating or defrauding his creditors, or hindering or delaying them in the collection of their debts; and the complaint must also show the nature and amount of the plaintiff's claim, and when the same will become due. In all cases of attachment the defendant is at liberty to give bond and procure thereby the discharge of the attached property.

Banks. The laws of the United States relating to National banks have the same force and effect as elsewhere in the United States.

Chattel Mortgages. (See Mortgages.)

Contracts. The general law of contracts is in force except so far as modified by acts of Congress relating to this jurisdiction.

Conveyances. Real estate is held in common by the Indians, and citizens of the United States can not own realty, and can not convey it, but can occupy the same by lease or contract with individual Indians, when properly residing in the Territory.

Corporations. There is no law for the formation of corporations in the Indian Territory.

Costs. Non-residents are required to give a bond for costs in addition to deposit for estimated clerk's and marshall's fees.

Courts. The United States court in the Indian Territory has jurisdiction (except in Choctaw and Chickasaw nations, where by treaty a limited jurisdiction is retained by the tribal courts over controversies between their own citizens), in all civil causes where the defendants are found in or reside in the Indian Territory, in all matters where the amount involved, damages claimed, or thing in controversy is over $100. It also exercises the jurisdiction and powers of probate courts, and has exclusive original jurisdiction in all probate matters. The Indian Territory is divided into three judicial districts. The northern judicial district is composed of the Cherokee, Creek, and Seminole nations, and court sits twice each year at Muscogee, Vinita, Miami, Tahlequah, and Wagonner. The central judicial district is composed of the Choctaw nation, and court sits twice each year at South McAlester, Atoka, Antlers, and Cameron. The southern judicial district is composed of the Chickasaw nation, and court sits twice each year at Ardmore, Purcell, Pauls Valley, Ryan, and Chickasha. The Court of Appeals for the Indian Territory convenes twice each year at South McAlester at such times as the court may determine upon, according to the act of congress approved March 1, 1895 Commissioners. There are six United States commissioners appointed in each judicial district, with powers of justices of the peace of the State of Arkansas, with exclusive jurisdiction where the matter in controversy does not exceed $100, and concurrent with the United States court up to $300. They have also the same powers as circuit court commissioners throughout the United States. Mayors of towns incorporated under laws of Congress made with reference to the Indian Territory have like jurisdiction with commissioners within the territory embraced by the corporate limits of the town.

Days of Grace. (See Notes and Bills of Exchange.)

Depositions. The plaintiff may commence taking depositions immediately after service of summons, and defendant after filing answer. They may be taken on reasonable notice to the opposite party, or upon interrogatories and commission.

Descent and Distribution of Property. Personal property descends: 1. To the children or their descendants in equal parts. 2. If there be no children, then to the father, then to the mother; if no mother, then to the brothers and sisters, or their descendants in equal parts. 3. If there be no children, nor their descendants, father, mother, brothers or sisters, nor their descendants, then to the grandfather, grandmother, uncles, aunts, and their descendants in equal parts, and so on in other cases, without end, passing to the nearest lineal ancestor, and their children in equal parts. Posthumous children inherit in like manner as if born during life-time of intestate. Illegitimate children are capable of inheriting and transmitting an inheritance on the part of their mother in like manner as if they had been legitimate of their mother.

Divorce. The following are grounds for divorce: 1. Impotency. 2. Desertion for one year without a reasonable cause. 3. Where either party had a husband or wife living at the time of the marriage. 4. Where either party shall be convicted of a felony or other infamous crime. 5. Habitual drunkenness for one year, or cruel or barbarous treatment as to endanger the life of the other, or offers of indignities to person of the other as shall render his or her condition intolerable. 6. Adultery. 7. Insanity.

Dower. The widow is entitled to a dower of one-third of the personal estate of which her husband died possessed if no children survive, then to one-half of the said estate.

Executions. Execution can not be issued until ten days after judgment, unless by order of the court. The same becomes a lien on all personal property of the person against whom issued from the time the same is put in the hands of the proper officer. It may be stayed for three months by giving a good bond, except when the judgment is against a collecting officer or attorney at law or agent, or against a principal in favor of surety, or of a debt due having the force of a judgment, or a judgment for specific property, or its value in favor of vendor or mortgagor. Executions are not valid for the sale or conveyance of title to improvements made upon lands owned by an Indian nation, except where such improvements have been made by persons, companies, or corporations operating coal or other mines, railroads, or other industries under lease or permission of law of an Indian council, or charter or law of the United States. Upon a return of nulla bona on an execution upon any judgment against any adopted citizen of any Indian tribe, or against any person residing in any Indian country and not a citizen thereof, if the judgment debtor shall be the owner of any improvements upon real estate within the Indian Territory in excess of 160 acres occupied as a homestead, such improvements may be subjected to the payment of such judgment by a decree of the court in which such judgment was rendered.

Exemptions. The personal property of a resident, who is not married, or the head of a family, in specific articles to be selected by such resident not exceeding $200, in addition to wearing apparel, is exempt from attachment and execution. A resident who is married or is the head of a family has a like exemption to the value of $500 in addition to wearing apparel of his family.

Garnishments. After judgment the same may issue against any person believed to be indebted to or to have property belonging to the judgment debtor. In cases of attachment a writ of garnishment may issue before judgment.

Holidays. (See Notes and Bills of Exchange.)

Husband and Wife. (See Married Women.)

Interest. Six per cent per annum is the rate of interest by operation of law; the parties may agree in writing for as much as 10 per cent; all interest beyond this is usurious and voids the contract, both as to principal and interest. Judgments and decrees bear the same rate of interest as the contract sued on. If no rate is expressed, then 6 per cent.

Judgments. There is no lien established by the same. To fix a lien execution must be issued. Actions on the same must be commenced within ten years from the date of the judgment.

License. Traders must pay a license fee to the Indian nation of from $25 to $500 per year. Licenses are granted by the commissioner of Indian affairs for the term of one year. Traders must give a bond in the sum of $10,000 to obey laws and regulations of the interior department. Commercial travelers are not taxed.

Limitations. Action for liability on contract, express or implied, not in writing, all action for trespass on land or for libel, actions for taking or injuring goods or chattels, must be brought in three years. All action of crim. con., assault and battery, and false imprisonment, all actions of slander, special or general, and all actions against officers for escape of persons imprisoned on civil process, must be brought in one year. All other actions against officers for misfeasance or nonfeasance in office, actions upon penal statutes, where the penalty or part of it goes to the United States, or person suing for it, must be brought in two years. Actions on promissory notes not under seal, in five years; from due under seal, ten years. On official bonds of marshal or constables within four years from date of cause. Actions against Executors and Administrators, eight years from the time the cause of action accrued. The act applies to non-residents as well as residents. Fraudulently absconding from another State or Territory, without creditors' knowledge, suspends operation of statute until creditor becomes apprised of the residence of the debtor. On mutual accounts current, statute begins from the date of last item. A new promise to take a case out of statute must be in writing, and no joint-contractor can bind another by such new promise; part payment takes the case out of the statute from its date for a like period as that which obtained in the original contract. If claimant die before the expiration of the period, the representative where action survives has one year after the bar within which to sue, but not thereafter.

Married Women may hold separate property and carry on separate business. If she fails to schedule her property, the burden of proof is on her in a contest with her husband's creditors. Women become of age at eighteen. Wife's separate property not liable for any debt contracted by her unless the contract was made with special reference to it.

Mortgages and Chattel Mortgages. The law of mortgages for real estate has no application to the land tenures of the Indian Territory. Chattel mortgages, when properly proved or acknowledged, shall be recorded or filed in the judicial division in which the mortgagor resides. (See 49 Ark. 83.) The acknowledgment shall be by the grantor appearing in person before the proper authority, and stating that he had executed the same for the consideration and purposes therein mentioned and set forth; when it is to be proven it shall be done by one or more of the subscribing witnesses personally appearing before the proper officer, and stating on oath that he or they saw the grantor subscribe such deed or instrument of writing, or that the grantor acknowledged in his or their presence that he had subscribed and executed such deed or instrument for the purposes and consideration therein expressed, and that he or they had subscribed the same as witnesses at the request of the grantor. When the instrument is so proved or acknowledged and the mortgagee does not desire to record the same, he may file it in the clerk's office when he indorses upon the back thereof the following words: "This instrument is to be filed, but not recorded," and such indorsement must be signed by the mortgagee, his agent, or attorney. When so filed it is a lien on the property for one year from the date of the filing, but it will be void as against creditors after the expiration of one year unless within thirty days next preceding the expiration of one year from such filing; and each year thereafter the mortgagee, his agent, or attorney shall make an affidavit exhibiting at the time last aforesaid the interest of the mortgagee claimed by virtue of such mortgage, and if said mortgage is to secure the payment of money, the amount due and unpaid, and such affidavit shall be attached to and filed with the instrument or copy on file to which it relates. Mortgages executed by non-residents must be recorded in the district in which the property is located.

Notes and Bills of Exchange. The general rules of commercial law on these subjects prevail. Three days of grace are allowed, and this applies to bills of exchange payable at sight. There are no holidays peculiar to the Territory. Notes and bills due on Sunday, Fourth of July, or Christmas are to be presented and protested the day before, but notice need not be given until the day afterward. Acceptances must be made in writing. Protested bills bear interest at the rate of 10 per cent per annum.

Probate Law. (See Wills.)

Protest. (See Notes and Bills of Exchange.)

Replevin. In actions to recover specific personal property the plaintiff may have an order of delivery for the immediate possession of the same by filing an affidavit showing: 1. A particular description of the property. 2. Its actual value and his damages for its detention. 3. That he is the owner thereof or has a special ownership therein. 4. That the property is wrongfully detained by the defendant, and upon what manner of claim the same is so detained. 5. That it has not been taken under a fine, judgment, tax or execution, or if so, that it was exempt from seizure. Plaintiff must also give a bond in double the value of the property, conditioned that he will perform the judgment of the court by returning the property, if a return is adjudged, or its value, and pay such sum as may be adjudged against him, and all the costs of the action. Defendant has two days in which to give a retaining bond, and if judgment is rendered for plaintiff, judgment may be entered against defendant and his sureties.

Suits. (See Courts.)

Taxes. (See License.)

Wills. Every person twenty-one years old, of sound mind, may devise all his estate, and may dispose of goods and chattels at the age of eighteen. Married women can make wills. Every will (except where nuncupative wills are allowed) must be in writing and subscribed by the testator or some one for him, at his request, at the end, and, if signed by another, he must subscribe as witness, and state the fact in writing. This signing must be made, or acknowledged to have been so made, in the presence of each of the attesting witnesses, and at the time of the signing or acknowledging he must declare the instrument so subscribed to be his will. There must be at least two witnesses, each signing his name as such at the end of the will, at the request of the testator. Nuncupative wills are good to the value of $500. When a will of a non-resident of the Territory, relative to property within the same, has been proved without the same, an authenticated copy thereof and the certificate of probate thereof may be offered for probate in this Territory and admitted. The court here shall admit the copy, and, if it appears from the copy that the will was proved in the foreign court of probate, to be so executed as to be valid for personalty. Wills are proved and admitted to record by the United States court in the Indian Territory in the judicial division where the testator resided, and if he had no known residence in this Territory, then in the judicial division where he died, or where his estate or the greater part thereof lies, or where there may be any debts due him.

SYNOPSIS OF THE LAWS OF IOWA

RELATING TO

BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES.

Prepared and Revised by MESSRS. DALE, ALLEN & PATTON, Attorneys at Law, Des Moines. (See Card in Attorneys' List.)

Acknowledgments of deeds to land made within the State are made before some court having a seal, or judge or clerk thereof, or justice of the peace, or notary public, or county auditor or his deputy elsewhere. In the United States before some judge of a court of record, or officer holding the seal thereof, or by a commissioner of deeds, appointed by the governor of the State, notary public, or justice of the peace; when made before a judge or justice of the peace his official character must be certified to by a clerk of a court of record of the county or district, under seal of the court, or by the secretary of State of the State or territory, as also the genuineness of his signature. The form of certificate is statutory. Acknowledgments may also be taken elsewhere in the United States before any officer authorized to take acknowledgments in such State or territory, but must be accompanied by a similar certificate showing his authority, official character, and the genuineness of his signature. In foreign countries deeds may be acknowledged before any officer authorized by the laws of such country to certify to acknowledgments, or any ambassador, minister, secretary of legation, consul, vice consul, charge d' affaires, consular agent, or other officer of the United States properly authorized to issue certificate under the seal of the United States, but the certificate of acknowledgment by a foreign officer must be authenticated by one of the above named officers of the United States, by his official written statement that full faith and credit is due to the certificate of such foreign officer. Witnesses are not required.

Actions. Actions are commenced by serving notice, stating the nature of the claim, and filing a petition, stating in ordinary and concise language the facts constituting plaintiff's cause of action. The petition must be filed ten days before the term of court at which action is brought. All actions must be prosecuted in the name of the real party in interest, and must be brought in the county where the defendants, or some of them, reside; or, if real property is involved, then in the county wherein the property is situated. If the action is on a written contract, it may be brought where, by its terms, it is to be performed; or the cause, or some part thereof, arose. In actions upon negotiable paper, in which a maker residing in the State is sued, the action must be brought in a county wherein the maker, or if makers, where one of them resides, except when made payable at a particular place. Actions against insurance companies in any county in which the principal place of business is kept or in which the contract of insurance was made or in which the loss insured against occurred, or, in case of insurance against death or disability, in the county of the domicile of the insured at the time the loss occurred or in the county of plaintiff's residence. When a corporation, company, or individual has an office or an agency in any county for the transaction of business, any actions growing out of or connected with the business of that office or agency may be brought in the county where such office or agency is located.

Administration of Estates. Where an executor is not appointed by will, administration shall be granted: 1. To the spouse of the deceased. 2. To the next of kin. 3. To creditors. 4. To any other person whom the court may select. Claims against the estate of a deceased person are payable in the following order: 1. Debts entitled to a preference under the laws of the United States. 2. Public rates and taxes. 3. Claims filed within six months after the first publication of the notice given by the executors or administrators of their appointment. 4. All other debts. 5. Legacies and distributive shares. All claims of the fourth of the above classes not filed and allowed, or if filed and notice thereof not served within twelve months from the giving of the notice of appointment are barred, except as to actions against decedent pending in the district or supreme court at the time of his death, or unless peculiar circumstances entitle the claimant to equitable relief.

Aliens. Non-resident aliens or corporations incorporated under the laws of any foreign country or corporations organized in this country one-half of the stock of which is owned or controlled by non-resident aliens are prohibited from acquiring title to or holding any real estate in Iowa, but the non-resident alien widow, heirs, or devisees of an alien or naturalized citizen may hold the same for twenty years, and if not sold within that time, escheats to the State. Aliens may acquire property of any kind within a city or town or lands not exceeding 320 acres or stock in any corporation for pecuniary profit and may alienate or devise the same, but this law does not affect personal property. A lien holder may acquire title to the property embraced in such lien but real estate so acquired must be sold within ten years after title is perfected in an alien, otherwise it will escheat to the State.

Appeals. The supreme court has appellate jurisdiction over all judgments and decisions of all courts of record. If the amount involved is $100 or less the case is only appealable when the trial judge shall, during the term in which judgment is entered, certify that the cause is one in which the appeal should be allowed. Appeals from judgment of a justice's court are to the district court, and can only be taken where the amount involved exceeds $25, and the same must be perfected within twenty days after the rendition of the judgment.

Arbitration. All controversies which might be the subject of civil action may be submitted to the decision of one or more arbitrators, the same to be perfected by a written agreement, signed and acknowledged by the parties of the agreement, stating the particular matters to be arbitrated, together with the names of the arbitrators, and the court by which judgment on award is to be rendered.

Arrest. No person can be imprisoned for debt on either mesne or final process, unless in case of fraud. Debtors, however, may be ordered to appear before a court of record wherein a judgment has been rendered, and if the debtor is about to leave the State, or conceal himself, he may be arrested and compelled to give bond to appear before the court for examination, and in the meantime, not dispose of his property.

Assignments and Insolvency. General Assignments not valid unless for benefit of all creditors, when assent of creditors is presumed. The debtor must annex to the instrument of assignment a sworn inventory and list of creditors; and such instrument must be acknowledged and all of the papers recorded like a deed of real estate. The assignment vests in the assignee title to all property of the debtor. Assignee must give bonds, prepare a verified inventory and valuation, and notify creditors by mail to file claims within three months. All claims not filed within three months after notice published or within such extended time as the court grants, not exceeding nine months, including claims not yet due, can not be paid until all claims filed within said time are paid. An assignment does not discharge the debtor from his debts and liabilities, but only entitles creditors to share equally in his estate. All claims filed must be sworn to.

Attachment process will issue against all property not exempt from execution on filing a sworn petition, alleging, 1st, that the defendant is a foreign corporation, or acting as such; or 2d, that he is a non-resident of the State; or 3d, that he is about to remove his property out of the State, without leaving sufficient remaining for the payment of his debts; or 4th, that he has disposed of his property (in whole or in part) with intent to defraud his creditors; 5th, that the defendant is about to dispose of his property with intent to defraud his creditors; 6th, that he has absconded so that ordinary process can not be served upon him; 7th, that he is about to remove permanently out of the county and has property therein not exempt from execution, and that he refuses to pay or secure the plaintiff; 8th, that he is about to remove permanently out of the State, and refuses to pay or secure the debt due the plaintiff; 9th, that he is about to remove his property, or a part thereof, out of the county, with intent to defraud his creditors; 10th, that he is about to convert his property, or a part thereof, into money, for the purpose of placing it beyond the reach of his creditors; 11th, that he has property or rights in action which he conceals; 12th, that the debt is due for property obtained under false pretenses. Attachment may be brought before the debt is due when nothing but time is wanting to fix an absolute indebtedness and the 4th, 5th, 7th or 12th of the above causes can be alleged under oath. The first attachment levied becomes the first lien, and there is no prorating. The penalty on an attachment bond is three times the amount claimed. Exemptions under attachment are the same as under execution. A penalty in the way of fine from not less than $10 nor more than $50 is imposed by the statute upon any person who shall attempt to deprive any resident of Iowa from any exemption of property from levy or sale under attachment and garnishment, where the claim could have been sued in Iowa and is sent out of the State to be collected by proceedings in attachment, garnishment, or any other process.

Banks. The constitution provides that any act creating banking associations must be submitted separately to a vote of the people. Stockholders are individually responsible to creditors to the amount of their stock over the stock held. In case of insolvency, bill holders are to be preferred. Suspension of specie payment is not permitted.

Savings Banks may be formed by five or more persons of lawful age, a majority of whom are citizens of Iowa, for the purpose of receiving deposits, investing same, paying interest on dividends thereon and transacting business usual to such institutions, but can not issue paper to circulate as money. Articles of Incorporation must be signed and acknowledged by the corporators, stating the object and capital of the corporation, its duration not exceeding fifty years, and other specified particulars, which articles must be recorded by the recorder of the county in which the bank is to be located, and also by the secretary of State. Notice of the incorporation must be published in same county giving the substance of its articles of incorporation. The capital stock may be $10,000 or more in cities, towns or villages of 10,000 or less population, and $50,000 in larger cities, divided into shares of $100 each, to be issued only upon full payment, and are transferable on the books of the company. The capital stock may be increased by a vote of two-thirds of its shares, cast at a stockholders' meeting, after giving the prescribed notice, which fact is proved by affidavit of the chairman and secretary of the meeting, and must be recorded like the original Articles of Incorporation. At any stockholders' meeting each stockholder may cast one vote in person or by proxy, for each share held by him. It is managed by a board of directors composed of from five to nine members, each of whom must own one share of stock if the capital is $20,000 or under; two shares if above that but under $30,000; three shares if above that but under $40,000; four shares if above that but under $50,000, and five shares if over $50,000. Each director must take the oath required by law. A majority of directors is a quorum, but three affirmative votes are necessary to carry any measure. Deposits can not exceed ten times the capital stock, and said capital stock must be safely invested as a guaranty fund for the better security of depositors. Investment of funds may be made in bonds, or interest-bearing notes or certificates of the United States, or of this State, issued pursuant to the authority of law, in bonds or warrants of any city, town, county, or school district of this State, but the assets of the bank shall not exceed 25 per cent of such bonds or warrants; in notes or bonds secured by mortgage or deed of trust upon unincumbered real estate in this State, worth at least twice the amount loaned thereon. They shall not purchase, hold, or make loans upon the shares of their capital stock. They may hold real estate to do business in, and also that purchased at foreclosure or other judicial sales for debts due it, or by redemption as junior mortgagee or judgment creditor. Such banks shall not contract debts except for deposits to obtain money with which to pay deposits, and for the necessary expenses of transacting business. A cash reserve must be at all times kept in savings bank doing a commercial business in towns having a population of 3,000 or less inhabitants, equal to fifteen per cent of their commercial deposits and eight per cent of their savings deposits; if the population is over 3,000 such reserve must be 20 per cent of their commercial deposits and eight per cent of their savings deposits. Three-fourths of this reserve may be kept on deposit subject to call in other State or National banks. Savings banks may be dissolved by a three-fourths vote of the stockholders, after giving the prescribed notice of a stockholders' meeting. The name "Savings Bank" can only be used by banks organized under this chapter, and a violation of this provision is made a criminal offense.

State Banks. Corporations may be organized to transact banking business, other than savings banks, which must include the word "State" in the corporate name, and the use of the word "State" in its name is prohibited to all other banking institutions. There must be articles of incorporation signed by not less than five persons specifying the matters required by law, which must be filed and recorded in the same manner as required for savings banks. Capital of State banks must be $50,000 or more in cities having a population exceeding 3,000, but such banks may be organized with a capital of $25,000 in cities and towns having a less population. The capital must be divided into shares of $100 each and fully paid for when issued. Proof of payment of such capital must be made to the auditor of State who issues a certificate showing compliance with law, and four weeks' publication of such certificate must be made in a newspaper. The business and property are managed by a board of directors of not less than five, each of whom must be a shareholder, who must own two shares if the capital is less than $30,000; three shares if more than that, but less than $40,000; four shares if more than that, but less than $50,000, and five shares if $50,000 or over. Each director must take the oath required by statute, which must be filed with the auditor of State. A reserve of not less than 10 per cent of their total deposits must be kept in banks located in cities and towns having less than 3,000 population, and 15 per cent of their total deposits in other State banks. Three-fourths of said reserve may be kept on deposit subject to call, with other State or National banks.

Savings and State Banks. Use of bank funds or a loan to directors otherwise than as provided by law is made a criminal offense. The limit of liability to any bank, of any person, company, corporation, or firm, including in the liabilities of a company or firm, the liabilities of the several members thereof, shall not exceed 20 per cent of the actually paid up capital of such bank, verified by an officer and attested by the signature of three directors, or verified by two officers and attested by two directors. The auditor may examine any bank whenever he sees proper, and shall call upon four times a year for a report of its condition upon any given day which has passed, and may call for additional reports when he deems the same necessary. When any bank has refused to pay its deposits when payable, or has become insolvent, or its capital is impaired, or has violated the law, or is conducting its business in an unsafe manner, the auditor of State may cause its affairs to be examined, the expenses to be paid by said bank, but if the bank refuses to comply with the demands of the auditor, with the assent of the attorney general, he may apply for the appointment of a receiver. No general assignment by any bank for the benefit of creditors is of any validity. If the capital is impaired the auditor may require an assessment to be made, and the directors of the bank are individually responsible if they fail to make or enforce such assessment. All stockholders of banks are liable to creditors of their corporation over and above the amount of stock held by them to an amount equal to their respective shares for all liabilities accruing while they remain such stockholders, and may be severally compelled to pay such deficiency in proportion to the amount of stock owned by each, which liability may be enforced by an assignee or receiver of the bank, or by an individual creditor. Loan and trust companies may receive time deposits and issue drafts on their depositaries, but are subject to examination, regulation, and control of the State auditor like savings and State banks, and then stockholders have the same liability as in savings or State banks. No other kind of corporation is permitted to engage in banking business. False statements, intentional fraud, and receiving deposits when insolvent are prohibited under severe penalty. Any refusal of the shareholder to pay such assessment, authorizes the sale of his stock to pay the same. Shares of stock of savings and State banks and loan and trust companies are assessed to the banks or company, not the individual stockholders, and are listed at their real value less the capital actually invested in real estate, and 25 per cent of the balance so ascertained is the assessed and taxable value.

Chattel Mortgages. Chattel mortgages must be signed, acknowledged, and recorded like deeds of real estate and if upon personal property exempt from execution and attachment they are of no validity as to such exempt property unless signed by both husband and wife, if the owner of such property is married. Any mortgage of personal property to secure the payment of money only, and in which the time of payment is fixed, may be foreclosed by notice of sale, unless a stipulation to the contrary has been agreed upon by the parties; or it may be foreclosed in court. The purchaser takes all the title and interest which the mortgagor had in the property sold; and the sheriff or the person conducting the sale shall execute a bill of sale of the property disposed of. They need not be renewed, and are good until the cause of action is barred by the statute of limitation, to wit: ten years from the accruing of the cause of action. The mortgagor, under written stipulations, is entitled to the possession of the property. With proper covenants, a chattel mortgage will cover future acquisitions to stocks of merchandise. Property covered by chattel mortgages may be levied upon, if not exempt from execution, when the debt is due, by paying, or offering to pay, the amount of the mortgage debt, or depositing the amount with the clerk of the district court of the county where the mortgaged property is found. This does not, however, prevent contests as to the legality of the mortgage or of the amount due.

Collateral Securities. When shares of stock of a private corporation are transferred as collateral security, the transferee may, in writing, notify the secretary of the corporation, and from the time of such notice and until written notice that the stock has ceased to be collateral, the stock shall be considered in law as transferred on the books of the corporation without actual transfer, and when the transferee ceases to hold the stock as collateral, it is his duty to notify the secretary of the corporation of that fact. The secretary must keep a record of all of such notices subject to public inspection. No holder of stock as collateral security is liable for assessments on the same. Collaterals and pledges are governed by the terms of the deposit, if in writing, and no sale of them can be made if the writing so provides; otherwise, chattel property pledged or deposited as collateral security may be sold under the provisions of law which are substantially similar to the foreclosure of chattel mortgages under notice and sale. But the pledgee is given the alternative right of foreclosing such collaterals or pledge in equity, in which action all persons interested therein may be made parties; judgment will be rendered for the amount due the pledgee and costs with special execution for the sale of the pledge or collaterals and general execution for any balance unsatisfied.

Conditional Sales. No sale, contract, or lease wherein the transfer of title or ownership of personal property is made to depend upon any condition, shall be valid against any creditor or purchaser of the vendee or lessee in actual possession, obtained in pursuance thereof, without notice, unless the same be in writing, executed by the vendor or lessor, acknowledged and recorded the same as chattel mortgages.

Conveyances. No particular form is necessary for conveyances or mortgages. The name of the parties, the description of the property, the consideration, the date, signature, and acknowledgment, is all that is necessary; as between the parties they are valid without being recorded. The wife must join with her husband in conveyances, and a conveyance of the homestead is of no validity unless husband and wife concur in and sign the same joint instrument. Corporations execute conveyances under its corporate seal; such conveyances must be acknowledged by the proper officers.

Corporations. All corporations are organized under the general law of the State. Any number of persons can incorporate for the transaction of any legal business. The articles of incorporation for pecuniary profit must be signed by the corporators and acknowledged, filed with the recorder of the county where the principal place of business is to be located, and with the secretary of State. They must also pay an incorporation fee of $25 and an additional fee of $1 for each $100 of stock authorized in excess of $10,000, not exceeding in the aggregate $2,000, mutual creamery associations being exempted. The articles must fix the highest amount of indebtedness which may be incurred, which must not exceed two-thirds of their capital stock, and may also determine whether the private property is to be exempt from corporate debts. All stockholders are liable to creditors for unpaid installments of stock. No certificate or shares of stock shall be issued by any association without having endorsed on the face thereof the amount or proportion of the par value which has been paid to the corporation issuing the same and whether such payment has been in money or property; violation of this provision is a criminal offense. Foreign corporations, for pecuniary profit, other than mercantile or manufacturing, desiring to do business in this State, must file with the secretary of State a certified copy of its articles, duly attested, accompanied by resolutions of its board of directors or stockholders, authorizing the filing thereof, and also authorizing service of process on any of its officers or agents doing business in this State, and asking for a permit; it must also pay the same incorporation fees required of domestic corporations, except those organized prior to September 1, 1886, whereupon it will be issued by the secretary of State, and without any permit, they are to be subjected to forfeit $100 for each and every day while engaged in the transaction of business within the State; also a fine of like amount or imprisonment, not exceeding 30 days, of the agent conducting the business of such corporation without a permit. They are not, however, prevented from buying, selling, and otherwise dealing in notes, bonds, mortgages, and other securities.

Courts. Terms and Jurisdiction. The district court has jurisdiction of all actions, civil and equitable, and has criminal and probate jurisdiction. Superior courts may be established by the vote of the people in any city of 7,000 inhabitants. It has jurisdiction to try all violations of city ordinances, and the same criminal jurisdiction as justice of the peace courts. It has jurisdiction to try and determine civil and criminal appeals and civil writs of error from justices of the peace, situated in the township where the court is located. Has the same jurisdiction as the district court to try all suits in law and equity, except granting divorces, allmony, and separate maintenance, and it has no probate jurisdiction. Transcript from superior and justices' courts must be filed in district court to create a lien on real estate, and are then enforced as judgments of the district court. Justice's jurisdiction, $100, or, by consent of parties, $300. The supreme court has only appellate jurisdiction and holds its sessions at Des Moines, in January, May, and October.

Days of Grace. All bonds, notes, and bills of exchange, and sight drafts are entitled to three days of grace. Whenever the day of maturity falls upon a Sunday, first day of January, twenty-second day of February, thirtieth day of May, fourth day of July, first Monday in September, twenty-fifth day of December, the day of the general election, or any day appointed by the president of the United States, or the governor of this State, as a public fast, or Thanksgiving, or any other public holiday, the instrument shall be considered as falling due on the succeeding business day.

Depositions. Depositions may be taken within the State upon notice and within or without the State upon commission, but the parties may agree to some other method. When served upon the party, at least five days' notice is required, and if served upon an attorney of the party, at least ten days' notice is necessary. If the party is a non-resident or his residence is unknown or in case of default, if such party has no attorney of record who is a resident of the State, the notice of taking or of suing out a commission to take a deposition may be given by filing the notice or notice and copy of the interrogatories attached with the clerk of the court in which the action is pending, ten days before the taking of the depositions or issuance of the commission. When taken upon commission a copy of the interrogatories to be propounded to the witness must accompany the notice. When notice of suing out a commission is served the adverse party may elect to appear orally and cross examine the witness by serving notice of such election on the opposite party or his attorney before the issuing of the commission; the other party must then inform the party or attorney so electing, of the place, date and hour of the taking of the deposition, at least, five days before the deposition is taken. In such case the party taking the deposition may waive the commission and examine orally. The deposition shall then be reduced to writing in the manner required for taking depositions on notice. When taken upon commission no party, agent, or attorney of such party may be present unless both are present or represented and the certificate must state if any party, agent, or attorney was present. The deposition may be taken in shorthand and must be accompanied by a translation of the shorthand notes, and the notes and translation must be returned, together with the deposition, and the stenographer must be sworn. Depositions may be taken before the clerk or judge of any court of record, any commissioner appointed by the governor of Iowa to take acknowledgments of deeds in another State, a notary public or consul or consular agent of the United States, or by any person designated by the court or agreed upon by the parties. Each deposition must be accompanied by a certificate of the person taking it, certifying the facts required by law, which are endorsed upon the commission when one issues. If the officer have no seal, unless selected by agreement of the parties, his signature and official character must be authenticated by the certificate of a court of record under its seal, or that of the officer having in charge the seal of the State. A seal is presumptive evidence of the genuineness of the signature and the official character of the officer having a seal. Courts are also authorized to appoint commissioners to take deposition. They may be written down before any judge, consul, justice of the peace, notary public, or any commissioner duly appointed by the governor of this State.

Descent and Distribution of Property. Subject to rights of dower and other charges thereon, and burdens imposed during the lifetime of the decedent, the estate of an intestate shall descend in equal shares to his children. The heirs of any deceased child shall inherit in same manner as though such child had outlived his parent. If the intestate leave no issue, one-half of his estate shall go to the parents, the other to the spouse. If no surviving spouse, the whole thereof shall go to his parents or the survivor of them; and so on through ascending ancestors and their issue, if both parents be dead. Personal property not necessary to pay debts is distributed to the same persons, and in the same proportions as though it were real estate.

Divorce. Divorces are granted in equity in the district court for the following causes: 1. Adultery committed subsequent to marriage. 2. Desertion, without reasonable cause, for two years. 3. Conviction of felony after marriage. 4. Addiction to habitual drunkenness after marriage. 5. Inhuman treatment such as to endanger the life of wife. The husband may obtain a divorce for like causes. When a divorce is decreed, the court may make such order in relation to the children and property of the parties, and the maintenance of the wife, as shall be right and proper, and the parties forfeit all rights acquired by the marriage. They are not granted on the testimony of the plaintiff alone, and all such actions must be heard in open court.

Dower. Dower in Iowa is abolished, but the surviving spouse is entitled to one-third in value of all the legal and equitable estates in real property possessed by the deceased spouse at any time during the marriage, which have not been sold on execution or any other judicial sale, and to which such survivor has made no relinquishment of right.

Executions may issue immediately upon the rendition of judgment, and are returnable in seventy days from the date of issue. On the judgment debtor entering good and sufficient security by bond on the proper court records for the amount of such judgment, interest, and costs—accrued and to accrue—he can have a stay of execution as follows: Under $100, three months; above that sum, six months. Such bond shall be filed and recorded and have the effect of a judgment. Stay must be taken within ten days from the date of entry of judgment, and the party taking such stay, if personally served with process, shall not afterward be allowed to appeal. If the judgment is not fully paid at the expiration of the stay, judgment is entered against the surety, and execution may be issued forthwith. After stay, judgment draws 8 per cent interest by operation of law. There can be no stay for wages due mechanic or laboring man, nor by a surety on stay bond. Defendant may redeem real property sold under execution at any time within twelve months, meantime remaining in possession of the property, but where he has taken an appeal or stay of execution he can not redeem. During the first six months he has exclusive right of redemption, but after that time, and before the expiration of nine months, any creditor having a lien can redeem.

Exemptions. Homestead of 40 acres in country and half an acre in city or town, with buildings, without regard to value. Pension money, or homestead procured by pension money, exempt from attachment or execution, whether the pensioner is the head of a family or not, and this applies to debts contracted prior to the purchase of the homestead. Pension money, whether in possession, deposited, loaned, or invested. Personal property exempt includes tools, instruments, library, necessary team, etc., of mechanic, farmer, teacher, or professional man; wearing apparel, household and kitchen furniture, $200; certain farm animals and necessary feed for six months. Foregoing relates only to residents, being heads of families; unmarried persons and non-residents being only entitled to retain their own clothing and trunks, save and except pensioners. Where debtor is a printer, the printing press and types, furniture and material up to $1,200, are exempt. Earnings of debtor within 90 days of levy are exempt. Poultry exempt to head of a family, and to any woman whether the head of a family or not. One sewing machine exempt to seamstress. No exemptions waived by failure to except to levy of execution or to designate or select exempt property, unless he fails or neglects to do so when required in writing by the officer about to levy thereon.

Fraud. In actions for fraud, the cause of action shall not be deemed to have accrued until the fraud complained of shall have been discovered by the party aggrieved. In actions brought by a judgment creditor to set aside a fraudulent conveyance of property from one spouse to the other and to subject said property to execution, either husband or wife may be compelled to testify against the other. Gross fraud is punishable by fine or imprisonment.

Garnishment. (See Attachments.)

Holidays. The holidays established by State law relating to bank paper, are set out under sub-title "days of grace," to which refer. The same days, except the first Monday in September, public fast days, or any other public holiday, are legal holidays upon which no person can be held to answer or appear in any court, or take depositions on notice.

Husband and Wife. (See Married Women.)

Interest. Legal rate, 8 per cent. Judgments draw 6 per cent, or such rate as is fixed by the contract on which the judgment or decree is rendered, not exceeding 8 per cent per annum. Open accounts draw 6 per cent after six months from date of last item; money loaned, money due, money due on settlement of accounts, bear interest at 6 per cent per annum. Contract for more than 8 per cent forfeits all interest and costs.

Judgments in the district and superior courts may be obtained at first term after suit commenced, if undefended, an equitable action, except one for foreclosure of mortgage, or mechanic's lien, or for divorce, is triable at the second term after the case is at issue. Judgments of the district court are liens on real estate owned by the debtor at the time of rendition. If the lands lie in any other county, from the time of filing therein an attested copy of the judgment. Lien also covers all lands which defendant may acquire within ten years from date of judgment. Judgments of superior courts and justice of peace courts become liens on real estate by filing transcript in district court within county where obtained, and become liens in other counties in the same manner as if rendered in the district court.

Limitations. Actions for injuries to person caused by defective roads, bridges, sidewalks, or streets, must be brought within three months, unless written notice to the municipal corporation has been given within sixty days from the injury; to enforce payment of a penalty or forfeiture under an ordinance, within one year; for injuries to person or reputation, including injuries to relative rights, whether based on contract or tort, or to recover a statutory penalty or enforce mechanic's lien, two years. Against a public officer for official negligence, or malfeasance, including money collected on execution and not paid over, three years. On unwritten contracts, open accounts, fraud solely cognizable in equity, and to set aside a will, five years. On written contracts, and to recover real estate, ten years. On judgments in courts of record, twenty years. Time of defendant's absence from this State is deducted in computing the time of limitation. Minors and insane persons have one year after the termination of disability to commence actions. Written admission of debt, or written promise to pay, revives the debt.

Married Women may own in their own right real and personal property acquired by descent, gift, or purchase, and may manage, sell, convey, and devise the same by will in the same manner as the husband can property belonging to him. Neither husband nor wife is liable for the debts or liabilities of the other incurred before or after marriage, nor are the wages, earnings, or property of either, nor the rent or income of such property, liable for the separate debts of the other. Contracts may be made by a wife and liabilities incurred, and the same enforced by or against her, to the same extent and in the same manner as if she were unmarried. Neither spouse has any interest in property owned by the other which can be the subject of contract between them, nor such interest as will make such property liable for contracts or liabilities of the one not the owner of the property. But both are liable for the expenses of the family, and the education of the children, whether contracted for by one or the other. They may be sued jointly or separately therefor. The period of minority extends, in males, to the age of twenty-one years, and in females to that of eighteen years, but all minors attain their majority by marriage, so far as civil contracts are concerned. By consent of parent or guardian marriage between a male of sixteen years and a female of fourteen years is valid.

Mortgages must be subscribed by the parties, acknowledged and recorded same as deeds; are foreclosed by equitable action. The wife should join in the conveyance, except mortgages for purchase money. The mortgagor has one year in which to redeem after execution sale. When a mortgage is paid off, satisfaction thereof must be made on margin of the record, or by satisfaction piece, acknowledged and recorded. If no satisfaction is entered within thirty days after request in writing, the mortgagee forfeits $25. (See Chattel Mortgages.)

Notes and Bills of Exchange. Grace is allowed upon all negotiable bills or notes payable within the State according to the law merchant, except those drawn payable on demand, and notice of non-acceptance, or non-payment, or both, is required according to the rules of commercial law. (See Days of Grace.) Damages allowed on protested paper: 3 to 5 per cent. To hold indorser note must be duly presented, payment refused, protested, and indorser notified. Defenses to non-negotiable paper and accounts accrued after notice in writing of assignment to maker invalid as against assignee. All rights of action are assignable.

Powers of Attorney. A power of attorney to convey, or in any manner affect real estate, must be acknowledged and recorded. A revocation of such power must be acknowledged and recorded in the same office wherein the original power of attorney is recorded.

Probate Law. (See Administration of Estates.)

Protest. (See Notes and Bills of Exchange.) In case of a refusal by the maker, drawer, or acceptor of any promissory note, bill of exchange, or other commercial paper, the notary making the demand may inform the party to be charged, if in the same town, or township, by notice deposited in the nearest post office, on the day of demand, and no other notice is necessary.

Replevin. In actions for the recovery of personal property, the petition must be verified; and if plaintiff desires immediate delivery of the property, he shall execute a bond for double the value of the property sought to be recovered. The defendant may stay all proceedings and retain the property by executing a bond to the plaintiff, with sureties to be approved by the clerk.

Suits. (See Actions.)

Taxes. Property is listed at its actual value which means its value in the market in the ordinary course of trade. Twenty-five per cent of this actual value is the assessed and taxable value, but the assessed valuation of any taxing district can not exceed the average maximum valuation possible for assessment for the years 1896 and 1897. State and county taxes become due and payable on first Monday of January, and one-half thereof may be paid before the first day of March succeeding the levy, and the remaining one-half before the first day of September following; provided, where the half has not been paid before the first day of April succeeding the levy, the whole tax shall become delinquent from the first day of March following the levy. If the second installment be not paid before the first day of October succeeding the levy, it shall be delinquent. All delinquent taxes draw interest at the rate of 1 per cent per month until paid. Personal property is liable to distress and sale for all taxes, and the tax list is the warrant therefor. Taxes on stocks of goods or merchandise are and continue a lien thereon when sold in bulk and may be collected from the owner, purchaser or vendee. Taxes on personal and real property are made a perpetual lien on real property. Lands are sold on the first Monday in December after taxes become delinquent. Three years are allowed in which to redeem by payment of amount for which lands were sold, with 8 per cent penalty, and 8 per cent per annum interest upon the whole amount. Before a valid tax deed can be executed the owner of the tax sale certificate must after two years and nine months from the tax sale, give to the person to whom the said land is assessed, and the person in actual possession written notice that deed will be taken ninety days hence. Where land is assessed unknown and is unoccupied, no notice is necessary. A non-resident may file with the treasurer of the county a written appointment as his agent of some resident of the county where the land is situated, upon whom personal service must be made. Taxes become a lien as between vendor and vendee December 31st of each year. City taxes are levied by the city council and collected by the county treasurer, the maximum levies being fixed by law. In a few cities under special charters, the assessment levy, collection and tax sales are made in accordance with their charters.

Transfer of Corporation Stocks. SEC. 1078. The transfer of shares is not valid, except as between the parties thereto, until it is regularly entered on the books of the company, so as to show the name of the person by, and to whom transferred, the numbers or other designation of the shares, and the date of the transfer; but such transfer shall not in any way exempt the person making it from any liability of said corporation created prior thereto. The books of the company must be so kept as to show the original stockholders, their interests, the amount paid on their shares, and all transfers thereof; and such books, or a correct copy thereof, so far as the items in this section are concerned, shall be subject to the inspection of any person desiring the same. (See Collateral Securities.)

Trust Deeds. They must be executed and foreclosed, and considered as mortgages. That is, the power of sale is abolished on notice, and they must be foreclosed by equitable action.

Wills. Any person of full age and sound mind may dispose of his property by will, subject to the rights of homestead and exemption created by law and the distributive share in his estate given by law to the surviving spouse, except is sufficient to pay his debts, and expenses of administration. Wills, to be valid, must be written, witnessed by two competent witnesses, signed by the testator, or by some person in his presence and by his express direction. Subscribing witnesses can derive no benefit from a will, unless there be two competent witnesses without them. Wills executed outside of Iowa, in accordance with the laws of the State where executed or of the testator's domicile, if in writing and subscribed by the testator are valid in Iowa. If probated in any other State or country they shall be admitted to probate in this State on the production of a copy of such will, and of the original record of probate thereof, authenticated by the attestation of the clerk of the court in which such probation was made or of the probate judge, under seal, if they have one. All wills must be probated before they can be effectual.

SYNOPSIS OF THE LAWS OF KANSAS

RELATING TO

BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES.

Prepared and Revised by J. G. SLONECKER, Esq., Attorney at Law, Topeka. (See Card in Attorneys' List.)

Acknowledgments. (See Deeds.)

Actions. Civil actions are begun in the courts by filing a petition and præcipe in the office of the clerk, and causing summons to issue thereon. Security for costs must be given by the plaintiff in each case. Non-resident plaintiffs may deposit a sum of money satisfactory to the clerk, and residents can deposit $15 in lieu of bond for costs. Actions concerning real estate must be brought in the county in which the land or a part of it is situated; other actions must be brought in the county in which the defendants or some one of them reside or may be summoned, except actions against foreign corporations and non-residents, and in the latter case the action may be brought in any county where the defendant has property or debts owing to him. Actions against domestic corporations may be brought in the county in which the corporation is situated or has its principal place of business, or in which any of the principal officers reside or may be summoned. If the corporation is an insurance company, the action may be brought in the county where the cause of action or some part thereof arose, and as to foreign insurance companies the summons may be served upon the State superintendent of insurance. Actions for divorce may be brought in the county of which the plaintiff is an actual resident.

Administration of Estates. Probate courts in each county have jurisdiction of estates. Executors or administrators must give bond in double the amount of the value of the estate, but in the cases of executors where the will provides that no bond shall be required the court shall not require any. Letters of administration shall be granted to the widow or next of kin, unless they voluntarily renounce the same. An inventory of the estate must be filed within sixty days with the probate court and the personal property shall be appraised by three persons appointed by the court. Personal property liable to the payment of debts shall be sold within three months; at least two weeks' notice being required in some newspaper of general circulation in the county. Demands against the estate are divided into the following classes: 1. Funeral expenses. 2. Expenses of the last sickness; wages of servants; demands for medicines and medical attendance during the last sickness and expense of administration. 3. Debts due the State. 4. Judgments rendered against the deceased in his lifetime; but if such judgments are liens upon real estate and the estate be insolvent, such judgments shall be paid without reference to classification, except the first two which have precedence. 5. All demands without regard to quality which shall be legally exhibited against the estate in one year after granting letters of administration. 6. All demands thus exhibited after the end of one year and within two years. 7. All demands thus exhibited after the expiration of two years and within three years. Demands not exhibited within three years are barred, except as to infants, persons of unsound mind or persons imprisoned or absent from the United States, who shall have three years after the removal of their disabilities. If the personal property is insufficient to pay the debts, the executor or administrator shall apply to the probate court for authority to sell the real estate. Notice of this application must be given in such manner and for such length of time as the court designates. The real estate must be appraised and four weeks' notice given in some newspaper of general circulation, and can not sell for less than two-thirds of the appraised value, and the executor or administrator can not become either directly or indirectly the purchaser at the sale. The court may order the real estate sold at private sale, in which case it shall not be sold for less than three-fourths of the appraised value. Foreign executors, and administrators with the will annexed, may sell real estate in this State in accordance with the power contained in the will, unless administration upon the estate has been granted in this State; provided that at the time of such conveyance a copy of such will has been recorded in the office of the probate court in the county in which the land is situated.

Affidavits. Affidavits may be made in or out of the State by the same authority and with like authentication, as depositions.

Aliens, if non-residents, can not acquire title to real estate; but heirs of aliens who have heretofore acquired land may take such land by devise or descent, and hold the same for three years if of age, and for five years if minors, when it reverts to the State if not previously sold in good faith. Minor aliens residing in the United States may acquire title by purchase and retain it for six years after they might, under the naturalization laws, have declared their intentions to become citizens, when it shall revert to the State if such aliens have not become citizens. Resident aliens who have declared under the naturalization laws their intentions to become citizens may, during six years thereafter, exercise all the property rights of citizens, when the land owned by them shall escheat to the State, if such aliens have not become citizens. No corporations in which more than 20 per cent of stock is owned by aliens shall acquire or hold real estate.

Appeals. Appeals are taken from the judgment of a justice of the peace to the district court by filing a bond of not less than $50 and not less than double the amount of the judgment appealed from. Civil cases are taken from the district court to the supreme court or the court of appeals by petition in error filed in the court to which the same is taken, upon which a summons in error is issued. Where the amount involved does not exceed $100, no appeal from the district court can be taken. The courts of appeals have jurisdiction of appeals where the amount involved does not exceed $2,000, exclusive of interest and costs. The supreme court has exclusive jurisdiction in appeals when the amount exceeds that.

Arbitrations. Persons having controversies may submit them to the arbitration of any person or persons mutually agreed upon and may make such submission a rule of any court of record in the State. The parties may enter into arbitration bonds conditioned for the faithful performance of the award.

Assignments and Insolvency. Assignments must be for the benefit of all creditors and only discharge the debtor to the amount of payments made. The assignment must be executed, acknowledged, and recorded like conveyances of real property; and within thirty days thereafter a verified inventory of the property and effects assigned must be filed in the office of the clerk of the district court of the county in which the assignor resides. A schedule of liabilities and with the name of the creditors, the amount and character of their debts, and their address so far as the same shall be known to the assignor, verified by his affidavit, shall be filed on the date of the execution of the assignment in the office of such clerk. The clerk, within two days thereafter, shall mail to each creditor, whose demand exceeds $10, a notice of such assignment, name of the assignor, date of assignment, name of assignee, and names of all creditors and amounts as stated in such schedule; and shall name a day, not less than twenty nor more than thirty days from the date of assignment, on which creditors shall convene at his office and choose an assignee. Until such choice is made the assignee named in the assignment remains in possession and control. If a majority in interest of the creditors whose debts exceed $10 are present at the meeting, an assignee may be chosen by those representing the greater part in value and number. If the creditors fail to elect an assignee the judge of the district court appoints. The assignee shall appoint a day within six months after the date of the assignment, when he will proceed publicly to adjust and allow demands against the estate; and he shall give notice of such time and place by advertisement, published in some newspaper printed in the county, for three months, the last insertion to be at least four weeks before the appointed day, and shall also give notice by letter addressed to the creditors whose address is known. The assignee shall require evidence of the justice of such demands, and appeals may be taken from the decision of the assignee. No preferences are allowed.

Attachment. At or after the commencement of an action an attachment may be had by plaintiff. The affidavit of the plaintiff, his agent, or attorney must be filed, stating the nature of the claim, that it is just, the amount affiant believes ought to be recovered, and the existence of some one or more of the following grounds: 1. That defendant is a foreign corporation or a non-resident of the State (but in this case for no other claim than a demand arising upon contract, judgment, or decree, unless the cause of action arose wholly within the limits of the State). 2. That the defendant absconded with the intention to defraud his creditors. 3. That the defendant has left the county of his residence to avoid a service of summons. 4. That he so concealed himself that summons can not be served upon him. 5. That he is about to remove his property or a part thereof out of the jurisdiction of the court with the intent to defraud his creditors. 6. That he is about to convert his property or a part thereof into money for the purpose of placing it beyond the reach of his creditors. 7. He has property or rights in action which he conceals. 8. Has assigned, removed, or disposed of, or is about to dispose of his property, or a part thereof, with the intent to defraud, hinder, or delay his creditors. 9. Or fraudulently contracted or incurred the debt on which the suit is brought. 10. Or that the suit is brought for damages from the commission of some felony or misdemeanor. 11. Or that the debtor has failed to pay for any article or thing delivered for which by contract he was bound to pay upon delivery. On 5th, 6th, and 8th an action may be brought and attachment had before the debt is due, but an order of the judge is necessary before the attachment issues. Attachment orders may issue to different counties and bond must be given to be approved by the clerk, except where the defendants are non-residents or foreign corporations. (See Garnishment.)

Banks and Banking. There is no constitutional provision relating to banks, except banks of issue. Other banks are organized under a general act. The charter, in addition to the requirements of the law relating to corporations, shall contain the names and places of residence of the stockholders and the amount of stock subscribed by each, and may contain such other provisions, not inconsistent with law, as the stockholders may deem proper, and shall be subscribed by at least five of the stockholders of the proposed bank who are residents of the State of Kansas. Board of directors shall be not less than five, nor more than thirteen, a majority of whom shall be residents of Kansas. The word "State" shall be included in the title. The full amount of the capital stock must be subscribed before the charter is filed. The bank shall transact no business, except the election of officers, the taking and approving of their official bonds, and the receipts of payments on account of subscriptions to its capital stock, until it has been authorized by the Bank Commissioner to commence business. The capital stock must be paid, in full, in cash and shall not be less than $5,000. No bank shall employ its money directly or indirectly in trade or commerce by buying and selling goods, chattels, wares, and merchandise, and shall not invest in the stock of any bank or corporation, nor make any loans on the security of the shares of its own capital, nor be the purchaser or holder of any such shares, except to prevent loss upon a debt previously contracted in good faith. All such property coming into the possession of the bank in the collection of debts shall not be considered assets after the expiration of six months. Banks must have on hand in available funds the following sums: In cities having less than 5,000 population, 20 per cent of their deposits; in cities having over 5,000 population, 25 per cent, one-half of which may consist of balances due from good solvent banks located at commercial centers and at such other points as the Bank Commissioner may approve. The other half shall consist of actual cash. Officers are personally liable for paying overdrafts. Not more than 15 per cent of the capital stock and surplus can be loaned to any one person, company, or corporation. Penalties are provided for false statements and for receiving deposits when the bank is in a failing condition. Private banks are subject to the provisions of the law. The Bank Commissioner, or deputy, must make examination of each bank at least once a year. Four reports per annum are required, and the commissioner may call for others. Banks may purchase, hold, and convey real estate under certain conditions to the extent of 50 per cent of their paid-up capital. Shareholders are liable for a sum equal to the par value of stock owned and no more.

Bills of Exchange. (See Notes and Bills.)

Bills of Lading. These are governed by the common law.

Chattel Mortgages. Every chattel mortgage or conveyance intended to operate as such, which shall not be accompanied by an immediate delivery and followed by an actual and continued change of possession of the thing mortgaged, shall be absolutely void as against the creditors of the mortgagor and subsequent purchasers and mortgagees in good faith, unless the mortgage or a true copy thereof shall be filed in the office of the register of deeds in the county where the property is at the time, or the mortgagor shall at the time be a resident. And every such mortgage shall be void as against the creditors of the mortgagors or subsequent purchasers or mortgagees in good faith after the expiration of one year after same was filed, unless within thirty days next preceding the expiration of said year, and each year thereafter the mortgagee, his agent, or attorney, shall make an affidavit exhibiting the interest of the mortgagee in the property at that time, and the amount yet due thereon. But such affidavit may be filed any time if no purchase or lien in good faith has intervened, or the mortgagee after the year and without affidavit may secure himself by taking possession. Such affidavit shall be attached to and filed with the original mortgage. There is no stipulated time in which mortgage is to be foreclosed. A mortgagee of chattels, after condition broken, may sell on ten days' notice by posted hand-bills. Or, if the mortgage so provides, he may sell at private sale; or if the mortgagee has taken possession (as authorized to do at any time), the mortgagor or a subsequent mortgagee may demand sale on notice as above.

Collaterals. Governed by the common law on Bailments and Pledge.

Conditional Sales. Conditional contracts, by which the ownership remains in the party proposing to sell until the purchase price is paid, are treated as chattel mortgages and must be filed in the office of the register of deeds in the same manner as such chattel mortgages.

Contracts. All contracts which, by the common law, are joint only, shall be construed to be joint and several. The use of private seals in written contracts (except seals of corporations) is abolished.

Conveyances. (See Deeds.)

Corporations. Corporations are formed under a general statute, but there are separate provisions regulating the different kinds of corporations and to some extent the requirements of their organization. Prospective corporations must apply to the Charter Board, composed of the Attorney General, the Secretary of State, and the State Bank Commissioner, for a charter. A $25 application fee must accompany an application. When charter is granted a charter fee is paid proportional to varying amounts of authorized capital stock ranging from one-tenth of one per cent of its authorized capital stock upon the first $100,000 to $100 upon $1,000,000, and fees for filing, recording, etc. Any increase of capital stock pays a fee of one-tenth of one per cent of the amount of such increase and the same fees for filing, recording, etc., as before provided. The application for a charter must state: 1. The name desired for such corporation. 2. The place where its principal office or place of business is to be located. 3. The length of time for which such corporation is to exist. 4. The full nature and character of the business in which it proposes to engage. 5. The names and addresses of the proposed incorporators. 6. The proposed amount of capital stock. The charter when issued must state: 1. The name of the corporation. 2. The purposes for which it is formed. 3. The place or places where its business is to be transacted. 4. The term for which it is to exist. 5. The number of its directors or trustees and the names and residences of those who are appointed for the first year. 6. The amount of its capital stock, if any, and the number of shares into which it is divided. 7. The names and addresses of the stockholders and the number of shares held by each. The persons signing the charter must acknowledge the execution of the same in the same manner as the execution of a deed is acknowledged, and the same is then filed with the Secretary of State, and the organization of the corporation dates from the date of filing. Every corporation must commence active operations within one year after filing its charter with the Secretary of State; failure to do so works its dissolution. No corporation can commence business until it file with the Secretary of State an affidavit made by its president and secretary setting forth that not less than 20 per cent of its capital stock has been paid in actual cash. The name adopted must indicate the nature of the business. The corporate name must begin with the word "the" and end with the word "corporation," "company," "association," or "society," but this does not apply to banks, benevolent or religious societies. There must be at least five directors, three of whom must be residents of the State. There is no requirement of the number of shares a person must hold to qualify him as a director. The treasurer is required to have an office in the State. The annual meeting of the stockholders for the election of directors must be held within the State, but the directors may hold meetings at such places as they desire. The annual statement shall be made by the president and secretary or the managing officer of each corporation for profit doing business in Kansas, excepting banking, insurance, and railroad corporations, on or before the first day of August of each year, showing a complete detailed statement of the condition of such corporation, on the thirtieth day of June. The statement shall set forth and exhibit: 1. The authorized capital stock. 2. The paid-up capital stock. 3. The par value and the market value per share of said stock. 4. A complete and detailed statement of the assets and liabilities of the corporation. 5. A complete and detailed statement of the receipts and expenditures of the corporation for the year next preceding. 6. A full and complete list of the stockholders, with the post-office addresses of each and the number of shares held and paid for by each. 7. The names and post-office addresses of the officers, trustees or directors, and manager elected for the ensuing year, together with a certificate of the time and manner in which such election was held; also to file with the Secretary of State as soon as any transfer, sale, or change of ownership of any of the corporation stock is made as shown upon the books of the company, giving the name and shares of the new stockholder or stockholders, the number of shares so transferred, and the par value and the amount paid on such stock. No action can be maintained or recovery had in any of the courts of the State by any corporation doing business in the State without first obtaining the certificate of the Secretary of State that the statements provided for in this section have been properly made. The capital stock can be increased to an amount not exceeding three times the original amount fixed in the charter. Preferred stock can be issued if all the holders of common stock consent. Dividends can not be declared from any source other than that which results from profits. The corporation can borrow money not to exceed the amount of its capital stock. Stockholders are liable for debts of the corporation to the extent of any amount unpaid on their original subscription and an additional amount equal to the par value of their stock. This applies to all corporations except railroads, religious and benevolent societies. Suits may be brought by and against corporations the same as individuals with the exception noted above. There are laws regulating banks, insurance companies, railroads, and other such corporations, and also regulating more in detail the manner in which corporations organized under the laws of other States may do business within this State.

Courts. Terms and Jurisdiction. District courts, holding two to three terms a year in every county, have general original jurisdiction in law and equity. Regular terms of the probate court are held in each county on the first Monday in January, April, July, and October, and special or adjourned terms may be held as business may require. Justice's jurisdiction in civil actions for the recovery of money, $300; to recover specific personal property, $100. There are courts of appeals and the supreme court, which latter is the court of last resort. (See Appeals.)

Days of Grace. (See Notes, etc.)

Deeds. No particular forms of conveyances are prescribed, but the following are provided for: A conveyance in substance; A B conveys and warrants to C D (here describe premises) for the sum of (here insert the consideration), being dated, signed, and acknowledged by the grantor, is declared by statute to be a conveyance in fee simple, with covenants from the grantor for himself, his heirs and personal representatives, that he is lawfully seized of the premises, has full right to convey the same, and guarantees the quiet possession thereof, that the same are free from all incumbrances, and he will warrant and defend the same against all lawful claims. A conveyance in substance: A B quit-claims to C D (here describe premises) for the sum of (here insert the consideration), being duly signed and acknowledged by the grantor, is a good and sufficient conveyance in quit-claim. The same rule holds in regard to mortgages. As between the parties conveyances are valid without being recorded. The wife should join with her husband in the conveyance, and any conveyance or mortgage of the homestead without her uniting in the same is absolutely void. If the wife has never resided in the State her signature is not necessary. Powers of attorney to convey land must be acknowledged and recorded the same as deeds. Grantors need not attach any seal or scroll to their signatures, and no witnesses are necessary unless grantors are unable to write. Corporations convey by deed, sealed with the corporate seal and signed by president, vice-president, presiding member, or trustee. The acknowledgment must be before a judge or clerk of the district court having a seal, a justice of the peace, notary public, county clerk, register of deeds, mayor or clerk of an incorporated city. Every notary public shall add to his official signature the date of the expiration of his commission as notary public. In cases where the acknowledgment is made out of the State it must be made before a court of record, a clerk, or other officer having the seal thereof, a commissioner of deeds for Kansas, justice of the peace or notary public, or before any consul of the United States resident in any foreign country or port. When the acknowledgment is made before a justice of the peace, a clerk of a court of record must certify to his official position. All instruments of writing for conveyances or incumbrances of real estate in this State executed and acknowledged or approved in any other State, Territory, or country in conformity with the laws of such State, Territory, or country, or in conformity with the laws of this State, are as valid as if executed within this State. If the deed is executed by a corporation, the president or other person executing the same should acknowledge it, and the officer should certify that he was personally known to be the president of such corporation, and that he acknowledged the execution of the instrument for and on behalf of the corporation for the purposes therein expressed. Deeds and mortgages must be recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the county in which the land is situated, or they will be void as to subsequent grantees in good faith without notice.

Deeds of Trust in the nature of mortgages are not used so far as sale by the trustee is concerned. (See Trusts, etc.)

Depositions. Depositions are taken upon notice to the opposite party. The notice must be served so as to allow the adverse party sufficient time to attend, and one day for preparation, exclusive of Sunday and the day of service. Courts are also authorized to appoint commissioners to take depositions. The deposition may be taken by stating the facts in narrative form, or in reply to questions. The depositions may be taken before any person authorized to take acknowledgments, such officer not to be attorney or relative of either party, nor otherwise interested in the event of the suit. If there are adjournments, they shall be noted by the officer, and legal reasons therefor given. Objections should be entered to witnesses supposed to be interested, and to questions supposed to be illegal. This entry is made on behalf of the party raising the objection, simply by a short note made by the magistrate or officer taking the depositions. Each witness must sign his own deposition. The notice must be attached to the depositions and inclosed with them. The depositions should be commenced on the day named, and some portion of a deposition taken on each successive day, Sundays and national holidays not being regarded. When depositions are taken under an agreement, the above instructions will be followed, except where they are modified by the agreement. It should be attached to the depositions, if sent, and referred to in the caption, as the notice is, when taken under a notice. If taken by interrogatories and cross-interrogatories, under agreement or otherwise, each interrogatory and cross-interrogatory must be put to each witness and answered so far as he can answer it, and the answer written down. The deposition must show that each interrogatory and cross-interrogatory was thus put and answered. If the depositions are taken before the mayor, notary public, or commissioner appointed as aforesaid, they must be certified under his official seal. If before any of the other officers above named, a certificate must be annexed, under the seal of the court of the county, or the great seal of the State, that the officer by whom the depositions were taken was, at the time of taking the same, such officer as he represents himself to be in his certificate. This should be attached to the magistrate's certificate. This proof of official character is omitted when waived by agreement of parties at the foot of notice. The whole should be sealed up by the magistrate, the title of the suit indorsed on the outside, the name and official character of the officer taking the same, and "depositions on behalf" (the party taking the same) and addressed to the "clerk of the ..... at ..... Kansas," or ".....," justice of the peace, at ....," as the case may be. The officer before whom the depositions are taken should indorse across the back of the envelope, "These depositions taken before, sealed up, and addressed by me," and sign his name officially thereto. (See Testimony.)

Descent and Distribution. The homestead is the absolute property of the widow and children—one-half in value to the widow, and the other half to the children, when both survive. The homestead can not be divided or sold by an action for partition until all the children attain majority. One-half of all real estate owned by husband during coverture, and not conveyed by husband and wife, nor sold at judicial sale, and not necessary to pay debts goes to the wife in fee simple; except of land sold by husband whose wife never resided in the State. Remaining estate goes to the surviving children, and heirs of deceased children, children taking per stirpes, in equal shares, or, if none, to the widow. For want of wife or child the whole estate goes to the parents. The rules applicable to widow of deceased husband apply to husband of deceased wife. Illegitimate children inherit from the mother, and also from the father, if his recognition has been general and notorious, or in writing. When a child would inherit from either parent, such parent will inherit from the child. Personal property descends in the same way as real estate. (See Exemptions.)

Divorce. Divorces are only granted by district court for the following causes: Former marriage; one year's abandonment; adultery; impotency; pregnancy of wife by other than her husband; extreme cruelty; fraudulent contract; habitual drunkenness; gross neglect of duty; conviction of felony; and an action may be commenced to declare the marriage void for want of capacity of understanding of the parties. The plaintiff must have resided in the State one year, and sue in the county of residence. In case of service by publication, a certified copy of petition and notice, within three days after first publication, must be mailed to the defendant, and such service must be proved by affidavit, or the plaintiff must make affidavit that the residence of the defendant is unknown. Each party may testify. The wife's name may be changed and the custody of children awarded to her. A decree of alimony has the same effect, and may be enforced as any other money judgment. Divorce is no bar to future marriage. Proceedings to reverse decree of divorce must be commenced within six months after its rendition, during which time it is bigamy for either party to marry. Alimony may be sued for without divorce.

Dower. Dower is abolished by law. (See Descent.)

Executions may be ordered as soon as judgment is obtained. It is the duty of the justice, without any order, to issue execution within ten days from rendition of judgment. Personal property levied on must be appraised, and advertised for ten days, and sold at auction to the highest bidder. There is no stay of execution in the district court, except where a case is taken to the supreme court on appeal, and then only upon the giving of proper bonds. In justice's courts, by filing bond, stays of execution are granted as follows: On any judgment for $20 and under, thirty days; over $20 and under $50, sixty days; over $50 and not exceeding $100, ninety days; over $100, one hundred and twenty days. The Legislature of 1893 enacted a law providing for the redemption of real estate sold on execution or order of sale, giving the debtor eighteen months in which to redeem. It provides that where there are several creditors, that after the sale the debtor shall have twelve months, and if he fails to redeem, then creditors may redeem from each other for three months. The debtor is entitled to possession of the property during the period provided for redemption, and no receiver can be appointed unless he commits waste. Any contract waiving a right of redemption is invalid. This law does not apply to contracts in existence at the time the law took effect.

Exemptions. Homestead of 160 acres of farming land, or of one acre within an incorporated town or city, with buildings thereon, unlimited in value. Every person residing in this State, and being the head of a family, shall have exempt from seizure upon attachment or execution, or other process: Family Bible, school books, and family library; family pictures and musical instruments used by the family; all wearing apparel of the family, all beds, bedsteads and bedding, one cooking stove and appendages, and all other cooking utensils, and all other stoves and appendages necessary for the use of the debtor and his family; one sewing machine, spinning wheel, and all other implements of industry, and all other household furniture not herein enumerated, not exceeding $500; two cows, ten hogs, one yoke of oxen and one horse or mule, or in lieu of one yoke of oxen and one horse or mule, a span of horses or mules, and twenty sheep and their wool; necessary food for the support of such stock for one year; one wagon, two plows, drag and other farming utensils, not exceeding $300; grain, meat, vegetables, groceries, etc., for the family for one year; the tools and implements of any mechanic, miner, or other person, kept for the purpose of carrying on his business, and in addition thereto stock-in-trade not exceeding $400 in value; library, implements, and office furniture of any professional man. Also personal earnings of the debtor earned during three months preceding the garnishment or attachment, and three months' pension money, where such earnings or pension money is necessary for the support of the debtor's family. A lien on the homestead may be created by husband and wife joining in the mortgage, also for material used in improvements thereon. Residents, not the head of a family, have tools, implements, and stock-in-trade up to $400 exempt from execution.

Fraud. (See Attachments, Arrest, and Assignments.)

Garnishment. At or after the time of beginning an action to recover damages founded upon contract, judgment or decree, or after the issuance of an execution and before it is returned, if the plaintiff cause to be filed with the clerk an affidavit stating the amount of his claim over and above all offsets, that he believes that some person, naming him, indebted to, or has property in his possession or under his control belonging to the defendant, and that such defendant has no property liable to execution sufficient to satisfy his debt, and that the indebtedness or property so held is not by law exempt from seizure or sale upon execution, the clerk shall issue a garnishment summons. The plaintiff is required to give a bond in a sum not exceeding double the amount of the claim to the effect that he will pay all damages sustained by reason of such garnishment if the order be wrongfully obtained. This bond is not required where the defendant is a non resident of the State or a foreign corporation. The defendant may, by giving bond, have the garnishee released. If the answer of the garnishee is not satisfactory, the plaintiff may contest the same. In the justice court, garnishment may be issued in the beginning of the action if the affidavit shows that the plaintiff is liable to lose his claim unless the garnishment is issued.

Holidays. State holidays are February 22d, Decoration day (May 30th), and Labor day (the first Monday in September), and the day designated as Thanksgiving. (See Notes and Bills of Exchange.) All National holidays, including Christmas and New Year's, are recognized.

Husband and Wife. (See Married Women.)

Interest. Legal rate, 6 per cent, but 10 per cent may be agreed upon. Excess of 10 per cent is forfeited, and in addition thereto there shall be deducted from the amount due for principal, with lawful interest, an amount equal to the interest contracted for in excess of 10 per cent. The legal interest originally contracted for continues until the debt is paid, and no additional interest can be charged by way of penalty for default. A purchaser of a negotiable note for value before maturity, without notice, takes the note free of the usurious taint.

Judgments. Judgments of courts of record are liens on the real estate of the debtor within the county from the first day of the term at which the judgment was rendered; but judgments by confession and judgments rendered at the same term during which the action was commenced are liens only from the day on which the judgment was rendered. Judgments lose their priority over subsequent judgments unless execution is issued and levied within one year after judgment. A certified copy of the judgment may be filed in the office of the clerk of the district court of any other county and the judgment will then be a lien on real estate in that county, but execution can only issue from the court in which the judgment is rendered. The lien continues for five years and may be revived within one year thereafter, but the issuance of an execution prevents the judgment becoming dormant until the expiration of five years from the date of issue. The judgments of justices become liens upon real estate of the debtor by filing a transcript in the district court. Judgments are taxable at the place where rendered without regard to the residence of the judgment creditor. (Act of 1897.)

Limitations of Suits. An action for the recovery of real property, sold on execution or by executors, administrators, or guardians, brought by the execution debtor, or the heirs, ward, or guardian, or any claiming under them after the date of the judgment or order of sale, must be within five years after the deed is recorded. To recover by holder of tax deed within two years, and against holder of tax deed within five years after recording of tax deed. Other actions for recovery of real property, within fifteen years after cause of action accrues. On official bonds and contracts in writing, five years. Contracts not in writing, three years. Trespass, detinue, replevin, injuries not arising on contract, and relief on the ground of fraud, two years. Action for libel, slander, malicious transaction, or false imprisonment upon a suit for penalty or forfeiture, except where the statute enclosing it describes a different limitation, one year. Action for any other relief not before provided for, five years. Any agreement for a different time for the commencement of actions from the time mentioned is void. The time during which any defendant has been absent from the State, or has absconded or concealed himself, is not to be computed as any part of the period of limitation. If the cause of action arose in another State between non-residents of this State, and by the laws of the State where the action arose the action is barred, it is barred in this State. Any case founded on contract, part payment, or a written acknowledgment or promise, renews the contract. The statute runs from the date of such renewal.

Married Women. The real and personal property owned by a woman at the time of her marriage, and any property which comes to her by descent, devise, or bequest, or gift of any person except her husband, remains her sole and separate property notwithstanding her marriage, and is not subject to the disposal of her husband or liable for his debts. Married women may sell and convey their real and personal property and enter into any contract with regard to the same in the same manner and to the same extent as a married man may in relation to his property. She may sue and be sued in the same manner as if she were single. She may carry on any trade or business, perform labor or services for her separate account, and her earnings or proceeds from labor, trade, or business remain her separate property, and may be used and invested by her in her own name.

Mortgages. A mortgage of real estate, to be valid as against subsequent bona fide purchasers, must be duly acknowledged and recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the county where the land is situated. Mortgages may be discharged on margin of record by mortgagee or attorney or assignee in presence of register, or by satisfaction entered on the instrument when copied on the margin by the register; or by an independent release duly acknowledged and recorded. Wife must join in all mortgages except those for purchase money. Mortgages are foreclosed by suit only. By an act of the Legislature which took effect May 18, 1893, real estate sold under foreclosure of mortgage is subject to eighteen months redemption. This act does not apply to mortgages executed prior to the date the act took effect. When a mortgage is assigned the assignment should be acknowledged and recorded. If the assignment was executed prior to March 15, 1899, it can be recorded whether acknowledged or not, and under the law must be recorded within four months from that date or payment to the recent owner of the mortgage will be a complete defense to an action thereon. (For Forms, see Deeds; see Executions.)

(For Mortgages on Chattels, see Chattel Mortgages; see Executions.)

Notes and Bills of Exchange. All bonds, notes, and bills of exchange, except bank checks and sight drafts, made negotiable, shall be entitled to three days of grace in the time of payment. All bonds, notes, and bills of exchange, foreign and inland, drawn for any sum or sums of money, certain, and made payable to any person or order, or to any person or bearer, shall be negotiable by indorsement thereon if payable to order, and by delivery if payable to bearer, so as to absolutely transfer and vest the property thereof in each and every indorsee or holder, successively; any such bond, note, or bill of exchange, drawn payable to any person or persons alone, and not drawn payable to any order, bearer, or assigns is not negotiable. No person residing or doing business within the limits of this State can be held liable for protest damages on any bond, note, or bill protested for non-acceptance or non-payment. Whenever the third day of grace falls upon a Sunday, or thanksgiving, or any State or national holiday, the next preceding day is the last day of grace. By act of 1893 a provision in note, bond, or mortgage making amount payable in gold is void.

Replevin. The plaintiff in an action to recover the possession of specific personal property may claim the immediate delivery of the same by filing affidavit and giving bond. Property replevined must be held by the officer taking it twenty-four hours, during which time the party from whom the property is taken may give bond to the plaintiff for not less than double the amount of the value thereof conditioned for the return of the same or its value in case it shall be adjudged the plaintiff is entitled thereto, and thereupon may have the property returned to him.

Suits. (See Actions.)

Taxes. Taxes upon personal property are based upon an assessment made each year. Real estate is assessed for taxation every two years; one-half the annual levy for taxes becomes due December 20, and if not paid the whole amount becomes due and there is a penalty of five per cent added. If the whole amount is paid there is a rebate of 5 per cent on the last half. If not paid by June 20 of the succeeding year, another 5 per cent penalty is added. If the first half of the taxes on personal property is not paid on or before December 20, a tax warrant is issued to the sheriff for its collection in January. When the tax upon real estate is delinquent, it is sold for taxes on the first Tuesday in September following. After sold it bears interest at the rate of 15 per cent per annum and the same rate upon subsequent taxes paid and indorsed on the tax certificate. The tax lien attaches to real estate on November 1, in the year in which the tax is levied. After land is sold for taxes, it may be redeemed within three years from date of sale. The interest of a minor may be redeemed at any time within one year after he attains his majority, and idiots and insane persons may redeem within five years after the sale. If land is not redeemed within three years after the sale, the county clerk may, upon the surrender of the certificate at any time within one year thereafter, execute a tax deed conveying the premises.

Testimony. No person is disqualified as a witness, in either civil or criminal cases, by reason of his being a party to, or interested in, the event of the action, or on account of any religious belief, or by reason of his conviction of a crime. No party will be allowed to testify in his own behalf in respect to any transaction or communication had personally by such party with a deceased person, when the adverse party is the executor, administrator, heir at law, next of kin, surviving partner, or assignee of such deceased person, when they have acquired title to the cause of action immediately from such deceased person; or of transactions when the other party thereto is deceased; or of transactions with a deceased partner or joint contractor in the absence of his surviving partner or joint contractor; in all cases, however, when the deceased's deposition has been taken, and is used on the trial, the adverse party may testify. The following persons are incompetent to testify: Persons of unsound mind; children under ten years of age, except in the discretion of the court; husband and wife for or against each other, except in cases of agency or joint interest, but in no case concerning communications made during marriage; nor an attorney, clergyman, or physician, with reference to confidential communications made to them, unless the party offers himself as a witness, in which case the communications to such attorney, clergyman, or physician on the same subject are admissible.

Transfer of Corporation Stocks. Stock is transferable only on the books of the corporation in such manner as the by-laws may prescribe. The stockholder can only vote on stock which has been standing in his name on the books of the company thirty days prior to the election. Shares can not be transferred until all previous assessments have been paid.

Trusts and Powers. All trusts concerning lands must be created in writing except such as arise by implication of law, and no trust, whether implied or created, can defeat the title of a purchaser for a valuable consideration without notice. All instruments creating trusts, duly executed and acknowledged, may be recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the county where the land is situated, and the record of such trust shall be deemed actual notice to all persons claiming under a conveyance made after the recording of the trust deed. A party paying money to a trustee in good faith is not responsible for the application of the money so paid. Nor can any fraudulent application of the money by the trustee affect the title of such a purchaser. No trust results to one paying the consideration for a conveyance to another except in favor of creditors or in case of fraud. A dry or passive trust passes the title directly to the beneficiary.

Warehouse Receipts. Warehouse receipts shall not be issued unless the property therein described has been bona fide received into store and shall be in store at the time of issuing the receipt. No person shall sell, encumber, ship, transfer, or in any manner remove beyond his immediate control any property for which a receipt has been given as aforesaid, without the written assent of the person holding such receipt. Receipts for grain issued by any warehouse are negotiable by indorsement in blank or by special endorsement in the same manner and to the same extent as bills of exchange and promissory notes. Violation of the provisions of the act is a felony.

Wills. Any person of full age and sound mind and memory, having an interest in real or personal property, may give and devise the same to any person by last will and testament lawfully executed, subject, nevertheless, to the rights of creditors. Wills must be in writing, signed at the end by the testator, or another in his presence and by his express direction, and subscribed in his presence by two or more competent witnesses who saw him subscribe or heard him acknowledge it. Compliance with these requirements should appear in the witnessing clause. A will executed, proved, and allowed in another State, according to the laws of that State, relative to property in this State, may be admitted to record in the probate court of the county in which such property is situated, by producing an authenticated copy. Every will, when admitted to probate, shall be filed in the office of the probate court, and recorded.

SYNOPSIS OF THE LAWS OF KENTUCKY

RELATING TO

BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES.

Prepared and Revised by ERNEST MACPHERSON, Esq., Attorney at Law, Louisville. (See Card in Attorneys' List.)

Acknowledgments. Deeds executed within the State must be acknowledged before the clerk of the county court or a notary public. Deeds other than those of married women may also be acknowledged before and proven by two witnesses. Deeds executed without the State and within the United States must be acknowledged before the clerk of a court or his deputy, notary public, mayor of a city, secretary of State, commissioner of deeds, or judge of a court. Deeds executed without the United States must be acknowledged before a foreign minister, consul, or secretary of legation of the United States, or the secretary of foreign affairs, or judge of a superior court of the nation where the deed shall be executed, attested in either case by the officer's seal of office. When the acknowledgment is taken by an officer of this State he shall simply certify that the deed was acknowledged before him, and when it was done. When the acknowledgment is taken by an officer residing out of this State it must be certified in effect as follows:

State of ..... } SCT.
County ..... }

I ..... do certify that this instrument of writing from ..... and ..... his wife, was this day produced to me by the parties, and acknowledged and delivered by ..... and ..... his wife, parties thereto, to be their act and deed, and the contents and effect of the instrument being explained to the said ..... by me, separately and apart from her husband, she thereupon declared that she did freely and voluntarily execute and deliver the same to be her act and deed, and consented that the same might be recorded.

Given under my hand and seal of office this ..... day of .....19....

Actions. Actions are commenced by filing in the clerk's office of the proper court a petition setting forth the cause of action and causing a summons or a warning order to be issued thereon. Non-residents and corporations, other than banks, created by laws of this State, are required to give security for costs.

Administration of Estates. Personal estates of deceased persons must be administered by the executors named in the will, or if these refuse to qualify, or none are named, then by an administrator appointed by the county court of the county in which the decedent resided at the time of his death. Administrators and executors, unless otherwise directed by the will, are required to give bond for the faithful performance of their duties. They are required to file an inventory of the estate within three months and to make settlement within two years from the date of qualification.

Affidavits. An affidavit may be read to verify a pleading, to prove the service of a summons, notice, or other process, in an action; to obtain a provisional remedy, an examination of a witness, a stay of proceedings or a warning order; or, upon a motion. An affidavit may be made: 1. In this State, before a judge of a court, or a justice of the peace, notary public, clerk of a court, or master-commissioner. 2. Out of this State, before a commissioner appointed by the governor of this State; or before any other person empowered by a commission directed to him by consent of the parties or by order of the court; or before a judge of a court, a justice of the peace, a mayor of a city, or notary public.

Appeals. Appeals may be taken from a justice's court to the quarterly court when the value in controversy, exclusive of interest and costs, exceeds $10; from the quarterly court to the circuit court when the value in controversy, exclusive of interest and costs, exceeds $25; from the county court to the circuit court when the value in controversy, exclusive of interest and costs, exceeds $50; from the circuit court to the court of appeals when the value in controversy, exclusive of interest and costs, amounts to $200 or more. No appeal lies to the court of appeals from any judgment of a quarterly, city, police, fiscal or justice's court, nor from any judgment of the county court except in actions for the division of land and allotment of dower.

Arbitration. All controversies which might be the subject of a suit may be submitted to the decision of one or more arbitrators, or two and their umpire. The submission may be in writing or by entry of record, and the agreement of submission shall be binding on the parties thereto, if it states the matter to be submitted and who are to be the arbitrators. Each arbitrator and the umpire, if one be chosen, shall take an oath to decide the matter in controversy fairly and impartially according to law, justice, and the equity of the whole case. The award must be in writing signed by each arbitrator and the umpire, if any, and shall be a final settlement of the controversy between the parties. A copy of the award must be given within a reasonable time and shall be binding upon both.

Arrest. An order for the arrest of the defendant shall be made by the court in which the action is brought or pending, at its commencement, or at any time before judgment, if an affidavit of the plaintiff be filed in his office showing: 1. The nature of plaintiff's claim. 2. That it is just. 3. The sum or value, which the affiant believes the plaintiff ought to recover. 4. That the affiant believes, either that the defendant is about to depart from this State and with intent to defraud his creditors has concealed, or moved from this State, his property, or so much thereof that the process of the court after judgment can not be executed; or that the defendant has money, or securities for money, or evidences of debt, in the possession of himself, or of others for his use, and is about to depart from this State without leaving property therein sufficient to satisfy plaintiff's claim.

Assignments and Insolvency. Subject to National Bankrupt Law. Every voluntary assignment made by a debtor to any person in trust for his creditors shall be for the benefit of all the creditors of the assignor, in proportion to their respective claims, after the payment of the expenses of the trust; except that property conveyed by the deed of assignment, and upon which there is a valid lien, shall be applied first to the discharge of the lien debt; and except that debts due by the assignor as guardian, committee, trustee of an express trust created by deed or will, or as personal representative, shall be paid in full before the general creditors receive anything. The intent of the assignee in making the deed of assignment shall not invalidate the deed, unless he be solvent, and it appear that the assignment was made to hinder or delay creditors. The deed vests in the assignee the title to all the estate, real and personal, belonging to the assignor at the time of making the assignment, except that property exempt by law shall not pass unless embraced in the deed. If the assignor, before making the deed, shall have made a preferential or fraudulent transfer, conveyance, or gift of any of his property, or fraudulent purchase of any property in the name of another, the property so fraudulently transferred, conveyed, or purchased shall vest in the assignee, and it shall be his duty to institute such proceedings as may be necessary to recover same. If, upon demand, he refuses to do so, any creditor may, and the property so recovered shall become a part of the estate, and be distributed as other assets. If creditors representing one-half in number and two-thirds of the amount of debts against the estate shall so request in writing, the court shall remove the assignee and appoint another in his stead.

Attachments. The plaintiff in an action to recover money may obtain an attachment against: 1. A defendant who is a foreign corporation or a non-resident of the State. 2. Who has been absent therefrom four months. 3. Who has departed therefrom with intent to defraud his creditors. 4. Who has left the county of his residence to avoid the service of a summons. 5. Who so conceals himself that a summons can not be served upon him. 6. Who is about to remove or has removed his property or a material part thereof out of this State, not leaving enough therein to satisfy the plaintiff's claim, or the claims of said defendant's creditors. 7. Who has sold, conveyed, or otherwise disposed of his property, or suffered or permitted it to be sold, with the fraudulent intent to cheat, hinder, or delay his creditors. 8. Who is about to sell, convey, or otherwise dispose of his property with such intent. (But an attachment shall not be granted on the ground that the defendant is a foreign corporation or a non-resident of this State, for any claim other than a debt or demand arising upon a contract, express or implied, or a judgment, or award.) Also in an action for the recovery of money due upon a contract, judgment, or award, if the defendant have no property in this State subject to execution, or not enough thereof to satisfy the plaintiff's demand, and the collection of the demand will be endangered by delay in obtaining judgment or a return of no property found. Also in an action to recover personal property which has been ordered to be delivered to plaintiff, and which property or part thereof, has been disposed of, concealed, or removed, so that the order for its delivery can not be executed by the sheriff. Affidavit and Bond. Before an attachment can be obtained an affidavit must be filed, showing: 1. The nature of plaintiff's claim. 2. That it is just. 3. The sum which affiant believes the plaintiff ought to recover. 4. The ground of attachment In an action upon a return of "nulla bona" no bond is required, but in all other cases bond must be given, with good surety, in double the amount of the claim.

Chattel Mortgages and Deeds of Trust. No deed of trust or mortgage, conveying a legal or equitable title to real or personal estate, shall be valid against a purchaser for a valuable consideration, without notice thereof or against creditors, until such deed shall be acknowledged or proved according to law, and lodged for record. It is a penal offense, punishable by fine and imprisonment, for any person to sell any personal property, on which there is a mortgage of record, with the intent to prevent the foreclosure of the mortgage and a sale of the property.

Contracts. A seal or scroll is in no case necessary to give effect to a deed or other writing. All unsealed writings stand upon the same footing with sealed writings, having the same force and effect, and the same actions may be founded upon them. The State or county seal, or the seal of a court, corporation, or notary to any writing has not, however, been dispensed with.

Conveyances. (See Acknowledgments.)

Corporations. By the constitution adopted September 28, 1891, the power to grant special charters to corporations is taken away from the legislature, which is required to enact general laws for the incorporation of companies. The constitution also repeals all existing charters under which business has not in good faith been commenced prior to September 28, 1891. The following is an outline of the provisions of an act which became a law April 5, 1893: Existing corporations are allowed to operate under their charters until September 28, 1897, when all provisions thereof inconsistent with the new act shall stand repealed, and thereafter the corporation shall be deemed to be organized under said act. Such corporations may also reorganize under the new act, or may amend their charters under it; but in the latter case it must first, by resolution of its board of directors, accept the provisions of the new constitution. All corporations are required to have a sign over their principal place of business, and on such sign and on all printed or advertising matters (except those of railroad, trust, and insurance companies, banks and building and loan associations) to cause to be painted or printed the word "Incorporated," under penalty of fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500. Any number of persons, not less than three, may become incorporated by signing and acknowledging articles of incorporation, specifying: 1. The name of the corporation. 2. Its principal place of business. 3. The nature of its business. 4. The amount of capital stock, if any, and number of shares. 5. Names, places of residence, and number of shares subscribed by each stockholder. 6. Date of commencement and of termination of corporate existence. 7. By what officers business is to be conducted, and time and place of election. 8. Highest amount of indebtedness or liability which corporation may incur. 9. Whether private property of stockholders, not subject by the provisions of the act to corporate debts, shall be liable therefor, and, if so, to what extent. Said articles shall be acknowledged and recorded like deeds in the county in which the principal place of business is situated, and a copy thereof filed and recorded in the office of the secretary of State. After such filing and recording, and the payment to the State of a license tax of one-tenth of 1 per cent on its capital stock, the corporation is deemed fully organized; but, before transacting any business other than with its own stockholders, at least 50 per cent of its stock must in good faith be subscribed, payable at such times as the board of directors may require. Stockholders are liable to creditors for their unpaid subscriptions, and to the extent of the par value of the stock in addition. From this double liability are excepted stockholders in the following classes of corporations, to wit: Charitable, benevolent, turnpike, bridge, railroad, telegraph, telephone, mining, waterway, water, gas, and salt companies. Corporation is forbidden to take a lien on or purchase its own stock, except to secure a past indebtedness, or to engage in any business other than that for which it was organized, or to hold real estate in excess of what is necessary for carrying on its business, for a longer time than five years, under penalty of escheat. Directors must not be less than three in number and each must own not less than three shares of stock. Elections must be by ballot and shall be held in this State. The first election must be held at a meeting held before the corporation commences business, and thereafter an election must be held annually on the day named in the by-laws, which must not be changed within sixty days of the election. Of any such change notice must be given to each stockholder twenty days before the election. Any corporation organized under this act may, by the consent in writing of a majority of its stockholders, unless otherwise provided in its charter, close its business. Notice of such closing must be published at least once a week for four consecutive weeks in some newspaper published in the county, and all debts must be paid in full before the officers receive anything. Corporations organized to carry on the business of banking, building and loan, trust, insurance, and railroading, are governed by special provisions of the act.

Courts. General civil and criminal jurisdiction is vested in circuit courts which hold terms in each county as provided by statute.

Days of Grace. There is no statute on this subject, and our courts hold that it is regulated by the custom of the place of payment. The custom generally prevailing in Kentucky is to allow three days of grace on all negotiable instruments.

Depositions. Proof may be taken by depositions in all equitable actions, and in ordinary or common law actions, where the witness resides twenty miles or more from the place where the court is held, or is absent from the State, and in many other cases enumerated in the statute where the witness is privileged. Depositions are taken either on notice to the opposite party or upon written interrogatories. The ordinary method of taking is upon notice, but where the place of taking is more than one day's travel by ordinary methods and more than one hundred miles from the place of sitting of the court, the party receiving notice may require the deposition to be taken upon interrogatories by giving notice to that effect to the adverse party or his attorney upon the same day, or the day following the one upon which the first notice was served. Except in divorce cases, depositions are required to be taken upon interrogatories, if all the parties against whom they are to be read have been constructively summoned and have not appeared, or be defendants, or under disability other than coverture or infancy and coverture combined. In several other cases enumerated in the civil code, the court may require depositions to be taken upon interrogatories, and they may always be so taken by consent of all parties. The officers authorized to take depositions in this State, to be used in its courts, are: An examiner appointed by the judge of the circuit court of his district, a judge or clerk of a court, a justice of peace, or a notary public. Depositions may be taken out of this State before a commissioner appointed by the governor of this State, or before a judge of a court, a justice of the peace, mayor of a city, notary public, or any other person empowered by a commission issued to him by consent of the parties or by order of the court. If the deposition is taken upon interrogatories neither party is allowed to be present, either in person or by agent or attorney. The officer's certificate must state when and where the deposition was taken; that the witness was duly sworn before giving it, and that it was written and subscribed by him in the officer's presence, or was written by the officer in the presence of the witness and read to and subscribed by the witness in the presence of the officer. The certificate must also state whether or not either of the parties, and, if either, which of them, was present in person or by agent or attorney during the examination of the witness. The officers may transmit the deposition in a sealed envelope addressed to the clerk of the court, with an endorsement showing the style of the action, and that the envelope contains depositions. This may be sent by mail or by private person, in which case the person must make oath that they have not been opened in transit.

Descent and Distribution of Property. The real estate of a person dying intestate shall descend in parcenary to his kindred, male and female, in the following order, viz: (1) To his children and their descendants; if none, then (2) to his father and mother equally if both be living; if either be dead, the whole estate descends to the one living; if both be dead, then (3) to his brothers and sisters and their descendants; if none, then (4) one moiety of the estate shall pass to the paternal and the other to the maternal kindred, in the following order: (5) to the grandfather and grandmother, or whichever may be living; if both are dead, then (6) to uncles and aunts and their decendants; if none, then (7) to great grandfather and great grandmother, and so on in other cases without end, passing to the nearest lineal ancestors and their descendants. (8) If there is no kindred to one of the parents, the whole shall go to the kindred of the other. If there is neither paternal nor maternal kindred, the whole shall go to the husband or wife of the intestate, or if he or she be dead, then to his or her kindred as if he or she had survived the intestate and died entitled to the estate. When any or all of a class first entitled to take are dead, leaving descendants such descendants shall take per stirpes, that is to say, by representation, the shares of their respective deceased parents. Collaterals of the half blood shall inherit only half so much as those of the whole blood. In making title by descent, it shall be no bar to a party that any ancestor, through whom he derives his descent from the intestate, is or has been an alien. Bastard can inherit in the descending line only from the mother and her kindred, and can transmit inheritance in the ascending line only to the mother and her kindred.

Divorce. A divorce may be granted for any of the following causes, to both husband and wife. 1. Such impotence or malformation as prevents sexual intercourse. 2. Living apart without any cohabitation for five consecutive years next before the application. Also, to the party not in fault, for the following causes: 1. Abandonment by one party of the other for one year. 2. Living in adultery with another man or woman. 3. Condemnation for felony in or out of this State. Concealment from the other party of any loathsome diseases existing at the time of marriage, or contracting such afterwards. 5. Force, duress, or fraud in obtaining the marriage. 6. Uniting with any religious society whose creed and rules require a renunciation of the marriage covenant, or forbid husband and wife from cohabiting. Also to the wife when not in like fault, for the following causes: 1. Confirmed habit of drunkenness on the part of the husband of not less than one year's duration, accompanied with a wasting of his estate, and without any suitable provision for the maintenance of his wife and children. 2. Habitually behaving toward her by the husband, for not less than six months, in such cruel and inhuman manner as to indicate a settled aversion to her, or to destroy permanently her peace and happiness. 3. Such cruel beating or injury, or attempt at injury, of the wife by the husband, as indicates an outrageous temper in him, or probable danger to her life, or great bodily injury, from her remaining with him. Also to the husband for the following causes: 1. Where the wife is pregnant by another man without the husband's knowledge at the time of marriage. 2. Adultery by the wife, or such lewd and lascivious behavior on her part as proves her to be unchaste, without actual proof of an act of adultery. 3. When not in like fault, for habitual drunkenness on the part of the wife of not less than one year's duration. A judgment of divorce authorizes either party to marry again. No petition for divorce shall be taken for confessed; the grounds alleged must be proved. Action for divorce must be brought in the county where the wife usually resides, if she has an actual residence in the State; if not, then in the county of the husband's residence. Before a party can obtain a divorce, he or she must have had an actual residence in this State for one year.

Dower. (See Husband and Wife.)

Executions. An execution may be issued upon a judgment at any time until the collection of it is barred by the statute of limitations, but no execution shall be issued on any judgment, unless ordered by the court, until after the expiration of ten days from the rendition thereof. An execution constitutes a lien on the property of the debtor from the time it reaches the hands of the proper officer. Except as hereinafter stated, any execution upon a judgment may be replevied for three months, at any time before a sale under the same, by the defendant giving to the officer an obligation (known as a replevin bond) payable to the plaintiff, with good surety for the amount thereof, including interest and costs. A judgment to enforce a lien can not be replevied. No replevy is allowed upon a judgment against any collecting officer, or attorney at law, or agent, for a delinquency or default in executing or fulfilling the duties of his office or place, or for failing to pay over money collected by him in such capacity, nor against a principal by his surety, nor upon a debt due by obligation having the force of a judgment, nor upon a judgment for specific property, or for the property or its value. Before a sale of land under an execution, the officer shall cause it to be appraised under oath by two disinterested, intelligent housekeepers of the county; and if the land so sold does not bring two-thirds of the valuation, the defendant and his representatives shall have the right to redeem the same within a year from the day of sale, by paying the purchaser or his representatives the original purchase money and ten per centum per annum interest thereon.

Exemptions. The following property is exempt from execution, attachment, distress or fee bill, namely: Two work beasts, or one work beast and one yoke of oxen, two plows and gear, one wagon and set of gear, or cart or dray; two axes, three hoes, one spade, one shovel, two cows and calves, beds, bedding, and furniture sufficient for family use; one loom and spinning wheel and pair of cards, all the spun yarn and manufactured cloth manufactured by the family necessary for family use; carpeting for all family rooms in use, one table, all books not to exceed $50 in value, two saddles and their appendages, two bridles, six chairs, or so many as shall not exceed $10 in value; one cradle, all the poultry on hand, ten head of sheep, not to exceed $25 in value; all wearing apparel, sufficient provisions, including breadstuff and animal food, to sustain the family for one year; if not on hand, other personal property, wages, money or growing crop, not to exceed $40 in value for each member of the family; provender suitable for live stock, if there be any such stock, not to exceed $70 in value, and if such provender be not on hand, such other property as shall not exceed such sum in value; all washing apparatus not to exceed $50 in value, one sewing machine, and all family portraits and pictures; one cooking stove and appendages, and other cooking utensils not to exceed in value $25. The tools of a mechanic, not exceeding $100 in value, are exempt. The libraries of ministers of the gospel; the professional libraries of lawyers; the professional libraries and instruments of physicians and surgeons, not exceeding $50 in value, are exempt. The wages not to exceed $50 of all persons who work for wages are exempt, except as to debts contracted for food, raiment, or houserent for the family. In addition to the personal property exempt from execution, etc., there is a homestead exemption of so much land, including the dwelling house and appurtenances owned by the debtor as shall not exceed in value $1,000. This exemption does not apply to debts or liabilities which existed prior to the purchase of the land, or the erection of the improvements thereon. Only those persons are entitled to exemptions who have families resident in this commonwealth. If the land exemption is claimed, they must also be housekeepers.

Holidays. The 1st day of January, the 22d day of February, the 30th day of May, the 4th day of July, the 25th day of December of each year, and all days appointed by the president of the United States, or by the governor of this State, as days of fasting and thanksgiving are declared holidays, and shall be treated as Sunday. If any of those days named as holidays shall occur on Sunday, the next day thereafter shall be observed as a holiday.

Husband and Wife. By an act which took effect June 12, 1894, the following important changes were made in the common law of coverture which theretofore prevailed in Kentucky. Marriage gives to the husband during the life of the wife no interest in any of the wife's property. She has full power to contract and to bind herself and her property, except that she can not bind herself to answer for the debt, default, misdoing of another, except as to property set apart for that purpose by mortgage. She may sell and dispose of personal property as if unmarried, but may not sell or convey real estate unless her husband unites in the contract, or conveyance, unless empowered to do so by decree of court in case of insanity, conviction of felony, or abandonment by the husband. After the death of either husband or wife the survivor shall have a life estate in one-third of all the realty of which the decedent was seized in fee simple during the coverture unless such right shall have been forfeited or relinquished. Such survivor has also one-half the personalty of the decedent left after the payment of debts. Abandonment and living in adultery by either party, or divorce works a forfeiture of these rights.

Interest. The lawful rate of interest is 6 per centum per annum, and contracts for a greater rate are void as to the excess of interest.

Judgments. A judgment does not constitute a lien on property in this State. All judgments except for malicious prosecution, libel, slander, or injury to the person, bear interest from their dates. (See Executions and Limitations.)

Limitations. The following are the periods within which actions must be brought, the time commencing to run from the accrual of the cause of action. Fifteen years: Actions to recover real property; actions upon judgments and written contracts, except negotiable instruments. Seven years: Actions by senior patentees against junior patentees, who have held possession for seven years. Five years: Actions upon verbal contracts; upon a liability created by statute; actions for trespass to real or personal property or for damages for withholding same; for the specific recovery of personal property; actions upon negotiable instruments; actions upon accounts between merchants, and actions for relief from fraud or mistake. Two years: Actions upon merchants' accounts for goods sold. Actions for injury to person or character, and for breach of promise of marriage.

Notes and Bills of Exchange. All bills of exchange are negotiable, but notes are only made so when "payable and negotiable at any bank incorporated under any law of this commonwealth or organized in this commonwealth under any law of the United States, which shall be indorsed to and discounted by the bank at which the same are payable, or by any other of the banks in the commonwealth as above specified." Non-negotiable instruments are assignable so as to vest a right of action in the assignee, but any defense good against the payee and arising before notice of the assignment is good against the assignee. Indorsers of non-negotiable notes can only be held after suit and return of "no property" against the maker commenced and prosecuted with due diligence. What is "due diligence" has not been exactly determined, but a delay of ten days has been held to release the indorser from all liability.

Powers of Attorney. Powers of attorney to convey real or personal property may be acknowledged, proved, and recorded in the proper office in the manner prescribed for recording conveyances. If the conveyance made under a power, is required by law to be recorded or lodged for record to make the same valid against creditors and purchasers, then the power must be lodged or recorded in like manner. Resident married women may not convey real estate by attorney.

Protest. Protest should be made upon the last day of grace. It is essential to a recovery against indorsers on foreign bills, of negotiable notes placed in their rank, but an inland bill is not required by law to be protested (though notice of its non-payment should be given), nor is a certificate of a notary of such protest evidence of itself of dishonor.

Taxation. All real and personal property in this State, all personalty belonging to persons residing in this State, and all property of corporations organized under the laws of this State are subject to taxation. Personal property includes choses in action and all intangible property. Corporations, in addition to the tax upon their property, must also pay a tax upon their franchises, the value of which is fixed by a board consisting of the auditor, treasurer, and secretary of State. The following classes of property are exempt from taxation: Public property, places of worship, cemeteries, purely public charitable institutions, educational institutions not conducted for gain, public libraries and their endowments, parsonages, and household goods to the value of $250. Assessment is made as of September 15th, of each year. Taxes of banks and trust companies are due July 1st, those of other corporations thirty days after notice. For non-payment a fine of $50 is assessed, and interest runs at the rate of 10 per cent per annum. Taxes of individuals are due March 1st, after which time they may be collected by distress on goods and chattels. After July 1st, real estate may be sold, and after November 1st, a penalty of 6 per cent on the face of the bill is added. Property sold may be redeemed by paying interest at the rate of 30 per cent per annum and a penalty of 15 per cent on the tax.

Wills. Any person of sound mind and over twenty-one years of age may make a will. Wills must be in writing with the name of the testator subscribed thereto either by himself or by some other person in his presence and by his direction. If not wholly written by the testator the subscription must be made or the will acknowledged by the testator in the presence of two witnesses, who shall subscribe their names in the presence of the testator. The will of a person domiciled ont of this State is valid as to personalty, if executed according to the law of the domicile; but to be valid as to lands, it must be executed as required by the the law of this State. The county court has exclusive original jurisdiction over the probate of wills.

Accounts. (See Acknowledgments.)

Acknowledgments of deeds executed within the State may be made before a notary public, parish recorder or his deputy, in the presence of two witnesses. These witnesses must be males over fourteen years of age. In other States, before a commissioner of Louisiana, or any officer authorized to take depositions in the State where he resides, but the official character of such officer must be properly verified. A Louisiana commissioner may certify to the official position of any public officer in the State for which he is appointed. An account or claim can be proved by the ex parte affidavit of creditor where there is no contest. No seal or scroll of private individuals is authorized or required by the laws of this State. When a married woman executes a deed with her husband, she must be examined by the officer separate and apart from her husband to ascertain if she acts under his coercion. A deed to be authentic and to be admissible in a court of justice without other proof of signature, must be acknowledged and signed before a notary or commissioner of deeds. In other States any oath or acknowledgment made before a notary public, duly appointed in such States, when certified under the hand and official seal of such notary, shall have the same force and effect without further proof of the signature, seal and official character of such notary, as if taken or made by or before a Louisiana commissioner residing in such State. Act 140 of 1896. In foreign countries every deed, conveyance, mortgage, sale, etc., made or taken before any ambassador, minister, charge d'affaires, secretary of legation, consul-general, consul, vice-consul, or commercial agent, and every acknowledgement, attestation, or authentication of any of said instruments, oaths, etc., made by any of said officers under their official seals and signatures shall have the full force and effect of an authentic act executed in this State. No witnesses necessary. Party appearing before any of said officers need not be a resident of the place where said officer is located. Notarial copies of original when deposited in this State in a notary's office have full force and effect of authentic copies of acts executed in this State. [Act 164 of 1898.]

Actions. (See Suits and Courts.)

Administration of Estates by executors, administrators, or tutors who are ex-officio administrators — also by dative executors — where there is no heir present or agent of heir, public administrator takes charge. A non-resident executor of a will must in all cases give bond; a resident does not unless required by creditors. Administrators and executors of other States must open succession of deceased in the courts of this State, and be recognized as such here before they can sue or be sued or transfer property in this State.

Affidavits. (See Acknowledgments.)

Aliens. After one year's residence in State may be naturalized. There is no distinction between aliens and residents, except that the former have the advantage of suing in the United States courts. There is no law excluding them from buying or holding lands. They are only excluded from voting, but this privilege is not availed of by at least one-third of those that are residents and citizens.

Appeals from judgments for amounts under $2,000 are taken to the court of appeals; for amounts over that sum to the supreme court of the State. Appeals to the State supreme court from each parish of State are returnable at New Orleans. [Act 12 of 1894.] Appeals are suspensive or devolutive; the former suspends execution, the latter does not. Suspensive appeals must be taken within ten days after judgment, devolutive appeals may be taken within one year.

Arbitration. Agreements to submit to arbitration recognized by law. Arbitrators must be sworn, otherwise decision is not binding. [State board of arbitration of labor troubles established [Act 139 of 1894.]

Arrest for debt may be made on affidavit that the debt is really due, and that petitioner verily believes that debtor is about to remove from the State permanently, without leaving in it sufficient property to satisfy his demand; and that he does not take this oath with intention of vexing debtor, but only in order to secure his demand. Debtor may be discharged by disproving facts; by giving bond, by making surrender, by delivering to sheriff property sufficient to satisfy demand. Arrest of the debtor only secures his presence to answer the suit; he cannot be held for the payment of the debt.

Assignments and Insolvency. State insolvent laws superseded by National Bankruptcy act.

Respite. A debtor alleging that he can not meet his obligations, but that he has assets sufficient to pay his debts in full if given time, may, on filing a schedule of his assets and liabilities, on his ex parte application, obtain a stay of proceedings against him, and call a meeting of his creditors before a notary. The vote of a majority in number and amount of these may give him an extension of time not to exceed three years. Creditors opposing may require security. If a respite is granted by a majority of the creditors in number and amount, the debtor is allowed to keep and dispose of his property as he pleases, and the only consequence of his failure to pay his installments upon his debts is that insolvency ensues and he surrenders what is left, if any, to a syndic. A creditor may protect himself by a writ of sequestration or attachment. In case of cession of property to creditors, holders of mortgages are not prevented from foreclosing as if no cession had taken place. [Act 15 of 1894.]

Attachment. Writs of attachment issue on application of creditor, under oath, when the debtor resides out of the State; when he conceals himself to avoid being cited; when he has mortgaged, assigned or disposed of, or is about to mortgage, assign, or dispose of his property, rights, or credits, or some part thereof, with intent to defraud his creditors or give an unfair preference to some of them; and when he has converted, or is about to convert, his property into money or evidences of debt with intent to place it beyond the reach of his creditors, or, if debt not due, is about to remove his property out of the State. Creditor must furnish bond equal to the amount claimed to be due, with at least one solvent surety, residing within the jurisdiction of the court, conditioned for payment to any party injured by issuance of writ of all damages sustained by him in case it is decided that the attachment was wrongfully obtained. (Act No. 7, 1888.) Garnishment may be had as an accessory either to a writ of attachment or fieri facias.

Banks. There is a State Examiner of State banks. [Article 191, Constitution 98 and Act 198 of 1898.] The State banks make quarterly reports of their condition to said State examiner of State banks. Since the adoption of the constitution of 1879, banking corporations must be organized under the general free banking laws adopted in 1855, amended in 1892 as hereafter stated. Savings, deposit, and trust companies provided for by Act 150 of year 1888. The number of persons organizing must exceed five. No special acts of incorporation can be passed. There are no laws requiring savings banks to invest in any particular class of bonds. There are eight banks in the city of New Orleans still doing business under State charters—the Citizen's Bank, the Canal Bank, the People's, Germania Savings, Metropolitan, Teutonia Savings Bank, Provident Savings & Safe Deposit Bank, and United States Trust & Savings Bank. The others are national banks. By Act 95 of 1892, the general banking act of 1855 was amended as follows: 1. Period of time must be fixed in act not to exceed ninety-nine years. 2. Banks can not hold real estate for longer time than five years, except such as necessary for the transaction of their business, or except that held as agent or trustee. 3. All managers and directors shall be citizens of Louisiana. 4. Safe deposits and trust banks without power to issue bank notes, may be organized under this law with a capital of $50,000 or more, of which capital at least $10,000 shall be paid up before commencing business. It may be made a receiver, trustee, assignee or syndic, and execute trusts of every description. The capital stock as paid in shall be taken as security. Money or other valuables deposited by married women or minors may be drawn out without the authority of their husbands or tutors.

Bills and Notes and Bills of Exchange. The laws of the State of Louisiana, in relation to commercial paper, as well as most other commercial matters, are taken from the English common law. Smith's Commercial Law, Biles, Edwards and Parsons are the standard authors upon the subject. Commercial paper may be defined to be the written evidence of a debt transferable by delivery. It may be a bill of exchange or promissory note. The promissory note is a written promise to pay a certain sum of money, at a future time, unconditionally. It is not necessary to state the place of payment, or that it be made payable at a bank, or at any fixed place of payment in the State. If no place is named, it will be presumed to be payable at the place where it is made. If none is stated, then at the domicil of the maker. Three days' grace are allowed upon bills of exchange and notes, or other obligations made negotiable by law, but no grace is allowed on sight bills or orders for money on demand. If the last day of grace be a Sunday or legal holiday, or should the day succeeding the last also be a holiday, then the bill or note will be payable on the next day not a holiday. "Service of citation shall not be waived, nor judgment confessed, by any document under private signature executed prior to the maturity of the obligation sued on." Article 91, Constitution 1898. Whenever a promissory note is indorsed for the benefit of the maker thereof, if caused by the maker to be discounted in any bank in operation within the State, or if the maker obtain any money in consideration of said note from any person, the indorser shall be bound to the holders of the note as if it had been discounted or negotiated for his own use or benefit. Bills and notes, or other obligations for the payment of money, to be evidence of a debt must express the whole sum in writing. The cents may be in figures. Days of public rest are January 1st, January 8th, February 22d, April 6th (Confederate Decoration Day), November 25th, "Labor Day" (in New Orleans), July 4th, December 25th, Sundays, Good Friday, Thanksgiving Day, and Shrove Tuesday (in New Orleans), and Saturday from 12 M., in cities of 100,000. An administrator appointed by another State court can not sue here upon a claim due the deceased. Bank deposits of deceased depositors may be transferred to heirs on production of judgment rendered in other States without requiring successions to be opened here. [Act 112 of 1894.] Checks redeemable only in goods forbidden. [Act 71 of 1894.]

The general laws under which corporations are formed are subject to alteration, amendment, and repeal. All classes of foreign insurance corporations may transact business in this State. A deposit of $25,000 is first required. This deposit must be made with the secretary of State, but if a similar deposit has already been made in any other State of the Union, the deposit is not required. This deposit is required to be made in cash. (See Act 1886, p. 15.) But if securities are deposited in other States it will answer. They are deposited with the State treasurer. A certificate of authority to transact business is issued by the secretary of State. No license fee or tax need be paid before the certificate of authority will be issued. Foreign banking associations having a branch here pay a tax of one-fourth of one per cent per annum on the amount of business done in this State. (Laws 1899.) Savings banks have no capital, and do business only for the benefit of depositors, under statute regulations restricting investments, requiring reports under oath and examinations by bank examiner. Must not pay over 2½ per cent dividend semi-annually. Franchise tax amounts to five-eighths to seven-eighths per cent, regulated to favor home investments.

No action shall be maintained on a minor's contract unless ratified by him in writing after becoming twenty-one years of age, except the contract be for necessaries or real estate where he has received title and obtained benefit. No contract for sale of goods, etc., of $30 or more in value is valid unless purchaser accepts or receives a portion of the goods or gives something to bind the bargain, or in part payment thereof, or some memorandum is made and signed by party charged or his agent.

Corporations. Three or more persons may form a corporation to carry on any lawful business excepting banking, insurance, constructing and operating railroads, savings banks, trust companies, or corporations intended to derive profits from the loan or use of money, and safe deposit companies. (Laws of 1897, C. 293.) Only original subscribers and takers of stock are liable on same to extent of unpaid par value, and then only for debts contracted during their ownership of stock, and action to enforce such liability must be commenced within two years, and can be maintained only by a judgment creditor of the corporation. Foreign corporations have practically same rights as domestic. Deeds must be under seal, but witness is not required for validity although usual to have one. Wife may convey her own real estate, but not that conveyed her by her husband, directly or indirectly, without his joining in the deed, unless same was conveyed to her in payment of a debt. Leases for more than seven years must be recorded. Trusts concerning real estate can be created only in writing, excepting those arising by implication of law.

Depositions may be taken by disinterested justice of the peace or notary public; may be taken when deponent is unable through age, infirmity, or sickness to attend at place of trial; when deponent resides out of, or is absent from the State; when deponent resides in town other than that in which trial is to be held, etc. Depositions so taken may be used in all civil suits or causes, petitions for partition of land, libels for divorce, prosecutions for the maintenance of children, petitions for opinions in trial before courts of arbitrators, referees and county commissioners, and in cases of contested senatorial or representative elections. Depositions or affidavits may also be taken in applications for pensions, bounty, or arrears of pay under any law of the United States. Wife or husband may bar the right by inheritance to one-third or one-half, as the case may be, of realty by joining in the other's deed, or by sole deed, or by ante-nuptial settlement, or by jointure. Either refusing to join in other's conveyance may be barred of inheritance upon application to supreme judicial court and decree after hearing. (See Estates of Deceased Persons.)

Survivor to exhibit partnership property to executor or administrator of deceased who shall include it in inventory, have appraisal made, but carry out only the interest of deceased. Survivor may give bond; administer partnership estate, pay debts and expenses and pay over the share of deceased partner to his legal representative. If he does not, then the administrator must give such bond and administer, and may use survivor's name to collect the debts. Assets, real and personal, of the partnership may be sold, commissioners on exorbitant claims appointed as in estates of individuals; and if partnership estate insufficient to pay debts it may be represented insolvent and administered as other insolvent estates, but this shall bar the recovery of any balance from survivor or estate of a deceased partner. Upon death of person so giving bond before completing administration, an administrator of the partnership may be appointed to complete it.

Estates of Deceased Persons. Administered in probate court of each county with appeals to the supreme judicial court as supreme court of probate. Administrator or executor to give bond unless executor excused in will; have inventory and appraisal; pay debts and charges and distribute balance of personal property according to law or will of the testator; sales of personal property made upon license; sales of real estate when necessary to pay debts and charges and in some other cases, upon license and bond. Non-resident executor or administrator must appoint attorney. Time of demand or notice extended for absent creditor if further assets, but prior payments not disturbed thereby. Examination of any one suspected of embezzlement. No administration granted after twenty years; commissioners may be appointed to determine claims deemed exorbitant in like manner as in insolvent estates. The real and personal estate of a person deceased intestate being subject to the payment of debts descends according to the following rules: 1. If he leaves a widow and issue, one-third to the widow. If no issue, one-half to the widow. And if no kindred, the whole to the widow. And to the widower shall descend the same shares in his wife's real and personal estate. There shall likewise descend to the widow, or widower, the same share in all such real estate of which the deceased was seized during coverture, and which has not been barred, or released, as herein provided. In any event, one-third shall descend to the widow or widower free from the payment of debts. (1897, C. 196.) 2. The remainder of which he dies seized, and if no widower, or widow, the whole, together with all wild lands, shall descend in equal shares to his children, and to the lawful issue of a deceased child by right of representation. If no child is living at the time of his death, to all his lineal descendants; equally, if all are the same degree of kindred; if not, according to the right of representation. 3. If no such issue, it descends to his father and mother in equal shares. 4. If no such issue, or father, it descends one-half to his mother. If no such issue or mother, it descends one-half to his father. In either case, the remainder, or if no such issue, father or mother, the whole (laws of 1897, C. 193) descends in equal shares to his brothers and sisters, and when a brother or sister has died, to his or her children or grandchildren by right of representation. 5. If no such issue, father, brother or sister, it descends to his mother. If no such issue, mother brother or sister, it descends to his father. In either case, to the exclusion of the issue of deceased brothers and sisters. 6. If no such issue, father, mother, brother or sister, it descends to his next of kin in equal degree; when they claim through different ancestors, to those claiming through a nearer ancestor, in preference to those claiming through an ancestor more remote. 7. When a minor dies unmarried, leaving property inherited from either of his parents, it descends to the other children of the same parent, and the issue of those deceased; in equal shares if al are of the same degree of kindred; otherwise, according to the right of representation. 8. If the intestate leaves no widower, widow or kindred it escheats to the State.

No stay except by order of court for cause and one year against absent defendants unless bond filed; levied on real estate by appraisal and extent, also on real estate and interests in the same and franchises and personal property by sale; money and, by consent, circulating notes applied directly.

SYNOPSIS OF THE LAWS OF MARYLAND

RELATING TO

BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES.

Prepared and Revised by FIELDER C. SLINGLUFF, Attorney at Law, Baltimore. (See Card in Attorneys' List.)

Accounts. Affidavit made by the party bringing suit to the correctness of accounts, amount then due, and no payment, satisfaction, or securities taken for the same, other than credited or itemized account by plaintiff, is all that is necessary, although if facts are known to shipping clerk or bookkeeper, it is well to have them to make affidavit also.

Acknowledgments of conveyances of any interest in real or leasehold property for above seven years, may be made within the State, and in the county or city in which the land, or any part of it, lies, before a notary public, justice of the peace, a judge of the orphans' court, a judge of the circuit court of any county, or a judge of the supreme bench of Baltimore city. If within the State, but out of the county in which the estate conveyed lies, they may be made before a judge of any circuit court for the circuit where the grantor may be, or before any judge of the orphans' court for the city or county in which the grantor may be, notary public, or a justice of the peace; the official character of the justice must be certified by the clerk of the circuit, county, or superior court (Baltimore city), under his official seal, or any judge of the supreme bench of Baltimore city, if grantor be in Baltimore city. If without the State, they may be made before a notary public, a judge of any court of the United States, or of any State or Territory court having a seal, or a commissioner of deeds for this State. The seal of the officer or court to be affixed to the certificate of acknowledgment in all cases. If acknowledged without the United States, the acknowledgment may be made before any minister, consul general, vice or consular agent or deputy, or a notary public, or a commissioner to take acknowledgments for State of Maryland. Every deed conveying any interest in real estate, must be signed and sealed by the grantor and attested by at least one witness. A scroll seal is sufficient. No words of inheritance are necessary to create an estate in fee simple, and no separate examination of a married woman is required.

Actions. The forms of actions, which still savor of the common law, are now very simple, any plain statement of facts constituting a good cause of action being sufficient. Amendment is allowed at any time before verdict. Equitable defenses are now allowed to be made in a court of law, although there are still law courts and equity courts having different and distinct jurisdiction. (See Suits.)

Administration of Estates. The orphans' court of the counties and the orphans' court of Baltimore city are the courts of probate. In cases where decedent left a will, letters are granted to executor and executrix named in the will. In granting letters of administration, where decedent died without leaving will, letters are granted: 1. To widow or child or children; 2. Grandchild; 3. Father; 4. Brothers and sisters; 5. Mother; 6. Next of kin; 7. Largest creditor applying for letters. Bond is required with two sureties, or certain local surety companies where authorized by their charter to act as sole surety, and where testator requests in will that executor be excused from giving bond, court only requires nominal bond for amount sufficient to pay estimated debts.

Affidavits. (See Acknowledgments.) No particular form necessary but whoever can take an acknowledgment can take an affidavit. Affidavits always required in a mortgage as to the bona fides of mortgage, consideration, and the payment of tax on annual interest.

Aliens. Aliens, not enemies, may take and hold lands, tenements, and hereditaments acquired by purchase, or to which they would, if citizens, be entitled by descent, and may sell, devise, or dispose of the same or transmit the same to their heirs as fully and effectually and in the same manner as if by birth they were citizens of this State.

Appeals. Appeals are regulated by statute. The rules of the different courts regulate the rules as to procedure. These rules are at full set forth in the rules of court of appeals and Code 1888, Act 5, and in the rules of court of the supreme bench of Baltimore city.

Arbitration. Disputes between parties may be conducted by any judge or justice of the peace mutually agreed upon. Special agreements for arbitration of such disputes to be valid. Parties may be represented by an attorney, and award of arbitrator or arbitrators to be a judgment, and court may give judgment and issue execution on the award.

Arrest. No arrest for debts in this State. In criminal cases a sentence may be passed, imposing a sum of money as a fine, and then in lieu of payment by party of fine imposed upon, he is liable to imprisonment.

Assignments. (See Insolvent Law and Deeds of Trust.)

Attachments for debt [See Act 1890, Chap. 549], or for unliquidated damages, sounding either in contracts or torts, can be obtained in all cases when the defendant is a non-resident or has absconded, affidavit being first made by the plaintiff to the correctness of his claim and the fact that the defendant is a non-resident or has absconded. They may be also obtained in connection with an original process when the creditor or some one in his behalf shall give bond in double the amount of the debt, with sureties to be approved by the clerk, and make affidavit before the clerk of the court where the suit is brought that the defendant is bona fide indebted to the plaintiff in the sum claimed, and that the plaintiff knows or has good reason to believe that the debtor has absconded or is about to abscond from the State, or that the defendant has assigned, disposed of, or concealed, or is about to assign, dispose of, or conceal, his property, or some portion thereof, with intent to defraud his creditors, or that the defendant fraudulently contracted the debt or incurred the obligation; or that the defendant has removed or is about to remove his property, or some portion thereof, out of this State, with intent to defraud creditors; and the attachment may be maintained, although the debt or obligation upon which the action is brought may not have matured, but the date of the maturity of the debt or obligation must be set forth in the affidavit [Act 1894, Ch. 648]. A claimant may have the attached property released by filing a bond in double the amount of the appraisement. Any kind of property or credits belonging to the defendant, in the plaintiff's own hands or in the hands of any one else, and shares of stock in a corporation, may be attached. Credits not due may be attached, but wages, hire, or salary not due can not be attached, and the sum of one hundred dollars of such wages, hire, or salary shall always be exempt from attachment, imprisonment for debt is abolished. Defendant may be sued wherever he does business. In addition to attachments against non-residents or absconding debtors for debt (i. e., a liquidated sum), as heretofore, attactments may now be issued against such debtors in cases arising from contracts when the damages are unliquidated, and in actions for wrongs independent of contract, but in such cases no attachments can be issued until a declaration is filed setting out specially and in detail the breach of the contract complained of or the tort actually committed, verified by the affidavit of the plaintiff or some one in his behalf, and until a bond shall be filed similar to the bond required in attachments for fraud. [Code 1888, Art. 9.] All papers in attachment proceedings can now be amended, as in any other actions at law. [Act 1898, Ch. 44.]

Banks. The act of 1898, Chap. 277, made important changes in the banking laws of this State. The law now provides that all banks incorporated under the laws of Maryland, if located in Baltimore city, shall have a capital stock of not less than $300,000, and, if anywhere else in the State, of not less than $50,000. It further provides: 1. Stockholders must own stock four months before they can vote it for any purpose; 2. Directors must be stockholders and citizens of the State; 3. No one can be director in two banks at the same time; 4. Statements must be made annually by the directors to the stockholders; 5. Every banking association, authorized by its charter to do a banking business in this State, shall make to the treasurer of the State of Maryland no less than five reports during each year, to be verified by the oath or affirmation of the president, cashier, or treasurer of such association or trust company, and attested with the signatures of at least three of the directors thereof, showing in detail, and under appropriate heads, the resources and liabilities of such association at the close of business on any past day specified by the treasurer of the State; and a summary of such report shall be published in a newspaper published in the city or county where such association in this State may be ocated. The treasurer shall also have the power to call for special reports whenever he deems the same necessary; 6. The issue of notes is not to exceed the capital stock paid in, and no note of less than $5 to be issued, nor of any amount intermediate between $5 and $10; 7. The debts are at no time to exceed the capital stock, and the directors are liable for such excess; 8. If dividends are declared which impair the capital stock, the directors are liable; 9. No director can be paid for his services; 10. A bank can hold land for its immediate accommodation in its business, and such as may come in payment of debts due, but must get rid of such land as it acquires for debts in three years; 11. No loans must be made to the State or the United States to exceed $50,000; 12. Banks must not pay out any funds or money other than the legal currency of the United States, notes issued by the authority of their charter, and notes issued by other banking incorporations received at their par value by the banks so paying them out; 13. All State banks, whether incorporated under the provisions of this act or not, must pay annually to the State twenty cents on every $100 of the issue of notes then in actual circulation, which such bank may have lawfully issued, to be applied to the augmentation of the free school fund of the State. 1896, Chap. 501, continues this act in force till January 1, 1905. There are no laws restricting savings banks as to the class of bonds they may invest in.

In addition to the statements to be made to the State treasurer, an examiner, appointed by the treasurer of the State, shall visit each and every association doing a banking business in the State (excepting State banks which may be members of the Baltimore Clearing Association, and as such required regularly to submit to an examination by a national bank examiner) at least once in each year or oftener, if in his judgment it may be necessary. The treasurer of the State, or such examiner, for the purpose of investigation, is authorized to administer oaths, and examine under oath or affirmation the owners and directors, and all officers and employes and agents of such bank, and the examiner making such examination shall reduce the result thereof to writing; no person shall be appointed examiner to investigate the condition of any bank who shall be an officer, agent, or employe thereof. Whenever the treasurer of this State shall become satisfied that any of the banking associations named have failed to comply with the provisions of the law, he shall have the right by his certificate, with the approval of the Governor, to declare the charter of such association, company, or corporation forfeited, and said certificate shall be conclusive evidence of such forfeiture, and thereafter he shall appoint, with the assent of the Governor, a receiver of all the assets of such association. The provisions of the law as to visits by the State bank examiner do not apply to savings banks having no capital stock, building or homestead associations, or National banks, or to corporations authorized by their charters to transact a trust, fidelity, surety, or deposit business in this State; trust, fidelity, surety, or deposit companies being required by the act of 1896, Chap. 160, to make certain deposits in bonds with the State treasurer before they can conduct business in this State.

Bills of Lading, warehouse, elevator, and storage receipts, and any vouchers acknowledging the possession of goods as in storage are made negotiable, unless otherwise provided, in the same sense as bills of exchange and promissory notes, and are made conclusive evidence in favor of bona fide holder for value, that goods therein described were actually received. The bills should not be issued until goods actually in possession [Code 1888, Art. 14]. Penalties are provided for acts and frands which impair the value of these securities [Code 1890, Ch. 399.]

Chattel Mortgages. Chattel mortgages are of like nature as bills of sale, and enable the borrower to retain possession of property which he has mortgaged, if duly acknowledged and recorded. Any one who removes, secretes, hypothecates, destroys, or sells mortgaged personal property, with intent to defraud, is guilty of misdemeanor. [1894, Ch. 315.] Law requires affidavit to chattel mortgages and bills of sale as to bona fides of consideration, and that mortgage or bill of sale be recorded within twenty days after execution in city or county where land lies, to be valid against third parties. Affidavit as to mortgage tax is required in chattel mortgages. [Act 1896, Ch. 120.] (See Mortgages.)

Collaterals. The conversion by any banker, broker, merchant, attorney, or agent of collaterals is made a misdemeanor. [See Code, Art. 27, Sec. 93.]

Contracts. The normal condition of all persons is one in which they are capable of making any contract. The fourth and seventeenth sections of the Statute of Frauds are in force in Maryland. A citizen can not make a contract with an alien enemy during the continuance of hostilities; but aliens, not enemies, may contract and hold real property as fully as citizens. The later cases decide contracts of infants to be voidable and not void; and they are capable of ratification by infants on arrival at age of twenty-one. The contracts of infants for necessaries are binding upon them. The contract of a lunatic is voidable and not void. The statute provides that a married woman may engage in business, contract, sue, and be sued upon contracts and torts, as if unmarried. [Code 1898, Ch. 457.] All gambling contracts and contracts made on Sunday are void.

Conveyances. No estate or title to any property lying within this State, for any period above seven years, shall pass or take effect unless the deed conveying the same shall be executed, acknowledged, and recorded. [See Code 1888, Art. 21, Sec. 1.] Every deed of real estate shall be signed and sealed by the grantor and bargainor, and attested by at least one witness. No words of inheritance necessary, but every deed shall be construed to pass fee simple title unless the contrary appear. A scroll with the word "seal" therein by way of a seal, is sufficient. A deed must be recorded within six months from date, in county or Baltimore City, where land lies, but if recorded after this, deed, while valid between parties, is invalid as to deeds to bona fide purchasers without notice recorded prior thereto. A body corporate must embody in the deed itself the appointment of an attorney to acknowledge the deed as and for the corporate act of said corporation.

Corporations are organized under the authority of the General Incorporation Law. See Code, Art. 23; 1890, Ch. 134, and 184, Ch. 599, as to classes of corporations that may be formed under general law, and provisions concerning formation of same. Corporations shall not be created by special act, except for municipal purposes, and except where there is no provision in the general law providing for creation of corporation proposed to be formed. In such cases application must be made to the legislature. Every corporation created after March 24, 1894, except cemetery companies, companies created for purely benevolent and charitable purposes, railroad companies, and building or homestead associations, shall pay to the State at time of incorporation a bonus of one-eighth of one per cent upon the amount of its authorized capital stock, and a like bonus upon the amount of any authorized increase of its capital stock, to be paid at the date of such increase. [Acts 1894, Ch. 114.] Act 1898, Ch. 270, requires foreign corporations to deposit a fee of $25 with the Secretary of State before opening or continuing any office for the transaction of business in this State, together with certified copy of charter and other prerequisites.

Courts. Terms and Jurisdiction. The circuit courts in the counties have jurisdiction at common law in cases involving more than $50, and equity in all cases involving more than $20. They hold from two to four regular terms in each county at which they have a jury; there are, however, intermediate terms fixed by the rules, to which process may be made returnable. The circuit court and circuit court No. 2 of Baltimore City have exclusive equity jurisdiction in the city. The superior court, the court of common pleas, and Baltimore city court have concurrent common law jurisdiction in cases involving more than $100. The court of common pleas has exclusive jurisdiction in insolvency, and the criminal court in criminal cases. The orphans' courts in Baltimore City, and in the counties have probate jurisdiction. Justice's jurisdiction, $200. The common law courts have three terms in the year, and rule days every month in the year to which process may be returnable. The equity courts have six terms in the year, beginning the first Mondays of January, March, May, July, September, and November.

Days of Grace. No grace allowed on bills and notes, but the same are due and payable as expressed in the bill or note, without grace. (Acts 1896, ch. 106.)

Deeds of Trust made for the benefit of all creditors, and bona fide, convey to trustee under deed of trust, a title which can not be interfered with by proceedings in insolvency against the grantor. Acts of 1894. (See Assignments and Insolvent Law.)

Depositions. When the courts are satisfied, by affidavit or otherwise, that there are material and competent witnesses residing without the State, they will direct that a commission be issued to take the testimony of such witnesses. The commissioners are selected by the court, and must qualify before some person authorized to administer an oath in the State where they reside. The depositions, duly certified by the commissioners, shall be admitted as evidence at the trial of the cause, subject to the same objections and exceptions as the same testimony would be if the witness had been personally present in court and there examined. Parties have the right to be present when the testimony is taken under the commission, and must receive reasonable notice of the time and place. Examination is restricted to the parties and interrogatories and cross-interrogatories annexed to the commission.

Descent and Distribution of Property. As to descent, see Code, Art. 46, and as to distribution, Code, Art. 93.

Divorce. Divorce comes within the jurisdiction of court of equity. Divorces are dissolved a vinculo matrimonii for the canonical causes on impediment existing previous to marriage. Divorces a mensa et thoro are decreed for vicious conduct, cruelty of treatment, abandonment, and desertion. The court has power to decree the custody of children, and in some cases decrees as to how property shall be divided; and has power to allow alimony.

Dower. The common-law right of dower exists in Maryland, and extends to equitable estates. A devise or bequest of real or personal property to the wife shall be construed to be in lieu of dower in lands or share of personal estate, respectively, unless otherwise expressed in the will. If the widow renounces formally in writing, however, such provision made for her by will within six months after the grant of administration on the estate of her deceased husband, her dower right and the share of his personal property remain undisturbed. (See Married Women.)

Executions may issue and judgments may be renewed or revived by scire facias at any time within twelve years from date of judgment or from the expiration of any stay, and may be therein levied on any property of the defendant. In the circuit courts for the counties there is a stay until the first Thursday of the term succeeding the rendition of the judgment, provided the judgment is obtained at the second term after the defendant is summoned. There is no stay upon judgments rendered in the courts of Baltimore city or by justices of the peace in the city or counties, but execution may issue forthwith. The defendant may stay the execution by superseding with sureties for six months. Copy of docket entries of judgment when recorded in another county makes the judgment a lien there. [Act 1890, Ch. 314.]

Exemptions. No homestead law. Wearing apparel, books and tools (not kept for sale) and $100 of property in addition, are exempt from execution, except on judgments for breach of promise to marry and seduction, not applicable to any but actual bona fide residents of this State. Equitable interests in personal property can not be sold under execution, but may be levied upon, and the lien thus acquired may be enforced in equity. Choses in action may be attached.

Fraud. Any false representation made by one to another with the intent to defraud, and the defrauded party, thinking the alleged fraud to be true, acts upon it, any contract thus made can not be enforced. But if the injured party knows such representations to be false, it can not be said to have influenced his conduct. For general doctrine in this State see McAleer vs. Horsey, 35 Md. 439.

Garnishments. (See Attachments.)

Holidays. (See Notes and Bills of Exchange.)

Husband and Wife. (See Dower, Divorce, and Married Women.) In this State the husband is not liable for wife's antenuptial debts or contracts. Husband is liable for necessaries of wife. Acts 1898, Ch. 457, gives husband same interest in wife's estate as wife has in husband's estate.

Insolvent Law. Now superseded by National Bankrupt Law, passed July 1, 1898.

Interest. The legal rate of interest is 6 per cent per annum. Judgments bear interest from their date. A person proved guilty of usury forfeits the excess over the real sum or value of the goods and chattels lent, and legal interest thereon. Since 1876, where the whole debt, including the usury, is paid, the usurious interest can not be recovered back.

Judgments are liens for twelve years from date of rendition on any interest of the defendant in real or leasehold property within the county where rendered. They can be transferred from one county to another by sending a copy of the docket entries to the clerk for record. The lien commences from the date of the entry of the docket entries by the clerk. Judgments are not liens on personal property until execution has issued and the writ is in the hands of the sheriff. [See Act 1890, Chap. 558, as to examination of judgment debtors.] (See Suits.)

Limitations of Suits. Accounts and notes are barred after three years, sealed instruments and judgments after twelve years. A verbal promise or acknowledgment will revive a debt barred by the statute.

Married Women. Act of 1898, Chap. 457, repeals and reenacts the entire law in this State. Married women may hold and dispose of their property lawfully as if unmarried; the husband must unite in the conveyances of married women under 18 years, and they may engage in business, contract, sue, and be sued upon contracts and for torts, as if unmarried. Married woman is alone liable for antenuptial debts and contracts. Husband is still liable for necessaries. Widow is entitled to dower in real estate, and one-third of the personal estate if there are children, and if no children one-half of the personal estate; husband has same rights in wife's property as wife has in husband's property. Where the wife is adjudged a lunatic upon requisition, and the finding remains in force, husband may convey after required property by separate deed, as if unmarried.

Mortgages are executed, acknowledged, and recorded same as deeds, and are not valid against creditors unless recorded within six months. There must be an affidavit made by the mortgagee or his agent at any time before recording, that the consideration is true and bona fide, and that the mortgagee will not require the mortgagor, or any other person for him, to pay the tax levied upon the mortgage interest, and upon the assignment of any mortgage except for the purpose of foreclosure, a like affidavit must be made by the assignee. If made by agent, he must, in addition, make oath that he is the agent of the mortgagee. A like affidavit is required to chattel mortgages, and absolute bills of sale, both of which must be recorded within twenty days. The lien of a mortgage may, by ceasing to pay interest or any installment of the principal for twenty years, be barred. They may be foreclosed at any time after the debt becomes due and before the lien is barred.

Notes and Bills of Exchange. Negotiable instruments are defined by Ch. 119 of the Laws of 1898, which repeals all laws inconsistent with the provisions of this act. Section 20 provides as follows: "An instrument to be negotiable must conform to the following requirements: 1. It must be in writing and signed by the maker or drawer. 2. It must contain an unconditional promise or order to pay a sum certain in money. 3. Must be payable on demand, or at a fixed or determinable future time. 4. Must be payable to order or to bearer; and 5, where the instrument is addressed to a drawee, he must be named or otherwise indicated therein with reasonable certainty." Its negotiability is not affected by a seal, or by a provision which authorizes the sale of collateral securities in case the instrument be not paid at maturity, or authorizes a confession of judgment if the instrument be not paid at maturity; or waives the benefit of any law intended for the advantage or the protection of the obligor; or gives the holder an election to require something to be done in lieu of payment of money. It is not necessary that paper should be made payable at a bank or any fixed place. To charge indorser, notice of non-payment must at once be given to him. The time of maturity is regulated by statute as follows: "SECTION 145. Time of Maturity. Every negotiable instrument is payable at the time fixed therein without grace. When the day of maturity falls upon Sunday, or a holiday, the instrument is payable on the next succeeding business day. Instruments falling due on Saturday are to be presented for payment on the next succeeding business day, except that instruments payable on demand may, at the option of the holder, be presented for payment before 12 o'clock noon, on Saturday, when that entire day is not a holiday." Legal holidays are: Christmas, New Year's Day, February 22, Good Friday, July 4, Decoration Day, May 30, first Monday in September, all days of general and congressional elections throughout the State and any day of public thanksgiving or humiliation and prayer proclaimed by the governor or legislature, and all Saturdays after 12 o'clock noon are a legal half holiday. By Act 1896, Ch. 198, it shall be lawful for banks and bankers in the city of Baltimore to close their doors for business at 12 o'clock noon, on each and every Saturday in the year, and every Saturday in the year, after 12 o'clock noon, shall be a legal half-holiday, so far as regards the presenting for payment or acceptance, and the protesting and giving notice of the dishonor, of bills of exchange and other negotiable paper, and for these purposes shall be considered as the first day of the week, or Sunday, and all negotiable paper shall be deemed to be presentable on the secular day next succeeding. Days of grace have been abolished in this State.

Power of Attorney. Every power of attorney authorizing an agent or attorney to sell and convey any real estate, shall be attested and acknowledged in the same manner as a deed, and recorded with the deed executed in pursuance of such power of attorney. A corporation shall have power to appoint an attorney for the same purpose, by its corporate seal. Such power of attorney shall be deemed to be revoked when the instrument containing the revocation is recorded in the office in which the deed should properly be recorded.

Probate Law. (See Administration of Estates and Wills.)

Protest is usually made by notary public. Notary must keep register of protests. A protest of notary public is prima facie evidence of non-acceptance or non-payment, and of the presentment of said note for payment, or of said bill for acceptance or payment, at the time and in the manner stated in the protest, and the protest shall also be prima facie evidence that such notice has been sent or delivered in the manner therein stated. (See Notes and Bills of Exchange.)

Replevin is a remedy to recover specific goods and chattels to whose possession the plaintiff is entitled. Also the proper remedy to recover possession of goods distrained unlawfully.

Suits. Actions are at common law. Pleadings have been simplified, but forms of actions remain as at common law. Service of writs must be made by the return day, which, in the counties, is the first day of each term, and in Baltimore city of each rule day. The plaintiff in any action at law (except ejectment and replevin) may claim a mandamus directing the defendant to do any act that he may be bound to do, or forbidding him to do any act it may be his duty to refrain from doing, either by contract or otherwise. The defendant in any action at law in which, if judgment was obtained, he would be entitled to relief in equity against such judgment, may plead the facts which entitle him to such equitable relief by way of defense in such action at law. The plaintiff in his replication may, in reply to such plea, allege such facts as avoid the plea on equitable grounds, and so on. A court shall not refuse to issue a mandamus or injunction on the mere ground that the plaintiff has a remedy at law, unless the party against whom the writ is asked shall show to the court's satisfaction that he has the property from which the damages can be made or shall give a bond to pay such damages. In any suit for over one hundred dollars, where the cause of action is a contract, whether in writing or not, if no defense be made, the plaintiff, where the suit is under affidavit, shall be entitled to judgment fifteen days after the rule day to which suit is brought. [1894, Ch. 173.] In all cases where issues of fact are submitted to the court or jury, the court or jury, in addition to the general verdict, upon request, may return a special finding of fact upon any particular question pertinent to the issue. [Act. 1894, Ch. 185.]

Taxes. The county commissioners of the several counties of the State, and the mayor and city council of Baltimore city are directed to levy a tax annually upon real and personal property situated within the State, and no person who is not assessed to the sum of $100 shall be required to pay any tax. In addition to the above tax the State legislature, with the concurrence of the governor, regulates the State tax for the next two years following the meeting of legislature, which convenes every two years. The property of religious, charitable, benevolent, and educational institutions, and cemetery companies is exempt from taxation. In Baltimore city the mayor and city council have authority to exempt the plant of manufacturing indnstries from taxation, for the purpose of encouragement of industrial enterprises. Collectors may sell property to compel payment of overdue taxes, upon giving due notice of sale, and complying with other requisites of statute, and any person interested in property may redeem within one year and a day from date, by tendering to collector the whole amount received by collector from sale, with interest to date of tender, and in default of redemption, title to property rests in purchaser. Taxes are considered in arrears on first day of January next succeeding the date of their levy, and bear interest from that date. Act 1896, Ch. 120, re-cals and re-enacts the sections of the code relating to "Revenue and Taxes."

Transfer of Corporation Stocks. The stock of any corporation created under the general incorporation law shall be transferable as provided by the by-laws of the corporation, and no shares shall be transferable until all previous calls thereon shall have been paid in, or shall have been declared forfeited for the non-payment of the calls thereon. [Code, Art. 23, Sec. 63.] No foreign executor or administrator shall be authorized to transfer any corporate stock in this State until after he shall have given at least one month's notice by advertisement published twice a week for four weeks in two daily newspapers of the City of Baltimore, stating therein the death of his testator or intestate, and the amount and description of stock intended to be transferred. [Code, Art. 93, Sec. 79.]

Wills of land or personal property, and any codicil thereto, must be in writing, signed by the testator, or some one else for him, in his presence, at his request, and witnessed by two or more credible witnesses, as and for last will and testament of the testator in the presence of all the witnesses thereto. Nuncupative wills invalid except in case of disposition of personal property by soldiers and marines in actual service. [Code, Art. 93.] Every will or other testamentary instrument made out of the State shall be held to be valid in Maryland if the same be made according to the forms required by the law of the place where the same was made, or by the law of the place where the testator was domiciled when the same was made, or according to the forms required by the law of this State; and if the testator was originally domiciled in Maryland, although at the time of making the "will," or at the time of his death, he may be domiciled elsewhere, the said will or testamentary instrument then so executed shall be admitted to probate in any Orphans' Court of this State; and when so admitted shall be governed by and construed and interpreted according to the law of Maryland, without regard to the ex domicilii, unless the testator shall expressly declare a contrary intention in said will or testamentary instrument. [Acts 1894, Ch. 151.] No will, testament, codicil, or other testamentary paper shall be subject to caveat or other objection to its validity after the expiration of three years from its probate. [Acts 1894, Ch. 405.] When a person is unheard of for above seven years, and supposed to be dead, the Orphans' Court, under the provisions of Act of 1896, Ch. 246, may grant letters testementary or of administration as the case may be.

SYNOPSIS OF THE LAWS OF MASSACHUSETTS

RELATING TO

BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES.

Prepared and Revised by Messrs. Wm. E. L. Dillaway and H. M. Burton, Attorneys at Law, Boston. (See Card in Attorneys' List.)

Acknowledgments and Deeds. Acknowledgments may be made before any justice of the peace or notary public in the State; when the acknowledgment is made by any person without this State and within any other State, territory or district of the United States, it may be made before any officer of such State, Territory or district authorized by the laws thereof to take the proof and acknowledgment of deeds, and when so taken there shall be attached to the certificate of acknowledgment a certificate of the Secretary of the State or Territory in which such officer resides, under the seal of the State or Territory, or a certificate of the clerk of a court of record of such State, Territory or district, in the county in which such officer resides, under seal of said court, certifying as to the authority of such officer to take acknowledgments and as to the genuineness of his signature. In deeds where there is more than one grantor, the acknowledgment of one of them is sufficient.

Certificate of Acknowledgment:

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS, } ss. (Date.)
County of..... }

Then personally appeared the above named (name of person acknowledging) and acknowledged the foregoing instrument to be his free act and deed before me.

(Name and title of officer.)

No separate examination or acknowledgment of wife joining in a release of dower necessary. Conveyances of land are made by deed under seal executed by the grantor or attorney having authority therefor. A conveyance in fee, for life or for a term exceeding seven years, shall not be valid except as against the grantor and persons having actual notice of it, unless recorded in the county in which the real estate is situated. Deeds must be under seal, a scroll being insufficient. No subscribing witness is necessary. Release of dower must be explicitly stated in deed, wife's joining in deed merely, being insufficient.

Actions. There are three classes of actions: contract, tort, and replevin. Actions at law are begun by writs issued in blank form by the clerks of the several courts. No declaration need be inserted in the writ, except in cases of arrest on mesne process or of an attachment of a vessel. Suits in equity are begun by filing a bill upon which a subpœna is issued by the clerk of the court. Actions begun by trustee process must be brought in the county in which the trustee or one of them resides or has his usual place of business. Actions concerning land must be brought in the county in which the land lies.

Administration of Estates. The judge of probate for the county where deceased last resided may appoint any person of sufficient capacity as executor or administrator. Executors or administrators are required to give a bond of about double the value of the personal estate. An executor will be exempt from giving sureties if testator so directs. An administrator will be exempt if all persons interested except creditors consent and all creditors are notified by publication. In case a non-resident is appointed executor or administrator, he must appoint a resident agent. There are public administrators in each county to whom administration is granted upon estates of persons who die intestate leaving property, and not having any husband, widow, or heir in this State. Ancillary administration may be granted upon the estate of a non-resident who dies leaving property in this State. Every administrator and executor shall file an inventory and publish notice of his appointment. Notice of a debt and demand for its payment should be given to an executor or administrator within one year after his appointment, and the debt should be paid after one year and within two years of the appointment. No suit can be brought by a creditor against an executor or administrator within one year after his giving bond, except on a claim not affected by the insolvency of the estate. No suit can be brought against an executor or administrator who has published notice of his appointment, after two years from time of his giving bond, unless he has received new assets after the expiration of the two years. A creditor whose claim does not accrue within the two years may cause assets to be reserved to answer to his claim. When the estate is insufficient to pay all claims, the executor or administrator shall represent the estate insolvent, and commissioners will be appointed to receive proof of claims. Claims for personal expenses, last sickness, and charges of administration, are not affected by the insolvency of the estate. Executors and administrators shall render an account at least once a year.

Aliens. Resident or non-resident aliens may sue and be sued and may hold and convey real estate.

Appeals. An appeal may be taken from the judgment of a municipal, police, or district court to the superior court. The appeal must be claimed and bond in sum of $100 filed within twenty-four hours after judgment.

Arrest. In an action of contract, the defendant unless she is a woman, may be arrested on mesne process, if the plaintiff or some one in his behalf makes affidavit that he expects to recover a sum amounting to $20; that he believes that defendant has property which he does not intend to apply to payment of plaintiff's debt; that he believes that defendant intends to leave the State. Actions of tort, against women as well as men, except for slander or libel, may be be begun by arrest of the defendant, on the plaintiff or some one in his behalf making certain affidavits. A defendant arrested on mesne process may give bail or he may apply to take an oath that he does not intend to leave the State, or the oath for relief of poor debtors; on taking such oath he is released from arrest. No arrest can be made if the property of defendant is attached upon the same writ. On an execution, except for costs, or where debtor is about to leave the State, he can not be arrested until he has first been cited before a magistrate for examination, and it appearing that he has property and refuses to assign it, the magistrate may order his arrest. When arrested under execution the debtor may apply to take the oath for relief of poor debtors.

Assignments for benefit of creditors. A voluntary assignment to trustees for benefit of creditors can not be avoided if assented to by creditors whose claims exceed the amount of property assigned, except by proceedings in insolvency begun within six months, or by proof of fraud. If there is property in excess of the claims of creditors who have assented, the excess in hands of the trustee can be reached by trustee process. Acts done in good faith by the trustee under an assignment are valid, though the assignment be afterward set aside, if the assignment is assented to in writing by a majority in number and value of the creditors not secured. The trustee shall on acceptance of the trust give notice in writing to all known credits of the assignment and acceptance thereof and shall deposit with the clerk of the city or town wherein the debtor has his principal place of business a copy of the assignment. The above would probably not apply under the provisions of the National Bankruptcy Act.

Insolvency. There is an insolvent law, but it is superseded by the National Bankruptcy Act of 1898.

Attachment. All real estate, goods, and chattels not exempt, may be taken in attachment on the original writ and held as security for judgment, except that lands and tenements can not be attached in suits involving less than $20. Attachments may be made in suits by or against non-residents as well as in suits by or against residents. No bond is required to make an attachment. Shares of stock in corporations organized under laws of this State, or of United States, may be attached by service on certain officers of the corporation. Debtor may dissolve attachment by furnishing bond with sureties to pay judgment obtained or value of property attached determined by appraisement. Upon affidavit by the creditor or some one in his behalf, that he has reason to believe that the debtor intends to leave the State and has property not exempt from attachment which he does not intend to apply to the payment of plaintiff's claim, the debtor may be arrested and held to bail. Debtor against whom judgment is rendered for over $20 may be subjected to sworn examination touching his property, and if he refuses to deliver up such property (not being exempt from attachment), an order for arrest will issue and he can then apply and be examined to take the poor debtor's oath. Proceedings in insolvency dissolve attachments made within four months of first publication. An attachment is dissolved by death of the defendant if administration is granted upon his estate upon application made within one year after his death.

Banks. In this State, safe deposit, loan, and trust companies are incorporated under special act of the legislature, and are governed by the provisions contained in the Acts of 1888, Chap. 413, and amendments thereto. Under the general law ten or more persons and their successors may form a corporation for the purpose of carrying on the business of banking. The general court may, by special act, annul or dissolve any such corporation; but its dissolution shall not impair any remedy against the same for liability previously incurred. The capital stock of each bank shall not be less than $100,000 nor more than $1,000,000. The stock shall be paid in gold or silver money, one-half before the bank goes into operation, and the remainder within one year thereafter. Before commencing business the president and directors shall make a certificate specifying the corporate name, which shall be different from any previously organized in the Commonwealth; the location of said bank; the amount and number of shares of its capital stock; name and residence and number of shares of each stockholder, and the time when it is to go into operation; a copy of which certificate shall be filed with the secretary of the Commonwealth. No part of the capital stock can be sold or transferred until the whole amount thereof is paid up. No person can hold more than half the capital stock, exclusive of that held as security. In addition to the capital stock to which a bank is entitled, the Commonwealth may subscribe thereto an amount not exceeding 50 per cent of its authorized capital, when provision is made therefor by law. Said Commonwealth shall be entitled to its proportionate share of profits and dividends. Upon the vote of three-fourths of its stockholders, a bank may increase its capital stock to an amount not exceeding $1,000,000. No bank shall have less than seven nor more than twelve directors. The cashier is required to give bond in not less than $20,000, with two or more sureties, before entering upon his duties. The debts of a bank shall at no time exceed twice the amount of capital stock paid in exclusive of deposits not bearing interest, nor shall there be due the bank more than double the amount of capital stock paid in. Every bank is required to keep a reserve in lawful money of the United States, equal to 15 per cent of its liability for circulation and deposits. The circulating notes held by the bank shall at all times be secured in full by public stocks, which shall never be less in amount than $50,000. The property and effects of every bank shall be first applied to the redemption of its notes in circulation. Stockholders of a bank are liable in their individual capacity for the payment of all the circulating notes remaining unpaid in proportion to the stock they respectively hold when it stops payment.

Every bank doing business in Boston, except in the suburban districts which form a part of Boston, shall on every Monday morning transmit to the secretary of the Commonwealth a statement, under oath of the president or cashier, of the amount of capital stock, assets, and liabilities of the bank, including amount in the Boston clearing house, which statement shall be based upon the condition of the bank on the day of the week next preceding said Monday. Monthly reports are required from every bank in the State, not included in those above mentioned, to be made to the secretary of the Commonwealth. These reports are published in one or more of the daily papers in Boston on the Wednesday after same have been received. Every bank is required to make an annual report to the secretary of the Commonwealth of the condition of its affairs at 7 o'clock on any Saturday afternoon which the governor may direct, within fifteen days from the time designated, certified by the cashier and a majority of the directors. Any committee appointed by the general court may examine into the affairs of any bank, and shall have free access to its books and vaults. Commissioners of savings banks shall visit once in every year, and as much oftener as they may deem expedient, all such banks, and examine all their affairs, and make such inquiries as may be necessary to ascertain their condition, and make a report of such investigation to the general court.

In the legally authorized bonds of any railroad company incorporated under the authority of the States of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, or Iowa, whose road is located wholly or in part within the limits of said States, and has earned and paid regular dividends of not less than 4 per cent per annum on all its issues of capital stock for the ten years preceding such investment; provided, that said bonds be secured by a first mortgage of the whole or a part of the railroad and railroad property of such company, and be guaranteed, both principal and interest, by one or more of the companies named in the first clause of this act. 3. In the note or notes of any citizen of this commonwealth, with a pledge as collateral of any of the aforesaid securities at no more than the par value thereof.

Chattel Mortgages. Chattel mortgages must be recorded in the records of the city or town where the mortgagor resides when the mortgage is made, and in the city in which he then transacts business; every mortgage must be recorded within fifteen days of the date; until recorded the mortgage is not valid except between the parties. On loans less than $1,000 secured by mortgage, the rate of interest can not exceed 18 per cent. It is a criminal offense to remove, sell, or conceal mortgaged property.

Corporations. There is a general law under which corporations may be organized to carry on any lawful business, except for transactions in real estate, banking, and insurance. The business of such corporations is conducted by a president, not less than three directors, clerk, and treasurer. Before commencing business the entire capital must be paid in, in cash or in property taken at a fair valuation satisfactory to commissioner of corporations. A certificate must be filed each year with the secretary of State showing the condition of the company. Salaried officers shall not vote as proxy or attorney at any corporation meeting. Foreign corporations doing business in Massachusetts must file with the commissioner of corporations a copy of its charter or certificate of incorporation, and a certificate of the amount of its capital stock, the amount paid in, and the manner of payment, subscribed and sworn to by president, treasurer, and majority of directors, and also file annual statements with the commissioner of corporations showing their condition and appointing the commissioner of corporations its attorney, upon whom service of process may be made.

Courts. Terms and Jurisdiction. Trial justices may severally hold courts within the counties for which they are appointed, and shall have original jurisdiction, exclusive of the superior court, of all actions of contract, tort, or replevin, where the debt or damages demanded or value of the property alleged to be detained does not exceed $100, and concurrent jurisdiction with the Superior Court of such actions where such amount exceeds $100 and is less than $300. Police and district courts may in their respective counties exercise the same powers, shall have the same jurisdiction, civil and criminal, and shall perform the same duties and be subject to the same liabilities as trial justices. The supreme judicial court has original and concurrent jurisdiction with the superior court, in actions for recovery of debt to the amount of $4,000 or over, in Suffolk County (Boston), and $1,000 or over, in the other counties of the State. Superior court has jurisdiction where the amount claimed exceeds $20. Municipal court of the city of Boston has jurisdiction concurrently with the superior court in the county of Suffolk, in actions where the debt does not exceed $2,000, provided one or more of the defendants resides or has his usual place of business in the city of Boston.

Depositions. The deposition of a witness without the State may be taken under a commission issued to a person in any other State or country by the court in which the case is pending, or it may be taken by a commissioner appointed by the governor for that purpose. Every deposition taken under a commission must be upon written interrogatories, to be exhibited to the adverse party, and cross-interrogatories may be filed by him if neither party to the action shall attend at the taking of the deposition or be represented by attorney.

Divorce. A divorce may be granted for adultery, impotence, cruelty, desertion for three consecutive years, intoxication, drunkenness by use of opium and other drugs, cruel and abusive treatment, neglect to support wife, sentence of five years or more imprisonment. The parties must have lived together as husband and wife in this State; and cause must have occurred in this State, unless the parties had theretofore lived in this State as husband and wife, and one of the parties lived here at time of cause; except that when libelant has lived here for five years next preceding filing of libel or for three years if parties lived here at time of marriage. A divorce may be granted for any lawful cause wherever it occurred. All decrees of divorce are granted nisi to become absolute in six months unless otherwise ordered. Either party may marry again but the libelee not within two years from entry of final decree.

Dower and Curtesy. A wife is entitled to dower in this State as at common law. If husband dies intestate and leaves no issue, the widow takes his real estate in fee to the amount of $5,000 and a life estate in one-half of the other real estate, or if she so elects may take her dower in the land not taken by her in fee. If he dies intestate and leaves no kindred she takes all his real estate. If a married woman dies leaving issue her husband shall hold all her real estate during his life as tenant by the curtesy. If they have had no issue he takes one-half of her real estate for his life. If she dies and leaves no issue he takes her real estate in fee to the amount of $5,000 and an estate by the curtesy in her other real estate. If she dies intestate and leaves no kindred he takes all her real estate in fee.

Executions can not issue until twenty-four hours after judgment rendered, and an original execution must be issued within one year after plaintiff is entitled to sue out the same. Executions in all courts are returnable within sixty days. There is no stay of execution except by special order of court. Executions may be served by levy upon real or personal estate of the debtor or by arrest when arrest is allowed. Certain personal property and real estate are exempt from levy.

Exemptions. Homestead, if recorded, to the value of $800. Necessary wearing apparel of family, certain specified articles of household furniture, and $300 worth in addition thereto; library, $50; tools and implements, $100; stock, $100; boats and fishing tackle, etc., $100; one cow, six sheep, one swine, and two tons of hay, sewing machine, necessary wearing apparel, pew in church, etc. Materials and stock designed and necessary for carrying on his trade and intended to be used or wrought therein, not exceeding $100 in value. Frauds, Statute of. No contract for sale of goods for $50 or more shall be good unless the purchaser accepts and receives part, or gives something in part payment or unless a memorandum in writing is made of the bargain and signed by party to be charged. No action can be brought in the following cases unless the contract is in writing and is signed by party to be charged or his agent: 1. To charge an executor, administrator, or assignee in insolvency. 2. To charge a person for the debt of another. 3. On a contract for the sale of real estate or interest therein. 4. On an agreement not to be performed within one year.

Holidays. The following are legal holidays in this State: February 22d, April 19th, May 30th, July 4th, first Monday in September, Thanksgiving Day, Christmas. (Saturday after 12 o'clock noon for banking purposes.)

Interest. Legal rate, 6 per cent, which is allowed on judgments. There are no usury laws, except on loans less than $1,000, and any rate may be reserved or contracted for in writing, and rate reserved in note is payable after maturity of note as before; loans less than $1,000 shall be dischargable upon payment or tender of the sum actually borrowed and interest at rate of 18 per cent per annum, together with a sum for actual expenses of making the loan, not exceeding $5; all payments in excess of said rate shall be applied to discharge of the principal.

Judgments may be entered within four days of default, but do not constitute a lien upon realty or personalty of debtor not attached on the original writ. Are not outlawed for twenty years. Foreign judgments are proved by a copy of the record.

Limitation of Suits. Contracts or liabilities, express or implied and not under seal, six years; real actions, those upon an attested note, if suit is brought by original payee or his executor or administrator, and personal actions on contracts not limited, twenty years. Revivor: Part payment by the party sought to be charged or new promise to pay in writing. Absence from the State prevents the running of the statute of limitations as to a defendant until he comes into the State. The statute does not run against infants, married women during coverture, insane persons, those imprisoned, and those absent from the State.

Married Women. The real and personal estate of a married woman, acquired at any time, remains her sole and separate property, not subject to the control of her husband, nor liable for his debts. Married women may carry on trade or business, make contracts, sue and be sued, in all matters relating to their separate property, and such contracts are not binding upon the husband. Wife carrying on business on own account must record certificate with city or town clerk; neglect to do this renders her property so employed liable for husband's debts, and renders husband liable for her debts thus contracted. Transfers can not be made direct from husband to wife, but must be made through a third person. Wife can not deprive her husband of more than half of her personal property by will, nor can she impair his interest in her real estate as tenant by the curtesy without his written consent, or of her real estate not exceeding $5,000 in value, and a life estate in one-half of the balance, where no issue survives her. Widow takes dower as at common law, in one-third of her husband's real estate, and if there be no issue and husband dies intestate, she takes his real estate, in fee, to an amount not exceeding $5,000 in value, and a life estate in one-half of the balance. If husband dies intestate and leaves no kindred, she takes the whole of his real estate in fee.

Mortgages. Mortgages now in common use contain a provision authorizing a sale of premises in case of a breach of any of the conditions. Power of sale mortgages may be foreclosed by a sale in accordance with the provisions of the power contained in the mortgage, and an affidavit that the mortgagee has complied with the provisions of the mortgage shall be recorded in the registry of deeds within thirty days after the sale. Notice of the sale must be published once a week for three weeks (sale to be not less than twenty-one days after first publication), the publication to be in the city or town where property is situated, or, if no paper so published, then in a paper published in the county. Proper execution of the power of sale forever bars all right of redemption. Mortgages may also be foreclosed by entry and peaceable possession for three years, which entry must be certified by two witnesses. Possession may also be obtained by action at law.

Notes and Bills of Exchange. The law of negotiable instruments is codified by Stat. of 1898, Ch. 533, taking effect January 1, 1899. It does not apply to instruments made and delivered prior to that date.

An instrument to be negotiable must be in writing, signed by the maker or drawer; must be a promise to pay a sum certain in money, on demand or at a fixed time payable to order or bearer. An instrument payable upon a contingency is not negotiable. The validity and negotiable character of the instrument are not affected by the fact that it is not dated, or does not state when payable. An instrument is payable on demand when it is expressed payable on demand, at sight, or on presentation, or when no time for payment is expressed. When an instrument is payable on demand presentment must be made within a reasonable time; presentment must be made at a reasonable hour on a business day, at the place specified; when no place is specified or address given then at the usual place of business or residence; the instrument must be exhibited and when paid delivered to party paying it. Presentment for payment is dispensed with when the drawee is a fictitious person, or by waiver of presentment. Every negotiable instrument is payable at time fixed therein without grace; when the day of maturity falls on Sunday or a holiday the instrument is payable on the next succeeding business day. Instruments falling due on Saturday are to be presented for payment on the next succeeding business day, except that those payable on demand may at option of the holder be presented for payment before twelve o'clock noon on Saturday, when that entire day is not a holiday.

The acceptance of a bill of exchange must be in writing and signed by the drawee. The drawee is allowed twenty four hours after presentment to accept the bill.

When a foreign bill is dishonored by non-acceptance it must be protested for non-acceptance; if not so protested the drawer and indorsers are discharged.

A negotiable promissory note is an unconditional promise in writing by one person to another, signed by the maker, to pay on demand or at a fixed time a sum of money to order or to bearer. A check is a bill of exchange drawn on a bank, payable on demand. A check must be presented for payment within a reasonable time after its issue. When a check is certified the drawer and indorsers are released.

A Bank includes any person or association of persons carrying on business of banking, whether incorporated or not.

The Negotiable Instrument Act of Massachusetts is about the same as the law now in operation in New York, Connecticut, Colorado, Florida, Maryland, and Virginia. All persons becoming parties to promissory notes payable on time by a signature in blank on the back thereof, shall be entitled to notice of the non-payment thereof the same as indorsers. Checks drawn on a bank may be paid notwithstanding the death of drawer if presented within ten days after date, and a savings bank order if presented within 30 days after date.

Suits. Civil actions in general, except those concerning land (if one of the parties lives in the State), must be brought in the county where one of them lives or has his usual place of business. Where all parties are non-resident, action may be brought in any county. Attachment of property owned by defendants residing out of State sufficient to give jurisdiction in suit after notice published by order of court. Such notice to be given within one year from the entry of the suit. Persons commorant in State may also be arrested on mesne process and held to bail.

Taxes are assessed as of the first day of May in each year, and on real estate are a lien for two years after they are committed to the collector; but the collector may sell real estate for taxes after two years have elapsed, unless the estate has been alienated prior to the giving of the notice of such sale. If not paid on demand, collector may sell after advertisement. Owner, his heirs or assigns, may redeem within two years by paying or tendering to the collector when he exercises the power of taking, or to the purchaser of the sum paid by him, with 10 per cent interest and all necessary intervening charges, and person having title may redeem in two years after notice if property is taxed to a person unknown, or to tenant or occupant not owner, or wrong person or mortgagee of record. The purchaser under a tax sale, if resident in the city or town where the estate is, must record his residence or place of business. If he resides elsewhere he must appoint an agent or attorney and record such appointment.

Transfer of Corporation Stock. The delivery of a stock certificate of a corporation to a bona fide purchaser or pledgee, for value, with a written transfer of the same, or a written power of attorney to sell, assign or transfer the same, signed by owner of certificate, shall be a sufficient delivery to transfer the title as against all parties.

Trustee Process. All personal actions except replevin, and actions of tort for malicious prosecution, slander, libel, or assault and battery may be begun by trustee process, and goods, effects, or credits of defendant in hand of a third person may be attached and held to satisfy final judgment.

Wills. Any person of full age may make a will disposing of his estate. The will must be signed by the testator and attested by three witnesses in presence of the testator. A married woman may make a will, but such will shall not deprive her husband of his tenancy by the curtesy in her real estate, or of a life estate in one-half thereof if they have had no issue born alive.

From bonds of matrimony: For adultery, for incompetency at the time of marriage; for imprisonment in any prison for three years or more without pardon; for desertion of two years; for habitual drunkenness, absolute divorce in another State. 2. From bed and board forever, or for a limited time: For extreme cruelty; desertion for two years; want of suitable maintenance for wife where husband has sufficient ability, may decree, divorce from bond of matrimony. Complainant should reside in the State one year immediately preceding filing petition or bill, or if marriage occurred in this State, complainant shall have resided here from that time until the time of bringing suit; or if the marriage occurred in this State and complainant has resided here from that time. Defendant must be domiciled in this State at the time bill or petition is filed; when defendant shall have been domiciled here when the alleged cause of divorce occurred; when the cause for divorce arose out of the State residence here for two years of complainant or defendant. When not domiciled here at time of suit or when cause for divorce arose, complainant must prove actual cohabitation together within this State, or that such complainant has resided in the State for two years. Where cause arose out of State, one or both parties must reside here two years preceding the suit, no testimony to be taken in the suit for two months except the cause of desertion, or conditionally, to perpetuate the testimony. There must be no collusion between the parties to procure the divorce. Complainant must not be guilty of crime or misconduct charged against respondent. In divorce from bonds of matrimony, except for adultery committed by the wife, if the estate awarded to the wife shall be insufficient for the support of herself and the children, may require sufficient security to be given by the husband for the payment thereof according to the terms of the decree. Marriages prohibited by law are absolutely void without any decree; but the issue of such marriage, except such as occurred where the parties had a former husband or wife living, deemed legitimate. Imprisonment for life, marriage thereby absolutely dissolved without decree, no pardon granted, shall restore his or her conjugal rights. Marriage, one or both of the parties under legal age, is voidable, not void, annulled or cancelled by mutual consent of both or at the election of the party under age; but not of the party of competent age; for upon the latter it is binding. But will be void if the party under age withdraws and refuses to cohabit. The fact that a divorce in another State is fraudulent may be shown collaterally in this State. (People v. Dawell, 25 Mich. 247.) Marriage dissolved on account of prior marriage of either party, if the marriage was in good faith, and such party believed the former wife or husband was dead, that fact appearing in the decree of divorce, the issue of the second marriage, before the commencement of suit, legitimate. Suit for incapacity of one of the parties must be brought within two years from the marriage. Divorce for adultery will be denied when offense was committed by procurement or connivance of complainant; when the offense was forgiven by injured party, and established by express proof, or by the voluntary cohabitation, with the knowledge of the offense; and when suit shall not have been brought within five years after discovery. Divorce from bed and board may be revoked at any time by the court upon the application of the parties.

Interest payable semi-annually, annually, or at any other period falling due, will bear interest computed to date of payment. The penalty for usury is a forfeiture of all interest on the obligation. A bona fide purchaser of negotiable paper is not affected by its being usurious, unless appearing on the paper. Judgments bear the same rate of interest as the instrument or contract upon which such judgment was founded.

Judgments are not liens on lands until execution has been issued thereon and a levy made, and notice thereof recorded in the register of deeds' office of the county where such lands are located—executions issue to sheriff of any county in the State. Judgments for claims arising out of death or personal injury of any person from the negligence of any street railway or steam railroad company organized and doing business under the laws of this State, constitute a lien upon all the assets and all the property of such corporation over all other judgments, executions, or attachments, except for personal labor. Levies on real estate valid for five years from date of levy. Judgments can be obtained in the circuit court in from forty-five to sixty days, depending on return day, time of service, term of court, etc. In justice's courts, if defendant makes default, judgment can be obtained on return day of process. Certified judgments and decrees affecting lands may be recorded in the register of deeds' office in any county where the lands are situated. The records and judicial proceedings of any court in the several States and Territories and in any foreign country, authenticated by the clerk of such court with the seal of such court annexed, or of the officer in whose custody such records are legally kept, with the seal of his office, shall be admitted in evidence in the courts of this State.

Liens. Hotel keepers', inns', boarding houses', lodging houses', on baggage and effects of guests, boarders, lodgers. Laborers', against estate of insolvents and foreclosure of mortgages, trusts, deeds, and other liens, enforced by suit in equity. Mechanics', material-men's, etc., on buildings, by statute, against owner, contractor, and sub-contractor.

Limitations of Suits. Judgments of courts of record, foreign and domestic, exist ten years; of justice's courts, six years. On accounts and notes and other simple contracts actions can not be brought unless within six years from the time the action accrued, as also all civil actions for injuries to person or property. On sealed instruments and judgments, ten years. Revivor: Part payment, or promise in writing to pay. Absences from the State deducted from the period of limitation. Writs of error from supreme court must be issued in one year after final judgment of court below, except said supreme court may grant further time, not to exceed six months. Questions of law only can be reviewed in law cases (now exceptions to refusal of new trial), but both questions of fact and law will be heard on appeals in equity cases. Proceedings to foreclose mortgages must be commenced within fifteen years after they become due and payable, or within fifteen years after last payment on mortgage; and as to mortgages fifteen years or more past due, within five years after the statute takes effect. [See Session Laws, 1879.] After such limitations have expired, mortgages may be discharged by application to the circuit court of the county where property is situated. For the recovery of real property—within five years where the claim arises against executor's, guardian's, or sheriff's deed; within five years where defendant claims under deed made by auditor general of this State for taxes; within fifteen years in all other cases. Within three years, actions for personal injuries. Within five years, actions for estates sold by trustees, and by minors and others under legal disabilities, and persons absent from the State; within three years after removal of disabilities or return to State.

Mob Violence. Any person taken from officers of justice in any county by a mob and assaulted shall be entitled to recover from the county $1,000. Any person suffering lynching by a mob is entitled to recover $5,000, and if serious injury, $1,000; if permanently disabled, $5,000; suffering death, $5,000.

Married Women may make contracts in respect to their own property, and may have, hold, and enjoy the same, and have the same rights and remedies as though they were unmarried. They may carry on business in their own name with their own property by consent of their husbands, but can not enter into partnership with husband and render herself jointly liable for firm contracts (73 Mich. 146). But a married woman's contract to pay or to become liable for payment of the debt of her husband or other person is voidable by her. She may, however, charge her real or personal property to secure such indebtedness, by mortgage. A mortgage upon a homestead is void unless signed by the wife. Widow takes dower; the use during her natural life of one-third part of all the lands whereof her husband was seized of an estate of inheritance at any time during coverture, except non-residents of the State and except where she elects to take by will or under the statute of distribution, giving her property in lieu of dower. Mortgage indebtedness on the real estate for part of purchase price will be deducted from the value of such real estate in setting off and assigning dower. Conveyances to husband and wife of lands they have title to by entirety not liable to execution against both or either of them. Mechanic's lien for services and materials furnished upon lands belonging to, with her knowledge and consent, by contract with her husband, same as if contract made with her. Act No. 179, Pub. Acts, 1891.

Notes and Bills of Exchange. Negotiable promissory notes and bills of exchange, including acceptances, are "commercial paper." Not necessary that such paper be made payable at any bank or other place. The persons primarily liable to pay any such paper must seek the holder if no place of payment specified, and pay to such holder when the paper is due. If there are indorsers or drawers entitled to notice, of course the holder is bound to present the paper to the makers at the place specified if any, otherwise diligently search for them and demand payment, if he wishes to hold such indorsers and drawers to their liability, and notice must be given them in their order promptly by due course of mail or by immediate personal service of notice of such presentment, demand for payment, and refusal to pay the paper. On all bills of exchange and negotiable notes and acceptances payable within this State, three days of grace are allowed, unless expressed "without grace;" any bill of exchange, note or draft payable on demand, and all checks, bills of exchange or drafts drawn on any bank, are payable without grace, and it is not necessary to protest such bill and drafts so drawn for non-acceptance; but such bills of exchange and checks should be presented within a reasonable time for payments to hold drawers or indorsers. In all other cases demand, protest for non-payment, and the sending notices of protest to the indorser, at his reputed place of business or residence, are necessary to bind the indorser. Parties other than payees to paper, being such before or at its inception, are held as joint makers, and not entitled to notice of non-payment. Damages on domestic bills protested, three to ten per cent. No person within this State shall be charged as an "acceptor" on a bill of exchange unless his acceptance shall be in writing signed by himself or his lawful agent. Guaranty of payment or of collection of any promissory note is negotiable and shall pass to the holder of the note whether such guaranty is endorsed thereon or is written or printed upon separate paper.

Powers of Attorney relative to real estate must be executed and acknowledged in the same manner as deeds to authorize record in registry of deeds.

Replevin. Writs of replevin may be issued to recover possession of personal property or damages for its unlawful taking or detention upon filing an affidavit in justices' or circuit courts showing that the plaintiff in the writ is entitled to possession of the property, and that the same has not been taken by virtue of any warrant for any taxes, assessments, or fine under any statute of this State, nor seized under any execution or attachment against the goods and chattels of the plaintiff liable to execution; and that such goods and chattels are unlawfully detained by defendant. The plaintiff in justices' courts must file a bond before writ issues with sufficient sureties; and in circuit court within twenty-four hours after the replevy, give bond to sheriff, otherwise the goods will be restored to the defendant, pending such suit. Judgment for return of the property or for its value, if return is waived, to be assessed by the court or jury. Where property is valued at $100 or under, justices' courts have jurisdiction.

Suits. Practice and proceedings of circuit and supreme courts of record are in accordance with the common law and courts of equity in England, with some statutory modifications. Actions survive as by the common law, and in addition thereto actions of replevin, trover, assault and battery, false imprisonment; for goods taken and carried away; negligent injuries to the person; actions for damages to real or personal estate; actions to recover real estate parted with by reason of false representations and deceit. In actions where defendant has given notice of set-off or recoupment, plaintiff shall not be allowed to discontinue his suit or submit to nonsuit without consent of defendant.

Taxes assessed against real estate become a debt against the persons assessed December 1st of each year, and such taxes a lien on the real estate, and all personal taxes shall be a lien on all personal property from first day of December of same year. City taxes are governed by charter.

Wills to include codicils may be made in writing by any person of full age and sound mind disposing of testator's property, real or personal; must be signed by the testator, or by some person in his presence, and by his express direction, and subscribed in his presence by two or more competent witnesses. Can not be revoked unless by burning or obliterating it with the intention of revoking it by the testator or by some person in his presence and by his direction, or by some other will or codicil in writing, or by some other writing signed and subscribed in the same manner. Wills must be presented to the probate court within thirty days after testator's death; when the judge shall appoint time and place for proving, and cause public notice thereof by publication in a newspaper printed in the State three weeks successively prior to the time of hearing. Court will grant probate thereof on the testimony of one of the subscribing witnesses, that such will was executed in all the particulars as required by law, and that the testator was of sound mind at the time of the execution thereof. Wills proved in any other of the United States or in any foreign country, according to the laws thereof may be allowed, in the State or county in which the testator shall have real or personal estate copy of such will and the probate thereof, duly authenticated, produced by the executor or other person interested to the probate court, such court shall appoint a time and place of hearing, and notice shall be given in the same manner as in the case of an original will; if it shall appear that the instrument ought to be allowed in this State, the copy shall be recorded, and the will shall have the same force and effect, as if it had been the original will; the probate court shall grant letters testamentary, or letters of administration, with the will annexed, which shall extend to all of the estate of the testator in this State; and such estate, after the payment of his debts and expenses of administration, shall be disposed of according to such will, so far as it may operate upon it; and the residue shall be disposed of as is provided by law of this State. When any child shall be born after making of a last will, and no provision made therein for such child, it shall have the same share in the estate of the testator as if he had died intestate, unless it shall be apparent from the will that it was the intention of the testator that no provision should be made for such child. When any testator shall omit to provide in his will for any of his children, or for the issue of any deceased child, and it shall appear that such omission was not intentional, but was made by mistake or accident, such child, or the issue of such child, shall have the same share in the estate of the testator as if he had died intestate. A devise or legacy to any child or relation of testator shall go to the issue of the legatee or devisee, who shall die before the testator leaving issue, in the same manner as the devisee or legatee would have taken the same if he had survived the testator; unless a different disposition shall be directed by the will. All the property of the testator shall be first liable for the payment of his debts, unless he designated sufficient of his estate for that purpose, when such provision shall be first exhausted. If the testator leaves a wife surviving him, the testamentary disposition shall be subject to her election to take any interest that may be given to her, by the testator in his last will and testament; or in lieu thereof, to take the sum or share that would have passed to her, under the statute of distributions, had the testator died intestate, until the sum shall amount to five thousand dollars; and of the residue of the estate one-half the sum or share that would have passed to her, under the statute of distributions, had the testator died intestate, and in case no provision be made in said will, she shall be entitled to the election. The election to take otherwise than under the will, must be made in writing, filed in the court where the estate is being settled within one year from the probate of the will; failure to so file, shall be deemed an election to take under the will. The will executed in a foreign country, by the law of which no probate of wills is required, if the original will can not be produced in this State for probate, it may be proved and allowed in this State by copy in the circuit court in chancery in and for any county, in which the maker of such will left any property, at his or her decease affected by such will, and such court may admit such will to probate; the same in effect as if in any probate court of this State.

SYNOPSIS OF THE LAWS OF MINNESOTA

RELATING TO

BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES.

Prepared and Revised by Messrs. WARNER, RICHARDSON & LAWRENCE, Attorneys at Law, St. Paul. (See Card in Attorneys' List.)

Acknowledgments. Deeds and mortgages must be signed, sealed, and acknowledged by the grantor, and attested by two witnesses. Within the State acknowledgments may be made before any judge or clerk of a court of record, justice of the peace, notary public, register of deeds, court commissioner, county auditor or member of the legislature. Without the State, but within the United States, by judges or clerks of courts of record, justices of the peace (whose certificate must be authenticated with certificate of clerk of court), and notaries public, also by commissioners in any of the States or Territories of the United States, duly appointed and commissioned by the governor of this State. In foreign countries before any notary public, minister, consul, or other diplomatic or commercial agent of the United States there accredited and resident. When a married woman unites with her husband in the execution of an instrument she must be described in the acknowledgment as such.

Actions. The distinction between actions at law and suits in equity and the forms of all such actions are abolished; and there is but one form of action, which is called a civil action. The party complaining is known as the plaintiff; the adverse party as the defendant. Every action shall be prosecuted in the name of the real party in interest, except in certain cases where parties are infants or under guardianship, and except also that an executor or administrator, trustee of an express trust, or a person expressly authorized by statute, may sue without joining with him the person for whose benefit the action is prosecuted. When the question is one of common or general interest to many persons, or when the parties are very numerous, and it is impracticable to bring them all before the court, one or more may sue or defend for the benefit of the whole. In case of an assignment of a thing in action—except a promissory note or bill of exchange transferred in good faith and upon good consideration before due, the action by the assignee is without prejudice to any set-off or other defense existing at the time of, or before notice of, the assignment. When two or more persons transact any business under common name, whether it comprises the names of such persons or not, the associates may be sued by such common name, the process in such cases being served on one or more of the associates. The judgment in such action shall bind the joint property of all the associates in the same manner as if all had been named defendants. An action does not abate by death, marriage, disability, or transfer of any interest if the cause of action survives or continues. In case of death, marriage, or other disability the court may on motion allow the action to be continued by or against his representative or successor in interest. In case of any other transfer of interest the action shall be continued in the name of the original party or the court may allow the person to whom the transfer is made to be added or substituted in the action. After a verdict of a jury, decision or finding of a court, or report of a referee in any action for a wrong, such action shall not abate by the death of any party. The plaintiff may unite several causes of action in the same complaint, whether legal or equitable when they are included in either of the following classes: 1. The same transaction, or transactions connected with the same subject of action. 2. Contracts, express or implied. 3. Injuries with or without force to person and property, or either. 4. Injuries to character. 5. Claims to recover real property, with or without damages for the withholding thereof, and the rents and profits of the same. 6. Claims to recover personal property, with or without damages for the withholding thereof. 7. Claims against a trustee by virtue of a contract, or by operation of law. But the causes of action so united shall belong to one only of these classes and affect all the parties to the action and not require different places of trial and shall be separately stated.

Administration of Estates. There is established in each county a probate court, presided over by the probate judge of the county. Wills must be proved and letters testamentary, or of administration granted: 1. In the county in which the decedent was a resident at the time of his death. 2. In the county in which the decedent may have died leaving estate therein, he not being a resident of the State. 3. In the county in which any part of the estate may be at the time of his death, or shall thereafter come, the decedent having died out of the State and not resident thereof at the time of his death. 4. In the county in which any part of the estate may be, the decedent not being a resident of the State and not leaving estate in the county in which he died. 5. When the estate of the decedent is in more than one county, he having died out of the State, and not having been a resident thereof at the time of his death, or being such non-resident, and dying within the State, and not leaving estate in the county where he died, the probate court of that county in which application is first made for letters testamentary or of administration, has exclusive jurisdiction of the settlement of the estate. Administration will be granted in the following order: 1. The widow or next of kin, or both, as the judge of probate may think proper, or such person as the widow or next of kin may request to have appointed if suitable and competent to discharge the trust. 2. If the widow or next of kin, or the person selected by them, is unsuitable or incompetent, or if the widow or next of kin neglects for thirty days after the death of the intestate to apply for administration, or to request that administration be granted to some other person, the same may be granted to one or more of the principal creditors, if any such are competent and willing to take it. A petition for letters of administration must be verified and must show: 1. The jurisdictional facts. 2. The names, ages, and residence of the heirs of the intestate, so far as known to the petitioner. 3. The probable value of the personal property of the estate, and also the probable value of the real property and its character. 4. The name and address of the person for whom administration is prayed. At the time of granting letters testamentary, or of administration, the court shall make an order limiting the time in which creditors may present claims against the deceased for examination and allowance, which shall not be less than six months, nor more than one year from the date of such order (it is usual to make the term six months in the first instance). Said order shall fix the time and place in which the court will examine and adjust the claims and demands of all persons against the deceased. No claim or demand shall be received after expiration of the time so limited unless for good cause shown, and in no case unless presented within one year and six months from the time when notice of the order was given.

Aliens. (See Right to Hold Property.)

Arbitration. All controversies which can be subject of a civil action may be submitted to the decision of one or more arbitrators. Neither party has power to revoke a submission without the consent of the other, and if either of them neglects to appear before the arbitrator after due notice, the arbitrators may nevertheless proceed to hear and determine the cause upon the evidence produced by the other party. Arbitration under the statute is rarely resorted to.

Arrest. There is no arrest for debt in this State.

Assignments. (Superseded by U. S. Bankruptcy Act.)

Attachments may issue where (1) debt was fraudulently contracted; (2) defendant foreign corporation or non-resident, or has departed from State with intent to defraud or delay his creditors, or avoid service of summons, or keeps himself concealed with like intent; (3) or has assigned, secreted, or disposed of, or is about to assign, secrete, or dispose of his property with intent to delay or defraud his creditors.

Banks. Any number of persons, not less than three, may be incorporated as a bank, the capital stock to be not less than $10,000, in towns of not exceeding 1,000 population; $15,000 in towns of more than 1,000 and not exceeding 1,500 population; $20,000 in towns of more than 1,500 and not exceeding 2,000 population; and $25,000 in towns of more than 2,000 population. The full amount of capital stock named in the organization certificate shall be paid in cash before any association shall be authorized to commence business. The stockholders in each bank shall be individually liable to an additional amount equal to the amount of stock owned by them for all debts of such bank, and such individual liability shall continue for one year after any transfer or sale of stock.

The affairs of each bank shall be managed by a board of not less than three directors. Every director must own and hold not less than $500 of the capital stock of such bank, except that in banks having a capital of of $15,000 or less, a director must own and hold in his own name not less than $300 of the capital stock of such bank.

Before any dividend is declared not less than one-fifth of the net profits of the bank for the preceding half-year, or for such period as is covered by the dividend, shall be carried to a fund, to be designated the surplus fund, until such surplus fund shall amount to 20 per cent of its capital stock, and thereafter such surplus fund shall equal 20 per cent of the capital stock of such bank, and whenever the same becomes impaired it shall be reimbursed in the manner provided for its accumulation. The board of directors of each bank shall annually appoint from its members an examining committee, whose duties it shall be to examine the condition of the bank at least once every six months, or oftener if required; and such committee shall report to the board, giving in detail all items included in the assets of the bank which they have reason to believe are not of the value at which they appear on the books and records of the bank, and giving the value of each of such items as in their judgment they may have determined; and the board shall cause said report to be recorded in the minute books of the bank, and a duly authenticated copy thereof transmitted to the public examiner.

Every bank shall make to the superintendent of banks not less than four reports during the year, which shall be published. The superintendent of banks shall also have power to call for special reports from any particular bank, whenever, in his judgment, the same are necessary.

The total liabilities to any such bank of any person, or of any company, corporation, or firm, for money borrowed, including in the liabilities of a company, or firm, the liabilities of the several members thereof, shall at no time exceed 15 per cent of the aggregate amount of the capital stock of such bank actually paid in, and of the permanent surplus fund of such bank; provided, that the total liability of any officer or director to such bank shall at no time exceed 10 per cent of the aggregate amount of the capital stock of such bank actually paid in and of the permanent surplus fund of such bank. But the discount of the following classes of paper shall not be considered as money borrowed: 1. The discount of business or commercial paper actually owned by the person negotiating the same. 2. The discount of bills of exchange drawn in good faith against actually existing values. 3. The discount of paper based upon the collateral security of warehouse receipts covering agricultural and manufactured products in store and elevators and warehouses under the following conditions: 1. That the actual market value of the property held in store and covered by such receipts shall at all times exceed, by at least 10 per cent, the amount loaned upon the same. 2. That the full amount of the loans shall at all times be covered by policies of fire insurance.

Each bank shall, at all times, have on hand, in available funds, an amount equal at least to 20 per cent of all its immediate liabilities. One-half of this amount of available funds may consist of balances due to the bank from good solvent banks, and one-half of such sum shall be held in reserve in cash on hand.

On becoming satisfied that any bank has become insolvent, or has violated any of the provisions of the banking law, the superintendent of banks may forthwith take possession of the books, records and assets of every description of such bank, and hold the same, and said books, records and assets shall not be subject to levy or attachment during such reasonable time as may be necessary for further examination and to enable the superintendent to apply to a court of competent jurisdiction for the appointment of a receiver for such bank.

No banking corporation shall make an assignment, but its officers shall report the fact of insolvency to superintendent of banks, who shall take possession and apply for receiver.

Bills of Lading. Bills of lading and warehouse receipts are declared by statute to be negotiable, and may be transferred by indorsement and delivery of such receipt or bill of lading, and any person to whom such receipt or bill of lading may be transferred shall be deemed to be the owner of the goods, wares or merchandise therein specified, so as to give security and validity to any lien created on the same, subject to the payment of freight and charges thereon, provided all warehouse receipts or bills of lading which shall have the words "not negotiable," plainly written or printed on the face thereof, shall be exempt from the provisions of said law.

Bonds, Recognizances, etc. Legally chartered companies authorized by the laws of any State to guarantee bonds or other obligations may be accepted as surety on any bond, recognizance, obligation, stipulation, or undertaking, and all heads of departments, courts, judges, boards, and municipalities, and any and all public officers, State, county, town, or municipal, whose duty it may be to accept or approve the sufficiency of any such bond, etc., may accept and approve the same when executed or guaranteed solely by such company, whether the law requires more than one surety or not. Such companies must, however, first procure the certificate of the commissioner of insurance of this State, authorizing it to do business therein.

Chattel Mortgages. Every mortgage on personal property which is not accompanied by an immediate delivery, and followed by an actual and continued change of possession, is void as against creditors and subsequent purchasers and mortgagees in good faith, unless the mortgage is made in good faith, and the mortgage or a true copy thereof is filed as follows: The mortgage shall be filed in the town, city, or village where the property mortgaged is at the time of the execution of the mortgage, and a copy filed in the town, city, or village where the mortgagor, if a resident of the State, resides. In each town the instrument shall be filed in the office of the town clerk thereof, and in the several cities and villages in the office of the recorder, clerk, or other officer in whose custody the records of the city or village are kept. Such instruments or copies shall remain on file and shall be duly acknowledged before an officer authorized to take acknowledgment of deeds. A chattel mortgage so filed is notice to creditors and subsequent purchasers until the debt is paid or barred by statute of limitations, but in no event more than six (6) years from date of filing. All chattel mortgages must be attested by two witnesses, and acknowledged. All mortgages of the following personal property, to-wit, the family bible, family pictures, school books or library, and musical instruments for the use of the family; all wearing apparel of the debtor and his family, all beds, bedsteads, and bedding kept and used by the debtor and his family, all stoves and appendages put up or kept for the use of the debtor and his family, all cooking utensils and all other household furniture not herein enumerated not exceeding $500 in value; also all moneys arising from insurance of any property exempted from sale on execution when such property has been destroyed by fire; one sewing machine and one typewriter, made by a married man or woman, must be executed by both husband and wife in order to be valid.

Commission Merchants. Every person, firm, or corporation who receives for sale for account of the shipper or consignor any grain, farm produce, agricultural products, or fruits shall first obtain a license from the railroad and warehouse commission to conduct and carry on such business, and give a bond to the State of Minnesota in a sum to be fixed by said commission for the benefit of such consignors, which bond, approved by said commission, shall be filed in the office of the secretary of State.

Conveyances. Deeds of land or any interest in lands within this State shall be executed in the presence of two witnesses, who shall subscribe their names to the same as such, and be acknowledged by the person executing the same. In foreign countries it may be executed according to the laws of such country, with a certificate of any minister resident, charge d'affaires, or consul of the United States, to that effect indorsed thereon or attached thereto, or before any notary public, minister, charge d'affaires, commissioner, or consul of the United States appointed to reside therein.

Corporations. Any number of persons not less than five may associate themselves and become incorporated for the purpose of building and carrying on railroads and other semi-public works and business, with power of eminent domain. Any number of persons not less than three may be incorporated for the purpose of engaging in any lawful business. The minimum amount of capital stock shall in no case be less than $10,000, and shall be divided into shares of not less than $10 nor more than $100, except the capital stock of mutual building and loan associations may be divided into shares of $200 each. The capital stock and number of shares may be increased at any regular or special meeting of the stockholders. The articles of incorporation shall contain: 1. The name of the corporation, the general nature of the business, and the principal place, if any, of transacting the same. 2. The time of commencement and the period of continuance of said corporation. 3. The amount of capital stock of said corporation and how to be paid in. 4. The highest amount of indebtedness or liability to which said corporation shall at any time be subject. 5. The names and places of residence of the persons forming such association for incorporation. 6. The names of the first board of directors, and in what officers or directors the government of the corporation and the management of its affairs shall be vested, and when the same elected. 7. The number and amount of the shares of the capital stock of said corporation. Said articles of incorporation are required to be published for one week in some newspaper printed and published at the capital of the State, or in some newspaper printed and published in the county where said corporation is organized, and the same shall be filed for record in the office of the secretary of State, and also in the office of the register of deeds for the county where said corporation has its principal place of business. Each stockholder in any corporation (excepting those organized for the purpose of carrying on any kind of manufacturing or mechanical business) shall be liable to the amount of stock held or owned by him. This is a constitutional provision and is held to impose a double liability on the stockholders of all corporations, except manufacturing corporations. Every corporation for pecuniary profit, organized in any other State, before it can transact any business in this State, acquire, hold, or dispose of property, sue or maintain any action, shall maintain a public office in this State for the transaction of its business, and appoint an agent, who shall reside in the county in which said public office is located, duly authorized to accept service of process, and upon whom service of process may be made in any action. A duly authenticated copy of the appointment of such agent shall be filed in the office of the Secretary of State, and a certified copy shall be prima facie evidence of the appointment and authority of such agent. Every such corporation shall file in the office of the Secretary of State a copy of its charter, certificate, or articles of incorporation, duly authenticated, and a statement, duly sworn to, showing the proportion of its capital stock which is represented by its property located and business transacted in this State; and such corporation shall be required to pay into the State treasury the sum of $50 for the first $50,000, or fraction thereof, of such proportion of capital stock, and the further sum of $5 for every additional $10,000, or fraction thereof, of such proportion of capital stock, and no increase in the capital stock of any corporation shall be valid or effectual until such corporation shall have paid into the State treasury the sum of $5 for every $10,000, or fraction thereof, of such increase of such proportion of capital stock. In determining the proportionate share of the capital stock upon which it shall pay license fees, as aforesaid, the business of such corporation transacted in and out of this State during the year immediately preceding the filing of its articles shall be considered and control. Upon a compliance with said provision the Secretary of State shall execute and deliver to such corporation a certificate that it has duly complied with the laws of this State, and is authorized to do business herein, stating the amount of its capital, and of the proportion thereof which is located in this State, and such certificate shall be prima facie evidence that the said corporation is entitled to all the rights and benefits of this law, and of the valid creation and incorporation of such corporation; and such corporation shall enjoy those rights and benefits for a period of thirty years from and after the date of such certificate, unless the charter or corporate existence of such corporation shall sooner expire under its own provisions, or those of the State under whose laws it is created; and the rights and privileges of such corporation to hold property in this State may be renewed for like periods by refiling its articles of incorporation with the Secretary of State, and by the payment of like fees whenever, pursuant to the provisions of this act, its rights and privileges shall expire. Every such corporation which shall neglect to comply with the provisions of this law shall be subject to a fine of $1,000. No corporation which shall fail to comply with the provisions of this law shall maintain any suit or action, either legal or equitable, in any of the courts of this State; provided, this act shall not apply to corporations engaged in exclusively manufacturing business in this State, nor to drummers or traveling salesmen soliciting business in this State for corporations which are entirely non-resident, nor to any corporation engaged only in the business of loaning money or investing in securities in this State, including all business incidentally growing out of the same, or in any manner affect corporations which may be organized for the purpose of raising and improving live stock, cultivating and improving farm, garden, or horticultural lands, growing sugar beets, or any corporation founded for the purpose of canning fruits or vegetables, or any corporation whose sole business in this State is transportation of freight or passengers, or both freight and passengers, by water.

A probate court with usual powers is established in each organized county, and holds term on the first Monday of each month. Justice's jurisdiction, $100. A municipal court is established in all cities and villages of over 3,000 inhabitants, which are courts of record, with jurisdiction coextensive with the counties in which they are severally situated, and possessing general powers of common law courts, excepting equity jurisdiction, and where title to real estate is involved, in matters in controversy where the amount involved does not exceed $500.

If, at the death of such child who dies under age and not having been married, all the other children of his said parent are also dead, and any of them has left issue, the estate that came to said children by inheritance from his said parent shall descend to all the issue of other children of the same parent; and if all the said issue are in the same degree of kindred to said child, they shall have the said estate equally; otherwise, they shall take according to the right of representation. 9. Interest. Six per cent is the legal rate of interest upon every legal indebtedness, including judgments and accounts. The highest rate of interest allowed to be taken by special contract is 10 per cent. All usurious contracts are void, and court will decree cancellation.

Judgments. If no defense is made, judgments can be obtained at the expiration of twenty days in district court, and upon being in docketed the office of the clerk of the court, they become liens upon all real estate of the debtor in the county where docketed, owned by him at that time or afterwards acquired, for ten years after date of docketing, and can be enforced during that time by execution against the real or personal property of judgment debtor. Judgments in municipal courts may be docketed in district court and become a lien. Also judgments of United States court become liens, as above, when docketed in proper court.

The deed of a married woman to her husband, or vice versa, is absolutely void. Necessaries furnished to and used by the family are chargeable upon the property of both husband and wife, or either of them, and in relation thereto they may be sued jointly or separately.

Mortgages on real estate must be recorded with register of deeds of county where real property is situate, acknowledged, and have two witnesses, and are foreclosed by action or publication. A year is allowed for redemption. (See Chattel Mortgages.)

It shall be unlawful for any person or persons not citizens of the United States, or who have not lawfully declared their intention to become such citizens; or for any corporation not created by or under the laws of the United States, or some State or Territory, to hereafter acquire, hold or own any real estate so hereafter acquired, or any interest therein, in this State, except such as may be acquired by devise or inheritance, or in good faith in the ordinary course of justice in the collection of debts hereafter created, or to the foreclosure of mortgages, except actual settlers on farms of not more than 160 acres. The above prohibition does not apply in cases where right to hold land in the United States is secured by existing treaties to citizens of foreign countries, nor to actual settlers upon farms of not more than 160 acres, who may settle thereon before January 1, 1889. No corporation or association, twenty per centum of the stock of which is or may be owned by any person or persons, associations or corporations, not citizens of the United States, shall hereafter acquire, hold or own any real estate in this State. No corporation, other than those organized for construction or operation of railways, turnpikes or canals, shall acquire, hold or own over 5,000 acres of land so hereafter acquired in this State, and that no railroad, canal or turnpike corporation shall hereafter acquire, hold or own other than may be necessary for the proper operation of its railway, canal or turnpike, except lands granted by United States or State. All lands acquired, held or owned in violation of the provisions of this act shall be forfeited to this State. It is the duty of the attorney-general to enforce any such forfeiture by due process of law.

All devises, legacies, or gifts made in any will to a subscribing witness thereto shall be void unless there are two other competent subscribing witnesses to the same.

SYNOPSIS OF THE LAWS OF MISSISSIPPI

RELATING TO

BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES.

Prepared and Revised by Messrs. BRAME & BRAME, Attorneys at Law, Jackson. (See Card in Attorneys' List.)

Accounts. Affidavit to account sued on entitles plaintiff to judgment, unless defendant files affidavit denying its correctness and particularizing items. The affidavit must be by the creditor or his agent, not by one styling himself book-keeper merely, and must state that the account is correct and is due from the debtor The same rule applies in favor of a defendant who relies upon an account as a set-off.

Acknowledgments in the State may be before any judge of the supreme or circuit court, any chancellor, clerk of a court of record under his seal, justice of the peace, notary public, or member of the board of supervisors. Acknowledgments in another State may be before any of the judges of the supreme court, or any district judge of the United States, or a judge of the supreme or superior court in any State or Territory, any justice of the peace, whose official character shall be certified to under the seal of some court of record in his county, or by any commissioner residing in such State or Territory, appointed by the governor of Mississippi, or a notary public or a clerk of a court of record having a seal of office. Acknowledgments or proof of deeds to property in this State by persons in a foreign country may be made before any court of record, or the mayor or chief magistrate of any city, borough, or corporation where the grantor or witnesses reside, or may be; or before any commissioner appointed by the governor of this State, or before any ambassador, foreign minister, secretary of legation, or consul of the United States. The certificate shall show that the party or party and witness were identified before the officer, and that the party acknowledged the execution of the instrument, or that the execution was duly proved by the witness or witnesses. (Code 1892, §§2466, 2467.)

Actions. All distinction as to forms of action are abolished. Service must be had both in circuit and justices' courts five days before return day. All actions ex contractu in the circuit court in which the defendant has been personally served with process thirty days before the return day, actions of mandamus and quo warranto, actions to enforce mechanics' liens, actions commenced by attachment, and actions of replevin shall be triable at the return term. (Code 1892, sec. 722.)

Administration of Estates. Had in chancery court, according to will, if any. All claims against a deceased person must be registered within one year after the first publication of notice to creditors to present their claims; otherwise they will be barred. The presentation of a claim and the registration thereof, as required, stops the running of the general statute of limitations as to such claim. All debts are to be paid before heirs, distributers, or legatees receive any part of estate. Claims against insolvent estates are paid pro rata.

Affidavits or Oaths may be taken before a judge of any court of record, clerk of such court, master in chancery, member of the board of supervisors, justice of the peace, notary public, mayor, or police justice of a city, town or village; in another State by any officer thereof, or of the United States, authorized by the law of such State to administer oaths.

Aliens. No restrictions on the rights of resident aliens to acquire property or dispose of it. Non-resident aliens can not hold land, but may take liens thereon to secure debts and purchase at foreclosure thereof, and thereafter hold it for not longer than twenty years, with power to sell to a citizen in fee; or he may retain it by becoming a citizen. Land held or acquired contrary to the statute escheats. Law not applicable against a citizen or prospective citizen who acquires land in good faith, notwithstanding alienage of a former owner.

Appeals from justice court to circuit court may be taken within five days. From circuit and chancery courts to supreme court within two years; infants and persons under disability have two years after removal of disability. Appeals also lie in certain cases from board of supervisors and municipal courts to circuit court.

Arbitration. Parties may submit controversies to arbitration of one or more disinterested arbitrators, with agreement that proper court shall enter judgment in accordance with the award. But the court may modify, correct, or vacate the award and order a new hearing. Matters of account may likewise be referred by the court to referees. Arbitration may also be had by agreement without the intervention of a court.

Arrests made by certain officers, or private persons may arrest for offense committed in his presence, subject to certain conditions. No arrest or imprisonment for debt.

Assignments and Insolvency. No insolvent law. Debtor, though insolvent, may make assignments and may prefer creditors, if in good faith and no benefit, direct or indirect, is reserved to himself. There is no provision for the discharge of a debtor on his making an assignment. No statute governing partial assignments. In general assignments, where the value of the property exceeds $1,000, the assignee must give bond and administer the trust in the chancery court. Schedules and inventories are to be filed. Creditor may file petition, and, by showing assignment is fraudulent, have priority for his debt. In such case invalidity of assignment must be established to the satisfaction of the court. Preferences not prohibited. Assignor must file schedule of debts and assets, and must make oath to same. Otherwise than as stated, assignments are governed by the general law.

Attachment. In advance of judgment, may issue against the property of a debtor who is a non-resident or who removes or is about to remove himself or property out of the State; who absconds or conceals himself; or who incurred the debt in conducting the business of a ship, steamboat or other water craft in some of the navigable waters of this State; or who assigns or disposes of his property, or some part thereof, or is about to assign or dispose of his property with intent to defraud his creditors; or who has property or rights in action which he conceals and unjustly refuses to apply to the payment of his debts; or who has converted or is about to convert his property into money or evidences of debt, with the intent to place it beyond the reach of creditors; or who has fraudulently contracted the debt or incurred the obligation for which suit has been or is about to be brought, may be attached. In addition to those named above, the following grounds exist: "9. That the defendant is buying, selling, or dealing in, or has within six months next before the suing out of the attachment, directly or indirectly, bought, sold, or dealt in future contracts, commonly called 'futures.' 10. That he is in default for public money, due from him as a principal, to the State, or some county, city, town, or village thereof. 11. That defendant is a banker, banking company, or corporation, and received deposits of money, knowing at the time that he or it was insolvent; or has made or published a false or fraudulent statement as to his or its financial condition." Attachments for debts not due allowed for last six grounds—or when the creditor has just cause to believe that the debtor will remove himself or his effects out of State before debt will be due, with intent to defraud. Non-resident creditors have the same rights of attachment as resident creditors, whether the debtor be resident or non-resident. Attachments constitute liens on the property in the order in which the writs are levied. Plaintiff must furnish bond in double the amount of the debt and make affidavit as to one or more of the grounds specified above. The suit does not abate on verdict for defendant, on a plea denying grounds of attachment; but judgment may be rendered on the debt, to be offset by any verdict of damages in favor of defendant for wrongfully suing out attachment. Any other creditors may intervene and contest ground of attachment, if defendant omits to do so. Garnishment may issue on attachment or judgment.

Attachment in Chancery may be had, on bill filed, against the property, effects, or debts of an absent, non-resident, or absconding debtor. A lien is acquired by the commencement of suit. If a writ of sequestration for the seizure of goods is obtained, bond is required.

Banks. No provisions in regard to banks in the constitution; they are governed by their charters and the common law. There are, however, some statutes to prevent insolvent banks from continuing business. There is no system of official examination, but all, except National banks, are required to make a report, not less than four times each year, to the auditor. And the auditor shall make requisition on all banks for these reports to be made as of dates prior to the date of the requisition, and such date to be known only to himself. Such reports shall be verified and shall be published in full in a newspaper of the town or city where the bank is located. Resources and liabilities shall be stated in such reports. Banks collecting drafts with bill of lading attached must hold funds at least twenty-four hours.

Bills of Exchange. (See Notes and Bills.)

Bills of Lading. Bills of lading, and warehouse receipts or instruments in the nature thereof, are made conclusive evidence in the hands of every bona fide holder, as against the person or corporation issuing the same, that the property was actually received for shipment or storage.

Building and Loan Associations do business according to the usual plan of such associations. Ten shares owned by any one person exempt from taxation. Local building and loan associations dealing only with their members are exempted from the effect of the usury laws.

Chattel Mortgages and Deeds of Trust may be executed and recorded as other mortgages. Foreclosure is usually by trustee's sale. If property be removed to another county, mortgage must be there recorded within twelve months to affect purchasers without notice. Mortgages on property to be acquired are valid, but not on a changing stock of goods if the mortgagor remain in possession and continue business. Reservation of title by the seller of a chattel to secure purchase money is valid without record, even against purchasers without notice. But if possession remain three years in such purchaser, he is to be deemed the owner.

Collaterals. No statutes. The general law prevails.

Commercial Travelers for houses or firms outside the State are not required to pay privilege tax.

Common Law is in force except as modified by constitution or statutes.

Conditional Sales. (See Chattel Mortgages.)

Contracts for sale of land, or for lease thereof for more than one year, required to be in writing. Same in regard to sale of chattels of the value of more than $50, unless delivery in whole or in part is made to buyer. Dealing in futures is forbidden and made a ground for attachment. Contracts with any person who carries on any business without paying the required privilege tax in reference to that business are void and not enforceable by such person. All gambling contracts and ordinary contracts made on Sunday are void.

Conveyances. Deeds may be made to vest title presently or in future. All estates in land greater than for one year must be conveyed by deed, and to affect purchasers without notice must be recorded. Estates tail are prohibited, except that a deed or devise may be made to a succession of living donees not exceeding two and to the heirs of the body of the remainderman, or, in default thereof, to the right heirs of the donor in fee. Corporations may convey by deed under seal. In all other cases private seals are abolished. Conveyances or devises to two or more, or to husband and wife, create tenancy in common. Rule in Shelly's case is abolished. Remainder is good without particular estate. The words "grant, bargain, and sell" operate as a covenant that grantor is seized of some estate of inheritance. Words "convey and warrant" operate as a general covenant of warranty of title. The words "convey and warrant specially" operate as a warranty of title only against the grantor or those claiming under him. A quitclaim deed has practically the same effect. Husband and wife, if living together, must both join in conveyance or incumbrance of homestead of either, or it will be void as to all over $2,000.

Corporations can be formed only under general laws. Any charter granted after November 1, 1890, may be amended or repealed, provided no injustice be done stockholders. No charter grantable for a period longer than fifty years. Manufacturing corporations and banks may hold property not exceeding $1,000,000; other corporations not exceeding $250,000. Charters must be published, approved by the attorney-general and governor, and recorded with secretary of State. Stockholders are liable personally to the amount of unpaid subscriptions. Stockholder or employe in rival corporation can not serve as director without consent of majority in interest of the stockholders. Corporations other than banks and building and loan companies can not loan money to stockholders. Directors assenting are liable personally to creditors if they allow capital to be withdrawn or dividend declared by insolvent corporation. They are also liable for debts in excess of capital stock paid in. Foregoing laws do not apply to railroads and insurance companies. There is little or no limitation on the power of foreign corporations to do business. They may transact business, sue, and be sued as domestic corporations or as non resident natural persons. The legislature is forbidden to license a foreign corporation to build, purchase, operate, or lease a railroad in this State unless its stockholders or owners become incorporated here. (See Transfer of Corporate Stock.)

Costs. Non-resident plaintiff or complainant may be required to give security for. This is true also of insolvent persons. In attachment and injunction suits, and in cases where writs of sequestration are issued the plaintiff's bond is security for costs in the event the suit is unsuccessful.

Courts. Terms and Jurisdiction. Justices' courts meet not less than once each month; circuit and chancery courts meet in each county twice a year; supreme court meets twice a year, in October and March. Justices' courts have jurisdiction for the recovery of debts and damages not exceeding $200. Circuit courts have general jurisdiction of all common law actions where the amount or value in controversy exceeds $200, and jurisdiction of appeals from justices' and mayors' courts, and boards of supervisors. Chancery courts have jurisdiction of the administration of estates of deceased persons, of minors' business and other probate matters, and of all matters in equity. Appeals may be taken to the supreme court from any final judgment of the circuit court, and from the chancery court, except in suits for not more than $50 originating in the justice's court. Suits of equitable cognizance improperly brought in the circuit court are transferred to chancery court, and vice versa. No suit dismissed because being of an equitable nature it is improperly brought in the circuit court, and e converso.

Creditors' Bills may be filed under general to subject equitable assets and in aid of execution at law. Such bills may, under the statute, be filed to subject property of a debtor fraudulently conveyed, without a judgment and return of nulla bona; and this whether complainant's debt is due or not. No bond is required unless a sequestration is desired. If complainant prevails he has a lien on the property sought to be subjected from the date of filing the bill.

Curtesy and Dower. Both abolished since 1880.

Days of Grace. Inland and foreign bills of exchange and promissory notes for a sum certain payable only in money are entitled to three days of grace; other contracts are not. (See also Notes and Bills.)

Deeds. (See Conveyances.)

Depositions taken only in civil cases, on written or verbal interrogatories; ten days' notice to be given of issuance of commission. If party is absent and has no attorney, filing interrogatories ten days sufficient notice. Commission to take deposition of witness out of State may be to one or several commissioners by name, in the alternative, or to any judge of a court of record, justice of the peace, mayor, or chief magistrate of a city or town, commissioner appointed by the governor of this State, or other person authorized to administer oaths by the law of the place where the deposition is to be taken. The officer shall swear the witness to testify the truth, and shall impartially examine him on the interrogatories. The testimony shall be fairly written down by the officer or witness, or by a disinterested person in the presence of, and shall be subscribed by the witness. Depositions shall then be certified and sealed up by the officer, and transmitted by mail or other safe and convenient manner to the court where the same are to be used. Officer's certificate prima facie evidence of his character and authority.

Descent and Distribution. Estates of inheritance, both real and personal, of an intestate descend: 1. To children and their descendants per stirpes. 2. To brothers and sisters in equal parts and their descendants by representation. 3. To the father and mother, or the survivor of them. 4. To the next of kin according to the civil law. Except among brothers and sisters there is no representation among collaterals. Advancements must be brought into hotchpot. There is no distinction between children of the whole blood and those of the half blood, except that children of the whole blood are preferred to those of the half blood in equal degree. Where there is no one to inherit from an intestate, property escheats. Illegitimates inherit from the mother and her kindred. Exempt property of husband or wife descends to survivor and their children as tenants in common. (See Married Women.)

Divorces may be granted for: 1. Natural impotency. 2. Adultery, in the absence of collusion. 3. Sentence to the penitentiary unless pardoned before being sent. 4. Willful, continued and obstinate desertion for the space of two years. 5. Habitual drunkenness. 6. Habitual and excessive use of opium, morphine or other like drug. 7. Habitual cruel or inhuman treatment. 8. Insanity or idiocy at the time of the marriage if party complaining did not know of it. 9. Marriage to some other person at the time of the pretended marriage. 10. Pregnancy by another man at the time of the marriage if the husband did not know of it. 11. Either party may obtain divorce if they be related within the prohibited degree of kinship.

Dower and Curtesy have been abolished since 1880.

Executions in circuit court issue within twenty days after the adjournment of court unless otherwise ordered by the plaintiff, and in justice's courts after the lapse of five days from judgment rendered, unless recovering party makes affidavit that he is in danger, by delay, of losing his debt or demand, in which case execution issues forthwith. No redemption of lands or other property sold under execution or mortgage. Execution not valid after judgment is barred by limitation, which is seven years after rendition or renewal. (See Judgments.)
